"Three Prophetic Days, or Sunday the Christian Sabbath. Showing the requirements of the Mosaic law, and comparing what should have occurred during the week of the Passover, with what was done by Jesus and his Apostles, as recorded in the New Testament. Proving that the law was kept to the very letter, and that Jesus made his triumphant entrance on Saturday, that he was crucified on Wednesday afternoon, and rose from the grave on Saturday evening, and that Sunday is the Christian's rest day, as is clearly shown by the law and the prophets."

The above is the title of a book of 230 pages, written by Wm. Frederick. This book has some original and peculiar ideas, an idea being gathered by reading the title page. While it is well to settle all such matters that can be settled, still we know full well that some people will never admit the deductions made as to days. However, the chief value of this work is in the unanswerable arguments it makes against the Seventh day question, and past-millennialists. Any brother who wishes to be fully posted on these important matters, cannot afford to be without this book. All who are bothered by the law keepers should procure a copy at once, for no one can be too well posted in ways to combat this error of our times. We have arranged with the Author to supply this work from this office. It is well bound in cloth, good paper, and clear type. The price is $1.00 post paid. A cheaper paper binding will be sent for 50 cents to those who do not wish to buy the one in cloth, though the book is worth the better binding.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 283 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O

Christian Church Convention.

The officers of the Christian Missionary Societies have issued a circular informing members and friends about the arrangements made for the trip to Minneapolis for the 62nd Annual International Convention of the Christian Churches. The Pennsylvania Lines are announced as the Official Route from Indiana points. Excursion tickets for the event will be sold via Pennsylvania Lines October 8th, 9th, 11th and 13th, good returning until October 19th with privilege to extend to October 31st.

Plans have been shaped to have the Indiana contingent make daylight trips to Chicago over the Pennsylvania Lines, Wednesday, October 9th, going through together on the Convention Special with the prominent officers and Executive Board, for which the following convenient train service has been selected: leave Ft. Wayne, 10:15 a. m.; Columbia City, 10:50 a. m.; Warsaw, 11:31 a. m.; Plymouth, 12:07, p. m.; Valparaiso 1:15 p. m.

Delegates and friends are urged to see that their tickets read over the Pennsylvania Lines via Chicago. Information about fares and other details may be secured by communicating with Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania Lines.—Oct. 13.

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

EARLY LESSONS, suitable for young or old, 30 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,
General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,
General Immigration & Industrial Agent.
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

A FREE PATTERN
Your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.
McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50 CENTS A YEAR
A LADIES' MAGAZINE.
A gem; beautiful colored plates; latest fashions; entertaining specials; fancy work; household hints; fiction, etc. Interesting to lady, or girl. 24 to 32 pages each issue. Lady Agents wanted. Send for terms.
Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.
McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ 15¢
All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Sewing and Cutting Lines.
Only 10 and 15 cents each. Order by Mail. Sold in nearly every city and town, or by mail from
THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St., NEW YORK.

VANDALIA TIME CARD

In effect June 2, 1901.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend		8:25am
No. 14,	" "	12:01noon
No. 6,	" " "	10:08pm
No 12, Sunday only		9:40am

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute		6:45a m
No. 5,	" " "	12:34noon
No. 9,	" " " Logansport,	7:30pm
No 11, Sunday only		6:30pm

Trains 3 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections. Lake Maxinkuckee Sunday special train due Plymouth south bound at 9:14 a m. Returning leaves Maxinkuckee 5:45 p m.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. Ford,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo

Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Ry.
Pennsylvania Lines.
Schedules in Effect September 29th, 1901. Eastern Time. Central Time.

[timetable image]

C. L. STONE, General Passenger Agent.
E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agent.
FOR INFORMATION CONSULT A AGENTS.
For further information, through tickets, baggage checks and further information regarding the running of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

The Annual Ohio Excursion via Vandalia-Pennsylvania Lines will leave Lakeville, Ind., Oct 3, 1901. For rates and particulars, call on or address W F Schallhorn, Agt Vandalia Line, Lakeville, Ind, or C M Wheeler, T P A Terre Haute, Ind.

NICKEL PLATE

All trains arrive at and depart from Van Buren Street Union Passenger Station, Chicago.
Uniformed Colored Porters attend passengers holding first or second class tickets in day coaches on through trains, insuring scrupulously clean cars enroute.

Eastward Exp.	All Nickel Plate Passenger Trains Daily	Westward Exp.
[illegible]	Chicago	[illegible]
[illegible]	Valparaiso	[illegible]
[illegible]	Wanatah	[illegible]
[illegible]	Kouts	[illegible]
[illegible]	Hebron	[illegible]
[illegible]	Argos	[illegible]
[illegible]	Bourbon	[illegible]
[illegible]	Mentone	[illegible]
[illegible]	Claypool	[illegible]
[illegible]	Ft. Wayne	[illegible]
[illegible]	Ft. Wayne	[illegible]
[illegible]	Crestline	[illegible]
[illegible]	Bucyrus	[illegible]
[illegible]	New York	[illegible]
[illegible]	Boston	[illegible]

Grand Circle, Northern Lakes, Niagara and Knickerbocker Limited Vestibuled Trains run daily between Chicago and New York and Boston. Dining cars on all trains.
Dining Room Sleeping Cars on Nos. 2, 4 and 8 thru to Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston; on Nos. 1, 3 and 11 to Chicago. Meals are served at "on-to-date" Dining Stations and in Nickel Plate Dining Cars at opportune meal hours. Baggage checked to destination. On inquiry you will find our rates are always lower than via other lines, service considered.
For more detailed information, address R. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O., C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind., or Local Ticket Agents.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and B. T. MacDonald,

The Chicago Church. Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 620 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Bennesdaur, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 A. M., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God, known as Union Chapel Congregation meet each fourth Sunday, at private houses, for the purpose of breaking bread and social services. Also on the second Sunday at the Union Chapel Church, Winterhode, Ill., for Bible Reading at 11 A. M. All are invited. Lizzie Woods, Secy.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:00, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through the city, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker's, 209 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 A. M. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1281½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsburg, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows.—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by A. B. Zillner of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Eshelman.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's Hall, Galena Ave., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Kaile, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Arthur, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich, have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Ralsin Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trundell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Groat of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Fraser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 8 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God, at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder, Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of those gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

ISSUED WEEKLY BY
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
FOR THE
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents.
Three Months 40 Cents.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME L. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, OCTOBER 16, 1901. NUMBER 39.

Poetry.

A Fragment.

If you are tempted to reveal
A tale someone to you has told
About another, make it pass
Before you speak, three gates of gold.

Three narrow gates—first, "Is it true?"
Then, "Is it needful?" In your mind
Give truthful answer, and the next
Is last and narrowest, "Is it kind?"

And if to reach your lips at last
It passes through these gateways three,
Then you may tell the tale, nor fear
What the result of speech may be.

Communicated.

"Absent From the Body."

Dear Restitution:

Brother S. J. Lindsay has caused to be put into my hands a tract on the above text with a request that I reply to the same.

Before entering upon the discussion of the question let me state a rule of construction which is recognized by Bible students, judges of the court, lawyers and all well informed persons. It is as follows, viz:

1. An affirmative statement cannot be overthrown by an inference.

2. A doctrinal proposition in the Bible cannot be taught or affirmed and upheld by inferences alone, but to be binding and to compel belief it must be supported by one or more positive statements.

To illustrate, the second advent of the Savior is a doctrinal question, therefore before we can require anyone to believe it we must be able to produce positive statements in proof of the doctrine. After a doctrinal proposition is affirmed by one or more positive statements it may then be fortified and strengthened by inferences drawn from other Scriptures.

The observance of the foregoing rules will do very much to harmonize apparent discrepancies in the Bible. We apply this rule constantly to the writings and sayings of men. No one can be fairly judged without its application. An inference is not and cannot be a statement of a fact, but it is a deduction drawn from a statement.

The inference may not be warranted by what the author may say.

We are all responsible to both God and man for what we say, but I cannot hold you responsible for the inferences which I may draw from what you say. Paul has been slandered more than anyone who ever wrote because the rules which I have stated above are not applied to his writings. He prescribed or Timothy's indigestion and thereupon the drunkard and saloonkeeper claim that he is in favor of using intoxicating liquors. He directed certain women in a certain church, who had been making trouble by their intemperate talk, to keep still, thereupon some woman-hater draws the inference that Paul forbid women to talk, or to pray, or to sing in the churches, they must all keep still. We all know that Paul meant nothing of the kind.

Keeping in mind the foregoing rules I will proceed to the examination of the tract.

The first paragraph of the same is as follows:

"We are often, it may be, disposed to wonder at how little is said in the New Testament, in reference to the state of the spirit, from the moment in which it leaves the body until the morning of the resurrection. And yet, when we look more closely at it, we are struck with how much is said of it. True, there are but four passages which can properly be said to apply to that interesting interval."

Only four passages which prove the state of the spirit between death and the resurrection. The first of the four which he refers to is Luke xxiii. 39-43, which refers to the thief on the cross.

There is not one single word in this Scripture which says the thief had a spirit which was conscious existence separate and apart from his body, but the writer of the tract says he went to be with Christ. He did not go with Christ. He was placed in Joseph's new tomb and remained there three days and three nights.

There is not one single particle of proof anywhere in the Bible that anyone from the days of Adam to the present time has ever gone to heaven at death. When I speak of proof I refer to affirmative proof and not mere inferences drawn from Scriptures like this account of the thief on the cross. Such proof would not stand for a single moment in a court of justice. Does our Heavenly Father require us to believe on less proof than our courts do? No, he does not. What is there in this story of the thief on the cross anyhow? Let us take it to pieces and look at it for a moment.

1. Jesus is hanging on the cross with a thief on either side of him.

2. One of the thieves is wicked and blasphemous, the other is repentant.

3. The repentant thief prays to Jesus and says "Lord remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom."

4. Jesus answering the prayer of the thief says, "I say unto thee today, thou shalt be with me in Paradise."

That is the whole story. Not one word about the thief going to heaven, on the contrary the promise made to him was that he should be with Jesus in Paradise.

Where is Paradise? Is it in heaven? The writer of the tract assumes that it is. If I can show that he is mistaken as to its locality I will certainly defeat his argument.

In Rev. ii. 7, we read, "To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the Paradise of God." This shows conclusively that the tree of life will be in Paradise at the time Jesus shall occupy it. Does the tree of life grow in heaven? Is there any one in heaven who needs to eat of that tree? No; heaven is inhabited by immortal beings who do not need to feed upon the fruit of any tree to prolong their lives. If the tree of life does not grow in heaven where does it grow? Turn to the last two chapters in the Bible and read them carefully. In the second verse of the last chapter we learn that the tree of life will be found on both sides of the river of life. This is on the earth, not in heaven. "The leaves of the tree are for the healing of the nations." There are no nations in heaven that need to be healed. I can't refrain from adding a word to impress upon the reader that the whole scene portrayed in these two last precious chapters takes place on the earth. The Revelation says, "I John saw the holy city, the new Jerusalem coming down from God out of heaven," and then he heard the voice saying, "Behold the tabernacle of God is with men." Not in heaven but on the earth. "And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes." There are no tears in heaven and never have been. "And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold I make all things new." It will not be insisted that God is going to make all things new in heaven. No, this is a scene enacted hereon this earth, there is no getting away from that proposition. That being true the Paradise promised the thief will be here on the earth and not in heaven. Therefore if the thief went with Jesus to Paradise on the day of the crucifixion, they went to some place on the earth. Was there any Paradise on the earth at the time to which they could go, if so what has become of it and what has become of the thief? No, my beloved, the thief is dead, when Jesus comes to reward his faithful ones he will wake him up and take him to Paradise.

The second passage relied upon is the words of Stephen, "And they stoned Stephen calling upon God and saying, Lord Jesus receive my spirit,..... and when he had said this he fell asleep." Acts vii. 59-60. This does not contain so much as an inference. Stephen made a prayer and fell asleep, died. He is still dead, but when "Christ who is our life shall appear," then shall Stephen appear with him in glory. Col. iii. 4.

The third quotation is as follows: 2 Cor. v. 4-8, "For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened; not that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life. Now he that hath wrought us for the self-same thing is God, who also hath given us the earnest of the Spirit. Therefore, we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord (for we walk by faith and not by sight:) we are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord."

Here Paul makes a prayer, not that his mortal body should be taken away but that it should be made immortal, "clothed upon that mortality might be swallowed up of life."

What kind of life? Why, the life that never dies. Did Paul believe that at death he could fly away and be at home with the Lord? I will let Paul answer. He says "If after the manner of men I have fought with beasts at Ephesus, what advantageth it me if the dead rise not?" Paul had labored faithfully and well. He had been compelled by his enemies to fight with wild beasts; he is interested in knowing where he is going to get his reward. He in effect says there is no reward if the dead rise not. He says, "This corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality; then death will be swallowed up in victory." 1 Cor. xv.

Here we have positive and affirmative proof that Paul's hope of reward rested solely on a resurrection. This proof cannot be overthrown by inferences which may be drawn from his second letter to the church at Corinth.

The fourth and last quotation is as follows: "For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart and to be with Christ, which is far better." Phil. i. 23. Paul, like all true followers of the Master, was hoping and praying for the coming of the Lord. He, at times longed to be relieved of the heavy burden which was laid upon him.

Living, as we do in a government where our right to worship God in our own way is maintained and upheld, we cannot realize the hard struggle that Paul had. Persecuted from city to city by his own nation from whom he had a right to expect better things; beaten with many stripes, imprisoned again and again, stricken down and carried out for dead, is it any wonder that sometimes, even the courageous Paul would ask the question, must I continue this apparently unequal contest, or may I not hope that Jesus will soon come. If he does not come soon may I not be permitted to lay down in the cool bosom of mother earth and take a much needed rest while I await the coming of my Lord and Master.

But he loved the good Father, he loved those who were laboring with him, he loved God's people, and he loved the cause for which Jesus gave his life, and so he would take fresh courage and fight on, and thus he lived and thus he labored in the Master's vineyard until the time came when he was called upon to give his life for the cause he so much loved.

Reader, take your Bible and turn to 2 Tim. iv. 6, 7, 8. Oh that we could all say with Paul when we come to the end of our lives, "I have fought a good fight. I have kept the faith."

R. S. DWIGGINS.

An Exhortation.

Bro. J. F. Wagoner's article in THE RESTITUTION of Sept. 25th. "What must I do to be saved?" is I think to the point. In these days of extreme liberalism we find intelligent persons who say "It does not matter what I believe so I am honest in what I believe." Or as another puts it, "I am not concerned as to where I shall be in the future, here on earth or above in heaven." How strange it is that a lawyer would argue thus in regard to religious matters, but when it comes to law there must be a very strict form to follow or else he will lose his case. An attorney has a case before the court in which there is involved a large sum of money and it is found by the opposing attorney that he has not followed a form in getting up his papers. Will his honesty gain him that case? We who are not learned in law know that he must lose the case and his practice suffer from his neglect. I have an only brother who practices this profession and I know how careful he is to get the latest decisions of the upper courts that he may be successful in his practice. If the same pains were taken in regard to the future life he would not be content to let some other person make out his papers for that future possession of the earth redeemed from the curse that sin brought upon it. The Bible gives no promise of our inheritance beyond the skies, but here on the earth. Others think if they live an exemplary life that is enough. The young man who came to our Savior and asked, "What good thing shall I do that I may have eternal life?" He was told that he should do no murder, commit no adultery, should not steal, should not bear false witness, honor thy father and thy mother, and love thy neighbor as thy self. The young man answered, All these have I kept from my youth up; what lack I yet? Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go sell what thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have a treasury in heaven, and come and follow me." Matt. xvi. 22. The point in this young man's life was, he was not willing to sacrifice his fortune and the enjoyments of this life for eternal life. To follow the Master was to bring upon himself reproach and poverty. It was too much for him to do. His profession and wealth weighed more heavily than the future life. Is not this true with thousands today? To leave the father's and mother's church and be numbered with the despised few is more than they can stand.

I have in my mind another Bible character whom we all admit was a good religious person. "Cornelius, a devout man, and one who feared God with all his house, and gave much alms to the people, and prayed to God always." Acts x. 2. Here we have a very pious man whose prayers and alms had reached heaven as a memorial before God. And yet he was unsaved and was requested to send for Peter who would tell him what to do. Listen to the words of the Apostle. "That Word, I say, ye know, which was published throughout all Judea, and began from Galilee after the baptism which John preached." Acts x. 37. What was that Word that was preached? See Mark i. 14, "Now, after that John was put in prison, Jesus came into Galilee preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God." This is the Word that the Apostle told Cornelius, "Ye know." In Luke ix. 2. He sent the disciples out to preach the kingdom of God, 6th verse, and they departed preaching the gospel. Is not this plain that to preach the kingdom of God is to preach the gospel? "When they believed Phillip preaching the things concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ they were baptized both men and women." Acts viii. 12. And he (Christ) said unto them, Mark xvi. 15, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth (the gospel) and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not (the gospel) shall be damned." Now can we be ignorant of these things and in the end receive eternal life? No, emphatically no. Paul say, Gal. iii., the gospel was "call their lands, and have them called together after their own names," even in a lottery race, rather than miss this big world and go through it poor like the blessed Master and his Apostles did, surely are running a great risk of losing their souls or lives, both here and hereafter. The God of this world hath blinded the minds of the many. While the love of money is yet the root of all evil, and I am sorry to say that some of the faith—the Lord's peculiar people have consorted and conformed to, and with the world, in their wild mad race after this world and its money and mammon, and have coveted after them and possibly erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows. Remember brethren that we are now in the midst of the perils of the last days. When the love of many is waxing cold because sin abounds. And that it is the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches that chokes out the Word of the kingdom. The deception that makes men and women think and believe that it is needful and all right to get as much of this world as you can, and keep all you get, and soon you will be in a shape to do some good in the world, and live easy and enjoy life. Here is the deception, for observation and experience has long taught us that as a rule, the more a man gets the more he wants, and also the more he is burdened with the cares of this life, and the less he thinks or cares for the life to come. If I read my Bible right, I would say to one and all who are loaded down with this world that the night is far spent, and the day is at hand. Better, far better unload now, as this world is soon to pass away with its lusts and fashions. While he that does the will of God will abide forever.

The prophet says: "In that day will I raise up the tabernacle of David that is fallen, and close up the breaches thereof." While the apostle says:—"After this I will return, and will build again the tabernacle of David, which is fallen down." Now if you can see what day the prophet had in mind, and what event or work the apostle refers to, then you can see and tell where and how to locate and apply these Scriptures, Otherwise all is dark and the "blind lead the blind." The apostle locates this work after the Builder returns. Where do you locate it?

Then as we seek for the things of this world, that pertain to this life only, we must of necessity lose our love for, and interest in the Bible, and that glorious crown of life promised in the world to come..... all is lost to us. Sad thought indeed. Bro. Wilson, you will please excuse me for coming in on the chorus.

T. E. ADAMS.

Short Sermons. No 24.

Loss and gain contrasted. The Master says in Mark viii. 34, "Whosoever will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me." Self must be denied and turned down, if we follow the Master; cannot follow both at the same time, as they do not lead in the same direction. Self is silly, and selfish, and leads only into sinful and selfish pleasures, ending in death. While the Master,—the Lord and Life-giver, is not selfish, but pure, good and generous. And all that he ever did on earth in word or deed was for the glory of God and the good of humanity. Oh, what a loving Savior is this! It is perfectly safe to follow him and find sweet rest by and by. The Master continues by saying, "For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it." This statement of the Master would seem rather paradoxical and perplexing to the surface reader. While to those who read and think, his meaning is seen between the lines. Many in that day and later on have been required to test their fidelity to God and his cause at the expense of their life. Those who loved their present life more than the Master and the future life were spared, while those better informed and stronger in faith, counted the present life as a vapor and of little importance compared to the promised life hid with Christ in God. They suffered and like their Master laid down their lives that they might take them again when the Life-giver comes to rule and reign. For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? Soul and life in these verses are the same, as all can see who read or think. But when we think of an immortal soul being saved or lost, we simply don't know what we are thinking about, as we have no such ingredient in our make up. Men unlearned in the Bible, believe and talk glibly about the "immortal and never-dying soul," while the Bible never mentions such souls. Hence they can only be found in tradition and imagination. Not real, but imaginary souls, not immortal souls. While men and women too, who are not satisfied with a home here, (which is more than our Master had, or wanted), but seek to gain more, if not "the whole world." And in their worldly, eagor haste to have and hold it in their own name, and

Papers for the Poor.

This office receives many calls for papers from those who are not able to pay for them. It is sometimes from one part of the land, and again from another. They are not all in one locality. We know there are some who contend that there is no one so poor but he can at some time during the year pay the price of the paper. We are not here to argue that matter. It is enough for us to be told by an aged brother or sister who has perhaps taken the RESTITUTION for years, that income is cut off, not able to labor, dependent on charity of others, perhaps of unbelieving children. Cannot get out to meetings any more, all they have is the old Bible and the paper. Perhaps sickness of self, wife or children, makes it impossible to be out and earn money. Every cent that can be had will not suffice to pay doctor's bills, groceries, rent, fuel, clothing. In very many cases it is impossible to "make even" each year, let alone paying for any papers or books. Yet such are usually the ones who get the most out of our paper. They have time to read every word. Even the long articles are not skipped by these readers.

We have a fund called "Our Helping Fund" to draw on to supply these cases. Not a cent of this money is used for any other purpose. An account is kept separately from all else. We will say that at this time the fund is largely overdrawn, and has been for over a year.

Brethren, you who have a few dollars over actual need, and you who sometimes make a sacrifice, do you esteem this a worthy cause? This supplying the aged and infirm, the sick and distressed, the poor and needy—is it worth while considering? What answer do you give? It is not yours any more than mine, nor mine than yours. It seems to us that it is our duty to supply these calls. What do you think?

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Owner Editor.

Editorial Committee.

J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, Special Contributor.

Plymouth, Indiana, Oct. 16, 1901.

STOCKHOLDERS MEETING.

The Stockholders of the Christian Publishing Association are requested to meet at Plymouth, Ind. on Saturday, Nov. 16, 1901, for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors and transacting any other business that may come before them.

Signed,
J. H. Willey, Pres.
A. R. Underwood, Sec.

We need a few hundred new subscribers. Now is a good time of year to get them, and we are asking our friends to make an effort in this line. We do not want you labor for nothing, and so make this offer as an inducement to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and what is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War, and an extensive traveler in Africa, has written a book of over 600 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price is put at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1002, making $4. 50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, [illegible] to the end of 1002, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help The Restitution by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

"Friendship consists in mutual offices, and a generous strife in alternate acts of kindness." *

The punishment of all misdeeds is sure, and the dread thereof is deep-seated in the conscience of the evil doer." *

"The mission of greatness is to minister not to master; to give, not to govern; and its sceptre is love, not force." *

"Opportunity is the flower of time; and as the stalk may remain with us when the flower is cut off, so time may remain with us when opportunity is gone." *

When we address God let us be fully sensible of the importance of what we are saying, and offer our supplications resolved to do all we can towards the realization of our prayers. *

There is an immense fascination in the possession of power, whether it be exercised for objects trivial or important. It is incumbent upon those who wield it to make it felt only as a blessing. *

"The mind is like a balance which is sometimes rusty; and we ought, therefore, freely to review our beliefs and examine the evidence for them; maturer acquaintance with a question frequently producing conviction from evidence formerly thought indifferent." *

"He that cannot forgive others breaks down the bridge over which he will pass himself, for every one has need to be forgiven." *

For F. G.—We respectfully ask you to produce just one passage of Scripture that proves that the redemption which is in Christ Jesus, in any respect changed the nature of the death threatened to Adam. Remember it is Bible proof we call for; nothing short of that will do. Talk is offered at a very low price; we have plenty of that. Did you regard your word as authority in this matter? It looks that way, and possibly it might pass as such with some,—not with us. *

The death of Abdur Rahman, Ameer of Afghanistan occurred last week. As the guardian of the gateway to India he has stood between Russia and Great Britain, and his death has been looked forward to as the time when one or the other will gain a decided advantage. His successor is said to favor England, and the old Ameer on his death-bed warned him to beware of Russia. Should he give heed to this, peace will continue for a time, and should he be influenced by the Czar's plotters trouble will be very likely to come.

The Bible!

A nation would be truly blessed if it were governed by no laws but those of this blessed book. It is so complete in system that nothing can be added to it or taken from it. It affords a copy for a king (Deut. xvii. 19) and a rule for a subject.

It gives instruction and counsel to a senate, authority and direction for a magistrate, it cautions a witness, requires impartial verdict from a jury, and furnishes a judge with his sentence.

It sets the husband as lord of the household, and the wife as mistress of the table; tells him how to rule, and her how to manage. It entails honor to parents, and enjoins obedience to children.

It prescribes and limits the power of the ruler, and the authority of the master; and commands the subject to honor, and the servant to obey; and promises the blessing and protection of its Author to all who walk by its rules.

It gives directions for weddings and burials; regulates feasts and fasts, mournings and rejoicings, and orders labor for the day and rest for the night. It promises food and raiment and limits the use of both. It points out a faithful guardian to the departing husband and father; tells him with whom to leave his fatherless children, and in whom his widow is to trust. Jer. xlix. 11. It defends the rights of all, and reveals vengeance to every defrander, over-reacher and oppressor. It is the first book, the best book, and the oldest book in the world.

It contains the choicest matter, gives the best instruction, and affords the greatest pleasure, and satisfaction that was ever revealed. It contains the profoundest mysteries that ever were penned. It brings glad tidings, and affords the best of comfort to the enquiring and disconsolate.

It exhibits life and immortality, and shows the way to eternal glory.

It reveals the only living and true God, and shows the way to him.

It is a book of law to show the right and wrong; a book of wisdom that condemns all folly, and makes the foolish wise; a book of truth, that detects all lies and confutes all errors; a book of life, that gives life, and shows a way of escape from everlasting death.

It is the most compendious book in the world; the most authentic, and the most entertaining history that ever was written.

It contains the most ancient antiquities, strange events, wonderful occurrences, heroic deeds, and unparalleled wars. It describes the celestial and terrestial worlds, and the origin of the angelic myriads.

It will instruct the most accomplished mechanic, and the profoundest artist; it will teach the best rhetorician, and exercise every power of the most skilled arithmetician,—and puzzle the wisest anatomist, and exercise the nicest critic.

It corrects the vain philosopher, exposes the subtle sophist, and makes diviners mad. It is a perfect code of laws, a perfect body of divinity, an unparalelled narrative; a book of lives, —a book of travels, and a book of voyages.

It is the best covenant ever agreed on, the best deed that ever was sealed, the best evidence that ever was produced, the best will that ever was made, and the best testament that ever was signed. To understand it is to be wise indeed; to be ignorant of it is to be destitute of wisdom. It is its own interpreter.

It encourages the wise and promises an eternal reward to the faithful.

It promises freedom to all who embrace the truths it contains—freedom from sin and death,—and except a man accepts these truths he will never receive the gift of eternal life.

And that which crowns all is, the Author is without partiality; in whom is no variableness or shadow of turning.

The Spirit directs its readers to a glorious kingdom, and to Christ who is the way to it.

To him give all the prophets witness that through his name, whosoever believeth the gospel of the kingdom and is baptized, shall be saved." *

A Serious Loss.

We have met with quite a serious loss. Some weeks ago we sent out several hundred letters to persons who were owing us various sums of money. Who will help us find these letters that have been no doubt laid away and forgotten? If you did not get one, and you have not sent your renewal, don't wait for the letter to come, but send now and save us the expense of writing to you. It is a task we dislike very much anyway, and we will be rejoiced if no occasion existed for doing so. Brethren, this is a serious matter indeed. We can not meet our obligations unless you do yours. Think of this carefully and calmly, and act as your conscience and Christianity dictate. If each will do this we will have several hundreds of dollars within a weeks time. Will you help to make good our loss?

Communicated.

Does it Make any Difference.

The bane of the Christian church today is, "I cannot see that it makes any difference what I believe regarding the future life if I am only sincere, and do the best I can." But, O poor fellow mortals, as long as you cherish this thought you sound the death knell to a pure, Bible gospel. Come with me to Cesarea and let us call on the pious Cornelius for just a few moments, and let him tell us a little of his life history.

It was in the early part of the afternoon, evidently as he was at his devotions, he was startled by the presence of one of God's messengers, who knew him by name, and addressed him thus, "Cornelius, thy prayers and thine alms are come up as a memorial before God, and now send for one Simon .....he shall tell thee what thou ought-est to."..... Here was a man "who was a devout man, one that feared God with all his house, which gave much alms to the people, and prayed to God always." We would suppose him to be as near a perfect character as a human being could be. What could he lack that would bar him out of the kingdom? Evidently something, or God would not have sent an angel to warn him of danger and tell him just what course to pursue to gain salvation for himself and family. Not for one moment doubting the words of the messenger, he began to make preparations for his servant's journey to find Peter and convey him back to Cæsarea. So anxious was he concerning this message he had called together his kinsmen and near friends, that they might all hear the wonderful words of salvation. Very modestly he relates to Peter the angel's words, and of his hour of fasting and prayer, and God's pleasure in his devotion, and hastily adds, "Now therefore we are all here present before God, to hear all things that are commanded thee of God." Peter fulfilled his mission and preached them a gospel sermon, the only power on earth that will save mankind. Cornelius did not begin to make excuses, "Peter, I have always been a real good, sincere man, and the angel said God heard my prayer, and I cannot believe it makes any particular difference what I believe." O no, O no, for while Peter was telling them the blessed news of salvation the Holy Spirit fell upon them, and they heard them "speak with tongues and magnify God," and they went immediately about their duties, the first of which was to be "baptized in the name of the Lord." Does it make no difference what we believe, when we hear such emphatic words as these? "Though we or an angel from heaven preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed." Gal. i. 8, 9.

What was Paul's preaching to them? "There is one body and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling, one Lord, one faith, one baptism." "Well," says one, "I am through being so narrow, I think it is very uncharitable to bind one down thus. I think we ought to make our own choice in those matters, and baptism is only an outward ordinance any way." As I heard a minister say to a class of young converts, "Baptism has nothing whatever to do with your salvation." I asked him if his theory was correct why he was practicing such a farce on the people? Is such teaching the gospel or another on which rests the curse of God? Peter says, "Repent every one of you and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins." Say, my dear reader, will it make any difference in the day of judgment whether our sins have been remitted or not, what think you? Remember men may have ways which they would like to have carried out, but God has just one way, and his Word has gone out, and the Lord has said, "My words shall judge you in the last day." Did Jesus mean this or not, "Verily I say unto you except a man be born of water and of spirit he cannot enter into the kingdom of God." Does it make any difference whether we have been planted.....in his likeness or not? Listen, "For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall also be in the likeness of his resurrection."

Will it matter to us whether we have part in the first resurrection or not? If we expect a bountiful harvest we must look well to the planting. Did the teaching and belief of Hymenaus and Philetus make any difference with them or their listeners? They taught the resurrection was already past, and overthrew the faith of some and made shipwreck of themselves. Their offense would be considered very small in these days of elastic gospel. But our dear heavenly Father is very particular regarding his plans of salvation. We read of a class who were without Christ, being "aliens from the commonwealth of Israel and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope and without God in the world." Does it make any difference whether we understand the covenants of promise and come into covenant relationship with God or not, or whether we remain in ignorance of that fundamental truth and be without God and without hope in the world? Do you see the point, dear reader?

Christ said, "He that receiveth seed into good ground is he that heareth the Word and understandeth it, which also beareth fruit and bringeth forth an hundred fold. When any one heareth the Word of the kingdom and understandeth it not then cometh the wicked one and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart." Does it make any difference whether we understand or whether we remain in ignorance? Are we ready to accept Byron's theory, "Where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise." Would it have made any difference to Naaman, the leper, whether he obeyed the Lord's prophet to go to Jordan and dip seven times and be leprosy would be healed? Suppose he had stopped at the sixth bath to reason, I do not believe it will make any difference. He would have gone back to Assyria and died a loathsome leper—he obeyed the whole word of God's prophet and was healed. It made a vast difference to the antidiluvians when they accepted Noah's shelter from the deluge. It was life or death with them. It is to us. it will make a vast difference some day whether our names are written in the Lamb's book of life or not. "Many shall say to me in that day, Lord, Lord have we not prophesied in thy name and in thy name cast out demons, and in thy name done many wonderful works, but he will say, I never knew you. In vain do you worship me teaching for doctrine the commandments of men." The tendency today is to drift away from the great truths of the Bible, and some who pretend to believe are so fearful that if the dear old faith is preached it will offend some one. Some seem to want to get a taste of the leaks and garlicks of Egypt in the shape of sociables and festivals, and we hear of some even inviting those to preach for them who sprinkle babies, and preach sky-kingdom theories, compromising with error.

My life for the last twenty-five years has been spent in preaching the gospel, because I believed it. To me there is a vast difference between the falsehood of Satan and the truths of God, between tradition and gospel. The pagan mother is just as sincere while feeding her babe to a crocodile as the Christian mother in offering her babe to Christ in prayer, or that poor Catholic who counts her beads. Which offering is most acceptable to God? We often hear a father or mother in the faith wonder why their children have all drifted away from the truth and united with other churches. Generally the parents are at fault; their words and acts have said, it makes no difference, later in life they realize their fatal mistake and have the remaining years to repent in. May God help us to come out of Babylon and stay out, contending earnestly for the faith, and ready for the welcome applaudit, "Well done" from the Master's lips.

B. W. Woodward.

Conference Report.

The Annual Conference of the Church of God held at Blair, Neb., convened Sept. 8th, Friday evening. At the business meeting George Mehrens elected chairman pro tem. Eva L. Mehrens Sec. pro tem. Secretary's report of preceding year read and approved. Treasurer's report read and accepted, showing: received $356.25; paid evangelist $348.50.

Evangelist's report: received $348.50; expenses $13.90; total less expense $334.60; sermons preached 100. Report approved.

Election of officers was as follows: President, M. D. Newell; Secretary Eva L. Mehrens; Treasurer John Mehrens; Evangelist Almus Adams; Local Solicitor at Blair, Carrie Free.

Resolved by the Conference, that we, the members of the Church of God, in the State of Nebraska, tender a vote of thanks to Sister Rena Gordon, who has been our able Secretary the past few years.

Although the attendance during the Conference was not what it might have been, yet the few who did attend enjoyed the meetings very much.

Eva L. Mehrens, Sec.

Selected.

Mortgaged Nations.

As the world stands to-day, the fall of nations is through internal decay and disintegration, rather than from the invasion of armed enemies. The mightest empires of the past, whose legions once ruled a good part of the world, are falling into bankruptcy which must inevitably end their existance as independent countries. China is the most important nation on the chessboard to-day, and her enemies have been eager to claim indemnity on slight occasions. From 1874 to the beginning of the Japanese war she had negotiated six loans, aggregating about $45,000,000, and to pay the war indemnity to Japan of $160,000,000 (and $24,000,000 for the return of Liao-Tung peninsula) she had to raise more money among the European nations. Russian and French capitalists showed their ready disposition to loan her money, taking as security whole provinces and ports. In 1897-98, China had to go into the money markets of the world and negotiate another loan of $80,000,000. The loan was raised by Great Britain, and the other powers have ever since used this as a pretext for grabbing more land to counterbalance the British power in the Orient. Every little outbreak is a fresh cause for bleeding China, and so the partitioning of the empire has gone on apace. Immense as the country is, it will not be a matter of a decade before the greater part of the dominion will be in pawn.

The absorption of Persia by Russia and Great Britain is another concrete illustration of the new method of invasion of one country by a more powerful empire. Persia is practically a bankrupt nation to-day, and is owned part and parcel by Russia and Great Britain. She has raised loans time and again from the two powers, and to-day mortgages cover her railroads and chief industries. The end of her resources may not yet be in sight, but she has practically delivered over half her empire to Russia and the other half to England. The result is that Persia is hardly an independent country. She cannot make a move in the game of politics without consulting her owners, and if she attempted it one or the other would block the move.

England almost owns and controls Portugal. Although a rich and fertile country, Portugal has not been able to support herself, and she has mortgaged her industries to foreign governments until she is nearly as much in pawn as Persia.

Turkey is the problem of Europe, and at the same time the most puzzling of nations in pawn. The whole continent of Europe holds her pledges and securities, but it is a much more difficult matter to redeem these than in the case of China, for instance. When the country first went bankrupt years ago, it raised over $200,000,000 in Europe, and pledged territory as security.

In South America the work of mortgaging and buying up nations proceeds with as much expedition as in the Orient, and a great many of the South American republics are owned by money-lenders and capitalists. Argentine owes over $300,000,000. Already her mines, railroads, and other natural resources are pledged, and it seems doubtful if anything valuable can be found as security for her loans. There is not much attempt to pay the interest on this debt, and the country is satisfied if the creditors content themselves with seizing a few more square miles of territory to call the matter even. Bolivia owes a debt of over $150,000,000, which she contracted in the war with Chili, and which she had to guarantee by handing over to the control of her enemy the best part of her seaboard. Chili exacts payment of the interest on this debt, and she stands ready to absorb her weaker neighbor upon confession of bankruptcy.

The worst part of this financial situation, in the weak nations mentioned, is that there is little prospect of improvement. What China, Turkey, Persia, and Bolivia have mortgaged all the land and natural resources they have, they must in time cease to be nations except in name only. That sad state of affairs has already been reached by some of them. Their financial disintegration is more insidious in its growth than the forces leading to moral or physical downfall.—Public Opinion.

A CALL.

A call is hereby issued for a meeting of all members of the Evangelical Board of the Indiana Conference of the Church of God, to be held at the Church of God, Argos, Ind. on Wednesday, Nov. 13, 1901, at 10 o'clock a. m. The attendance of each member is earnestly requested.

T. O. Taber,
Pres. Evangelical Board.

In conjunction with the foregoing call for meeting of Evangelical Board at same time and place, the Executive Board of the Conference, and the public preachers within the Conference of the State, are hereby requested and earnestly desired to meet for the consideration of some matters considered vital not only in the prosecution of evangelical work, but touching the unity and well being of the whole body, in the way of a more complete understanding.

D. T. Halstead,
Pres. Ind. Conference.

Conference Notice.

The Quarterly Conference for the congregations of the Church of God, of the Abrahamic faith will be held with the congregation at Plymouth, Indiana. Will convene for opening service at 7:00 p. m. on Thursday Nov. 14, 1901. To continue over the following Sunday. The Plymouth congregation is anxious to entertain all that will come, including visiting brethren from other States, who may favor us by their attendance. Dear brethren, this meeting will be helpful to us, and uplifting to the cause we love, if we make it so, by doing our part. The Lord's part will never fail. He has pledged to be with us if we come in his name. Shall we not then do our part, commencing now, and continue arranging our other business affairs, all subordinate to this end, "Where there's a will, there's a way." Come then in the spirit of the Master, with the full endeavor to "keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace," and thereby, not only be blessed, but become the means of blessing to others now, and thereby being qualified and prepared to participate in the ministration of blessing "to all nations" in that blessed, near coming "day of the Lord." Programme to follow later on.

D. T. Halstead, Pres.
Mrs. R. C. Railsback, Sec.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending The Restitution to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the donors request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

George and Amelia Dowie	2 00
S T Blessing	3 25
M E Knowles	75
W D Townsend	6 00

Poetry.

For the Truth.

For the truth, then, let us battle,
Whatsoever fate betide;
Long the boast that we are freeman,
We have made and published wide;
He who has the truth and keeps it,
Keeps what not to him belongs,
But performs a selfish action,
That his fellow-mortal wrongs.

He who seeks the truth and troubles,
At the danger he must brave;
Is not fit to be a freeman,
He at least is but a slave!
He who knows the truth and places
Its high prompting under ban—
Long may boast of all that's manly,
But ne'er never be a man!

Be thou like the first apostles,
Be thou like heroic Paul—
If a free thought seek expression,
Speak it boldly, speak it all!
Face thine enemies, accusers,
Scorn the prison, rack or rod,
If thou fear the truth to utter,
Speak, and leave the rest to God!

Communicated.

Design of Christian Baptism.

"Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved."

"Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins."

"And now why tarriest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins."

"For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ, have put on Christ."

"Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death. * * * For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also of his resurrection." Mark xv. 15, 16; Acts ii. 38; xxii. 16; Gal. iii. 27; Rom. vi. 3, 5.

A careful study of the above Scriptures, together with their connections, will fully answer the question, What is baptism for?

Men are prone to go to extremes. The Roman Catholic church teaches that baptism is for the remission of sins; but they add to this in teaching baptismal regeneration. Martin Luther, in opposing the doctrines of Rome, went to the extreme of denying that any act of man had any thing to do with man's justification; and some of his Protestant followers, in contending against what they call the errors of Romanism go so far as to deny that baptism is in any sense for the remission of sins. If we would know the truth we must cut loose from the errors of both Catholicism and Protestantism, and accept the plain Bible teachings.

It will not do to take any one isolated text that mentions some special truth and contend that it contains all that is revealed on the subject. For instance Paul in Rom. v. 1, says we are justified by faith, whereas he, in Eph. ii. 8, says we are saved by grace, and in Rom. viii. 24, he says we are saved by hope, while Peter, in 1 Pet. iii. 21, says we are saved by baptism. There are not so many distinct and separate salvations; nor yet salvation by each separate agency apart from the others, but all must be combined to bring about the complete work; and even then we must continue steadfast unto the end if we would attain to equality with the angels, and become partakers of the divine nature.

Jesus in his commission in Mark xvi. 15, 16, mentions only faith and baptism in order to be saved, while Peter at Pentecost commands only repentance and baptism. In this Jesus and Peter are not at variance in their teachings, for Jesus' oft repeated exhortation was to repent; and Peter, with all the Apostles, constantly preached the necessity of faith, for without faith it is impossible to please God.

The Scripture quoted at the beginning of this article distinctly says that baptism is for "the remission of sins"—to "wash away sins." Now the wages of sin is death. Rom. vi. 23. We are all sinners by nature as well as by practice, and if we remain in our sins, of necessity death will have dominion over us. As baptism is God's appointed means for the washing away of our sins, if we refuse, or neglect to avail ourselves of his appointment, we certainly remain in our sins, and abide under God's condemning wrath. Paul wrote "As many of you as have been baptized into Christ, have put on Christ." The converse must also be true, if we have not been baptized into Christ we have not put on Christ. Out of Christ, God is a consuming fire. "Neither is there salvation in any other; for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved."

While baptism requires immersion in water, simple immersion in water does not constitute Christian baptism. It must be preceded by the faith of the gospel—and faith comes by hearing—and a hearty repentance, a turning from sin and unbelief, and turning to righteousness—right doing—in the love of it. When one has believed the gospel, the glad tidings contained in the proclamation made by Jesus and his apostles concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ, he is ready to be legally adopted into the family of God. God has constituted immersion in water the legal or outward form to accomplish this. Remember the law of God concerning adoption. He being supreme has the right to make the law. If we do not avail ourselves of the proffered offer we remain aliens.

The law of the United States prescribes how a foreign-born may become an adopted citizen, namely by a declaration of intention, (which presupposes knowledge, faith, repentance and desire) and the taking of the oath of allegiance. In a similar manner we become citizens of the commonwealth of Israel, and adopted into the family of God by taking the oath of allegiance to his government in the waters of baptism.

This may be further illustrated in the marriage vow. A couple may love with all the fervor of their being, plight their troth to be one and inseparable; and yet if they fail to procure a marriage license, and have the ceremony performed according to law, she can have no legal right to his name, nor stand justified in the sight of the law.

That the fear and devout worship of God, coupled with good works is not sufficient to salvation, is proved by the case of Cornelius, as recorded in Acts x. and xi.

It was necessary for him to know and believe the Christ doctrine, and obey its requirements in order to be saved. Hence he was commanded by a messenger from heaven to send for Peter, "Who shall tell thee words whereby thou and all thy house shall be saved." Peter's authoritative words included the command to be baptized into the name of the Lord.

Taking the whole tenor or teaching of God's Word in reference to baptism, we are forced to the conclusion that it is a part of the means to salvation, and unless we comply with its requirements, and pass through the waters of baptism, having first believed the gospel, and turned to God with our whole heart, we have neither part nor lot in the eternal life and everlasting inheritance promised to those who love and obey him, but we are yet in our sins, without Christ, aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope and without God in the world.

But if we obey from the heart that form of doctrine which is delivered to us, we become freed from sin and justified in the sight of God on account of the shed blood of the Son of his love, for we must not fail to recognize that it is only through that great sacrifice that God can forgive sin. For without the shedding of blood there is no remission. The pouring out of the precious blood of Christ resulted in his death and burial. But God raised him from the dead. In baptism we recognize and acknowledge that we are rightly under the sentence of death because of sin. Baptism is a fit emblem of death, burial and resurrection. We by symbol bury the body of sin, to which we have become dead, and arise to walk in newness of life.

Submitted in the love of the truth.

B. T. Blessing.

The Story of Israel. No. 103.

DEUT. XXVII. AND XXVIII.

We were looking at those wonderful mountains in the country of Ephraim, and at the ancient city and vale of Nabulous, and did not make much progress with our lesson at our last meeting. I think we left off at the 9th of the 27th chapter, where Moses and the priests, the Levites, were saying to the people, "Take heed and hearken, O Israel; this day art thou become the people of the Lord thy God. Thou shalt therefore obey the voice of the Lord thy God, and do his commandments, which I command thee this day,"—did we not?

"Yes, that is the place, but we were not the Israelites already the Lord's people?"

No, Gracie, not by solemn vow as were their fathers who had died in the wilderness. Those fathers had promised to be God's people, to believe him always and to do whatever he said, but they had broken their promise, for when they had reached the borders of Canaan, and had heard of the walled cities, of the giants, the sons of Anak, of the Amelekites in the land of the south, of the Hittites and Jebusites and the Amorites of the mountains, and of the Canaanites by the sea and along the Jordan, their fear overcame their faith and they would not move one step, but just sat down and cried.

"Yes, I remember, and how they murmured against Aaron and Moses, and how they said 'Wherefore hath the Lord brought us unto this land to fall by the sword, that our wives and our children should be a prey? Were it not better for us to return to the land of Egypt?' And besides all this they 'wished they had died in the wilderness.'"

But God had not brought them there to fall by the sword, but to put them in possession of the land that he had deeded to Abraham, their own ancestor, and if they would not believe that he was able to conquer it through them, but persisted in breaking their promise, to do as he told them, he would not be their God nor have them for his people, but would let them be their own masters, have their wish, and die in the wilderness, and would take their children to be his people in their stead. When an agreement is broken by a man, his children are not held by it, and so it was with the children of the perished Israelites; they were not bound by the broken covenant that had been made at Sinai, but must themselves enter into an agreement with the Lord.

Have you read the 26th chapter? It seems from what is said in the last verses of that chapter, that on the very day, when Moses in the land of Moab had finished repeating the statutes, commandments and judgments of the Lord, that they then and there "avouched the Lord to be their God," and that he "avouched them to be his own peculiar people," and promised to make them "high above all nations that he hath made, in praise, in name, and in honor, that they might be an holy people unto him."

"But some of the laws were repeated as the children of Israel were marching along in the second year after they had left Sinai, and even after they had been turned back from Canaan, Moses kept on repeating the commandments of the Lord."

I know Harold, that was done so the children would not forget them. These same laws were rehearsed again in the land of Moab. The whole law was read there, and it was this law that the Israelites had promised to keep.

"But Moses says in the 5th chapter of Deut. that the covenant made at Horeb, was not made with their fathers, but with those who were alive that day; how do you explain this passage?"

By looking forward as God does, Clarence. The covenant was made for a people who would settle in the land of Canaan. It was to be kept there. It was there that its rewards and benefits were to be reaped. God knows what will happen before it comes about, and speaks of future events as if they had already come to pass. Moses could say, "The Lord made not this covenant with our fathers but with us," because they having died in the wilderness in consequence of their rebellion, did not enjoy the benefits of the covenant by entering on the possession of the promised land. This is the thought of Jamieson, Fausset and Brown.

"But were not the people of Israel to keep these laws before they came into the land of Canaan?"

Certainly. It was only on condition that they kept all these commandments, that God promised to drive out before them "nations greater and mightier than themselves." A blessing was set before them if they obeyed, if not a curse. Deut. xi. 26-31. The blessings and the curses were an abridgment of the whole law. To these they were to assent, after they had crossed the Jordan, so you can think of the Israelites as promising to be God's people at three different times and at as many different places—at Sinai, in the land of Moab, and in the vale of Nabulous.

Which of the tribes were to stand on Mount Gerizim to bless the people, Evelyn?

"Simeon, Levi, Judah and Issachar, the sons of Leah, and Joseph and Benjamin the sons of Rachel. Joseph of course being represented by Ephraim and Manasseh.

What tribes stood on Mount Ebal to curse?

"Reuben and Zebulon, the eldest and the youngest of the sons of Leah; Dan and Naphtali, the sons of Bilhah; and Gad and Asher, the sons of Zilpah. The Levites were to speak for the tribes, and all the people were to answer "Amen!" or "so let him be accursed!"

Whatever family or tribe it might be that committed the sins mentioned, whether making molten and graven images, setting light by father or mother, removing a neighbor's land mark, making the blind to wander out of the way, perverting the judgment of the stranger, the fatherless and the widow; being guilty of social impurity, or committing murder, the curse was to come upon it, and upon him that confirmed not all the words of the law to do them.

But if they obeyed the Lord, they were to be set on high above all nations of the earth, (be the rulers over other nations) were to be blessed in city and in field, in their children, in harvests, in flock and in herd; when coming in and going out; in having rain in his season, in victory over their enemies and in whatever they set their hand unto. God would establish them as a holy people unto himself, in accordance with his oath. "Their days would be multiplied and the days of their children, on the land which the Lord sware unto their fathers to give them as the days of heaven upon the earth." Deut. xi. 21.

They should have the good treasure of the Lord opened unto them, should be blessed in all the works of their hands, should lend unto many nations, and should not borrow, should be the head, (or foremost or ruling power among all nations) and not the tail, (or underling of any nation), and all the people of the earth should know that they were called by the name of the Lord, and should be afraid of them.

But if not obedient the blessings would be turned into curses, they would be cursed in the city and in the field, in basket and in store, in their children, in the fruit of their land, in flocks and in herds, in coming in and in going out. The Lord would send vexation and rebuke upon them, no matter what they undertook to do, and would destroy them because of the wickedness of their doings. Pestilence and consumption, fever and inflamation, insanity and blindness, and all manner of diseases should come upon them. Blasting and mildew would spoil their crops, the rain would cease, their cattle and sheep be taken from them, and their fruits and harvests be eaten up by other people. Worms would destroy their grapes, their olive trees would not bear, locusts would consume their fruits, they would be oppressed and beaten by their enemies, and be carried away captive, and scattered among all nations, to become an astonishment, a proverb and a by-word wherever they might be led But we are talking too long again; so must stop for this time.

Auntie Wince.

Give and it Shall be Given.

"The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof." Psa. xxiv. 1. This positive statement has been handed down through the ages and we find the "Little Flock" at last in possession of it, but the fruit of the declaration has not ripened, and why? Are we in darkness and fashioned ourselves as the world, forgetful that God is our Father and we his children? If we are the children of God by adoption, and if we are in spirit truly his, does he desire some of his children to live in poverty, while some live in luxury? Does he sit one of his children at a table with but a morsel of bread, and another at a table with the best of his flock? But I heard one say, "This is mine and I worked for it. But ah! covetous one, you may be in possession of it, but it is not yours. "The fulness of the earth belongs to the Lord," and "The cattle on a thousand hills are the Lord's." It is only loaned to you to prove how you make use of your Lord's money, and whether you are worthy to be trusted with a position of the rulership in our soon coming kingdom. The gold and silver you so dearly cherish and perhaps have gotten by fraud, is not yours. "The silver and gold are mine, saith the Lord," and soon he will reckon with you; that bank account had better be put out on heavenly interest, those mortgages you hold on your brother's little possession had better be cancelled with the spirit of equity and divine justice. That note of yours that is bearing interest had better be stopped, "And if thy brother be waxen poor and fallen in decay with thee, then shalt thou relieve him. Take thou no usury from him or increase." Lev. xxv. Do you? Yes, there are some that do, and with their thousands they strive for more. Money, stocks and lands are being multiplied for the last days. Now, don't accuse me of being a Socialist, for I am non-partisan, and the man is to be pitied who will put his trust in man to rule this world. Failure has met failure, and still the world grows more wicked. I only look to him who said, "Strive not for the meat that perishes," to rule the world in righteousness.

Have you ever thought of that little family that abode together and went from house to house and had all things common? Yes, they were few in number comparatively; and "neither was there any among them that lacked, for as many as were possessors of land or houses, sold them and brought the price of things that were sold and laid them down at the Apostle's feet, and distribution was made unto every man according as he had need. Here is love manifested, true Christian love. "And the multitude of them that believed were of one heart and of one soul; neither said any of them that ought of the things which he possessed was his own, but they had all things common." No wonder their love was so great, this Savior of theirs had taught them to "love one another, even as I your Lord and Master has loved you." No wonder they sold and parted their goods with their needy brothers, for Jesus had told them to "Love thy neighbor as thyself," and unless they manifested this love they "were none of his." Do we love our brother as we love ourselves? If we do not, listen to him, "If ye love me ye will keep my commandments." No guess work about this. We can't feign excuses here. Ah! that very nice and very rich young man, who had kept all the commandments from his youth up and no doubt imagined he was about right, received a stinging condemnation when he was told by Jesus, "One thing thou lackest. Go sell what thou hast and give it to the poor." His wealth was between him and right and no doubt would reach some of the little flock. If we cannot love our brother, now, now, and let our possessions rule us, we are none of his. My money, my stock, my lands are the gods of many. Ananias and Sapphira loved their wealth and received a speedy judgment. The love of money is the root of all evil; which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith and pierced themselves through with many sorrows." But Paul is careful to warn the Christians to "Flee these things," and commands them to "Let no man seek his own, but every man another's wealth," and by so doing the interest in self would be crucified and covetousness would be averted. Ah! sad indeed to think if a parent would say to me of children, "Come sit at my table, enjoy my spacious home and the deliencies I have in store and then shut the door on another son and let him dwell in poverty, hunger, an outcast to life's necessities." What would you say of that father? I see such a condition in our heavenly Father's family, (at least so-called) but not his will. I see a worthy brother bowed with age, striving from day to day to keep the wolf from the door, giving half his labor for the opportunity to dwell in a low hovel, for a place to call home. I see another brother dwelling in a fine residence, gorgeously furnished, large, well-filled barns and farms to rent, taking usury and increase of the land from the toil worn laborer, forgetful of the commands of Jesus, forgetful to love our brother as ourselves, forgetful that the Savior said, "Lay not treasures upon earth where moth and rust doth corrupt and thieves break through and steal." These facts are so prominent in God's Word that we cannot pass them by. There is so little written and said on this subject perhaps it may seem foreign to many who are contending for the faith. It may come with a shock when they see they are not living up to the Bible plan. Listen "He that hath not given forth upon usury, neither had taken any increase, that hath withdrawn his hand from iniquity, hath executed true judgment between man and man, hath walked in my statutes and kept my judgments, to deal truly, he is just, he shall live saith the Lord." No wonder Jesus said, "It is easier for a camel to enter the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven." For Jehovah hath said in his Word, "He that hath given forth upon usury and hath taken increase, shall he then live? He shall not live, he hath done all these abominations, he shall surely die." Ah, my friend, ye who hath given forth upon usury, and ye who hath let your hand out for increase the time will come when restitution must be made and we had better begin now. For "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." "Therefore having food and raiment there with be content." God's Word makes provision for those who are not able to work, but the lazy man cannot enjoy the oneness of the little flock, "For he that won't work shall not eat."

The work of Titus was a glorious work, teaching the church the plan of commonality, the unity of the faithful, the love for one another in God's family where the rich and the poor are made into one common brotherhood, where equal distribution is made and the little flock is one in purpose, one in love, and one equality. "For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath and not according to that he hath not. For I mean not that other men be eased and ye burdened, but by an equality that now at this time your abundance may be a supply for their want, that their abundance also may be a supply for your want; that there may be equality." As it is written. Now here is the example for us to follow, "He that had gathered much had nothing over and he that had gathered little had no lack." O, the oneness of God's love, he asks no impossibilities. He requires no injustice, but "love one another as I your Lord and Master hast loved you."

There will soon be a great home-gathering to Father's house and those who have been faithful will find a welcome, to sit with him at his table, to be his guest while he serves them. Your money and lands will not be sufficient to buy you an entrance there. Who will stand at the door and knock? Will you, will I?

A. J. Days.

In response to the request of Bro. Wilson in Vol. I. No. 37 of The Restitution, I will say that I have long considered that man, his origin, history and destiny is the greatest and noblest subject that can engage his attention. The Bible proves itself and is abundantly confirmed by facts of history. I can find none of it to discard, but accept it from the beginning of Genesis to the close of Revelations. I can accept nothing from man, though he be a D. D., that is contrary to that Word. I have read and studied much along the line of man's origin and destiny—have listened to many discourses of able men holding the popular ideas, including the Advent people—during which time the Bible was left, to a large extent, a collection of inconsistencies or meaningless phrases and statements. When I found a people believing and expounding the Scriptures along the lines of Brother Wilson's articles, "What is the blessing?" I found the fog clearing away. The Scriptures stood out in a new and beautiful light, and, what was the greatest joy that ever came to me, they were harmonious from beginning to end. And O, how much more grand and sublime is the truth regarding those who are called out in this dispensation. What mind of man could conceive of a destiny for the called out ones of this age so glorious as to be crowned with immortality as kings and priests unto God, going out from the world's capital city, Jerusalem, to the nations of the earth and assisting the King of kings in bringing the world to God? A single "Thus saith the Lord" from that Book of books is of vastly more importance to me than all the statements of "higher criticism" from the pens and voices of all the D. D.'s in the universe.

The joining of the two nations, Israel and Judah, into one nation, no more to be separated—their restoration to Judea—the establishment of the twelve apostles upon twelve thrones judging the tribes—the establishment of Jesus the Christ on David's throne at Jerusalem, the crowning of those selected for his name in this dispensation as kings and priests unto God—the millennial joint reign of Christ and his people and its work of presenting to earth's nations under the conditions of the curse removed, the gospel of "Peace on earth, good will to man" as sung by angels at Messiah's birth, and to which gospel the people of the nations will gladly listen—all these are absolutely essential truths to make the Scriptures harmonious and entirely consistent. Indisputable evidences are multiplied on every hand that we are in the very midst of the "perilous times" of the "last days" and that soon the foregoing will be a demonstrated fact.

Brothers and sisters in Christ, let us hold fast to the faith once delivered to the saints. A few more of earth's grievous disappointments, trials and afflictions and "he that shall come, will come and will not tarry." My heart responds Amen, come Lord Jesus.

Jas. A. Burnham.

Announcement.

The Quarterly Conference of the Church of God in Michigan, will convene [D. V.] at Watson, Allegan Co., Michigan, Friday evening, Oct. 18th, 1901, and continue over the following Sunday.

Though few in number at this place [Watson] we hope and feel assured that we will have the hearty co-operation of all interested, and look forward to an interesting and profitable meeting.

Let none remain away through fear of being a burden to those that entertain the conference, as arrangements will be made to accommodate all that come, and all who come will receive a hearty welcome.

People coming from the north or south will change cars at Montieth for Fisk Station, where some one will be ready to convey them to the different homes.

Those coming from the north will tell the conductor to telegraph the conductor on the Cincinnatti and Northern Railroad, to hold the train for passengers to Fisk Station.

There will be one or more good speakers to preach the Word.

Let us remember the words of Paul, Heb. x. 25.

L. D. Becker, Pres.
Emma Jackman, Sec'y.

A clear-headed Christian writer draws the following picture of selfishness: "Selfishness is the most utter destitution of a human being. It can bring nothing to his relief; it adds soreness to his sorrows; it sharpens his pains; it aggravates all the losses he is liable to endure; and when goaded to extremes, it often turns destroyer and strikes its last blows on himself." The selfish man is always his own worst enemy. He is sure to cheat himself when intending to serve himself.

Many men owe the grandeur of their lives to their tremendous difficulties. —Spurgeon.

California Brethren.

I expect to go to Oleander, Fresno Co., Cal., some time in November, and will make my home there for a time. Any brethren desiring meetings in their vicinity please address me at Scholls, Ore., until Dec. 1. We should be faithful and work while we may for the Master is soon coming.

Yours awaiting his coming.
Edwin E. Groat.

Down they go—fares to Buffalo. Coach Excursion Tickets for Pan-Am. Exposition may be obtained via Pennsylvania Lines Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays during Oct. at greatly reduced fares. The Exposition closes October 31st. Enjoy it before it is too late. Ticket Agent J. E. Hanes, Plymouth Ind., will post you about fares and the convenient way to get there. See him.—1t

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth. N. J.

Closes October 31st.

The Pan-American Exposition is nearing a close. Only a few days remain in which to enjoy it. After October 31st it will be a thing of the past. Go now and profit in pleasure and knowledge of the wonderful achievements of the Americas and their possibilities. The trip may be made at very low rates via Pennsylvania Lines. The lowest fares yet offered are in effect over those lines each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Coach excursion tickets sold on those dates are good returning six days including day of sale, ample time for getting acquainted with the Pan-American Exposition and inspecting the grandeur of Niagara Falls. Excursion tickets may be obtained any day over the Pennsylvania Lines, but those sold Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays are especially important to persons wishing to make the trip at the lowest fare. Find out about them by applying to local agents of the Pennsylvania Lines Plymouth, Ind., Ticket Agent, J. E. Hanes, Oct. 26.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

Bible Pearls—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

Four-Page Tracts.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. U. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 150-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God. —Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. Y. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, The Restitution, Plymouth, Ind.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address public ed may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Fike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clukenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Cheesbrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb
I. G. Winchester, Riverside, Ky.
W.L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wiace, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. R. Hatch, Schreiville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prince Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kean, 4507, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. R. Oglesle, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stella, Pomona, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Dwiggins, Jacksonville, O.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Goin, Jefferson, Ore.
I. F. Cordill, Plymouth, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 188, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hicklin. Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Rush Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1906 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 10 Foundry St, Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La

Persons who have not visited the Pan-American Exposition are offered special inducement in low Coach Excursion fares via Pennsylvania Lines each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday during October. The Exposition closes this month, and this is the last and best chance for seeing it. Get details about rates and trains from Plymouth, Ind. Ticket Agent J. E. Hanes. —1t

Lower Rates to Buffalo.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, beginning Oct. 5th the Nickel Plate Road will sell round trip tickets at one half of the one way first class limited fare. Return limit 5 days after date of sale. Inquire of nearest agent of the Nickel Plate Road or C. A. Asterlin; T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Oct 30.

Subscribe for The Restitution for 1901.

Three Prophetic Days.

"Three Prophetic Days, or Sunday the Christian Sabbath. Showing the requirements of the Mosaic law, and comparing what should have occurred during the week of the Passover, with what was done by Jesus and his Apostles, as recorded in the New Testament. Proving that the law was kept to the very letter, and that Jesus made his triumphant entrance on Saturday, that he was crucified on Wednesday afternoon, and rose from the grave on Saturday evening, and that Sunday is the Christian's rest day, as is clearly shown by the law and the prophets."

The above is the title of a book of 230 pages, written by Wm. Frederick. This book has some original and peculiar ideas, an idea being gathered by reading the title page. While it is well to settle all such matters that can be settled, still we know full well that some people will never admit the deductions made as to days. However, the chief value of this work is in the unanswerable argument it makes against the Seventh day question, and past-millennialists. Any brother who wishes to be fully posted on these important matters, cannot afford to be without this book. All who are bothered by the law keepers should procure a copy at once, for no one can be too well posted in ways to combat this error of our times. We have arranged with the Author to supply this work from this office. It is well bound in cloth, good paper, and clear type. The price is $1.00 post paid. A cheaper paper binding will be sent for 50 cents to those who do not wish to buy the one in cloth, though the book is worth the better binding.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 283 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

The fare to Buffalo for the Pan-American Exposition has touched the lowest point. Coach Excursion Tickets sold Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays via Pennsylvania Lines cost only one-half of the one way regular fare, and are good returning six days. See Ticket Agent J. E. Hanes, Plymouth, Ind., about it.—1t.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acqualntances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O

Lower Fares to Buffalo.

An opportunity to visit the Pan-American Exposition at unusual low fare is offered by the special Coach excursions to Buffalo over the Pennsylvania Lines Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays of each week during October. Tickets on sale those days are based on a rate of one-half the regular one way fare, which makes this the cheapest rate offered any one during the Pan-American Exposition season. Particulars about fares and time of trains may be obtained by consulting Passenger and Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania Lines, Plymouth, Ind., J. E. Hanes, Agt.—oct 26

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty-five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

Twelve Words, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

The Gospel of the Kingdom, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

Early Lessons, suitable for young or old, 30 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,
General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,
General Immigration & Industrial Agent.
Louisville, Ky.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

VANDALIA TIME CARD
In effect June 2, 1901.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

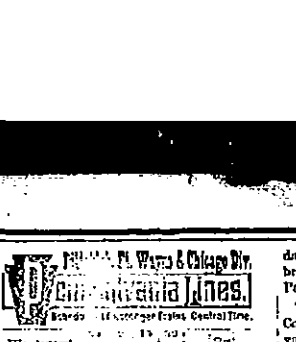
No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend	8:25am
No. 14, " "	12:01noon
No. 8, " " "	10:08pm
No 12, Sunday only	9:46am

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute	5:45a m
No. 5, " " "	12:54noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport	7:30pm
No 11, Sunday only	6:30pm

Trains 8 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections. Lake Maxinkuckee Sunday special train due Plymouth south bound at 9:14 a m. Returning leaves Maxinkuckee 5:45 p m.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or
E. A. Ford,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo



In addition to excursion tickets to Buffalo sold daily via Pennsylvania Lines, a special Coach Excursion ticket at an unusual low rate may be obtained Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, good for a six days trip to Pan-American Exposition. Get particulars from Ticket Agent J. E. Hanes.—1t.

All trains arrive at and depart from Van Buren Street Depot, passenger station, Chicago. Uniformed Colored Porters attend passengers holding first or second class tickets in day coaches on three trains, insuring scrupulously clean cars and service.

Eastward. | All Nickel Plate Passenger Trains Daily. | Westward.

Chicago, Valparaiso, Bryan, Fort Wayne, Leipsic, Kenton, Galion, Crestline, Mansfield, Wooster, Orrville, Akron, Medina, Cleveland, Conneaut, Erie, Girard, Ashtabula, Painesville, Euclid, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York, Boston.

(Local freight, carrying Victory Hiway Global 24/7 Service, runs Mendon to Akron, Monday and Friday; eastward Tuesday and Saturday, Thursday and Saturday.)

Light type a. m. Dark type p. m. Daily except Sunday. † Only on signal.

Drawing Room Sleeping Cars on Nos. 2, 4 and 6 thru to Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston; on Nos. 1, 3 and 15 to Chicago. Meals are served at "up-to-date" Dining Stations and in Nickel Plate Dining Cars at opportune meal hours. Elegant Coaches to destination. On regularity none will find our rates are always lower than via other lines, service considered.

For rates and detailed information, address B. Hoover, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O., C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind., or Local Ticket Agent.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and B. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Rensselaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 A. M., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall, H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God, known as Union Chapel Congregation meet each fourth Sunday, at private homes, for the purpose of breaking bread and social services. Also on the second Sunday at the Union Chapel Church, Winterhode, Ill., for Bible Reading at 11 A. M. All are invited. Lizzie Woods, Sec'y.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:30, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through the city, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker's, 209 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's home at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:30 A. M. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in L. H. on 3rd. Floor, No. 1231½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsboro, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by A. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meet for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Eshelman.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 a. m., in Miller's Hall, Galena Ave., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Kutlo, Keeder, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Anthon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trusdell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 16th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin K. Groat of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God, at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for services every Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Becker, Elder, Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 13:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "The Restitution, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "The Restitution."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Published by and for

—FOR THE—

CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAUSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

Poetry.

Golgotha.

They did cruelly our Savior,
On the cruel cross of shame;
Poor, despised and forsaken,
In Golgotha he was slain.

Oh, the anguish of our Savior!
With the thorns upon his brow;
Pierced feet, and hands were bleeding,
Jeering were the wicked crowd.

Heartless soldiers took his raiment,
Casting lots, whose it should be;
Caring not, for his sufferings,
As he hung upon the tree.

Oh, the sorrow of that mother!
As she knelt beneath the cross;
Praying, weeping and entreating
All alone,—with her great loss.

My Father,—it is finished;
Then his head fell very low;
For his sufferings were over,
In this cruel world below.

Darker, darker, grew the heavens,
And the people cried in fear;
For at last their eyes were open,
They had slain their Lord so dear.

NEVA QUACKENBUSH.

Communicated.

Genesis. Chap. 33.

1. Jakoub looking up with his eyes saw, and lo, Heesaw his brother coming and four hundred men of distinction with him; and Jakoub divided the children with Leia and Rrucheel and the two hand-maids.

2. And he placed the two hand-maids and their sons among the first, and Leia and her children behind them and Rrucheel and Jooseph last.

3. And he went on before them, and bowed in homage to the ground seven times until he had drawn nigh to his brother.

4. And Heesaw ran to meet him and embraced him and fell upon his neck and kissed him; and they both lamented.

5. And Heesaw looking up saw the women and the children, and said, What, are these thine? And he said, the children with which God hath mercifully blessed thy house-servants.

6. And the hand-maids and their children drew nigh and bowed in homage.

7. And Leia and her children drew nigh and did homage; and after that Rrucheel and Jooseph drew nigh and did homage.

8. And he said, What, are these all thine camps that I have met? And he said, May thy house-servant have found favor in thy sight, O Lord.

And Heesaw said, Brother, many tho..s are mine. Let thy things be thine.

10. And Jakoob said, If I have found favor in thy sight, Accept the votive-offerings at my hands; for this reason, I have seen thy face, as one might see God's face, and thou wilt be satisfied with me.

11. Take my blessing offerings which I have brought thee, because God hath been merciful to me and all things are mine, and he constrained him and he took them.

12. And he said, Let us take up and go our way straight-forward.

13. And he said unto him, My lord knoweth that the children are too tender, and the flocks and the herds are bringing forth; If then I drive them one day all the domestic animals will die.

14. Let my lord go on before his servant, and I will get strength on the way by taking the way that is before me leisurely and according to the feet of the little children, until I come to my lord in Seesir.

15. And Heesaw said, I will leave behind with thee some of my people; and he said, Why do this? It is sufficient that I have found favor in thy sight, my lord.

16. And Heesaw turned back that day on his way to Seesir.

17. And Jakoob taketh up for Skenai; (tents) and he built for himself houses there and made tents for his domestic animals; therefore he called the name of that place Skenai.

18. And Jakoob went to Saleem a city of the Seekimoi, that is in a land of Chanaan, when he came up out of Mesopotamia of Suria; and he pitched camp in the face of the city.

19. And he acquired the portion of the field where he pitched his tent from Emmoor, father of Sucheem, for a hundred lambs.

20. And he stood there an altar and invoked the God of Israeel.

COMMENT.

Observe the difference of names throughout this chapter and see if you can account for this in any reasonable way. The R. V. says Jakoob paid "Six pieces of money" for the land he acquired near Saleem. The text says "one hundred lambs." That there was a piece of coin, six of which would be equal to one hundred lambs, I think is a bold assumption or pure speculation from the little knowledge there yet is of the coinage of that day. In the last verse the R. V. says "And he called it (the altar) Elilohe—Israel." The text reads simply "and he invoked the God of Israeel."

Is "a booth" "a tent"? The word here is the usual word for tent, and so translated or "tabernacle" throughout the Scriptures. Why "booth" here? All these proper names figure very prominently in later sacred history and are difficult to identify frequently on account of the variations in the versions; but are consistently the same everywhere in the Greek text, and also generally agree with modern secular history which has handed them down to us. Why adhere to the obsolete if nothing worse in Archaic investigation?

CHAS. GARDNER.

Short Sermons.—No. 23.

THOUGHTS ON ACTS XV. 13-17.

This by a small body of peo... known as "Age-to-come" folks, is ...garded as a kind of fort, in whi... they feel quite secure from the attac... of men; while by others it is regard... as a kind of puzzle hard to unde... stand. A small band of good soldie... even surely needs a strong fort ... which to feel secure, here and here... ter. So we will venture up close, a... inspect this fort a little, while all ... quiet.

The trouble had all arisen over th... law question, as is usual. The elder... and the apostles came together for be... consider of this matter. After Peter, Paul and Barnabas had given in their testimony, James answered, saying: Men and brethren, hearken unto me, Simeon (or Simon Peter) hath declared how God at the first did visit the Gentiles, to take out of them a people for his name. And to this agree the words of the prophets; as it is written, After this I will return, and will build again the tabernacle of David, which is fallen down; and I will build again the ruins thereof, and I will set it up; that the residue of men might seek after the Lord, and all the Gentiles, upon whom my name is called, saith the Lord, who doeth all these things.

We note again that the trouble was not over the salvation of the Gentiles but was over the law. But there rose up certain of the sect of the Pharisees which believed, saying, that it was needful to circumcise them, and to command them to keep the law of Moses. The law of Moses was much more than circumcision for Paul says: For I testify again to every man that is circumcised, that he is a debtor to do the whole law. The law was a "bone of contention" over which all this trouble had arisen, and the whole law always meant more than the ten commandments.

Peter in his noble defence of gospel liberty, says, Now, therefore, why tempt ye God to put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples, which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear? And I would say to the brethren who feel inclined to admire this yoke, be careful brethren, this law-yoke is a heavy and hard one to bear. Too hard for our fathers and for us to bear, as Peter says. After trying it I can truly say that I was not able to bear it.

Again we note, that James understands Peter to say that God at the first did visit the Gentiles, to take out of them a people for his name. Question, Is this work done? Is this people taken out? If so, what are you trying to do?

Again we note, that James says: And to this (taking out of the Gentiles a people for his name) the words of the prophets agree. And I wish to remind you again, my brother, that this work is not done yet. While the apostle in his reference to the prophet to establish and vindicate his words and his work, says, After this I will return. After what, I ask? What is James talking about? He is talking very plainly about God taking out of the Gentiles a people for his name—which is the work of this gospel age. Then after this, or when this is done, I will return, come back again, and will build again the tabernacle of David, which is fallen down.

What is the object in this work? I answer, That the residue, the rest or those left, may seek after the Lord. The apostle in his reference to the prophecy of Amos, does not quote it word for word, but he does evidently give the meaning as he understands it in his own way and words. And this return, can only refer to Jesus who has taken his journey into a far country, and has promised to return or to come back again.

The prophet says his reward is with him, and his work before him. And the apostle places this work of rebuilding the tabernacle of David after his return.

This makes quite a strong fort for the little flock, and to strengthen the cords, and make it doubly strong and safe, we will go to the prophet from whom the apostle quotes and see what precedes this returning and rebuilding of this tabernacle of David, and it will be... many days declares that the house of the redeemed of God wi... be on this earth restored, but, as it matters not what one believes, we are in the habit of saying "heaven." Of course, God never said heaven, once, but what is the difference, just so we get there all right, wherever it may be?

"Why," says somebody, "it makes, not the least bit of difference whether the dead sleep, are up in heaven, or are down in hell." Then, friend, it makes no difference whether you have a Bible or not, for the Bible says that the dead sleep. "Oh, I can't think that." Then why not be honest and say at once that you do not believe the Bible? I have always observed this, that when we say it makes no difference, it simply means we do not want to believe what the Book says, and so that is the cheapest way out of it.

Yes, there are very strange people in this world, but if you should owe one of them seventy-two cents, but pays them sixty-nine cents, as "it makes no difference" it would prove a case just wherein it made all the difference in the world—even three cents difference. You can tell Almighty God it makes no difference what he has said, but if your neighbor suggests to you that it makes no difference, you call him to account quickly. Let us try and be consistent in all things hereafter.—Virgil F. Hunt.

Keep at Your Work.

Has God given you work to do? Then keep at it. Others may disapprove and criticize you. Keep at your work. Obstacles may be cast in your way. Keep at your work. Men may ask you to surrender your work to other hands. Keep at your work. Persons may wish to co-operate till they co-operate everything out of your hands and into their own. Keep at your work. Men may threaten to hinder if you do not come under their rule—let them hinder, you keep at your work. If God has given you a work to do he will give you strength to do it, and will bless you in the doing of it.

Many a good man has allowed his work to be taken from his hands, and wrecked by incompetent men who never could or would begin such work themselves, but seem on the watch to capture and control what others have begun. Many a man has idly wasted years of life and work by surrendering work which God had given him, into the hands of men whom God had neither called nor qualified to undertake it. Many a man has been obliged Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME L. Read PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, OCTOBER 23, 1901. NUMBER 40.

graph was placed in last week's article, and is again printed in this where it belongs.—ED.]

Opening of the Seals.

Rev. xi. 1, John is given a reed like unto a rod; and is instructed to "measure the temple of God, and the altar, and them that worship therein." The temple here to be measured cannot be the temple at Jerusalem, the measure of which was already known, the temple was also destroyed many years before the revelation was given to John, and hundreds of years before this prophecy was to have its application in the events of history, neither can it be the future temple, which is not yet in existence. Therefore it must be the Spiritual temple, or body of believers spoken of by Paul in 1 Cor. iii. 16, "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?" The altar also was to be measured, not the literal altar upon which the literal sacrifices were offered, but the Spiritual altar upon which Spiritual sacrifices are offered, and agreeing in kind with the Spiritual temple. Now, having a knowledge of the temple, and of the altar, we can discern the nature of the work to be performed by the party symbolized by the angel, in the measuring of the temple and the altar. The worshipers therein being the individuals that compose the temple. In the redemptive work under the law, none was to appear before the Lord empty. Ex. xxxiv. 20. All must bring a sacrifice and offer it upon the altar. In no other way could they approach the Deity in the temple service. But says the Apostle, "We have an altar whereof they have no right to eat, which serve the tabernacle." Heb. xiii. 10. Christ being the Christian's altar, to whom we bring all our sacrifices. "To do good and to communicate forget not; for with such sacrifices God is well pleased." Heb. xiii. 16. The work of measuring the temple is to examine into the faith and works of those who compose the same; and to compare them by the contents of the little book, and thereby see how they compare with the measurements of the altar;—Jesus Christ the same yesterday, today, and forever, holy, harmless, undefiled and separate from sinners.

This is now, and ever was, the true work of the Christian teacher. The reed being like a rod, indicates the nature of the measurement, a rod being for correction. The court is left out and not measured, but given to the Gentiles, thus indicating that the work appertains to the inner temple, an important work of taking out a people for God's name. Acts xv. 14. "And the holy city shall they tread under foot forty and two months;" not the literal city which has been under the feet of the Gentiles ever since the crown was removed, and the government overturned in the days of Zedekiah." Ezek. xxi. 26, 27. In this book of symbols there are two symbolic cities, the one represents the harlot woman (xvii. 18) or modern Babylon; the other city, the new Jerusalem. In this place it is the saints or faithful in Christ Jesus who are to be trodden under foot. See Heb. xii. 22. "But ye are come unto Mount Zion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels." Upon the same principle that the Apostasy is called Babylon, so is the saints called the holy city. The forty and two months during which the city is to be trodden down of the Gentiles, is undoubtedly symbolic time; literal time in connection with a symbolic city, would be, like the legs of the lame unequal. The time of the treading down of the city is not so easy to define. It would seem to be in the past when the kings of the earth took sides with the reformers, and the iron yoke of the Papacy was broken. The "open door" was then set before the saints. Rev. iii. 8. This was in the forepart of the 16th century, and 1260 years before that would be about the middle of the third century and would synchronize with the time when the woman fled into the wilderness from the face of the serpent. Rev. xii. 14. But as the flight of the woman took considerable time; as indicated by the giving to her the two wings of a great eagle; therefore it is impossible to indicate the exact point of time when she arrived in the wilderness. The two witnesses are to prophecy for the same length of time clothed in sackcloth; both periods probably commence and end at the same time. The first question to be arrived at is, what are the two witnesses? The Word of God will inform us, who, or what they are. Verse 4 reads. "These are the two olive trees, and the two candlesticks standing before the God of the earth." Allusion is here made to Zech. iv. 1-6, where the candlestick and the two olive trees are said by the angel to be "The Word of the Lord unto Zerubbabel." Taking this hint we go to the Word and see what we find on the subject of witnesses. In witnessing there are two kinds of testimony, oral and documentary. In Deut. xxxi. 26, we read, "Take this book of the law, and put it in the side of the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God, that it may be there for a witness against thee." Again in John v. 39 we read: "Search the Scriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life; and they are they which testify of me." This documentary testimony could be cited to almost any number. Now I will give a sample of oral testimony so as to complete or make up the two witnesses: "Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord." Isa. xliii. 10. And in Acts i. 8, we read, "But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Spirit is come upon you; and shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth." Nathan, the prophet, was one of God's witnesses when he said to David, "Thou art the man." The two witnesses are God's witnesses, notwithstanding the angel says, "I will give power unto my two witnesses." We must remember that the case is similar to that of the angel that led the Israelites out of Egypt; God's name was in him. If the Word of God and his servants are the two witnesses here spoken of; then the acts attributed to the two witnesses will apply to his Word and his servants. First, "If any man will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouth, and devoureth them." ver. 5.

Now read Jer. xxiii. 29, "Is not my Word like a fire? saith the Lord: and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces?" Again it is written. "For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book." Rev. xxii. 18. See Luke of fire xx. 15. Ver. 6, "These have power to shut heaven, that it rain not in the days of their prophecy; and have power over waters to turn them to blood,"..... Elijah shut heaven that it rained not for three years and a half; but he did it by the Word of the Lord. Moses by the Word of the Lord turned the waters of Egypt to blood. Verse 7, "And when they shall have finished their testimony, the beast that ascended out of the bottomless pit shall make war against them and shall overcome them and kill them." The finishing their testimony, that is in the sackcloth state, which synchronizes with the period in which the holy city is trodden under foot. In the death and resurrection of the witnesses, we must not expect to find any event of a literal nature, but of an holy symbolical nature; indeed we could not conceive of a literal killing of the Word of God, nor yet of his saints, and then coming to life again in three and a half days. The time of the death and resurrection of the witnesses appears to have been in the beginning of the 16th century. "At the commencement of the sixth century, Europe reposed in the deep sleep of spiritual death, under the iron yoke of the Papacy. That haughty power like the yoke of the Assyrian of the prophet, said, in the plentitude of his insolence, My hand has found as a nest the riches of the people; and as one gathereth eggs, I have gathered all the earth; and there was none that moved the wing, or opened the mouth or peeped."

And in a similar manner a writer of an article on the Reformation, in the Encyclopaedia Brittanica, in a statement made with no reference to the fulfilment of this passage, thus speaks of that period: "Every thing was quiet; every heretic was exterminated; and the whole Christian world supinely acquiesced in the enormous absurdities inculcated by the Romish church."

During this state of affairs, a council was held at Rome, called the Lateran council; which was assembled in A. D. 1513, and continued its sessions to May 16, 1517. In the ninth session of this council a remarkable proclamation was made, indicating that all opposition to the Papal power had now ceased. The scene is thus described by Mr. Elliott (ii. 396-397): "The orator of the session ascended the pulpit; and amidst the applause of the assembled council, uttered that memorable exclamation of triumph—an exclamation which, notwithstanding the long multiplied anti-heretical decrees of popes and councils, the like of which was never pronounced before, nor since. "I am nemo reclamat, nullus obsistit—There is an end of resistance to the Papal rule and religion; opposers there exist no more; and again, the whole body of Christendom is now seen to be subjected to its head." This occurred May 5, 1514. From this date we may reckon the three years and a half, during which the witnesses lay dead. Now from May 5, 1514, to Oct. 31, 1517, is three years and a half; the later date being the time that Luther posted up his theses at Wittemberg, the well-known epoch of the beginning of the Reformation. Now if the suppression of the witnesses is in symbolic language their death, when they again bear testimony, would be the same principle to be their coming to life again. "And I," said John Huss, in speaking of the gospel preachers who would appear after he had suffered at the stake, "And I awakening as it were from the dead, and rising from the grave, shall rejoice with exceeding great joy."

Again in 1523, after the Reformation had broken out, we find Pope Hadrian saying, in a missive addressed to the Diet at Nuremberg, "The heretics Huss and Jerome are now alive again in the person of Martin Luther." Thus we see that the Papacy, however unwittingly, has borne testimony to the death and living again, of the witnesses. Thus God in his over-ruling providence, makes his enemies confirm his Word to his servants. "And they ascended up to heaven in a cloud." ver. 12. In order to understand this language, it is only necessary to refer to one passage of Scripture, Dan. iv. 22, "It is thou, O King, that art grown and become strong: for thy greatness is grown and reacheth unto heaven, and thy dominion to the end of the earth." It signifieth great exaltation, which was true of the witnesses, after their coming to life again. "At the same hour there was a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the city fell." The earthquake was the same hour, at the same time that the witnesses ascended up to heaven. An earthquake in symbolic language is a political or ecclesiastical revolution, and the reformation was one of the greatest the world had ever seen; the falling of a tenth of the city has reference to those that left the church of Rome. See Rev. xvii. 18. "The woman that thou sawest is that great city that reigneth over the kings of the earth." The seven thousand that were slain in the earthquake has reference to the loss of titles by the ecclesiastics. In the Greek it reads "names of men" therefore we understand that seven thousand by the earthquake lost their titles, which does not seem excessive, considering that so many left the Romish communion. Then we have the declaration, "The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ, and he shall reign forever and ever." In the next I will treat of the opening of the temple, which will be the last on the opening of the seals.

GEO. FRANCIS.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, OFFICE EDITOR.

EDITORIAL COMMITTEE.
J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, OCT. 23, 1901.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING.

The Stockholders of the Christian Publishing Association are requested to meet at Plymouth, Ind. on Saturday, Nov. 16, 1901, for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors and transacting any other business that may come before them.

Signed,
J. H. WILLEY, Pres.
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Sec.

A Serious Loss.

We have met with quite a serious loss. Some weeks ago we sent out several hundred letters to persons who were owing us various sums of money. Who will help us find these letters that have been no doubt laid away and forgotten? If you did not get one, and you have not sent your renewal, don't wait for the letter to come, but send now and save us the expense of writing to you. It is a task we dislike very much anyway, and we will be rejoiced if no occasion existed for doing so. Brethren, this is a serious matter indeed. We can not meet our obligations unless you do yours. Think of this carefully and calmly, and act as your conscience and Christianity dictate. If each will do this we will have several hundreds of dollars within a weeks time. Will you help to make good our loss?

FIVE Wednesdays in this month, so this is the last issue until the one of Nov. 6.

"SUCCESS is full of promise till men get it; and then it is a last year's nest which the bird has flown."

"WHETHER they shall confess their faults or not, men generally leave to their moods, and not to their principles."

"How many hopes have quivered for us in past years,—they have flashed like harmless lightnings in the summer nights, and died forever."

"A MAN in the right, with God on his side, is in the majority, though he be alone; for God is multitudinous above all populations of the earth."

A PARAGRAPH we once met with, in substance said,—"You need not break the glasses of a telescope, or coat them with paint, in order to prevent you from seeing through them. Just breathe upon them, and the dew of your breath will shut out all the stars. So, it does not require great crimes to hide the light of God's countenance. Little faults can do it just as well. Take a shield, and cast a spear upon it, and it will leave in it one great dent. Prick it all over with a million little needle shafts, and they will take the polish from it far more than the piercing of the spear. So it is not so much the so-called great sins which take the freshness from our consciences, as the numberless faults that we regard as petty, which we are all the while committing."

Professor Beet on Immortality.

The Professor is publishing another series of articles on the immortality of the soul which should certainly set the clergy of England to searching; judging by the closing paragraphs of the second article; it shows distinctly the difference between the teachings of Jesus and Plato. He says:—

"We have now seen that the doctrine of the "Immortality of the soul,—i. e., the essential and endless permanence of all human souls,—so prominent in the teachings of Plato, has no place in the teachings of Christ and his Apostles. The difference is significant. In the absence of an historic revelation, Plato appealed, in proof of a retribution beyond the grave—a most important element in morality and religion—to the spiritual nature of the soul. But Christ claimed to be a Teacher sent from God to announce eternal life for all who put faith in him. And in support of his claim and of his gospel of eternal life, his followers appealed to his resurrection from the dead. To appeal now to the immortality of the soul in support of the Christian hope, is to illumine the light of the gospel with the dim torch of Greek philosophy."

We had a delightful surprise on Sunday Oct. 13, by a visit from W. D. Townsend, and Sisters Baker and Knowles. They belong to the faithful few of Salem, Ohio, and although adversely situated seem to rejoice in the Lord always.

J. K. JEROME says, "Let us be done with vain regrets and longings for the days that will never be ours again. Our work lies to the front, not behind us; and "forward" is our motto. Let us not sit with folded hands gazing on the past, as if it were the building; it is but the foundation. Let us not waste heart and life thinking of what might have been, and forgetting the "may be" that lies before us.

FOR J. T.,—It is very strange to us that one so capable of analyzing a subject as you are, can differ with us in regard to the restoration of the kingdom of Israel,—we are not able to write at length at this time,—so we will refer you to the words of the Spirit in Isaiah ii. 1, 2, 3, 4. Take notice that the first verse informs us what the chapter treats of viz., Judah and Jerusalem.

The second, third and fourth verses say, "And it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains and shall be exalted above the hills, and all nations shall flow unto it;" and many people shall go and say, 'Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths, for out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem. And he shall judge among the nations and shall rebuke many people; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks, nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

This passage contains at least 16 declarations of things to be that you are in duty bound to find a place for, in your theory, or, for ever hold your peace. We will not quote them again, —there is no need of that; and we respectfully say, that after what has passed between us, we decline further argument till you comply with this request,—then we will give it serious attention.

Passing Events in the Light of Prophecy.

We learn from Glad Tidings that an official announcement is made that the Fifth Zionist Congress is to be held at Basle in December next, commencing on the 26th, and ending on the 29th.

The leading organizers of the movement are taking steps to organize a monster demonstration throughout the world, in connection with the Fifth Congress, or a week earlier (the date not having been fixed), the societies everywhere will hold meetings simultaneously, and suitable resolutions will be moved. The idea is to obtain as large an expression on the affairs of the movement and the congress programme as possible. Many who are watching the movement will be disappointed at the postponement of the Congress until December, as in view of Dr. Herzl's interviews with the Sultan, they are waiting for an announcement of a further development. A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Jewish Colonial Trust will take place on the 8th inst., when it is anticipated that the bank will be ready to start operations.

The latest that has come to hand relating to the above subject is the following news item, dated New York, Oct. 14 and reads as follows:—

"The London correspondent of the Press sends the following interview with Israel Zangwill:

"Israel Zangwill, the novelist, poet, and playwright, concerning the coming conference of the Zionists in Basle, Switzerland, said: "It is not impossible that Dr. Herzl may have a great surprise for the world, to be announced at that convention. He has been negotiating in person with the Sultan of Turkey for a charter of Palestine, and it is possible that he has obtained that charter. It seems likely, at any rate, that the charter may be had before many months.

"Since the charter is assured, much larger contributions should be obtained. We have at present about $1,000,000, most of it from three or four subscribers.

"And after the charter is obtained and the money is raised the poor folks among the Jews will have a place of refuge at last."

Who that has the key to the truth of God can doubt that an unseen hand is guiding the course of events as it suits his divine purpose? The financial straits of the Sultan will doubtless facilitate an arrangement whereby the prophetic conditions of the "latter years" shall be brought about. Ezek. xxxviii. and xxxix. Russia's fingers seem to be itching to seize still more of the Turkish empire,—and Austria is shaking with fear of the result of such action. A few millions from the Jews just now would smooth the road of the Sultan somewhat, and put off the evil day for awhile. Great events are casting their shadow, and the "left-over remnant" should be constantly on the watch.

In an article on Russian interference in the Balkans, the "Pester Lloyd" says: "It is a fact that Russian policy in the Balkans becomes every day bolder and less heedful of consequences; that, under Russian influence, Panslavistic aspirations, which if developed would destroy the status quo, are beginning to appear. The Austro-Hungarian Empire would be imperilling its very existence if it remained blind and deaf to the only too apparent symptoms of renewed under-hand aggression on the part of Russia."

Reuter's correspondent at Constantinople writes that a very unsettled situation is reported from various parts of Albania and Old Servia. Complete lawlessness prevails.

According to the "Speaker," the Turkish diplomatic rupture with France reveals a new spirit that has been growing up for some years in Constantinople, and may lead to trouble.

The Daily Mail is more outspoken:—"For, one of these days, another tiny shadow, no bigger than a man's hand, will make its appearance on the Eastern horizon. People will call it nothing, as they have called the French quay imbroglio nothing; they may laugh at it, yet it may grow until it darkens the whole sky. It is for this reason that we cannot contemplate with equinimity the policy of 'pin-pricks' which has come to represent the latest phase of the everlasting Eastern question."

Look Up.

It is related that King Henry IV, once asked the Duke of Alva if he had observed certain eclipses which had occurred that year. "No," was the reply, "I have had so much business to attend to upon earth that I have had no time even to look up to heaven."

There may be some of those who read these lines who are in the same condition. Some who have been so busy with the things of time, so busy with the things of this life, so occupied with business cares, so absorbed with worldly thoughts as scarcely to have time to lift their minds heavenward.

Never Too Old to Learn.

"Socrates at an extreme age, learned to play on musical instruments.

Cato at eighty years of age learned the Greek language.

Plutarch when between seventy and eighty commenced to study the Latin language.

Sir Henry Spelman neglected the sciences in his youth, but commenced the study of them when between fifty and sixty years of age. After this time he became a most learned antiquarian and scholar.

Ludovico at the age of 115 wrote the memories of his own times.

Ogilby, the translator of Homer and Virgil, was unacquainted with Latin and Greek until he was past the age of fifty.

Franklin did not fully commence his philosophical studies until he reached his 50th year.

Colbert, the famous French minister at sixty returned to his Latin and law studies.

Dryden, in his 68th year, commenced the translation of the Iliad, and his most pleasing productions were written in his old age."

The Value of Decision.

W. Matthews in "Hints on Success in Life," says:—

"Whether inborn or acquired, decision is a quality vitally important to him who would get on in the world. Even brains are secondary in importance to will. The intellect is but the half of a man. The will is the driving wheel, the spring of a motive-power. A vacillating man, no matter what his abilities, is invariably pushed aside in the race of life by the man of determined will. It is he who resolves to succeed, who at every fresh rebuff begins resolutely again, that reaches the goal.....Obstacles and perplexities every man must meet, and he must either promptly conquer them or they will conquer him. It is rarely that the comparatively good and evil of different modes of action are equally balanced; and he who would do anything to the purpose in this world should perceive the slightest inclination of the beam with an eagle's glance. It is better to decide wrong occasionally than to be forever wavering and hesitating, now veering to this side and then to that, with all the misery and disaster that follow from continued doubt."

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

Dear Restitution:

Brother W. H. Wilson asked for testimonies from those who believe in the promises of God and who have entered into the bonds of the covenant. He wishes to know how precious and satisfying they are to each one who believes that God will do just what he promised for Abraham, what his Son Jesus would do, and what would be restored to his chosen people the Jew.

I believe and rejoice in the promises and know that every promise of God will be literally fulfilled. To me they are more precious than all the riches of this world, the promises are sure, and I pray God that I may be accepted, and may see the glories of the restoration, when Jesus with his saints will rule the world in righteousness, and all the nations of the earth be blessed; for this restoration gives us hope, and strength, for the kingdom of God will be glorious, one that will never pass away, for the kingdom and dominion and greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven shall be given to the saints of the Most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom. This is my hope, a home in the kingdom of God to be set up on the earth, and the blessings of the covenants of promise will be to all who will come unto Jesus and accept the gospel or good news of these promised blessings. Let us stand firm for the truth as it is in Jesus, looking forward to the soon coming King, and striving for an entrance into that promised kingdom.

Your humble Sister, in the truth.
E. T. KNOWLES.

Dear Restitution:

In regard to Brother Wilson's request, I can say that I have an interest in the covenants of promise. Truly can they be called exceeding great and precious promises. It is my greatest desire to so live, that I may be a partaker of the divine nature. I would not give the hope I have for all the wealth and pleasures of this world. May the Lord help us all that each day of our lives may find us wearing the robes of righteousness, being ever ready to forsake all worldliness and through faith look to God for help and strength that we may be overcomers of all things, realizing that each small victory will help us to win a greater, and at last that we may be numbered with those who shall stand with the Lamb upon Mount Zion.

O Jerusalem, land of rest,
Home of the faithful, ever blest,
With Jesus, our King to lead the way,
We shall see thy glories some sweet day.

L. WILHELM.

Dear Brother Underwood:

I send you greeting in the Lord, and our sympathy as we see by your statement, of some of the brethren neglecting to pay for their paper. It is a heavy burden they place on you to have to carry so large a debt. That ought not to be. My time does not expire until January next, but I send my renewal now as it may help some; for by the New Year others may pay up their back dues. I also enclose two dollars for the helping fund. Yes, brother, we are living in perilous times, so many false doctrines are being taught to make the way easy, as if the Master had not made the way easy for a good and honest heart, although he said it was a straight and narrow road that leads to life, it is plain and simple. I rejoice to see that you are so firm in the purity and simplicity of the truth, as it is in Christ Jesus. Although simple it is deep and means so much. Yes, it manifests the great love of God and his Son, and may their blessings rest upon you in your labor of love is the prayer of your brother and Sister in the one hope.

GEORGE & AMELIA DOWLE.

A CALL.

A call is hereby issued for a meeting of all members of the Evangelical Board of the Indiana Conference of the Church of God, to be held at the Church of God, Argos, Ind. on Wednesday, Nov. 13, 1901, at 10 o'clock a. m. The attendance of each member is earnestly requested.

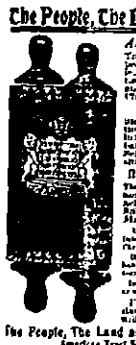
T. O. TANKS,
Pres. Evangelical Board.

In conjunction with the foregoing call for meeting of Evangelical Board at same time and place, the Executive Board of the Conference, and the public preachers within the Conference of the State, are hereby requested and earnestly desired to meet for the consideration of some matters considered vital not only in the prosecution of evangelical work, but touching the unity and well being of the whole body, in the way of a more complete understanding.

O. T. HALSTEAD,
Pres. Ind. Conference.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

The People, The Land and The Book



An Illustrated Quarterly

Treating of the old, historic people of Israel, their battle fields, Palestine, of the Bible, its Bible, of Jewish traditions and literature, leading up to Christianity. A subscription of shall be sent to both Egypt, a year, and all persons, residents in the U. S. and Canada, who, before January 1st, 1902, shall subscribe, is promised it.

The Holy Scrolls

Every NEW Subscriber

The SCROLL will be furnished to each subscriber at 5 cents each, which is the price of the Subscription Price of the Magazine, with scroll, $1.

A subscription of the above kind has a free scroll of the contents, described in detail in the Christian Herald.

It has a set of fifteen illustrations, and a large map of the country, and a large map of the Holy Land.

Specimen book of the above kind sent, a 16 page prospectus will be furnished.

The People, The Land and The Book Pub. Co.
American Tract Society Building
150 Nassau Street, New York, N. Y.

To all who wish to keep up with the Jewish question we recommend the magazine of which the foregoing is an advertisement. Send for the prospectus, and then subscribe and get the Scroll free.

The Young Bereans.

In this issue of THE RESTITUTION the readers will notice a column dedicated to the young Bereans of Illinois. The name indicates that these young people are "daily searchers of the Holy Scriptures. I, for one, greatly rejoice at such a movement being started among our young. It is hoped that wherever a company of young believers can be found, that they will organize a band of Scripture students.

This movement is not confined to believers, but any young person who desires to become a daily student of the Holy Scriptures can become a member by sending their name and address to the State President, Sister Anna E. Drew, Dixon, Ill.

Any young person desiring to know the way to obtain life everlasting can send questions to Sister Drew, and she will either answer them herself, or get some other young person to do so, or she may perhaps submit some to older Bereans who have had much experience in studying the Scriptures, such as Brethren Wagoner, Halstead, Zillmer, Wince, Bwigrins, Joblin, Austin, and many others. These questions may be answered apart from the Bereans column.

Brother Underwood has always been willing to give space for answers to honest enquirers after knowledge concerning the one true faith and hope of the gospel.

I would say to such young people, if you do not have the reading of THE RESTITUTION subscribe for it at once. You could not make a more profitable investment of your money.

Let isolated young people everywhere correspond at once with Sister Drew.

W. H. WILSON.

We need a few hundred new subscribers. Now is a good time of year to get them, and we are asking our friends to make an effort in this line. We do not want you labor for nothing, and so make this offer as an inducement to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and which is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War, and an extensive traveler in Africa, has written a book of over 500 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price is put at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1902, making $4.50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, giving them credit to the end of 1902, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help THE RESTITUTION by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

California-Oregon Excursions every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and on Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest time on the road. Finest scenery. Inquire of nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggener, at 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill.--dec28

Poetry.

The End of the Way.

The following beautiful lines were written by a young lady in Nova Scotia, an invalid for many years:

My life is a wearisome journey;
I'm sick with the dust and the heat;
The rays of the sun beat upon me;
The briers are wounding my feet;
But the city to which I am journeying
Will more than my trials repay;
All the toils of the road will seem nothing
When I get to the end of the way.

There are so many hills to climb upward,
I am often longing for rest;
But he who appoints me my pathway,
Knows just what is needful and best;
I know in his Word he has promised
That my strength shall be as my day;
And the toils of the road will seem nothing
When I get to the end of the way.

He loves me too well to forsake me,
Grieve me one trial too much;
All his people have been dearly purchased,
And Satan can never claim such.
By and by I shall see him and praise him
In the city of ne'er ending day;
And the toils of the road will seem nothing
When I get to the end of the way.

When the last feeble step has been taken,
And the gates of the city appear,
And the beautiful songs of the angels
Float out on my listening ear;
When all that now seems so mysterious
Will be plain and clear as the day;
Yes, the toils of the road will seem nothing
When I get to the end of the way.

Though now I am footsore and weary,
I shall rest when I'm safely at home;
I know I'll receive a glad welcome,
For the Savior himself has said "come."
So when I am weary in body
And singing in spirit I say:
All the toils of the road will seem nothing
When I get to the end of the way.

Cooling fountains are there for the thirsty;
There are cordials for those who are faint;
There are robes that are whiter and purer
Than any that fancy can paint;
Then I'll try to press bravely onward,
Thinking often through each weary day,
The toils of the road will seem nothing
When I get to the end of the way.

Communicated.

The Change of Dispensations. No. 2.

While the march of progress in the attainment of knowledge (many running to and fro and knowledge being increased, Dan. xi. 4,) points to the change of dispensation and the second coming of Christ, the holy land and the Jewish nation are no less eloquent in catching the same strain, for it was current some 40 years ago that the Jewish prayer book was revised so as to make mention in all their prayers for God to remember the land of Palestine and the promise he had made to their fathers, and a little later the rains began to fall and the land is now fertile and comely as of old.

In Ezekiel xxxvi. 39, it is written, "Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be enquired of by the house of Israel to do it for them." This brings us to notice "the burden which Habakuk the prophet did see," Hab. i. 1–3, which represents Israel calling on God concerning their affliction as foretold by Ezekiel xxxvi. 47, then notice the reply in the 5th verse, "Behold ye among the heathen and regard and wonder marvelously, for I will work a work in your day which ye will not believe though it be told you, for lo, I raise up the Chaldeans that bitter and hasty nation which shall march through the breadth of the land to possess the dwelling places that are not theirs." A very good reason for the seeming delay, and one which ought to check their impatience but they are eager and depending on their own resources, gold, silver and brass, and the shrewd business tact of moneyed men they are now preparing to settle at once in the promised land instead of heeding the word of the prophet and scanning carefully the history of the Chaldeans among the nations of earth for the past twenty-five years and learning that the raising up process is well under way, but the Lord is able to bring good out of any evil which may befall them which thing he will surely do for it is written "When the enemy shall come in like a flood, the spirit of the Lord shall raise up a standard against him." Isa. lix. 19.

The foregoing signs all point in a general way to the close of the dispensation as a thing of the near future, but we are now come to something still more definite which if rightly understood indicates that the change has already commenced to occur, for according to a theory prevalent with Bible students that the great pyramid of Gizeh is a God inspired hieroglyphic of dispensations, times and events. We are now in the narrow passage between the grand gallery and antechamber.

Three dates or periods are claimed to be indicated by the impending of the south wall of the grand gallery. At the commencement of the year 1876 we pass under the top of the impending wall, indicating some important event imminent, and we had not long to wait for the King of the North started out on an errand of conquest and inaugurated the Turko-Russian war, marking the opening of the first seal, Rev. vi. 1, 2, for he went forth conquering and to conquer. But the Lord turned him back with hooks of six teeth, as foretold by Ezek. xxxix. 2, and in the course of '77 and '78 the incident was ended.

But there was not much time to be squared, for the second period hurries in its claim early in the year 1879, and like a mighty angel taking up a stone like a great millstone to cast it into the sea, Rev. xviii, the Papacy commenced its rise to power for its final fall, for on Feb. 20, 1879, Leo XIX took the Papal chair and at once adopted a system of tactics that has entirely changed the status of the Papal influence and power, as has already been published. See issue for Mar. 27.

Although it is justly claimed that the fall of Babylon took place in the year 1870, that was only one fall, but it takes two falls to fulfill the prophetic word. "Is fallen, is fallen," is the order as seen by Isa. xxi. 9; Rev. xiv. 5; and xviii. 22, which involves the idea of being raised to power temporarily for the last and final fall, as in Hab. i. 6, an event not to be overlooked nor ignored.

The third period puts in its claim in 1882, and just as we leave the grand gallery and enter the narrow passage under the south wall behold on Sept. 26, and onward in the eastern horizon a star seemingly of large magnitude, and golden brilliance, suddenly appeared to the naked eye, as the Morning Star, and in such proximity to the sun as to mingle its rays with those of the sun, and produce what was called "golden sunrise" and "golden sunset" which continued for months. It was the sign of the Son of Man, Mat. xxiv. 30, "And then shall appear the sign of the Son of Man in heaven, and then shall all the tribes of the earth strike." The Greek term here used is found eight times in the New Testament, and is translated as follows in C. V.

Mat. xi. 17, Have lamented.
Mat. xxi. 8, Cut down.
Mat. xxiv. 30, Shall mourn.
Mark xi. 8, Cut down.
Luke viii. 52, Bewailed.
Luke xxiii. 27, Bewailed.
Rev. i. 7, Shall wail.
Rev. xviii. 9, Shall bewail.

The term primarily signifies to strike smite, cut, and in Mat. xxiv. 30 evidently conveys in the Common Version the idea of mourning only by the ancient custom of smiting on the head or breast as an expression of grief which as far as the word used is concerned, may or may not be correct, for the Greek term here used and the English term "strike" seem thoroughly identical in all their various uses in their respective languages.

Following is some of the definitions given in English for this Greek term, in Liddel and Scott's Greek-English Lexicon.

1. To strike in hostile sense, especially of pugilists.
2. To strike, hit, wound.
3. To knock down, slay, but only of cattle when not stabbed with the knife, but knocked down with a mallet.
4. To cut off, chop off.
5. To strike a horse to make him go faster.
6. To hammer, forge, also to stamp metal, coin money.
7. To knock or rap; of one without who wishes to get in.
8. To cut small, chop up; also to beat, bruise, pound.
9. Of birds to peck at, strike with the beak, and so pierce, perforate, to beat or strike one's self, one's head or breast through grief.

So we see it makes no difference by which definition we go, the first or the ninth. If the ninth it is an expression of grief by a self-inflicted blow. If the first it is a blow struck; and if applied to labor trouble it is caused by grievance and is self-inflicted. Also the difference being the ancient custom was practiced by an individual, the modern by an order, brotherhood, or tribe, just as was foretold by our Savior.

The star and the golden sunrise and sunset disappeared after being seen a few months, but the striking of the laboring classes is a common occurrence at the present time.

But it is now 1891, and we are getting ahead of Pyramid dates, and so will commence back at 1847 in next article.

J. M. Eyre.

Selected.

Very Strange People.

That there is "just as much difference in some people as there is in anybody" is a self-evident fact. When I show people what the book says, they exclaim immediately, "Well, it really don't make any difference anyway." But, I ask them, "Does it matter whether we have the Bible at all?" "Yes, yes," they say, "we must have the Word of God." But I am prepared to demonstrate that it makes no difference whatever. How am I going to do that? If it don't make any difference what a man believes, then it does not make any difference whether he believes anything or not. That is the logical outcome of the whole business. Don't tell me that it is necessary to have a Bible—the Word of God, and the same time it don't matter what a man or woman believes. That is the very worst kind of nonsense.

But, did you ever observe at what time in the moon it is that people tell you "it makes no difference?" It is just at that time when you call on them for a Bible reason—a Scripture for what they believe. Not being able to find the Scripture for what they believe, they wisely conclude that it don't matter what a man does believe anyway. You see that is the cheapest way out of the embarrassment. But then, if it don't make any difference, why not just believe what the Bible says?

Suppose you have started to Colorado by team, and you have a map of the route. The map says take the right hand road, but you say it matters not which road you take. Then better take the road the map indicates my friend.

By some hook or crook it never matters with some people what they believe, just so they believe everything else except what the Bible actually declares. Do you suppose that some people are contrary? It would never do in the world to say so, though we may think very loud. It is true that the Bible always declares that the home of the redeemed of God will be on this earth restored, but, as it matters not what one believes, we are in the habit of saying "heaven." Of course, God never said heaven, once, but what is the difference, just so we get there all right, wherever it may be?

"Why," says somebody, "it makes not the least bit of difference whether the dead sleep, are up in heaven, or are down in hell." Then, friend, it makes no difference whether you have a Bible or not, for the Bible says that the dead sleep. "Oh, I can't think that." Then why not be honest and say at once that you do not believe the Bible? I have always observed this, that when we say it makes no difference, it simply means we do not want to believe what the Book says, and so that is the cheapest way out of it.

Yes, there are very strange people in this world, but if you should owe one of them seventy-two cents, but pay them sixty-nine cents, as "it makes no difference" it would prove a case just wherein it made all the difference in the world—even three cents difference. You can tell Almighty God it makes no difference what he has said, but if your neighbor suggests to you that it makes no difference, you call him to account quickly. Let us try and be consistent in all things hereafter.—Virgil F. Hunt.

Keep at Your Work.

Has God given you work to do? Then keep at it. Others may disapprove and criticize you. Keep at your work. Obstacles may be cast in your way. Keep at your work. Men may ask you to surrender your work to other hands. Keep at your work. Persons may wish to co-operate till they co-operate everything out of your hands and into their own. Keep at your work. Men may threaten to hinder if you do not come under their rule—let them hinder, you keep at your work. If God has given you a work to do he will give you strength to do it, and will bless you in the doing of it.

Many a good man has allowed his work to be taken from his hands, and wrecked by incompetent men who never could or would begin such work themselves, but seem on the watch to capture and control what others have begun. Many a man has idly wasted years of life and work by surrendering work which God had given him, into the hands of men whom God had neither called nor qualified to undertake it. Many a man has not neglected to stand by and see his work neglected or wrecked by men who are paid to attend to it; feeling that he could not regain and resume it without a struggle, which might result in trouble and defeat.

Let the man of God beware in season. Let him receive his work and his charge from his Master, and let him do the work God has given him until that Master bids him rest from that labor. Let others object, suggest, propose or oppose, if they will; but "Thou, O man of God, keep at thy work."—Christian.

Brave Enough for Best Things.

Courage is needed on the part of one who, in these days, would seek for real culture. To follow steadfastly the best things is not easy, when a myriad of small, second-best things constantly and clamorously beset one. The matter of reading affords an illustration. Who is brave enough to turn his back upon the wealth of alluring periodical literature, and the fascinating stream of latest books, about which people are talking and which afford such a staple of conversation, in order to pursue the old and tried paths of real literature?

Nevertheless, the young person who will stand out in power amid his shallow companions, with their smattering of everything new, will be the one who will give his reading hours to the high and the great and the old in the world of books.

True as Gospel.

It is a foolish girl who marries a man to reform him. Sweethearts reform very few men, and wives reform still fewer. The girl who expects to change the nature of a pig by marrying one will get some sad lessons in hogology if she persists in carrying out her ideas. The drunkard who is all smiles and considerateness as a sweetheart, and who invests a large part of his salary in cloves, etc., will get brutally and hopelessly drunk as a husband, and lie out all night at the back door of a down town saloon. The best sort of man for a girl to marry is a man who has never needed to be reformed at all, but who has always been straight and upright in his life.—Baptist Standard.

What Repentance Is.

A gentleman once asked a Sunday School what was meant by the word Repentance. A little boy raised his hand. "Well, what is it, my lad?" "Being sorry for your sins," was the answer. A little girl on the back seat raised her hand, "Well, my little girl, what do you think?" asked the gentleman. "I think" said the child, "it's just where so many people fail. They are sorry enough at the time, but not sorry enough to quit."

He who does not respect himself; cannot long hold the respect of his fellows; and he who truly respects himself, cannot long be deprived of the respect of his fellows.

Faith,—Works.

Ye see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only. Jas. ii. 24.

Sinners are justified by faith, in the obedience of faith, which is baptism. Saints are justified by works in the presence of the righteous Judge.

S. T. Blessing.

Church Dedication.

A fair audience listened to a sermon preached by Eld. L. E. Conner at the Burr Oak Church on last Saturday night. On Sunday morning at eleven o'clock he began the task of raising the money to pay the amount that was back on the building. After some little delay, and efforts by Brothers VanVactor and Smith, the amount—about four hundred dollars—was all raised in cash or vouched for. It then being too late for a sermon, the dedication was postponed until 7:30 in the evening.

At the hour appointed the house was filled to its utmost. Eld. Conner read Rev. xxi. and explained and commented verse by verse to the end of the chapter. It was one of the most interesting and instructive discourses ever given in the town.

The Church of God at Burr Oak, Ind, surely has great reason to rejoice at the result. The best interest prevailed throughout the meetings, and the Class now seems to be in good working condition.

G. A. Maxey.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

The Bereans Column.

[Under this heading the society of "Bereans" of Illinois, will supply the copy, and endeavor to fill the space once a month.]

This being the commencement of this department in our paper, I ask the Bereans to pardon the few words here written. The Bereans were Bible students. They were Bible students for a purpose. They were not simply Sunday Bible students, but "searched the Scriptures daily." For their earnest anxiety in this study they were commended. What was the object they had in view? It was to find out if the things they had heard were so. What had they heard? They had the Old Testament writings, and certain men were putting an interpretation on them that was new. It concerned the connection of Jesus Christ with the predictions of the coming Messiah, and his identification as such. When they were convinced of the truthfulness of the reports they "believed,"—accepted, laid hold on the hope set forth.

"Bereans"—Bible students—we bid you welcome to our paper. Let nothing appear here that will cause any one to stumble and fall, but keep ever the candle burning. Have gentleness, charity, love, yet without a faithfulness to truth and right. Under no circumstances compromise with evil. May the all-wise Father bless your efforts always.

A. R. Underwood.

The Bereans.

During the session of the Illinois State Conference at Oregon, Ill. Sept. 1890, feeling the need of some special and organized work among the young people, whereby they could do more active work, and in which the isolated ones could be interested, a society was formed under the name, "The United Young People's Bible Society," the object of which was to study the Bible and unite the young people, thereby furthering the cause of the Master. An outline for study was prepared by the officers of the society, and printed. The attempt to reach the young people scattered throughout the state did not meet with much success. At a few points local organizations were formed and the line of study was pursued.

During the Conference of 1890 the name was changed to "Bereans," by a request sent by the President of the Iowa young people's society, that we adopt their name.

The first outline for Bible study having been finished by the local societies, a second booklet with topics for study was prepared by a committee appointed by the President, and is now in use, and will be sent free to any young person in the State up application to the President.

Officers elected Sept. 21, 1891, Pres. Anna E. Drew, Dixon; Vice Pres. Fred Knodle, Oregon; Sec. Anna L. Adams, Dixon; Treas. Chas. T. Lindsay, Adeline.

We desire to increase our members the coming year, and appeal to all young people in the State to send in their address to the Secretary. We will esteem it a favor if any one will help us to locate any young people.

Anna L. Adams, Sec.

To the Young People of Illinois of like Precious Faith:

When we believed God's Word, accepted and complied with the conditions by which we entered the service of our Savior, it was our desire to do all we could to show our love for what He had done for us, and to strive for the precious promises, which we may yet claim as ours. The Word of God is "profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness."

That we may walk in the narrow path, we need its daily guidance. Can we show our love for our Savior without works of righteousness? We are to be "doers of the Word, not hearers only." Who are to reach the young around us? Why is it that many of the young people who should be with us, drift into other churches? Is it not partly because there is so little interest manifested by our young members, to show by their words and acts what a glorious hope is ours? Our lives ought to show something of the beauty and purity of the religion of Jesus Christ. There are faithful ones now proclaiming the glad tidings of the kingdom, others striving to keep the light of truth shining in their own little assemblies. Who will fill their places when they have to give up the work?

Is there not a special work for the young people of today? Now is the time to fit ourselves for the work of the future, whether it be in this age or the age to come. To help in this work is the object of the Bereans. Believing more successful work can be done by united efforts, we earnestly request the co-operation of every young person of the faith in this state. Wherever there are three or more in one community, we urge you to organize, and meet regularly for Bible study. In this way you may be able to interest others. The isolated ones may find some one willing to spend an hour once a week with them, in study, if not, faithfully work alone, remembering no effort made for Christ's sake will be unrewarded.

In this way we cannot help but progress in the knowledge of God's Word, which we must have that we may rightly divide it, that we may be able to give to every one that asketh, the reason of the hope that is within us, and it is this Word that is able to build us up, and give us an inheritance among them which are sanctified.

May each one of us determine to do more for our Master this year than ever before. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." Scatter the precious seed by word or pen. There are kind words to be spoken, lonely hearts to cheer, kind deeds to be done. "Let your light so shine, that others may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

"Now our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God, even our Father, which hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope through grace, comfort your hearts and stablish you in every good word and work."

Anna E. Drew, Pres.

A Startling Statement.

A Roman Catholic bishop of New York, in conversation with a bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church recently stated that the work of the confessional revealed the fact that nineteen out of every twenty women who fall, can trace the beginning of their sad fate to the modern dance.

Papers for the Poor.

This office receives many calls for papers from those who are not able to pay for them. It is sometimes from one part of the land, and again from another. They are not all in one locality. We know there are some who contend that there is no one so poor but he can at some time in the year pay the price of the paper. We are not here to argue that matter. It is enough for us to be told by an aged brother or sister who has perhaps taken the Restitution for years, that income is cut off, not able to labor, dependent on charity of others, perhaps of unbelieving children. Cannot get out to meetings any more, all they have is the old Bible and the paper. Perhaps sickness of self, wife or children, makes it impossible to be out and earn money. Every cent that can be had will not suffice to pay doctor's bills, groceries, rent, fuel, clothing. In very many cases it is impossible to "make even" each year, let alone paying for any papers or books. Yet such are usually the ones who get the most out of our paper. They have time to read every word. Even the long articles are not skipped by these readers.

We have a fund called "Our Helping Fund" to draw on to supply these cases. Not a cent of this money is used for any other purpose. An account is kept separately from all else. We will say that at this time the fund is largely overdrawn, and has been for over a year.

Brethren, you who have a few dollars over actual need, and you who sometimes make a sacrifice, do you esteem this a worthy cause? This supplying the aged and infirm, the sick and distressed, the poor and needy—is it worth while considering? What answer do you give? It is not yours any more than mine, nor mine than yours. It seems to us that it is our duty to supply these calls. What do you think?

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending The Restitution to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the donors request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

Mrs H Burdick	50
Elma V Baker	5 00
Henry Robinson	50
S J Wilson	5 00

Conference Notice.

The Quarterly Conference for the congregations of the Church of God, of the Abrahamic faith will be held with the congregation at Plymouth, Indiana. Will convene for opening service at 7:00 p. m. on Thursday Nov. 14, 1901. To continue over the following Sunday. The Plymouth congregation is anxious to entertain all that will come, including visiting brethren from other States, who may favor us by their attendance. Dear brethren, this meeting will be helpful to us, and uplifting to the cause we love, if we make it so, by doing our part. The Lord's part will never fail. He has pledged to be with us if we come in his name. Shall we not then do our part, commencing now, and continue arranging our other business affairs, all subordinate to this end, "Where there's a will, there's a way." Come then in the spirit of the Master, with the full endeavor to "keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace," and thereby, not only be blessed, but become the means of blessing to others now, and thereby being qualified and prepared to participate in the ministration of blessing "to all nations" in that blessed, near coming "day of the Lord." Programme to follow later on.

D. T. Halstead, Pres.
Mrs. R. C. Railsback, Sec.

California Brethren.

I expect to go to Oleander, Fresno Co., Cal., some time in November, and will make my home there for a time. Any brethren desiring meetings in their vicinity please address me at Scholls, Ore., until Dec. 1. We should be faithful and work while we may for the Master is soon coming.

Yours awaiting his coming.
Edwin E. Groat.

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. C. Woodruff, Elizabeth. N. J.

Down they go—fares to Buffalo. Coach Excursion Tickets for Pan-Am. Exposition may be obtained via Pennsylvania Lines Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays during Oct. at greatly reduced fares. The Exposition closes October 31st. Enjoy it before it is too late. Ticket Agent J. E. Hanes, Plymouth Ind., will post you about fares and the convenient way to get there. See him.—1t

Fast trains north on the Chicago & North-Western Railway leave Chicago daily for Milwaukee, Madison, Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Appleton, Escanaba, Ishpeming, Marquette Ashland, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth and all points in Wisconsin and the Copper Country. Quickest time. Through picturesque Wisconsin. Service unequaled. The best of everything. For tickets, rates and all information, apply to your nearest ticket agent, or write to A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill. Nov30.

Closes October 31st.

The Pan-American Exposition is nearing a close. Only a few days remain in which to enjoy it. After October 31st it will be a thing of the past. Go now and profit in pleasure and knowledge of the wonderful achievements of the Americas and their possibilities. The trip may be made at very low rates via Pennsylvania Lines. The lowest fares yet offered are in effect over those lines each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Coach excursion tickets sold on those dates are good returning six days including day of sale, ample time for getting acquainted with the Pan-American Exposition and inspecting the grandeur of Niagara Falls. Excursion tickets may be obtained any day over the Pennsylvania Lines, but those sold Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays are especially important to persons wishing to make the trip at the lowest fare. Find out about them by applying to local agents of the Pennsylvania Lines Plymouth, Ind., Ticket Agent, J. E Hanes, Oct. 26.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

Bible Pearls—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

Four-Page Tracts.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism; by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 150-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, The Restitution, Plymouth, Ind.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address public will may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Fike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clinkenbeard, Boulton, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb.
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, [illegible]
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wince, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Scirdeville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kean, 4507, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Connor, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. R. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stoffa, [illegible]mona, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons. Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tilling Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Dwiggins, Ontario Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Goin, Jefferson, Ore.
T. F. Cordill, 508 S Main st, South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 188, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hicklin, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrins Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Rn-h Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark

Persons who have not visited the Pan-American Exposition are offered special inducement in low Coach Excursion fares via Pennsylvania Lines each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday during October. The Exposition closes this month, and this is the last and best chance for seeing it. Get details about rates and trains from Plymouth, Ind. Ticket Agent J. E. Hanes. —1t

Lower Rates to Buffalo.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, beginning Oct. 5th the Nickel Plate Road will sell round trip tickets at one half of the one way first class limited fare. Return limit 5 days after date of sale. Inquire of nearest agent of the Nickel Plate Road or C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft Wayne, Ind.—Oct 30.

Subscribe for The Restitution for 1902.

Three Prophetic Days.

"Three Prophetic Days, or Sunday the Christian Sabbath. Showing the requirements of the Mosaic law, and comparing what should have occurred during the week of the Passover, with what was done by Jesus and his Apostles, as recorded in the New Testament. Proving that the law was kept to the very letter, and that Jesus made his triumphant entrance on Saturday, that he was crucified on Wednesday afternoon, and rose from the grave on Saturday evening, and that Sunday is the Christian's rest day, as is clearly shown by the law and the prophets."

The above is the title of a book of 230 pages, written by Wm. Frederick. This book has some original and peculiar ideas, an idea being gathered by reading the title page. While it is well to settle all such matters that can be settled, still we know full well that some people will never admit the deductions made as to days. However, the chief value of this work is in the unanswerable argument it makes against the Seventh day question, and post-millennialists. Any brother who wishes to be fully posted on these important matters, cannot afford to be without this book. All who are bothered by the law keepers should procure a copy at once, for no one can be too well posted in ways to combat this error of our times. We have arranged with the Author to supply this work from this office. It is well bound in cloth, good paper, and clear type. The price is $1.00 post paid. A cheaper paper binding will be sent for 50 cents to those who do not wish to buy the one in cloth, though the book is worth the better binding.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 288 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

The fare to Buffalo for the Pan-American Exposition has touched the lowest point. Coach Excursion Tickets sold Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays via Pennsylvania Lines cost only one-half of the one way regular fare, and are good returning six days. See Ticket Agent J. E. Hanes, Plymouth, Ind., about it.—1t.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address: M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O

Lower Fares to Buffalo.

An opportunity to visit the Pan-American Exposition at unusual low fare is offered by the special Coach excursions to Buffalo over the Pennsylvania Lines Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays of each week during October. Tickets on sale those days are based on a rate of one-half the regular one way fare, which makes this the cheapest rate offered any one during the Pan-American Exposition season. Particulars about fares and time of trains may be obtained by consulting Passenger and Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania Lines, Plymouth, Ind., J. E. Hanes, Agt.—oct 26

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

Twelve Words, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

The Gospel of the Kingdom, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

Early Lessons, suitable for young or old, 30 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,
General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,
General Immigration & Industrial Agent.
Louisville, Ky.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

VANDALIA TIME CARD

In effect June 2, 1901.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend		8:25am
No. 14, " "		12:01noon
No. 8, " "		10:06pm
No 12, Sunday only		9:46am

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute		5:45a m
No. 3, " " "		12:34noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport,		7:30pm
No 11, Sunday only		6:36pm

Trains 8 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 3 also make similar connections. Lake Maxinkuckee Sunday special train due Plymouth south bound at 9:14 a m. Returning leaves Maxinkuckee 5:45 p m.

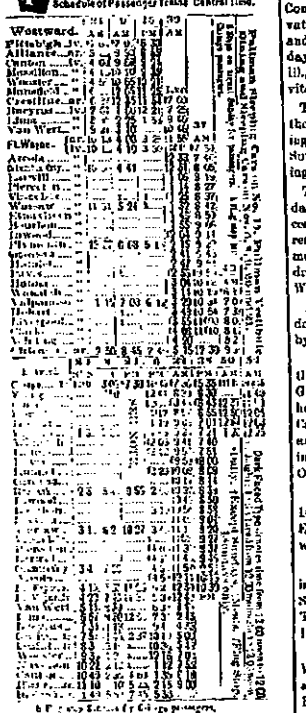
For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. Foan,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo

Pennsylvania Lines.

Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Div.

Schedule of Passenger Trains Central Time.



In addition to excursion tickets to Buffalo sold daily via Pennsylvania Lines, a special Coach Excursion ticket at an unusual low rate may be obtained Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, good for a six days trip to Pan-American Exposition. Get particulars from Ticket Agent J. E. Hanes.—1t.

NICKEL PLATE

All trains arrive at and depart from Van Buren Street Union Passenger Station, Chicago.

Uniformed Colored Porters attend passengers holding first or second class tickets in day coaches on thru trains, insuring scrupulously clean cars en route.

Dining Room Sleeping Cars on Nos. 2, 4 and 6 thru to Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston; on Nos. 2, 4 and 10 to Chicago. Meals are served at "up-to-date" Dinner Stations and in Nickel Plate Dining Cars at opportune meal hours. Baggage checked to destination. On inquiry you will find our rates are always lower than via other lines, service considered.

For rates and detailed information, address B. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O., C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind., or Local Ticket Agent.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. U. Rothe and D. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Rensselaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 a. m., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God, known as Union Chapel Congregation meet each fourth Sunday, at private homes, for the purpose of breaking bread and social services. Also on the second Sunday at the Union Chapel Church, Winterhode, Ill., for Bible Reading at 11 a. m. All are invited. Lizzie Woods, Secy.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows: Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:00, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through theity, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker's, 209 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 a. m. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1281½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsboro, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by V. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Eshelman.

The Church of God at Bixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 a. m., in Miller's Hall, Galena Aves., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Knife, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works, L. Anthon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. S. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trusdell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Salida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the Kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin S. Groat of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prusser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder, Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or Mission A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "The Restitution, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "The Restitution."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertized in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher

—FOR THE—

CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME L. Read PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, NOVEMBER 6, 1901. NUMBER 41.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the Kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

Guidance.

Here where all climes their offering send,
Here, where all arts their tribute lay,
Before thy presence, Lord, we bend,
And for thy smile and blessing pray.

For thou that sway'st the tides of thought,
And hold'st the issues in thy hand,
Of all that human toil has wrought,
And all that human skill has planned.

Thou leadest the restless power of mind
O'er shelving rocks and hidden gold
And guid'st this world-ring herd but blind,
To ends yet hid from young and old.

Communicated.

The New Age of Christianity.

The growing indifference to old and long-cherished beliefs, not on the part of the general public alone, but in all the Christian churches of every name and creed, and the ever increasing mushroom growth of new religious theories springing up at the thought-centers of intellectual activity, and seeking to embody themselves in concrete organization of some sort, betoken a change and transition imminent in the civilized world's religious life.

As fifty years ago in this country another moral and political agitation crystalized and found public utterance in the statesman Seward's famous aphorism of "the inevitable conflict," so now another inevitable conflict is fast approaching, and to some ardent natures seems already begun. Is it to be a bloodless conflict and a mere intellectual transition? Has civilization advanced far enough at the thought centers of the world to be able dispassionately to contemplate the drying up of its rivers of prejudice and the laying waste of its archaic organizations rich in the heaped up spoils of the Christian centuries?

The general spread of intelligence through the many new channels opened up by comparatively modern invention, and the advancing tendency of the individual to think for himself more and more in all the affairs of life promote saner reasoning in the masses and make it constantly more difficult for superstition to hold its old vantage ground however intrenched in class and clan or buttressed in bigotry and buncombe and a lie once scotched now is more likely to die than ever before in the history of the world. We have all learned that the ecclesiastic and the secular are scholastic distinctions and that too without a true difference—that God is in all his world and all the time—not at stated times and in stated places. We have also learned that a theology that contradicts the primary conclusions of positive science must be fallacious in its reasoning or there would be no contradictions between God in his Word and works. We are learning that the natural world of creation was intended in the divine purpose to be the best as well as the first illustration of the spiritual, and that revelation by word so largely made up of parable, metaphor and trope was intended only to supplement this primal teaching. And if God's own divine personality and power have been manifest in his creative works from the founding of the cosmos apart from the Word of revelation, so that we are without excuse if we do not recognize and reverence him for what he is, is it not the simplest conclusion of enlightened common sense that any fine spun theological sophistries that dim this natural vision or veil this innate recognition of our Creator are worse than useless and should be allowed to fall away like "the baseless fabric of a dream" in this new age of Christianity?

If there was and is a Christ who is par excellence the revelator of this Creator God as a Father, is it reasonable to suppose that he would reveal or teach anything contradictory to this God's earliest revelation of himself in Word and works?

The tendency of modern philosophy as well as physical science to differentiate knowledge and specialize its teaching makes charlatanry and authoritative pretense more and more difficult. Ulterior pretext and selfish aggrandizement find it more and more difficult also to hide behind a false terminology or a specious false premise.

The daily press even has become an encyclopedia of general information and the American public at least is coming to respect the professor of petty detail if he be honest and truthful in his utterances even more than the University Don in his cap and gown; and there are a million more people interested today in some improved method of communication or transportation here upon the earth than was ever absorbed with the heavenly transports and meditations of the schoolmen of our ancestral Christianity; and they make better citizens, neighbors, parents and patriots too in all our congenital relations.

We are learning the supreme lesson of the Christ that "not in this mountain nor in Jerusalem" (nor in any other particular place) nor in any particular form or phraseology is God to be worshiped; but that he seeketh those to worship him, who worship him in spirit and in truth—a worship like that of the grass and the tree that subserve the end for which they were made to grow. We are learning in this way "to work out" our salvation—in other words make it worth God's while to have saved us here and now, not waiting till we have reached some sky world hereafter of harps and hymnology. If salvation is pre-eminently God's work ("by grace have ye been saved and not of yourselves) people, thinking people, saved people are beginning to ask themselves and others, What is all this talk and hue and cry about soul saving or "saving souls"? What does it mean to save a soul? Any more than to save a life from death? But Christ's own teaching is just the opposite of this—that any follower of his who thinks to save his soul will lose it. Christ was not after immortal lost souls, but mortal lost people whom God had saved already in his own way and the gospel Christ brought was the good news of this fact to a lost race—Paul amplifies this in his epistles, and so dwells upon it in one place that seeing the danger of a false conclusion being drawn from the emphasis he places upon salvation being God's finished work that he raises the natural query and answers it, "shall we continue to sin that grace may abound"? What is his answer? Why, how can a dead person sin? We have died as sinful souls and we (if we are regenerated spirits if we live at all; and even while we live as souls, we are not accounted as soul-men or natural men but as new men or a new creation in Christ Jesus. No, Paul was after a concrete exemplification of this new life in each individual's conduct of life. And his argument is—"If then ye be risen along with the Christ" think the thoughts and do the acts of the Christ—in short live in the Spirit of the Christ "who is your life." If we are regenerate we have not merely the mind we got from our father Adam; but we have the mind of Christ. The only remaining question to be answered if the foregoing reasoning be Scriptural and in accord with revelation, is in what sense then is a Christian or a regenerate person or this "new creation" a "saved soul"? For we admit that this phraseology is sometimes used in revelation, and is even applied to the Divinity or God himself. Our answer is that it is merely a term for personality and is like the common use now in such phraseology as "so many souls were lost at sea," meaning so many "persons" merely, and is akin to another use that appears in Leviticus for instance, where a dead person's body even is called "a soul" that must not be touched lest the one touching it become unclean. If then every or any Christian be a regenerate person or "a new creation" as the Scriptures most assuredly and unequivocally teach, is this new creation a soul or a spirit or half soul and half spirit as some teach or a spiritualized soul as the current and prevalent theology still teaches. For this is the natural conclusion that follows the first premise of all medieval theology which still prevails in all the Catholic and Protestant orthodoxy of the present day, namely that man is an immortal soul by nature and creation. If this were true a new creation of such a soul would be and is an absurdity. If however man be mortal, and death by the divine decree passed upon all men, then of course the only possible salvation from this condition and penalty would be a recreation or a new creation or life from death or life from the dead, all which phrases are Scriptural. If in Adam all die and in Christ all be made alive, and all Christians are to be like him in his new and resurrectional state, then our question resolves itself into this, Is Jesus, the Christ, now a soul or spirit?

In becoming a full partaker of the divine nature by the resurrection from among the dead did he leave or take with him "the old man" or the Adamic human nature he had and to which he died on the cross?

Paul's reasoning on this point is clear and he makes it very clear that he understood the Christ to have absolutely died to the soul or Adamic life. For he says in one place, If I have known the Christ according to the flesh I know him no more according to the flesh, and the life I now live I live by the faith of the Son of God," etc., thus accounting himself even though alive, dead to this soul or natural or old man or Adamic life. For he uses all these terms.

Now, theosophy, Christian Science, new theology and the new isms that are constantly springing up are but spasmodic attempts to embody this old first and false premise of all idolatry and heathen philosophy as well as medieval so-called Christian theology in some new form. They all start with what revelation denominates "the lie" and all end with absurdity and inanity, if not something worse, in practice as well as precept.

Revelation teaches the evolution of a mortal man into an immortal man according to a pre-determined divine purpose and process analogously as clear as the evolution of a butterfly from a caterpillar—and that the process was begun in the first Adam and only completed in the last Adam, who therefore became the First-born of many brethren.

Revelation teaches moreover that immortality is conditional and something to be sought after. Why should we seek after something that we already have is a very common sense query and one for those who believe and teach "the lie" to answer to their own satisfaction and that of others.

Since therefore all the ancient, medieval and even nineteenth century philosophy, theosophy, theology, poetry and prose either boldly assert or tacitly assume as a first premise the truth of natural immortality so far as mankind is concerned, the reader can imagine how revolutionary and pessimistic, yea, iconoclastic must be the re-assertion of this primal truth of revelation. For the reassertion is abroad in the world and falling upon the ears of awakened and intelligent enquirers both within and without by various ecclesiastical organizations the world over, who see the inanity and absurdity of all their systematic conclusions if this first premise be true; and this accounts for the growing apathy, positive disloyalty and waning authority in all creeds and ecclesiasticism. "The new Theology" so-called and "Higher Criticism" and "Christian Science" are merely some of the resultant phenomena.

This new century, which we are just entering, it is safe to predict, will be at least hypostatical, by this I mean, the opposite of hypothetical; whether it be in mere morals, religion or physics. The whole tendency and intellectual trend for the past fifty years has been toward realism even in fiction, and any science in any field since Bacon's time, worthy of respect, has been positive as opposed to inferential "a posteri" as opposed to "a priori," in its assumptions and conclusions.

This accounts for the wonderful strides of the nineteenth century in mechanical invention and labor-saving processes. The same hypostatical methods, principles, ways of reasoning, processes and procedure carried over into the higher spiritual realm of thought, will relegate to the bats and owls whole libraries of the hypothetical reasoning of the medieval centuries which we of the nineteenth century inherited and accepted without dispute as "law and gospel." For faith is ever and always "hypostasis" not hypothesis, and the hopes we have, have assured reality for their foundation, and not a baseless idealism, such as all pagan philosophy and religion have rested upon.

The practical philanthropies of the day, and the strenuous utilitarianism of all the recent growing beneficence of the age show the general trend of thought away from the old formalities and institutional channels, and they all make in one way or another for the general brotherhood and the greater democracy of the race. Can we not hope that this revolution may be an evolution, or at least a bloodless revolution, and that the liberty unto which we have been called may not habilitate itself, as it has too often before, in the garb of license and a selfish pursuit of mere material ends and enjoyments?

May we not hope that the abrogation of the "man of sin" even, and its accompanying "apostasy" "through the spirit of his mouth," may mean an appeal to our higher reason and larger spiritual insight, whereby we may become more willing as well as more intelligent instrumentalities, to be moved and swayed by the Divine potentialities, in a reasonable way toward the accomplishment of God's great design in creation and redemption?

CHAS. GARDNER.

Opening of the Seals.

In Rev. xi. 15, we read, "And the seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign forever and ever." These voices are in agreement with what is written in Gen. viii. 21, "And the Lord said.....I will not again curse the ground any more for man's sake;.....neither will I again smite any more every living thing, as I have done." They are also in agreement with the gospel preached to Abraham when God said, "In thee, and in thy seed, shall all the nations of the earth be blessed."

In the light of these Scripture testimonies, it is hard to conceive how men can teach that when Christ comes to judge the world, that he will destroy the nations. The voices in the heavens, say, concerning the Lord's Christ, "And he shall reign forever and ever." Now the question, over whom shall he reign forever and ever? Not over the immortal saints; because it is written of the saints, that "they lived and reigned a thousand years." Rev. xx. 4. Again the Master says, "To him, (the overcomer) will I give power over the nations, and he shall rule them with a rod of iron." Rev. ii. 26, 27.

The continuing of the nations on the earth, may be learned by the covenant made with Noah, where God says, concerning the rainbows, "This is the token of the covenant which I made between me and you, and every living creature that is with you; for perpetual generations." Gen. ix. 12. Again it is written that "God keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his commandments to a thousand generations." Deut. vii. 9.

Who can tell when perpetual generations will come to an end? And as to a thousand generations, that would take the nations to a period far in the future; to at least thirty thousand years from the time the declaration was made.

The best thing we can do is to acquaint ourselves with God, and be at peace with him; and believe the testimony that he (Christ) shall reign forever and ever. "And the temple of God was opened in heaven, and there was seen in his temple the ark of his testament, and there were lightnings, and voices, and thunderings, and an earthquake, and great hail." In the Diaglott the article is retained because it is in the Greek, and reads, "The temple of God was opened in (the) heaven; not the heaven in which God now is, but the heaven of the age to come. This temple is said to be the temple of God; its plan was conceived by him; he is the great Master Builder,—the Architect; he gave directions to Moses, when he was about to build the tabernacle, (for, see, saith he, that thou make all things according to the pattern shewed to thee in the Mount.) Heb. viii. 5. Therefore, we learn, that, as Paul says; the law was a shadow of good things to come. The temple that John saw opened in the heavens, being one of the good things to come, of which the tabernacle, and temple, under the law was a shadow.

We read, "And the house, when it was in building, was built of stone made ready before it was brought thither; so that there was neither hammer nor axe nor any tool of iron heard in the house, while it was in building." 1 Kings vi. 7. Thus shadowing forth the way in which the material of the spiritual temple was to be made ready; cut as it were "out of the mountain without hands;" "and are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ being the chief Corner Stone; in whom all the building fitly framed together, groweth unto a holy temple in the Lord;.....for a habitation of God through the spirit." Eph. ii. 20–22.

It is this same temple that our Lord had in mind, when he said to the church in Philadelphia "Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God." Rev. iii. 12.

"And there was seen in his temple the ark of his testament." Under the law the ark was placed in the holy of holies, or most holy place of the temple, and in it was put the tables of the covenant—the ten commandments. "And thou shalt put the mercy seat above upon the ark, and in the ark thou shalt put the testimony that I shall give thee. And there will I meet with thee, and I will commune with thee from above the mercy seat, from between the two cherubim which are upon the ark of the testimony, of all things which I will give thee in commandment unto the children of Israel. Ex. xxv. 21, 22.

"And it shall be our righteousness, if we observe to do all these commandments before the Lord our God, as he hath commanded us." Deuteronomy vi. 25.

Thus may the Israelite under the old covenant, by obedience obtain righteousness; but under the gospel Christ is the Christians ark, and mercy seat; God having deposited in him the truth and the life. They under the law, by obedience were blessed in all the good things of this life, among which was long life upon the land. But under the gospel, by obedience we have through Christ eternal life, and all the blessings promised in the kingdom of God.

"And there were lightnings, and voices, and thunderings, and an earthquake, and great hail." These are symbolic of the means that will be used in the day of judgement, for the subjugation of the nations. The question is asked of Job, "Hast thou an arm like God? or canst thou thunder with a voice like him?"

David, in a Psalm of thanksgiving, says "The Lord thundered from heaven, and the Most High uttered his voice. And he sent out arrows, and scattered them; lightning and discomfitted them." 2 Sam. xxii. 14, 15. Again David says "Bow thy heavens, O Lord, and come down; touch the mountains and they shall smoke. Cast forth lightnings, and scatter them." Psa. cxliv. 5, 6.

The events spoken of at the close of chapter eleven, after the opening of the temple, are given more in detail in chapters 15 and 16. In xv. 5, we read, "And after that I looked, and behold, the temple of the tabernacle of the testimony in (the) heaven was opened.....and no man was able to enter into the temple, till the seven plagues of the seven angels were fulfilled." Ch. xv. 8.

Now read carefully xvi. 1: "And I heard a great voice out of the temple saying to the seven angels, Go your ways, and pour out the vials of the wrath of God upon the earth."

Now brethren, in the light of this testimony that the great voice directing the angels to pour out the vials, comes from the temple, after its opening; how can we expect or look for the pouring out of the plagues before the return of the Master, to bring from the death state the greater part of those who will enter into the composition of the temple? Or can we affirm that no man, in a portion of the past, nor at the present time, can join the Church? See xv. 8.

GEO. FRANCIS.

(Concluded.)

WE need a few hundred new subscribers. Now is a good time of year to get them, and we are asking our friends to make an effort in this line. We do not want you labor for nothing, and so make this offer as an inducement to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and what is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War, and an extensive traveler in Africa, has written a book of over 500 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price is put at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1902, making $4.50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, giving them credit to the end of 1902, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help THE RESTITUTION by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

A CALL.

A call is hereby issued for a meeting of all members of the Evangelical Board of the Indiana Conference of the Church of God, to be held at the Church of God, Argos, Ind. on Wednesday, Nov. 13, 1901, at 10 o'clock a. m. The attendance of each member is earnestly requested.

T. O. TABER,
Pres. Evangelical Board.

In conjunction with the foregoing call for meeting of Evangelical Board at same time and place, the Executive Board of the Conference, and the public preachers within the Conference of the State, are hereby requested and earnestly desired to meet for the consideration of some matters considered vital not only in the prosecution of evangelical work, but touching the unity and well being of the whole body, in the way of a more complete understanding.

D. T. HALSTEAD,
Pres. Ind. Conference.

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, OFFICE EDITOR.

EDITORIAL COMMITTEE.

J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, NOV. 6, 1901.

STOCKHOLDERS MEETING.

The Stockholders of the Christian Publishing Association are requested to meet at Plymouth, Ind. on Saturday, Nov. 16, 1901, for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors and transacting any other business that may come before them.

Signed,
J. H. WILLEY, Pres.
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Sec.

A Serious Loss.

We have met with quite a serious lose. Some weeks ago we sent out several hundred letters to persons who were owing us various sums of money. Who will help us find these letters that have been no doubt laid away and forgotten? If you did not get one, and you have not sent your renewal, don't wait for the letter to come, but send now and save us the expense of writing to you. It is a task we dislike very much anyway, and we will be rejoiced if no occasion existed for doing so. Brethren, this is a serious matter indeed. We can not meet our obligations unless you do yours. Think of this carefully and calmly, and act as your conscience and Christianity dictate. If each will do this we will have several hundreds of dollars within a weeks time. Will you help to make good our loss?

LEON F. Czolgosz, who shot President Wm. McKinley, after having been tried and sentenced to death, was accordingly placed in a chair in the Auburn, N. Y. prison, and 1700 volts of electricity passed through him, killing him instantly.

THE Board of Trustees of the Church of God at Plymouth, and through them the whole Church, wish to thank Brother J. H. Taber, of Los Angeles, Cal., for his generosity in sending his draft for $25.00 to assist in paying for their Church building.

"A RELIGIOUS life is not a thing which spends itself like a bubble on the river's surface. It is rather like the river itself, which widens continually, and is never so broad or so deep as at its mouth, where it rolls into the ocean of life."

"IT is not so much by the symmetry of what we attain in this life that we are to be made happy, as by the enlivening hope of what we shall reach in the age to come. While a man is stringing a harp, he tries the harp, he tries the strings, not for music, but for construction. When it is finished it shall be played for melodies. God is fashioning the human mind for future joy. He only sounds a string here and there to see how far he has prospered."

WE learn that the old camel track between Jerusalem and Nablous has been widened to a carriage road nineteen and one-half feet wide. The work was begun last autumn and finished in March, as far as Birch. When complete the road will be thirty-eight and one-half miles long. There are now good roads from Jaffa to Jerusalem 40 miles; Jerusalem to Hebron 23 miles; Jerusalem to Jericho 22 miles; Jerusalem to the top of the Mount of Olives four miles; Jerusalem to Birch nine miles. It would appear that the country is gradually being prepared for a return.

"THAT which the persecutors once said of the apostles ought still to be said of every Christian: 'And they took knowledge of them that they had been with Jesus.' Acts iv. 13. Men carry unconscious signs of their life about with them. Those from the forge, those from lime and mortar, those from humid soil, and those from dusty travel, bear signs of being workmen, and of their work. One need not ask a merry face or a sad one whether it has come forth from joy or grief. Tears and laughter tell their own story. Should one come home with fruit, we say, 'You are come from the orchard,' if with hands full of wild flowers, 'You are from the fields;' but how much more, if one hath seen God,—has had converse with him, should he carry in his eye, his words, and his perfumed raiment the tokens of divine intercourse."

"IF gratitude is due from man to man, how much more from man to his Maker! The Supreme Being does not only confer upon us those bounties which proceed more immediately from his hand, but even those benefits which are conveyed to us by others. Every blessing we enjoy, by what means soever it may be devised upon us, is the gift of him who is the Great Author of Good and the Father of mercies."—Jos. Addison.

"TEMPTATIONS are enemies outside the castle seeking entrance. If there be no false retainer within, who holds treacherous parley, there can scarcely be even an offer. No one would make overtures to a bolted door or dead wall. It is some lure at the window that invites proffer. The violence of temptation addressed to us is only another way of expressing the violence of the desire within us. It costs nothing to reject what we do not wish, and the struggle required to overcome temptation measures the strength in us of the temptible element. Men ought not to say, How powerfully the devil tempts,—but how strongly I am tempted!"

MEN are afraid of what are called slight outward acts which will injure them in the eyes of others, while they are heedless of the destruction that throbs in their hearts in hatreds, and jealousies, and revenges. They are more troubled by the outburst of a disposition than by the disposition itself. It is the love of approbation, and not the conscience, that enacts the part of a moral monitor in this case. If a man covets, he steals. If he has a murderous hate he murders. If he harbors bitter jealousies, envies, hatreds, though he never expresses them by his tongue, they are there. Society is less injured in this way, but the man himself is as much injured by the cherished thoughts as by the open commission of it, and some times even more.

At the Ecumenical Methodist Conference just held in London, Mr. Geo. Lidgett, one of the speakers present, said "they had of late got rid of hell, and a large number of people in modern society were living in disregard to it. That feeling, he feared, had got to the pulpit in no small degree, and the consequence was that there was less practical results from the pulpit's work. Over many Methodist homes at the present time the Christian flag did not fly, and it had ceased to do so for this reason, that the intensity of their faith and the consequences of its neglect, were not preached." That the Methodists should have got rid of the hell that used to be preached is matter for thankfulness, because it was not true. But they seem to have got rid of it in the wrong way. They have drifted into vagueness of thought, with a tendency to universalism. It would have been far more satisfactory if they had discovered that all men go to hell (hades) and forever perish unless delivered by him who has the keys of hades and of death; and also that some will go to the hell (gehenna) that the second death, more terrible than the first, but still death and destruction."

WE read recently of a man who had failed in business, and whose furniture was sold at auction, that he said when the cradle and the crib and the piano went, tears would come, and he had to leave the house to be a man." Appended to this were the following comments:—There are thousands of men who have lost their pianos, but who have found better music in the sound of their children's voices and footsteps going cheerfully down with them to poverty, than any harmony of chorded instruments. O, how blessed is bankruptcy when it saves a man's children! I see many men who are bringing up their children as I should bring up mine, if when they were ten years old, I should lay them on a dissecting table and cut the sinews of their arms and legs, so that they could neither walk nor use their hands, but only sit still and be fed. Thus rich men puts the knife of indolence and luxury to their children's energies, and they grow up fatted, lazy calves, fitted for nothing, at twenty-five, but to drink deep and squander wide; and the father must be a slave all his life, in order to make beasts of his children. How blessed, then, is the stroke of disaster which sets the children free, and gives them over to the hard but kind bosom of Poverty who says to them, work, and working makes them men!"

Russia.

Russia is steadily going ahead in the path of development. Mr. Stead and his wife have made a trip over the Russian railway through Manchuria—a railway which connects Port Arthur with the Trans-Siberian line. It is nearly 1000 miles in length and has been constructed in three years, besides rebuilding the part destroyed by the Boxers. It is officered by Russian soldiers, and the relation between the Chinese and Russian soldiers appears most cordial, and it is clear that the opening up of this part of the Chinese empire will be altogether under Russian control.

In the nearer East it is rumored a bargain has been made with the Sultan, whereby in exchange for Russian protection, Russia secures the harbor of Bourgas, on the Bulgarian coast of the Black Sea, for a coaling station. A Russian fleet at this port could get to Constantinople in five hours instead of eighteen or twenty. The London Mail points out that a naval demonstration of British men of war in the Bay of Besika, if it again becomes necessary, will no more have the effect of the past, as the Russian fleet will be able to reach Constantinople long before the British.

Communicated.

Certainty vs. Doubt.

"The religious world" at the present time is perplexed with the question, "What am I to believe?" Strange that religious persons should find it difficult to settle just this question. It ought to be comparatively easy at this date, with all the "helps" to Bible study and interpretation, and the thousands of zealous teachers we have, to arrive at a satisfactory solution of the problem of belief, especially for the professed believer in the divine inspiration and authority of the Scriptures. This embarrassment naturally leads one of a thinking mind to enquire as to the cause of this perplexity. Many have come to the conclusion, barren and unsatisfactory as it is, that "it matters not what we believe, so long as we are sincere;" and—one might almost add—"it is immaterial whether we believe anything," as long as we have a just claim to sincerity. Creeds and confessions of faith are being swept down and laid aside as so much theological rubbish; dogmas once cherished as the very quintessence of divine truth are being changed, tempered or modified, until (to the ordinary person) it appears as if there is nothing left to believe or disbelieve. In view of all this it is not surprising that some have come to the parting of the ways where anything or nothing will do equally well. Where is the fault of all this? Have we a foundation to stand upon? Does the Bible contain the "light" that is required to direct our feet in the path of right and duty for the present life, and the obtainment of the life to come? If true that "every Scripture given by divine inspiration is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for that discipline which is in righteousness, so that the man of God may be perfect and fully fitted for every good work" (2 Tim. iii. 16, 17), why should we not "give heed to the prophetic word made more sure, as to a light shining in a dark place," and by it be lighted until the appearing of the "day star"—the Light-bearer—Jesus Christ? If the Scriptures are or contain "the truth," we should accept, believe and obey that truth, and by it be "made free;" if they are a reliable "man of counsel;" take him into our confidence and, heeding his sober advice, profit by it unto life eternal.

Some of the ancients boldly said, "I have believed, and therefore have I spoken," and "I know whom I have believed." Such sentiments speak to us not only of familiarity, but of thorough, deep and assuring acquaintance with the great God in whom they trusted. They were conversant with his dealings with his people in the past, and by studying his Word were familiar with his great programme of redemption, "the purpose of the ages." Eph. iii. 11. When they encountered the obstacles to their progress incident to the Christian warfare, they could say in full assurance of faith, "none of these things move me," and, "We are more than conquerors through him that loved us." They experienced no perplexity in finding an object of their faith and affection; they had no difficulty in defining their hope and giving an intelligent and satisfactory reason therefor; they gave no uncertain sound as to what constitutes the "glad tidings," what these promise as well as require, and they spoke with the most positive assurance of the inheritance of God's people, what it is, and its location, and the conditions upon which it may be obtained. They had drunk deep from the fountain of knowledge of divine and spiritual things. They were not content with the unsatisfactory "consolation" we sometimes hear from the lips of professed friends and lovers of God, that, as relating to their future destiny, "Somehow it will be all right." Their desires, as prompted by their needs, had been heightened into joyful expectation, by the promises of God, which in God's own good time shall be "yea and amen in us by Christ Jesus." "The hope of Israel," "the hope of the promises made of God unto the fathers," "the hope of salvation," "the hope of life eternal," are terms which entered largely into their religious phraseology, from whose contemplation they not only derived heavenly comfort for themselves, but were able to inspire others with the same bright hope. When they laid beneath the sod their own loved ones who had fallen "asleep in Jesus," they did so in the assurance that "if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them that sleep in him will God bring in conjunction with him," and so they sorrowed not as did "others who had no hope." They had "turned from idols to the living God to serve him and wait for his Son from heaven," and had the abiding conviction that he "who has the keys of hades and of death," would unlock the dark and silent sleeping chambers of his and their loved ones, bring them triumphantly out of the camp of "the enemy, death," "change the body of their humiliation," and place upon them the same glorious robe of incorruption with which he himself is attired. Brethren and readers, how is it with us? Are we acquainted with God and his ways? Why should we be in doubt about these matters about which God has been so careful to inform us? Why should we fear to "hold forth the Word of life" in Christ when we have been entrusted with this glorious and cheering message from God? We need not share the perplexity and doubt now filling the world, but may be working, hoping, and "looking for the grace that is to be brought to us at the revelation of Jesus Christ." Let us be true to him, as "he is faithful that calleth."

Yours in the hope,
A. H. ZILMER.

Union With Christ.

Union with Christ. Why should it be sought?

This question demands attention beyond what is generally realized.

Most persons admit such a union is necessary; but its chief importance in their minds is to save them from death or hell, whichever their theory supposes to be the punishment appointed hereafter.

Whenever such an idea rules the mind, the person fails to see the main importance of the union, and is liable to postpone it till he supposes himself near the end of this life. He does not perceive that union with Christ is of the first importance, on a higher ground, or for a more noble and essential reason.

Man, by creation, was "of the earth earthy," 1 Cor. xv. 47, and only the (tupos,) type of what man was designed to be when perfected. All Christendom has mistaken the first Adam as the perfected man, supposing that the Creator finished the man in a state of perfection in one day, whereas, the first man was but a type or figure of him who was to come. Rom. v. 14.

The second Adam was "the image of the invisible God." Col. i. 14; Heb. i. 3. Such was God's order in the creation. He made man so that when completed and perfected he should be in his image; and by anticipation he is spoken of as if already in the image of God when he was first produced, as Abraham was "the father of many nations" when, as yet, he had no child, "according as God calleth those things which be not as though they were." Rom. iv. 17. So man was said to be made in the image of God, Gen. i. 27, because his purpose was that such should be the final work of creation when it should be matured. But only the type, the pattern, was at first created; the perfected man, the real image of God, was in reserve, to be manifested in due time. The second man, the Lord from heaven the first-born of every creature, (1 Cor. xv. 47,) he it is who is the image of the invisible God; and this is the mystery of God's will according to his good pleasure, which he hath purposed in himself, that in the dispensation of the fulness of times he might gather together in one all things which are in heaven, and which are in earth, in him." Eph. i. 10. All this is to be done according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us, (the human race,) in Christ Jesus before the world (literally the ages) began. 2 Tim. i. 9.

This design of God and his purposes was before the work of creating our race began, to produce first the type or figure, and afterwards to bring forward the perfected manhood in the person of Jesus the Anointed with the Holy Spirit, whereby the first perfected man was manifested and empowered to bring other men into a likeness to himself in accordance with the freedom of their accountability or responsibility. By this perfected state man is made spiritual, immortal, and "death has no more dominion over him; he cannot die any more." Rom. vi. 9; Luke xx. 36. He is made in the image of God in that high sense in which it was God's purpose he should be at the outset; in other words, being united to Christ he becomes a partaker of the divine nature. 2 Pet. i. 4. To this state of perfection men are called by the gospel,—the good news of God's love to the world,—all men, everywhere, in every age and condition. It is not barely to save our souls, to be saved from death, nor from hell, that we are called to a union with Christ. It is that we may rise above our animal constitution into a spiritual nature and to that maturity our creator designed in our creation, and which he purposed should only be through union with Christ, and which cannot be obtained in any other way or by any other means, in this age nor in the ages to come. Goodness, purity and holiness cannot take root in man in any other soil than by this union with Christ, much less can it grow and mature, become perfected, in any other way or by any other means.

"Without me" says Christ, "ye can do nothing," John xv. 5, or apart from me—separated from me—ye can do nothing.

To possess the first elements of spiritual life we must be united to Christ. This life is not of nature—that is, it is not inherent in men by creation; it is only obtained by grace; the gift of God in Christ. we must become branches in Christ, or the life of Christ can not flow into us any more than the sap of a vine can flow into a branch that is not united to the vine. The most moral man on earth has no more spiritual life in him, of himself, than the worst sinner. Till a union with Christ is formed all men are only in their animal state and perishable. The fountain of life is opened for all men; that fountain is Christ—"God hath given to us eternal life," but it is not in our natural condition, nor can it be developed from it by any human process because the seeds are not in us; but this life is in his Son. 1 John v. 11, 12. "He that hath the Son, (i. e. hath union with Christ) hath life" (viz. the eternal life.) "He that hath not the Son of God (is not united to him) hath not life." The matter is thus so plain that no one need mistake the case. All spiritual or divine life is in Christ, and there is only one way to partake of that life, viz., faith in Christ as the fountain where alone divine life can be obtained.

No rites, ceremonies, fastings, prayers, morality, good works, nor any other human invention can put any man in possession of this spiritual life. Moral or immoral, all alike are destitute of this divine life till a union with Christ is formed by faith in him. The spiritual element is not planted till he is united to the soil which produces it,—Christ.

Union with Christ, therefore, is not to be sought as a refuge from death, nor from hell, but as putting us in possession of the spiritual element which will enable us, being rooted and grounded in Christ or his love, Eph. iii. 17, to "grow up into him in all things, which is the Head." Eph. iv. 15. Thus we become new creatures in him, spiritually minded and abiding in him we shall "bring forth much fruit," John xv. 5, and thus maturing an ultimate perfection will be the result under the training of the Father of our Lord Jesus, the Heavenly Husband who is continually training and cleansing the branches in Christ; not to save them from death and hell, but to prepare them for glorious uses in the ages to come.

In view of this theme, how stale and insipid the popular motive of saving men from hell.

Let the glories to be revealed in those possessing the divine life stand out, as it should, in all our teachings concerning the future.

JOHN FOUKE.

Live in Christ, and you are in the suburbs of heaven. There is but a thin wall between you and the land of praises. You are within an hour's sailing of the shore of the new Canaan. Rutherford.

A Day's Doings.

Sunday, Oct. 20, 1901, at 10:30 o'clock we opened our meeting by singing, and reading Rom. viii, followed again by singing, after which we offered our most humble, sincere and devoted thanks to our Creator for his protecting care, and choicest blessings bestowed upon us since we last met. We also offered up prayer and supplication for all men, the sick and afflicted, the distressed and oppressed every where; the rulers that are in authority over us, that we may lead peaceable and quiet lives what time we have to sojourn here. Then we sang another hymn.

Our lesson for the day was Rom. viii. 5: "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the spirit the things of the spirit." After this there were other texts read by the brethren. Brother W. made an interesting talk of some 20 minutes from the main text, then the writer spoke for a short time, noting the change from dead to sin, to alive in Christ. 2d. The same condition that Adam was in before he disobeyed, rising to walk in newness of life, ever minding the things of the Spirit, if we would have life, and have it more abundantly; or if we would have part in the special salvation offered only to them that believe; believing in promises made concerning things yet in the future, building upon the apostles and prophets, with Jesus Christ for the chief corner-stone.

Rom. viii. 18 was selected for our next service. We then attended to the matter of providing fuel for our Church purposes. After singing again Brother W. dismissed meeting.

Such were the proceedings of our meeting for the day, with about 36 in attendance.

C. W. HOBAN.

Take church-going and store-going. Every morning a man is at his business; nothing keeps him from it but the grip of some disease which will not let him out of the house. He may feel inert, but he goes. He may have a headache, but off he starts; and when he is there how interested he is, how absorbed, how alert, how devoted! That is store-going. Now take the same man and look at his church going. What a contrast! "I have a headache; I do not think I will go to church." "It rains hard and it is so cold; I will not venture out." "I feel tired, I will stay at home and rest." And often, when he goes, how he lolls about and looks around, and lets his mind wander. Yes, you say; but one is business to which we must attend; we will lose our place, or our money; and the other is—well, what is it? Is it an important thing? Is it not God's business? Is it not a very holy, a very solemn, a very urgent affair? Does not your chance for eternal life depend on it? Can it be neglected with impunity? Think of those words of your Master Malachi: "A son honoreth his father, and a servant his master; if then, I be a father, where is mine honor, and if I be a master, where is my fear?"—Clinton Locke.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending THE RESTITUTION to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the doners request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

S P Renner	2 50
A Lover of Truth	10 00
J W Sutton	3 50

We have received from the Groom Music Co. Steinway Hall, Chicago, several copies of their late music. This company is putting out some good pieces, both vocal and instrumental, and will gladly examine authors' manuscripts with a view to their publication. It sets song words and poems to music on a basis that pays a good profit to authors.

The Cosmopolitan for November has an article on "Municipal Misgovernment, a warning to Patriots," which considers a serious difficulty in an instructive and interesting manner.

On Saturday, Nov. 9th, the Nickel Plate Road will sell round trip tickets to Chicago at extremely low rates. Return limit until midnight trains of Monday Nov. 11. Consult the nearest agent, C. A. Asterlin, or R. J. Hamilton, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Poetry.

Sometimes.

Sometimes just for a moment,
I stumble and fall by the way;
For life seems so full of heart-aches,
And troubles and trials all the day.
And it seems I'm so weak and frail;
While the tempter seems always so near
And some way or other he'll manage
To cause us to fail while we're here

He comes to us in so many ways;
Deceitful, cunning and cute;
He'll come in the form of a friend,
Seem so cunning, 't would be hard to dispute,
He will come sometimes when we're worried
And tired, and sick, and faint;
And tempt us to grow discouraged,
Make belief he's almost a saint.

He'll tell us we are but human,
And tempt us to no longer try,
To live the life of the humble,
But enjoy ourselves, and live high;
And some time he'll tempt us with frowns
And cross words for our loved ones at home.
Then I stumble and fall in the darkness
While I feel like dying alone.

Then I hear a tender voice bid me,—
"Arise and be of good cheer."
And I see as I arise heaven's sun,
The smile of my savior so dear:
Then I hang down my head in sorrow
While my face grows crimson with shame,
And I plead, "forgive me dear Savior,
Take me back as thy dear child again."

For answer he smiles and delivers
A message so full of pure love;
It says, "be faithful, and patient,
And soon will I come from above:
To recompense all thou hast suffered.
And gather my beloved ones home;
To a home prepared by my Father
And made ready for his chosen ones."

Those who have come through tribulations,
Though often cast down by the way;
Been buried with me in baptism,
Shall hear the dear Father say,
"Enter thou into the joys of thy Lord:
Where sorrow and sighing shall cease;
Prepared from the foundation of the world;
Where ye may enjoy sweet peace."

MRS. L. J. SWEET.

Communicated.

What Would Jesus Do?

Some may think that the writer was in small business when engaged in looking over a religious novel, but the fact is the apostasy is here. Its influence is around us, its power is felt in the nations. If we do not learn its methods and aims, we may be ignorant of the devices of the adversary.

Mr. Sheldon, the author of a little book bearing the title, "What would Jesus do? is a leading star in the firmament of the apostasy. In his preface to the book he makes the following declarations: "From all denominations, from all ages, and from all parts of the world, testimony is given to the almost universal acceptance of the great fact that Jesus called his disciples to the task of establishing the kingdom of God on this earth."

What a task! and if called to this task why have they not done the work? Notice the witnesses summoned to prove the assumed fact. The denominations, the world and the ages. When did Jesus call and qualify these witnesses to testify for him? He did call and qualify the apostles to be his witnesses. In Jerusalem, in Samaria, throughout all Judea, and unto the utmost parts of the earth. But they said nothing about their being called to the task of establishing the kingdom of God on the earth or anywhere else. Jesus promised these witnesses positions of honor and trust in the kingdom, and told them in very plain words when they would occupy said positions.

To them he said "Ye are they that have followed me in my trials, and I appoint unto you a kingdom as my Father has appointed unto me, that you may eat and drink at my table in the kingdom, and sit upon thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel."

Again he said to them, "Ye that have followed me, in the regeneration, when the Son of Man shall sit upon the throne of his glory, ye also shall sit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel." He told them when he would sit upon his throne, and thus told them when they would sit upon the promised thrones—"when the Son of Man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory."

Now this is plain and positive, and if Mr. Sheldon and his witnesses think they are charged with the task of establishing the kingdom of God on this earth, why do they not call this same Jesus back; seat him upon the throne of his father David, raise the twelve apostles, gather the twelve tribes of Israel back to their own land, and seat the twelve apostles on twelve thrones as twelve judges of the twelve tribes.

A kingdom claiming to be the kingdom of God, set up upon any other basis looks like the work of antichrist. From the Book of prophecy we understand that the denominations will federate under one head and then proclaim said federation the kingdom of God upon the earth, and that the drunken nations will for a time bow to this federation. Think of the proposition to establish the kingdom while the King is absent. It looks as if some one was aspiring to the throne.

Again, Mr. Sheldon and the denominations are trying to persuade the people to go to heaven, when dead, and leave the earth. When will they establish God's kingdom here, if all the good emigrate and leave the earth and the bad are left? How can the will of the Father be done on the earth as it is done in heaven?

Mr. Sheldon's motto is—"In His Name: Walking in His Steps." Now we have learned from Christ's witnesses that he spent much time in the preaching of the gospel of the kingdom of God. Why not follow in his steps? He charged his witnesses to go into all the world and proclaim the gospel to every creature. The gospel being the good news of the kingdom of God, the message would either be that the kingdom had come, or that it will yet come.

Now Mr. Sheldon admits that the Church is corrupt. Then if the Church is the kingdom, and it has fallen, what assurance has he that it will not fall again if he succeeds in reforming it? Can he hope to set it upon a firmer basis than it was set upon in the beginning?

The fact that denominations exist is evidence that the apostasy has indeed come. The Divine order was—One body, one spirit, one hope, one faith, one Lord, one baptism, one God and Father of all. In the world of denominations each is an organized body in and of its self, having its own declaration of faith, its own code of laws, and its own officers. If the one fell and the many have sprung up out of the fallen carcass, what can we expect of the many?

If they federate under one head then whose will be that head, and where will his throne be established? Will he plant the tent of his palace on the glorious holy mountains, and seek to reign in the City of the great kingdom in Chicago? Think of men in mortal flesh setting God's kingdom on the earth!

From the history of the ages we learn that mortal men have set up many kingdoms, and past ages are the common graveyard of kingdoms. The ruling element in God's coming kingdom will have been made partakers of the divine nature, and thus be qualified to administer the divine government on the earth. Hence the whole creation groans and travails in pain, waiting for the manifestation of the sons of God. For it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that when he shall appear we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is. When the kingdom of God comes, it will come in power. When the King comes he will come in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory. Then the seventh trumpet will sound, the dead in Christ will be raised incorruptible, the King will take to himself his great power and reign, and the kingdoms of the world will become our Lord's, and his Christ's, and he shall reign forever and ever.

Don't set up the kingdom before the King comes. If you do set up the kingdom and label it the kingdom of God, see that you make all things according to the pattern given. Don't deny to Jesus the right to his glorious throne—the throne of his father David. Don't deny to the twelve apostles the thrones that Jesus promised them. Don't leave out in the cold the twelve tribes of Israel. Don't forsake Jerusalem, leaving it to be trodden down by the Gentiles. Don't leave Abraham, Isaac and Jacob asleep in the old cave. Let them in, and then others can come from the east and the west, and sit down, and have a talk with them in the kingdom of God.

Submitted in the love of the truth.

J. C. KIMBEY.

A Report.

The Union Quarterly Meeting of the Newark and Elizabeth, N. J. and the Brooklyn, N. Y. Churches was held on last Sunday, Oct. 13, at the Brooklyn place of meeting, Gates, Ave., and although the weather was stormy about 150 were present.

The forenoon was, as usual devoted to communion service, Brother Fitzgerald presiding in his able and earnest manner. Brother Brown, from Jersey City, gave the usual Bible readings and customary morning address, dwelling, in his remarks upon the subject of the kingdom of heaven as taught in Mat. xiii. particularly emphasising the Scripture Mat. xii. 28, "the kingdom of God is come unto you," reasoning therefrom that "the kingdom of God" was already come.

After Communion service an abundant luncheon, furnished by the Brooklyn Church, was heartily enjoyed, and a pleasant and profitable hour passed socially.

The afternoon session was devoted to the consideration of the seven parables of Mat. xiii. Brother Rothe presiding in his ever amiable and satisfactory manner. The writer in the opening address endeavored to form a frame work for the subject to be considered, contending that the seven parables were in themselves as a complete set of volumes containing the very essence of the prophetic word, and were intended for the instruction of the Church in particular, and the house of Judah and house of Israel individually and collectively. They were word pictures, and coming from the sacred lips of him "who spake as never man spake," they were emanations from the Divine glory. Glimpses of the purpose of God in the plan of the ages, radiating through his Son—reflecting upon this dark, sin-stained world of ours. Prophetic visions of wonderful beauty, as the sun reflects its glory upon the dark orb of night, or as an artist through his camera throws vivid pictures of animate and inanimate things upon the darkened canvas.

As picture after picture is unfolded in parable, the student of the Scriptures, is shown the history of the Church and its environments from its inception when the sower goes forth to sow, until clothed in "garments of immortal youth and beauty," the bride, the Lamb's wife, shines forth in the kingdom of her Father—children of God and heirs, joint heirs, with Christ.

Again, in the last three of these wonderful parables, step by step is unfolded, to the "generation" which follows with unerring precision, the history of the house of Judah and the house of Israel from the day when Judah purchases the field in order to possess the treasure, until they together attain ultimate victory and stand 144,000, as also a great multitude before the throne of God and the Lamb, in white robes and palms in their hands, servants of the Most High.

Brother Hodge, from Newark spoke interestingly on those things pertaining to the kingdom of God, the kingdom of Israel.

Brother Woodruff, from Elizabeth, urged the importance of adding to our faith and virtue all the graces, particularly that of knowledge; reasoning that "to whomsoever hath it shall be given and that more abundantly; and to him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath."

Brother Samuel Wilson from Jersey City followed in his usual happy and interesting style, with an exposition of the good seed, small and infinitisimal at first but ultimately developing in great power and beauty in the kingdom of God.

Short and equally able addresses were made by Brothers McDonald, Donaldson and others in the same interesting manner, and although some difference of opinion was more or less forcibly expressed, it was unanimously conceded that these quarterly meetings were withal very profitable.

The next meeting will probably be held at Newark.

WM. RENNIE.

Conference Report.

At Watson, Mich., Oct. 18, 1901, on Friday evening the Church of God is again convened for the purpose of holding another Quarterly Conference. The weather was as near perfect as it could be, beautiful sunshiny days and clear moon light nights. The home attendance was very good, and there was good interest, and there were a good many to be entertained from different parts of the State. We did indeed have a good and profitable meeting and were royally entertained by the brethren. All received a most hearty welcome, and felt it was good to be there.

Ministers present were F. L. Austin, Argos, Ind. C. W. Winchester, Byron, C. D. Gill, Vicksburg, Bro. Cummings, Millbrook; B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton. All were much pleased that our treasurer, A. K. Richardson could be with us.

Friday evening meeting was called to order by our Vice President, Wm. Moses. After song service, preaching by F. L. Austin from Job xxiii. Subject: God's people perfected by ways of trials.

Saturday morning at 9:30 song and social meeting led by Sister Woodward, followed by speaking by Bro. Cummings.

At 2:00 p. m. Business meeting.

At 7:00 o'clock we enjoyed another good social meeting led by Bro. Winchester, the lesson being 1 Pet. i. 25, and at 7:30 by a sermon from Bro. Austin, Gen. i. "God's plan and purpose of creating the earth."

Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock a sermon by Bro. Austin, subject: "The kingdom of God." So vividly did he portray the past, present and future, one could almost imagine themselves past all this heart-ache and disappointed life into the era of God-given joy and gladness at its close. This was followed by a very able sermon from Sister Woodward, Mal. iii. 17. "And they shall be mine, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels."

Lunch at noon. Two came out on the Lord's side. The ordinances were attended to at one o'clock by Brother Winchester.

Those baptized were Blanche Worthington and Clara Shoemaker of Brady.

At 12:00 o'clock Brother Gill was ordained by Bro. Woodward, after which Bro. Gill gave a short but interesting talk. The Lord's Supper was administered at 3 p. m. by Bros. Woodward, Austin and Winchester.

At 7:00 p. m. Social meeting led by Bro. Woodward, followed by a sermon from Rom. viii. 16: "For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." Brother Austin did a good work, presenting the Bible truths in a pleasing and instructive manner.

We had a good meeting, and yet there was a tinge of sadness. Some of the dear ones we met with before are silently sleeping, waiting.

May God comfort those thus made lonely.

EMMA JACKMAN, Sec.

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

Dear Restitution:

I wish to write and inform the dear brethren and sisters how I was led into the marvelous light of the true gospel.

First, turn with me to the 9th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, and read to the 19th verse, and save quoting it at length.

This is as far as we will go for herein are most of my points. For a long time I was an orthodox believer and teacher, and like Paul, in the 26th of Acts, when he was before King Agrippa, being accused of the Jews for becoming a follower of Christ; I truly believed I was doing what was right. My father being a minister of the General Baptist Church, I had the satanic lie pretty well founded in my mind. I taught in the Sunday School and led the class meetings, and thought I was working hard to gain souls for Christ. But, God sent one of his learned flock to me, just as he sent Ananias to Saul. At first, when he began to speak of the gospel I could not understand how he could be a Christian and have no hope of going to heaven. Like Saul I was without sight; blind to the true Word of God, and could see no other way until with patient trying, and careful teaching, using the Word of God only, I had to admit, according to the Word of God, that I was not saved, and knew nothing of God and his ways whatever. My teacher became my husband, and soon I was devouring every reference, every RESTITUTION, faster than they could come. O, how plain I could look back and see how I had been persecuting the Church of God, when I thought I was working for him. O, how many Sauls we have today, like Saul in the 8th of Acts. When my eyes were opened and I saw the true light, I felt like crying out, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" I went to God in silence, for forgiveness, but yet, it brings tears to my eyes and I get too choked to talk, when I think of the past. How thankful I am that God caused me to see the error of my way. But I was not contented to stop here, I wanted to be buried in baptism with Christ, and as the 15th of September was Brother Foore's day to preach at Shaw, Kansas, about thirteen miles southeast of Chanute, my husband made arrangements with his brother-in-law, who was also of the true faith, to go to Shaw and let me be joined to the little flock at that place. At the close of the meeting Brother Foore gave an invitation. I was not long in accepting the dear Savior's "Come unto me," and soon after my niece, Miss Elma Taylor, came forward also, and we became sisters as well as niece and aunt. She was only some past seventeen, and so kind and gentle, it made me glad to think she had become engaged to the Savior so young; for I realized that she would need him in her future life, to help her bear her trials and tribulations. O, how often I have needed him in the past, prayed to him to draw near unto me, when I was moving farther and farther away because I was preaching like Saul, when he was going about persecuting God's children. But thanks be to God "he hath not dealt with us after our sins, nor rewarded us according to our iniquities."

At four o'clock in the afternoon, Brother Foore led us two, one on each side of him into the water in Neosha River, and we died to self and satan, and were made alive to Christ. I did not put on immortality though, as I believed I did before when I was baptized into the church, instead of into Christ, but I realized that I had buried that old carnal mind and orthodox belief in the bottom of Neosha River, and sealed my promise to God that as I believed the true gospel now I henceforth would walk as a child of the true, patient and long-suffering Christ. Now like Saul, after the scales of unbelief fell from his eyes, Acts ix. 18, I am trying to rectify my false teachings, and I am writing letters to my converts, as I once called them, telling them how blind I was when I taught them and how I had found a risen Savior instead of a dead Savior. Mark xvi. 6. "He is risen; he is not here, behold the place where they laid him." Yes, the sepulchre with its large heavy stone rolled to the mouth of it, could not hold him captive; nor the Roman soldiers could not prevent his rising out of the grave; the Jews who had crucified him, had gone to the end of their rope; for in spite of all the opposition against it, he arose from the dead, and we are told by Christ himself that he was bone and flesh, and not a spirit, bone and flesh, but not blood, and he has promised that we should be like him, be raised or resurrected in his likeness. Then this restless, mortal body, (or soul) shall put on immortality and become satisfied; for "we shall see him as he is." 1 John iii. 2.

O, how much more precious the Word of God seems to me now. I used to spend my time reading what I called "good novels," now I put in such time and even more than I really ought to spare reading the Book I used to think I did not need. "For the things I used to hate, I now love, and the things I once loved I now hate."

My husband and I had quite a conversation with an orthodox minister some time ago and he seemed to be very much interested in looking up some of our side of the question, of the true gospel of God, but after he had conversed with his believers he became afraid of us and is not willing to listen to such a gospel. But God's Word is powerful, and if he is not entirely blind it will work on his mind. I told him I could fathom the depths of hell, and the heights of the coming kingdom now, wherein I used to be very doubtful.

Dear brethren and sisters, I am determined that nothing can ever turn my belief, for I have my face turned about and got my eyes set on the prize of everlasting life, and gaining a part in the first resurrection. How I pray God to help me to be as strong as I was in the worldly church. Oh! how I long to see my risen Savior, and join in the song of the redeemed. Darkness is covering the earth and gross darkness the people, as never before. So God help us to fight for the good cause as never before.

Your Sister, in the one faith and hope.

MRS. L. J. SWEET.

Dear Restitution:

In a late issue I noticed a call for articles for, "Faith once delivered to the saints," now I am not one whose name appears but if the following is acceptable, print it.

As I understand, the request is for the gospel, how and what should be preached; "And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel." I understand this was good news or glad tidings, but often is the mistake made of preaching punishments instead of what Christ told his disciples to preach, (gospel.) Let us consider a moment, look at or take ourselves for the example, can we be driven? Can we not be taken farther or be more useful to one who uses kindness than to one that uses the goad? Sometimes it has to be used, but let us try kindness first, preach more of "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God," and less of "The way of the transgressor is hard." The transgressor knows that already, teach him something he does not know about, viz., Christ's great love, the gospel, glad tidings, etc. Can we ever forget the picture Paul portrays to us when at his trial before Agrippa, "I would to God, that not only thou, (including his persecutors) but also all that hear me this day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these chains or bonds." May God guide our words, thoughts and actions into this same channel so that we may be of more use to him.

"The heart that is stricken, needs never a blow."

The gospel is simply this: Christ is the Son of the Living God, our Father. He is coming soon to raise the dead saints and change the living ones. The saints will then be clothed with immortality, will not know disappointments, anxieties, pain or death. Then can we say, "Oh death! where is thy sting, oh grave! where is thy victory." Then he with his saints will bring into subjection to God's will, this world. Then will commence "the restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets," which will be finished in one thousand years, the millennium. At the close of the millennium, the rest of the dead will be raised, when the judgment takes place and each shall be judged according as his works have been. Do not over look this fact, that the saints are judged by faith, but the dead who are raised at the end of the thousand years are judged "according as their works have been." "And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward." Matt. x. 42.

Further, the kingdom will be established on this earth, "Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth." Matt. v. 5. Our Savior, Jesus Christ, the off spring of David, Root of Jesse, the Lion of the Tribe of Judah, heir to the throne of his father David, Acts xi. 30, tells us about it. David's throne was surely on this earth, so needs be, if Christ is to have the throne of his Father, he will come back to earth where it is, and do we forget what Ezekiel says? he says, that "when he (Christ) comes, whose right it is, I (God) will give it him." Of what is Ezekiel speaking? A little quotation will inform us, Ezek. xxi. 26, 27, "Thus saith the Lord God, Remove the diadem take off the crown; this shall not be the same; exalt him that is low, abase him that is high. I will overturn, overturn, overturn it; and it shall be no more, until he come whose right it is; and I will give it him." "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall inherit the earth." Matt. v. 5. "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given, and the government shall be upon his shoulders; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the mighty God, the everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace." Where will this kingdom be established? Where will be our continuing city? Abraham was given the location and boundaries. Turn to Gen. xiii. 14, 15, also Gen. xv. 18, then read and you see, but some will say, Is not that in the past? Well, again I invite you to come with me to Acts, turn to chapter vii. verse 5. I leave it to you, brother, is his question answered? but farther, I imagine I hear this whispered, "How will they all get into such a small space?" Does not the Good Book tell us that the whole earth is the Lord's, from sea to sea, and to the uttermost parts of the earth?

Brother, let us continue in well doing, search the Scriptures, pray for wisdom, and help, to do God's will as he would have us do it. Then when our arch enemy is near to us or our dear ones, we need not fear as those who have no hope; for our life is hid with Christ. Amen.

H. GIDDINGS.

Editor Restitution:

I see by THE RESTITUTION that the "Helping Fund" is overdrawn, so Mat. vii. 12, comes to mind, which says, "whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." I know if I could not pay for the paper I would be glad if some one would pay for me. Temporal food alone would be a poor living for me. I believe that spiritual food has prolonged my life several years. I believe if each one would commit to memory 1 Cor. xiii. and study its meaning, no one would have to do without THE RESTITUTION that would read it, be he brother or not.

I enclose order for $10.00 to apply on Helping Fund, and read Mat. vi. 1–4, and sign,

Your Brother in Christ,

A LOVER OF TRUTH.

"Someone has defined genius as an immense capacity for taking trouble."

Conference Notice.

The Quarterly Conference for the congregations of the Church of God, of the Abrahamic faith will be held with the congregation at Plymouth, Indiana. Will convene for opening service at 7:00 p. m. on Thursday Nov. 14, 1901. To continue over the following Sunday. The Plymouth congregation is anxious to entertain all that will come, including visiting brethren from other States, who may favor us by their attendance. Dear brethren, this meeting will be helpful to us, and uplifting to the cause we love, if we make it so, by doing our part. The Lord's part will never fail. He has pledged to be with us if we come in his name. Shall we not then do our part, commencing now, and continue arranging our other business affairs, all subordinate to this end, "Where there's a will, there's a way." Come then in the spirit of the Master, with the full endeavor to "keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace," and thereby, not only be blessed, but become the means of blessing to others now, and thereby being qualified and prepared to participate in the ministration of blessing "to all nations" in that blessed, near coming "day of the Lord." Programme to follow later on.

D. T. HALSTEAD, Pres.
MRS. R. C. RAILSBACK, Sec.

Papers for the Poor.

This office receives many calls for papers from those who are not able to pay for them. It is sometimes from one part of the land, and again from another. They are not all in one locality. We know there are some who contend that there is no one so poor but he can at some time during the year pay the price of the paper. We are not here to argue that matter. It is enough for us to be told by an aged brother or sister who has perhaps taken the RESTITUTION for years, that income is cut off, not able to labor, dependent on charity of others, perhaps of unbelieving children. Cannot get out to meetings any more, all they have is the old Bible and the paper. Perhaps sickness of self, wife or children, makes it impossible to be out and earn money. Every cent that can be had will not suffice to pay doctor's bills, groceries, rent, fuel, clothing. In very many cases it is impossible to "make even" each year, let alone paying for any papers or books. Yet such are usually the ones who get the most out of our paper. They have time to read every word. Even the long articles are not skipped by these readers.

We have a fund called "Our Helping Fund" to draw on to supply these cases. Not a cent of this money is used for any other purpose. An account is kept separately from all else. We will say that at this time the fund is largely overdrawn, and has been for over a year.

Brethren, you who have a few dollars over actual need, and you who sometimes make a sacrifice, do you esteem this a worthy cause? This supplying the aged and infirm, the sick and distressed, the poor and needy—is it worth while considering? What answer do you give? It is not yours any more than mine, nor mine than yours. It seems to us that it is our duty to supply these calls. What do you think?

California Brethren.

I expect to go to Oleander, Fresno Co., Cal, some time in November, and will make my home there for a time. Any brethren desiring meetings in their vicinity please address me at Scholls, Ore., until Dec. 1. We should be faithful and work while we may for the Master is soon coming.

Yours awaiting his coming.
EDWIN E. GHOAT.

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth N. J.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 150-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address public ad may have their names inserted here.

D. M. Pike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
A. R. Clinkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Gibsonburg, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, N b
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, [illegible]
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
A. Bowman Wiser, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Sciotoville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 254, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kean, 1507, S. N. St. Tacoma Wash.
L. B. Conner, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fick, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. B. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stella, Pomona, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foors, 2012 West Fowling Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tilling Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1. Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Bwiggins, Ontario Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Goin, Jefferson, Ore.
T. F. Cordill, 308 S Main st. South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 138, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hicklin, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Rush Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Prisinor, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hall, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

Subscribe for THE RESTITUTION for 1902.

California-Oregon Excursions every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and on Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest time on the road. Finest scenery. Inquire of nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggener, at 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill.—dec28

Three Prophetic Days.

"Three Prophetic Days, or Sunday the Christian Sabbath. Showing the requirements of the Mosaic law, and comparing what should have occurred during the week of the Passover, with what was done by Jesus and his Apostles, as recorded in the New Testament. Proving that the law was kept to the very letter, and that Jesus made his triumphant entrance on Saturday, that he was crucified on Wednesday afternoon, and rose from the grave on Saturday evening, and that Sunday is the Christian's rest day, as is clearly shown by the law and the prophets."

The above is the title of a book of 230 pages, written by Wm. Frederick. This book has some original and peculiar ideas, an idea being gathered by reading the title page. While it is well to settle all such matters that can be settled, still we know full well that some people will never admit the deductions made as to days. However, the chief value of this work is in the unanswerable argument it makes against the Seventh day question, and post-millennialists. Any brother who wishes to be fully posted on these important matters, cannot afford to be without this book. All who are bothered by the law keepers should procure a copy at once, for no one can be too well posted in ways to combat this error of our times. We have arranged with the Author to supply this work from this office. It is well bound in cloth, good paper, and clear type. The price is $1.00 post paid. A cheaper paper binding will be sent for 50 cents to those who do not wish to buy the one in cloth, though the book is worth the better binding.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 288 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, bound in cloth and containing 115 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Red Cloud Sitting Bull and other noted chiefs; Custer's battleground and ten colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1600. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valuable contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 50 cents a copy, mailed postage paid upon receipt of this amount by W. B. Kniskern, 22 Fifth ave, Chicago Ill—dec14

Fast trains north on the Chicago & North-Western Railway leave Chicago daily for Milwaukee, Madison, Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Appleton, Escanaba, Ishpeming, Marquette Ashland, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth and all points in Wisconsin and the Copper Country. Quickest time. Through picturesque Wisconsin. Service unequaled. The best of everything. For tickets, rates and all information, apply to your nearest ticket agent, or write to A. H. Waggener. 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill. Nov30.

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

EARLY LESSONS, suitable for young or old, 30 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,
General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,
General Immigration & Industrial Agent.
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

VANDALIA TIME CARD
In effect June 2, 1901.
Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend.....6:26am
No. 14, " " " 12:01noon
No. 8, " " " 10:08pm
No 12, Sunday only 9:46am

GOING SOUTH.

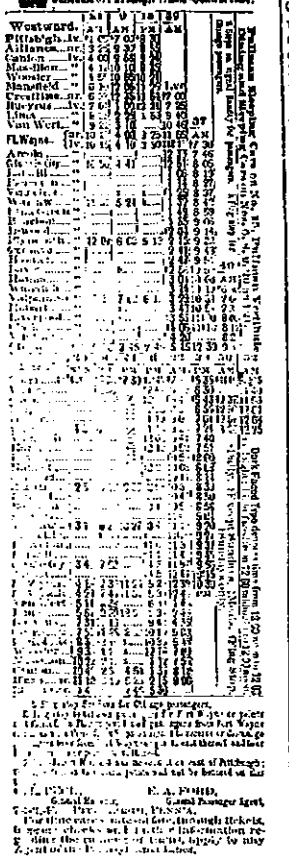
No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute.....6:45a m
No. 8, " " " " 12:84noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport,.....7:80pm
No 11, Sunday only 6:06pm

Trains 8 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections. Lake Maxinkuckee Sunday special train due Plymouth south bound at 9:14 a m. Returning leaves Maxinkuckee 5:45 p m.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo

Pennsylvania Lines.
Schedule of Passenger Trains—Central Time.



E. A. FORD,
General Passenger Agent,
PITTSBURGH, PENN'A.

For the convenience of holders of through tickets, it agents' checks as far as Indianapolis, Ill., information regarding the current time tables may be obtained of any agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

NICKEL RATE

10—29—1901

All trains arrive at and depart from Van Buren Street Union Passenger Station, Chicago.

Uniformed Colored Porters attend passengers holding Seat or second class tickets in day coaches on thru trains, insuring scrupulously clean cars enroute.

Eastward. All Nickel Plate Trains Daily. Westward.

Lv	Ar		Ar	Lv
7 15	15 25	Chicago	7 15	15 25
11 05	19 15	Valparaiso	4 20	9 15
11 55	20 05	So. Wanatah	3 33	8 27
12 10	20 20	Hanna	3 18	8 12
12 20	20 30	Kouts	3 08	8 02
12 35	20 45	Wheeler	2 53	7 47
12 45	20 55	Argos	2 43	7 37
1 00	21 10	Walkerton	2 30	7 24
1 10	21 20	Bourbon	2 20	7 14
1 25	21 35	Melbourne	2 05	6 59
1 35	21 45	Clayton	1 55	6 49
1 45	21 55	Ft. Wayne	1 45	6 39
2 00	22 10	Ft. Wayne	1 30	6 24
2 10	22 20	Kendallville	1 20	6 14
2 25	22 35	Wolcottville	1 05	5 59
2 35	22 45	Kimmell	12 55	5 49
2 45	22 55	Lagrange	12 45	5 39
3 00	23 10	Middlebury	12 30	5 24
3 10	23 20	Shipshewana	12 20	5 14
3 25	23 35	Goshen	12 05	4 59
3 35	23 45	Millersburg	11 55	4 49
3 45	23 55	Benton	11 45	4 39
4 00	24 10	Elkhart	11 30	4 24
4 10	24 20	Bristol	11 20	4 14
4 25	24 35	Wakarusa	11 05	3 59
4 35	24 45	Nappanee	10 55	3 49
4 45	24 55	Wellington	10 45	3 39
5 00	25 10	Tiffin	10 30	3 24
5 10	25 20	Republic	10 20	3 14
5 25	25 35	New London	10 05	2 59
5 35	25 45	Greenwich	9 55	2 49
5 45	25 55	Norwalk	9 45	2 39
6 00	26 10	Berea	9 30	2 24
6 10	26 20	Cleveland	9 20	2 14

(Local trains as shown between Chicago and Kouts, only on Monday, Wednesday and Friday; continuous only on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Eastward. Westward.

†Daily except Sunday. ‡ Stop on signal.

Dining Room Sleeping Cars on Nos. 2, 4 and 6 thru to Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston; on Nos. 3 and 5 to Chicago. Meals are served at "up-to-date" Dining Stations and in Nickel Plate Dining Cars at opportune meal hours. Baggage checked to destination. On inquiry you will find our rates are always lower than via other lines, service considered.

For rates and detailed information, address B. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O., C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind., or Local Ticket Agents.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

The Restitution
ON TRIAL
Three Months for Twenty Five Cents.
WILL YOU TRY IT?

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10:30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and D. T. Macdonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meets in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Rensselaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 A. M., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible.—Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God, known as Union Chapel Congregation meets each fourth Sunday, at private homes, for the purpose of breaking bread and social services. Also on the second Sunday at the Union Chapel Church, Winterrhods, Ill., for Bible Reading at 11 A. M. All are invited. Lizzie Woods, Sec.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:00, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through the city, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker's, 200 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fick's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 a. m. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fick, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1281½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsboro, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by S. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Edelman.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's Hall, 2nd ave. Aves., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Beech Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Kulie, Kessler, or H. L. Lehmans, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Authon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Ralsin Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trundell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin F. Groat of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God, at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder. Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder (Richard) Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY—
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents.
Three Months 40 Cents.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME L. Read PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, NOVEMBER 13, 1901. NUMBER 42.

Poetry.

The Church.

So shall her holy bounds increase,
With walls of praise and gates of peace;
So shall the Vine which martyr tears
And blood sustained, in other years,
With fresher life be clothed upon;
And to the world in beauty show
Like the rose-plant of Jericho,
And glorious as Lebanon.
—J. G. Whittier.

Communicated.

Phenomena of Spiritualism.

A short time ago I published a series of articles entitled the "Phenomena of Spiritualism Accounted For." The position taken in those articles was that the phenomena could not be accounted for on the ground of disembodied spirits, or that of supernatural devils, but it consisted in spectral impressions on the sensorium of the medium. The things a medium reveals must have a previous existence, either in the mind of the medium, in the mind of the person seeking to the dead, or in the mind of some absent person who is still alive in some other portion of the globe. These things are conveyed from mind to mind by means of unconscious telepathy.

The above theory has of late received a wonderful confirmation by the statements of Mrs. Piper, a medium whose fame has astonished the world. For fourteen years as a medium she has been giving out these socalled spirit-messages to the world. Prof. James said: "That the Piper phenomena are the most absolutely baffling thing I know of."

In Mrs. Piper's first trances she was taken possession of by the spirit claiming to be Dr. Phinuit; his full name, John Phinuit Schlevelle, a Frenchman of Marseilles, born in 1795 studied medicine, and died at the age of 70 of leprosy. He informed Mrs. Piper that his chief duties in the world of spirits were to communicate with those living on earth and prove to them the existence of spirits. It was noted that this Frenchman of French birth spoke in English with a French accent; that his use of that language was limited to a few phrases and not always correct.

In explanation of this it was said that, as Mrs. Piper was English, only that language could be used. At first Dr. Phinuit confined his efforts to interpreting between Mrs. Piper and the spirits, but later he talked with her about himself and life in the spirit world.

A remarkable thing was that Mrs. Piper's voice changed according to the nationality of the spirit speaking. If it were a man she spoke with a man's voice; if a child, with a child's voice; if an Irishman, with the flavor and accent of the Irish tongue."

Speaking of Mrs. Piper, Mr. Walsh says: "After a thorough investigation, William Walsh wrote of Mrs. Piper: "The woman in this case is of excellent and irreproachable character. She is Mrs. Piper, a resident of Arlington Heights, near Boston."

After fourteen years experience as a medium Mrs. Piper says: "I must truthfully say that I do not believe that spirits of the dead have spoken through me." She claims that what she has given out as a medium existed previously in some other mind. She has given her conclusions in full in an article printed in the Record-Herald of Chicago, from the New York Herald. She attributes the phenomena to unconscious telepathy in place of "the intervention of disembodied spirit-forces."

Speaking of Mrs. Piper, the Chicago Record-Herald says: "It is an extraordinary statement which The Record-Herald prints today over Mrs. Piper's signature—that her famous spirit messages from the dead were not of supernatural origin—that she has decided to withdraw from the Society for Psychical Research.

The profound significance of this statement will be understood, for on Mrs. Piper's spirit messages, given while in a state of trance, this great society of England, supported by men of international fame, has based its claim of communicating with those beyond the grave.

After the twenty years of research it has officially published this miraculous claim, which Mrs. Piper, its world-famed medium, now scatters to the winds."

Mrs. Piper says: "I believe it right for me, in resigning from the service of the Psychical Research Society, to speak frankly to the public in my own individuality, in response to the request of the New York Herald.

In the service of the society I have acted simply as an automaton, going into what is called a trance condition to be studied for purposes of scientific investigation, and also for the comfort and help of many suffering souls who have accepted the spiritistic explanation of words which I unconsciously spoke while in this dreamy state."

She further says: "The world today knows that among scientific men the opinions on psychic phenomena could be explained in other ways than by the intervention of disembodied spirit forces.

The theory of telepathy strongly appeals to me as the most plausible and genuinely scientific solution of the problem. To strengthen this opinion are many authentic experiences which have all been satisfactorily explained by means of the telepathic hypothesis.

I am inclined to accept the telepathic explanation of all of the so-called psychic phenomena, but beyond this I remain a student with the rest of the world."

Notice her conclusion in answer to questions about the return of the spirits of the dead:

"Have you ever had any convincing proof of the possibility of spirit return?

I cannot truthfully say that I have."

"What position do you consider that you have filled with the society?"

Simply that of an automaton.

For my own part I cannot see how it can be scientifically proved that we hold communication with the socalled spirit world.

As St. Paul says, spiritual things can only be spiritually discerned, much less handled.

Professor Pierce had a sitting with me some years ago, and he said that he received no testimony or impression to strengthen the theory of a communication with the departed. He never for one instant felt himself to be speaking with any one but me. He said that if he had seen or heard anything else he would gladly have borne testimony to it; because "a real communication with the glorious dead would surely be the greatest conceivable satisfaction to one who could not be many years separated from the state in which they abide."

In the matter of unconscious telepathy from mind to mind, Mrs. Piper says: "I have never heard of anything being said by myself while in a trance state which might not have been intent in

1. My own mind.
2. In the mind of the person in charge of the sitting.
3. In the mind of the person who was trying to get communication with some one in another state of existence, or some companion present with such person, or
4. In the mind of some absent person alive somewhere elsein this world.

Not one of us present may have been conscious of any knowledge of facts stated, yet somewhere in my mysterious subliminal consciousness, which was in abnormal activity when I was in condition, the knowledge might have rested unknown to myself in my waking life. It might in the same manner have been latent in the mind of one of those present and have been transferred by unconscious telepathy from one of their minds to my own.

The wonders of wireless telegraphy and the use of the X ray developed of late years in the realm of physical science make me feel that it would not be becoming for me to say what may or may not be possible in transference of thought in the subjective mind by laws not yet formulated. My reading has not shown me that all the laws of the objective mind are understood.

I have said that if the knowledge of facts stated by me while in the condition was not latent with me or with any of those present in the room with me at the time of a sitting, it might still have been in the mind of some other person alive somewhere in the world. It might have been latent, or it might have been active knowledge, and have been transferred to the mind of one of those in the room, then to my subjective mind, then automatically uttered or written by me. I do not find it as hard to grasp this theory as that of a disembodied spirit telling the things.

If thought could be unconsciously transferred to me from a person in the room, I do not see any reason why that person could not have received a thought message from somebody at a long distance, and then telephoned it, so to speak, in thought, direct to me. If telepathy is possible between two people, why not among three, just the same as with telegraphy?

Everybody is familiar with the common coincidence of letters passing between two people who had not written for a long time and who then wrote to each other at the same time. Distance does not seem to make any difference about such meetings in, perhaps, the spirit; there are many instances of that sort of human wireless telegraphy; there are also instances of a third person learning by the same means of facts known to two other persons.

An interesting case of what seems like direct thought transference in the subjective mind was when I gave intelligible answers, in English, of course, while in the condition, to questions asked of me by a sitter in Italian, a language I do not understand. All the communication seemed to be entirely between the subliminal thought of the sitter and myself. I sometimes think that may be the way we shall all talk to each other when in the future state.

Once when an old Boston physician had a sitting with me it seemed that I talked most about a pencil which was put into my hands, it having been the property of a deceased friend. When I came out of the condition he drew himself up in his chair and said, with excusable gruffness:

"What made you talk about nothing but the top of an old pencil? Why didn't you talk about God and the angels?"

"What do you know about God and the angels?" I could not help retorting. He was good enough to smile, for of course the pencil was part of the scientific test, and the other talk would not have been."

Speaking of Mrs. Piper, Dr. Wallace Patch, says: "It would seem to one who has followed the discussion on this subject for many years that the spiritualistic theory utterly fails to account for the phenomena of socalled "mediumship." We can never hope to form a union between individualities of heaven and those of earth by any such finite means as those in question.

It is probable that the phenomena of the trance state will yet be adequately explained—if, indeed, they are not already so—along the well-known lines of hypnosis, mental suggestion and telepathy. The seeming mystery will quietly melt away as the further light of modern research penetrates more deeply the mass of evidence now gathering."

It seems to me that the conclusions of a world famed medium like Mrs. Piper, and also those of learned scientific men who have closely studied her mediumship, ought to count for something in solving the phenomena of spiritualism. One thing is certain these conclusions harmonize with Scripture declarations. Study the case of the king of Syria at war with Israel. The plans of the king of Syria were made known to the king of Israel though spoken of privately within his own bed chamber. Elisha conveyed the information although he was at that time in Dotham.

The supernatural devil theory is too closely allied with superstition, and somewhat akin to immortal-soulism, and the bugbear of an omnipresent devil.

W. H. WILSON.

[The fact that Mrs. Piper after making her statement has reconsidered the step, and will stay with the Society for Psychical Research does not in the least better the case of Spiritualists, but rather shows to thinking people how very "sandy" is their foundation. Honest thinking people will not be deceived.—ED.]

Selected.

Rich Man and Lazarus.

The advocates of popular theology point to this parable as proof (?) that the dead are conscious and so alive. If they are alive then of course they are not dead; if they died then they must have been raised from the dead to live again. For the dead, there can be no life until after the resurrection, and this does not take place until the last day. The time covered by the parable is before, not after, the last day. It does not deal with life after death but before it.

These teachers also claim that it teaches that man has an "immortal soul" which lives on after the body dies. How it teaches any such thing is not clear, for the word soul is not even once mentioned in the entire parable.

Let these teachers bear in mind that while the man is alive they teach that man has an "immortal soul," but when he is dead they would have us believe that he's such a soul. If their first theory is right their second must be wrong. If man has such a soul he certainly is not that soul, and as the man dies, and death is a state of unconsciousness, then he knows nothing whatever about "his soul" while he is dead, and so if the "soul" did go to heaven or hell, "the man" would be unconscious of it.

We are often told that the parable teaches that the wicked go to hell as soon as they die, where they will suffer eternal torment as the penalty for their wickedness. Neither in this portion of Scripture nor any other is it written that the wages of sin is eternal life in torment. On the contrary the Scriptures say "the wages of sin is death"—loss of life.

The parable pictures the rich man himself in hell, and not his soul, while theologians tell us the body goes into the grave but the soul (of the wicked) goes to hell. That the parable does not teach the popular doctrine must be clear to every thinking Bible student.

Another thing we are told is that it teaches that man (if righteous) goes to heaven when he dies—and yet the parable does not mention or even hint of such a thing. The beggar, which they tell us represents the righteous, as a class—although it is not so stated in the parable—goes to Abraham's bosom, and no man has any authority, from Scripture, to say that this represents heaven.

That heaven is not the eternal home of the saints is plainly taught in the Bible. While the word "heaven" is used in the Scriptures many, many times, not once do we read that dead saints are there, or that they go there at death. The renewed earth will be the eternal home of the saints.

The truth is (according to the Bible) that man is mortal, not immortal; that he dies, and in death is unconscious and will remain so until the resurrection, which takes place when the Christ comes, at the last day. Then the righteous will be rewarded and the wicked be destroyed.—C. F. Ladd in Our Hope.

"I Am My Own Master."

"I am my own master," says the young man. Well, be your own master, and sit down and have an earnest and plain talk with yourself. Ask yourself who you are, what you are, what you have been doing, what you are doing now, and what you propose or expect to do hereafter. Ask yourself what you have done to make the world wiser, or better or happier. Try to ascertain whether you have done the world harm or done it good, see if you have been of any real service to mankind, and how. What are you worth to the world in which you live? What great enterprise for the promotion of human interest would suffer by your death? How many would miss you or care whether you lived or died? You are one of fourteen hundred million of human beings on earth. How much, and what sort of influence have you exercised on others? or have you, or do you exercise any influence worth notice?

You are your own master. Does the master try to be a man, or is he content to be a mere cipher, at 0 in society? Has he sufficient self-respect to keep himself above all that is low, coarse, vulgar and bad? Does he always speak the truth—never use obscene nor profane language—never do a mean thing? Is he always regardful of age, respectful to equals and kind to inferiors? Does he labor earnestly to improve his mind, his morals and his manners; or, is he careless, idle and indifferent to such things? Does he spend much time in the company of idlers, smoking, drinking and foolish talking? If so, tell him—that master of yours—he is on the wrong track, and if he does not switch himself off, there is surely a crash ahead, and no one to save the pieces, and when it comes, the verdict of the people will be, "served him right." He might have known it would come. he lived for it and he has it. "You are your own master."

Better watch that master very closely—see that he forms no bad habits, keeps out of bad company, uses no improper language, is always engaged in some honest and useful pursuit, lives honestly, truthfully and usefully. If these and like things are well and faithfully [illegible] only may you expect to be of any real service to the generation and age in which you live. Remember there will be many obstacles to be overcome, many difficulties to be encountered, many temptations to be resisted and many hard struggles between inclination and duty, so that you will have to put down all the will force you can possibly command, but choose the right in all things and stick to it, and all will end well. It requires continued and earnest effort to be a true man, true in every sense of the word, and yet every man may be a true man if he will. With all the privileges granted, and all the advantages attainable, it still depends on the individual himself whether or no, he will be a true man.

The Church's Plight

Speaking on the subject of the great need of the Church at the 23d annual conference of the Evangelical Protestant Union, in Manchester, England, Mr. D. M. B. Chapman, of Tonbridge, said: "Peter would hardly recognize the Church if he came on the scene again. Its present state was that of a back-slider. It lacked leaders, had no standard-bearers, and its ministers were of a nondescript character. Modern preachers preferred modern weapons, and instead of quoting Paul and Peter, they quoted Shakespeare and Tennyson. There was little or no distinctive or discriminating preaching. Ministers and people seemed to have lost every sense of propriety, let alone godliness. Many entertainments presided over by ministers were utterly godless and vulgar in the extreme. Another sad mark was the bad attendance at the places of worship. The change which had come over all the churches could hardly be unexpected. It seemed as though Satan were leading on, the Pope following him, the Church of England following the Pope, the Nonconformists and the Scottish Churches following them. They were all leavened with the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

What was the great need of the Church? Let them look at the subject from the negative side first. Money was not the great need. Worldly influence was not the great need, and they did not want magnificent buildings. Some of these buildings were so grand that the poor dare not go near them. It was proposed to spend a quarter of a million on the Liverpool Cathedral. What would that sum do toward missionary work? In these grand places of so-called worship they had organs to suit the buildings, an organist to suit the organ, a choir to suit the organist, music to suit the choir, and the work in many cases to suit the devil. Ornate services were not their great need. Now the organist and choir were far more important than were the minister and the gospel he preached.

The modern service in the Church of England in many cases amounted to a concert, given often by an unconverted and badly behaved choir. Parsons and ministers were at their wits' ends to find some fresh attraction. Nonsense was considered one of the best means of bringing sinners to the Christ.

What they did need was a baptism of spirit, more love as members of the same family, and more life. They also wanted the tongue of fire, which was one of the greatest powers of our Christianity."—Manchester News.

[The description here given of the condition of Church matters over-seas is exactly true over here. Nor is it confined to the wealthy societies in the larger cities; but the same state is true in the smaller towns and even in rural places an "entertainment" is demanded. When Christ comes again will he be able to find faith—"the" faith?—ED.]

Make sure that however good you may be, you have faults; that however dull you may be, you can find out what they are; and that, however slight they may be, you would better make some effort to be quit of them.—Ruskin.

We need a few more subscribers. Now is a good time [illegible] to get them, and we are asking our friends to make an effort in this line. We do not want you labor for nothing, and so make this offer as an inducement to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and what is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War, and an extensive traveler in Africa, has written a book of over 500 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price is put at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1902, making $4. 50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, giving them credit to the end of 1902, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help THE RESTITUTION by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Office Editor.

Editorial Committee.

J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, Special Contributor.

Plymouth, Indiana, Nov. 13, 1901.

STOCKHOLDERS MEETING.

The Stockholders of the Christian Publishing Association are requested to meet at Plymouth, Ind. on Saturday, Nov. 16, 1901, for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors and transacting any other business that may come before them.

Signed,
J. H. Willey, Pres.
A. R. Underwood, Sec.

Brother John Foore writes to say he will be at Bosworth, Mo. on Saturday, Nov. 23, and hold meetings over Sunday. Let all in the neighborhood attend.

Some one mailed a letter at Geuda Springs, Kan. on Nov. 4, but failed to sign any name. It is necessary that we have the name before we can use the letter. Will the reader please take notice.

"There is plenty for all to do. Look out for it. The reward for doing good is not present applause; it is in a final acceptance by one who will give something more substantial than applause."

The ministers in Conference at Winona Lake, Indiana, a few weeks ago decided that "there's a hell," and that hereafter they would preach future punishment more vigorously than ever; and that the coddling and consoling of people must stop.

"Pray, do not forsake those for whom Christ died; pray, do not sever loving hearts because you cannot agree as to whether God will mete out justice to a few Gentiles this side of the grave or the other. Salvation depends not upon such a flimsy issue."

"Truly every brother is his brother's keeper. Yet here is a delicate matter—to know how to be his brother's keeper without intruding into matters which are his brother's own business. The wise discrimination which will enable a brother to be his brother's keeper without unnecessarily giving offence is of that nature which fits one to become a king and a priest with Christ upon his throne. The lesson may be learned by the Savior's instruction on the mote and the beam. In all let there be sincerity—that's the balm."

The death on Nov. 7, of Li Hung Chang removes from the scene of action the most noted Chinaman of the century. He was born in Feb. 1822, and from a humble beginning rose to the highest rank in the empire. He has been soldier, statesman, and diplomat. He was the most progressive of all his race, and has done nearly all that has been done to give China what of civilization she has. In the settlement of affairs after the Boxer trouble he succeeded in keeping the empire intact. His death will make a change, for he was a friend of Russia and the final settlement of the Manchuria matter was in hand, but not signed, so the appointment of his successor will be of much importance to the Czar.

On Sunday, Nov. 3rd, we had the great joy of aiding another in rendering the obedience of faith. After many weeks of earnest inquiry Sister E. determined to forsake all and follow Christ; and it is with pleasure we now introduce her to the Church of God, scattered abroad. This addition to the number of called out ones, greatly cheered us, and gave us encouragement and strength to toil on. While we would have been glad to have kept her among us;—we are gladder still to know that she will leave Cleveland and work for God and truth in Salem, Ohio, where she will be able to help the faithful few in that city to hold up the Banner of Light. The Lord bless this babe in Christ, and make her a blessing to others, we pray.

Another thing that contributed to the pleasure and profit of the Church on the above occasion, was the presence of our dear Brother Zilmer, and the clear-cut and stirring words of truth addressed to us. He gave a discourse on Baptism, before the burial took place,—and in the evening his subject was, "Kept from falling, by the Power of God;" a more appropriate theme for the occasion could hardly have been selected; and we believe it will long be remembered with profit.

It is a sad fact that many who claim to be of the household of faith will make greater sacrifices to disseminate theories that cannot be proven, than they will to support the plainly revealed truths of God. God knows why they do it.

Let every dawn of morning be as the beginning of life, and every setting sun be to you as a close; then let these short lives leave their record of some kindly thing done for others, some goodly strength or knowledge gained for yourself.

For J. F. and all others who are troubled or puzzled about Jonah—was he a real personage or not, etc., we would say yes,—we certainly do believe him to have been a real personage, but also that all the Bible says of him is true. How could we help when Jesus says of him: "For as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale's belly, so shall the Son of Man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth?" In addition to this we can go back between eight and nine hundred years before Christ and read about Jonah. In 2 Kings xiv. 25 that Jereboam restored the coast of Israel from the entering of Hamath unto the sea of the plain, according to the Word of the Lord God of Israel which he spake by the hand of his servant Jonah, the son of Amittai, the prophet which was of Gath-hepher." Now the chronology of this chapter is given as 839 years before Christ; and the chronology of the chapter of Jonah which gives the account of Jonah being thrown overboard and swallowed by a great fish, is given as 862 years before Christ,—or only some 23 before the event recorded of in 2 Kings xiv. 25, and in all probability was still living and known as God's prophet. This evidence is so circumstantial that we do not see how it could be doubted. For instance, (1) He spake to Israel for God; (2) What he said should be done was done; (3) His father's name is given; (4) The place of his residence, Gath-Nepher, is given, and hence it is safe to conclude it to be a literal history of facts.

The Truth Confessed.

We see by the Advocate that Mrs. Lenora E. Piper who has been a noted "medium" of the American Psychical Research Society, has made a confession which condemns Spiritualism and confirms Odology. She says: "I [illegible] said by myself while in a trance state which might not have been latent in (1) my own mind, (2) in the mind of the person in charge of the sitting, (3) in the mind of the person who was trying to get communication with some one in another state of existence, or some companion present with such person, or (4) in the mind of some absent person somewhere else in the world.

"In the service of the Society I have acted simply as an automaton, going into what is called a trance condition to be studied for purposes of Scientific investigation. The world knows today that among scientific men the opinions of psychic phenomena are many and varied. I have always maintained that these phenomena could be explained in other ways than disembodied spirit forces.

The theory of telepathy strongly appeals to me as the most plausible and genuinely scientific solution of the problem.....I am inclined to accept the telepathic explanation of all the so-called psychic phenomena, but beyond this I remain a student with the rest of the world.

"I must truthfully say that I do not believe the spirits of the dead have spoken through me when I have been in a trance state, as investigated by the scientific men of Boston and Cambridge and those of the English Psychical Research Society, when I was taken to England to be studied.

"I must say that after being associated with the society for about fourteen years I have no more definite knowledge concerning the subject than when I began. I have never considered myself a Spiritualist. I have never had any convincing proof of the possibility of spirit-return," The Advocate adds:—

"Of course not, for the very good reason that there are no such spirits to return. If there were, and they did return they should have more sense than to employ silly men and women as mediums, play hide and seek behind curtains and toss tables about the house. Mr. Hastings used to say he would prefer that his tables stand still. Tossing them about the house is not a wise and profitable employment for grave old men and women in spirit form. If they did so when in the flesh they would be hurried to an insane asylum."

Just what effect the present Turkish crisis will have is hard to foretell now. Certain well defined claims were made by France, and while the Sultan dallied with returns the French ordered Admiral Caillard to take the Mediterranean fleet and proceed to Turkish waters. It was at first reported he had seized the port of Smyrna, but that is not the case. He did take the port of Mitylene on the island of that name. Has possession of the Custom Houses, and is preparing in every way to enforce his demands. There has been no show of resistance by Turkey, and it is thought the Porte will soon yield to the inevitable. Some ill feeling is brewing of course. It appears that all the other powers were notified beforehand of the action of France except Germany, who was ignored. The Russian papers are all praising France and are glad that Germany is given what they deem a "set back to its pretensions in Turkey." In England the matter is discussed with indifference, as it is thought the Sultan will pay when he has to and the occupation will be only temporary. Apparently Russia is behind France, with Germany out of sight in the background. It will pay the student to watch these actions because some day serious trouble will come in with only a little incident to start it.

Later reports indicate the Porte is willing to concede every thing France demands.

Inspired Prayers.

FOR COMFORT.

"Let, I pray thee, thy merciful kindness be for my comfort, according unto thy Word unto thy servant." Psa. cxix. 76.

"Show me a token for good; that they which hate me may see it and be ashamed; because thou, Lord, hast holpen, and comforted me." Psa. lxxxvi. 17.

"Mine eyes fail for thy Word, saying, When wilt thou comfort me?" Psa. cxix. 82.

"Now our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God even our Father, which hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope through grace, comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every good word and work." 2 Thes. ii. 16.

"And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another comforter, that he may abide with you to the age—even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him; but ye know him, for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you." John xiv. 16.

FOR HELP TO KEEP GOD'S COMMANDS.

O Lord God of Abraham, Isaac and of Israel, our fathers, keep this forever in the imagination of the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their hearts unto thee; and give unto Solomon my son a perfect heart to keep thy commandments, thy testimonies, and thy statutes, and to do all these things, and to build the palace, for the which I have made provision." 1 Chron. xxix. 18.

"With my whole heart have I sought thee; O let me not wander from thy commandments." Psa. cxix. 10.

"Deal bountifully with thy servant that I may live and keep thy Word. Open mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law." Psa. cxix. 17.

Teach me, O, Lord, the way of thy statutes, and I shall keep it unto the end. Give me understanding, and I shall keep thy law; yea, I shall observe it with my whole heart. Make me to go in the way of thy commandments; for therein do I delight." Psa. cxix. 33.

FOR PRESENCE AND COMMUNION WITH GOD.

And he, (Moses) said to him (the Lord) if thy presence go not with me, carry us not up hence. For wherein shall it be known here that I and thy people have found grace in thy sight? Is it not in that thou goest with us? So shall we be separated, I and thy people, from all the people that are upon the face of the earth." Ex. xxxiii. 15.

"Yet have thou respect unto the prayers of thy servant, and to his supplication, O Lord my God, to hearken unto the prayer which thy servant prayeth before thee today;—that thy eyes may be open toward this house night and day, even toward the place of which thou hast said, 'My name shall be there;' that thou mayest hearken unto the prayer which thy servant shall make toward this place." 1 Kings viii. 28.

"Oh that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his seat! I would order my cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments." Job xxiii. 3.

"As the hart panteth after the waterbrooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God. My soul thirsteth for God, for the living God: when shall I come and appear before God?" Psa. xlii. 1.

"Cast me not away from thy presence; and take not thy Holy Spirit from me. Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with thy free Spirit." Psa. li. 11.

"O God, thou art my God; early will I seek thee; my soul thirsteth for thee, my flesh longeth for thee in a dry and thirsty land, where no water is; to see thy power and thy glory, so as I have seen thee in the sanctuary." Psa. lxiii. 1.

"Thus will I bless thee while I live; I will lift my hands in thy name. My soul shall be satisfied as with marrow and my mouth shall praise thee with joyful lips; when I remember thee upon my bed, and meditate on thee in the night watches." Psa. lxiii. 4.

"How precious also are thy thoughts unto me, O God, how great is the sum of them! If I should count them, they are more in number than the sand. When I awake I am still with thee." Psa. cxxxix. 17.

"That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man,—that Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth and height; and to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled with all the fulness of God." Eph. iii. 16.

Only a Stick.

"Greatness is not usefulness. There are many things too great to be useful. What would a crowbar be worth in repairing a watch? Some people belittle themselves, and seem to regard themselves as of no account.

Says Marion Lawrence to Sunday school teachers: "Don't allow yourselves to be discouraged in your work. One of my teachers came to me one day and said, 'I cannot teach this class,—I am only a stick.' I replied, 'Do you know what the Lord did with a stick? He opened the Red Sea with a stick. He brought the water out of the rock with a stick. You go back to the class and be a stick,—be a good stick. That is all the Lord wants with you.'"

The trouble with us often is, that we want to be something that we are not."

A Serious Loss.

We have met with quite a serious loss. Some weeks ago we sent out several hundred letters to persons who were owing us various sums of money. Who will help us find these letters that have been no doubt laid away and forgotten? If you did not get one, and you have not sent your renewal, don't wait for the letter to come, but send now and save us the expense of writing to you. It is a task we dislike very much anyway, and we will be rejoiced if no occasion existed for doing so. Brethren, this is a serious matter indeed. We can not meet our obligations unless you do yours. Think of this carefully and calmly, and act as your conscience and Christianity dictate. If each will do this we will have several hundreds of dollars within a weeks time. Will you help to make good our loss?

IF.

If all were Christians who profess to be, what grace and peace might we enjoy in our churches. If all supposed to be Christians would strive to do their best for the upbuilding of the cause, instead of striving to do their best to gain an elevated seat in the class, what a brotherly and sisterly love might we enjoy. If all would seek for godliness instead of worldliness, what blessings might we receive. If some would be as willing to do what is right in the sight of God, as they are to see others obey their commands, their lives would be much happier. And if all would ask to be filled with the Spirit, it would be given unto them, for Christ has said, "Whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do." Jno. xiv. 13. Dear brothers and sisters, let us seek daily for the spirit of truth, that our lights may ever be shining, whereby others may be guided to the blessed promises of God.

Yours in hope of a brighter life.

A Sister.

Selected.

He Cares

Do the cares of life rest heavily upon you? Does the cloud of sorrow darken your path? Are you tired, weary, and discouraged? Does faith waver? Are friends all gone? Do you look in vain for sympathy and help? Cheer up. "He careth for you." He, Jesus, the Son of God, he cares for you, poor child; he is your Friend, your faithful Friend. Is it not sweet to know this? It is true, gloriously true.

Other friends may fail you, he never will; for has he not said, "I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee?" Yes, dear child, he cares for you, even you. He sees and knows your difficulty, and his great heart of compassion is filled with love and sympathy for you. O how much he cares for you, how he longs to help you. Those arms of love are open wide as he bids you come and cast all your care upon him. He wants to prove his love by helping you.

Dear one, is it not a precious invitation? He bids you bring all care, and that means present care. Come, now, with your heavy burden, bring it to him, cast it upon his great heart, and he will take it—and you. O the blessedness, the sweetness, the tenderness of it all. He careth for you, he the living Christ, cares for you, and invites you to come to him with your trials and troubles, your cares, your doubts and fears. He will take them and you, and as you rest upon his breast he whispers in words of tender love, "Peace, be still;" and O the heavenly calm that follows.

O ye weary, troubled ones, he cares for you. He calls to you, why, then, do you not come? Why do you struggle on in your hopeless, helpless way? Do you not hear that voice saying, Come unto me, I will give you rest? Then come, and come now, "and the peace of God which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Jesus Christ."—C. F. Ladd.

Church Membership.

"I can be a Christian and not unite with the church."

Are you sure? One thing is certain; you cannot be a Christian and dictate terms to Christ. You cannot say what you will or will not do beforehand or at any stage in your Christian life. Why should one desire to withhold such public confession? Christ "loved the church and gave himself for it." Can you do less? It is his historic witness; the vehicle of his truth, the method and agency by which he works. Were the church destroyed, Christianity could not survive. Love and life demand expression. The church is the life of Christianity expressing itself. Do not trust the genuineness of your conversion or the sincerity of your love, if you find yourself disinclined to unite with the church. After twenty years' experience with professed Christians of all ages, the writer has never found one who refused to take this important step who "held out," or gave satisfactory evidence of genuine conversion. True love never withholds any service or confession. It covets the closest possible fellowship with the professed followers of Christ, and in life, in speech and public confession bears constant testimony to his grace.

In the Presence of the King.

In ancient days kings sat in the city gates, and subjects were permitted to state their grievances and present petitions. To-day this is impossible; the kings are too busy and the people too numerous. Yet, while upon Jesus, the affairs of a universe hang, his lowest subject may lift the veil, and reverently entering the presence-chamber, stand face to face with God. Not only is it blessedly true that where two or three are gathered together in Christ's name, there he is in the midst of them, but the individual, with aching heart or sin-stained soul, may silently creep to his feet, and tell to the Lord his sorrows. He permits us not only to enter his presence, but to remain there. It is our privilege to abide "under his shadow," to dwell in the secret of his pavilion. We wear his livery; we become his pages—lord-in-waiting; ours is the honor of being courtiers to the King.

Said a dear friend of mine, now deceased, one who had spent her whole life in this noble Christian work of winning souls to Christ, "What a difference, when we visited a home where the family were Christians, and the home of those who were not! The very atmosphere of the Christian home was inspiring. Oh!" said she, "it was beautiful." And so it is, if we are living close to God, deriving nourishment from the true and living Vine, our influence can but tell for good, and the world will see in very deed and word that we belong to Christ.

The Lord puts a seal upon his own, that everybody may know them. The sealing is the Spirit, producing in us a likeness to the Lord. The holier we become, the more distinct and plain is the seal, the more evident to every one, for then will all take knowledge of us that we have been with Jesus. Men who dwell in courts insensibly adopt courtly manners and polished language. There is an indescribable grace and charm about them, not perceived in other men. Those who abide with Christ must become unworldly. They grow like their Lord, breathing his Spirit, catching the very accents of his voice, learning to imitate his deeds, and carrying ever with them an unmistakable fragrance—the very atmosphere of heaven.—Mrs. S. G. Kenney.

Wine Drinking and Intemperance.

Advocates of the wine drinking habit claim that it has a tendency to reduce intemperance among the people, but the facts prove the contrary. Statistics show that in France, where wine is freely used, the habit creates a craving for stronger stimulants. It is officially stated that of 3000 prisoners in the Department of the Seine, more than 2000 were found to be drunkards. The number of suicides induced by intemperance has more than doubled in late years. The military authorities say that 34 per cent of the young men drafted for the army are rejected on account of alcoholism, and in the cities of Normandy, where hard cider is the common beverage, the proportion rejected is larger still. It rises to 50 per cent in Caen, and in Havre to 75.

Many Christians are dull and stupid, and useless, because they have not had disaster enough to wake them up. The brightest star that heaven makes is thrown over the shoulders of the storm. You cannot make a thorough Christian life out of sunshine alone. There are some very dark lines in the ribbon of the rainbow; you must have in life the blue as well as orange. Mingling all the colors of the former makes a white light; and it takes all the shades and sadnesses and vicissitudes of life to make the white lustre of a pure Christian character.

A man who is too busy to be courteous is much busier than he ought to be.

The worth of one true man to the world is a question which no arithmetic on earth can answer.

A Report.

Before the Conference business meeting adjourned, permission was asked to call the Ladies' Tithing Society together in business session, as the mission work in Grand Rapids needed the co-operation of the Conference. Sister Chaffee has worked hard to get people interested and it was finally decided to send the evangelists there and try and determine what to do in the future. It was moved that $80.00 be appropriated from Tithing Society to be used by evangelists at the discretion of Conference board, carried. Meeting then adjourned.

M. A. Woodward, Sec.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending The Restitution to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the doners request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

Richard Arthur	5 00
S H Reere	1 50
Mrs Albert Burton	1 50

Special Hunters' Rates.

Beginning Nov. 9th, until Nov. 30th, the Nickel Plate Road will sell Hunters' tickets to parties of three or more traveling together to McComb or Payne, or stations between these points, to South Whitley or Willvale, or stations between these points, at one fare for the round trip. Return limit Dec. 2. Obtain detailed information from nearest agent of the Nickel Plate Road, or C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—nov 30

Poetry.

Ishi.

"Thou shalt call me Ishi (my husband), and shalt call me no more Baali (my Lord), and I will betroth thee unto me forever." Hosea ii. 16, 19; 2 Cor. xii. 2.

"O, my heart is full of laughter,
And I'm very, very glad;
For I have a precious treasure,
Such as princes never had.
Ishi! Ishi is the jewel,
Mine he is while ages roll—
Angels taste not of the glory,
Holy Ishi of the soul.

All my love no tongue can utter,
All its wondrous depths and power,
Growing deeper, growing stronger,
Day by day, and hour by hour.
Ishi! Ishi night and morning,
From my lips that holy name,
All the while my soul exulting,
In the self-same joyous strains.

Many beauteous names thou bearest,
Brother, Shepherd, Friend and King;
But they none unto my spirit
Such divine support can bring.
Other joys are short and fleeting,
Thou and I can never part;
Thou art altogether lovely,
Ishi Ishi! of my heart.

Earthly loves are very lovely,
Passing, passing fair they seem;
But they come and go like shadows,
Like some bright and long past dream.
Thou art a reality,
From which like dreams I ever wake,
Those I cast aside as nothing,
Ishi! Ishi! for thy sake.

When the sun of life is setting,
When the shades of even fall,
And upon earth's fairest visions;
Cometh darkness like a pall;
Then, O Ishi! will believe I,
I shall see thy glorious face;
Finding in thy coming kingdom,
My eternal resting place.

Communicated.

2 Cor. v. 1-8.

The following is Macknight's translation of 2 Cor. v. 1–8 and his comments on the first verses.

I have found this one of the difficult Scriptures to understand from the common translation.

1. For we know that when our earthly house, which is a tent, is destroyed, we have a building, from God, an house not made with hands eternal in the heavens.

2. But yet in this tent we groan earnestly desiring to go permanently into our habitation which is heavenly.

3. And surely, if we go in, we shall not be found destitute.

4. But yet, we who are in the tent groan, being burdened; not because we desire to go out, but to go permanently in, that what is mortal may be swallowed up of life.

5. Now he who hath effectually wrought us to this very desire is God, who also hath given us the earnest of the Spirit.

6. We are bold, therefore, at all times, because we know, that being at home in the body, we are from home from the Lord.

7. For we walk by faith, and not by sight.

8. We are bold also, because we are well pleased rather to go from home out of the body, and to be at home with the Lord.

I give his notes on the first verses. "Our translators have rendered this passage in the following manner; 'For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved;' by this tabernacle meaning our body. But the impropriety of that interpretation will appear from the following consideration:

1. 'Our earthly house of this tabernacle,' being opposed to the 'building from God,' which according to the common translation, we are to receive when our earthly house is destroyed, if 'our earthly house' be our present mortal body, the building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens,' spoken of, verse 1 must by necessity be our resurrected body, and we must receive it when our mortal body is dissolved; which is not true, neither is that true which is affirmed in this verse, that our resurrection body is in heaven.

2. If 'the building of God;' which we are to receive when this earthly tabernacle is dissolved, be our resurrection body, what is said, verse 2 is not true, namely, that it is 'a house from heaven,' for the glorified body of the righteous, who are dead, is not to come from heaven, but from the grave.

So we are told 1 Cor. xv. 42 'It is sown in corruption, it is raised in incorruption,' etc. And with respect to those who are alive at the coming of Christ, they are not to receive their glorious bodies from heaven; but their mortal bodies, in which they are found alive, are to be changed into immortal ones, in the twinkling of an eye. 1 Cor. xv. 52.

3. The common translation of verse 3, 'If so be, that being clothed, we shall not be found naked,' implies that if we are not clothed at the resurrection with a heavenly body, we shall be found naked or destitute of a body. According to the translation of verse 2 the righteous are not to lose their mortal body, but only to have it clothed upon with one that is immortal.

4. By interpretation this passage of the earthly and heavenly body of the saints, such a jarring of metaphors is introduced in verses 2 and 3 as is perfectly absurd, for what idea can any form of a tabernacle which is clothed upon with a house, and which if it is not so clothed, the person who inhabits it will be found naked. 'We have a building from God.' This building is the city which Abraham and his sons, who were heirs with him of the promised country, looked for while they lived in tents; and of which city the Builder and Maker is God. Heb. xi. 10. To this city Paul and other inspired writers have given the name of Jerusalem, New Jerusalem, The City of the living God. Macknight.

We must remember that Dr. Macknight was a believer in the immortality of the soul, yet he has shown the inconsistencies of the Common translation as we have it in 2 Cor. v. 1, etc.

Our house is as unsubstantial as a tent. It has no permanent foundation but we look for one that has.

When this political arrangement (our tent) is destroyed we will have a kingdom or an arrangement that will be permanent, as our head will be Christ, the King of kings and the Lord of lords.

'In this tent we groan.' Who among the worthy ones do not groan to be delivered from such misrule and corruption that surround us. The world is growing better they say! Was Sodom ever more corrupt and wicked than now? With our surroundings who would not say with Paul 'earnestly desiring to go permanently into our habitation which is heavenly.' What a blessed thought follows, that, if we go in we shall not be found destitute. We shall be clothed and fed. No drouth then to destroy our crops, but old mother earth shall have been born again and nothing shall hurt in all my holy mountain, thus saith the Lord.

The great desire that God has wrought in us is that what is mortal may be swallowed up of life. This was Paul's hope, not that an immortal soul go to heaven at death, but in the resurrection of the righteous he might receive a spiritual body. The hope of the Psalmist was the same. Psa. xvii. 15, 'As for me I will behold thy face in righteousness. I shall be satisfied when I awake with thy likeness.' See also John iii. 2. 'It doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that when he shall appear we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is.'

Brethren, let us retain this blessed hope and when the Master shall come receive a crown of righteousness.

D. C. Robinson.

Various Opinions on "The Second Death" of the Bible.

Brother Underwood:

The enclosed article on the second death is taken from notes left by our deceased brother Henry Young. It was read at the meeting of the Church of God last Sunday, and Bro. John O. Woodruff, of Elizabeth, suggested that it be forwarded to THE RESTITUTION, hoping it may be published therein; his suggestion was endorsed by the brethren, and acting thereon I hereby forward it to you, trusting it may find a space in THE RESTITUTION; if not, kindly return it to me. I am yours in the blessed hope.

DANIEL DEETZ, JR.

To answer this question: What is the second death? is only possible for one who has a Biblical knowledge of the truth, who is instructed in the sound doctrine of the Scriptures; to speak more plainly, in the language of the Apostles, one who has received a resurrection out of the dead, by grace (Eph. ii. 4, 5, 6, 7), and has established his heart by full assurance of faith in his grace. It is generally understood by a second death, that after a man has lived and died, he has come to life again and died a second time, as for instance was the case with Lazarus and others; but as the Scriptures speak of the resurrection that the dead shall be raised incorruptible, consequently cannot die (wherefore we hope for a resurrection), the aforesaid idea of second death cannot be entertained, after a little reflection on our part. The Biblical second death appears, applied

I. Individually, to persons Rev. ii. 11.

II. In a general sense, to a nation or nations. Rev. xx.

Let us examine it first as it is applied to individuals. Until the return of our Lord Jesus Christ, it is appointed unto man to die, no matter how holy a life he may lead. This will be readily acknowledged by every one; when exceptions have taken place, this natural law was set aside by God (with Enoch and Elijah). When, however, our Lord returns, when the dead in Christ are risen, then will come into effect a new covenant with men (Israel) see Jeremiah xxxi. and note verse 31, and the Apostle calls this dispensation, which follows the present dispensation, judgment, the day of the Lord (Hebrews ix. 27); until these all are in Adam, and die in Adam. Dying, thou shall die, is the warning. (Gen. iii. 17). To Israel a new order of things takes place under the new covenant which comes into effect at the day of the Lord, the day of judgment; then the present death, (which is in Adam, and is the first death) which remained even under the law of Moses (1 Cor. xv. 56) no longer reigns, its power is broken, and the saying: In Adam all die, is been void. The Lord spoke by Ezekiel (Ez xviii.) "The soul that sinneth, it shall die; the son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son; the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him.....verse 27, "If the wicked shall turn from his sins he shall live, he shall not die."

What is the righteousness of the righteous? Life (in Christ). 1 John v. 11. And the wickedness of the wicked? Death (in Adam). Gen. iii. 17. Here we find the teaching of the second death; the first death is inherited from Adam, and rules from Adam until the dispensation of judgment, even over them who have not sinned after the similitude of Adam. Man inherits a mortal nature: but under the new covenant, the power of the first death, the inherited, is broken and it does not reign, neither can it reign, but "the soul that sinneth it shall die." So we find that until that day, death is hereditary, (this is the first death); but then, death is because of the individual's trespass, and upon the individual who trespasses; this is the second death, and is by divine judgment.

Now, those who by confession in Christ, and in baptism, have become identified with Christ, have been buried into Christ (Rom. vi. 3; Col ii. 12) and have acknowledged that they are mortal, and subject to death (in Adam), Eph. ii. 4, 5; enter into a new covenant with God, a covenant of life (in Christ), Eph. ii. 5, 6; Col. iii. 3, 4; as is brought to our remembrance at the taking of the Lord's supper (1 Cor. xi. 25); they have shown forth their death in Adam by baptism, and are risen to a new life (Col. ii. 12) in Christ Jesus; they have come out from under the reign of the first death where they were by nature (Eph. ii. 12) and have come nigh unto God. Eph. ii. 13. We read in Rev. ii. 11, "He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death." He that does not overcome? He dies because of the unrighteousness which he commits. Compare with Hebrews x. 26 to 30 inclusive. There are records of divine imposition of death given in the Scriptures, which I would call attention to those who perished in the gainsaying of Kore, the divine judgments upon the two sons of Aaron for offering strange fire, and the fate of Ananias and Sapphira, as instances; these would have died in the natural course of events, but a different death overtook them; divine judgment. One thing more I would call attention to, Jude speaking of ungodly men in the churches, says (Jude 12) that they are twice dead, plucked up by the roots, and in verse 4 he says these were before ordained to this condemnation; this agrees with what Paul says; it is time that judgment begin at the household of God.

The Apostles teach that death is the wages of sin. By Adam's disobedience he was debarred from the tree of life; (Gen. iii. 22) as long as he had access to this tree, he could live by eating the fruit thereof. He was therefore mortal, otherwise he would live without the necessity of eating this fruit. We inherit this mortal nature from Adam (this is the first death, or wages of the first sin), but by coming into Christ, buried into him by baptism, we die unto the old nature (Col. iii. 3) and entering into a covenant of new life, are placed under God's especial providence or judgment; hoping, in faith, to obtain eternal life; if so be we continue in his commandments. This we cannot obtain if we turn back again and forsake the Lord who purchased us; this is the second death. See Heb. vi. 4-8; Heb. x. 26 and Jude 12 and 13.

Let us now turn to Rev. xx. 10 to 15 inclusive, where we read of a general punishment by the second death; the lake of fire, this is the second death (verse 14) and after having read this, compare with Heb. xii. 26 to 29 inclusive. "For our God is a consuming fire." Verse 29. These two passages are identical. Peter also wrote of this general judgment (2 Peter iii.) saying: "Remember the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and the commandment of our Lord and Savior through his apostles: knowing this first, that in the last days mockers shall come with mockery saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers have fallen asleep, all things continue as from the beginning (we die). For this they wilfully forget, that there were heavens of old, and an earth consisting, out of water and in the waters. Whereby the world that then was being overflowed by water, perished. But the heavens and the earth which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men. Compare with Jude 14 and 15 which is identical. Peter shows that, in times past, a general destruction of ungodly men took place, by the Word of God, through the flood; this is set forth as a warning to the aforesaid mockers, who, he says, are to be destroyed by the same Word of God, through fire; whereby the ungodly shall be rooted out of Israel. This is divine judgment, the second death: (as I find it rendered in a German translation the "other" death) distinct from the death in Adam which is hereditary. Rom. v. 12. By one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin, and so death passed upon all men; in whom all sinned." We are by nature partakers of this one blood (Acts xvii. 26; and blood is the life of all flesh. Lev. xvii. 14.

Faith.

The only passage in the Bible, as rendered in the common English version, in which the term "faith" is formally defined, reads as follows: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." Heb. xi. 1. The rendering of the Revised Version is the following: "Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the proving of things not seen." Professor Stewart in his Commentary on Hebrews, thus translates the original Greek: "Now faith is confidence in respect to things hoped for—evidence of things not seen." Dr. Bloomfield, giving a brief paraphrase of the passage, says that "the faith here meant is not specifically faith in Christ," but in the "genus" (from which the "species," a gospel faith, proceeds) namely, a "firm belief and unshaken confidence in God." Dr. Sunemann, in his comment on the same passage, regards the first clause as meaning "inner confidence of that (or with regard to that) which is still hoped for," and "has not yet appeared in actual form;" and the second clause as meaning "a firm inner persuasion of the existence of unseen things, even as they were manifest to one's eyes." Said Dwight L. Moody: "There is a verse in the Epistle to the Hebrews which tells us what faith is, let me quote it: 'Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.' That is the best definition of faith that I have seen; but we find in the same chapter, that without faith we cannot please God. 'But without faith it is impossible to please him for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.' But God asks no man to believe without giving him something to believe, and we have that something in the first Epistle of John. If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater; for this is the witness of God which he hath testified of his Son.' Mr. Spurgeon said he did not want any one to tell how honey tastes, for he knew how it tasted. So Jesus says: 'He that believeth on the Son of God hath the witness in himself; he that believeth not, God hath made him a liar; because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son. Ans., this is the record that God hath given to us—eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son, hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life.' Creeds are all right, but they don't save us. Many Christians are looking to a dead creed and a dead Christ, not a living Christ. I know men who complain that they have not faith enough. Well, you can have some without having all that you would like. I might not have the whole Atlantic Ocean, but if I have a tumbler of water I have water, haven't I? So I may have faith, even if not in so great an abundance as I wish. A woman was introduced to Dr. Bonar as a woman of great faith. She replied, 'I am not a woman of great faith, but a woman of little faith with a great God.' That is the right kind of faith; faith in a great God. What the eyes are to the body, faith is to the soul. Give up trying to make faith. Faith is not feeling. I was praying a long time for faith, and expected something wonderful to happen; but I read one day that 'Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God!' It came to me like a flash out of heaven. And I looked round and found that there were many men about me who were closing up their Bible and praying for faith. This is a false idea of faith. The more I know of God, the more I trust him. The men and women who are faithful in their study of the Bible are those who have great faith." Christian reader, nothing pleased the Lord Jesus so much as faith. He honored it every time he met it. It refreshed his heart. Have you faith?

EUGENE B. WILLARD.

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

Editor Restitution:

As my time for the paper is out next month, I will renew now as I do not like to miss a number of the paper, for when I read the letters from the scattered members of the family of the household of faith it gives me strength and encouragement, for it is a lamp giving light in the darkness. I think the RESTITUTION is the best religious paper I ever read, the gospel truth is so clearly explained that a child can understand, and pray God to bless your efforts to spread the gospel truth until the King shall come in his glory to give every one according as his work shall be, and may we be among those who will hear the welcome words "Well done."

Your Sister, in hope of eternal life.

MRS. ALBERT BURTON.

Dear Brother Underwood:

One evening I was in the reading room, and I saw the Christian Science Magazine lying on the table, and read some of it, and the next day out of curiosity went to their meetings and met with a cordial reception, and I told the leader how I happened to be there, and he made the remark to one of their people, "You see our literature we put in the reading room is bearing fruit, doing some good, this gentleman read some of it and has come to learn more." After the meeting he followed me out and asked me to come again. I happened to have a RESTITUTION in my pocket and gave it to him. This incident set me to thinking, why should'nt our paper, the dear, old RESTITUTION be in the different Reading Rooms? I believe there are men enough in our church throughout the land, who have enough above their living that they could spend ten, twenty or thirty dollars a year, or even five dollars would be a good deal, providing all that could afford it would give and have the paper sent somewhere or to somebody. One day, the past summer, while sitting in the hotel one of the Dowie ladies came in and wanted me to buy a copy of their magazine. I took one and soon after I went to the depot, and out of curiosity, to see whether it would be noticed or not, I layed it on the table and took a seat a short distance and waited. Pretty soon a gentleman came in, he looked like a traveling man, took it up and read in it until the train came, then put it in his pocket. You see, every act and every movement has an influence of some kind, and our paper should'nt be hid under a bushel. I was told by a brother that there are some very wealthy people in our church, that is, a few. Are that few doing according to their means? I was surprised the other day to read that brother's letter in the RESTITUTION stating that Brother Underwood was publishing the paper for what is taken in on subscriptions. We should make an effort to increase the subscription list and pay our dues promptly. For my part I should miss the paper very much if it was discontinued. "He that turns many to righteousness shall shine as the stars."

Another incident I will relate to show that literature has its influence. When Mr. Moody first started to preach, he preached in St. Louis one time and he was very nervous and timid, but he thought he would make up for a lack of ideas by quoting lots of Scripture. He preached one evening and had for his text "The Jailor Converted." The next morning the city papers published his sermon, one of the papers was thrown into the cell of a very hard criminal, I think his name was Murphy. He was in for burgarly and there were other charges against him. The head-lines were in large letters, "The Jailor Converted," which aroused his curiosity, and he read it and throwed it down with the remark, "That is some of Moody's bosh," but after while, being alone, with nothing but his own thoughts for company, he took it up and read it again and threw it down and stamped on it and he thought and read that day until he was finally on his knees begging God for pardon, and before he quit he was a converted man. The jailor thought Murphy was coming the religious dodge for effect. After he was released from prison he looked for work and could'nt find it and went to New York and could'nt get anything to do there. He went back, he was discouraged but would'nt go back into sin. Soon after he went back to St. Louis the sheriff sent for him to come to his office. He thought he was being sent for to answer for some of his old crimes, but he said he would go and meet it like a Christian. The sheriff said: "Murphy, I have had you shadowed ever since you left prison. When you went to New York a man followed you and when you came back he came also. Now I am convinced you have reformed, and I have sent for you to take a position under me. I have some jewelry valued at sixty thousand dollars and I want a man to guard it. Murphy, a strong man that he was, cried like a child. He sat that night with a revolver on the table guarding that property. Sometime after that Moody failed to fill an appointment in that city and Murphy was persuaded to take his place, and I think he preached quite frequently after that, and did a great amount of good. This all resulted from that copy of paper thrown into his cell.

The way they do in the churches when they want to raise a subscription to meet a debt, they say, How many will give ten dollars, and after they get all the tens they can they come down to five and after that they come down to one dollar and then to fifty and twenty-five cents. Now will those who can't send ten, five or one dollar send twenty-five cents towards this fund as several from all over the land would send the paper to a good many needy ones.

Your Brother in Christ,

E. W. M[illegible]

Obituary.

Died, five miles northeast of Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind. Oct. 21st, 1901, Mary J. Thompson Shaffer.

The deceased was born Aug. 23rd, 1830, in the State of Maryland, and moved with her parents to Knox Co., Ohio, where she was married to John A. Shaffer; from thence, with her husband, moved to this State in 1851. Twelve children were born to this union, seven sons and five daughters. Three of these with her husband preceded her in death. The living are Henry, of North Dakota, Carlottie of South Bend, Ind., Elizabeth, Catharine, David, Hugh, Rozella, Jennie and James.

Sister Shaffer cherished the blessed hope of the soon coming of the Lord. For a long time her feeble state of health had prevented her from meeting with those of like precious faith, a fact she much regretted. As she approached her end she expressed a wish to partake of the emblems of her Savior's death, and was permitted to do so on Sunday, the day preceding her death. Funeral services on Wednesday the 23rd, conducted by the writer.

J. L. WIRICK.

All beginnings are important and significant; but the true eras are not in the calendar, but in the heart. The new year's beginning is the hour of an individual's inward choice.

Excursion to Richmond via Pennsylvania Lines.

For the State Convention Y. M. C. A. of Indiana, excursion tickets to Richmond will be sold via. Pennsylvania Lines November 21st to 23d, inclusive.—Nov. 28.

For Thanksgiving Day.

The Vandalia Line will sell November 27th and 28th, return limit November 29th, 1901, excursion tickets at reduced fares from all stations to points 150 miles from selling point on its own line, and also to many points on connecting lines. For full particulars call on nearest Vandalia Line Ticket Agent, or address E. A. Ford, Gen'l Pass'r Agent, St. Louis, Mo.—Nov. 28.

Report of Meeting.

Our Annual Meeting was held at Blush, Mo. as per announcement in THE RESTITUTION, beginning Oct. 19–25. Eleven sermons were preached by Brother John Foore, and while there were no additions, we had an interesting meeting. The house was crowded to the extreme limits, seats all filled and as many as could get standing room stood with craned necks trying to catch every word. Every sermon seemed to become more interesting, until at last the house could not hold them all.

But the speakers' time was up as he had other appointments, and so our meetings were brought to a close with the expression on the people's faces that they were hungry for more of the spiritual food.

On the evening of the 25th of Oct., the brethren and sisters met together and partook of the bread and wine in commemoration of our Lord's broken body and shed blood, until he comes.

My prayer is that he comes quickly and removes all pain, sickness, sorrow and death, and that you and I will hear the welcome "Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

Yours in hope.
P. J. GRAHAM.

Conference Notice.

The Quarterly Conference for the congregations of the Church of God, of the Abrahamic faith will be held with the congregation at Plymouth, Indiana. Will convene for opening service at 7:00 p. m. on Thursday Nov. 14, 1901. To continue over the following Sunday. The Plymouth congregation is anxious to entertain all that will come, including visiting brethren from other States, who may favor us by their attendance. Dear brethren, this meeting will be helpful to us, and uplifting to the cause we love, if we make it so, by doing our part. The Lord's part will never fail. He has pledged to be with us if we come in his name. Shall we not then do our part, commencing now, and continue arranging our other business affairs, all subordinate to this end, "Where there's a will, there's a way." Come then in the spirit of the Master, with the full endeavor to "keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace," and thereby, not only be blessed, but become the means of blessing to others now, and thereby being qualified and prepared to participate in the ministration of blessing "to all nations" in that blessed, near coming "day of the Lord." Programme to follow later on.

D. T. HALSTEAD, Pres.
MRS. R. C. RAILSBACK, Sec.

California Brethren.

I expect to go to Oleander, Fresno Co., Cal., some time in November, and will make my home there for a time. Any brethren desiring meetings in their vicinity please address me at Scholls, Ore., until Dec. 1. We should be faithful and work while we may for the Master is soon coming.

Yours awaiting his coming.
EDWIN E. GROAT.

God knows what keys in the human soul to touch, in order to draw out its sweetest and most perfect harmonies. They may be the minor strains of sadness and sorrow; they may be the loftiest notes of joy and gladness. God knows where the melodies of our nature are, and what will call them forth.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 283 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

Fast trains north on the Chicago & North-Western Railway leave Chicago daily for Milwaukee, Madison, Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Appleton, Escanaba, Ishpeming, Marquette Ashland, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth and all points in Wisconsin and the Copper Country. Quickest time. Through picturesque Wisconsin. Service unequaled. The best of everything. For tickets, rates and all information, apply to your nearest ticket agent, or write to A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill. Nov30.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 150-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 80 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address public and may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Pike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clinkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stoutler, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, Cal.
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wisco, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Schelbville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Primo Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kean, 4607, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Connor, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Oaswkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. R. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stella, Pomona, Cal.
S. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tibling Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. R. Dwiggins, Ontario Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Gale, Jefferson, Ore.
W. F. Cordill, 508 S Main st, South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 188, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hicklin, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Rush Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La.
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

Subscribe for THE RESTITUTION for 1902.

California-Oregon Excursions every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and on Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest time on the road. Finest scenery. Inquire of nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggener, at 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill.—dec28

Papers for the Poor.

This office receives many calls for papers from those who are not able to pay for them. It is sometimes from one part of the land, and again from another. They are not all in one locality. We know there are some who contend that there is no one so poor but he can at some time during the year pay the price of the paper. We are not here to argue that matter. It is enough for us to be told by an aged brother or sister who has perhaps taken the RESTITUTION for years, that income is cut off, not able to labor, dependent on charity of others, perhaps of unbelieving children. Cannot get out to meetings any more, all they have is the old Bible and the paper. Perhaps sickness of self, wife or children, makes it impossible to be out and earn money. Every cent that can be had will not suffice to pay doctor's bills, groceries, rent, fuel, clothing. In very many cases it is impossible to "make even" each year, let alone paying for any papers or books. Yet such are usually the ones who get the most out of our paper. They have time to read every word. Even the long articles are not skipped by these readers.

We have a fund called "Our Helping Fund" to draw on to supply these cases. Not a cent of this money is used for any other purpose. An account is kept separately from all else. We will say that at this time the fund is largely overdrawn, and has been for over a year.

Brethren, you who have a few dollars over actual need, and you who sometimes make a sacrifice, do you esteem this a worthy cause? This supplying the aged and infirm, the sick and distressed, the poor and needy—is it worth while considering? What answer do you give? It is not yours any more than mine, nor mine than yours. It seems to us that it is our duty to supply these calls. What do you think?

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth. N. J.

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, bound in cloth and containing 115 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Red Cloud Sitting Bull and other noted chiefs; Custer's battleground and ten colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1600. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valuable contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 50 cents a copy, mailed postage paid upon receipt of this amount by W. B. Kniskern, 22 Fifth ave, Chicago Ill—dec14

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

EARLY LESSONS, suitable for young or old, 30 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,
General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,
General Immigration & Industrial Agent.
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

A FREE PATTERN

(Your own selection) to every Subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.

McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50 YEAR

A LADIES' MAGAZINE.

A fine, beautiful colored Plate; latest Fashions; fascinating specialties; fancy work; household hints; fiction, and much to-day, we send it for latest copy. Lady agents wanted. Send for terms.

Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.

McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ 15¢

All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Seeing and Sewing Lines.

Only 10 and 15 cents each—none higher. Ask for them. Sold in nearly every city and town, or by mail from

THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St, NEW YORK.

VANDALIA TIME CARD
In effect June 2, 1901.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For	South Bend	8:25am
No. 14, "	"	12:01noon
No. 8, "	"	10:08pm
No 12, Sunday only		9:46am

GOING SOUTH.

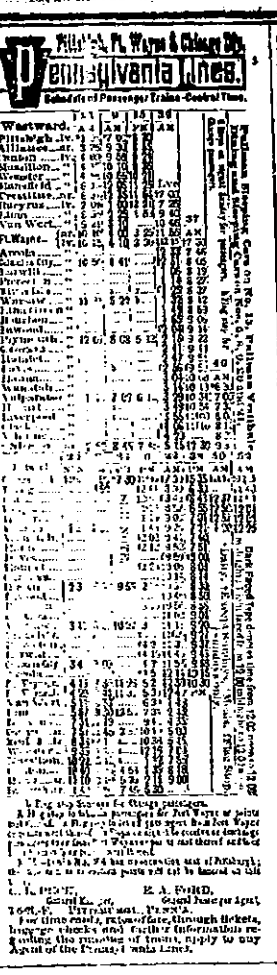
No. 21, Ex. Sun. For	Terre Haute	5:45a m
No. 8, "	"	12:34noon
No. 9, "	Logansport,	7:30pm
No 11, Sunday only		6:30pm

Trains 8 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections. Lake Maxinkuckee Sunday special train due Plymouth south bound at 9:14 a m. Returning leaves Maxinkuckee 5:45 p m.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. Foan,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo

Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Ry.
Pennsylvania Lines.
Schedules of Passenger Trains—Central Time.



E. A. FORD,
General Passenger Agent,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

For time cards, rates and tickets, through tickets, baggage checks and further information regarding the routing of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

NICKEL PLATE

All trains arrive at and depart from Van Buren Street Union Passenger Station, Chicago.

Different and Colored Porters attend passengers holding first or second class tickets in day coaches on the trains, insuring scrupulously clean cars enroute.

Light type A. M. Dark type P. M.
(Daily except as noted.) L. Lv. Ar. Arrive.

Drawing Room Sleeping Cars on Nos. 2, 4 and 6 thru to Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston; on Nos. 5, 3 and 15 to Chicago. Meals are served in "Nickel Plate" Dining Stations and in Nickel Plate Dining Cars at opportune meal hours. Baggage checked to destination. On inquiry you will find our rates are always lower than via other lines, service considered.

For rates and detailed information, address R. K. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O., C. A. Ferrie, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind., or Local Ticket Agent.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty-five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. C. Rothe and B. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1745 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Rensselaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following service: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 A. M., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God, known as Union Chapel Congregation meet each fourth Sunday, at private homes, for the purpose of breaking bread and social services. Also on the second Sunday at the Union Chapel Church, Winterhode, Ill., for Bible Reading at 11 A. M. All are invited. Lizzie Woods, Secy.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:00, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through thecity, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Barr's, 209 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. B. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 A. M. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1283½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsboro, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by V. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Robelman.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's, Hall, Galena Aves., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Bruch Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Kuhl, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Anthon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trundell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Groat of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. J. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God, at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder. Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher

—FOR THE—

CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

Poetry.

Advent.

Lo! again he cometh,
Robed in clouds of light,
As the Judge eternal,
Armed with power and might.
Nations to his footstool
Gathered then shall be;
Earth shall yield her treasures,
And her dead, the sea.
Till the trumpet soundeth,
'Mid eternal light,
Reign, thou King immortal,
Holy, infinite.

Jesus! Lord and Master,
Prophet, Priest and King,
To thy feet triumphant,
Hallowed praise we bring.
Thine the pain and weeping,
Thine the victory;
Power, and praise, and honor,
Be, O Lord, to thee.
High in regal glory,
'Mid eternal light,
Reign, O King immortal,
Holy, infinite.

—John Julian.

Communicated.

Genesis. Chap. 34.

1. And Deina the daughter of Leia, whom she brought forth for Jakoob, went to observe the daughters of the neighborhood;

2. And Suchem the son of Emmoor the Enaite, the ruler of the land saw her; and took and lay with her and humiliated her.

3. And he became attached to the soul of Deina the daughter of Jakoob, and loved the virgin, and talked to her according to the thought of the virgin.

4. Suchem spake unto Emmoor, his father, saying, Take this child for me a wife.

5. And Jakoob heard that the son of Emmoor had polluted Deina, his daughter, and his sons were with his domestic animals on the plain; and Jakoob said nothing until they came.

6. And Emmoor, the father of Suchem, went out unto Jakoob to talk with him.

7. And the sons of Jakoob came from the plain; and when they heard they suffered anguish and it was a very grievous thing to them, because he had done a disgraceful thing in Israel in having lain with the daughter of Jakoob; and it should not be in this wise.

8. And Emmoor talked with them saying, Suchem, my son, hath preferred your daughter with his soul; give her then to him for a wife.

9. And contract marriages with us; give your daughters to us and take our daughters for your sons.

10. And take up your abode with us; and lo, the land is broad before you. Take up your abode and go your way over it and acquire in it.

11. And Suchem said unto her father and her brothers, May I have found favor in your sight, and whatever ye shall have said will we do.

12. Multiply the dowry exceedingly and I will give even as ye shall have said unto me and ye shall give unto me this child for a wife.

13. And the sons of Jakoob answered Suchem and Emmoor, his father, and with deception did they talk to them because they had polluted Deina, their sister.

14. And Sumeoon and Leui Deina's brothers said, We cannot do this thing, give our sister to a man who is uncircumcised; for it is a reproach to us.

15. Only in this way will we become like to you and dwell with you, namely, If ye become as we are, even in every male of you becoming circumcised.

16. And we will give our daughters to you, and will take from your daughters for our wives and will dwell along side you, and we will be as one race, (word sometimes translated "generation" as in Luke "This 'generation' shall not pass away, etc. should read their "race").

17. But if ye do not hearken to us to be circumcised, we shall take our daughter and go away.

18. And the words were pleasing in the sight of Emmoor and in the sight of Suchem, the son of Emmoor.

19. And the young man did not tarry in doing this thing said: For he was lying with the daughter of Jakoob; and he was the most renowned of all those in the house of his father.

20. And Emmoor and Suchem, his son, came to the gateway of their city and talked with the prominent men of their city saying,

21. These men are peaceable; let them take up their abode in our midst upon the land and let them go their way in it: and lo, the land is broad before them: we will take their daughters unto us for wives and gave our daughters unto them.

22. In this way only will the men become like to us so as to dwell in our midst and be one laity (here people of one king) in that every male of us become circumcised, even as they have been circumcised;

23. And their domestics and four-footed and chattels will they not be ours? Only in this respect let us become like them and they will take up their abode in our midst.

24. And all those going their way into the gateway of their city hearkened to Emmoor and Suchem, his son, and had themselves circumcised every male of them.

25. And it came to pass on the third day, when they were in pain, the two sons of Jakoob, Sumeoon and Leui, brothers of Deina, each took his sword and entered into the city unhindered and slew every male.

26. And slew Emmoor and Suchem his son with the mouth of the sword, and took Deina out of the house of Suchem and came out.

27. And the sons of Israel went in against the wounded and plundered the city in which they had polluted Deina, their sister.

28. And their sheep and their cattle and their asses, and all that was in the city, and everything that was in the plain they took.

29. And all their bodies and all their equipment and their wives they led away captive. And they plundered everything in the city, and everything in the houses.

30. And Jakoob said unto Sumeoon and Leui, Ye have made me an object of hatred, so that I am a wicked person to all those who inhabit the land and among the Chananites and the Pherezaites; and I am fewest in member, and they will gather together against me and cut me up and I and my house will be wiped out.

31. And they said, But shall they use our sister as though a harlot?

COMMENT.

Hebraists will please explain how the name "Suchem" was changed to "Schechem" in C. V. and R. V. Notice variation of the thought in 3d verse. How did "Emmoor" become "Hamor"?

"Child" instead of "Damsel" in 4th verse R. V. "Emmoor" (meaning "a hasty person") "Suchem" (probably "good dispositioned.")

What is the great moral lesson of the simple narrative contained in this chapter? For this event was accounted so important from the divine side of the question as to involve the future destinies not only of the individual participants, but their natural descendants to the ultimate generation. Jakoob reflects the divine disapproval and condemnation of the act and the principal instigators of it Sumeoon and Leui in his prophetic horoscope of their future given in what is commonly known as "Jacob's blessing of his twelve sons." Gen. xlix.

What then was the moral significance of this act of Jakoob's two oldest sons? Why did they not do right in avenging the pollution of their sister Deina? Were they not filling the letter of the divine law in such cases? The answer is twofold. Yes, they did carry out the letter of the law; but they did it in a lying and treacherous way. They deceived their opponents into fancied security and physically disabled them under a specious plea of atonement accepted under an agreement, contract or covenant with the seal of solemn pledges and mutual concessions and then without any regard to their oaths and pledges ruthlessly slew every one of their pledged friends and allies and coolly appropriated their property and possessions to their own use. This last act by the way was a flagrant violation of even the letter of the law, which required the destruction of the property as well as the persons guilty of such acts. Jakoob knew that he himself even, though the act was without his knowledge and consent could not evade the resultant responsibility, and the reader who will follow the careers of Sumeoon and Leui in the sacred history will find that God required "a sevenfold repayment" for this "breach of faith" on their part.

This then is the great lesson for us and this generation: Keep faith with one another in all the relations of life. For we are even saved in faith. What is the gospel but the heraldic proclamation that God has redeemed his "promise confirmed with an oath" and an ensealed covenant through the long-promised mediatorial Christ, and has saved the lost human race; and that too though the whole race was faithless to its covenant promises and pledges except this one "Son of Man" whose faith and faithfulness the Great Party of the First Part accounted sufficient to supply the universal lack? Read the arraignment of our latter day apostasy in Peter and Paul and John and see the emphasis placed upon breach of faith and betrayal of trust in all these oracular teachings, and then ask yourselves whether or not the actual occurrences as recorded in the Press of the day do not fully confirm the prophetic horoscope and lead us to be looking for "the Great Day of the Lord" of which this state of things was to be the precursor.

CHAS. GARDNER.

The Gospel Recovered. No. 37.

DRAWBACKS AND HINDRANCES.

"That they all may be one.....that the world may believe that thou hast sent me."

[A fraternal gathering of Christadelphians, a section of brethren apart from the original body so named, took place at Birmingham, England, in May, 1901. Fully 2000 persons assembled in the town hall there to hear addresses on the Bible, on Immortality, and on Prophecy. A meeting numbering 200 was previously held, but the particulars are not yet known to the writer of this. The fact of such a gathering from many places, irrespective of the old organisation seems to indicate a degree of independent thought and action altogether foreign to the anticipations of the old leaders of the Christadelphian movement.]

In recent articles the subject of the Nature of Christ was treated of as a fruitful source of divisions, and that even among Christadelphians themselves. How in this "History repeated itself" was also illustrated.

A supplement to article 34 is desirable. Pope Pius IX. issued a decree at Rome in a numerous Council of Bishops on 8th Dec., 1854 declaring the Immaculate Conception of the Virgin Mary to be an article of Catholic belief.

Doubtless the attentive reader will have noted the tendency of those various controversies to prove "Drawbacks and Hindrances" to the gospel. So far as the so-called orthodox are concerned there is an absolute failure to recognize the apostolic confession that "Jesus is the Christ" and its relation to the "gospel of the kingdom." This was in their case altogether ignored, and its place occupied with various conflicting theories regarding the nature of our Lord's Person, and his place in the Trinity so-called. An exception may be so far made to this in the case of Edward Irving and his adherents who held the doctrine of the kingdom and in some true sense the Messiahship. The undue importance he attached to the subject was certainly fitted to impair his influence as an advocate of millenarianism. The Christadelphians again, by elevating the question concerning the nature of Christ to the faith that justifies, and by their discussions leading to disunion, could not fail to have a disastrous effect on the gospel so far as outsiders were concerned.

Another cause of division was the teaching of Dr. Thomas concerning the mortal resurrection of the saints. This has already been briefly noticed in connection with a fruitless proposal for union in Scotland in 1873. Division is still maintained on this ground by Christadelphians. To illustrate this position and to furnish information on the subject, especially to a new generation of readers, it seems desirable to give some extracts from the literature which was contributed to the discussion. This literature was considerable as will be seen anon.

So far as known to the writer of this, the mortal resurrection was first broached in the Herald of the Kingdom, Vol. VII. 1856. In a long article of 20 columns, entitled "Did Jesus teach the Mosaic Doctrine of Immortality," the following occurs:—"The resurrected disciples of Jesus, with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and all the prophets and faithful under the Lord, will stand before that tribunal bodily, that 'in body they may receive for the good or evil that they have done.' See text quoted from Cor. v. 10, and leave out the Italic words, which are not in the original .....Resurrected disciples are bodies and souls, or living bodies, as Jesus was when he came out of the sepulchre, and was mistaken by the gardener .....Resurrection, or the act of coming out of the ground does not make them spirit-bodies, or immortal; it only restores them to the 'as you were' before they died." p. 124. See also p. 126.

At an aggregate meeting of brethren held at Glasgow in July, 1858, G. Dowie read a paper on divisions. In the course of his remarks he said, "Whilst admitting that Dr. Thomas was a man to whom the brethren were largely indebted, he considered it his duty in that assembly, to raise a voice of warning to the brethren against the reception of the doctrine "that the resurrection of the dead saints is to be a reliving of their natural life; so that what is sown to the natural body is also raised a natural body —as taught by John Thomas." Messenger of the Churches. Aug., 1863.

In the October number of the Messenger, a correspondent (Andrew Tait) quoting G. Dowie's statement, says, "As the above is given to the Messenger as a quotation from the writings of John Thomas, perhaps G. Dowie will favor them by kindly inserting in October copy of the Messenger, from what book and page of the writings of John Thomas the above is quoted, as I have never seen or heard of such in any of his writings or conversations".....Reply by G. Dowie:—"The quotation referred to in the foregoing communication is not given as an extract from the writings of John Thomas, but as an extract from the paper I read at the meeting in Glasgow.....But although the sentence may not be found verbatim in any of the works of Dr. Thomas, it appears to me to be a correct enough statement of the doctrine which he has taught in 'Eureka Vol. I.'—as the following extract may show. It was upon the strength of these, and their repetition and development in conversation, that I offered such a sentence in warning to the brethren. If the passages herewith quoted do not bear the above idea as their obvious meaning, I presume the editors of the Messenger will afford a reasonable opportunity for explanation by any one who is better posted up in the niceties of the language of the author referred to."

"In commending life at this epoch, this renewed man (the 'true believer' of the context) is said to be 'waked as a man that is waked out of sleep.' At this waking he is as Adam was before he fell; because having been pardoned, or justified from all sin by an obedient faith, perfect in kind and degree, in his former lifetime, and after that "worthy of God," to the end thereof, in the resurrection he is awakened as a man without sin. Being thus renewed he is still in the image of the earthly Adam, but before he fell. But he is not always to continue in this image.....The dead saints being awakened to renewed bodily existence, they are prepared for bodily change. "This corruptible must put on incorruptibility, and this mortal immortality,' but at what precise moment or point of time, after being brought out of their graves the saints shall be immortalized does not appear to be explicitly revealed.....Several years may intervene after the awaking from death to the epoch of change in the twinkling of an eye."—pp. 63, 64.

"From the fact that all the raised are not 'quickened,' and yet are living in post-resurrectional contempt, it follows that the quickening is an operation superadded to the formation of living bodies from the dust of the ground. It is the making alive of saints with life eternal." p. 111. "Jesus was the great example of all things pertaining to his brethren the saints. When their bodies come out of their graves, they come forth as Adam or Jesus. Had Adam the first (who was the figure of Jesus) shone forth in glory, it would have been when he should have been permitted to eat of the tree of life. All the time between his creation and such eating would have been ordinary human existence. It was so with Jesus, and will be so with the saints. Between their resurrection and glorification is the resurrection state, styled 'in the resurrection,' a period of forty years preceding millennium, in which some important events of the apocalypse are to be transacted." p. 187.

From these quotations it appears that however A. Tait may be disposed to establish a distinction between a born natural body, and a resurrected natural body, such as that of Lazarus of Bethany, as if it could not be natural because it had once been dead, this distinction does not appear to be recognized by John Thomas; for the condition of the saints when resurrected he says is to be 'in the image of the earthly Adam, but before he fell.' This however is styled 'ordinary human existence.' It should be distinctly noted that 'the first man Adam was made a living soul,' (the term 'living soul' is said by Dr. Thomas to be identical with that of 'natural body;' we have borne this image, and presently do bear it. Now I have not represented Dr. Thomas as teaching that the saints shall be raised with the stain of sin upon them—but 'that the resurrection of the dead saints is to be a revival of their natural life; so that what is sown a natural body, is also raised a natural body."

"I found myself justified in using such particular phraseology in representing Dr. Thomas's ideas on the subject in question because of a simple occurrence while he was in this country; one sister accosted him with this question—'What is this new doctrine about the mortal resurrection, to which he promptly replied—Not the mortal, but the natural resurrection.' Surely if I take his own words thus concisely and pointedly given, along with the meaning most obvious to me in his writings, I cannot be said (at least wilfully) to misrepresent his ideas."

I have concluded that Paul only recognizes two conditions of the saints—the natural and the spiritual, or the mortal and the immortal. If there is a third, an intermediate one, let us see Scripture testimony regarding it as plain and satisfactory as these two, and I shall be satisfied, and shall hold it, and teach it."

J. CAMERON.

(To be continued.)

About the Dead Sea.

In the middle ages, and when men made wonderful pilgrimages to the Holy Land, it used to be a story that fowls were never seen on the waters of the Dead Sea, and, indeed, that birds could not fly over it alive.

"The name of the Dead Sea is derived from this circumstance—that it does not sustain any kind of living thing, for there are neither fish in its depths nor water fowl resounding upon it."—(Beda Venerabilis, "In Locis Lanetis." Ch. xi.)

Again:—

"The Lake, destitute for nourishing or sustaining fishes, as well as fowl accustomed to frequent waters, even by its pestilential air kills birds that may happen to be flying about it."—(Zuallart, "L Tres Derot Voyage de Jerusalem." Liv. iv. p. 16.)

And again:—

"I have never found any living animal in the water, though many fish brought down by the Jordan current, lie salted along the shores."—(Lieut. Conder, "Tent Work," 2. 20.)

EUGENE B. WILLARD.

Are You a Stranger?

"Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul." I Pet. ii. 11.

If you are "fellow-citizens with the saints and of the household of God," you have ceased to be "aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise." Now if it be the case that you have ceased to be "foreigners" to the "commonwealth" (or body politic) of Israel, you are "pilgrims and strangers" to everything else. Remember that even our father Abraham, "sojourned in the land of promise as a strange country." A "strange country" is a foreign country, a country in which we are not citizens, but sojourn as aliens. If the grand old fathers to whom the covenants of promise were made, confessed that they were pilgrims and strangers on the earth, what is our position?

"They that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country." Now if we "declare plainly," or in other words, make it openly manifest that we seek a country, will it not be evidence to those whom we declare plainly that we seek a country, that we are but pilgrims and strangers in the one in which we sojourn?

The above was evidently the view of the Apostle Peter who was anxious that while they did sojourn among the Gentiles, they should preserve a godly deportment. "Dearly beloved, I beseech you as pilgrims and strangers, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul; having your conversation honest among the Gentiles."

The phrase "pilgrims and strangers," would be very inappropriate to apply to citizens who are at home in the country in which they live. Such have ceased to "seek a country."

Peter's epistle is addressed "to the strangers scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Capadocia, Asia, and Bithynia."

Dear reader, are you a "stranger and pilgrim on the earth?" If so, like all the other dear pilgrims, you desire a better country, that is an heavenly. The desire for a better country, shows you are not satisfied with the one you sojourn in. Like faithful Abraham you simply sojourn as in a strange country, until the happy time arrives when the kingdom will be restored again to Israel. Then all who are not aliens from the commonwealth will take possession of it as "the royal priesthood." For "the kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heavens, shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High."

He who was "born King of the Jews," while on earth dwelt not as an inheritor but as a "pilgrim and stranger." "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of Man hath not where to lay his head." They who should have joyfully received him, said: "This is the heir; come, let us kill him, and let us seize on his inheritance."

Dear brethren seeing that we are "pilgrims and strangers," "let us abstain from fleshly lusts," "that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind, having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them."

But rather let us say, as King David said: "We are strangers before thee, and sojourners, as were all of our fathers."

Oh dear brethren, let us be devoutly thankful that we are not "aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, nor strangers from the covenants of promise," for all that are, are without God, hope, or Christ.—W. H. Wilson.

Lines of human beauty grow from within outward.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME L. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, NOVEMBER 20, 1901. NUMBER 43.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint heirs with him in the government of the nations, the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Office Editor.

Editorial Committee.
J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, Special Contributor.

Plymouth, Indiana, Nov. 20, 1901.

Reader, a great opportunity will only make you ridiculous, unless you are prepared for it.

Just as we go to press the delayed report of the Illinois Conference just came to hand, and will be given next week.

Tired ones,—reach out the arm of faith as far as you can, and he who pitieth like a father will reach down all the rest of the way.

Dispatches as late as Nov. 18, from Rome, indicate that the Pope is quite low, and his death at any time may not be a surprise. Similar reports to this have been given out so many times, and yet he lives, that we only give this as a current item. Only a very little is known of what goes on inside the Vatican.

The Dowager Empress of China has instructed Prince Ching to sign the agreement over Manchuria. Since the death of Li hung Chang the Empress has been between the Southern Viceroys and Japan on one side and Russia on the other. It is not yet known who will be favored by this action, but it is safe to say it will be Russia, else the treaty would not be signed just yet.

Lord Pauncefote, British Ambassador, and John Hay, the Secretary of State of the United States, on Nov. 18 signed the new treaty for the construction of the Nicaragua Canal. The text of the treaty is not given, as it must remain a secret till the Senate acts on it; yet it is known that this new compact gives the United States authority to build the canal, to fortify it as desired, and provides that this country alone shall guarantee its complete neutrality as between other warring nations.

The Indiana Conference was held at this place, as per announcement. The Secretary will have a report for next week so all interested may know what was done. One lady made the good confession was immersed by Brother Zilmer, and Sister Perry Smith is now introduced to the Household of Faith. Brother Smith with his wife also unites with our organization. We can add nothing better than to say Amen to the words of Brothers Zilmer and Tuttle spoken at the time of baptism. Be faithful, and a crown is yours.

"Watching for a Chance to Desert."

The paper on which the following article was printed has turned quite yellow from age, but we have kept it by us, thinking it might be well to reprint it some day with comments. A painful letter from a sister in another State shows that many of those who profess to come into covenant relationship with God think and act very much as if the Churches of God differ but little from a social club that can be united with or withdrawn from as it may please them. In our judgment few, if any, of those who watch for an excuse to desert ever knew the blessedness of those whose iniquities are pardoned, and whose sins are covered. At most they have only intellectually assented to the truth of God,—and mechanically rendered obedience to it—did not realize that it is "with the heart man believeth unto righteousness;" did not experience the transforming power of the truth;—did not become new creatures in Christ Jesus. Of course they would feel quite out of their element in a godly community as soon as the novelty of the formal transaction wore off, and the restraint of the law of Christ was felt. As Jesus says, "If ye love me, keep my commandments," that is, as evidence of your love. The commandments of Jesus cannot be kept by those whose faith does not work by love. Only love can make the yoke of Christ easy and his burden light. But to the article referred to, it says:—"A little paragraph caught my eye the other day; it said that it seemed as if some professors were always watching a chance to desert," and that "whether out or in the church they were not of much account." The writer continues:

"How painfully true are these words! One deserts because of some difference of opinion between himself as to the honesty of some other poor mortal; another because he loves the companionship of the gay tippling crowd; and still another forsakes the House of God because he wants a decent burial. It presses upon my heart like the weight of a fearful nightmare, the thought of these. They seem to feel that it is only men that they are deserting; that no vows are broken,—nothing lost to themselves, no injury done to the blessed cause of the Master by their actions."

[While we sympathize with this writer, in her pious solicitude for the cause of God and truth, we certainly think with the writer of the first statement, that "whether out or in the church, they were not of much account." Indeed we could make it a little stronger than that, even. If they are always watching for a chance to desert,—they are deserters already. They want to get out because they are not of that community. And in that state of mind they do far more harm to the cause of truth than they would if they withdrew. Their withdrawal would imply that there was nothing in common between them and the body they left.] Our writer goes on to say:—"It presses upon my heart like the weight of a fearful nightmare; they seem to feel that it is only men that they are deserting, that no vows are broken, nothing lost to themselves, no injury done to the blessed cause of the Master by their actions. But how the cause suffers! How the Master weeps! How the hearts of the faithful sink within them as they view the ruin wrought!"

[Again we sympathize with the distressed commentator to some extent. But if she has drawn a correct picture of these watchers for an opportunity to desert, and who act and feel as if "no vows are broken, and nothing lost to themselves, and no injury done to the blessed cause of the Master by their actions," to us it is pretty good evidence that either through moral obtuseness, or selfish motives, or want of information, no vows or covenants were made by sacrifice; they where they had no right to be. The room of such in the house of God would be much better than their company. If this supposition be near correct, what about the church which tolerates such characters in it? The Master says: "By their fruits shall ye know them;" and we are greatly mistaken if it was not the duty of the church to do something for the honor of God before matters reached the condition described. Heart-sinking on the part of the faithful does not fill the bill! Those who are interested in this subject surely know that the Church is commanded to purge out those who teach traditions of men for doctrine, and those who live immoral or disorderly lives. Experience teaches us that those who once from the heart obeyed and gave evidence that they had been with Jesus and learned of him,—but who for want of watchfulness and prayer, and meditation upon the Scriptures of truth, and neglecting the privileges of God's house, let things they had heard leak out; no, they do not watch for a chance to desert; they in their sober moments locate themselves, so to speak, and keep as clear of those likely to deal faithfully with them as possible. But when brought face to face with those whom they have once sat together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus, they realize from whence shed bitter tears of regret that they have through the deceitfulness of sin turned away from the holy commandment, and by wicked works denied the Lord that bought them; yet, in spite of this occasional consciousness, they have not the power of will to break the chains that enslave them. Here is a field of labor for the faithful, possibly they may hide a multitude of sins,—add lustre to the

CREPT IN UNAWARES,

THE TRUTH OF GOD,

THEY HAVE FALLEN,—

MASTER'S CROWN,

and secure crowns of rejoicing for themselves in the day of the Lord.]

Faith and Hope.

Is your faith built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ being the chief corner stone; (Eph. ii. 19, 20) or is it built upon the teachings of apostate Christendom? 2 Thes. ii. 7-12. It is popularly taught that if we simply believe that Jesus Christ died for us, and lead good lives, that our "immortal soul" will go beyond the bounds of time and space. But is this so? Is this teaching according to the law and the testimony? Are we taught according to the oracles of God? 1. Pet. iv. 2.

Paul said concerning the preachers of any other gospel than what he had preached, "Let him be accursed, or cut off." Gal. i. 8, 9. Let us then see what constituted the gospel preached by the Apostles and Jesus Christ, and then it will rest with you, whether you can remain amongst those who preach another gospel. Now it is a fact that the idea that you have a never dying soul is a pagan fiction. It is also a fact that although the word soul occurs over 700 times in the Bible, never once is it said to be immortal,—thus showing that popular theology is wrong. Immortality is something to be sought for, and to be put on at the resurrection of the dead, Luke xiv. 14; Acts xxvi. 6-8; Rom. ii. 7, 16; xv. 4. It is a matter of hope. 1 Thes. iv. 13-16; Rom. xv. 13; 1 Cor. vi. 14; xv. 12-23; Jno. vi. 39, 40-44. What then is the gospel? Paul says, Rom. i. 16, that "the gospel is the power of God unto salvation;" and as there is only ONE faith, ONE God, ONE hope. Eph. iv. 4-6, it is very important to know what the gospel is. If you read Luke ix. 2, 6, you will find that it is the news concerning the kingdom of God that constitutes the gospel.

It cannot be the death and resurrection of Christ merely, for we find that although the apostles previous to the crucifixion preached the gospel, they knew not of his death and resurrection, and therefore they could not have preached it. Luke xviii. 31-34. Paul said the gospel was preached to Abraham. Gal. iii. 8. If you turn to Gen. xiii. 14-17 you will find that God promised Abraham the land upon which he stood, for ever. Isaac and Jacob had the same hope. Gen. xxvi. 3, 4; xxviii. 13, 14. It is a fact that they have never yet realized the fulfilment of the promises. Heb. xi. 8, 9, 13, 39, 40. All the prophets had the same hope and faith. Read Ezek. xxxvi. 24; xxxvii. 21, 22 when they divide the land to inherit it, and also Dan. ii. 44, and vii. 13, 14, 18, 27. Joel too saw that the kingdom of God would be on this planet, see chap. iii. 1, 2, 16, 17; also Zech. vi. 12, 13; viii. 23; xiv. 9, 16; and Matt. v. 5 and Lu. xxii. 29, 30; Matt. xix. 27, 29,—all this and a vast deal more go to make up the gospel. And it is a plainly revealed fact that Christ will come to earth, raise and glorify his saints and reign on earth with them till all things spoken of by the prophets have been restored. Considering, then that there is not one passage in the Bible that says we have immortal souls, or that heaven is to be the abode of the righteous, we trust all will see the necessity of believing what the Samaritans did, Acts viii. 12, and then put on the Lord Jesus by baptism, if they want a good hope by God's favor.

Communicated.

The Promise to Abraham.

The subject of the fourth chapter of the Roman Epistle is the faith of Abraham, and it is repeatedly said, that "Abraham believed God."

Belief or faith is defined in the Scriptures to be "the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." Heb. xi. 1. (Rotherham's more precise rendering is, "But faith is, of things hoped for, a conviction, OF FACTS) conviction, when they are not seen." Thus it is seen that "faith" has to do with "things" and "facts;" but these are to faith or to the believer not a present possession or enjoyment, they are "hoped for," because "not seen" as yet. Such was also "the faith of Abraham." And let it be noted here that Abraham did not simply "believe in God,"—that a God is—though this feature entered into his faith; but he "believed God," which means that he believed what God had said or proposed to him. It is recorded that "he staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief, but was strong in faith giving glory to God, and being fully persuaded that, what God had promised, he was able also to perform." Rom. iv. 20, 21. Here we have:

1. A "promise." 2. God the Promiser. 3. Abraham "fully persuaded that the promise would be performed." 4. By reference to v. 18 we see that "against hope (or human probability) he believed in hope;" from which it is evident that the "things" promised were not only desirable to Abraham ("desire" being the first element of hope) but he also expected to realize the promised blessing or good. It was this faith that was counted to Abraham for righteousness. Rom. iv, 3, 9, 22. But this was not written for his sake alone "that it was imputed to him for righteousness; but for us also, to whom it shall be imputed, if we believe on him that raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead." 23, 24. So we see that this matter was of interest not only to Abraham, but should interest us as well, as our salvation depends on a proper understanding and appreciation of its meaning.

What is "the promise," of the "things" which "faith is assured of and hopes for?" It runs like a golden thread through the entire Scripture. All the prophets from Moses mention it frequently, and it is taken up in the New Testament writings as a subject of the most profound interest and importance. Paul referred to it in his defence before king Agrippa. After alluding to "his manner of life from his youth up," he continues, "And now I stand and am judged for the hope of the promise made of God unto the fathers, unto which (promise) our twelve tribes instantly rendering divine service day and night hope to come, for which hope's sake, King Agrippa, I am accused of the Jews." Acts xxvi. 6, 7. The "fathers" here introduced were Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. "The promise" is the same "thing," referred to in Heb. 11 and Rom. 4, and of which faith is the conviction. So the Apostle also refers to this subject in Rom. xv. 8 when he says, "Now this I say, that Jesus Christ was a minister of the circumcision for the truth (or veracity) of God, to confirm the promises made unto the fathers." Evidently "the promises" were not fulfilled at the time of the appearing of Jesus Christ in the flesh, but this appearing was "a confirmation" of those promises, and in this way "the truth (fulness) of God" was established.

But what are the "things" promised? In Rom. iv. 13 the apostle makes this statement, "For the promise that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham or his seed through the law, but through the righteousness of faith." ("Heir of a world."—Rotherham). It would certainly be interesting to know what this "world" is of which Abraham was to "be the heir." But in passing let us notice the word "heir." An heir is "one who is entitled to possess."

Having proceeded thus far we are ready to consider what the inheritance is that was promised. "By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive as an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out not knowing whither he went. By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise." Heb. xi. 8, 9.

1. Abraham was "called to go out of his country and his father's house.

2. He was "called to go into A PLACE."

3. "He WENT" into that "place."

4. That place was "the land of promise."

5. He with "Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise sojourned in the land as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles."

6. All of which most clearly demonstrates their faith in God who had made the "promises."

Since these patriarchs "sojourned in the (very) land of promise" which they were "afterward to receive for an inheritance," let us make the further inquiry, What "land" or "country" was this? We turn to the address of Stephen at Jerusalem, Acts vii. 1-5. The divine injunction, cited by Stephen, had been, "Get thee out of thy country and from thy kindred, and come into the land I will show thee." v. 3. The sequel shows that Abraham came out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charan, and from thence, when his father was dead, he (God) removed him into this land, wherein ye now dwell.....He promised that he would give it to him for a possession and to his seed after him, when as yet he had no child." Thus it will be seen:

1. That the land into which God brought Abraham, was the land of which Jerusalem was the metropolis—Canaan. This locates it beyond a doubt.

2. That God "promised" that he would give IT" to Abraham and his seed; the very land into which God brought him, and in which he, as well as Isaac and Jacob "sojourned."

I have purposely cited only from the New Testament to show that this subject is not only mentioned by the apostles and others cotemporaneous with them, but by them deemed of the highest importance. Paul even went so far as to say that those "being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers of the promise, have no hope, and are without God in the world." Eph. ii. 11, 12. And yet in the face of all this there are many persons claiming to be Christians who have not the least interest in these things—things in which the prophets, the apostles, the early Church, and thousands of the most devout persons since then, have been all wrapt up, and in which they saw the realization of all their hopes. "All fulfilled," say these moderns. They have "NO HOPE," says Paul. But let us revert to the words of Stephen. According to him "this land" was none other than the land of Canaan, and when "God promised to Abraham that he would give it to him and his seed when as yet he had no child," he "believed God"—took him at his Word;—yes, he was "fully persuaded that, what God had promised, he was able also to perform," and this faith "was counted to him for righteousness."

We can not pass by the original promises made to Abraham; what we have cited so far were only references to it by different persons. "For all the land thou seest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed forever." Gen. xiii. 15. "I am the Lord that brought thee out of Ur of the Chaldees to give thee this land to inherit it." Gen. xv. 7. He even went so far as to say (Gen. xv. 18), "Unto thy (Abraham's) seed have I given this land," to which Paul refers in Rom. iv. 17, when he says that God "called those things that are not (but are to be) as though they were." At this time Abraham "had as yet no child," and God said, "To thy seed have I given."

In connection with this we will also consider the expression, "And to thy seed," so frequently used throughout Scripture. It is thought (quite audibly) by well-meaning persons that this promise to Abraham was fulfilled when the children of Israel took possession of the land of Canaan under Joshua, etc. But be it borne in mind,

1. That Abraham, as well as his seed, was promised everlasting possession of the land.

2. But the fact is that "Abraham, Isaac and Jacob dwelt in the land as in a strange country;" and

3. According to Heb. xi. 8, 9 he was "AFTERWARD to receive it as an inheritance," and not at the time the promise was made. He himself was to be one of the leading figures in this "possession;" but at the time of the children of Israel's going into Canaan he was dead, and hence possession of anything was then impossible.

Besides, the children of Israel living in the land were "under the law" given at Sinai, and it is expressly stated that "the promise was not to Abraham and his seed through the law, but through the righteousness of faith." Rom. iv. 13. It must be borne in mind further that the "promise" was 430 years before the law (Gal. iii. 17); and the latter "was added (to the promises later on) because of transgression, until the seed should come to whom the promises were made." But there are several things which the law, even if observed to its minutest detail, could not do:

1. It could not justify. Acts xiii. 39. This being true "the sins that are past" still stand upon the record and are charged against the persons; therefore

2. It could not give (everlasting) life as a requisite to "everlasting possession." Gal. iii. 21.

3. Those under the law did not have faith, and God gives the promise by faith of Jesus Christ "to them that believe." Gal. iii. 22. It is therefore perfectly plain that the "possession" of the land enjoyed by the children of Israel was not in fulfilment of the covenant to Abraham, as it was said, "To thee and to thy seed will I give the land of Canaan for an everlasting possession," but was temporary and based on their observance of the law; as long as they lived within the provisions of the latter they enjoyed the fruits of the land, as stated in the law, "That thou mayest live long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee." If they refused or rebelled they were visited with God's judgments; either the presumptuous individual was stoned to death and thus "cut off from the people," or the sinful nation met with national disaster by being consigned to temporary or permanent exile. The covenant entered into mutually and under which they lived in the land, was ante-dated by over 400 years by the promise made to Abraham; and when the law did come, it in no way effected the arrangement (of faith) previously established. The covenant at Horeb (or Sinai) was made with those who had reached that place "alive," and it was distinctly stated by Moses, "The Lord made not this covenant with our fathers (whether their immediate or more remote ancestors), but with us, even us, who are all of us here alive." Whatever the law did or did not do, it left entirely unfilled the promise God had made to Abraham as to "everlasting possession of the land of Canaan;" and therefore, when the children of Israel "possessed it but a little while," this in no way invalidated "the promise made of God unto the fathers."

A. H. Zilmer.

(To be continued.)

There is Only One Hope.

In answer to a communication from Sister Zug, I will say, you have misunderstood the intent of my language. I believe the teaching of Advent Universalists is unscriptural. They preach what they call a "larger hope." This is a comparative phrase, which is put in contrast with a lesser hope. The Bible knows only one hope, and there is no other hope, either greater or smaller. The one hope is begotten by the one faith; and this one faith bridges the chasm between mortality and immortality, and hope in glad anticipation lays hold upon and longs to realize that which it so joyously anticipates. There cannot be any larger hope than the gospel hope.

All sorts of gospel nullifiers have appeared in these last days. Men have appeared in Chicago, who not only preach a larger hope than the gospel, but also insist that there are two gospels. It would be better to leave these gospel tinkers alone, they are dangerous people.

W. H. Wilson.

Dear Brother Underwood:

I would say to the brethren and readers of The Restitution that Bro. Austin has just closed a two weeks meeting with friends here (Fonthill, Ont.) with some good results. One person was baptized and some others almost persuaded, and we think some prejudice on the part of those outside removed. We would have liked to have had the meetings continue longer but circumstances on his part seemed to be otherwise. We will be glad to have him visit us again in the convenient future. We think Bro. Austin a man qualified for the position which he occupies. May much increase attend his labors. The little church here have been much benefited by his labors amongst us. May we ever heed the blessed Savior's command to watch and pray always that we may be counted worthy to escape those things that are coming on the earth and be accounted worthy to appear before him at his coming and not be ashamed. And to hear him say, "Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." How bright the vision. O how long shall this bright hour delay, fly swift around ye wheels of time and bring the welcome day, when God's own hand shall wipe the tears away, and the redeemed will come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads, and sorrow and mourning will flee away. May the time soon come.

P. H. Bouk.

To the person who sent money for a new subscriber in Oklahoma, and sent letter from Arkansas City, Kan., and forgot to sign any name to it, we wish to say we cannot supply the paper of 1900 that you ask for.

In our issue for Nov. 13, on the second page, in the item at the bottom of the first column, the name of the sister who was immersed is given as "Sister E." Accidently the name "Baker" was omitted. The full name is "Sister E. Baker."

A Serious Loss.

We have met with quite a serious loss. Some weeks ago we sent out several hundred letters to persons who were owing us various sums of money. Who will help us find these letters that have been no doubt laid away and forgotten? If you did not get one, and you have not sent your renewal, don't wait for the letter to come, but send now and save us the expense of writing to you. It is a task we dislike very much anyway, and we will be rejoiced if no occasion existed for doing so. Brethren, this is a serious matter indeed. We can not meet our obligations unless you do yours. Think of this carefully and calmly, and act as your conscience and Christianity dictate. If each will do this we will have several hundreds of dollars within a weeks time. Will you help to make good our loss?

The Spirit and the bride say Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely.

Poetry.

The Promise.

"In Abraham and thy seed shall all the nations be blessed."

Tune America.

Thy kingdom, 'tis for thee
We wait and hope to see,
Soon may it come;
When earth from sin made free,
Sweet land of liberty,
Where peace shall reign
O'er its wide domain.

Jerusalem has been
Long trodden down by sin,
And wicked rule;
Gentiles thy land have trod,
Who never knew our God,
And still it lies,
All precious in thy sight.

Thy people long have been,
Yes, long without a home,
In a strange land;
Though through afflictions deep,
They have been made to weep,
And cry, How long,
O Lord, how long?

Thy promise, Lord, fulfill,
Bring them to Zion's hill,
To their own land:
Plant them upon its soil,
Thy purpose none can foil,
For thus hast said,
And it shall stand.

Thy face no longer hide,
End persecution's tide,
Oh, may it cease,
May they their King receive,
May they his Word believe,
And in him may they all be blessed.

Their land to them restore,
The curse be felt no more;
Oh, bring them home.
Land where our Savior died,
Where he was crucified,
And where he rose, and where he'll reign.

His blessings are for all,
Who hear the gospel call,
And come to him;
Gentiles this grace receive,
If in him they believe,
And yield submission
To his will.

S. F. Morgan.

Communicated.

Depart and be With Christ.

"I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart and be with Christ." Phil. i. 23. In examining this passage, it should be handled in a plain and common sense way; a forced construction of language which will place the text out of harmony with the context, and the general teaching of the writer of the epistle, must be avoided, if we desire to arrive at the real true sense of the passage. Much depends upon arriving at the true sense of the word "depart," which will be examined later on.

The common idea is, that it relates to death. Let us look at it briefly, with that thought in mind; but in doing so, we must carefully exclude the reading into the text thoughts that the language and the writer never used.

Now, I would ask, if the word "depart," as used in this Scripture signifies death, is there anything either in the text, context, or the entire epistle, which would warrant the conclusion that presence with the Lord would immediately result upon the event of death? The issue must be made upon the interval which elapses between death and the presence with the Lord. As far as our senses are concerned, that which we have known in life as the personality, still remains with us, we perceive of no departure of the individual. It is carefully laid away in the bosom of mother earth. We know of a fact, that he has not gone to be with the Lord.

We are told it is not the man, but that an immortal soul resides within the personality, which immediately departs to be with the Lord in the event of death. I would ask, what evidence have we of this? If there is no evidence, it should be ruled out of the investigation, it legitimately has no place there. I submit that this assumption is not in the text, context, the epistle, or in any writings of the author of the epistle. An unproved assumption counts for nothing.

All that we know of a personality is that which we have seen buried from our sight, and if it is ever to be with the Lord, it must emerge from the grave a living personality. What was Paul looking for? We know that he has nothing to say about immortal souls. If there is nothing of that kind, he must of necessity look for the revival again of that which was buried from sight, if either he, or any one else expects to be present with the Lord.

Let us examine some of his sayings we find in the epistle under consideration, and see if we can determine from his own language whether he expected a re-living again of that which was buried, or the flight of an immortal soul to the skies.

After giving an account of his sufferings and loss he sustained on account of his preaching, he said he had endured all this for a purpose, and that purpose is stated in chap. iii. 10, 11: "That I may know him and the power of his resurrection * * * If by any means I might attain unto the RESURRECTION OF THE DEAD." We here see that he suffered the loss of everything, "if by any means" he might attain something which he greatly desired, and that was not the flight of an immortal soul to the skies, but "the resurrection of the dead." His thoughts did not center in an immortal soul, but in the rising again of the dead body, and in a "change" which should be wrought in that "body" at a specific time, even the coming of the Lord, and not at death. See verses 20 and 21: "For our conversation is in heaven; from whence we also look for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body (the body of our humiliation) that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body." The great anxiety of his life was all centered in the thought, "if by any means I might attain unto the resurrection of the dead," and also a glorious "change" of his "body" at the second coming of Jesus, and not in an immortal soul going to Jesus at death, about which thing he is perfectly silent.

In 1 Thes. iv. 15-17, he gives a glorious description of the second coming of Jesus, and the resurrection of the dead, and he concludes with these words: "So shall we EVER BE WITH THE LORD." He never in any place speaks of any one being "with the Lord," prior to that time. That being the case, he had no expectation of being with the Lord, immediately at death.

In 1 Cor. xv. 18, he stakes all future life, upon the resurrection of the dead. If Christ and the dead rise not, "then they also which are fallen asleep ARE PERISHED." How could the non-resurrection of the body cause its immortal soul to perish?

He said he had a "desire to depart and be with Christ; which is far better." "Far better" than what? Why "far better" than either LIFE or DEATH. That is, "to depart" was something "far better," than either to live or die. If he meant death, by the word "depart" in this instance, what sense would there be in saying that "to depart" was "far better" than either to live or die? Furthermore if he could have a choice between life and death, he says: "What I shall choose I wot not," I know not, I have no choice, but I have a desire "to depart," which is far better than either.

Let me quote the Diaglott, from verses 21 to 26, and light will begin to shine: "For me to live is FOR Christ, and to die gain (to Christ). But if to live in the flesh, this is to me a fruit of labor; and what I should choose I DO NOT EXACTLY KNOW. I am hard pressed by the TWO THINGS. I have an EARNEST DESIRE for the RETURNING and being with Christ, since it was very much to be preferred." He had no choice between life and death, but he had a decided choice for "the returning and being with Christ."

How comes it that we have the word "returning" in place of the word "depart?" The word depart is from the Greek word analusai. Parkhurst says: "It signifies in the New Testament to either return or depart." The word which should be used, is the one which will harmonize with and makes sense of the context. To use the word depart for death, in this passage, makes nonsense with the context, as Paul says, with regard to life and death, that he had no choice, but as to the third matter, he had a decided choice. In Luke xii. 36 we have a sample of this word analusai being translated "return." "Be like unto men who wait for the Lord when he will return from the wedding." Besides Paul's intense desire for the "returning and being with Christ," and also his anxiety that by "any means," he "might attain unto the resurrection of the dead," and also his looking for the Savior to return from heaven, that the body of his humiliation may be changed and fashioned like unto his glorious body; he had also an anxiety to exalt Christ whether by life or death. See Phil. i. 20: "According to my earnest expectation and my hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all boldness, as also so now also Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death." In either condition the great thought was to magnify Christ. What a lesson that is for us to humble self, and by all means magnify Christ. If that is done, in the "sweet by and by," it will be his pleasure to magnify those who in life magnified him.

He furthermore says: "Only let your conversation be as becometh the gospel of Christ, that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, and that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind, striving together for the faith of the gospel."

It should be even so with those who have a desire for the returning and being with Christ, their "conversation" should ever be such "as becometh the gospel of Christ," and should "strive together for the faith of the gospel." All unholy strife should be set aside, and strive together as a unit "for the faith of the gospel."

If people were properly instructed in "the faith of the gospel," they would not be using the text at the head of this article on funeral occasions to show that the departed, or deceased one's immortal soul has departed, and gone to be with Christ. The most charitable view we can take as to why they so erroneously instruct the people is that their eyes are blinded, and hence it is a case of the blind leading the blind.

If those who do know the joyful sound were united, and did "strive together for the faith of the gospel," many who do now wander in darkness, might see the light. There is a responsibility attaching to those who know what "the faith of the gospel" is. They will all be held accountable for the use of the talent they now possess, no matter whether such talent be either large or small. We are not held accountable for what we do not possess, but we shall have to give an account for our talent, even if we have but ONE. It would be well to give serious thought to this matter.

A misuse of the text we have been investigating, has been the means of obscuring light, and causing many people to wander in darkness. It would be well for young believers especially, to become familiar with a proper exposition of such texts, not only for their own good, but also for the good of others. Would it not be well for our young Berean societies to consider such passages, and become familiar with a correct Bible view of them?

You will observe, that in the case of the text under consideration, that our opponents have merely made a catch at the word "depart," and has then read into the text the supposition of an immortal soul, which supposition is not even hinted at. The practice of supposing things without evidence is not a proper way to gain an exact knowledge of the Word of truth. Jesus says, "Search the Scriptures," the Bereans were daily Scripture searchers. To search for something, signifies that you must hunt for it. If people would become Scripture hunters, they would be sure to find something they never saw before.

W. H. Wilson.

Moody on the Gospel.

Matthew wrote the best life of our Lord ever penned. He wrote to the Jews and gave them God's last message. He showed them how the Scriptures were fulfilled in Christ. His book is the bridge joining the Old and the New Testament. Matthew gave us the Sermon on the Mount, which is better than 10,000 human sermons. Matthew is the book of the nine beatitudes, seven woes, seven parables, ten miracles, and five continuous sermons.

Mark wrote his gospel for the Romans. He is believed to have been the amanuensis of Peter; he lived in Jerusalem, and may have been one of the fruits of Pentecost. Some believe that it was at his mother's house that the Savior ate his last Passover with the Disciples. Paul and Barnabas had a falling out because of Mark. Which was right? Moody thinks Barnabas was, although the general verdict is that Paul is right. Mark turned back at Pamphylia, and Paul was not disposed to give him another trial, but Barnabas insisted that he should go with them. So Barnabas and Paul separated, Paul took Silas and Barnabas took Mark. Fifteen years later we find Mark a missionary helping Peter, and three years later we find Paul himself sending for Mark, and not only that, but he wants his "beloved Mark." Learn a lesson: If a minister has made a mistake, don't cast him off, but try to restore him, give him another chance.

Moody says that in Mark's gospel we have the only account of Peter's terrible fall. John doesn't tell, but Peter, through Mark, tells it all out. He did not fall suddenly, but gradually. Mr. Moody says:

"The first step in Peter's downfall was his self-confidence. The Lord said: 'Simon, Simon, behold, Satan hath desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat; but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not.' Luke xxii. 31, 32. But Peter said 'I am ready to go with thee, both into prison and to death.' 'Though all shall be offended because of thee, yet will I never be offended.' Matt. xxvi. 33. 'James and John, and the others, may leave you; but you can count on me!' But the Lord warned him; 'I tell thee, Peter, the cock shall not crow this day before that thou shalt thrice deny that thou knowest me.' Luke xxii. 34. Though the Lord rebuked him, Peter said he was ready to follow him to death. That boasting is too often a forerunner of downfall. Let us walk humbly and softly. We have a great tempter; and, in an unguarded hour, we may stumble and fall and bring a scandal on Christ.

The next step in Peter's downfall was that he went to sleep. If Satan can rock the Church to sleep he does his work through God's own people. Instead of Peter watching one short hour in Gethsemane he fell asleep; and the Lord asked him: 'What, could ye not watch with me one hour?' Matt. xxvi. 40. The next thing was that he fought in the energy of the flesh. The Lord rebuked him again and said: 'They that take the sword shall perish with the sword.' Mat. xxvi. 52. Jesus had to undo what Peter had done. The next thing, he "followed afar off." Step by step he gets away. It is a sad thing when a child of God follows 'afar off.' When you see him associating with worldly friends and throwing his influence on the wrong side, he is following afar off; and it will not be long before disgrace will be brought upon the old family name, and Jesus Christ will be wounded in the house of his friend. The man, by his example, will cause others to stumble and fall.

The next thing—Peter is familiar and friendly with the enemies of Christ. A damsel says to this bold Peter: 'Thou also wast with the Jesus of Galilee.' But he denied before them all, saying, 'I know not what thou sayest.' And when he was gone out into the porch another maid saw him and said unto them that were there: 'This fellow was also with Jesus of Nazareth.' And again he denied as with oath: 'I do not know the man.' Another hour passed; and yet he did not realize his position; when another confidently affirmed that he was a Galilean, for his speech betrayed him. And he was angry and began to curse and to swear, and again denied his Master and the cock crew. Matt. xxvi. 69-74. He commences away up on the pinnacle of self-conceit, and goes down step by step until he breaks out into cursing, and swears that he never knew his Lord. The Master might have turned to him and said: 'Is it true Peter, that you have forgotten me so soon?' 'Do you not remember when your wife's mother lay sick of a fever that I rebuked the disease and it left her?' 'Do you not call to mind your astonishment at the draught of fishes so that you exclaimed, 'Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord?' 'Do you remember when in answer to your cry, 'Lord, save me, or I perish!' I stretched out my hand and kept you from drowning?' 'Have you forgotten, when on the Mount of Transfiguration with James and John you said to me, 'Lord it is good to be here; let us make three tabernacles?' 'Have you forgotten being with me at the supper table and in Gethsemane?' 'Is it true you have forgotten me so soon?' The Lord might have upbraided him with such questions as these; but he did nothing of the kind. He cast one look on Peter, and there was so much love in it that it broke that bold disciple's heart, and he went out and wept bitterly. And after Christ rose from the dead, see how tenderly he dealt with Peter. The angel at the sepulchre says: 'Tell his disciples and Peter.' Mark xvi. 7. The Lord did not forget Peter, though Peter denied him thrice, so he caused this special kindly message to be conveyed to the repentant Peter. Peter might have doubted whether he was included if only the disciples had been summoned, but a personal invitation is sent to him."

We now come to the gospel of Luke. Luke's name occurs only three times in the Bible. He is another of those men who cover themselves up. To him we are indebted for all we know about Paul. Luke wrote besides the gospel which bears his name, the Acts of the Apostles. We are indebted to him also for many things which the gospels do not give. About one-third of Luke's gospel is omitted from the others. Cannon Farrar calls attention to its characteristics: 1, It is a gospel of praise; 2, a gospel of thanksgiving; 3, a gospel of prayer; 4, a gospel of womanhood; 5, a gospel of the lost, and 6, a gospel of tolerance.

We now consider the gospel of John. John and Andrew heard John and follow Jesus. John, the beloved disciple, knew more of the heart of the Son of God than any other man. He wrote his gospel, he says, "that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and believing ye might have life through his name." The divinity of Christ is the rock on which the Jews split. A rabbi once said to Mr. Moody: "We believe in God, the Father, and you believe in God the Son; we are both right," but Moody did not believe that at all. The man who does not believe that Jesus is the Son of God cannot be right. "If Jesus be not divine," says Mr. Moody, "he is an imposter, because he claimed to be the Son of God. If Christ was not divine, then millions of his followers are idolaters." In John's gospel there are eight miracles; there are also eight "I ams" of the Savior, which give us our food, show us our way, and carry us right up to where our risen Lord is. Note the following: "I am the Bread of Life;" "I am the Light of the world," "Before Abraham was I am;" "I am the Door;" "I am the good Shepherd;" "I am the Resurrection and the Life;" "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life." O reader, remember these things until Jesus comes.

Eugene B. Willard.

We need a few hundred new subscribers. Now is a good time of year to get them, and we are asking our friends to make an effort in this line. We do not want you labor for nothing, and so make this offer as an inducement to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and what is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War, and an extensive traveler in Africa, has written a book of over 500 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price is put at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1902, making $4. 50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, giving them credit to the end of 1902, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help THE RESTITUTION by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

A boy is about to make a bow and arrow, so he takes a piece of hickory and bends it to and fro to try it. The piece of hickory is undergoing a test, a trial, a "temptation" as the word is often used in the New Testament. If the wood springs back after every bending, straight and crackless, it has endured its temptation and is fit for service. But if it breaks or remains crooked, it yields to temptation. Our temptations are provings; by them it is determined whether or not we are fit for service. In themselves they are not wrong, they are not enemies, but friends.

Any spiritual blessing is worth more than the most costly temporal good. A devout thought, a pious desire, a holy purpose, is better than a great estate or an earthly kingdom. In eternity it will amount to more to have given a cup of cold water with right motives to a humble servant of God, than to have been flattered by a whole generation.

God's presence and guiding care can be discerned in the events of every day

Selected.

Patient Endurance.

There is no greater strength ever manifested on earth than that of quiet endurance. I have known, and so have you, those on whom for years there has not risen a single unclouded day; those, too, who knew all the gladness of life, but for whom the sun was darkened long before it had climbed to its meridian heights; those whose bereavements have involved the loss of everything that seemed to make life precious; those who have been rendered permanently helplessly by chronic disease, and can never hope for a painless waking hour, or a night of restful sleep; those whose penury has been absolute and entire, with no prospect of relief. Among these have been the bravest, strongest souls that I have ever known; and it has seemed to me that no emergency of outward action, not even the foremost of the sacramental host in waging the great conflicts in behalf of the truth and the right has equalled theirs, which could endure without murmuring, and could render constant thanks to God for the heavenly manna which has fed them, for the living waters of which they have drunk deep draughts, for the hope, full of immortality, which has never for a moment forsaken them.

When a lecturer on electricity wants to show an example of a human body surcharged with his fire, he places a person on a stool with glass legs. The glass serves to insulate him from the earth, because it will not conduct the fire, the electric fluid; were it not for this, however much might be poured into his frame, it would be carried away by the earth; but when thus isolated from it, he retains all that enters him. You see no fire, you hear no fire; but you are told that it is pouring into him. Presently you are challenged to the proof, asked to come near and hold your hand close to his person; when you do so, a spark of fire shoots out toward you. If thou, then, wouldst have thy soul surcharged with the fire of God, so that those who come near thee shall feel some mysterious influence proceeding out from thee, thou must draw nigh to the source of that fire, to the throne of God and of the Lamb, and shut thyself out from the world—that cold world which so swiftly steals our fire away. Enter into thy closet and shut thy door, and there, isolated "before the throne," await the baptism; then the fire shall fill thee, and when thou comest forth holy power will attend thee, and thou shalt labor, not in thine own strength, but with demonstration of the Spirit and with power.—William Arthur.

"God commands us to acquaint ourselves with him that we may be at peace, and that good may come to us. He is ever so intent upon making himself known to us that he reasons and persuades, he entreats and implores, he wearies himself with spreading out his hand all the day in the attitude of a loving and compassionate father, inviting and alluring a reluctant child to his arms. In all the works of his hands,.....by every influence of his Spirit upon the hearts of men, he is declaring his creative power, his unsearchable wisdom, his everlasting love."

Let praying fathers and mothers never grow faint of heart. Let desponding churches, long unvisited by revival blessings, only close up their ranks more compactly about the mercy-seat, and besiege heaven with new importunity. For above the dark cloud of their discouragement is written, He that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened. Cuyler.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending THE RESTITUTION to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the donors request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

Mrs S J Whitten	50
Mrs E C Gilbert	1 50
W O Steffa	1 00
Mrs W Starkey	1 00
Mrs Mary Powers	.0
W E Thompson	50

Selected.

The Resurrection of Jesus.

One of the most specious modern attacks upon Christianity affirms that it does not matter whether the New Testament is a trustworthy statement of facts or not; its ethical and spiritual ideals are enough for us. We may gladly accept them, and yet remain skeptical, or at least agnostic, in regard to our Lord's birth of a Virgin and his resurrection from the dead.

There would be some weight to this statement if Christianity were simply a philosophical system of ethics. But it has no weight if the religion of the New Testament teaches the redemption of men from sin through the power of a Divine Person manifested in human history. If it purports to be this, its facts must stand the strictest scrutiny. To use a rude illustration: A stranger coming to one deeply involved in debt, may give him wise advice which instructs him how to meet his obligations. The stranger's various claims as to himself may be true or false without necessarily affecting the wisdom of his counsel. But if he asserts his ability to render effective personal assistance to the debtor, it becomes a matter of much importance whether he has the power to fulfil his promise. If, on taking the stranger's check for $10,000 to the bank the debtor finds it honored without hesitation, he has substantial grounds for believing in the financial power of his friend. The resurrection of Jesus is the evidence in the realm of fact of his relation to God and his power to help men. God honored the stupendous assertion of Christ that he was the "Son of God" and the "Resurrection and the Life" by raising him from the dead. Whether Christ is able to save those who trust in him is a matter of fact, not of philosophical theory. The truth of that statement is attested by the stupendous fact of the resurrection of Jesus. He is "declared to be the Son of God with power by the resurrection from the dead." We may accept Christianity as an ethical system and repudiate the resurrection of Jesus and other supernatural events; we cannot accept it as a system of human redemption through the help of Christ without giving full credence to them. Logically enough, those who have denied the facts of the gospel record have inevitable come to hold that Christianity offers good advice, but not redemption through a Divine power.

Belief as to the resurrection of our Lord may be justly termed the articles of a standing or a falling church. If Jesus rose from the dead, not only is it easy to accept the record of the supernatural in the New Testament, but to accept Christianity itself as the glad tidings of infinite mercy to men; if the record of the evangelists can be resolved into a hallucination of the disciples, or a myth, the faith of the New Testament may be readily classified with the ethnic religions.—The Watchman.

Special Hunters' Rates.

Beginning Nov. 9th, until Nov. 30th, the Nickel Plate Road will sell Hunters' tickets to parties of three or more traveling together to McComb or Payne, or stations between these points, to South Whitley or Willvale, or stations between these points, at one fare for the round trip. Return limit Dec. 2. Obtain detailed information from nearest agent of the Nickel Plate Road, or C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—nov 30

For Thanksgiving Day.

The Vandalia Line will sell November 27th and 28th, return limit November 29th, 1901, excursion tickets at reduced fares from all stations to points 150 miles from selling point on its own line, and also to many points on connecting lines. For full particulars call on nearest Vandalia Line Ticket Agent, or address E. A. Ford, Gen'l Pass'r Agent, St. Louis, Mo.—Nov. 28.

Excursion to Richmond via Pennsylvania Lines.

For the State Convention Y. M. C. A. of Indiana, excursion tickets to Richmond will be sold via Pennsylvania Lines November 21st to 23d, inclusive.—Nov. 28.

Thanksgiving Day Rates.

Lowest rates will be available via the Nickel Plate Road for all points within a radius of 150 miles. Tickets on sale Nov. 27th and 28th, return limit Nov. 29th. Apply at nearest ticket office of the Nickel Plate Road, or C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Nov. 27.

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1860. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 150-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address public ed may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Fike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clinkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, N S
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, [illegible]
W.L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wines, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Scircleville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kean, 4607, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. R. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas.
W. C. Steffa, Pomona, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
B. S. Dwiggins, Ontario Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. F. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Goin, Jefferson, Ore.
N. F. Cordill, 508 S Main st, South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 183, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Bicklin, Luther, Okla.
M I. Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Rusk Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La.
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal

Subscribe for THE RESTITUTION for 1902.

California-Oregon Excursions every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and on Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest time on the road. Finest scenery. Inquire of nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggener, at 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill.—dec28

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O.

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth, N. J.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 283 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00 By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

California Brethren,

I expect to go to Oleander, Fresno Co., Cal., some time in November, and will make my home there for a time. Any brethren desiring meetings in their vicinity please address me at Scholls, Ore., until Dec. 1. We should be faithful and work while we may for the Master is soon coming.

Yours awaiting his coming.
EDWIN E. GROAT.

Fast trains north on the Chicago & North-Western Railway leave Chicago daily for Milwaukee, Madison, Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Appleton, Escanaba, Ishpeming, Marquette Ashland, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth and all points in Wisconsin and the Copper Country. Quickest time. Through picturesque Wisconsin. Service unequaled. The best of everything. For tickets, rates and all information, apply to your nearest ticket agent, or write to A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill. Nov30.

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, bound in cloth and containing 115 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Red Cloud Sitting Bull and other noted chiefs; Custer's battleground and ten colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1600. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valuable contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 50 cents a copy, mailed postage paid upon receipt of this amount by W. B. Kniskern, 22 Fifth ave, Chicago Ill—dec14

Student's Thanksgiving Vacation.

Special tickets will be sold via the Nickel Plate Road to students of Colleges, Seminaries and Universities. For specific information apply at any ticket office of the Nickel Plate Road, or C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Nov. 27

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

EARLY LESSONS, suitable for young or old, 30 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,
General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,
General Immigration & Industrial Agent.
LOUISVILLE, Ky.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

A FREE PATTERN
Your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.
McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50 YEAR
A LADIES' MAGAZINE.
A great beautiful colored plates; latest fashions; dress making specialties; fancy work; household hints; fiction, etc. Send us 4c. for latest copy. Lady agents wanted. Send for terms.
Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.
McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ 15¢
All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Darting and Cutting Lines.
Only 10 and 15 cents each—none higher. Ask for them. Sold in nearly every city and town, or by mail from
THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St., NEW YORK.

VANDALIA TIME CARD

In effect June 2, 1901.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend.....8:25am
No. 14, " " " 12:01noon
No. 8, " " " 10:03pm
No 12, Sunday only 9:46am

GOING SOUTH.

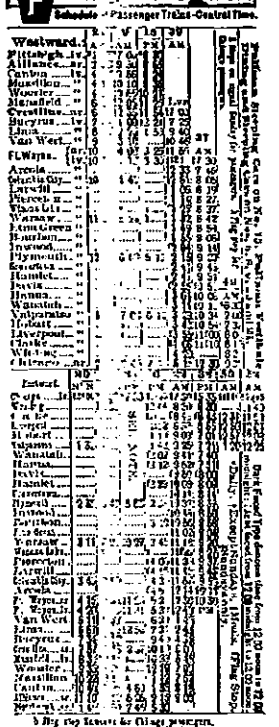
No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute.....6:45a m
No. 5, " " " " .....12:8 noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport,.....7:30pm
No 11, Sunday only 6:36pm

Trains 8 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections. Lake Maxinkuckee Sunday special train due Plymouth south bound at 9:14 a m. Returning leaves Maxinkuckee 5:45 p m.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo

Pennsylvania Lines. Philadelphia, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Div.
Schedule in Effect Dec. 2, 1900. Passenger Trains—Central Time.



Westward. No. 1 No. 3 No. 5 No. 39
Pittsburgh Ar. 2 30 7 00 10 30 4 30 PM
Alliance " 3 55 8 25 11 55 5 55
Canton " 4 40 9 10 12 40 6 40
Massillon " 4 58 9 28 12 58 6 58
Wooster " 5 28 9 58 1 28 7 28
Mansfield " 6 12 10 42 2 12 8 12
Crestline Ar. 6 55 11 25 2 55 8 55
Bucyrus Lv. 7 10 11 40 3 10 9 10
Leipsic " 7 53 12 23 3 53 9 53
Van Wert " 8 30 1 00 4 30 10 37
FLWayne Ar. 10 10 2 40 6 10 12 30
Arcola " 10 23 2 53 6 23 12 43
Garrett City " 10 46 3 16 6 46 1 06
Garrett " 11 00 3 30 7 00 1 20
Waterloo " 11 15 3 45 7 15 1 35
Kendallville " 11 30 4 00 7 30 1 50
Ligonier " 11 45 4 15 7 45 2 05
Wawaka " 11 55 4 25 7 55 2 15
Lima Green " 12 03 4 33 8 03 2 23
Burlington " 12 15 4 45 8 15 2 35
Ivanhoe " 12 25 4 55 8 25 2 45
Plymouth " 12 40 5 10 8 40 3 00
Hamlet " 12 50 5 20 8 50 3 10
Davis " 12 55 5 25 8 55 3 15
Hanna " 1 00 5 30 9 00 3 20
Wanatah " 1 10 5 40 9 10 3 30
Valparaiso " 1 30 6 00 9 30 3 50
Hobart " 1 40 6 10 9 40 4 00
LaPorte " 1 50 6 20 9 50 4 10
Hudson " 2 05 6 35 10 05 4 25
Chicago " 3 30 8 00 11 30 5 50

Eastward. No. 2 No. 4 No. 6 No. 40
Chicago Lv. 9 00 AM 12 01 PM 4 30 PM 10 30 PM
Hudson " 10 25 1 26 5 55 12 00 AM
Hobart " 10 40 1 40 6 10 12 15
Crown Point " 10 50 1 50 6 20 12 25
Dyer " 11 00 2 00 6 30 12 35
Hammond " 11 10 2 10 6 40 12 45
Whiting " 11 15 2 15 6 45 12 50
East Chicago " 11 20 2 20 6 50 12 55
Kensington " 11 30 2 30 7 00 1 05
Chicago Ar. 12 55 3 55 8 25 2 30
LaPorte " 10 55 1 55 6 25 12 30
Kingsbury " 11 10 2 10 6 40 12 45
Wanatah " 11 20 2 20 6 50 12 55
Hanna " 11 30 2 30 7 00 1 05
Davis " 11 35 2 35 7 05 1 10
Hamlet " 11 45 2 45 7 15 1 20
Plymouth " 11 55 2 55 7 25 1 30
Ivanhoe " 12 10 3 10 7 40 1 45
Burlington " 12 20 3 20 7 50 1 55
Lima Green " 12 32 3 32 8 02 2 07
Wawaka " 12 40 3 40 8 10 2 15
Ligonier " 12 50 3 50 8 20 2 25
Kendallville " 1 05 4 05 8 35 2 40
Waterloo " 1 20 4 20 8 50 2 55
Garrett " 1 35 4 35 9 05 3 10
Garrett City " 1 50 4 50 9 20 3 25
Arcola " 2 03 5 03 9 33 3 38
Fort Wayne Ar. 2 15 5 15 9 45 3 50
Fort Wayne Lv. 2 40 5 40 10 10 4 15
Van Wert " 3 45 6 45 11 15 5 20
Leipsic " 4 22 7 22 11 52 5 57
Bucyrus " 5 05 8 05 12 35 6 40
Crestline " 5 20 8 20 12 50 6 55
Mansfield " 6 03 9 03 1 33 7 38
Wooster " 6 47 9 47 2 17 8 22
Massillon " 7 05 10 05 2 35 8 40
Canton " 7 20 10 20 2 50 8 55
Alliance " 8 05 11 05 3 35 9 40
Pittsburgh Ar. 9 30 12 30 5 00 11 05

Through Sleeping Cars on Nos. 10, 2, 4, 6, 40 and 39. Parlor Cars on Nos. 2, 4, 6, 40 and 39. Dining Cars on Nos. 2, 4, 6 and 40. Fort Wayne and Pittsburg Sleeping Cars on Nos. 1, 3, 5 and 39. Fort Wayne and Chicago Sleeping Cars on Nos. 10, 2, 4, 6 and 40.

5 Big Four Express for Chicago passengers.
8 Fast Line—passengers for Fort Wayne or points east of Crestline only. 10 Express for passengers from Fort Wayne or points west thereof. 12 Express for Chicago passengers from Fort Wayne or points west thereof and for Fort Wayne passengers from Chicago. 39 Fast Express for Fort Wayne or points west thereof.
14—Leaves No. 7 at 9 00 P M and arrives at Fort Wayne at 12 01 A M. Connects with No. 8 for Fort Wayne and points west thereof.

G. L. PECK, General Manager. E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agent.
T. E. WILSON, Passenger Agent, Pittsburgh, Pa.

For time cards, folders, through tickets, baggage checks and further information regarding the running of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

NICKEL PLATE RATE

All trains arrive at and depart from Van Buren Street Union Passenger Station, Chicago.
Uniformed colored Porters attend passengers holding first or second class tickets in day coaches on these trains, insuring scrupulously clean cars enroute.

Read down. All Nickel Plate Passenger Trains Daily. Week read up.
Lv. 1 3 5 7 Chicago 2 4 6 8 Ar.
Valparaiso
Ar. Wanatah Lv.
Kouts
Ar. Hanna Lv.
Wheatfield
Ar. Kersey Lv.
Rensselaer
Ar. Parr Lv.
Morocco
Ar. Brook Lv.
Mt. Ayr
Ar. Rensselaer Lv.
Gifford
Ar. Watseka Lv.
Iroquois
Ar. Beaverville Lv.
Sheldon
Ar. Buckley Lv.
Gilman
Ar. Ashkum Lv.
Onarga
Ar. Essex Lv.
Kankakee
Ar. Bonfield Lv.
Momence
Ar. Momence Lv.
Hopkins Park
Ar. Monee Lv.
Peotone
Ar. Crete Lv.
Steger
Ar. Matteson Lv.
Chicago Park
Ar. Blue Island Lv.
Harvey
Ar. Dolton Lv.
Riverdale
Ar. Kensington Lv.
Chicago
Ar. Chicago Lv.
Lv. 1 3 5 7 New York 2 4 6 8 Ar.
Ar. Boston Lv.

(Local freight, equipped with passenger coach, leaves Kouts for Kersey, daily except Sunday. Leaves Kersey for Kouts, daily except Monday, Wednesday and Friday.)

Limited trains 1, 2. Daily except Sunday. 3, 4. Daily. 5, 6. Daily. 7, 8. Daily except Saturday. 9, 10. Stop on signal.

Drawing Room Sleeping Cars on Nos. 2, 4 and 6 thru to Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston; on Nos. 5, 3 and 1 to Chicago. Meals are served at "up-to-date" Dining Stations and in Nickel Plate Dining Cars at supreme meal hours. Baggage checked to destination. On inquiry you will find our rates are always lower than via other lines, service considered.

Rates and detailed information, address B. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O., C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind., or Local Ticket Agent.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

The Restitution
ON TRIAL
Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.
WILL YOU TRY IT?

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1038 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and B. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 p. m., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Bonnelsaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 a. m., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God, known as Union Chapel Congregation meet each fourth Sunday, at private homes, for the purpose of breaking bread and social services. Also on the second Sunday at the Union Chapel Church, Winterrhode, Ill., for Bible Reading at 11 a. m. All are invited. Lizzie Woods, Secy.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meets every 1st day of the week at 10:00, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through the city, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker's, 209 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's home at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 A. M. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1281½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Millersburg Ind. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by C. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Babelmau.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's Hall, Galena Ave., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Kalb, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 3:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Anthon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:40 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich., have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Treadell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Groat of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder, Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to day and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution,

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher

—FOR THE—

CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

TO OUR PATRONS.

We want more readers for THE RESTITUTION. We want One Thousand new names on our list before January 1st, 1903, and can have them if you will help us.

In every Church of our faith in the land there are members who do not take our paper, who would be benefited by reading it.

There are those who are isolated by circumstances from any Church fellowship, who would be kept firmer in the faith, helped and strengthened for the battles of life if they had THE RESTITUTION each week.

There are others interested in the truths we hold, who would often have their attention called to the principles of our faith by reading our paper. When no preacher can be heard, when you cannot talk to them, THE RESTITUTION in their home would be ever a present visitor—a missionary that will do more than any other one thing to keep the interest alive.

There are those whom we wish were interested in the Bible and what it promises. Many of this class of persons have never had the opportunity, or have neglected the matter when it was before them.

You are surely known to people such as are mentioned, and you are surely interested in them. We are satisfied you are not unmindful of their eternal well-being. How much do you care for these people? Will you join with us in getting the gospel before them, and keeping it there a year? We have this to offer to you for consideration.

We will send THE RESTITUTION one year to NEW Subscribers for $1.00. We will start them as soon as received and give credit to the end of 1903.

With a little persistent effort in presenting the paper to those you know who are not taking it, you can induce them to try it for $1.00. If you want some sample papers we will gladly supply them to you, and our list can be increased by 1000 names by Jan. 1st. It can be done easily if you will act on this suggestion, and get those near you interested. If each reader would get a new name our list would be doubled at once.

It would seem as if every reader of THE RESTITUTION could exert influence enough to get one more new name if the effort was made. Will you try it? If the first person you suggest it to does not respond, do not be discouraged, but try some one else. Perhaps the one you least expect will answer quickest.

Did you ever stop to figure up how many words are contained in our paper in a year? You will be surprised at the number of sermons it contains. There is variety too. There is doctrine and the practical, encouragement and cheer, and comfort for the distressed. Each phase of teaching would make several good sized books during the year. You can do no work that yields as large a return for the money expended as by sending THE RESTITUTION to a friend for a year.

We ask you to go at this work and push it along with a will. The time is getting short, and if you can be the means in God's hands of gaining one more for the Master, it will pay for all your labor. The sooner you get the names, the more papers they will get. We wish to do our part in the work, so send the remainder of this year free and start the new names with Jan. 1.

Will you not start right away and send one name, and next week when that person gets his paper, some one else will hear of it, and you can send another subscriber.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME LI. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, NOVEMBER 26, 1902. NUMBER 44.

Poetry.

The Watchman's Call.

"Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." Eph v. 14.

The watch towers gleam, the hills are bright,
The day of Christ appears;
Throw off the langor of the night
And banish all your fears.

Rejoice today, lift up your voice,
Exhort the nations to rejoice
And serve the coming Lord.

The fields are white, 'tis harvest time,
The reapers—where are they?
The Master comes; Oh, hope sublime!
Awake and watch and pray.

The Bridegroom comes; the King draws near;
Arise, repeat the call.
The Lord is nigh: his voice we hear;
Arouse, ye servants, all.

He comes to fill the earth with joy;
He comes to banish pain;
Arise, and enter his employ
To speed his glorious reign.

—Archibald Wheaton.

Original.

The Spirits in Prison.

1 PETER III. 19.

Lucy W. Horner in THE RESTITUTION asks for an explanation of this verse. Verse 18 states that Christ was "Put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit." Ver. 19, "By which also he went and preached to the spirits in prison." Ver. 20, "Which sometimes were disobedient, when once the long suffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing." Upon an erroneous view of this Scripture the Roman Catholics have founded in the minds of their people the doctrine of purgatory; from which the release of imaginery souls by the prayers of the clergy, yields to them an immense revenue; thus fulfilling the words of Peter, "And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you." 2 Pet. ii. 3. Two parties are brought to view in this verse; first, He (Christ) went and preached; second, to the spirits in prison." Now if we can find out when he did the preaching, and who the prisoners were that he preached to, our task is done. Please turn with me to Isa. xlii. 6-7, and read, "I the Lord have called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles; to open the blind eyes, to bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness out of the prison house."

The next testimony is Isa. lxi. 1, "The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me; because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound." These testimonies by the prophet are to the point, as to what Christ was to do. Now turn to Luke iv. 18, and hear what Christ himself says on the same subject, "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the broken-hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised." Luke iv. 18.

Now to sum up the matter: Isaiah says of Christ that he was to, "bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness out of the prison house.....to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound." And Christ after quoting from these Scriptures cited, says, "This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your ears." Lu. iv. 21. The erroneous doctrine of the immortality of the soul, and the pre-existence of Christ, is the cause of the misunderstanding of this Scripture. The Protestant sees in this text pre-existence, and the Catholic his pagan purgatory. The persons in the prison being called spirits, leads those who believe in the existence of disembodied spirits, away from the truth. I will now give a few passages of Scripture to show that the term of spirits is applied to living persons in the flesh. "Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy, having their conscience seared with a hot iron." 1 Tim. iv. 1-2. It will be evident that these spirits are real men, because you could not sear with a hot iron the conscience of a disembodied [illegible] again we read, "Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out into the world." 1 John iv. 1. In this chapter John gives directions how to test these spirits, or false prophets; and in the message he writes to the church of Epheseus, he says, "Thou hast tried them which say they are apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars." Rev. ii. 2. Notice that the same ones that he calls in his epistle, spirits and false prophets, are in the Revelation called liars and false apostles. The term prisoners is frequently applied to those in a state of sin, as seen in Zech. ix. 11-12. "As for thee also, by the blood of thy covenant, I have sent forth thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water. Turn you to the stronghold, ye prisoners of hope." But the question is asked, How could the prisoners that Christ preached to, be said to have been disobedient in the days of Noah? The answer is, They are of the same disobedient class of persons or spirits. The principle is the same as in Matt. xxiii. 30, where our Lord says to the disobedient Jews, "Ye shall not see me henceforth, till ye shall say, blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord." The personal pronoun "ye" first used in this verse, does not refer to the same individuals as it does in the second instance; but does to the same race or class of individuals. In the first place it is the disobedient Jews then and there, about A. D. 33. But in the second instance it refers to the Jews that will be alive when the Lord returns, which is yet in the future. Again let us suppose that God should now anoint with the Holy Spirit, and with power one of his messengers, and send him to preach to the Jews in Bulgaria (spirits in prison) and should add, "Which some time were disobedient, when once the long suffering of God waited in the days of Jesus Christ, while the anti-typical ark was a preparing, wherein many souls are being saved by water. I think there would be no difficulty in understanding the language. This is the way I read about the spirits in prison.

Yours in hope of eternal life when the Lord returns.

GEO. FRANCIS.

The Wisdom of Saloomoon. Chap. 11.

1. She prospered their works at the hand of a saintly prophet.

2. They made their way through an uninhabited desert, and in trackless wastes they pitched their tents.

3. They resisted warring people and warded off enemies.

4. They thirsted and called on thee, and water was given them out of a precipitous rock, and healing for thirst out of a hard stone.

5. For they, though perplexed, were benefited by the circumstances.

6. Whereby their enemies were cut off.

7. And while these were terrified with gory blood instead of a fountain of a perennial river,

8. In reproof for a child-slaying edict thou didst give unto thy people abundant water in an unhoped for way.

9. Thus showing through the thirst of that time how thou hast cut off the adversaries.

10. For when they were tried, although they were being chastened in mercy, they comprehended how the irreverent when they were being judged in wrath were put to the final test (the touch-stone or fire-test or "holt"-test).

11. For these as a fostering Father thou didst try, but those as a precipitate king who is bringing to judgment didst thou search out.

12. And away from home and at home they wasted away.

13. For a double sorrow laid hold of them and a sighing over memories of the past.

14. For when they heard that these people were being benefited through their own deprivations they perceived the Lord.

15. For the one whom they had long [illegible] and cast off with reproach, [illegible] ed at in the outcome of the issues—wondered that they had not hesitated for things like to the justified.

16. Again in return for their unrighteous reasonings without understanding, whereby they were led astray and superstitiously worshiped unreasoning creeping things and monstrous reptiles thou didst send unto them a multitude of unreasoning (illogical perhaps would be better, incapable of reasoning from a premise to a conclusion) living creatures in the way of requital.

17. That they might comprehend that through the ways that one sinneth is he being punished.

18. For by omnipotent hand and thy hand that produced the cosmos from amorphous matter, was not without a way of sending against them a multitude of bears or fierce lions.

19. Or fawningly generated, unknown beasts of prey full of passion or lightening with sparks of fire.

20. Whose power to injure enabled them not only to crush them but whose appearance even by frightening could destroy.

21. And without these indeed with a spiritual breath could they be made to fall pursued by the right, and winnowed by a breath of thy ability; but thou hast arranged all things by measure and number and weight.

22. For to be strong is a great way is always present with thee, and thy controlling arm who will withstand?

23. Because all the cosmos in thy sight is an inclination of a pair of scales, and as a morning drop of dew that cometh down upon the earth.

24. And thou art merciful to all, because thou hast all ability; and thou dost look one side of men's sins on unto repentance.

25. For thou lovest all the things that be, and thou dost abominate nothing of the things which thou didst originally create; for not even wouldst those have fitted anything up if thou hadst hated it.

26. And how would anything have continued to be if thou hadst not willed it? or had it not been summoned by thee how would it have been watched to be kept?

27. And thou art sparing of them all, because they are thine, thou soul-loving absolute Lord.

COMMENT.

We have in this chapter along with very much else of spiritual import and value a very ancient interpretation of the spectacular leading and chastening of Israel, and God's punitive judgment of their oppressors; and a commentary on miracles in general, as well as the specific "signs and prodegies" here enumerated, a commentary so different from most of our medieval theological comment that the up-to-date scientist and moral philosopher even will be surprised to see how very modern Saloomoon was in his reasoning as well as in the use he makes of specific terms in physics not a few—for instance what God has done and can do with "amorphous matter," or what he can do and has done in the way of "evolving" species of "living creatures" and "monsters" of the earth, air and water from already created "genera." If the Bible does not directly teach "science" or "physics" the student will find that the terminology when used is intelligent and correct as one would expect the Word of God to be. For instance the Bible in the Greek nowhere speaks of "life" or what can be known of life, organic life I mean as "Biology" which is derived from the two Greek words "Bios" and "Logos" the first meaning primarily "a life-time" and derivitively, the way such a life time is spent or "getting a living" or the result of so spending it, namely "a livelihood," and does not at all define or have to do with the abstract principle of "life" expressed by the Greek word "Zooee." Modern science will have to reconstruct and restate much of its terminology and modern theology and moral philosophy much more when the light of God's revealed truth thoroughly illuminates them. The terminology of both is far more heathenish than divine in its [illegible] and evolution. Observe also what is said of "measure, number and weight" here in this chapter.

CHAS. GARDNER.

The Bereans Column.

(Under this heading the society of "Bereans" of Illinois, will supply the copy, and endeavor to fill the space once a month.)

HOW DOES FAITH PURIFY THE HEART. ACTS XV. 9.

Let us first get the Apostle's thought concerning the mode of heart purifying. He does not mean the fleshly organ we call heart, but rather the faculties of the mind, the understanding, and how is this done? In Psalm xix. 7 it reads, "The law (or as the margin reads doctrine of the Lord) is perfect, converting the soul. By this law or doctrine, God makes known his purpose concerning man, thus reaching the understanding. He instills the thought of love in the heart and the result is a converted, purified life follows. For says the Psalmist again, Psa. cxix. 130, "The entrance of thy Word giveth light." The question was, Shall we abide by the law of Moses with circumcision, or leaving their yokes which had been a grievous burden to them, accept the purifying influence of the Holy Spirit and gage our lives by its teachings? The Pharisees could not drop the old idea of being saved by their works. Peter was trying to teach them, "By the works of the law should no man be justified." Gal. ii. 16. It took more than that. 1 Pet. i. 22, purifying your souls in obeying the truth. Where would they find this truth? 2 Tim. iii. 15. If the Holy Scriptures could make the child Timothy wise unto salvation it can surely do the same for us. The question with Peter was, Will you have faith in Christ and thus accept his gospel, which will purify your souls, or will you remain where you are, "Shut up under the law?" It was not by the law they were to live, but the just shall live by faith, faith in Christ, for Peter says, "We believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved. For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth anything nor uncircumcision, but faith which worketh by love. Faith can purify only as it works the work of God. Abraham's faith (Rom. iv.) was counted unto him for righteousness because he trusted God and worked with him. Faith in God and his promises gives us a hope which nothing else brings, a desire to be right and do right. I Jno. iii. 3. We read, "And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself even as he is pure."

RUTH SMITH.

Dear Bereans:

I know you will be interested in a report of my visit to the Southern Illinois Conference at Moriah, Oct. 10-20. I left home the morning of Oct. 10. Arrived at Casey at 4:16 p. m., where I was met by Bros. Crowe and Brant. After a pleasant ride of eight miles, we reached the home of Bro. Lewis Weaver. Here I met Brother and Sister Weaver, and several brothers and sisters who had driven from Hazel, forty miles distant. As is characteristic of the people of our faith, I was heartily welcomed and made to feel right at home. After supper we walked to the new church, about a quarter of a mile from Bro. Weaver's. They have a nice building, pleasantly located, with a seating capacity of about 250 people. The church was well filled, and we enjoyed the sermon delivered by Bro. Crowe. As we had no service the next day until evening I spent the time in talking with the friends in regard to the work of the Bereans. The hour from 6:30 to 7:30 of each evening had been given to the young people, the first meeting being held on Sunday evening. A topic was assigned the evening previous, and the hour was filled with the reading of Scripture references, and comments on the subject. Though the work was entirely new, each evening showed improvement on the part of the young people, to participate, and the hour was a profitable one. Bro. Conner and Bro. Zilmer each gave a talk in regard to the object and benefits of the Berean society. On Saturday afternoon we had a business meeting, Sister Bertha Weaver of Moriah was elected 2nd vice president of the State society, and will have charge of the work in Southern Illinois. A society for Moriah was also organized, with Myrtle Fears, President, Eliza Gross, Secretary, and Allen Weaver, Treasurer. There are many young people in this vicinity, whom we think will take an interest in the work, and that a large class can be worked up. Sister Stella Claypool and Letitia Murphy, of Marshall, were in attendance and took an active part in our meetings. They will endeavor to organize at that point. Sister Rogers of Hazel and Sister Lulu Kepley of Ingraham enrolled themselves as members of the State Bereans. Though there are very few young people at these points, they will do what they can to start the work. Bro. A. O. Lenz and wife of Loogootee, Ill., are alone in the faith at this point. They will take up the study of the Berean topics, and be enrolled as State members. We have reason to feel encouraged over the interest manifested by the young people of Southern Illinois in this work. Though most of them are young in the faith and young in years, they are capable, and show a desire to do their best. On Sunday afternoon we had an interesting Bible reading, led by Sister Bertha Weaver. Bro. Conner was present and assisted in the service. His words of encouragement in the work began, were gratefully received. On Sunday morning we had the pleasure of seeing Sister Letitia Murphy, who has been one of the Illinois Bereans for several months, put on Christ by baptism. Should we not rejoice, for ten of the Bereans in the past five months, have taken the step which makes them children of God and members of the household of faith. The good sermons we heard from Bros. Crowe, Wilcox, Zilmer, Conner, Claypool and Brant will be long remembered, and I am sure this Conference was a profitable one in many ways, to all present. There is a good field for work in this part of the State, and I trust an evangelist will be maintained for this purpose. The church was well filled each evening and the best of attention given to the Word of Truth preached to them. Surely, some of the seed will fall into good soil. Now, dear Bereans, help this work on with your prayers and letters of encouragement to these young people. May our heavenly Father guide us all that we may be faithful and earnest workers in his vineyard.

Since writing my report, I have received word that a Berean society of twelve members, was formed Oct. 28, at Marshall, with Sister Letitia Murphy, whose post office address is Clark Center, President, and Brother George Claypool, Marshall, Secretary and Treasurer. They meet each Tuesday evening and have taken up the outline of study in the Berean booklets. We commend them for the promptness with which they began work. Only a few days over a week after Conference, they had their first meeting. With such a spirit they will surely succeed. May God's richest blessings be with them.

Your President,

ANNA E. DREW.

NOTICE.

I wish to say to the brethren that the second edition of my pamphlet—"The Reasons of My Withdrawal from the Evangelical Association," is just from the press and ready to send. 25 pages, at 5 cents per copy. Send orders to A. H. Zilmer, Plymouth, Ind.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, OFFICE EDITOR.

EDITORIAL COMMITTEE.
J. B. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, NOV. 26, 1902.

WE desire to thank those friends of our paper who have sent us so many new names. It is truly encouraging, and we thank you for the interest you manifest in this department of the Lord's service. Keep it going and the list can be doubled by Jan. 1st.

LUTHER once said, "Tyrants are bad, heretics worse, but false brethren worst of all."

"MANY brethren and sisters seem to think they are unable to do anything for the truth, and consider that there is no work for them to do. If the prayer of their hearts is, 'Lord, what wilt thou have ME to do,' a work will very soon be found, if only they are willing to do it. There are oceans of seeds to sow, and remember that he who sows sparingly will surely reap sparingly. Scatter seed, Scatter Seed."

IT may look strange, but we are assured that the following is or was an article of faith of the Presbyterian church: We assuredly believe.....that the Lord Jesus Christ will come suddenly from heaven with power and great glory; and we look for this second appearing of our Savior as the blessed hope of his church for which we ought always to wait in sober watchfulness that we may be found ready at his coming.

MR. HARRIS WEINSTOCK a prominent Californian Jew has published a book entitled "Jesus the Jew," in which he claims Paul, not Jesus, was the founder of Christianity, because he knew nothing about the Trinity, vicarious atonement, election and predestination, and because Jesus said, "Think not that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets, I am not come to destroy but to fulfil," which was pure Judaism.

Seven Pillars of Human Folly.

1. Natural Immortality.
2. Eternal Tormentation.
3. Rewards and Punishment at Death.
4. The Trinity.
5. Trusting in Christ, without a Knowledge of his Gospel.
6. Baptism not essential to Remission of sin.
7. The Devil a Fallen Archangel.

Seven Pillars of Divine Wisdom.

1. One Body.
2. One Spirit.
3. One Hope.
4. One Lord.
5. One Faith.
6. One Baptism.
7. One God and Father of all.

Sevenfold Planoply of Righteousness.

1. Loins Girt about with Truth.
2. Breastplate of Righteousness.
3. Feet shod with the preparation of the Gospel of Peace.
4. Shield of Faith.
5. Helmet of Salvation.
6. Sword of Spirit.
7. Prayer, Watchfulness and Perseverance.

Important Questions.

"What is a man advantaged, if he gain the whole world and lose himself, or be cast away?" Luke ix. 25.

"How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" Heb. ii. 3.

"How long halt ye between two opinions?" 1 Kings xviii. 21.

"Who may abide the day of his coming?" Mal. iii. 2.

"Who shall stand when he appeareth?" Mal. iii. 2.

"If the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?" 1 Pet. iv. 18.

Future Events.

Christ is to come again, Acts i. 11; raise the dead, John vi. 54; and overthrow all the kingdoms of this world, Daniel ii. 44; vii. 13, 14; the saints shall reign with him, Dan. vii. 27; Israel will be restored to their own land, Ez. xxxvii. 21, 22; Luke viii. 29; the Gentiles shall come to a knowledge of the Lord in that day; Ez. xxxix. 21, 29; Rev. xiv. 6, 7; the Babylon that now exists shall fall, Rev. xviii. 1–24; the present state of things, both political and ecclesiastical shall vanish and a new and heavenly state of things exist, Rev. xxi. 1–4, 10.

"FOR thus saith the Lord; like as I have brought all this great evil upon this people, [of Israel] so will I bring upon them [Israel] all the good that I have promised them," [Israel] Jeremiah xxxii. 42.

"The Gates of Hell."

In Matt. xvi. 18, Jesus says:—"The gates of Hades shall not prevail against my church." The figure is that of a beleagured city whose gates prevail against the invading army, or whose inhabitants cannot get out because of the hostile forces surrounding it. Here the notion of the traditional hell is obviously excluded; the church of Christ can neither be supposed to have been in THAT HELL, and wanting to get out, or out, and wanting to get in! Understood as a prophecy of the resurrection, Christ's words are intelligible enough. The gates of the grave would be powerless to prevent their escape from its dominion, when the time came for him to [illegible] his sleeping saints;"

Pride.

Solomon says pride "shall bring its possessor low;" "that it goes before destruction, and a naughty spirit before a fall." It was so in the case of Adam, for it brought about his fall; of Uzziah the king, for it made him a leper, to the day of his death; and in the case of Nebuchadnezzar it cost him his kingdom; and if allowed to go unchecked and unconquered in us, it will cost us a place in the kingdom of God. Pride is hateful to God; and it causes the possessor to think more highly of himself than he ought to think; and to rely upon his own knowledge and wisdom more than upon the knowledge and wisdom which proceed from God. His mind is well nigh filled with exalted ideas of his own greatness and importance, leaving little room left as storage for the teaching of the Spirit."

Importance of Baptism.

The importance of baptism is recognized by people of nearly all denominations. A form of service for baptism is contained in the Prayer Book of the Episcopal church and it is thought that those who die unbaptized are eternally lost. Its importance is clearly seen by a study of many passages of Scripture. Christ himself said, "except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God." John iii. 5. And when he was baptized of John the Baptist in Jordan, he said, "Thus it becometh us to fulfil all righteousness." Matt. iii. 15. And Paul wrote to the Galatians, "As many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ.....And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise." Gal. iii. 27, 29. Clearly, then, those who had not been baptized had not put on Christ, and so were not connected with the promises which are yet to be fulfilled in him. Peter cites the salvation of Noah by means of the ark as a figure of the salvation that is through baptism. Only those who were in the ark were saved; therefore only those who have been baptized can be saved, for Peter speaking of the ark, says, "Wherein few, that is, eight souls were saved through water; which also after a true likeness doth now save you, even baptism." 1 Pet. iii. 20, 21. R. V. And it may be seen by the case of Cornelius that a man may be a devout worshiper of God, yet if he be not baptized, he is not an heir of salvation. Cornelius was a devout man, and one that feared God; but Peter was sent to expound to him the way of God more perfectly, and he and his household were baptized. And it is important to note that they were baptized after, and not before the Holy Spirit had fallen upon them. And in the present day, even, though a man may devoutly believe that he has received the Holy Spirit, this will not lessen the necessity for baptism.

Passing Events in the Light of Prophecy.

From Glad Tidings we cull the following:—"In reply to a question put by a member of the House of Commons, the Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs stated that his Majesty's government had received a communication from the Russian government proposing that direct relations should be established between Russia and Afghanistan with regard to frontier matters. The government had replied that it would be impossible for them to take into consideration any change in existing arrangements, or to frame proposals to be brought before the Amir, without some more precise explanation in regard to the method which the Russian government would desire to see adopted for the exchange of such communications between the frontier officials, the limitations to be placed on them, and the means of ensuring that those limitations would be observed."

The Daily Chronicle says: "Russia's traditional plan is to ask [illegible] and take an ell. How are we to insure that the moderate language of the present request, once were it conceded, might not lead to active aggression on the part of the frontier officials concerned? We have not yet forgotten the sinister Penjdeh incident which led Mr. Gladstone to the verge of war. Our safest policy is to keep Russia at arm's length as long as possible. We do not see what we are to gain by any change in the status quo, and therefore we hope that the government will not make any without very strong reasons for their action.

The Times correspondent at Pekin describes a journey he has made through Manchuria to the new Russian railway—1200 miles long—and he an eye witness of the marvelous energy that has in five years transformed Manchuria from a Chinese possession to a virtually Russian province. He saw thousands of solid buildings for permanent occupation being built simultaneously by armies of Chinese workmen along the entire length of the railway. Thriving towns filled with a civil and military Russian population are springing up along the track. Manchuria is absolutely dominated by Russia. All the officials are absolutely in her power. None can be appointed without her approval, and evacuation cannot alter a domination which is fast becoming as effective as that of Britain over the native states of India.

Conference Notes.

The pleasure of having a visit with Brother W. H. Wilson during and on after Conference, will not soon be forgotten by us. Brother Wilson is an old friend of our family, and we hope and pray that his visits among the people of God as he travels about may be full of profit and pleasure, both to himself and the brotherhood.

It was a surprise to the Indiana Conference to have Brother Neill and Sister Knowles visit us. Brother Neill has only recently moved from Cleveland to Salem, where he will now labor. If carnal men and worldlings for anything his sojourn with them will be a source of comfort and profit, as it would be hard to find a more zealous man. May he bring much fruit to the Master's table.

It was said "It would not seem like Conference without Brother Alexander," and sure enough, he came. Earnest, faithful, always cheerful, with a kind word for all. Truly it is good to have him with us.

A week before the Conference it did look as if the Plymouth Church was in poor shape to entertain people. Removals have cut our numbers, and it seemed sickness would hinder; but when visitors came and the warm and hearty joy at meeting thrilled each heart, places seemed to spring up, and while in point of visitors it was the largest gathering we ever had, the universal verdict is that had more been here they would have been cared for.

The friends will be interested to learn that Sister Barnhill is perhaps somewhat improved, and Brother Barnhill is no worse than during the Conference.

Selected.

A Difficult Text.

"Please explain Luke vii. 28, 'Among those that are born of woman there is not a greater prophet than the Baptist; but he that is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he.'"

The difficulty in understanding this passage arises from a mistaken idea of the phrase, "The kingdom of God." If the kingdom of God is held to be the church of Christ on earth, it then follows that the least member in that church is greater than John the Baptist, and so greater than all the prophets. Enoch who walked with God three hundred years; Isaiah, whose lips were touched with holy fire; Samuel who called on the name of the Lord; David, who struck his harp of wonderous melody; Elijah, who sailed heavenward on his car of fire, are all eclipsed by the weakest and most foolish saint who finds admittance to the church of Christ.

The simple fact is, the church is not the kingdom of God, and the kingdom of God is not the church. "It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter in to the kingdom of God." Matt. xix. 24. Is that the church? What church is it, into which it is so hard for a rich man to enter? We have known of churches where it was hard to get a rich man out, but not so difficult to get them in!

"Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." Jno. iii. 3. Is that the church? What church is it?

"Ye shall see Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and all the prophets in the kingdom of God," Luke xiii. 28. Is that the church? What church is it? We have heard of a community of Shakers who claimed that they were the kingdom of God. It was our privilege to halt in one of their villages where we were kindly entertained for the night. We looked all about, but we could see nothing of Abraham, Isaac, or Jacob, so we concluded that that could not be the kingdom of God, and decided to still wait and pray, "Thy kingdom come."

The fact is, the kingdom of God is an everlasting kingdom which shall never be removed, which the God of heaven shall set up; and this kingdom and dominion and greatness of the kingdom, under the whole heaven, shall stand forever, and shall be inhabited by an immortal multitude of the sons of God. Dan. ii. 44; vii. 14, 15, 22, 27.

John the Baptist, the preacher and forerunner of the Messiah, had his head cut off and presented to a dancing girl; but the least man in the kingdom of God where they shall die no more, will be greater than John the Baptist, and can defy Pilate and Herod, and death and hell. Made immortal by the resurrection power of Christ, he shall shine as the stars forever and ever, and shall be like the Savior and see him as he is; and so shall have privileges and blessings and honors which John the Baptist never had, and which kings and prophets waited for, but died without the sight. Luke x. 24; Heb. xi. 13, 39, 40; 1 Peter i. 10-12.

Whence once the seal of immortality is set upon the redeemed of God; when they shall be made unto our God kings and priests, and shall reign on the earth; when God's kingdom shall come and his will be done in earth as it is done in heaven; when the glory of the Lord shall be revealed and all flesh shall see it together,—then it shall be plainly seen that he that is least in the kingdom of heaven shall be greater than John the Baptist, greater than any child of Adam in its sinful, transient, mortal state.—H. L. Hastings.

Waiting for the Bridegroom.

Fiction has painted the picture of a maiden whose lover had left her for a voyage to the Holy Land, promising on his return to make her his beloved bride. Many told her that she would never see him again; but she believed his word, and evening by evening she went down to the lonely shore, and kindled there a beacon-light in sight of the roaring waves, to hail and welcome the returning ship which was to bring again her betrothed. And by that watch-fire she took her stand each night, praying to the winds to hasten on the sluggish sails that he who was everything to her might come.

Even so that blessed Lord, who has loved us unto death, has gone away to the mysterious Holy Land of heaven, promising on his return to make us his happy and eternal Bride. Some say that he has gone forever, and that here we shall never see him more. But his last word was, "Yes, I come quickly." And on the dark and misty beach sloping out into the eternal sea, each true believer stands by the love-lit fire, looking and waiting and praying and hoping for the fulfillment of his word, in nothing gladder than in his pledge and promise, and calling ever from the soul of sacred love: "Even so, come, Lord Jesus."

And some of these nights, while the world is busy with its gay frivolities and laughing at the maiden on the shore, a form shall rise over the surging waves, as once on Galilee, to vindicate forever all this watching and devotion, and bring to the faithful and constant heart a joy and glory and triumph which nevermore shall end.—Joseph A. Seiss, D. D.

A Christian.

Is there enough in the Christian religion to meet the demands for which humanity in all the vicissitudes of life stands in need? If this question can be answered in the affirmative, then the teaching of Christ will reveal the fact.

Christ said to his disciples, "Ye are the light of the world, a city that is set on a hill cannot be moved." This light means, "one who is conspicuous, noteworthy, model or an example." The admonition of Christ was, "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify their Father which is in heaven."

The Christian religion regulates our social, our spiritual, and all other relations of this life. The world says, love thy friend and hate thine enemy. The Christian religion says love thine enemy and do good to those who despitefully use you and persecute you. Do not kill, do not bear false witness, do not swear, lie, cheat or steal. When you give alms do not blow a trumpet, let not your left hand know what your right hand doeth. Judge no man, and whatsoever ye would that men should do to you do ye even so to them. If your enemy hunger feed him. If he is thirsty give him a glass of pure water to drink. Lay no stumbling blocks, to give him occasion to fall in [illegible] elements of this world's goods and you have them, and do not attend to his needs if you know about them, how can the true religion of Christ and the love of God, dwell in you?

The Christian has no need of secrecy in the performing of his good will to men. Jesus said to the high Priest, "I spake openly to the world: I ever taught in the synagogues whither the Jews always resort; and in secret have I said nothing."

If there is any good for the general brotherhood of man, why should there be oath-bound societies to keep that good thing a secret; for he who spake, spake as never man spake, and did it openly. There has never been another society that has equalled the religion that Jesus of Nazareth taught. While perhaps some one would lay down their life for an especial friend, Jesus laid down his life for wicked men.

No societies or lodges have ever embodied in their rules the requirements that governs or commends to us the rules of the Christian religion. It makes good homes, loving families, true companionship, honest business men, farmers and merchants; it has no defaulters, or sanctions the stealing of trust money; it commits no thefts, murders, or grants divorces; it is the one place where an infidel can sleep without a pistol in his hand or under his pillows, or the fear of death staring him in his face before morning. Drunkenness, saloon, and tobacco shops have no place in its Constitution or By-Laws. The Christian religion is open and free to all. "Whosoever will come let him take of the water of life freely."

The benefits of the Christian religion are a hundred-fold in this world, and in the ages to come life everlasting, and a home such as "eye hath not seen nor heard."

O the beautiful hills,
Where the blest shall tread,
In the years when the earth's made new;
By faith we gaze on the fields of God,
From the vales we are journeying through.

—C. H. Shepherd in Crisis.

Obituary.

Died, near Sidney, Ind., Nov. 21, 1902, Claire, infant son of Rezin and Mary Clover Miller, aged four weeks.

The little one was the child of love, and is sadly mourned by us all.

The sore place will never be mended till Jesus comes, and death, sorrow and crying be no more. Then this dear bud of affection, will be given back to the mother's arms, nevermore to be taken away. Rejoice in hope of the resurrection dear ones.

AUNTIE WINCE.

Died, at Arkansas City, Kansas, on the evening of Nov. 14, 1902, Delbert, the 26 months old child of Chloe M. and Robert Sims, of New Kirk, Okla. The sudden death of little Delbert was a sad affair indeed. He with his mother and little sister Erma, came on the morning train from New Kirk, Okla., to Arkansas City, Friday morning, intending to take the evening train for Geuda Springs, where they expected to visit for a few days before going on to Missouri, where they were going in search of a new location, as they had recently sold their home in Oklahoma.

While they were waiting at Arkansas City, Mrs. Sims and children went to Dr. Guin's office, on a matter of business, and while there the little boy, child-like, wandered into another room, he had seemingly been gone but a moment, but however it was long enough for him to climb up to a table and get a bottle containing morphine tablets, and had eaten all that were in the bottle. They were not aware of what he had done until he began to act strange, and the Doctor hastened into the next room when he found the empty bottle lying on the floor. Another physician was quickly summoned and for five hours all was done that could be done to save his life, but he died just five hours after he had eaten them. It was so sad, so sad, he was such a large, bright little fellow, and when he lay in his little white casket, with a spray of half open roses in his hand, and surrounded with sweet flowers, he looked like a little one simply tired with play and gone to sleep. So he is sweetly sleeping in his quiet resting place in the Geuda Springs Cemetery, beside his little sister, until the last trumpet sounds, when he will awake.

Brother J. S. Miller conducted funeral services at the Methodist church, where a large gathering of sympathising friends met to pay their tribute of respect, and follow the little darling to his resting place. The mother of the child is the only daughter of Brother Rolando Chaplin of Wichita, Kansas.

We watched you as you faded,
Like a rose blown in the blast,
The storm it gathered o'er you,
You withered as it passed.

We tried so hard to keep you,
But God he knoweth best,
And darling he has let you sleep
In an unbroken rest.

Long long days we will miss you,
Miss you evening, noon and dawn,
But we will meet you little loved one
On the resurrection morn.

Farewell darling, till that morning.
Gathered round the great White Throne,
We will meet again and greet you,
In our Father's home, sweet home.

LYDIA CHAPLIN.

Read at Indiana Conference.

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ:

How my heart goes out to you this morning. I do not come to God doubting, fearing, but believing, knowing that he will bless you. The precious hymn,—"Showers of Blessing," has all the week been ringing in my ears. I have heard you sing it so many times; you will sing it at this meeting as you never sang it before, "Showers of blessing" will indeed be poured out upon you, for our God is a God of mercy and love, who keepeth truth forever. He has gone forth for the salvation of his people, and they may rejoice though the fig-tree blossoms not, though no fruit be in the vines, though the labor of the olive fails, and the fields yield no meat, the flock be cut off from the folds, and no herd be in the stalls, for he is their strength and the God of their salvation. "Bought with a price," and "not their own," they may always joy in him, and know that he is indeed with them and will perform all that he has promised. Bow reverently trustingly before him. Let not your hearts be troubled. The Master cometh soon. Be patient, be faithful a little longer, comforting, exhorting one another, supporting the weak, teaching the ignorant. I would I could be with you, but the dear God whom we serve, has given to me today, to "weep, with one who weeps" over the corpse of her young husband, and to comfort another who is momentarily expecting the death of her infant son. I shall be with you in Spirit, and I know that our God will be there, for he "is nigh to all that call upon him in truth." In his hands I leave you, both young and old.

S. ROXANA WINCE.

JESUS IS COMING.

Jesus is coming,
Some of these days,
Some of these days.
Coming so fast,
Coming at last.
Jesus is coming,
Some of these days.

OMAR CLOVER.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending THE RESTITUTION to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the doners request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

L. L. Gunn	.50
Mrs Albert Burton	.50

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty-five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

Poetry.

The End is Near.

Clouds of darkness gathering o'er us,
Awful tidings with them bear;
Scenes of misery spread before us—
Dearth and pestilence and war;
All in one loud, piercing chorus,
Tell us that the end is near.

Hearts of men within them failing
For the coming woes they fear;
All their efforts unavailing—
No propitious signs appear;
Sin increasing, crime prevailing,
Tell us that the end is near.

Selfishness in all abounding;
Gold the idol everywhere,
Worshiped by a host confounding,
Gold for all that's good or fair;
Crowds the mammon God surrounding
Tell us that the end is near.

Formal godliness increasing;
Power denied and forms held dear;
Christ and fashion coalescing,
Forming now the character,
Rites so popular and pleasing
Tell us that the end is near.

Lawlessness, so vastly spreading,
Void of reverence, awe or fear;
Sacred things beneath it treading,
Stamped with God's own signature—
Never once his vengeance dreading—
Tell us that the end is near.

Saints of God all evil hating,
Faithful to the name they bear,
For their coming Savior waiting,
To be caught up in the air;
Hope their rest and blessing dating,
Tell us that the end is near.

Sinner, wouldst thou in the glory
Of that "cloudless morning" share?
Wouldst thou have this hope before thee,
Wear the crown saints then will wear?
Oh, believe redemption's story;
Look to Christ. The end is near.

Let not earth thy thoughts engrossing,
Chant thee of that portion fair!
Look to Christ, on him reposing
Then shalt happy be, nor fear;
Sinner, haste! the day is closing;
Look to Christ the end is near.

Communicated.

Gospel of the Kingdom of God Endangered in Scotland.

"We ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard lest at any time we should let them slip." Hebrews.

"With one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel." Paul.

Some readers of THE RESTITUTION will remember that some four or five years ago certain articles which had appeared in the Messenger (Glasgow) were passed under review by the present writer, and that certain queries arising out of said Review (which had been proposed in private letters to the writer) were inserted with replies in THE RESTITUTION. The drift of both articles and queries seemed to be to minimize the "gospel of the kingdom" in its vital character as a fundamental element of saving faith.

There still seems to be need for "earnest contending" on the same lines, as will appear from an article in the Messenger for September of this present year entitled "An anxious question and what it implied—Wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel?" This article of four pages is intended to buttress and supplement what the same writer (G. G. M.) had advanced in one of the articles already named. This writer and the author of the queries mentioned had evidently been active promoters of certain resolutions adopted by the church in Edinburgh as far back as 1894, as also of a second edition of the Resolutions of even a more lax character this year (1902) but which have failed as yet in securing adoption. Of all this more anon.

To place this matter fairly before the readers it may be well, with the Editor's permission, to recall one or two of the more material points of the articles and queries referred to, before giving extracts from the Resolutions of the church in Edinburgh.

It may be mentioned here for the information of the readers in America that the church in Edinburgh was formed in 1868. It was founded on principles identical with those in the United States in connection with THE RESTITUTION. Its numbers increased to upwards of a hundred, and it maintained from the outset annual aggregate gatherings of brethren from various parts of Scotland, and sometimes even from England. A few sentences culled from various sources will show its close connection with the "gospel of the kingdom."

A few weeks before its formation a letter written by a brother to a free communion meeting in the town shows the basis then proposed, as follows:—"So far as we can judge, a restoration of the apostolic or primitive Christian doctrine and practice could only be properly effected by an imitation of them in their imitable points. This necessitates, among other things the enforcement of that old adage, "They that gladly received the apostle's Word were baptized." Also that the Apostle's word is defined as "the gospel of the kingdom of God."

A sentence or two may be quoted from a letter of date Edinburgh, 18th of March, 1853, which was addressed to the editor of the Herald of the Kingdom....."The truth is gaining ground here gradually, as an illustration of which I may mention that a congregation is now in course of being formed on the principles historically set forth in the Acts of Apostles in such language as, 'They that gladly received his word were baptized, interpreting the word by Peter's speech in the light of his commission and the teaching of Jesus and the first preachers, as the Word of the kingdom (Matt. xiii. 19) as the things concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ,' which Philip gospelized or announced as glad tidings. Acts viii. 12. See Greek. We are made up mainly from three sources—first, wandering believers of the kingdom's gospel; second, some who have left the meeting in South Bridge Hall (the 'Reformation;' Third, the majority of a meeting in High Street, for some years conducted on what are called five communion principles, and who have for a considerable time believed and preached the gospel of the kingdom, and have been baptized. The number in all may be nearly thirty." Herald of the Kingdom, Sep. 1853.

A few extracts from an article entitled "The things most surely believed amongst us" will show in more detail how the church in Edinburgh stood in 1864. This formed the basis of two public lectures given in the church's place of meeting by one of the members:—

The.....Almighty Creator shall establish a kingdom upon earth which shall destroy and supersede all other kingdoms.....

This.....shall be entrusted to Jesus of Nazareth.....

The throne.....shall be established on Mount Zion, and the city of Jerusalem shall be the metropolis of the world.

The twelve tribes of Israel.....shall be gathered.....and placed by God in the territory promised to Abraham and made chief nation.....

The throne.....is the throne of David (Luke i. 30-33.)

In consequence of his being anointed .....Jesus is termed the Messiah.

The race of man is mortal, and..... under the sentence of death; and God .....has appointed that those alone who believe in his Son as the Christ, the Son of the living God, shall have everlasting life.

God requires of those that thus believe in his Son that they be immersed in water into his name.

That all who believe in Jesus as Lord and Christ.....are joint heirs with the Messiah of his eternal kingdom and glory.

That the resurrection and glorification of the saints and the establishment of the kingdom of God takes place at the second coming of Christ.

That these declarations regarding the kingdom of God and Jesus the Christ constitute the gospel.....announced to Abraham and preached by the Apostles among all nations to be believed for salvation.

So far as known to the writer of this, these extracts indicate the position maintained by the church in Edinburgh down to the date of the Resolutions referred to, namely, 1894.

The articles and queries mentioned above will now be briefly noticed.

In Messenger for Oct. 1896 an article by a brother of upwards of forty years standing appeared with the heading, "What did the personal converts of Jesus believe?" This was reviewed in RESTITUTION for Jan. 20, 1897. Referring to the "primitive faith" the author said, John "dwelt more" on the coming one as the sin-bearer as when he said, 'Behold the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world.'" The reviewer remarked "This was a gross perversion of fact.' John's casual statement was only made on two occasions, whereas his public proclamation of the "gospel of the kingdom" was made "in Jerusalem and in all Judea and in all the region round about Jordan." He thus fulfilled truly his office as the forerunner of our Lord who also preached the same gospel. Again, the author said, "If perfect accuracy of belief in the true realization of the Messiahship is affirmed to be quite vital to discipleship, it is difficult to see how they (the apostles and first disciples) possessed it." The reply was, "This difficulty can only have a semblance of reality through a gratuitous importing into the definition of the Messiahship a complex idea maintained in the article, but utterly foreign to the divine record."

Another writer in Messenger for April 1897 in article entitled, "Our true Model of Belief," says, "We (the church) have nowhere declared, and God forbid that we should anywhere declare, that any truth is essential to salvation.....I find much in the Bible .....but little or nothing as to the exact amount of truth the knowledge of which is requisite for admission" (into the kingdom.) This writer admits that a "little" is said on this vital subject. But surely that "little" must be of supreme importance. What is "requisite" in the gospel preached by Christ and his Apostles as recorded in Matt. xxviii.; xxiv. 14; Mark xvi. 15, 16, etc. as also 1 Cor. xv. 1-4. All this may be called "little or nothing," but is it not worth volumes to the human race if they only knew and understood it.'

The former writer (G. G. M.), by way of supplementing his former statements on "What did the personal converts of Jesus believe?" contributed to the Messenger (Sept. 1897) a long article of seven pages, entitled "How did the Lord Jesus view his Messiahship? One of the statements was "Their (the Apostles') minds had to be schooled to relinquish the immediate gratification of a fondly cherished dream, and to patiently acquire the full spiritual perception of a Christ and kingdom not of earth-born conception."..... There is abundant evidence to show that he [our Lord] was well aware of his terrible task to preach a Christ and kingdom to a large extent neither looked for nor wanted" [of this "abundant evidence" none was offered]. The review had the remark "If the spiritual kingdom of popular theology be not here meant, the language seems well fitted to give expression to it, and in the absence of any explanation, to mislead." The Review of this article occupied three numbers of THE RESTITUTION, namely, Jan. 26, 1898; May 18, 1898; May 25, 1898.

So far as I am aware these articles published in the Messenger had not been there subjected to any adverse criticism of a corrective character, either by the Editor or by any contributor. It has been known for years that as regards the belief of the "gospel of the kingdom" as a necessary antecedent to baptism, the church in Sunnyhill street Glasgow, of which the Editor of the Messenger is a member, does not insist.

J. CAMERON.

(To be continued.)

Conference Report.

Pursuant to the call, the first quarterly Conference of the Church of God in the state of Indiana, met at Plymouth, Nov. 13–16.

The meeting was opened with a sermon by A. H. Zilmer,—subject, "The Churches of God in Christ Jesus."

No meeting had been announced for Friday during the day, but owing to the number present from a distance, they met at 2:30 p. m. and listened to a discourse by W. H. Wilson on the "Coming changes in the governments of the world."

Friday night at 7:00 the social was led by A. H. Zilmer, after which D. T. Halstead was to have spoken, but as he was absent on account of sickness, F. L. Austin spoke on the subject of Righteousness.

Saturday morning at 9:30 business meeting convened with President A. H. Zilmer in the chair. Meeting was opened by reading, prayer and singing. Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

The committee on Ways and Means reported, and after discussion the report was referred back to them to be amended, and brought up at afternoon meeting.

It was moved and carried that a Minister's Certificate be granted to W. H. Wilson of Chicago, Ill.

At 11:00 o'clock J. S. Hatch spoke on "In heaven—from heaven." At the close of this meeting an invitation was given and one sister came forward for baptism.

At 2:00 in the afternoon business meeting was again called. Committee on Ways and Means again made report, which was adopted, and is as follows:

WHEREAS: Knowing that by the co-operation of the Churches wider dissemination can be given to the gospel, and better results made to follow such united effort: Therefore be it

Resolved, That it shall be the duty of each minister of the gospel belonging to the Conference, at his last meeting with each church prior to the annual Conference, to make an appeal to said church for means to carry forward the work of evangelizing. That it shall be his duty to deliver a discourse setting forth the utility of co-operation on the part of the churches and showing that the love that moved God to give his Son as a ransom for sinners, places every member of the Christ's body under obligation to aid by his means the proclamation of this message of love; and further, that each minister shall be required by the Conference at its annual session, to make report of his faithfulness or failure to carry out the foregoing resolution.

Resolved, That each minister caring for and preaching to one or more of the churches shall remind each of these of their obligation to choose a delegate or delegates to each Conference, and especially to the annual Conference, and insist on this being done in his presence at each last visit prior to the Conference to which they are to be sent.

WHEREAS: Feeling the need of more funds in addition to the amount in the hands of the Conference treasurer, for the purpose of putting an efficient evangelist in the field to work up to the time when Brother Zilmer, our regular evangelist's contract with certain churches expires, leaving him free to enter on the work, therefore be it recommended, that each church procure at the earliest possible date to elect a solicitor, whose duty it shall be to appeal to each individual member for money, sending amounts thus raised direct to the Conference Secretary.

Signed J. L. Wince, H. F. Cordill, J. F. Wagoner, R. C. Railsback.

A Minister's Certificate was granted to James L. Moncrief, of Bear, Arkansas.

At 2:30 it being not time for the next regular appointed meeting, the time was well spent in listening to P. Neill on the subject of Peace.

At 3:00 J. L. Wince spoke on the subject "Ye are bought with a price."

At 7:00 W. H. Wilson gave a Bible Reading on the subject "A good foundation," followed by a sermon by J. F. Wagoner, on "Faith as related to the gospel."

At 9:30 Sunday morning R. C. Railsback led a social meeting, which was followed by a sermon on "The signs of the times," by F. L. Austin.

At 2:30 in the afternoon W. H. Wilson spoke on "The blessed hope," and then came the Communion service by J. L. Wince.

At 7:00 o'clock a social meeting led by W. Tuttle, followed by a sermon by A. H. Zilmer on "The abrogation of the Mosaic covenant."

These meetings were well attended, a goodly number being present at the beginning, and others arrived on nearly every train thereafter. The roll call of the churches Saturday morning showed the following to be represented by delegates, viz: Argos, Bracken, Burr Oak, Inwood, North Salem, Plymouth, South Bend and Seircleville. There were also a number of isolated ones and others came, also members from other churches.

Besides those from our own state we had the pleasure of having with us W. H. Wilson and daughter Jessie and G. M. Alexander of Chicago, Ill., and P. Neil and Miss Mary E. Knowles of Salem, Ohio. The Church at Cleveland sent greetings to our Conference, and report that they are earnestly contending for the faith.

The subjects discussed during the Conference were all well and able handled, and it was surely a feast of good things. Many expressed themselves as to the good meetings and the good will among the people.

On Saturday afternoon we had the pleasure of witnessing the baptism of Sister Barnes. May she go on her way rejoicing, and be faithful unto the end. The people of Plymouth certainly did their part well in entertaining the visitors, and we feel truly thankful for the kind care that we received at their hands.

May we all be faithful and meet in that blessed kingdom when Christ comes to claim his own.

MRS. LYDIA A. RAILSBACK, Sec.

Selections.

The Prize of the High Calling.

We are all aiming for the kingdom of God: the kingdom with its joyful associations, and its long train of told and untold glories, is the object and aim of us all. In the kingdom the saints are to be rewarded according to their works; he who in this life has sown bountifully will reap bountifully. There is to be a great distribution of prize, and there is no gradation of rank. In the present life men enjoy what they call the "sweets of office;" in the world to come they shall also be thus blessed. The posts of honor will be occupied by those who have distinguished themselves by zeal and industry in the cause of Christ.

In the present kingdoms of men there are posts of honor and emolument, but these are not always occupied by the most deserving. It often happens in the kingdom of men that he who sows bountifully reaps sparingly, while he who sows sparingly reaps bountifully. History records innumerable instances of this kind; but not so in the kingdom of God. He who searcheth the hearts and trieth the reins of the children of men will send his Son, and "make him of quick understanding. He will not judge after the sight of his eyes, neither reprove after the hearing of his ears, but with righteousness shall he judge the poor, and reprove with equity for the meek of the earth; righteousness shall be the girdle of his loins and faithfulness the girdle of his reins."

Whither shall we turn among the kingdoms of men to meet with righteousness and faithfulness like this? "Put not your trust in princes," is the solemn warning which all men would do well to observe. Alas! how many who have neglected to observe this injunction have been left in old age to the winter of adversity as their only compensation for long years of service. And if favor has been shown, how fickle and uncertain it is.

We have a noticeable instance of this in the reign of one of the kings of England, in the person of Cardinal Wolsey, a man who had risen by his services to a state of affluence and splendor surpassing royalty itself. At length, however, a change of fortune overtook him, the tide of royal favor receded, the old man was expelled from his paradise. And as he brooded over his fall, and called to mind the long life of service which he had consecrated to the king, he gave expression to those memorable words—"If I had served my God as diligently as I have served my king, he would not have cast me off in my old age." We have another instance in the late of Earl Stafford, a man of great ability in the court of Charles the First. That ability he exercised in endeavoring to establish absolute power for the king. But that perfidious monarch, getting tired of him, frowned upon him, and at last signed his death warrant. "Put not your trust in princes," were the dying words of the fallen minister.

It would be easy to multiply such instances. We only add one—"John Milton, the poet, the statesman, the philosopher, the glory of English literature, the champion and martyr of English liberty—what was the end of this man? He survived his health and his sight, the comforts of his home, and the prosperity of his party; neglected, old, poor, sightless, and disgraced, he retired to a hovel to die." What a return for a long life of valuable service in his country's cause, and in the cause of humanity! How profitless to exhaust the energies of a valuable life on worldly objects! If Milton had sown as bountifully in the cause of Christ as he did in the cause of men, what a bountiful harvest might he have reaped in the kingdom of God. In this life, it is true, he might have suffered all the evils enumerated, but only to be crowned with the riches, and glory, and honor, of the kingdom of God.

"God is not unrighteous to forget your work and labor of love which ye have shown toward his name, in that ye have ministered to the saints, and do minister." Heb. vi. 10. What a happy and encouraging thought is this. Men may forget your work and labor of love, and men do forget; but God will not. Brethren, if we have confidence in our God, we may unreservedly throw ourselves away in his service, we may exhaust our energies, our substance, our all, and be happy in the thought that every service rendered is carefully entered to our account. "Behold, I come quickly, and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be." Rev. xxi. 12.

I have often thought that it is not to be wondered at that men labor so zealously for the things that perish to the neglect of things imperishable. What is there in popular theology to make it otherwise? where are its charms? It has none; it in no way meets the wants or aspirations of humanity; it lacks motive power.

The late Dr. Chalmers very eloquently expresses himself upon this point—"The common imagination that we have of paradise on the other side of death is that of a lofty aerial region, where the inmates float in ether, or are mysteriously suspended upon nothing; where all the warm and sensible accompaniments which give such an expression of strength, and coloring to our present habitation are attenuated into a sort of spiritual element that is meagre and imperceptible, and utterly uninviting; where every vestige of immateriality is done away, and nothing left but certain unearthly scenes that have no power of allurement, and certain unearthly ecstasies with which it is felt impossible to sympathize." In the same strain an eminent preacher discourses to the poor—"O my friends, what a glorious exchange would heaven be for these—to fly through regions unconfined as air, to bask in the sunshine of eternal bliss, and to carol over endless hymns of praise." Now, with all the eloquence of this passage, we entirely fail to see anything very inviting in all this. To minds of a particular cast it might be, but certainly not to the generality of men.

Sir David Brewster and other scientific men have imagined that the chief pleasure of heaven would consist in the revelation of all the hidden mysteries of nature. If so, it might be a heaven for them, but it would thus be no heaven for other people, for, while these can find exquisite pleasure in such studies even at mid-night, mankind at large have fallen fast asleep. Preach this as gospel to the poor, and what power has it to charm them? Nay, preach it to the wealthy savans, and how many of them would it allure?

Mr. Spurgeon proposes to himself a tour through the length and breadth of heaven spending a century with each of the angelic host, as a suitable occupation for the ages of eternity, while Professor Edwards says, that in heaven we shall derive pleasure from witnessing the agonies and miseries of the damned.

What a labyrinth of mist and uncertainty there is in all this! What vagaries, what speculations! Each one making a heaven for himself. And it must be so, when the Book of God is silent. But let us now turn from fiction to fact; let us look at the kingdom, and what a fascination there is here! all the higher and nobler wants of our nature. All nations, kindreds, people, and tongues, are longing after immortality; the kingdom meets their wants and supplies their craving—"I give unto my sheep eternal life." All men desire riches. What dangers do men brave by sea and land in order to become rich. The kingdom meets the want—"The wealth of the sinner is laid up for the just." What shall we say about fame, power, honor, or dignity. Where and how are these to be had in this life, and if they are, how unreliable are they; but the kingdom meets the wants of each and all of them. "Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

All the objects which to men are so dear, all the good which they desire to have, and for which they seek, the kingdom crowns with full fruition. All men are ambitious more or less; and the Word holds out every encouragement to the ambitious. It offers high prizes in the kingdom for high services here. Let our ambition then be rightly divided. Not ambitious to lay up treasures upon earth, but to lay up treasures in heaven, where moth and rust do not corrupt; and where thieves break not through to steal. To obtain a prize, the high prize, brethren, let us labor with all our powers of body, soul, and spirit; let us throw into the service of Christ all that we have and are, let us spend and be spent for him; counting all things but dross that we may win Christ and be found in him. Mark with what zeal the man of the world labors to obtain a corruptible crown, and even less than that. Self-denial and self-sacrifice are his companions through life. He wears himself out to obtain the prize, and what is its worth when obtained? what is its value? Look at the highest post of honor which it is possible for a subject of this realm to attain to. Is it worth thirty years of labor?

What labor in vain, what spending of strength for nought, what misdirected zeal, what worthless ambition! Brethren, we have made a wiser choice; wisdom has been our choice; and "happy is the man that findeth wisdom; and the man that getteth understanding; for the merchandise of it is better than the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine gold. She is more precious than rubies; and all the things that are to be desired are not to be compared to her. Length of days is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and honor." Crowns and coronets, what are they when compared with the crown of everlasting life!

Brethren may these thoughts move us to increased zeal. May we so run that we may obtain the prize.—T. Wallis in Messenger of the Churches.

Communicated.

Is It Right to Pray to Jesus Christ?

An intelligent friend, a leading member of a prominent orthodox church, is tried because it is a habit in his church to pray to Jesus Christ. He said to the writer, "We have no more right to pray to Jesus Christ than to the Virgin Mary." Some among our people are troubled on the same subject. It is hoped that the following texts will help such.

The wise men worshipped him. Mat. ii. 2, 11.

Then came a leper and worhipped him. Matt. viii. 2; Mark i. 40; Luke v. 12.

A certain ruler worshipped him. Matt. ix. 18; Mark v. 12; Luke viii. 41.

Then they (his disciples) that were in the ship came and worshipped him. Matt. xiv. 33.

Then came she (a Canaanitish woman) and worshipped him. Matt. xv. 25.

The mother of James and John worshipped him. Matt. xx. 20.

The blind man restored to sight, said, Lord, I believe, and he worshipped him. John ix. 38.

They (the women going to tell his disciples) came and held him by the feet and worshipped him. Matt. xxviii. 9.

And when they (the eleven disciples) saw him, they worshipped him. Matt. xxviii. 17.

After Jesus was carried up into heaven, his disciples worshipped him. Luke xxiv. 52.

Jesus did not forbid worshipping him. As God said, Let all the angels of God worship him. Heb. i. 6. It is not idolatry to worship Jesus, but seems very becoming in us who are redeemed by his blood, and dependent on him for salvation.

After such a life, such a death, such a resurrection as his, and since he is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God, angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto him, (1 Pet. iii. 22,) it must be that God is pleased that we should reverence his Son.

We need not try to adjust the relative dignity of the Father and the Son, nor to decide just what we should ask either for. They are one in interest though two in person. Of course we shall be safe in honoring the Father as Jesus honored him, and in praying to the Son, as in the examples cited. We respect the Son's "all power," as given him by his Father, and respect him for his earnest and perfect obedience to his Father. And we glorify God that he so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth into him may not perish, but have eternal life. But this is a big field. These are only hints.

O. R. L. CROZIER.

Editor Restitution:

It has been some time since I have written for the paper. I do not hear the "Blessed Hope," preached very often. I am the only one here that believes it. Brothers and Sisters, let us all be obedient to God; for he is watching us and will reward us for it. May we all hold out faithful and not turn off our way. May we become enlightened more and more in the true faith. In Prov. x. 30, 31, we read, "The righteous shall never be removed; but the wicked shall not inhabit the earth. The mouth of the just bringeth forth wisdom; but the froward tongue shall be cut out." Let us all be ready and prove faithful to the end is my prayer.

Yours in hope of eternal life.

MRS. LUTISHIE MITCHELL.

Editor Restitution:

As I am not able to write much will simply say to the brotherhood, Let brotherly love continue. We are still looking for our Lord Jesus from heaven, as all the indications proclaim his coming very near.

Yours truly, in the faith, hope and love.

JOHN W. & SUSAN BISSLE.

Brother Underwood:

I have been wanting to write you for some time, but have been quite sick for five weeks. I certainly enjoy the many good things in the grand, old RESTITUTION, and I want to see it I cant get a few subscribers. I wish I was able to meet the calls from different parts of the country, wanting me to preach the glad tidings concerning the kingdom of our Lord. We have sown the seed and many hundreds have heard, and we hope in the great harvest that some sheaves will be gathered. Let us have our lamps trimmed and burning, and may God bless THE RESTITUTION, and all of its co-workers. I desire an interest in all your prayers.

S. R. CLINKENBEARD.

Bearing the Cross.

God gives everybody, I think, a cross when he enters upon a Christian life. When it comes into his hands, what is it? It is the rude oak, four square, full of splinters and slivers, and rudely tacked together. I see some men carrying their cross just as rude as it was at the first. Others, I perceive, begin to wind about it, faith and hope and patience. And at last their cross has been so covered with holy affections, that it does not seem any more to be a cross. They carry it so easily, and are so much more strengthened than burdened by it, that men almost forget that it is a cross by the triumph with which they carry it. Carry your cross in such a way that there shall be victory in it.

—Henry Ward Beecher.

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a least. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth, N. J.

Vandalia Line Excursions.

Thanksgiving Day rates, one and one-third first class fare for round trip to all points within radius of 150 miles. Selling dates Nov. 26 and 27. Returning good leaving destination not later than Nov. 28.

Hunters tickets on sale every day until Dec. 31 to points in Michigan, Arkansas, Missouri, Indian Territory, Louisiana and Wisconsin.

Homeseekers round trip tickets on sale every 1st and 3rd Tuesday each month to all points in south, southwest and west.

Settlers one way tickets same date as Homeseekers' all points in south and southwest.

South Bend and return 60 cents, selling dates Dec. 8 and 9. Returning leaving South Bend up to and including Dec. 13th.

Daily Personally Conducted Excursions to Pacific Coast.

Chicago & North-Western Ry., comfortable and convenient means of travel in Pullman sleeping cars with agreeable company, in charge of experienced conductors who accompany each party all the way to San Francisco, Los Angeles or Portland. Finest scenery. Choice of routes. Low rate tickets and only $6.00 for double berth. Maps and information free on application to ticket agents, or address Mr. S. A. Hutchinson, Mgr., 212 Clark St. Chicago, Ill. -dec27

November 20th and 27th excursion tickets will be sold at ticket stations of the Pennsylvania Lines to stations on those lines within 150 miles of selling point, good returning until November 28th, inclusive. Special rate tickets will also be sold for students and instructors of colleges, seminaries and universities going home to spend Thanksgiving holiday vacation. For rates, time of trains, etc., apply to nearest Ticket Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

To the Canadian Northwest—Low rate Excursions.

On November 18, December 2 and 16, via Chicago & North-Western Ry., from Chicago, one fare plus $2.00 round trip, with liberal return limits and stop-over privileges. Four fast trains daily: 9:00 a. m., 6:30 p. m., 8:00 p. m. and 10:00 p. m., making direct connections with all lines at St. Paul and Minneapolis. For full particulars apply to your nearest ticket agent or address A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill.—Dec 13

Reduced Fare.

Home Seekers' excursion tickets will be sold via Pennsylvania Lines Nov. 18th, and December 2d and 16th to points in the West, Northwest, South and Southwest. For particulars regarding time of trains, etc., apply to Agents of Pennsylvania Lines.—Dec. 16.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Fike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clinkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Cheesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, Ill.
W. L. Sisels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wince, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Scioterille Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kean, 4507, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
H. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Onawka, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Pollock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
N. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. B. Osterle, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stelle, Fresno, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foure, 2012 West Corsing Ave. Pasadena, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Dwiggins, Ontario Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ia.
Wm. Guin, Jefferson, Ore.
W. F. Cordill, 326 W Lasalle South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Corvallis Ore
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Burk Inwood Ind
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St., Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal
A W Darby Ransom Kan
J W Deffenbaugh Elba Okla
Alintra Brooks Scholls Oregon
Sarah P Morgan Browntown Va
N C Griswold Box 115 Tacoma Wash
W H Wilson 420 N Willow ave Austin Station Chicago Ill.
G T Wilkie Dover Minn.

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 283 pages, cents, leather bound, embossed cover, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Brother Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended.

Four Daily Trains to St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Leave Chicago 9 a. m., 6:30 p. m. (the North-Western Limited, electric lighted throughout,) 8 p. m., and 10 p. m. Fast schedules. Most complete and luxrious equipment in the West. Dining car service unequaled. For tickets, reservations and descriptive pamphlets, apply to your nearest ticket agent or address A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill. —Nov 20.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to Be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 10 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedule of Passenger Trains Central Time.

Westward.	31	9	25	39
Pittsburgh, lv.	1	10	0
Allanton, ar.	3	42	5	32
Canton, "	4	12	6	1
Massillon, "			10	56
Wooster, "			19	10
Mansfield, "	6	12	21	1
Crestline, ar.	6	57	21	57
Crestline, lv.			22	7
Ada, "			1	5
Van Wert, "			3	10
Ft. Wayne, "			4	37
	Ind.	10	30	4
Arcola, "
Galetta City, "			4	45
Latrell, "
Porterville, "			5	09
Tipton, "
Wilmington, "	11	41	5	25
Elliott Creek, "
Hutchinson, "			5	49
Inwood, "
Plymouth, "	12	15	6	03
Cypress, "
Hamlet, "
Hanna, "
Wanatah, "
Valparaiso, "	1	12	7	15
Hobart, "
Liverpool, "
Tolleston, "
Whiting, "
Chicago, ar.	2	55	8	45

Eastward.	20	6	24	0	38	100	36
Chicago, lv.	6	35	10	0	7	35	25
Whiting, "	6	50		12	45	8	40
Hobart, "				1	25	8	57
Tolleston, "				1	32	9	4
Liverpool, "
Hobart, "				1	45	9	17
Valparaiso, "	7	32	4	55	2	58	10
Wanatah, "						3	25
Hanna, "						3	37
Hamlet, "						3	47
Cypress, "
Hymera, "	7	55	5	47	2	55	10
Inwood, "						4	5
Plymouth, "						4	25
Elm Grove, "						4	59
Hutchinson, "						5	11
Wilmington, "	8	13	6	08		5	39
Elliott Creek, "
Tipton, "						5	50
Porterville, "						6	0
Galetta City, "	8	43	7	05		6	30
Arcola, "						6	45
Ft. Wayne, ar.	10	15	8	45		8	15
Ft. Wayne, lv.	10	25	8	50		8	30
Van Wert, "						9	33
Ada, "						10	30
Honeyrun, "	12	14	10	39		11	40
Bucyrus, ar.	12	41	11	5		12	10
Crestline, ar.	1	10	11	45		12	55
Crestline, lv.	1	20	11	50		1	0
Wooster, "	2	11	12	39		1	55
Mansfield, "	2	35	1	0		2	20
Orrville, "	3	5	1	30		2	50
Canton, "	3	29	1	54		3	14
Alliance, "	3	55	2	20		3	40
Pittsburgh, ar.	5	50	4	15		5	35

Sleeping, Parlor, Cafe and Observation Cars on Day Trains. Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.

a Stops at Hyndall to take or let off passengers to or from Fort Wayne and points east thereof, and to or from Bucyrus and points west thereof. b Stops to take on passengers for Fort Wayne or points east thereof. c Stops on Saturday to take off passengers.

Sun—Train No. 24 has no connecting east of Richmond; Sunday tickets to eastern points will not be honored on this train.

G. L. PECK, General Manager. E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agent.

1-31-02-P. PITTSBURGH, PENN'A.

For time cards, rates of fare, through tickets, baggage checks and further information regarding the running of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

A FREE PATTERN
(your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.

McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50 YEAR

A LADIES' MAGAZINE.

A most beautiful colored plate, latest fashions, dressmaking supplement, every week household hints, stories, etc. 50 cents to-day, to send it for three months. Lady agents wanted. Send for terms.

Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.

McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ 15¢

All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Making and Sewing Lines.

Only 10 and 15 cents each. Sold by nearly 50,000 Agents, and by mail from

THE McCALL CO., 138-146 West 37th St., New York.

"The World to Come and the Life Everlasting," is the name of a book of over 400 pages. The title page describes it as a Symposium of Writers on eternal life from the Bible Basis, and is selected from the works of a goodly number of Bible Students who have written during the past few years. It is compiled and published by Bro. John O. Woodruff, of Elizabeth, N. J., of whom it may be ordered. The paper and print are excellent, as is the durable cloth-binding. The price is $1.00, and considering the work as a whole it is very low, and we urge all who need a book on this subject to procure one without delay.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1600. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism. by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 150-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

What is a Spiritual Body?
Faith and Hope.

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

VANDALIA LINE
TIME TABLE.
In effect Sept. , 1 102.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex Sunday, For South Bend		8:40am
No. 14, Ex. Sun.	"	12:01noon
No. 8,	" "	8:01pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute		5:35a m
No. 3,	" " "	11:18am
No. 9,	" " "	7:16pm

Train No 21 runs to Terre Haute, and connects at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis arriving at 10:30 a m. Train 3 makes connection for Indianapolis, Evansville and all points south. Reaching St. Louis 9:40 p m. and Cincinnati at 8:00 p m.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address W. E. Smith Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNK LINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,
General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

H. J. WEMYSS,
General Immigration & Industrial Agent.
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1,199 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10:30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and B. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Rensselaer, Ind meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at, Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 A. M., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God at Burr Oak, Ind. have preaching every 2d and 4th Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and in the evening. Bible meeting every Thursday evening. Samuel Osborne and G. A. Maxey Elders. Sunday School every Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Georgia Osborne Sec. of the S. S. All are invited to any of the services.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day for worship and proclamation of the gospel, at 10:30 a m, and 6:30 p m. The faithful always welcome. P. O'Neil Elder, 366 W. Main.

The Church of God in Tacoma, Wash. corner S Yakima ave and 10th st. Preaching every Sunday at 11:00 and 7:45. Sylvester Wilkins Elder, N C Griswold Pastor. Bible study each Wednesday evening 7:45.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 a. m. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. at 1749 Superior St. Cleveland, O; where all of like precious faith are welcome. Take elevator.

The Church of God near Hillsborg, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by A. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Fahelman.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's Hall, Galena Ave., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Bruch Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Knife, Kessler, or John Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. J. Anthon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Roisin Center is presided over by Brother L. G. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trundell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Wash. [illegible] every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Groat of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder, Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher

—FOR THE—

CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

Poetry.

Palestine.

Fair Palestine, though still enveloped in night,
Through woe desolation breands o'er thee,
The sun of thy glory shall rise in his might,
And the arm of Jehovah restore thee.

Though long hath oppression enveloped thee round,
The grasp of thy foes shall be broken,
The mountains and hills within shall resound,
For the Word of Jehovah hath spoken.

Thy down-trodden children, though scattered afar,
Redeemed from the hand of oppression,
Shall follow the Guide of their Bethlehem star,
To inherit their ancient possession.

The Crescent now waning in Mussulman pride
Shall wane with the power that bore thee,
Where the banner of him who on Calvary died,
An ensign of peace shall restore thee.

Jerusalem's temple again shall arise,
Then the former more dazzling and splendid,
When Messiah as King hath delivered the skies,
And the throne of his glory ascended.

Rejoice Palestine, that thy morning star bright,
Already hath risen high o'er thee,
Soon the sun of thy glory shall rise in his might,
And the arm of Jehovah restore thee.

Written by David E. Millard while travelling in Palestine, and found among my wife's treasures after her death.

DANIEL HOWARD.

Communicated.

Absent from the Body.

"Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord: for we walk by faith, and not by sight: we are confident I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord." 2 Cor. v. 6 8.

The phrase, "Absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord," expresses to my mind the sum and substance of the one true faith and hope of the gospel, in the fewest words of any passage of Scripture I know of. It signifies the glad end of the groaning frailty incident to mortality, and the glorious appearance of the Son of God, who will end this night of pain and woe, by causing "immortality" to be "swallowed up of life." For "when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then (and not until then) shall be brought to pass the saying that is written. DEATH IS SWALLOWED UP IN VICTORY." 1 Cor. xv. 54. We shall then be "absent from the body (of death) and present with the Lord." Paul was not only "willing" but had an intense desire to be absent from this body (of death,) and present with the Lord in the glorified body. He was doubtless a sufferer in the flesh, and anxiously waited and longed for the promised change of "our vile body that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body," when he exclaimed, "O wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me from the body OF THIS DEATH?" Rom. vii. 24. There can be no presence with the Lord until delivered from the present body of death.

The context before and after the text under consideration, sustain the thoughts given above. The key text is found in 2 Cor. iv. 18: "While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are TEMPORAL: but the things which are not seen are ETERNAL." No one can fail to see the truth, that the context is dealing with a contrast between "temporal" and "eternal" things. When we are "present with the Lord," the "temporal" must yield to the "eternal."

There can be no abiding presence "with the Lord," until we are invested with the "eternal." The burden of Paul's theme is, "that mortality might be swallowed up of life," and not that some imaginary immortal soul might escape from the mortal, but that which is itself "mortal" "might be swallowed up of life." There is a difference between that which is MORTAL being swallowed up of life, and the immortal escaping from the mortal.

We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the (temporal) body, and to be present with the Lord." We also know "that whilst we are at home in the (temporal) body, we are absent from the Lord." "There is a natural (temporal) body, and there is a spiritual (eternal) body." 1 Cor. xv. 44: "Howbeit that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual." Verse 46. It is not in fact two distinct bodies, but the natural changed to the spiritual. "It is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body." Verse 44, "Who shall change our vile body." Phil. iii. 20. "That mortality might be swallowed up of life." 2 Cor. v. 4. "This mortal shall put on immortality." 1 Cor. xv. 54. "The dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we (the living) shall be CHANGED." Verse 51. "It is sown in corruption, it is raised in incorruption." Verse 42.

I regard this text in connection with its context, as a very clear testimony teaching that life eternal can only be attained by the presence of the Lord; hence, we anxiously "look for the Saviour the Lord Jesus Christ; who shall CHANGE our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body." Phil. iii. 20.

Search as best you may, I challenge any one to discover in the Scripture under examination the slightest evidence to sustain the common thought that it has reference to an immortal soul making its escape from the mortal body at death. The word soul does not appear in the testimony. The whole thing is inferred, read in, and assumed, is a mere conjecture. When such practices are resorted to, we can be confidently assured that their conclusions are erroneous. A true sense of a passage can never be ascertained by assuming that which is not found in the text.

Another text of a similar import, is found in 2 Cor. xii. 2: "I knew a man in Christ above fourteen years ago, whether in the body I cannot tell, or whether out of the body I cannot tell; God knoweth, such an one caught up to the third heaven."

Paul is here dealing with a vision that appeared before his mind and not with realities. In this vision or mind picture, he sees a man who has reached the "third heaven" state, but not caught up to the third heaven.

The Greek "caught up" in this text, is arpazo. This same word is found in Acts viii. 39. "The spirit of the Lord CAUGHT AWAY Philip." And also in John vi. 15: "Take him by force." Campbell version renders the phrase "caught up" in the text under consideration by "snatched away," the Diaglott—"conveyed away." A person who has examined a number of lexicons does not find the phrase "caught up." The use of the word "up" is misleading. Paul sees the man in his vision "caught away" down the stream of time to the third heaven state. The "third" heaven here spoken of is not "up" above in the skies, but is related to the earth. This can be learned by reference to 2 Pet. iii. 3, 4. We are there informed that in the last days scoffers in derision would ask the question, "Where is the promise of his coming?" And he also adds: They are "willingly ignorant" of the fact, that "the heavens were of old, and the earth standing out of the water and in the water," were overflowed with water and "perished." This ended the FIRST HEAVEN and EARTH.

The seventh verse speaks of the SECOND HEAVENS and EARTH, as follows: "But the heavens and the earth which are now, by the same word, are kept in store, reserved unto fire, against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men." This will END the SECOND HEAVENS and EARTH. Verse 13, speaks of the THIRD HEAVENS and EARTH, which Paul sees in vision. It reads: "Nevertheless we according to his promise, look for new heavens and new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness." Other Scriptures confirm Peter's declaration, with regard to the third heaven.

In this vision Paul did not comprehend whether the man was "in the body," or not. "In the body," is a phrase applicable to the natural or animal body, and "when out of the body," signifies that the spiritual has succeeded the "natural." The third heaven state is that of the "spiritual." The phrases "in the body" and "out of the body" has sole reference to these two conditions, natural and spiritual. The supposition of an immortal soul absenting itself from the body is foreign to Scripture language, and is purely a notion of heathen origin.

Chambers' Encyclopedia says: "The Egyptian nation appears to be the first to declare that the soul was immortal."

Says Olshansen: "The doctrine of the immortality of the soul and the name are alike unknown to the entire Bible."

Says Bobney: "The Bible is silent on the point of an absolute and unconditional immortality of all men."

Says Mortimer: "An immortality inherent in man is an unscriptural figment."

Says Graham: "If immortality is INHERENT in all men, it is very plain that it cannot be the gift of God to the obedient." That which is inherent cannot be a gift.

Says Chase: "Paganism taught immortal soulism before Christ or Moses or Abraham. Satan taught it in Eden. It cannot be true else it would be incorrect to say, that life and immortality are brought to light in the gospel."

Says Ashcroft, "Human immortality is a contradiction in terms; for what is human cannot be immortal, and the moment it becomes immortal it ceases to be human."

Says Prof. Neville: "All teaching which makes the soul immortal, by virtue of a primitive essence, is concealed pantheism."

Says Prof. Genesen: "Rash the attempt, though so many have tried it, to establish the soul's immortality by arguments founded on its spiritual nature." The spiritual nature is not cotemporaneous with the natural, but succeeds the natural as a gift from God.

If the Bible taught the idea of an immortal soul leaving the body at death, what nation do you suppose would be the first to embrace and teach the doctrine? Most naturally we would say, the one who was made the custodian of the Oracles of God, and not an idolatrous nation, who knew nothing of it.

History says the Egyptians were "the first to declare that the soul was immortal."

One would naturally suppose that Israel would be a nation to discover and teach that idea in case it was the teaching of the Oracles confided to their keeping; but it was not, that was reserved for a nation who knew not God, but worshiped idols.

So the phrases "in the body," and "out of the body," can have no allusion to the heathen notion of an immortal soul, but to the change from the "natural" to the "spiritual" when we shall reach the third heaven state, or new heavens and new earth, wherein righteousness will dwell.

It certainly will be a happy release to be "absent" from this "body of death," and be ever present with the Lord in the glorious everliving body, made like unto our Lord.

At that time we shall be ever with our Lord, and also in company with the pure and the blessed of all ages. Come, Lord Jesus. Yes, thou "Hast said that thou wilt visit earth again!

But not the homeless orphan of the world,
To wander on in pain and woe, and weep
And perish on the tree; but on thy car
Of lightning, rolling from the unfathomed depths
Of heaven! while angels robed in radiant light,
Brandish their glittering banners o'er thee,
And on all the clouds, like burning billows, flash,
And bound beneath thy feet! The tramp shall peal
The dead-awakening blast, more deep and full
Than thunder in its maddest roar! The sea
Shall yawn, and the buried saints arise;
The graves burst open, and the dust unite
Into a living form! and then shall come
The new life, and the new age of peace."

Then we shall ever be present with the Lord, and absent from the body of death.

W. H. WILSON.

Subscribe for THE RESTITUTION for 1902.

The "Many" and "the Law."

In my articles on the "promise to Abraham" reference was made to the "many" children of Israel, and the fact that God did not say to Abraham, "And to thy seeds, as (if he spoke) of many; but as of one, And to thy seed, which is Christ." Gal. iii. 16. But "lest we forget," I will say that while God did not make the promise to the "many," yet they were a necessity in producing the "One." The promise was, "To thee and thy seed—which is Christ." But this interval of nearly two thousand years between the giving of the promise and "the fulness of time" when the seed came (Gal. iv. 4), had to be bridged over. Now, it is plain that if, after so long a time, Christ was to be of Abraham's seed, it was necessary that Abraham's children should be separated from the rest of the nations; and here they were beset with the common vicissitudes of human life and experience, and, not having faith, did not follow in the steps of their father Abraham. This being true, they transgressed this arrangement, and hence it became necessary to enact a law which would compel them to maintain their separate identity as a people, a nation. It is with this in view that Paul propounds the question, "Wherefore then serveth the law?" Gal. iii. 19. "Then" clearly refers to v. 18 where it is stated, "For if the inheritance be of the law, it is no more of faith." This would appear to make the law useless, and we see the propriety of the question as to the object of the law. The apostle answers his own question most admirable when he says:

1. "It was added" (that is, to "the promises" referred to in v. 16-18). But notwithstanding this "addition" "the law which was 430 years after, could not annul the promise so as to make it ineffective," but the latter continued in force to those of faith the same as if the law had never been given. The law was not intended for those who lived by faith, but for the wayward.

2. The reason of this "addition" was "because of transgressions." But how can there be "transgression" before there is a "law"? What had been "transgressed" in the absence of the law? The principle which God had taught Abraham when he "called him to go out of his country and his father's house;" the same principle he inculcated in his mind when he taught him to "dwell in tabernacles, as also Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise"—the principle of separation from the idolatrous people with whom they came in contact. No intermarrying or mixture here with them, no "entangling alliances,"—all with a view to Christ. But "because of transgression" of this principle, because they had not the necessary faith, "the law was added" to compel them to be separate. As an example of the many I give the following: "And ye shall be holy unto me: for I am holy, and have severed you from other people, that ye should be mine." Lev. xx. 26. Notice the mandatory character of the law, "Ye shall."

3 The law "was added"—not for all time, but "till the seed should come." Why no longer? Because it was but a temporary arrangement, which with its compulsory character, "thou shalt, or shall not" could not produce loving obedience to God's will, but only fear of evil consequences in case of disobedience; and hence could not give life. Gal. iii. 21. Hence it was "a schoolmaster eis, with a view to Christ, that we might be justified by faith." v. 24. "Now, the just by faith shall live." Rom. i. 17. And it is perfectly natural for the apostle to add (v. 25). "But after (justifying and lifegiving) faith is come, we are no longer under a schoolmaster, but children of God by faith" (v. 26); "and if children, then heirs, heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ" (Rom. viii. 17); or, as here, "If ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise." v. 29.

Without the "many" the "One which is Christ" could not have "come" (10, 19); they were a necessity to the accomplishment of God's purpose; and the law "served" a good end in keeping them separate from other people, so that when "the seed should come" he might be a "son of David and son of Abraham." Luke iii. 23, 31, 34.

Now as in the days of Abraham, faith is the principle upon which God will justify, and as it was necessary for Abraham and his descendants to be separate and "a peculiar people," so now comes the call of the gospel, not with cast iron rigidity or "schoolmasterly" sternness commanding and compelling obedience to God's righteous requirements, but gently and persuasively it bids us "come out and be separate and touch not the unclean thing," and God's love tenderly adds, "I will receive you, and be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters." 2 Cor. vi. 17, 18.

A. H. ZELMER.

Genesis. Chap. 36.

1. And these are the generations of Heesau! He is Edoom.

2. And Heesau took wives for himself from the daughters of the Chananites; namely, Ada, daughter of Alloom the Chettaite, and Olibema, daughters of Ana, the son of Sebegoon, the Emite;

3. And Basemath, daughter of Ismael, daughter of Nabaioth.

4. And Ada brought forth for him Heliphas and Basemath brought forth Hragouel.

5. And Olibema brought forth Ieous and Ieglom and Kore; these are sons of Heesau who were born unto him in a land of Chanaan.

6. And Heesau took his wives and his sons and his daughters, and all the persons of his household and his chattels and all his domestic animals and all things that he had acquired and all that [illegible] a land of Chanaan, and Heesau went his way out of the land of Chanaan from the face of his brother Jakoob.

7. For their possessions were too many for them to dwell together, and the land was not able to carry their cohabitation by reason of the multitude of their things.

8. And Heesau took up his abode on Mt. Sueir. Heesau he is Edoom.

9. And the generations of Heesau or father of Edoom in Mount Sueir are as follows.

10. And these are the names of the sons of Heesau: Heliphas, son of Ada, wife of Heesau and Hragouel, son of Basemath, wife of Heesau;

11. And sons were born unto Heliphas, namely, Thaiman, Oomar, Soophar, Gothoom and Kenez.

12. And Thamna was a concubine of Heliphas, son of Heesau; and she brought forth for Heliphas Amaleek; these are the sons of Ada wife of Heesau.

13. And these are the sons of Hragouel, namely, Nachoth, Zare, Some and Moze; these were the sons of Basemath, wife of Heesau.

14. And these are the tons of Olibema, daughter of Ana the son of Sebegoon, wife of Heesau; and she brought forth for Heesau, Ieous and Iegiom and Kore.

15. These sons of Heesau were sheiks (lit. "leaders") sons of Heliphas first-born of Heesau, sheik Thaiman, sheik Oomar, sheik Soophar, sheik Kenez.

16. Sheik Kore, sheik Gothoom, sheik Amaleek; these were sheiks of Heliphas in a land, Idoumaia, these sons of Ada.

17. And these sons of Hragouel son of Heesau, sheik Nachooth, sheik Zare, sheik Some, sheik Moze; these were sheiks of Hragouel in a land of Edoom, these sons of Basemath, wife of Heesau;

18. And these were sons of Olibema, wife of Heesau; namely, sheik Ieoul, Ieglom, sheik Kore, these sheiks of Olibema, daughter of Ana, wife of Heesau.

19. These were Heesau's sons and these their sheiks; these sons of Edoom.

20. And these the following sons of Seeir the Chorraite inhabiting the land; Lootan, Soobal, Sebegoon, Ana.

21. Deesoon and Aear and Hrisoon; these namely, the sheiks of Chorraios, the son of Seeir in the land of Edoom.

22. And sons were born to Lootan, namely, Chorroi and Haiman, and Lootan's sister was Thamna.

23. And these the following were the sons of Soobal; Goolam and Manachath and Gaibeel and Soophar and Oomar;

24. And these the following were the sons of Sebegoon, Aia and Ana; this is the Ana who found Iameth (Hot Springs) in the wilderness when he was pasturing the beasts of burden of Sebegoon his father.

25. And these are the sons of Ana, Deesoon and Olibema, a daughter of Ana.

26. And these the sons of Deesoon, namely Amada and Asbau, and Itharn and Charran.

27. And these the sons of Asar; Balaam and Zoukam and Ioukam.

28. And these the sons of Hrisoon, Heos and Aran.

29. These the sheiks of the Charroi, sheik Lootan, sheik Soobal, sheik Sebegoon, sheik Ana.

30. Sheik Deesoon, sheik Asar, sheik Hrisoon; these the sheiks of the Chorroi in their sheikdoms in a land of Edoom.

31. And these the kings, the following namely, who reigned as kings in Edoom before there reigned a king in Israeel.

32. And Balak, son of Beoor became king in Edoom and the name of his city Denaaba.

33. And Balak died and there reigned in his stead Joobab ("Job") son of Zara from out Bossora.

34. And Jochab died and there reigned in his stead Asoom from the land of the Thaimanites.

35. And Asoom died and there reigned in his stead Adad so[illegible] rad, who smote Madiam on t[illegible] of Moaab; and the name of h[illegible] Gethaim.

36. And Adad died and there r[illegible] ed in his stead Samada from [illegible] sekka.

37. And Sumada died and [illegible] reigned in his stead Saoul from Hrachooth beside the river.

38. And Saoul died and there reigned in his stead Ballenoon, son of Achobuor.

39. And Ballenoon son of Achobuor died and there reigned in his stead Arad son of Barad, and the name of his city Phogoor, and the name of his wife, Metabeel, daughter of Matraith, son of Matzooob.

40. These are the names of the sheiks of Heesau, the following namely, in their countries and in their nations; sheik Thamna, sheik Goola, sheik, Iether ("Jethro" Com. Ver.)

41. Sheik Olibemas, sheik Helas, sheik Phinoon.

42. Sheik Kenez, sheik Thaiman, sheik Mazar.

43. Sheik Magedieel, sheik Zaphooin; these were the sheiks of Edoom in their dwelling-places in the land of their possession. This Heesau is father Edoom.

And Jakoob was dwelling in the land where his father had sojourned in a land of Chanaan; and these are the generations of Jakoob.

COMMENT.

This 36th chapter of Genesis, dry and statistical as it may seem to the general reader is one of the most important as a matter of genealogical record in the whole book of Genesis. For in it is given the geneology of "Job" and the fact given that he was the second king of Edoom. It also settles the question as to who "Iethro" was, who in the C. V. is called "Moses father-in-law." He was one of these sheiks of Edoom and his name is given here as "Iether" And we know that Mouses married one of the daughters of "Hragouel" whose genealogy is also clearly given in this chapter.

This chapter also settles a good many other mooted questions of ancient races and their origin. "Dukes of Edom" is a fair specimen of the scholarship displayed in the Revision as well as the Com. Ver. The reader will note also that the prophet "Balaam" is mentioned in this chapter and his genealogy given.

The fortunes of Heesau are so interwoven with those of Jakoob in the divine record that it is impossible to trace and understand the one without a knowledge of the other; but the descendants of Jakoob have done very much to obscure the record of Heesau, and all this rabinical tinkering has been copied into the C. V. and R. V.

CHAS. GAUDNER.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME L. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, DECEMBER 4, 1901. NUMBER 45.

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, OFFICE EDITOR.

EDITORIAL COMMITTEE
J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, DEC. 4, 1901.

FRESH Turkish outrages on Armenians are reported from Mush, Sassun and Bitlis districts.

CAN any one give us the address of Mrs. Rosa Olds, formerly of Competition, Mo. who has moved to Colorado.

THE preparation for the Chinese court to re-occupy Pekin are complete, but owing to the fatigue of the Empress Dowager the entrance will be delayed for a week.

THE Fifty-seventh Congress began its session of six months on Dec. 2 and will likely have plenty of business to occupy the time. The Isthmus canal, great industrial combines, foreign markets, and the question of anarchy will be among the important matters to come up.

WE ask our friends to look over your accounts carefully, and if your time is out on the paper, please renew as promptly as is possible. We have some extra calls for money at this season of the year, and will very much appreciate the favor if you will help us a little. Please dont pass this on to others, but look to your own account.

A SERIES of accidents seem to be on the programme just now. A collision between two trains on the Wabash road in lower Michigan last week resulted in the death of 75 people and injury to many more. Next comes a collision of ferry boats in San Francisco bay, and the loss of many lives there by the sinking of one of the boats.

IT is now given with an air of official assurance, that Miss Stone, the missionary who was stolen in Bulgaria and held for ransom, is dead, as a body has been found about twenty-five miles from Sofia. Bulgaria now will see the action that this country may take in the affair, as the friends of the lady wish to hold the government responsible for the murder.

WAR between Chili and Argentina in South America seems sure, as both sides are buying arms and ammunition to be shipped this week. Add to this the civil strife that has been going on for over two years in Colombia, wherein over 50,000 lives have been lost, and we can see that the much advertized war in the Philippines and the Boer war, are not the only disturbances the world has had and is having.

THE friends at Burr Oak, Ind., have started in their new church in earnest it seems. They have about made arrangements for regular preaching every 2d and 4th Sundays in the month. They have a Bible meeting every Thursday evening, and have organized a Sunday school to be held every Sunday at 9:30 in the morning. We trust that love and the true spirit of Christ will rule in all their work, for only in that way will they be a bright and shining light in the world.

From the Homiletic Review

We call the following:—1 Cor. x. 1-14 is divinely declared to be a chapter in history recounted and recorded for our learning by way of example. It is therefore to be noted that in it five forms of evil doing are conspicuously held up by way of warning.

1. We should not lust after evil things as they also lusted.

2. Neither be idolators as were some of them.

3. Neither commit fornication as some of them committed.

4. Neither tempt the Anointed as some of them also tempted.

5. Neither murmur, as some of them murmured.

Plainly the first admonition is directed against the dominion of appetite; the second against all idolatry; the third against all impurity; the fourth against unbelief; the fifth against rebellion.

If there be any sin to which we are wont not included in this brief category we do not know what it is. Here all sins of inordinate desire, heart estrangement, preferences of lower objects over the divine, distrust of God's promises, and disobedience to his commands and will, are set before us with their warnings and penalties. It is also to be observed that the first sin of appetite affects, mainly oneself, the third, of sensuality, involves others in sin, and so represents injury done both to oneself and to others.

It is also worthy of notice that this passage suggests the remedies and antidotes for these five forms of temptations. We are told in the beginning of the chapter—

1. How the fathers were under the cloud;

2. How they passed through the sea;

3. How they were immersed into Moses in the clouds and in the sea;

4. How they did all eat and drink of the same spiritual food.

Then in the last part of this passage we have another lesson.

5. There is a faithful God who will not suffer us to be overwhelmed by temptation which seems irresistible, but will provide a way of escape, etc.

If we compare these five encouragements with the five perils, they will be seen to beautifully match each other.

1. The dominion of appetite—Christ our bread and drink.

2. The peril of idolatry. Compare the passage through the sea—a baptism into Christ.

3. The seduction of sensuality. Compare the baptism in the cloud—symbol of Holy Spirit power.

4. The temptations of unbelief. Is the Lord among us or not? Compare "under the cloud" of the divine presence.

5. The risk of murmuring and disobedience. Compare with this the assurance that God is always our helper in temptation.

Bible Class Paper.

OUR CONDUCT TOWARD THOSE WITHOUT

In the subject I selected, and I hope and trust many of you have given it the attention it deserves, and will give us the benefit of it. Col. iv. 5, 7, reads as follows: "Walk in wisdom toward them that are without,—redeeming the time; let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer every man." In Eph. v. 14-17 we read "Awake thou that sleepeth, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light. See, then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, redeeming the time, because the days are evil; wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is." In Gal. vi. 10, we are told to "do good unto all men as opportunity offers, but especially unto those who are of the household of faith." Another lesson of importance we find in Rom. xii. 16, 17, "Be not wise in your own conceits" even in regard to the knowledge of the truth, or it will disgust people,—but on the contrary, do as commanded in 1 Peter iii. 15, "Sanctify the Lord God in your hearts, and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you." And now as to the way in which the answer is to be given. It is not in an "I know it kind of a style," but with meekness and reverence, "having a good conscience, that whereas they speak evil of you, as of evil-doers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse, or slander your good conduct in Christ." How true does it appear here that the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but spiritual. This is powerfully emphasized in Rom. xii. 17, immediately after saying we must not be wise in our own conceits,—it says, "Recompense to no man evil for evil." In his manner ever so offensive we have to show by the spirit of our attitude that we have been with Jesus, and learned of him; caught his spirit, who when reviled, reviled not again. Turning to John ix. 5 we find him who spake as never man spake saying, "As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world." But he has long since gone away, and I ask where is the light to be found—yes, where is the light of the world to be found now? Has the Lord established a repository for the light and life giving truth? He has. Listen to him in Matt. v. 13, 14, 15, 16. Addressing his disciples, he says, "Ye are the salt of the earth; but if the salt have lost its savor, wherewith shall it be salted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men. Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a candle and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick, and it giveth light unto all that are in the house. Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven." Passing on to the 2nd chap. of Rom. v. 24 we find the Apostle saying that the name of God was being blasphemed among the Gentiles through Jews who rested in the law and made their boast of God, and claimed to be guides of the blind and a light to them that sit in darkness, and at the same time lived in open violation of the law. And the same lesson is to ight in 1 Tim. vi. 1. We see there that if we act out of harmony with the high calling with which we have been called the name of God and his doctrine will be blasphemed. It says, let as many servants as are under the yoke, count their own masters worthy of all honor, that the name of God and his doctrine be not blasphemed. Plainly, then, misconduct in any respect, on our part, will bring a reproach upon the name of God and his truth. Some years ago, I gently reproved a brother for something that I felt sure would bring discredit upon God and truth, but he was rather stiff,—said he would care nothing about what the world thought of it. This, I tried to show him was a very serious mistake. The Lord shows the good effect on the world of a consistent, godly walk, and letting the true light of the gospel shine out. Paul shows us the obverse side, the blasphemy of God's name and doctrine when we do not practice the spirit of the truth we profess. Again is this broad principle asserted in Titus ii. 1-5, "But speak thou the things which become sound doctrine: That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience; the aged women, likewise, that they be in behavior as becometh holiness, not false accusers, nor given to much wine, teachers of good things,—that they teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children, to be discreet, chaste, keepers at home,—not to be gadding about—good, obedient to their own husbands." Now follow the powerful reason, "That the Word of God be not blasphemed." The idea is that we profess to walk in obedience to the Word of God, and when such conduct as above set forth is witnessed, the book we pretend to be governed by is blasphemed. Truly ours is a High Calling,—indeed it seems to be so high that we can hardly begin to realize it. But the few Scriptures I have referred to, ought to re-assure us of its reality. The tremendous responsibilities resting upon us surely point to something superlatively grand and glorious. Yes; we have assumed responsibilities that would be perfectly appalling were it not for the heavenly assistance vouch-safed us. Just think of it,—we have undertaken to show by our conduct to the world that God not only is, but that he is great and good, and kind and beneficent of purpose; and we profess to stand up and testify by purity of life and conduct to the transforming power of his Word of truth. What an undertaking! What a mission in a world reeking with infidelity and every species of iniquity! We have undertaken to recommend the religion of the Bible by demonstrating what it will do for a person now, and what it promises to do in the future. We have taken up the work where Christ left off, and woe be to us if we are recreant to our trust. Nothing could be made plainer than that we should not persistently present the truth to those who scoff at it. That which is holy should not be offered to dogs, nor should pearls be presented to swine. At the same time every opportunity should be embraced to present it to those who have ears to hear. A bride for the Bridegroom has to be selected; and we are the only people who know the joyful sound—the only people who know the law of pardon and its conditions,—the only people who have laid hold of the hope set before us in the Word of truth, viz., a life of unfading glory in the promised kingdom of God on earth. While it is true that without money and without price we have proclaimed the saving truth of God in this city, we have not obtained the ears of hundreds of thousands; and I frankly say that I am not satisfied that we have done our whole duty to this city. Candidly, I do not feel that our Lord's approval of us, as a church, would be obtained, if he were to come tomorrow. I am profoundly thankful to observe a healthy, working spirit developing in the household, and this encourages me to take you into my confidence. I have a long time been thinking that seeing they will not come to listen to the Word of life after freely invited, that it is our bounden duty to make one grand effort to reach them with well selected leaflets. And if the Lord delayeth his coming for three months, and health sufficient be granted me, I intend to flood this city with from 75,000 to 100,000 of two page leaflets, of about twenty different titles. I am resolved to do this,—I have not had a cent pledged for this work, but I am sure it will come. I feel no anxiety on that score. And I want you all to be thinking about the best way to get them into circulation. I think that this is the only effective way of letting our light shine outside of this central effort. It may bring some honest hearts to listen to the Word preached here.

I offer a few explanatory remarks here, on Col. iv. 5; the injunction to walk in wisdom to them that are without is simply repeating what Jesus says in Matt. x. 16, "Behold I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves; be ye therefore wise as serpents, and harmless as doves." Prudence and carefulness must be observed. "Redeeming the time," I understand to mean that the opportunities must be seized, or secured, or used, as they present themselves. The words, "Let your speech be always with grace seasoned with salt," are rendered in Diaglott, "Let your words be always with affability, having been seasoned with salt." Seasoned with salt; salt is suggestive of something sharp, pungent, energetic, but beneficial, but at the same time the speech should not be repellent, but attractive,—when we fail of this we make a mistake; but you see at the same time it must not be insipid,—but apt, striking, interesting. The opposite sides of this subject are as follows: Flatness and weakness on the one hand,—insolence and ugliness on the other.

Dearly beloved, I am deeply impressed with the fact, that we have to act a part of difficulty, of delicacy and danger, which requires caution, circumspection, and prudence—we must not do or say what will be injurious to ourselves, nor unnecessarily to disgust our friends. We need a spirit of wisdom, and understanding, of counsel and of might, of knowledge, and of the fear of the Lord. Imprudence often does almost as much harm as sin. A want of judgment is sometimes almost as mischievous as a want of integrity. It is a rare accomplishment not to allow our firmness to assume the character of obstinacy, nor caution to degenerate into compromise or cowardice. Oh, we need the help of God all along this line of labor, and we ought to be thankful that we have his promise that his grace shall be sufficient for us.

Yes; the way is narrow and the road thorny, but the joy set before us transcends all human calculations, therefore in prosecuting the work we have undertaken it is of the last importance that we manifest an unbending firmness in all things required by God. We want to say like Paul in the midst of all the attempts to bend our purpose and shake our confidence, "None of these things move me." We must remember that one concession leads to another till all is relinquished.

An unwavering consistency, and an untiring perseverance must characterize our conduct if we would enjoy the smiles of heaven. The very appearance of evil creates disgust in people. Our religion must not be, nor appear to be, an abstract thing, separable from our social character, but a part of it, binding all into unity, symmetry and beauty. It must not float on the surface like oil on water, but hold in solution, like sugar in a cup, sweetening the whole. It must make us conscientious in common things, as well as devotional in sacred things. It is of great consequence that we should present our religion to our friends under an aspect of cheerfulness. Let them see that we are even now rejoicing in hope of the glory of God.

I feel deeply impressed with the solemnity of the hour we are living in, and want to do all in my power to aid you in every way that shall spiritually quicken you, that we may as a joyful band meet the approving smile of our Lord and Life-giver when he comes. May the glad day soon roll around, and we be found clothed upon with the righteousness of God by faith in Jesus Anointed. Amen.

Selections.

Signs of Our Lord's Near Coming.

Fifteen years ago only ten thousand Jews were in all Palestine. When I was there five years ago there were two hundred thousand, their number having doubled in four and a half years, despite the greatest possible efforts of the Turkish government to keep them away, as ever since 1874 they have had laws forbidding Jews to citizenize in the Holy Land, only permitting them to come and go as pilgrims. Yet despite this rigid and tyrannical restriction, you see how rapidly they're coming and all maneuver some way to stay, mainly by bribing the Turkish officers. Eleven great colonization societies are constantly operating to bring the Jews back to their own country, from which they have been driven all these ages by usurpers and robbers. So fast as they colonize that country they are turning it into the land "abounding in corn and wine and flowing with milk and honey." Jewish capital and enterprise are now rapidly dissipating the desolation which has been on the land since the Jewish tribulation, and causing it everywhere to leap into life and flourish as in the days of the prophets. Besides, the Jews, not only in the Holy Land, but in all nations, and especially in Russia, where half of their universal population dwell, are becoming amazingly accessible to the gospel. This wonderful gathering of the Jews and the turning of the hearts of God's ancient people not only to the Holy Land, but to their own prophetic Priest and King, is significantly ominous of the Lord's near coming, as these are prophetic signs of the end, so positively specified in both Testaments.

Under the leadership of Nehemiah only fifty thousand Jews returned. When we consider the fact that four times that number are already in the Holy Land, we see that the gathering of the Jews is already an accomplished fact, and a most conspicuous omen of the Lord's return. When I attended the Wailing of the Jews, and saw them on their knees with their open Bibles reading the promises of God to gather them back and give them the Holy Land again, and saw them kissing the stones which Solomon put in the temple, though prohibited by penalty of death from coming inside those thirty-five acres of Holy Ground surrounding the temple on Mount Moriah, and heard their bitter wailing, I felt that the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob was hearing the cries of their wandering children, and gathering them from the ends of the earth, to hail their own King Jesus, riding down on the throne of David.

As the Lord permitted me to make two visits to that country, four and a half years apart, I was enabled by way of contrast, to see the wonderfully rapid and copious prophetic fulfilments throughout the land. Of course, the rapid return of the Jews, the number having doubled in that short period, is strikingly ominous that the end is nigh. It is a significantly observable fact, well attested, that God is bringing back "the former and the latter rains" in the ancient order. "Immediately after the desolation of those days the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars will fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens will be shaken." Matt. xxiv. 29. As the Roman policy was always rule or ruin, pursuant to the prophecy of Jesus the armies came, A. D. 66, and spent seven years in an effort to subjugate the insurgent Jews, winding up with their extermination and the desolation of the land. Then the wild children of Ishmael and Esau—who, like their conquerors, the American Indian, are not the people to improve a country—poured in and took possession, and are this day the natives of the land. Now, under the rapid Jewish immigration and colonization, the desolation of eighteen hundred years is rapidly disappearing. The above prophecy says that the rulers of the world will be shaken down, the kings, queens, and governors, the sun, moon and stars symbolizing them, going into eclipse, and the splendor of the Sun of Righteousness, immediately after the evanescence of the desolation, which is now a universal matter of fact. "Then will appear the sign of the Son of Man in heaven; and then will all the tribes of the earth mourn, and will see the Son of Man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory, and he will send forth his angels with the great sound of a trumpet: and they will gather his elect from the four winds, from the extremities of the heavens unto the extremities of the same." Matt. xxiv. 30, 31. "These things beginning to take place, straighten up and lift up your heads, because your redemption is nigh." Luke xxi. 28.

These plain, unmistakable prophecies of our Savior delivered to his disciples on Mount Olivet two days before his crucifixion, certify that he will come back "immediately after the desolation of the land." His approach anticipated by the sign of his coming, which will evidently be the gorgeous splendor shining out from his glorified person, perhaps a million miles before him, and wrapping the whole earth in an effulgence so luminous as to eclipse the sun, moon and stars. As you see this wonderful supernatural sign will be followed by his glorious person, whom "all the tribes of the earth" will see and break forth into bitter "wailing." Then in verse 31 you see the rapture of the saints most unmistakable, when he will send forth his angels with the resurrection trumpet to gather all the saints, living and dead, to meet him in the air. As you see in the above quotation, Luke exhorts the widowed church, who has been bowed down ever since her divine husband flew up from Mount Olivet, and awfully persecuted by the devil, to "straighten up and lift up our heads, because our redemption is nigh." This redemption is none other than our transfiguration, when all the members of the bridehood will be gathered by the angels to meet the Lord in the air. If all the people only knew these thrilling facts of prophetical fulfilment, what a time of washing and dressing would take place in Christendom, all getting robed and ready to meet the Lord! Will you not go and tell them?—Dr. Godbey.

Hindrances.

Some boys had a fine play-ground on a level place near an embankment of earth. One wet and windy night a fragment of the bank was broken off and washed down in the midst of a small fort that the boys were building, and when they saw it they were much troubled by the hindrance to their work.

"Let us climb over it and go to work on the other side," said one.

"Let us go around it," said another.

"But this is the very best place," said a third. "We want to keep on right here. Suppose we take it away."

"It is too big," exclaimed the first.

"But if we break off a shovelful at a time and carry it away in pieces, it will get smaller and smaller all the while," said the third boy, and finally all agreed, and they took the hindrance out of the way, a little at a time.

Was not that the best plan?

Suppose that a boy has a hindrance in his path that is called ignorance. It is directly in the way of his usefulness and happiness. Is it worth while to try to climb over it, or go around it and skip the lessons and the hard examples and all that? No, no. Take it away, a lesson at a time. What cannot be done in the lump, you know, can often be done piecemeal. But one must keep at it. Remember that.

Regulars.

"I'm no hero; I'm just a regular," said an officer of the regular army when the country was going wild over the brilliant exploits of some of its volunteers. Not heroic in spasms and dashes, but regularly enlisted in a service that called for constant and unfailing bravery!

There was something of good-natured sarcasm in the remark, but it holds a truth for the everyday life all about us. Here and there some noble deed, or act of self-sacrificing courage, flashes into prominence, and we give it unstinted praise, but we too often undervalue the "regulars"—the steady, disciplined, quiet lives which have made courage and sacrifice a profession, and are heroic every day in the year.

All around us they are; in our homes, perhaps, carrying the burdens and fighting the battles so steadily that we forget to give them any word of cheer, and even fail to realize that their task may be hard. Fathers, mothers, elder brothers and sisters, we occupy the places they win for us, and because they are regulars we do not recognize their lives of patient, unselfish courage.

The heart hides deepest what it holds dearest. Religosity is not the same thing as real religion. For faith has its abode—it may fare forth at need, but it has its abiding place in the deep silences of the soul. The person who can talk about the eternal verities as lightly as he would talk about the weather, has something to learn concerning vital religion.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending THE RESTITUTION to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the donors request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

R S Cummings	1.50
Mrs Wm Hill	.50
Mrs J E Forsythe	3.50
Jas Hadden	1.50
Mrs M E Dawson	.50

The Struggle.

It is truth, but the world will not see;
To me 'tis the shining of day;
Shall I hide it, and hold it to be
But light for my own narrow way?
To me it is warmth, it is life;
Shall I bury it up in my heart,
Lest my soul be mistaken for strife,
And my brother in anger depart?

My friends are too dear to be lost;
A lover of quiet and ease;
O how I had counted the cost,
My silence had left me in peace!
A seal for my lips let it be
Entombed in my spirit's recess;
No murmur, in my folly, will I
A truth that's unwelcome confess.

Nevermore, but it sounds like a knell,
And its echoes bring tolling of tears;
I have loved it, have loved it so well,
And now have my cowardly fears
Deep buried the truth from my sight,
And I list to that terrible toll;
But I've put all my angels to flight,
And hushed all the song in my soul.

O darkness. How dark! and how cold!
No sun, and no stars in my sky!
Can it be that love's garments enfold
Such a desolate creature as I?
Such a desolate creature—and poor!
Will the angels come back if I pray?
I have lost the rare jewel I bore,
Which lighted my devious way.

O when shall I find thee once more,
My living, my beautiful truth?
Return! I will sing as before,
And my age shall be glad as my youth;
Return! I will set thee on high,
To shine for my brothers also;
In the wonderful blue of our sky,
Thou shalt be as a sun, or a star.

MRS. M. P. A. CRANDELL.

Communicated.

OUR LETTER DRAWER

Editor Restitution:

I saw in your paper that some were laboring upon the subject of "God's image," and trying to reconcile the image of man with the image of God. This cannot be done, as God did not make the man direct, but he made him by his agents or angels. Eloam said, Let us make man in our image, or our likeness. The angels made the man in their image by God's direction. For example—A manufacturer gets name of making all the goods that are done in his factory. His name is alone mentioned when the goods are spoken of. In all probability he does not personally see one part of the manufacture of the goods. All the parts are done by his directions, still when the goods are mentioned there is only mention of the master's name, and not of one of the employees, who in reality did the work. In this case God is the Master, the work—the making of man—is done by his angels, in their likeness and by his directions.

Yours in the faith.

JAS. WALLACE.

Dear Restitution:

Brother S. R. Clinkenbeard of Texas, has been quite sick for a fortnight. We are glad to say he is convalescing and will soon be well again. He has been zealously wielding the sword of the Spirit for over forty years, turning men from darkness to light, and from Satan to God. He is persuaded like Paul, that neither life nor death, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, can separate him from the love of God as it is in Christ Jesus. The Bible is his chief counsellor and he hails with joy the weekly welcome visits of the grand old RESTITUTION. He is still guided by the law of love, and animated with the spirit of Christ, and desires an interest in your prayers.

In the precious faith.

T. C. BLAKEY.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

As there has been no report from Baker, Ohio, for some time I will send a few lines, thinking there are those who would like to know how we are getting along.

We have had Brother J. F. Wagoner with us sounding out the good news in his clear, plain way, as in former days. He came here Nov. 9, and held meetings until the 27. The attendance was not large, and there was no addition to the church, but we hope it will be as seed sown on good ground, and will fetch forth fruit some time hence.

There was a great deal of sickness during the meeting which was the cause of the small attendance. During the meeting a gloom was cast over our little flock and the entire neighborhood, by the death of Sister Detwiler. Brother Detwiler's family was stricken down with typhoid fever, four being sick at one time, resulting in the death of our sister. The others are slowly recovering. How these words are impressed upon our minds. There

The services were conducted by Bro. Wagoner, whose remarks were based on Job's question "If a man die shall he live again? and then showing in plain Scripture that our hope is in the resurrection.

Brother and Sister Detwiler were brought into the faith during Brother Zilmer's preaching at this place. May the time soon come when there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor sighing, is our prayer.

Yours in the blessed hope.

S. J. ELTON.

Dear Restitution:

I will say a word to all of the one faith, as it is getting near the time for our love-feast. Let one and all try and write a few lines to testify that we are all standing fast in the faith, and let us have our lamps trimmed and burning, ready for the Master, for we know not when he will come, or may be the destroying angel will lay us low. I will say for one that I am as strong in the faith as ever, and thank God that he let me see the true way. Let one and all say a few words to cheer one another.

Your Sister in the faith.

LIZZIE JOHNSON.

Editor Restitution:

As there has been a request for all to write a few lines in regard to our hope, I will say that when I first made a start (or so-called start) I joined the Campbellite Church. The inducement was that if I would join the church and be baptized, and lived faithful, that at death I would have a home in heaven. After I joined the church I got me a Bible and began reading for myself, and found out that Christ and the apostles held out no such inducements. What struck me with the most force in all my reading was the three last verses of the third chapter of Galatians, that if I was baptized into Christ then I became Abraham's seed and an heir according to the promise. Well, I did not know about this when I joined the church, that was not what the preachers told me, so what must I do? Well, I began to dig down to find the promises and found they were the promises made to the fathers, and that in Abraham and his seed should all the families of the earth be blessed. So I saw that I could not be baptized into Christ and become Abraham's seed without a knowledge. I could have no faith without a knowledge, so faith came by hearing and hearing by the Word of God, so I accepted the faith and was baptized into Christ, knowing what I was being baptized for. O how cheering it is to look forward by faith to the soon coming of our King, when those that are his will realize their long cherished hope. Then will all their trials and troubles end; for now darkness covers the earth and gross darkness the people. But not so with those in Christ who have their eyes ever looking Zionward, for they can see by faith the light of the morning star through the trials and tribulations and disappointments of this life. I ever cherish the blessed hope of the soon coming of him who will be King of all the earth. I remain yours in the one faith.

JESSIE HAROLD.

Dear Restitution:

In a late edition of THE RESTITUTION I noticed the article of E. W. Mead. I for one endorse every word of it, and I think it would be a worthy act on the part of every member (who is able) of our precious faith to act in accordance with it. We believe that our dear Savior will soon appear, we are looking for it, yea! I believe it too. The day is far spent, the shadows of evening are falling fast, we see the sun dropping behind yon clouds, but are we working? We, each and all know that the Father loves workers, and dont we all want to be beloved by him? Then let us up and at our, yes, his work, work as we never have before. Let us work hard while the twilight lasts, when the sun sets we cannot work. Oh, how sweet to our ears will be that welcome plaudit "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

Enclosed find check for $1.50, and please send THE RESTITUTION to the Public Library, Chicago, Ill., they promise to put it on their list.

HOWARD GIBBINGS.

Dear Restitution:

Perhaps some would like to hear of us through the paper. Wife and I are almost alone here in the faith, there being only two more in this part of the territory that I know of, and the dear old RESTITUTION is about all the preaching we have. I have had the charge of a Sunday School and Bible Class most of the time since we came to the Strip, and think I have done brother A. W. Darby, from Ransom, Kansas, came and held a meeting six miles southwest of Augusta, at our School house, commencing on Friday night before the fourth Sunday in October, and closed on evening of the first Sunday in November. Preaching eleven discourses in all, had a splendid turnout with good interest all through the meeting. It appears some are almost ready to obey but still hesitate. We will arrange to have Brother Oliver to preach for us once a month and I think much good will result. Yours for the truth.

W. P. DARBY.

Dear Brethren and Sisters in Christ:

I very much enjoy hearing from the faithful ones who believe the promises made to Abraham.

How firm a foundation, ye saints of the Lord,
Is laid for your faith in his excellent word.

Precious promises! The covenant with Abraham, renewed to Isaac, yea, "Confirmed the same unto Jacob for a law and to Israel for an everlasting covenant. Saying, unto thee will I give the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance." Ours is a real tangible hope. We are not hoping to be carried beyond the bounds of time and space, to a land above the sky, where there is no land, never was, and never will be. Our hope is not modern tradition. It is the same gospel that Paul tells us was preached to Abraham, and will be fulfilled in Christ. "He saith not unto seeds as of many, but unto thy seed which is Christ." Paul makes it doubly sure, "If ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise." Gal. iii. 18.

Not long since I asked a popular minister if he believed in the second coming of Christ? He said, "Yes; in a way, but I do not know what he is coming for." We rejoice that we not only know that he is coming, but what he is coming for. "Let the heavens rejoice, and the earth be glad; let the sea roar and the fullness thereof. Let the field be joyful, and all that is therein. Then shall the trees of the wood rejoice before the Lord, for he cometh, for he cometh to judge the earth, he shall judge the world with righteousness and the people with his truth." Psa. cvi. 11–13.

"Let the floods clap their hands, let the hills be joyful together before the Lord, for he cometh to judge the earth, with righteousness shall he judge the world, and the people with equity." "O, let the nations be glad and sing for joy, for thou shalt judge the people righteously and govern the nations upon the earth."

NANCY BARBER.

Dear Brethren and Sisters:

I have read with pleasure so many testimonials in regard to how people have been brought into the truth that it has awakened a desire in me to give in my evidence as one of the witnesses in this part of Virginia. Of course I have had the advantage of my many friends and acquaintances, from the fact of my parents being in the truth from my earliest recollection. Paul told Timothy that the faith he possessed first dwelt in his grandmother and then in his mother and then in him. This being the case with myself I ought to have seen and embraced the precious promises long before I did, but Paul said Satan hindered him, and of course he is busy yet telling the young people as well as the old not to trouble themselves about their future welfare, that they have'nt seen pleasure enough yet, don't join a church yet, wait awhile, it is time enough in after years. This is the way I was talked to and consequently the teaching of my parents concerning the truth was unheeded for a long time, but the Word of the kingdom had been sown so faithfully in our household that it has proven sharper than any two-edged sword, it being wielded so often by the good brethren of the one faith, it overcame the wicked devices which I had imbibed, and proved to be the power of God unto salvation. I have gladly embraced the truth and obeyed my Lord's command by being planted in the likeness of his death, and rising to walk in newness of life. About one year ago my husband put on Christ by baptism, and we are now trying in our feeble way to serve the Master, that we may have a part in the first resurrection. My prayer is to all outside of the ark of safety, is not to wait, now is the time, the accepted time. Why do we wait when we look around us and see darkness is covering the earth and gross darkness the people as never before. God help us to fight for the cause as never before.

Your Sister in Christ.

ALICE CROOKE.

"1260 days" are periods of the same length. I believe they are distinct and different periods, each measuring its own specific event. They are Hebrew or lunar time, for no Hebrew prophet would use a Gentile and false calendar that in fifty years would bring the last of December back to the middle of April, but would use his own heaven appointed lunar calendar by which all the anniversaries of Israel were regulated.

"The Hebrew year from the time of the exodus was evidently lunar—it is certain that the months were lunar each commencing with a new moon." Smith's Bible Dict.

The original word for "time" denotes a stated period or set feast, or the interval from one set feast to its recurrence, i. e. a year. J. F. & B. on Dan. vii. 25. Three and a half Hebrew "times, feasts, anniversaries, or years would consist of 2 years of 12 moons, 1 year of 13 moons, and one-half year of 6 to 7 moons, equal to 43 to 44 moons; a moon or month is 29.53 days, therefore any three and one-half "times" would consist of from 1258.78 to 1299.32 days.

This period first occurs in Dan. vii. 25, where it measures the time for which the saints and times and laws were given into the hands of the little horn, ending with the judgment and time for the saints to possess the kingdom.

In Dan. xii. 6, this period is quoted in answer to the question, "how long shall it be to the end of these wonders?" The prophet heard but understood not, and the answer was repeated to him more distinctly and fully as 1290 days, beginning with the taking away of the morning and evening sacrifice.

Then in "the time of trouble" which precedes Israel's deliverance, Dent. xxxii. 36; Jer. xxx. 7; Dan. xii. 1; Mat. xxiv. 21; Rev. xii. 12, and of which so many types occur in their history. Gen. xxxii. Ex. i. 14; 1 Sam. xi. 4; Esther iv. 2 Chron. xx. 12.

In Rev. xii. 14 again occurs this "time, times and a half," which I believe to be 1290 days. Here it measures the nourishing of the woman from the wrath of the dragon. She is fed 1260 days, 30 days less than 1290. This difference of 30 days fulfills the Egyptian type of this event, for when the woman, Israel, (Ex. xvi. 8–14) was first borne on eagle's wings (Ex. xix. 4) into the wilderness (Ex. xiii. 18) from the dragon, Pharaoh, (Ex. xxix. 3) she was not fed till 30 days after her flight. Ex. xvi. 14-15.

Hence I believe that this particular "time, times and a half" is 1290 days. In each case it measures the "wrath of the enemy" against Israel. Deut. xxxii. 27; Dan. vii. 21; viii. 24; Mat. xxiv. 21.

The period "42 months" equals 42 times 29.53, which equals 1240.26 days, neither period being 1260 days.

A. S. CLOUGH.

Selected.

The Absorbing Theme.

It is a remarkable fact that what a recent writer has said should be so strictly true, namely, "that the mental energy of our day is directed mainly to the investigation of biblical questions." If the Bible had been like other books, interest in it might have been exhausted long ago. The only other instance of persistent hold upon studious inquiry which any one would just now think of comparing with the biblical books is that of the writings of Shakespeare; and in this case the parallelism fails so soon as a critical and biographical interest in these writings has been named. Even this sort of interest is for the most part limited to a certain class. Upon the other hand, it may be said with truth there is no class of intelligent people to whom questions outside of the mere commonplaces of practical life appeal at all, upon whom what are termed "biblical questions" do not lay hold with commanding and persistent force. What we say is, indeed, most true of those who are most remarkable in point of intellectual eminence, and for whom scholarly research has most of fascination.

It would be difficult to account for this solely from the strictly literary characteristics of the Bible. There is, indeed always, and for a certain class of minds especially, something very attractive in an ancient literature, representing the thought, and faith, and life of peoples who have long ceased to have more than a mere name in history, whose monuments are seen in ruined cities, in buried libraries, in temples and palaces of these the enthusiasm at first felt soon with familiarity. The Bible is in some respects such a literature. There may be passages in it which belong in date to the world before the flood. It represents conditions of human life long passed away. It tells of heroes, and statesmen, and poets, and prophets contemporaneous with the most ancient of those with whom ordinary history deals. How men thought, and felt, and wrote thousands of years ago it records in a literature remarkable for its elevated tone and its perfection of form. But there are other such literatures. How comes it that Egyptian, Assyrian, Grecian and Roman literatures fail utterly in commanding the sort of interest which even the Old Testament books excite, or in gaining, as these do, more and more of commanding eminence in the intellectual life of the world?

It is very true that the Bible brings to the attention of men teachings upon those themes of inquiry which are supreme in interest, that whilen literature it is also a religion. But this is in some sense true of other ancient literatures. Go as far back as we may in our researches the religious element in human thought and utterance is always a pervasive one. Ancient philosophy itself deals, so far as it is able, with the same great matters which are treated of in the Bible. Ancient poetry and drama, among other races besides the Hebrews, have as much to say of those higher powers whom man naturally fears or adores, as either Solomon, or David, or Job. Yet while pagan literature of ancient times now occupies only the few, and them only in subordinate or at most professional ways, the literature of the Bible, appealing to every class, whether erudite or simple, gains upon the human mind a hold more and more tenacious, from age to age. There never was a time when the Bible was studied as it is now; there never was a time when the world's scholarship was so eager in its investigation of the biblical books and records.

The fact is truly phenomenal. And it is not made any the less so that there are so many in these times who set themselves to disparage and discredit the Bible. Does any materialist philosopher, any agnostic scientist, any loud and impudent infidel think it worth his while to attack the literature of paganism, because of its supernaturalism, however absurd? Is any body interested to prove that the teachings of ancient philosophy as to the soul's pre-existence, or as to transmigration from one form of being to another, is "the baseless fabric of a vision"? Why are men so much more set upon disproving what the Bible teaches, than upon showing how little to be trusted in such matters was either Pythagoras or Plato?

That the Bible is the religion of such millions of the human race, now, while Plato and Pythagoras are believed in by none save as in their speculations they may have anticipated the revelations and discoveries of a later time, simply changes the statement of the problem without solving it. Why should the religion of the Bible be thus a living one while so many of the ancient faiths are buried in the sands that cover the fanes and shrines of the old idolatries?

There is no other witness for the Bible so wholly unimpeachable, so conclusive in its testimony, as the Bible itself. The voice of God in the world is known from all other voices, and men recognize it even while they refuse to confess it. "The Word of the Lord"—how much that phrase meant in the time of the prophet; how much it means still. The thrilling echoes of it all the world's clamor fails to drown. The "still small voice" which proclaims a Divine reality and presence, is heard over all the din of human life, and is for every soul of man a message or an admonition, a menace or a hope.—The Standard.

Be Firm and True.

Never lower your principles to this world's standard. Never let sin, however popular it may be, have any sanction or countenance from you even by a smile. The manly confession of Christ, when his cause is unpopular, is made by himself the condition of his confessing us before God. If people find out that we are earnestly religious, as they soon will if the light is shining, let us make them heartily welcome to the intelligence. And then, again, in order that the lights may shine without obstruction we must be simple and study simplicity. This is by no means so easy as it at first sight appears; for in this high- to be seen freely by those around you in true colors.....As Christians we must eschew untruth in every form, we must labor to seem just what we are, neither better nor worse. To be true to God and to the thought of his presence all day long, and to let self occupy as little as possible of our thoughts; to care much for his approval, and comparatively little for the impression we are making upon others; to feed the inward light with oil, and then freely let it shine—this is the great secret of edification. May he indoctrinate us into it, and dispose and enable us to illustrate it in our practice.—Dr. Goulburn.

Do While You Can.

There is a time to work, and if we do not work when it is time to work, the work may forever be undone, and at the end we may mourn over neglected opportunities and misspent time. It is the business of every Christian man to know his daily duty and to perform it. But many persons fail to do this, and put off until some more convenient time, a season which never comes.

If men could understand that it is a determinate purpose of the Great Adversary to hinder them from performing their proper work, they would make the most of the present hour, and leave nothing for the uncertainty of futurity.

How many men there are who live even beyond the allotted age of man, who are always intending to do something and yet never accomplish it.

Some people intend to make their wills, and do great good with their property when they are dead. They seem to think that a will can accomplish great things. But what is a will? How many a man is able to carry out his will when he is alive?

A thousand obstacles intervene to prevent living, active men from doing what they desire and want to do; and if a man cannot half the time accomplish his will when he is alive, and is doing his best to control affairs about him, what certainty is there that a written will of such a man will be accomplished, when the man himself is in his grave, and no one else cares a button whether his will is carried out or not, and when it may be directly for the interest of many others to prevent its execution?

If a man has a desire to see a thing done, the safest way is to go about it and do it. He will find difficulties enough, but if his will coincide with the Lord's will he will with God's blessing accomplish it.

But let him who would do God's will make haste to finish his work, and let him remember the admonition of the wisest man, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, in the grave whither thou goest."—Christian.

Did you ever stop to ask what a yoke is really for? Is it to be a burden to the animal which wears it? It is just the opposite. It is to make its burden light. Attached to the oxen is any other way than by a yoke, the plough would be intolerable. Worked by means of a yoke, it is light. A yoke is not an instrument of torture; it is an instrument of mercy. It is not a malicious contrivance for making work hard; it is a gentle device to make hard labor light. It is not meant to give pain, but to save pain. And yet men speak of the yoke of Christ as if it were a slavery, and look upon those who wear it as objects of compassion.....Christ's yoke is simply his secret for the alleviation of human life, his prescription for the best and happiest method of living.—Drummond.

Brother Underwood:

Please announce for the benefit of the brethren within reach of Oregon, Illinois, that Bro. G. M. Myers, of Atchinson, Kansas, will be on his way east to spend the holidays, and has arranged to stop over and preach for our Church on Saturday night and Sunday, Dec. 21-22. He preached for some time for the churches at Lanark and Adeline in the '80s, and is especially desirous of meeting the brethren from these places. All who come will be entertained by the brethren of Oregon.

Your brother in hope of the coming kingdom.

S. J. LINDSAY,

Any one who can use the services of Bro. L. H. Chesebrough in holding meetings, can address him at Galesburgh, Mich.

found a large congregation of people who seemed glad to see us. We began the meetings and continued them until the 25th, at night at the Schoolhouse, in the day time we went from house to house. We preached 11 discourses during the five days. We had an old-fashioned meeting of long ago, such as Brother J. F. Wagoner, Brother Shaffer, and Brother Richard Corbaley used to have when we were together in old Indiana. Oh, how I long to meet those old soldiers of the cross once more. There were no additions but we had very good attention, and I believe another such meeting would add a number to their band. But alas! they are all poor so far as this world's goods is concerned. but they are rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom of God. I would like to return to this place the last of December but I also am poor. Six in number accompanied me to the train and we were sorry to part, perhaps never to meet again until Jesus comes.

From here we went to Morse Mills, where we began a meeting on the 27th but the interest was not as good as at Bush, as they had just closed a meeting conducted by Brother Crowe, with eight additions to their number which we had expected to add when we arrived there. The seed was sown beforehand, and as Paul said, "Paul may plant and Apollos may water, but God gives the increase. While I did not boast in what I did without our measure, that is, of other men's labors; but having hope, when your faith is increased, that we shall be enlarged by you according to our rule abundantly. 2 Cor. x. 15, 16. To preach the gospel in the regions beyond you, and not to boast in another man's line of things made ready to our hand. But he that glorieth let him glory in the Lord, for not he that commendeth himself is approved, but whom the Lord commendeth. 2 Cor. xi. 1. "Would to God ye could bear with me a little in my folly, and indeed bear with me, for I am jealous over you with Godly jealousy; for I have espoused you to one husband, that I may present you as a chaste virgin to Christ. But I fear, lest by any means as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtlety, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ."

Again, Romans xv. "Yea, so have I strived to preach the gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should build upon another man's foundation. But as it is written to whom he was not spoken of, they shall see; and they that have not heard shall understand."

Now Brother, give all the glory and praise and honor unto the Lord our God, and let us all take courage and go on to perfection.

They have a nice little church house at Morse Mills. We again sowed the seed of the kingdom broad cast, and I believe the good Lord still has more people at this place. They have a good Sunday School and several fine boys and girls, and I bespeak for them a bright future if they will walk in the straight and narrow way. My prayer is that they may be faithful unto death or until the Lord comes.

At Shaw, Kansas, two sisters were buried in baptism in the beautiful Neosha River, and arose to walk in newness of life.

May the good Lord keep us all from evil, is my prayer.

JOHN FOORE.

A Problem—Who can Solve It?

"In the third month, when the children of Israel were gone forth out of the land of Egypt, the same day came they into the wilderness of Sinai." Ex. xix. 1.

Israel left Egypt on the 15th day of the first month. How many days passed until they arrived in the wilderness of Sinai? In other words, How long from the leaving of Egypt until Israel arrived at Sinai?

Who will attempt to answer? Direct to me at Gladbrook, Iowa. With the consent of the Editor, the best solution will be published in THE RESTITUTION.

Yours for truth.

A. J. EYCHANER.

I expect to go to Oleander, Fresno Co., Cal., some time in November, and will make my home there for a time. Any brethren desiring meetings in their vicinity please address me at Scholls, Ore., until Dec. 1. We should be faithful and work while we may for the Master is soon coming.

Yours awaiting his coming.

EDWIN E. GROAT.

ment to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and what is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War, and an extensive traveler in Africa, has written a book of over 500 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price is put at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1902, making $4.50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, giving them credit to the end of 1902, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help THE RESTITUTION by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Ages. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 160-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

tal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth, N. J.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 283 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Pike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clinkenbeard, Denham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4310 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, Ill.
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wisco, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Sciotoville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
B. L. Keun, 1507, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. B. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
G. R. Oglesby, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Steffe, [illegible]mons, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave, Pasadena, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Dwiggins, Ontario Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
G. P. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Goin, Jefferson, Ore.
T. F. Cordill, 508 S Main st, South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 183, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hicklin, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Rush Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1208 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

EARLY LESSONS, suitable for young or old, 30 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,

General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,

General Immigration & Industrial Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

A FREE PATTERN
(your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.
McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50¢ A YEAR
A LADIES' MAGAZINE.
A gem; beautiful colored plates; latest fashions; entertaining reading; fancy work; beautiful fiction, etc. Subscribe to-day, or send 5¢ for latest copy. Lady agents wanted. Send for terms.
Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.
McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ 15¢
All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Darting and Stitching Lines.
Only 10 and 15 cents each—none higher. Ask for them. Sold in nearly every city and town, or by mail from
THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St., NEW YORK.

VANDALIA TIME CARD
In effect June 2, 1901.
Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend		8:25am
No. 14, " "		12:01noon
No. 8, " " "		10:08pm
No 12, Sunday only		9:46am

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute	5:45a m
No. 8, " " " "	12:34noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport,	7:30pm
No 11, Sunday only	6:38pm

Trains 8 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections. Lake Maxinkuckee Sunday special train due Plymouth south bound at 9:14 a m. Returning leaves Maxinkuckee 5:45 p m.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo.

extra fare train 5:30 daily except on Sunday, 9:55 p m daily.

For the West 5:15 a m daily, 6:30 a m daily except Sunday, 9:22 a m daily except Sunday, 12:07 p m daily, 2:15 p m daily except Sunday, 6:08 p m daily.

For particular information on the subject apply to J. E. Hanes, Ticket Agent, Plymouth.

California-Oregon Excursions every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and on Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest time on the road. Finest scenery. Inquire of nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggener, at 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill.—dec28

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, bound in cloth and containing 115 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Red Cloud Sitting Bull and other noted chiefs; Custer's battleground and fine colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1660. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valuable contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 50 cents a copy, mailed postage paid upon receipt of this amount by W. B. Kniskern, 22 Fifth ave, Chicago Ill—dec14

NICKEL PLATE

10-13-1901

All trains arrive at and depart from Van Buren Street Union Passenger Station, Chicago. Uniformed Colored Porters attend passengers holding first or second class tickets in day coaches on these trains, insuring scrupulously clean cars en route.

Eastbound.			All Nickel Plate Points Daily.		Westbound.
Lv.	Lv.	Lv.			Ar.	Ar.	Ar.
11 00	10 50	10 40	Chicago		7 15	7 25	7 35
11 30	11 20	11 10	Valparaiso		6 36	6 45	6 55
12 35	12 25	12 15	No. Judson		5 31	5 40	5 50
1 20	1 10	1 00	Knox		4 45	4 55	5 05
1 50	1 40	1 30	Bourne		4 15	4 25	4 35
2 00	1 50	1 40	Argos		4 05	4 15	4 25
2 40	2 30	2 20	Bremen		3 25	3 35	3 45
3 00	2 50	2 40	Nappanee		3 05	3 15	3 25
3 20	3 10	3 00	Wakarusa		2 45	2 55	3 05
3 40	3 30	3 20	Middlebury		2 25	2 35	2 45
4 00	3 50	3 40	Shipshewana		2 05	2 15	2 25
4 10	4 00	3 50	Topeka		1 55	2 05	2 15
4 30	4 20	4 10	Orland		1 35	1 45	1 55
4 50	4 40	4 30	Pleasant Lake		1 15	1 25	1 35
5 10	5 00	4 50	Angola		1 00	1 10	1 20
5 30	5 20	5 10	Fremont		12 40	12 50	1 00
6 00	5 50	5 40	Clyde		12 15	12 25	12 35
6 30	6 20	6 10	Bellevue		11 45	11 55	12 05
7 00	6 50	6 40	Norwalk		11 15	11 25	11 35
7 30	7 20	7 10	Greenwich		10 50	11 00	11 10
8 00	7 50	7 40	Orrville		10 20	10 30	10 40
8 30	8 20	8 10	Wooster		9 50	10 00	10 10
9 00	8 50	8 40	Rittman		9 20	9 30	9 40
9 30	9 20	9 10	Orrville		8 50	9 00	9 10
10 10	10 00	9 50	Akron		8 10	8 20	8 30
10 40	10 30	10 20	Cuyahoga Falls		7 40	7 50	8 00
11 00	10 50	10 40	Hudson		7 20	7 30	7 40
11 30	11 20	11 10	Newburg		6 50	7 00	7 10
12 00	11 50	11 40	Cleveland		6 20	6 30	6 40
1 00	12 50	12 40	New York		5 20	5 30	5 40
4 30	4 20	4 10	Buffalo		2 00	2 10	2 20

Local freight, carrying passengers, leaves Chicago 4:45 p. m. daily except Sunday, Wednesday and Friday; eastbound only on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Elegant Dining Cars on Nickel Plate Road. (Daily except Sunday. F. Ship Restaurant.

Drawing Room Sleeping Cars on Nos. 2, 4 and 8 thru to Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston on Nos. 1 and 3 to Chicago. Meals are served at "Pop-to-date" Dining Stations and in Nickel Plate Dining Cars at opportune meal hours. Baggage checked to destination. On inquiry you will find our rates are always lower than via other lines, service considered.

For rates and detailed information, address B. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O.; C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind., or Local Ticket Agents.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10:30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and B. T. Macdonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 8:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 826 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Bonnelaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 A. M., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Bible reading every Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All lovers of truth are welcome.

The Church of God at Bruce Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Knife, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Authon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Sutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Baleah Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Chase.

The congregation at [illegible]s, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trundell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Orchids or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Groat of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God, at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder, Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of the gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution,

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher

—FOR THE—

CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. KAHLBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME L. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, DECEMBER 11, 1901. NUMBER 46.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead, the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

Hope.

When shades of night cover up the earth,
And darkness gathers round my hearth,
Never to despair or give way,
Or say that there shall be no day.
For a morning is in God's world, I know,
'Tis morning, and with rosy glow
The sun is rising, and his light
Is chasing far the shades of night.
And life's impossibles, all around
Is praise the Lord with joyful sound.

So when my heart is bowed with grief,
And I may not know relief,
While in the dark, and in the cold
My heavy clouds and fears roll,
I know, in spite of care and pain,
The morning's dawn will come again,
With songs of gold in Eden.
To make my path way clear and bright.
If I but wait, and trust, and pray,
My God will bring me to the day.

Communicated.

"Is the Immortality of the Human Soul Conditional or Inherent?"

The above question is the subject of a series of articles in a religious paper representing an organization which holds to the Platonic view of immortality. The form of this question shows that among those who hold that view there is some uncertainty as to "human immortality." The writer of those articles endeavors to show what "the immortality of the soul" is neither inherent nor conditional, but originates in and depends upon the Divine will. "The soul of man," says he, "is immortal because its Originator—God—has designed it to be so." What Bible proof is given in support of this proposition? "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him." Gen. i. 27. It is argued that because of man's reasoning faculties and his capacity for progress, he was made to be immortal—all of which is granted; but does it follow that because some men have a high degree of intellectuality and capacity for improvement, all men are or will be immortal? There are a great many men, even in this country, who have no higher ambition than to eat, drink and have a good time, who care neither for tomorrow nor a future life; and therefore the argument of man's mental capacity falls far short of proving universal immortality.

It will be observed that in the above heading the qualifying term "human" is used as applying to "soul," thus leaving the inference that there are other "souls" besides "human." It may therefore be asked with perfect propriety, Are there other than human souls? It is recognized and acknowledged that the speculations and deductions of man's wisdom are of no value in determining this matter. The author of the above mentioned articles appeals to the Bible as authority on the question of the soul—whatever that may be; and so we will also direct our attention to the sacred Volume for information. We come to the Book with this inquiry, "Is man the only being that is or has soul." Do not be surprised, reader, to hear the answer, that animals, trees, idols, and even hell (Sheol), are said to be or have soul. Some time ago, in a work on the nature of man, I saw the statement that the Hebrew word nephesh, 431 times translated soul, is applied to animals 28 times. I was somewhat incredulous in regard to this, and instituted a very searching investigation, with this result: Nephesh is applied to other than "human" beings 88 times in the Old Testament. It occurs 649 times in all, 36 words being used to translate it into the English language. Besides the 431 places in which this term is rendered "soul," it is translated "life" 99 times, "person" 24 times, "self" 21 times, "heart" 15 times, "mind" 13 times, "creature" 8 times, "dead" 5 times, "himself" 4 times, "beast, desire, me, pleasure," each 3 times, "appetite, ghost, lust, man, and thing" each twice, and "breath, deadly, discontented, fish, greedy, lusth, hearty, her, herself, mortally, one, own, slay, will," each once.

Following is a list of Scripture passages in which nephesh is applied to other than "human" beings: Lev. xxiv. 18; Gen. i. 21, 24; ii. 19; ix. 10, 12, 15, 16; Lev. xi 46 (twice); Isa. xix. 10; Gen. i. 30; ix. 3; Lev. xvii 11, 14; Deut. xii. 23; Prov. vii. 23; xii. 10; Gen. i. 20; Num. xxxi. 28; Job xii. 10; Psa. lxxiv. 19; Lev. xi 10; Ezek. xlvii. 9; Isa. x. 18; v 14; xlvi. 2; Hab. ii. 5.

A great many adjectives expressing different qualities are used in connection with nephesh, but "immortal," "never dying," or any other expressing that idea, is not used with regard to the soul. NEVER. We may read of "living soul," Gen. i. 30 (margin); "hungry soul," Psa. cxvii. 9; "full soul," Prov. xxvii. 7; "thirsty soul," Prov. xxv. 25; "afflicted soul," Isa. lviii. 10; "weary soul," Jer. xxxi. 25; "sorrowful soul," Jer. xxxi. 25; "righteous soul," 2 Pet. ii. 8; "liberal soul," Prov. xxv. 11; "idle soul," Prov. xix. 15; "unstable souls," 2 Pet. ii. 14; but we search the Holy Writings in vain for an adjective or term signifying deathlessness or eternity of being so far as "soul" is concerned. If man is immortal, or has about him anything possessing this quality, it must be found outside of what the word says about soul. This fact has been recognized by some theological writers, and in order to evade the force of it, they say, that "the Bible assumes the immortality of the soul," as it does the existence of God. But all this is to no purpose in the face of the repeated declaration that "there is a God in heaven," and "he that cometh to God must believe that he is," etc. Immortality is not predicated of man, either directly or incidentally. This fact alone, without the constant references to man's dying condition, ought to be of itself conclusive.

If soul is an immortal being, then sheep, cattle, fishes, trees, idols, and hell (sheol) are also immortal, because this term is applied to them the same as to man; and why it should mean deathlessness when applied to man, and not the same in reference to animals or other objects, is by no means clear from the standpoint of current teaching on this subject. The noun nephesh is derived from the Hebrew verb naphach, "to breathe" and strictly and literally means "a breather." Sometimes it stands for person which may be seen from the fact that it is translated "person" 24 times. "Life" is another aspect under which it is used—a living being, though not an everliving one. It is used in this way with reference to all living beings, even before man is mentioned. See marginal reading of Gen. i. 20, 30, and Young's Concordance under "Life." A very pertinent question is (assuming what is claimed for "the immortality of the human soul"), "What is the soul?" It is said that "into the innermost of nature no created spirit may enter;" that "no man in the flesh is able to say positively how the essence of the soul is constituted (whether simple or otherwise)." That ought to settle the matter, provided you do not push the inquiry farther. This surrounds the subject with a certain amount of mystery, which, if you are easily satisfied, bars any further investigation. The souls mentioned in the Bible, whether "human" or otherwise, can be defined. "The Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul." Gen. ii. 7. An analysis of this Scripture yields the following results:

1. The Lord God "formed man."

2. The material used in his "formation" was "dust of the ground."

3. Into the "nostrils" of the "man" so "formed" he "breathed the breath of life."

4. The result was that "man became a living soul;" and this term being applied to other beings previous to man, it is reasonable to say that he shared this "soul" being with them; it was the common lot of all living creatures.

Why then should we assume or say that because man is "a living soul" he is immortal, when the Bible nowhere says so? It teaches most clearly that God only can say, I live for ever" (Deut. xxxii. 40); that he "only hath immortality" (1 Tim. vi. 16); that he has "GIVEN to the Son to have life in himself" (John v. 25); that to him he has delegated the "power to GIVE eternal life" to those who obey him (John xvii. 2; Heb. v. 9); that man is to "lay hold of eternal life" (1 Tim. vi. 12); that he by patient continuance in well-doing is to "seek for glory, honor, and immortality," and in this event will be awarded with "eternal life" (Rom. ii. 5-7); "in the world to come" (Mark x. 30), or "the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ" (Rom. ii. 5, 16); that the dead in Christ shall be raised incorruptible and the living changed, "for this corruptible must put on incorruption and this mortal immortality, and when this shall have taken place then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, 'Death is swallowed up in victory.'" 1 Cor. xv. 50-58. Is this God's way for man to be immortal? This is what his revealed will teaches. Is this inherent or conditional? If inherent, conditions are out of the question; then no matter what man does or does not do, he is immortal; but if conditional, then if he would enjoy immortality, he must fulfil those conditions. If it is necessary to "seek for glory, honor, and immortality," in order to obtain "eternal life," then not to engage in such seeking will result in the loss or forfeiture of these blessings. May we seek and find, is my prayer.

A. H. ZILMER.

The Covenants of Promise.

In a conversation with a friend not long ago I asked him what, "The covenants of promise" are. His answer was he did not know, but supposed they referred to promises made to Abraham. Then I asked, Do these promises refer in any way to the gospel preached by Christ and his apostles? His answer was, he thought not. My friend is a man of more than ordinary intelligence and has been a believer in the gospel as preached by Campbell and his followers for years. I tried to place the facts in Eph. ii. 12, just as Paul wrote them, "without Christ, without hope and without God in the world." When were they in this condition, I asked. When they were "aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, strangers from the covenants of promise." Paul in the 4th chapter and 18th verse of this same letter says, "Being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart." Peter in his second letter, 1st chapter and second and third verses says, "Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord, according as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue. In the fourth verse of this chapter the apostle speaks of the exceeding great and precious promises given to us whereby we are made partakers of his divine nature, etc. The above quotations surely prove that the knowledge of something make us partakers of these exceeding great and precious promises which must mean that life in God and a position in the kingdom and ignorance (the lack of knowledge) alienates us from all these, viz. being without Christ, without hope, and without God in the world. If we could remember that the gospel is nowhere found fully stated in one sentence of Scripture readers of God's Word would be more diligent in their search for all the facts that go to make up the gospel of Christ. In the sentence, "The seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head" is a portion of the gospel, for it is a promise of Christ's finally destroying the great enemy. When Abraham was promised, "In thee shall all families of the earth be blessed," we have the same gospel. Gen. xii. 3.

We also find in the following chapter that Abraham was promised a land and an inheritance in it forever. His seed was given the same promise. If you search carefully you will find in the following chapter the land described and bounded, a deed given to Abraham and his seed. In Gen. xxii. 17, 18, we have the full promise as given to Abraham, viz., "In thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed; because thou hast obeyed my voice." Paul in Gal. iii. 8, uses this same Scripture and calls it the gospel preached before unto Abraham, saying, "In thee shall all the nations be blessed." In the 16th verse we find that to Abraham and his seed were the promises made, not to his numerous seed, but his unit seed, which is Christ. Abraham's numerous seed inherit the land under the law which was four hundred and thirty years after. In Gal. iii. the apostle is very careful to distinguish between the blessing by his unit seed and that applied to his numerous seed. To the unit seed it is because thou hast obeyed my voice. To the numerous, if thou wilt obey my voice indeed, etc. Ex. xix 5. In this connection let me quote 2 Tim. ii. 15, "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of truth."

If you read with care the history of Abraham and his family you will find that this promise was confirmed in Israel and Jacob, heirs with him of the same promise. By faith they (Abraham, Isaac and Jacob) sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country. See Heb. xi. 8, 9. They were not inheritors at that time for Stephen says in Acts vii. 5 "He (God) gave him none inheritance in it, no, not so much as to set his foot on; yet he promised that he would give it to him for a possession, and his seed after him. So far we find that the gospel has been gradually unfolded from the bruising of the serpent's head by the seed, to the possession (in promise) of the land and eternal life or life's God, which Paul says in Col. iii. 3 is hid in Christ by God. Please don't forget that the promise of the land and life go together. In Gen. i. 28 God promised Adam dominion over every living thing upon the earth on condition that he would obey God's law. We find that he forfeited this dominion through his disobedience.

Now I wish to state that dominion signifies to rule. So we find God giving this same first dominion to Christ, Abraham's unit seed. Micah iv. 8, To the tower of the flock, unto thee shall it come, even the first dominion; the kingdom shall come to the daughter of Jerusalem. In Daniel vii. 27, the kingdom and dominion and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High. For fear that some should think that these promises are not found in the New Testament I will call your attention to testimony furnished by the angel. Luke i. 32, 33, "He (Jesus) shall be called great and shall be called the Son of the Highest; and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David. And he (Christ) shall reign (have dominion) over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end. This promise is to the house of Jacob. He being an heir to Abraham it must come through the unit seed who is Christ. Whoever eliminates from this Scripture a future earth kingdom must preach another gospel than that preached by Christ and his apostles. They preached the gospel of the kingdom of God. In this kingdom when established will Abraham's unit seed (Christ) bless all nations of the earth. Listen to Paul, Eph. ii. 7, that in the ages to come he (God) might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus. The gospel of the kingdom of God has been only partly developed as to the glory of the ages to come. When we shall see the King in his beauty we shall learn more of these exceeding great and precious promises. We have this promise Hab. ii. 14, "For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord as the waters cover the sea." Thus surely nothing shall harm in all my holy mountain, thus saith the Lord, amen! Amen!

Permit me to close this article with this Scripture, etc. Acts viii. 12, "But when they believed Philip preaching the things concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women." We leave with our candid readers to say if the covenants of promise are not the gospel of the kingdom of God. To be strangers to these leaves us without Christ and without hope and without God in the world. Is it not plainly taught that those who believed these things were baptized? And besides this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue, etc. if these things be in you and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

In our next we will refer to the covenant with David.

D. C. ROBINSON.

Nature and Destiny of Man.

Editor Restitution:

For a long time I have been thinking of giving the brothers and sisters some of my thoughts and observations concerning the teachings of the so-called orthodox churches in regard to the nature and destiny of man; but I have been so much instructed and so highly entertained and fed by the writings of your many worthy contributors who are thoroughly qualified to give correct statements and presentations of the truth, that I have not undertaken to do so till now, briefly.

For more than forty-five years I have observed, more or less, the effects of the popular teaching of the "immortality of the soul," and "going to heaven" at death and other kindred subjects; and I must say that I firmly believe the results of such teachings are positively bad. The following are some of the bad fruits of such teaching:

1. In order to sustain the error, several hundreds of plain, inspired declarations of truth must be explained away by inconsistent arguments, such as man as a mortal being subject to death and unconsciousness, the absolute necessity of a resurrection for the future life, and the putting on of immortality at the resurrection of the just; the total destruction or extermination of the ungodly, the reservation of the unjust to the day of judgment to be punished, and the second coming of the Lord to reward his servants, not rewarding them at death, explaining away the impossibility of immortal souls suffering a painful lingering death, add infinitum.

2. Men are then divided as to future rewards and punishments because they believe in the immortality of the soul; one class holding that sinful souls are to be separated from the righteous and cast into a kind of hell, which will cause them pain and suffering eternally, while the other class hold that such punishment is not in harmony with the attributes of a God of love; hence, all men must eventually be saved, because they cannot die.

3. Still another class of people, holding the same error, hold and teach, and try to prove, that they can communicate with these souls after they depart this life. So we have Spiritualism to contend with, and the so-called Orthodox churches are powerless to contend with them with the sword of truth, because they reject the truth on this subject.

4. These same denominations cannot see very much reason for opposing the teaching of the Roman church which only goes a little further, and claims that it is right and proper to worship the departed and (as they all claim) the glorified saints, and the power of the priest to pray souls out of purgatory for money, thereby making "merchandise" of the laity.

5. The weakness of missionaries to heathen lands to contend with them against their belief in "the transmigration of souls." This teaching of Pythagoras appears to have originated in Egypt. It is so affirmed by Herodotus. He taught that the soul passes, in nine distinct grades, into the body of someone destined to become a philosopher, a poet, a king, a general, a seer, etc. If very inferior, it will animate a sophist or an autocrat. Plato claimed that after the period of 1000 years, the soul comes into a beast, and from a beast again into a man, if the soul was originally human. He extends the cycle of existence to 10,000 years, which is subdivided into periods of 1000 years, after which they undergo judgments, and are then admitted to everlasting happiness, or condemned to punishment.

If a man ignores the teaching of the Bible on this subject of the soul, and claims that it is immortal, intangible, invisible, inaudible (or dumb) how can the missionary convince the heathen that his theory is wrong? He cannot quote God's word to disprove it, because he has rejected that, so far as the soul is concerned.

These errors, and many others, owe their foundation to the dogma of the present immortality of the soul, which dogma blinds nearly all the world. It plainly originated in the lie of the serpent: "Ye shall not surely die." Gen. iii. 4.

It is astonishing to one to behold with what tenacity nearly all churches hold on to this falsehood, which is so plainly contradictory to the declaration of the Lord God in Gen. ii. 16, 17; iii. 3.

How important then that we should frequently contend earnestly for the truth on this subject.

Your brother in Christ.

D. D. LATHROP.

Gleanings from the Word.

Jesus is the Son of God. Luke i. 35; iv. 22; John i. 18; xvii. 1.

Born (made) of a woman. Gen. iii. 14; Gal. iv. 4.

Became perfect through suffering. Heb. ii. 10.

He overcame the world. John xvi. 33.

He is a spotless Lamb—our Passover. 1 Cor. v. 7.

He was worthy of eternal life, because he filled out, or kept the whole law of God.

With the consoling words: "I have overcome the world" he expressed his subdual of all sin, of every temptation. John xvi 33.

Now he becomes a sacrifice fit to redeem the race. Heb. ii. 9.

Thus he pays our ransom. 1 Tim. ii. 6.

Now is he taking out a people for his name. Acts xv. 14.

A peculiar people, zealous of good works, who shall deny ungodliness and worldly lusts. Titus ii. 12-14.

Thus we may, with confidence, look for that Blessed Hope, and glorious appearing of the great God and our Savior Jesus Christ.

PRISCA.

Christ will come. His coming will be sudden, like the lightning. "For as the lightning cometh out of the east, and shineth even unto the west, so shall also the coming of the Son of Man be." Matt. xxiv. 27. The masses not expecting him will tremble at the sight. "As it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be also in the day when Christ comes. They were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage until the day that Noah entered the ark, and knew not until the flood came, and took them all away." Says Jesus, "I come as a thief," denoting the unexpected and sudden nature of his advent. "When the Son of Man cometh shall he find faith on the earth?"

There are no less than 28,000,000 Sunday School children throughout the world.

Any one who can use the services of Bro. L. H. Chesebrough in holding meetings, can address him at Dalesburgh, Mich.

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Office Editor.

Editorial Committee.

J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, Special Contributor.

Plymouth, Indiana, Dec. 11, 1901.

You can always tell where there is not much in the head, there is plenty of show outside.

The French are having more trouble in Algeria, and had to establish martial law in some districts.

To deceive one's self is very easy, and the self-deceived are often of the most difficult to be awakened to see their position.

Brother A. R. Zilmer has closed his meeting at Clinton Co. and gone to Fidelity, Ohio, to hold meetings till about the 19th.

The followers of Jesus Christ are of necessity subject to the reproach of men; the servant cannot be greater than his master, and as Jesus once said, "If they have persecuted me, they will persecute you." Jno. xv. 20.

Commenting on church conditions a writer says: "The two worst evils of our time, inside the domain of Christendom, are probably luxurious living among many church members, and loose thinking among religious teachers. When the two go together we have a religious club in place of the church."

Another evidence that this nation is really a "world power" is seen in decision to start an American bank in the far East. The New York Guaranty and Trust Co. is to have the task of establishing branches at Shangai, at Hongkong, at Manila and at other points as needed. The receiving of the Chinese indemnity will be given it by this government, thus ensuring the success of the enterprise.

The following item is clipped from an exchange: "No man, however confident he may be in himself, can certainly tell, if reasoning solely from himself, what may be the effect of future and unknown temptations upon him. Hence Paul's advice is always in order: 'Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth, take heed lest he fall.'" 2 Cor. x. 12.

In order to be saved a person must believe the gospel of the kingdom of God and the offices and work of Jesus Christ; not intellectually merely,—but affectionately,—with the heart man believeth unto righteousness,—the idea being that faith of that kind is reckoned to him for righteousness, for it causes him to have repentance toward God, and to render obedience to the above faith, which includes baptism into the name of Jesus for the remission of all past sins. These being covered by the divine formula, what can he be but righteous? He is justified by faith, and has peace with God,—is a child of God, an heir of God, joint-heir with Christ,—one of Abraham's Seed and a heir according to the promise to that worthy patriarch,—by which he became heir of the world. Rom. iv. 13. He who wants to know what he shall do to be saved should consider what it is to be saved! And having learned the fact from Gal. iii. 14 that what is offered him through or by Christ being made a curse for us, is a share of the blessing of Abraham,—he can then decide as to its desirability, count the cost, and come to an intelligent decision. With a few Scripture references to assist such, we leave him with the earnest hope that he may sow to the Spirit and reap life everlasting. John iii. 5; Mark xvi. 15, 16; Acts ii. 38-41; Gal. iii. 26-29; Gen. xiii. 14-17; Matt. v. 5; Rev. v. 9.

"In the Resurrection

They neither marry, nor are given in marriage," Matt. xxii. 30; that is,—in the state to which the dead rise. Again, "they that have done good (shall come forth) to the resurrection of life, and they that have done evil to the resurrection of condemnation;" that is, one class come out of the grave to one resurrection state, and the other to another resurrection state. According to the light we have,—these all nominally belonged to one class; the wise and the foolish virgins, but all virgins. Some continued faithful to the end, the rest did not. Some were doers of the Word who did not become weary in well-doing,—continued patiently in pursuit of glory, honor and immortality and the result is agreeable to promise—eternal life.

Original.

The Gospel.

Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel. John vi. 44.

But though we or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. Gal. i. 8.

For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ; for it is the power of God unto salvation, to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek. Rom. i. 16.

It is the only means by which we can be justified in God's sight. Without faith in the gospel it is impossible to please God. But faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God. The gospel and the things pertaining to it, are not self-evident propositions. They must be studied to be understood; they must be understood to be believed; and they must be believed in order to be saved.

If we ought to believe the gospel, we ought to understand it. If we ought to understand the gospel we ought to investigate it. Therefore, if we would believe the gospel, we must do all that is requisite for such a faith.

Our text is an index pointing to the true source of information on the subject. The gospel which we preach. It shuts up to this one gospel, and excludes every other. If any man preach any other gospel, than that which Paul preached, let him be accursed. The gospel may be perverted; it has already been perverted. I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of the Christ, unto another gospel, which is not another, but there are some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ.

This text was written because the gospel had been perverted, and was a caution against its perversion. I have chosen it for the same reason. The gospel has been and is now perverted, and this perversion enters into and guides all the interpretations of the Bible to the extent to which the gospel is perverted.

The belief of the gospel unites us to God, to his purpose, and his plan. The belief of a perverted gospel separates us from God, from his purpose, from his plan.

In one case the gospel becomes the power of God unto salvation. In the other the perverted gospel becomes a snare and lures on to destruction the ones deceived by it, while they are "verily thinking they are doing God's service."

My object in writing upon this subject is to show exactly what the gospel is, so that we need not be mistaken on a subject of such vital importance. To show its purpose, its plan, and its adaptation to the wants of the world.

In the first place I will enquire, how may we know with certainty what the gospel is? Just as we know with certainty any other enterprise. By its purpose—by the means to be used to accomplish that purpose. In all the enterprises in which we engage we ascertain first what we want, then how to obtain it.

These questions being satisfactorily answered, we are prepared to engage in, or reject any enterprise to which they relate. This process is essential to determine our choice or conclusion. We cannot enter into any business whatever without it. It is a rule of universal application, without exception: First, what do we want to do? Second, shall we do it? The thing we want suggests and controls means by which to attain it.

The means are used only for the sake of the end. Without the end the means would not be needed. To illustrate: I want a home. This suggests the necessary means to procure one. I want means because I want a home. If I did not want a home, I would not need the means. Again, I want to go to New York. To reach this end I must go there. I want to go to New York because I want to be there. If I did not want to be in New York I would not want to go there.

Again, I want a trade, a profession, or a position. These ends suggest appropriate means by which to reach or attain these ends. I use the means to obtain the ends. But if I did not want the ends I would not use the means. Thus it is in all that we do. And what we do can be understood with certainty by others, only as the end is understood which we have in view.

Thus it is that we may understand with certainty what the gospel is. The rule which never fails when applied to what man does, will be equally certain when applied to what God wants.

We must, in the first place, understand with certainty what the gospel is, and what object God wants to accomplish by the gospel. What does God want to do? What will be when the gospel is consummated? What is the final end? Whatever this end may be found to be, it will suggest, call out and control means exactly appropriate for its accomplishment. Every means will be for the attainment of its one final end.

When we understand definitely, first what God wants to do, and then the means by which he will reach that end we shall understand with certainty what the gospel is. I will now proceed to the examination of my subject.

Paul: The only true gospel. What did he preach? He preached the promises made to the fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. And we declare unto you glad tidings (the gospel), how that the promise which was made unto the fathers, God hath fulfilled the same to us their children, in that he hath raised up Jesus again. The resurrection of Christ, and all things pertaining to it was fulfillment of the promise made to the fathers. Acts xiii. 32, 33. Again he said, And now I stand and am judged for the hope of the promise made of God to the fathers. Acts xxvi. 6, 22. Again he said, For the hope of Israel I am bound with this chain. The hope of Paul and the hope of Israel are the same, being based on the same promise. Acts xxvi. 7; xxviii. 20. Again he said, For when God made promise to Abraham, because he could sware by no greater, he sware by himself; wherein God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath, that by two immutable things, in which it is impossible for God to lie, we might have strong consolation who have fled for refuge to lay hold on the hope set before us. In this passage the apostle represents that the hope of all Christians, and all their consolation and comfort, rest upon two immutable things. First, the promise made to Abraham, and second, the oath by which it was confirmed. Heb. vi. 13, 18.

Again he said, Now to Abraham and to his seed were the promises made. He saith not and to seeds, as of many, but as of one, and to thy seed, which is Christ. Gal. iii. 16. He said also to Christians, If ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise. Verse 16 and to the end.

In the act of baptism we also become Abraham's seed and joint heirs with Jesus to the same promise. In this passage Christ is the seed of Abraham, and as he is the seed of Abraham he is heir to the promise, and if we belong to Christ, we are also the seed of Abraham and joint heirs with Christ to the same promise. Rom. viii. 17. Then Christ, and all that pertains to Christ, and all that pertains of Christians are the result of the promise made to Abraham. Gal. iii. 16-23.

Christ did not originate the gospel, but the promise which gave Christ his position in the plan of the gospel was to Abraham. This promise was the hope of Paul, and the hope of Israel, and is the hope of the Church of the living God, or the Christ body.

According to the testimony of him who said, if any man preach any other gospel than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. And who said further, that this promise of which he made so frequent mention, is the gospel, and is comprehended in the saying, In thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed. Thus it is that Paul preached the gospel. He did not preach a code of laws to Abraham, or to Moses, or to any one else, but he preached the promise made of God to Abraham.

THE PROMISE.

In thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed. Gen. xxii. 18. All families. Gen. xii. 3; xviii. 18. Isaac. Gen. xxvi. 4. Jacob. Gen. xxviii. 14; xxii. 15. This promise was to Abraham. God said, and I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great, and thou shalt be a blessing; and I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee, and in thee shall all nations, all families, of the earth be blessed.

This promise was repeated again and confirmed to Abraham by an oath. And the angel of the Lord called unto Abraham out of heaven the second time, and said, By myself have I sworn, that in blessing I will bless thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thy seed as the stars of the heavens, and as the sand which is upon the sea shore, and thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies. And in thy s[eed] all the nations of the earth be[blessed].

This p[romise] was rene[wed] to Isaac. And in th[ee] all the nations of the ear[th] Gen. xxvi. 3, 4. And a[gain] the promise was confirmed t[o] Jacob, and in thee and in thy seed sh[all] all the families of the earth be blesse[d]. Gen. xxviii. 13, 14.

This is the pro[mise], in fulfillment of which Christ was raised from the dead. This is the promise for which Paul hoped. This is the promise made to Abraham, and confirmed to him and to his seed by an oath, that all the heirs of this promise might have strong consolation who flee for refuge to lay hold upon this hope set before them. It is this promise which made Christ the heir of the world, and it is this promise which Paul says is the gospel.

What the gospel was in the days of Abraham, the same was the gospel in the days of Christ, and the same is the gospel now; for the gospel is immutable.

Thus far we are safe. We have found the gospel which Paul preached. It is comprehended in this promise, in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed.

To understand the gospel then, is to understand the import of this single promise. It is simple, comprehensive, and definite.

IMPORT OF THE PROMISE.

It comprehends the elements of God's purpose concerning the world.

1. That all nations of the earth shall be blessed.

2. That the seed of Abraham shall bless all the nations of the earth.

The first represents his ultimate purpose to bless the world.

The second represents the instrumentality to be used to accomplish that purpose.

These two objects, the first the final end to be reached; the second as the means by which to reach the final end, comprehend the whole gospel. The one purpose to bless the world is the object of the gospel.

The seed of Abraham is the one instrumentality to be used for this end. It is adapted to this end. It is limited to this end. It cannot extend outside or beyond the accomplishment of this end. We cannot claim more than is expressed in the promise, but we may claim, as implied in the promise, every thing necessary to its fulfillment. We cannot claim on a note of $100 more than $100, but we may claim that the maker of the note bound himself to produce every dollar up to the $100. So with this promise; the nations must be blessed, and the means must be sufficient to meet that demand.

The promise contains all the elements of the gospel.

1. The seed represents the instrumentality to be used in the gospel for the accomplishment of its object, and all that pertains to it.

2. The nations represent the objects to be blessed in the consummation of the gospel.

3. The earth represents the place where the nations live, and from which their wants are supplied.

The blessings represent the work of the seed in the consummation of the gospel. The promise contains also all the elements of the kingdom of God.

1. The seed are to be the rulers.

2. The nations are to be the subjects.

3. The earth is to be the territory.

4. The blessing is to be the administration of this government.

Thus the import of the promise may be easily understood. It comprehends the whole of God's purpose concerning this world. It comprehends all things pertaining to the gospel, and it comprehends all things pertaining to the kingdom of God.

The promise is unlimited, therefore its purpose embraces all nations, securing blessings the most remote, as well as those which are immediate. There can be nothing outside of it or beyond it.

John Foore.

A Short Sermon on the Coming of Christ.

Text Rev. i. 7: "Behold he cometh with clouds, and every eye shall see him; and they also which pierced him, and all kindreds of the earth shall wail because of him."

There are several points of thrilling interest couched in this text. In the first place; he cometh with clouds. We ask, who is it that comes with clouds? See Mark xiii. 26, "And then shall they see the Son of Man coming in the clouds, with great power, and glory." Also 62 v. "And ye shall see the Son of Man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven." These expressions are the words of Christ, and they prove that it is Christ, the Son of Man, that comes with clouds.

Secondly—"Every eye shall see him." There is one way that occurs to my mind in which every eye may see him. Suppose that in his descent from heaven; he appears as a luminous star, arising in the east, and passing over the firmament from east to west, the same as the moon. The same would be the case in the western hemisphere. In this way, every eye could see him. As the star approaches the earth it increases in magnitude as the nights roll on.

Thirdly—Why should all the kindreds of the earth wail because of him? The heathen will wail, because evidently (to them) this strange body will prove disastrous to the earth. But those who have the Bible in their hands, will realize, that Christ is coming to judgment. They will also realize that they have not been watching for the coming of the Son of Man as Christ so often commanded the disciples to "watch for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of Man cometh; and what I say unto you, I say unto all, WATCH." And this will be a sufficient cause why they should wail and lament over their negligence and folly, in regard to the coming of Christ. They will also realize that their hopes of going to heaven were built upon a sandy foundation and this will be another cause why they should wail and lament.

But if we believe in the immortality of the soul and of going to heaven at death; we shall have no share in the kingdom when it comes; we shall not be of the saints of the Most High, but shall be among those that shall wail because of him.

But why is it that men believe in that abomination? There is not a thought throughout the Word of God that teaches any such thing; but much everywhere against it. But Paul has warned us against the doctrine; he says: 2 Tim. iv. 3, 4, "For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth and shall be turned unto fables."

This is a complete description of the church of the present day; their belief is simply a fable with no foundation whatever; and they will wail when they see Christ coming in the clouds of heaven, for they will realize that their hopes of going to heaven are false hopes, built upon a sandy foundation.

But those who heed the injunction of Christ, and are watching for his coming, and have their lamps trimmed and brightly burning, will have been caught away in the first resurrection to meet the Lord in the air, as Paul says, "and so shall we ever be with the Lord." And therefore, they will not be kindreds of the earth, but will be with Christ when he comes, and will form his retinue in his descent to the earth.

Another thought which is closely allied to our subject. See Rev. xxi. 9, 10. An angel said to the Revelator—"Come hither I will shew thee the Bride the Lamb's wife. And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and showed me that great City, the Holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God." In this we see that the new, or holy Jerusalem is the Bride the Lamb's wife, and this thought coincides with Isa. ii. 2, 3, for his Bride is the means by which he will increase his family of obedient children; and so bring all nations into subjection to his mind and will. This is carried out by all the prophets and the Revelator. Thus his obedient servants will increase until the number shall be ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands.

Another thought in close connection with the foregoing. We read in the prophet Daniel vii. 13. "I saw in the night visions, and, behold, one like the Son of Man came in the clouds of heaven, and came to the Ancient of days and they brought him near before him, (The Ancient of days, is undoubtedly, Old Jerusalem,) and there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations and languages should serve him, his dominion is an everlasting dominion which shall not pass away; and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed." 18 v. "But the saints of the Most High, shall take the kingdom, and possess the kingdom forever even forever, and ever." 27 v. "And the kingdom, and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High; whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom; and all dominions shall serve and obey him." This teaching of the prophet is in the same line of our text. Christ comes in the clouds of heaven to set up his kingdom, and the saints of the Most High will be with him when he comes, and will not be kindreds of the earth, and therefore, will not wait. Christ also said—"Fear not little flock, for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom."

Daniel Howard.

Selections.

The Christianity.

True art is the concealment of art. This saying is true in instances other than that of art. The shading in a picture is scarcely discernible to the eye, yet the colors are all there. The blending of the colors must be harmonious, and everything about it must present a pleasing and finished aspect. Yet we cannot perceive where the artist began or where he ended.

If we wish to become a painter or musician, we consider it an honor to receive instruction from the best masters and do all in our power to bring credit upon our instructor. We must begin at the very beginning and go step by step as he teaches us. So it is with Christians. They are under the great Instructor and Teacher, as we read in Psa. xxxii. 8, "I will instruct and teach thee in the way which thou shalt go: I will guide thee with mine eye."

But instead of learning how to blend colors, we must learn from 1 Tim. vi. 2, how to follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness, and have these virtues all blended together so that we shall become a true Christian. Simply saying, "I am a Christian," does not make us one. We must show it by our works. The world does not see the artist at his work and drudgery; it sees only the result of that labor. Neither does it see Christians in secret prayer, asking that they may be overcomers. The hard and difficult work is hidden from all eyes but those of the great Teacher.—Ella Benson in Crisis.

The Bible.

The simplicity and naturalness of the Bible are most striking. Where else can be found such graphic pictures of parental and domestic life? The straight-forward delineation of its most conspicuous characters; its records of the sins of God's people with the same impartial pen as is used for the setting forth of their virtues; its lofty moral tone, and its sublimity of thought, as well as its superhuman authority, all bespeak its unique character. For, like the Master, of whom it is the constant and consistent witness, its words are with authority. It never speculates or halts in its teaching, but drives straight to the mark in its every recurring "Thus saith the Lord," in the Old Testament, and in the "Verily, verily, I say to you," of the Master.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending The Restitution to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the doners request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

Mrs A L, Tichenor	1 50

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth, N. J.

For the Christmas and New Year's Holidays the Vandalia Railroad Line will sell on December 24th, 25th, and 31, 1901, and Jan. 1, 1902, return limit Jan. 2, excursion tickets at reduced fares. For full particulars call on nearest Vandalia Line Agent, or address E. A. Ford, Gen'l Pass'r Agt., St. Louis, Mo.

Poetry.

The Story of the Shepherds.

In Bethlehem's stable the Savior was born,
Who, when wrapped in a manger they lay,
There was there no soft couch, but one cold and forlorn,
In this sweet humility we see.

Glory, glory to God! the angels brought word;
"This day, a Savior is born,"
And this is the sign the shepherds have heard—
He'll be swaddled and lay in a barn.

So in wonder and haste they to Bethlehem came;
And lo! as the angel had said,
There lay the dear infant, our Lord, and our King!
The message abroad then they spread.

And what they beheld,—the whole story is told—
Now God's glory resplendent did shine;
That the angel said: "Fear not, for I bring you, behold,
Good tidings which shall be to all men."

And too, with the angel a multitude came
"Glory to God in the highest!" they sing
On earth peace, on earth peace, good will toward men!"
This, this is the heavenly message they bring.

Peace.

Selected.

Jewish Evangelization.

"For if the first fruit be holy, the lump is also holy: and if the root be holy, so are the branches." Romans xi. 16.

This statement is interesting for many reasons. It is interesting in itself as the enunciation of a principle as wide and deep as human life. Every beginning contains in itself the prophecy of a corresponding end. The road a man starts on has much to do with the goal he will reach. Sowing determines reaping. Tares yield tares, and wheat, wheat. The thoughts, words and habits of a child are the forecast of the man he will turn out to be. The first bend of the brook tells which side of the watershed the river will take, and on which side of the continent it will meet the ocean. Stupendous results are wrapped up in the use made of initial movements. "If the first fruits are holy, the lump is also holy; if the root is holy, so are the branches."

The statement is interesting also from an historical point of view. It is really a figure drawn from the ancient Hebrew ritual. The Hebrew law of the first fruits was very wide in its reach. The first born of man, of cattle, of birds; the first yield of every tree of every orchard, of every vineyard, and of every field; the first batch of bread, the first measure of wine, the first hour of the day; the first day of the week, the first week of the year, the first year of every seven, of every fifty, all these were holy to the Lord. No scythe nor sickle could be put into the standing corn until the Jew had first taken the finest ears he could find, bind them on a sheaf and carry them to the Temple as an offering to the Lord. And when the harvest was gathered and the grain ground into meal, the first batch of bread was brought before the altar and dedicated to God.

So all the way through the Jew was required to worship the Lord with the first fruits of his substance, to the end that there might be kindled and maintained in every heart a sense of the sacredness of all things, that every sheaf was just as much God's as the first sheaf, that every basket of fruit was as holy as the basket laid on the altar. The offering of the first fruit outlined the entire harvest.

The idea was not that if they gave one day to God they could do as they liked on the other days—that if they gave him one sheaf or one basket of fruit they might count the subsequent harvest their own to do with as they pleased. But the idea was that if they began the week with God, they might give the week to him; if they began the harvest with God, it was that they might consecrate the harvest to him. "If the first fruits be holy the lump will also be holy."

Then, again, this statement is interesting because of the character of the argument which it discussed. That argument deserves the attention of Christian people today, as surely as the Christian people to whom Paul first addressed it. The argument concerns the future of the Jewish race, and is intended to show that the present state of this people is not their last. As we consider the Jewish race, it is difficult to persuade ourselves that they are the same nation whose wonderful history forms so large a portion of the records of inspiration. We have almost forgotten that this people, who seem to have been the outcasts of earth and heaven for more than eighteen centuries and who have been treated as the filth of the world and the off-scourings of all things, and have been a "by-word and a hissing among all nations," are the descendants of the venerable patriarch on whom God bestowed the highest honors ever bestowed on mortal man, associating his name with theirs, saying, "I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. This is my name forever, and this is my memorial unto all generations."

We have almost forgotten that they are the people, "to whom pertained the adoption, and the glory, and the covenant, and the giving of the law, and the service of God, and the promises, whose are the fathers and of whom as concerning the flesh Christ came, who is over all, God blessed forever."

Now Paul, in his argument, admits that the Jews are and have been rejected because of their unbelief, but he argues that, nevertheless, God has not really or finally cast off "the people whom he foreknew," that their part in the history of the world is not played out, but that through them salvation has come to the Gentiles. He admits that they have fallen away, and adjudged themselves unworthy of eternal life, and that God had turned to other races, but he argues for the ultimate restoration of the Hebrew race to the Divine favor. If their fall has been the salvation of the world what shall their recovery be? If their decrease has been the wealth of the world, how much more their increase; if their rejection was the reconciliation of the world, what shall their reception be but life from the dead, a resurrection of all the slumbering powers of humanity. And in support of this conviction we emphasize the connection of the despised and afflicted race with the holy fathers, the object of God's signal choice, and unchanging love. If their ancestors were the peculiar people of God, they, the descendants, may be regarded as his also, since the covenant was not with Abraham only, but with his seed. "If the first fruits be holy, the lump also is holy, and if the root be holy, so are the branches."

The Hebrew race sprang from a good and sacred root, their fathers, the founders of the race, were men whose very blood was impregnated with faith, and just as we have cause to hope that the children of good men may come out right, so Paul insists on hoping and believing that the stock of Abraham and the seed of David will be ultimately restored to life and peace.

And Paul's conduct squared with his conviction. He prayed as he believed. His heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel was that that they might be saved. Believing the Gospel of Christ to be the power of God unto salvation, to the Jew first, and also to the Gentile, he preached repentance and forgiveness of sin through Christ, to his own people. The fact that he was specially set apart to be the Apostle to the Gentiles did not prevent his preaching to the Jews. Indeed, he took pains to seek them out. Wherever he went, the synagogue was the first place he inquired for, and here, as long as he was allowed, he preached Christ and him crucified.

There is quite a variety of sentiment on the part of Christian people with reference to the Jews with which we who are laboring for their evangelization must reckon. On the part of a large number the feeling toward the Jew is that of contempt. In the first century the question was whether any body but a Jew should be admitted to the privileges of the Christian church. For the first decade after Pentecost all, or almost all, Christians were circumcised Jews, and it required a miracle to throw open the door of the church to any who were not Jews. In the nineteenth century the question seems to be whether the Jew is worth saving. Now, when you come to search for the secret of this widespread contempt for the Jews, you are puzzled. Is it the blood in his veins? It cannot be that, for the Jews are the best-blooded people on the face of the earth. If there be an aristocracy of blood and birth, the Jew has it. He can trace his descent for forty or fifty centuries. His ancestors were the contemporaries of the Trojans, the Egyptians, the Chaldeans. He saw the Hellenic flower bud and bloom, wither and die, in the soil of Greece. They saw the Roman wolf suckle Remus and Romulus on the banks of the Tiber. They stood at the graves of the Egyptian, the Babylonian, the Persian monarchies. They stood at the cradle of the Greek, the Roman, the German, the French, the British Empires. So far as blood and descent are concerned, the Jews are the aristocracy of the world. "When your forefathers were brutal savages, the Jewish forefathers were priests in the temple of the living God."

Is it lack of self-respect in the Jew which has bred contempt for him? When have you ever seen a Jew beggar, a Jew tramp, a Jew drunkard? It is a simple matter of statistics, that no other race of people furnish so few inmates for our hospitals, our jails, our workhouses, as the Jews. Is it lack of ability in a Jew that has bred your contempt? Surely not, for here you have not only an aristocracy of blood, but of brains as well. The power of the Jewish race, considering the disabilities under which he has labored is one of the marvels of history. Joseph, the slave boy, becomes prime minister to Egypt. Moses, the son of a bond-woman, rises to power in the palace of Pharaoh. Mordecai, Esther and Daniel filling high places in foreign lands and at foreign courts were types and prophecies of the greatness which has awaited their descendants. Neither Pharaoh, nor Nebuchadnezzar, nor Antiochus, nor Vespasian, nor Charlemagne nor a hundred Czars have been able to extinguish the genius and power of the Jewish race.

At a time when eight hundred thousand English Roman Catholics had not a single representative in the British Parliament, the eighty thousand Jews managed somehow to have eight representatives. Jewish marshals have commanded French corsairs, Jewish Lord Mayors have presided over the city of London. The foremost league of England commemorates the birthday of a Christian Jew who made England's Queen Empress of India. The floating of any national loan which may be put upon the market is allowed or prevented by the Jew. It was the advice of a New York Jew which enabled the Secretary of the Treasury to manage the national funds during the perilous time of the war for the Union. It was a converted Jew who wrote the best history of the Christian Church that has ever appeared. It was a converted Jew, Edersheim, who wrote the best life of Jesus Christ up to date. It was Jews, Rossini, Meyerbeer, Mendelssohn, who gave the world the music which we Christians are trying to interpret. It was a Jew, Heine, who, next to Goethe, has given Germany the best poetry in her language. It was a Jewess, Rachel, who trod with such majesty and power the heights of art in tragedy.

What race or nation of equal numbers, even while in the enjoyment of national independence and liberty, has produced so many great soldiers, statesmen, authors, journalists, philosophers, musicians, financiers as the Jewish race, persecuted, and scattered, and hated and scorned though it has been?

It is said that the Jew is shrewd at a bargain and tricky in trade, and a hard man to compete with in business. Are there no shrewd Christian men? No tricky Methodists; no hard-hearted Roman Catholics; no sly, foxy Episcopalians; no unconscientious Congregationalists? Let the race, or the church that is without sin in this respect cast the first stone at the Jew, and remember that if the Jew is a money-getter, and a money-lover, Christendom has made him so. Christendom deprived him of his liberty, of his citizenship, of his rights as a man. Christendom robbed him of his landed possessions, of his commerce, of his trade, of his privilege in the markets of the world. He was compelled to convert his property into money and jewels. By the edict of the Christian Church and Christian people, he became a money-lender and a money lover, and even his money was confiscated. What wonder that he became sharp, showed suspicion, and was tricky! And now Christendom, after having schooled him for centuries into this kind of character, turns about and kicks him for what Christendom has made him.

Another sentiment widely prevalent respecting the Jew is that of indifference. There are many who, though not conscious of antagonism or hostility, believe, and live up to their belief, that God has cast off his people. They served a good purpose in the providence of God. They maintained the knowledge of the true God for centuries in the midst of surrounding heathenism. They received and preserved the Oracles of God, but their national and political existence culminated at the birth of our Lord, and when they rejected the Messiah foretold in their own Scriptures, God rejected them, and they ceased longer to be of any importance. Their part in the affairs of the world from a religious point of view was played out.

Now, I cannot see how any man can read history, and mark the continuous life of this people, and think for one moment that God has cut off the Jews, and intends that they should be treated with indifference. You remember the famous answer that was once given to the King who demanded a veritable miracle: "Your majesty, the Jews." The answer was unanswerable. The unextinguishable, immortal nationality of the Jews is a perpetual miracle among the nations. With the destruction of Jerusalem their occupancy of their native soil ceased. They were slaughtered by the hundreds of thousands. They were taken prisoners. They were sent to Egypt to work in the mines; they were sold as slaves; they were scattered among the provinces. The Holy Land, the stately city, the populous streets, the palaces of their kings, the fortress of their warriors, the temple of their God, were portioned out to strangers. The royal house was extinguished, and their high priesthood buried under the ruins of the Temple. But, though the political life of the Jews came to an end, their nationality has not become extinct. Though more than eighteen centuries have passed away since the Jews were scattered over the face of the earth, they have not melted away or become absorbed in other tribes.

Time, which loosens all family ties, which changes habits of life, which changes languages, supersedes traditions, the songs of poets, the memorable deeds of heroes, has left intact the national characteristics of the Jews. In mental and moral traits, in language, literature, customs, traditions, the Jew of today is the same as when Jerusalem was the peer of Tyre and Babylon. The Jew of Brooklyn, of Chicago, of London, of St. Petersburg, of Constantinople, is the same as the Jew of the fenced cities in the time of Daniel. Living in every country, yet without a country; denizens everywhere, yet strangers and foreigners everywhere, intermixed in trade, but not in blood, accommodating themselves readily to every climate, every evil, every degradation of manners, of civilization, of form of government.

The Jews have remained a separate people; the most powerful races have not assimilated them nor abated them. Their history is written in their blood, oppressed, robbed, tortured and massacred, they have survived. They have been the anvil on which all hammers have been broken. Perpetually plundered, they have not been beggars. Butchered by thousands, they have sprung up from an undying stock. It looks, friends, as if God were in the midst of them still. The perpetuity of the Jew, the national immortality of the Jew, is the most interesting problem of the historian, a subject of profound and awful admiration to the religious man. It looks, as if Paul was right in looking forward to the time when "all Israel shall be saved."

Still another sentiment which prevails to some extent among Christian people respecting the Jew is that after all, they are well enough off religiously, and that what they need mostly is what we Christians need, namely, to live up to their religious light and privileges. You hear it said in some quarters that the differences, after all, between Jewish and Christian belief are so slight that the work of evangelization of the Jews is superfluous, if not impertinent. Jews and Christians both believe the same things, the only difference being that we believe more, and they believe less. There could hardly be a grosser error, or one more pregnant with danger to the souls of both Jews and Gentiles. The Jews have the Old Testament. True, but it is not true that the Jews understand and believe the Old Testament. We knew who it was who said: "Had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed me, for he wrote of me." It is impossible to believe Moses and the prophets and not believe in Jesus. This is a hard thing to say, but it must be said. I know many Jews personally. I know them socially. They are my friends; as men I respect them. They are good citizens, good neighbors, good fathers and mothers, good members of society, but the question comes up, and must be asked by us Christians: Is there any other name under heaven, given among men whereby they or we can be saved, than the name of Jesus of Nazareth? Can Jew or Gentile be redeemed from everlasting darkness in any other way except by Jesus Christ? We must remember that though the Jew worships the God of Abraham, and reads the Old Testament, he rejects the only Savior of the world; clinging to the prophets, he refuses him of whom the prophets did write.

My dear friends, let us try to realize what an enormous debt we owe to the Jew. We Christians are indebted to the Jews for our Bible. The holy men of old who spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost, were Jews. That book which is our light in darkness, our comfort in sorrow, our armor in battle, our inspiration in life and our solace in death; that book which is as the sun in the firmament, giving light to all the world, and compared with which all other books are as the glimmer of the twinkling stars—that book we owe to the Jews. The Jew wrote the histories which our children read with delight and old age bends over with tears.

The Jew received from God, and inscribed in the frontispiece of his religious system, the moral law, which is the foundation of our civilization and our liberties. The Jew wrote the Psalms we sing, and the prophecies we ponder, and the prayers we offer, and the promise we trust. The devotional literature of the Jew is the only appropriate vehicle for the passion and the conflict and the joy of our soul.

The life of Christ recorded in the gospel was written by Jews. The epistles were written by Jews. We get our theology from a Jew, and, as has been said, "we catch our clearest glimpses of the next world through the sublime apocalyptic vision of a Jew."

It was through the flesh of a Jew that Christ came into union with our fallen nature—"of whom as concerning the flesh Christ came." In that Jewish flesh he became obedient to the law for us, and went to death for us. In that flesh, he poured out his blood, that he might take away the sins of the world. In that flesh he passed beyond the veil into the Holy Place. In that flesh glorified he ever liveth to make intercession for us. It is according to the likeness of that flesh that our mortal bodies will be fashioned by the resurrection power of the Lord. It was a congregation composed for the most part of Jews which sent forth the first foreign missionaries to the Gentiles. It was a Jew who crossed the Hellespont, and carried the gospel banner and planted it on the shores of Europe. You know the rest. Friends, if you and I could live a thousand years, and devote every day of every one of those years to the payment of our debt to the Jew, we could not even then liquidate our debt.

Again, we are under an obligation; we cannot think to make reparation to the Jew for the unspeakable wrongs that have been done him by Christendom. I defy any man to read the history of the Jews in Europe and then wonder at the deep and deathless prejudice of the Jews against Christ. Of course, it was a spurious Christianity that wronged him, and not the Church of Christ, but the Jew does not discriminate. Persecuted, plundered and murdered by Christian kings; banished and their property confiscated by Christian popes and prelates. Imprisoned, robbed, massacred by Christian Spain, Christian Russia, Christian Germany, it belongs to Christian America, the land of the free, the home of the brave, which opened its hospitable doors to the oppressed of every nation, to show this penniless little kindness for all that they have suffered, to convince them that we are not their enemies, but their friends. Again, we are under obligation to the Jews because we are Christians under the orders of our Divine Commander to go and "preach the gospel to every creature."

But, you say, the Jews are a poor lot. May God blow that word back into your throat. The men to whom Christ preached, with whom Christ associated, for whom he came to die, were a poor lot. They were publicans and sinners. So unrespectable were they that his critics claimed that no man who respected himself could mingle with such people. But Christ thought nothing of trappings or perquisites, or bank accounts, or culture. He thought nothing of man's property or his income, or political influence; of his practical capacity for public affairs. He saw the man as he was—the mortal man, the child of God, made for God, meant for God, sunk in sin and it was the soul of the man he loved and sought. In every son of man he saw that precious, priceless thing. The rags of the beggar could not hide, nor the black skin of the savage, nor even the sins of the evil-doer.

I am interested in the evangelization of the Jews, not only because they are Jews, but because they are also sinners needing salvation.—Thomas B. McLeod, in The People, the Land, and the Book.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Christian Science Against the Bible.

Answering the question, "What is man?" Christian Science says: "Man is spiritual and perfect, and because of this he must be so understood in Christian Science. Man is the idea of divine principle, not physique. He is the compound idea of God including all right ideas; the generic term for all that reflects God's image and likeness, and conscious identity of being, as found in science, where man is the reflection of God, or mind, and therefore is eternal; that which has no separate mind from God; that which has not a single quality inderived from deity; that which possesses no life, intelligence or creative power of his own, but reflects all that belongs to his Maker. * * * Man is incapable of sin, sickness or death, in as much as he derives his essence from God, and possesses not a single original or underived power. Hence the real man can not part from holiness."—Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, page 459.

In this it is plainly stated that man, the real man, cannot depart from holiness; that man is incapable of sin, sickness or death, that he has no separate mind from God. For the purpose of showing the glaring skepticism of this Christian Science I shall compare these statements with the Word of God.

1. "Man can not depart from holiness."—Christian Science. Answer: "Now the spirit speaketh expressly that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith giving head to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils." 1 Tim. iv. 1. "Take heed brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God." Heb. iii. 12.

2. "Man is incapable of sin, sickness and death." Answer: "For there is not a just man on the earth that doeth good and sinneth not." Eccl. vii. 20. "I, Daniel fainted and was sick certain days." Dan. viii. 27. "For he longed after you all and was full of heaviness, because that ye had heard that he had been sick. For indeed he was sick nigh unto death; but God had mercy on him, and not on him only but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow." Phil. ii. 26, 27.

3. "Man is incapable of death."—Christian Science. Answer: "Wherefore as by one man sin entered into the world and death by sin: and so death passed upon all men for that all have sinned." Rom. v. 12. "For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive." 1 Cor. xv. 22. "And as it is appointed unto men once to die and after this the judgment." Heb. ix. 27.

Every statement of these fundamental principles of Christian Science is directly contradicted by the Word of God. The author of this delusion complains that we do not understand, but pray; what explanation can show that these statements of Mrs. Eddy and the Holy Spirit do not antagonize each other? and who can believe Mrs. Eddy in preference to God? On page 460, Christian Science teaches that mortal man is an error made up of sin, sickness and death, which she defines as being nothing. Here are two men: the real and imaginary, or the image of God, and nothing. Christ did not die for the real man for he is the mind of God and not capable of departing from holiness; he never strayed from God by reason of his inability to do so, and therefore needed no reconciliation to God. From this insane proposition, Christ did not die for the real man. If then he died for man it must have been for the "mortal" man, which, according to Christian Science, is an error made up of sin, sickness and death, and is really nothing; since it is nothing, a mere dream, it follows that Christ, our Lord, died for nothing; when he suffered to redeem man he simply suffered for nothing; if he redeemed anything, he redeemed nothing.

This, it seems to me is the logic of Christian Science. Can you believe a proposition so far removed from the teachings of God's Word? They say they have restored the miracle working feature of the Lord's mission on earth, by healing the sick, casting out devils and preventing death. But, have you ever seen a Christian Science healer out on the streets and public highways healing the sick and making the lame walk in the presence of all the people as Jesus did and his disciples did? No, you never did, and that is not all, you never will. They can't do it. I challenge the whole Christian Science world to perform one miracle.—G. W. S. in Firm Foundation.

Communicated.

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

To the brethren and sisters:

Although I have never written to the paper, I have often thought that I would. I am only a young child of the King, having been immersed five years ago, when but twelve years old. We are not near any of the faith, so cannot attend any of the meetings of our church more than twice a year. I always go to Conference, and enjoy very much meeting with all the dear ones.

I ask an interest in all your prayers and may the grand and glorious day soon come, that will bring the Messiah and the gathering together of all the saints in his eternal kingdom. May I be accounted worthy to be among the faithful ones.

Your Sister in Christ.

ZOLA M. PECK.

Dear Restitution:

Seeing in the paper a short time ago a request for letters showing more interest for the cause, I will submit my little mite, hoping it will be accepted. I am only a young worker, but I want to do all in my power to help the cause, and hasten the soon coming of the kingdom, and to be consecrated wholly and entirely to him.

Since coming from the Conference at Watson, I have been burdened by the thought of how we young people can best be benefited. I was disappointed to learn that in this state of Michigan our church has no young people's society. While thinking what I could do to help, I noticed in THE RESTITUTION a piece telling what the young people of other states were doing, and I thought what a nice way the Bereans had of studying the Bible and wondered why we could not do it too. I for one would like to know more about the Bible, and have resolved to spend as much time as I can spare in reading and studying it, and I think there are others just as anxious, so would ask if there is not some one who would help to organize a band in Michigan. Of course one cannot work alone as well as a good many, "for in union there is strength," and I would be willing to help support a society for the benefit I would derive from it. So I make the motion—who will second it?

A few more weeks and we shall have come to another anniversary of our Savior's birth, through whom only we Gentiles have hope of a future life. How much depended on him! How much we ought to love and serve him. Our efforts at the most are so small beside "the Great Sacrifice." It seems I cannot love him enough, and my entire life I consecrate to him—it is all that I can do.

I ask all to pray for me, that I may be faithful to the end.

Your Sister in Christ,

BESSIE PECK.

Dear ones of like precious faith:

I am here all alone, so am not afraid to write, but am subject to embarassment. Our esteemed Brother Wilson has suggested that every one give their testimony or a cause of their belief, in the only power in heaven or upon earth, the only everlasting and wise God and Father of the universe, whose mercy endureth forever, and sometime again will be all in all. I believe truly that Jesus Christ was the Son of God, born of his spirit and nourished in his love, and to exemplify the way to life, and that the Father has bestowed upon him all power and dominion, and he is subjected to all things until fulfilled, and as we might say, the Author and Finisher of all things. I believe that he was slain upon Calvary for the benefit of all people, he gave up his life as a ransom for the forgiveness of sins, that whosoever believeth on him might be saved. He rose from the dead on the third day and was exalted at the right hand of God. I believe that baptism is an emblem of his death and resurrection, "Therefore we are buried with him into death, that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we ought to walk in newness of life." Rom. vi. 4. He was our example while here on earth and we should follow him. He is our Mediator between God and man and we shall trust in him wholly. And this same Jesus will in a little while come back to this earth again, to set up that everlasting kingdom, and whose dominion will cover the earth as the waters cover the sea, and the subjects for that kingdom are a zealous people chosen out of the world for his names sake. I am isolated but am trying to live in obedience to the gospel, which is my greatest desire. I am living among those who believe that the dead are tormented forever and ever, and they believe in going to heaven. I have conversed with them and have told them that if they would find a single promise of any one going to heaven, I would give up all my possessions to them. They said they could certainly find it, but never have. It is quite the reverse, no one has ever ascended up to heaven except he that came from heaven. There are a great many stubborn and stiff-necked people in this world—might as well talk to a stump as to try to influence them to believe the gospel. But some day, I believe they will be very much disappointed to find that the Lord has come and gathered out his little band of believers and has taken them home to himself forever, and they are left out to gnash their teeth in unbelief.

My prayer is that every one who has taken the all-saving name of Jesus upon themselves through baptism in earnestness of the heart may overcome and be faithful unto the end and have a good entrance into that glorious kingdom. "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." This is written in good faith and for inspiration. If I am wrong in my belief, faith and hope, will some kind brother or sister correct me and send me on the way rejoicing.

Your Brother in the one hope of eternal life.

J. C. DANIELS.

WE need a few hundred new subscribers. Now is a good time of year to get them, and we are asking our friends to make an effort in this line. We do not want you labor for nothing, and so make this offer as an inducement to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and what is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War, and an extensive traveler in Africa, has written a book of over 500 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price is put at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1902, making $4.50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, giving them credit to the end of 1902, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help THE RESTITUTION by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 150-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reel, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 288 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Pike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clarkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. R. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb.
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, Cal.
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wisco, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Scirleville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kean, 4507, N. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. R. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stoffa, Fremont, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jacobman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Driggins, Ontario Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Curbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Goin, Jefferson, Ore.
T. F. Cardill, 508 S Main st, South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 183, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hickile, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Rush Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 10 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal

Works of Brk Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

EARLY LESSONS, suitable for young or old, 30 page sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,
General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,
General Immigration & Industrial Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

A FREE PATTERN
(your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.
McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50 CENTS A YEAR
A LADIES' MAGAZINE.
A great beautiful colored plates; latest fashions; fascinating contents; fancy work; household hints; fiction, etc. Send to-day, or send 5c. for latest copy. Lady agents wanted. Send for terms.
Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.
McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ AND 15¢
All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Cutting and Sewing lines.
Only 10 and 15 cents each—none higher. Ask for them. Sold in every city, town and town, or by mail from
THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St., NEW YORK.

VANDALIA TIME CARD
In effect June 2, 1901.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend.....8:25am
No. 14, " " " 12:01noon
No. 8, " " " 10:08pm
No 12, Sunday only 9:45am

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute.....5:45a m
No. 3, " " " " 12:31noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport.....7:30pm
No 11, Sunday only 6:30pm

Trains 3 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections. Lake Maxinkuckee Sunday special train due Plymouth south bound at 9:14 a m. Returning leaves Maxinkuckee 5:45 p m.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo

Change in time of Trains on Pennsylvania Lines.

Under a new schedule in effect Nov. 24, 1901, passenger trains over the Pennsylvania Lines leave Plymouth station as follows:

For the East—2:58 a m daily, 10:23 a m daily except Sunday, 2:35 p m daily, 5:45 p m daily, 7:55 p m daily extra fare train, 8:39 daily except on Sunday, 9:55 p m daily.

For the West—5:15 a m daily, 6:30 a m daily extra fare train, 9:22 a m daily except Sunday, 12:07 p m daily, 2:15 p m daily except Sunday, 6:08 p m daily.

For particular information on the subject apply to J. E. Haues, Ticket Agent, Plymouth.

California-Oregon Excursions every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and on Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest time on the road. Finest scenery. Inquire of nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggoner, at 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill.—dec28

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, bound in cloth and containing 115 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half tone engravings of Black Hawk, Red Cloud Sitting Bull and other noted chiefs; Custer's battleground and ten colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1660. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valuable contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 50 cents a copy, mailed postage paid upon receipt of this amount by W. B. Kniskern, 22 Fifth ave, Chicago Ill—dec14

NICKEL PLATE

All trains arrivant and depart from Van Buren Street Union Passenger Station, Chicago.
Uniformed Colored Porters attend passengers holding first or second class tickets in any coaches on Nos. 8 and 10, jointly scrupulously clean cars exclusive.

Eastward from	All Nickel Plate Passenger Trains Daily	Westward to
3	5	4
11 00	Chicago lv	7 15
11 22	Valpo "	6 53
12 08	Kouts "	6 07
12 34	Argos "	5 41
1 42	Bourbon "	4 44
2 00	Nappanee "	4 26
2 15	Wakarusa "	4 11
2 30	Bristol "	3 56
2 45	Middlebury "	3 41
3 00	Goshen "	3 26
3 15	Millersburg "	3 11
3 30	Benton "	2 56
3 45	Wakarusa "	2 41
4 00	Mishawaka "	2 26
4 15	South Bend "	2 11
4 30	Osceola "	1 56
4 45	Mishawaka "	1 41
5 00	Elkhart "	1 26
5 15	Bristol "	1 11
5 30	Wakarusa "	12 56
5 45	Middlebury "	12 41
6 00	Goshen "	12 26
6 15	Millersburg "	12 11
6 30	Benton "	11 56
6 45	Wakarusa "	11 41
7 00	Mishawaka "	11 26
7 15	South Bend "	11 11
7 30	Osceola "	10 56
7 45	Mishawaka "	10 41
8 00	Elkhart "	10 26
8 15	Bristol "	10 11
8 30	Wakarusa "	9 56
8 45	Middlebury "	9 41
9 00	Goshen "	9 26
9 15	Millersburg "	9 11
9 30	Benton "	8 56
9 45	Wakarusa "	8 41
10 00	Mishawaka "	8 26
10 15	South Bend "	8 11
10 30	Osceola "	7 56
10 45	Mishawaka "	7 41
11 00	Elkhart "	7 26
11 15	Bristol "	7 11
11 30	Wakarusa "	6 56
11 45	Middlebury "	6 41
12 00	Goshen "	6 26
12 15	Millersburg "	6 11
12 30	Benton "	5 56
12 45	Wakarusa "	5 41
1 00	Mishawaka "	5 26
1 15	South Bend "	5 11
1 30	Osceola "	4 56
1 45	Mishawaka "	4 41
2 00	Elkhart "	4 26
2 15	Bristol "	4 11
2 30	Wakarusa

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher

—FOR THE—

CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.60. Six Months 76 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME L. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, DECEMBER 18, 1901. NUMBER 47.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

In Thy Hand.

Clouds and darkness round about me
For a season veil thy face,
Still I trust and cannot doubt thee,
Jesus full of truth and grace,
Resting on thy Word I stand,
None can pluck me from thy hand.

Oh, rebuke me not in anger
Suffer not my faith to fail
[illegible]
Holding fast thy Word I stand,
None shall pluck me from thy hand.

In my heart thy words I cherish,
Though unseen thou still art near;
Since thy sheep shall never perish,
What have I to do with fear?
Trusting to thy Word I stand,
None shall pluck me from thy hand.

Communicated.

Did Elijah Enter the Most Holy Place?

A young brother at Batavia, Ill., writes to THE RESTITUTION asking that an apparent contradiction be harmonized as between John iii. 13, and 2 Kings ii. 11.

Jesus says in John iii. 13, "No man hath ascended up to heaven." In 2 Kings, we read: "Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven." The young man's mind is doubtless somewhat disturbed by these seemingly contradictory statements. The difficulty will certainly disappear when we learn the fact that the Bible speaks of MANY HEAVENS besides the MOST HOLY PLACE, where Jesus our High Priest has for us entered, to make intercession for sin.

2 Pet. iii., speaks of three different heavens and earths, but none of these heavens meant the Most Holy Place, where Jesus has gone. See verses 4, 5, 6. Verses 3 and 4, prophesies that "in the last days," scoffers should arise who would deride the doctrine of our Lord's second coming, and he also adds: "For this they are willingly ignorant of, that by the Word of God the HEAVENS were of old, standing out of the water, and in the water: whereby the world that then was, being overflowed with water perished." This world, including both "heavens" and "earth," "perished." Here we have one heaven, which has already passed out of existence. Verse 7, speaks of the second heavens and earth, as follows: "But the HEAVENS and the earth which are NOW, by the same Word are kept in store, reserved unto fire, against the day of judgment and the perdition of ungodly men." When this period of judgment arrives, the second heavens and earth will also pass away. Verse 13, then speaks of the third HEAVENS and earth. "Nevertheless, we according to his promise look for NEW HEAVENS and a new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness." But unlike the other two heavens and earth, the third will abide forever.

DIFFERENT GOVERNMENTS ARE CALLED HEAVEN.

Ezek. xxxii. 1, 2, 7, 8, speaks of the Egyptian heaven: "Take up this lamentation for Pharaoh, king of Egypt * * * I will cover the (Egyptian) heaven and make the stars thereof dark; I will cover the (Egyptian) sun with a cloud, and the moon shall not give her light. All the bright lights of (the Egyptian) will I make dark over thee, and set darkness upon thy land, saith the Lord God."

In Isa. xxxiv. 4, 5, the passing away of the Idumean heavens is foretold: "All the hosts of heaven shall be dissolved, and the heavens shall be rolled together as a scroll; * * * for my sword shall be bathed in heaven, behold it shall come down upon Idumea, and upon the people of my curse to judgment." The Idumean heavens was clean dissolved.

Isa. xiv. 4-20 speaks of the Babylonian heaven. "Take up this proverb against the king of Babylon. How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning."

Heb. xii. 26, 27, speaks of the removal of the Gentile heavens: "Yet once more, I shake not earth only, but also heaven. And this word, yet once more, signifieth the removal of those things which are shaken," heaven as well as earth. We have also

THE ATMOSPHERICAL HEAVENS.

See Gen. i. 20: "Fowl that fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven."

Lam. iv. 19: "Swifter than the eagles of heaven."

Isa. lv. 10: "Rain cometh down and snow from heaven."

Psa. lxxviii. 26: "He caused an east wind to blow in heaven."

Acts i. 11: "Why stand ye gazing up into heaven?"

It was into the atmospherical heavens where Elijah was taken, and not into the Most Holy Place. The fact that "Elijah went up by a WHIRLWIND into heaven," shows this fact. A whirlwind could not possibly lift any object above the atmospherical heavens.

If I am asked what became of Elijah after he was taken up into the atmospherical heavens, I would say, I don't know. There being nothing further revealed concerning him, we must leave the matter right there. But one thing I DO KNOW, and that is, he was not taken into the Most Holy Place, where Jesus now is. The relation which exists between type and antitype, would forbid his entering the "Holy Place not made with hands." Our older people may understand that point, but I am writing this article not for their benefit, but solely for the young people, some of whom may not have seen the forcible teaching brought to light which now exists between the type and antitype.

All our young people are doubtless familiar with the story about the wanderings of the children of Israel in the wilderness, as taught to you in the excellent articles written by "Auntie Wince," in THE RESTITUTION. You will probably remember that they carried with them a portable building, called "The Tabernacle;" and when they were in camp, they set it up. This tabernacle was enclosed by a portable fence, and the building was set up at one end of the enclosed yard. At the other end there was a gate entering into the tabernacle yard. The first object you would meet on entering the tabernacle enclosure, would be the brazen altar, or an altar made of brass; the next thing would be the laver, where the priests bathed themselves before entering into the sanctuary. The tabernacle was divided into two sections by means of a curtain. The first was called "the sanctuary," and the second, "the Holiest of All." "The sanctuary (was the first part) in which was the candlestick, and the table, and the shewbread; * * * and after the second vail of the tabernacle which is called the holiest of all; which had the golden censer, and the ark of the covenant overlaid round about with gold, wherein was the golden pot which had manna and Aaron's rod that budded, and the tables of the covenant; and over it the cherubim of glory shadowing the mercy seat; of which we cannot now speak particularly. Now when these things were thus ordained, the priests went always into the first tabernacle, accomplishing the service of God. But into the SECOND went the high priest ALONE once every year, not without blood which he offered for himself, and [illegible] the errors of the people." Heb. ix. 1-7. Read Exodus from the twenty-fourth to the thirtieth chapter, for a description of the tabernacle. You will notice that the high priest alone could enter "The Holiest of All." It would have been certain death for any one else to have entered that Holy Place. Now, this was but a type of another High Priest, and another Holy Place, in which the High Priest "alone" could enter.

See Heb. ix. 11-14: "But Christ being come, a High Priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say not of this building, neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood, he entered once into the Holy Place, having obtained eternal redemption for us. For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of a heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh, how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?"

Under the type it would have been instant death for any man or priest, save alone the High Priest, to have entered into the "Holiest of All." Now this was only a figure of an holier place still, and a much greater High Priest who should officiate therein. You cannot fail to see the fallacy of the teaching that flocks of dead men's ghosts enter the "Holiest of All" [illegible]

Again, under the type all the people waited on the outside for the return of the High Priest to bless them. So, we also, are waiting on the outside, for our High Priest to return and bless us. The High Priest must come to us, and not that we shall go to him.

When we consider all this, we can see a forcible reason for his remarks to his beloved followers, when he said: "Little children, yet a little while I am with you. Ye shall seek me: and as I said unto the Jews, whither I go, YE CANNOT COME; so now I say to you." John xiii. 33.

As none but the High Priest was permitted to enter the Most Holy Place, so even now, no one else can enter, not even the close bosom companions of our High Priest, for his own express word is, "Whither I go, ye cannot come." Why cannot religious people believe him? Is not his word yea and amen every time?

Previous to his departure to the Most Holy Place, to enter upon his official work as High Priest, he made an express declaration which not only excludes Elijah, but every other person from having entered the Holy Place up to that time. He says: "And NO MAN HATH ASCENDED UP TO HEAVEN." No whirlwind could possibly carry any man higher than the atmospherical heavens, and that is where the record of Elijah ends; the Bible gives no further information concerning his whereabouts, or where he was taken from that point, but it is certain from the evidence given above, that he never entered the Most Holy Place.

About one thousand years after David's death, Peter in his memorable discourse upon the day of Pentecost, said: "David is NOT ASCENDED INTO THE HEAVENS." The rule could not be broken, the High Priest must appear alone in the "Holiest of All," while performing the duties which pertain to the High Priest. Neither David, Elijah, his disciples, or the Jews, could appear there, as Jesus decisively said: "Whither I go ye cannot come." Such language cannot be misunderstood, it is plain and simple, he meant just what he said. To assert that every good person at death does go there is to dishonor the Savior, by implying that he was a deceiver by affirming so clearly, that "no man hath ascended up to heaven," and furthermore, "whither I go ye cannot come."

In Psa. cxv. 16, he says: "The heaven, even the heavens, are the Lord's: but the earth hath he given to the children of men." Said Jesus: "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the EARTH."

Says the Psalmist: "The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein forever."

"The upright shall dwell in the land, and the perfect shall remain in it." If the "perfect" shall "remain" in it, it is certain they could not be transported to heaven at any time.

W. H. WILSON.

Genesis. Chap. 36,

1. Now Jooseph was seventeen years old, shepherding the sheep of his father in the midst of his brethren, he being a youth among the sons of Balla and among the sons of Zelpha, the wives of his father?

2. And Jooseph brought a bad report unto Israel their father.

3. And Jakook loved Jooseph more than all his sons, because he was a son of his old age; and he made for him a parti-colored tunic.

4. And when his brethren saw that the father loved him more than all his sons, they hated him, and were unable to say anything peaceable to him.

5. And Jooseph dreamed a dream-vision [illegible] told it to his brethren.

6. And he said unto them: Hear ye the dream-vision that I have dreamed.

7. I thought ye were binding sheaves in the midst of the plain; and my sheaf arose and stood upright, and your sheaves turning about did homage to my sheaf.

8. And the brethren said unto him, Thou [illegible] to rule as king over us? And they were more because of his dreams and the things he said.

9. And he saw another dream-vision and discoursed it to his father and his brethren. And he said, Lo, I have dreamed another dream-vision: The sun and the moon and eleven stars, as it were, did homage to me.

10. And his father reproved him and said unto him, What is this dream-vision that thou hast dreamed? Surely are we going to come, I and thy mother and thy brethren to do thee homage on the ground?

11. And his brethren became jealous of him; but his father watched to keep in mind the oracular word.

12. And his brethren went their way to pasture the sheep of their father in Suchem.

13. And Israel said unto Jooseph, Are not thy brethren shepherding in Suchem? Come I'll send thee unto them; and he said, Lo, I am ready.

14. And Israel said unto him, Go thy way and see if thy brethren and the flocks are in good health, and come and tell me; and he sent him out of the valley of Chebroon, and he went to Suchem.

15. And a man found him going astray on the plain; and the man asked him saying, What art thou seeking?

16. And he said, I am seeking my brethren; tell me where they are pasturing.

17. And the man said unto him, They [illegible] from here, for I heard them saying, we are going our way to Dootharim. And Jooseph went his way after his brethren, and found them in Dootharim.

18. And they saw him afar off before he had drawn nigh to them; and they devised wickedly to kill him.

19. And each said to his brother, Lo, that dreamer is coming.

20. Now then come, let us kill him, and cast him into one of the pits; and we will say, a bad wild beast hath devoured him, and we shall see what his dreams will be.

21. And when Hreubeen heard it he was delivering him out of their hands and said, Let us not smite him in soul.

22. And Hreubeen said, Do not shed blood; cast him into one of these pits in the wilderness, and do not bring a hand upon him, that he might deliver him out of their hands and give him back to his father.

23. And it came to pass, when Jooseph had come to his brethren, that they stript off from Jooseph the variegated tunic that was around him.

24. And taking him they cast him into the pit; now the pit was empty; it had no water.

25. And they sat down to eat bread, and looking up with their eyes they saw, and lo, Ismaelitish wayfarers were coming from out Galaad; and their camels were loaded with incense gums and ratinee and stackice; and they were going their way to lead down into Aiguptos.

26. And Joudas said unto his brethren, What profit will there be, if we kill our brother and hide his blood?

27. Come let us sell him to these Ismaelites and our hands should not stand against him because he is our brother and our flesh; and his brethren hearkened to him.

28. And the men going their way were Midianite merchants, and they drew and conducted Jooseph up out of the pit; and they sold Jooseph to the Ismaelites for twenty of gold, and they led Jooseph down into Aiguptos.

29. And Hreubeen returned unto the pit; and he doth not see Jooseph in the pit, and he rent his outer garments.

30. And he returned unto his brethren and said, The lad is not; and where am I to go any more?

31. And taking Jooseph's tunic they slew a kid of the goats, and smeared the tunic with the blood.

32. And they sent and brought the particolored tunic to their father and said, We found this: recognize whether it is thy son's tunic or not.

33. And he recognized it, and said, It is my son's tunic; a bad wild-beast hath sieized Jooseph.

34. And Jakoob rent his outer garments and put sack cloth upon his [illegible] days.

35. And all his sons and daughters were gathered together and come to console him. And he would not be consoled, saying, I shall go down unto my son sorrowing to hades (the grave); and his father lamented.

36. And the Midianites sold Jooseph into Aiguptos unto Petephees the chief-magus eunuch of Pharaoo.

COMMENT.

"Coat" instead of "tunic" both in the C. V. and R. V. It was not "a long-garment with sleeves" as stated in the R. V. marginal note; but a short under garment corresponding to our skirt.

"A dream-vision" instead of "dream" merely in C. V. and R. V.—one of the well known ways of divine revelation in those days.

"I thought" omitted in the 7th verse R. V.

"Did homage" is not the same as "made obeisance" R. V. "King" and "Lord" are important terms in the 8th verse—not given in the R. V.

In the 11th verse we have a good illustration of the esoteric "watch to keep."

In the 17th verse "Dootharim" instead of "Dotham" R. V.

In the 20th verse "pit" is really a "dry well."

There were many of these ineffectual attempts to get water in that country [illegible]

Hreubeen was evidently not present with the sons of Balla and the sons of Zelpha when they conspired to kill Jooseph.

In the 25th verse "Galaad" instead Gilead also "incense-gums" instead of "spicery" R. V.

In verse 28 of course "Midianites" were "Ismaelites" from the province of Madiam—the same as the company spoken of in the 28th verse. This is not clear in the R. V. or C. V.

Instead of "Potiphar" read "Petephees" and "chief-magus" instead of "Captain of the guard" R. V. in last verse. The "magi" were the so-called wise men and councilors of the court. This helps account for Jooseph's rise, because his wisdom was appreciated. His Master and owner was a "chief-magus" and not a soldier.

CHAS. GARDNER.

Selected.

What is a Spiritual Body.

Do not turn away from the consideration of this question. You may think it unpractical and speculative. It is neither. It concerns the future existence that God offers to men in Christ; it is a matter on which the Scriptures speak plainly.

You ought to know about it, if you desire to be instructed according to the Scriptures.

Paul says: "There is a spiritual body." 1 Cor. xv. 44. He tells us that this spiritual body is not a matter of present experience; "That was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural, and afterwards that which is spiritual." Verse 46. As to the natural body, he points to Adam as a specimen of what that is. Verse 45. We all have this body, therefore we know what it is—weak, unclean, earth-cleaving, and dying. He points to Christ as he now is as a specimen of the spiritual body; see verses 44, 45. Of this body we have had no experience; but if we are accepted of Christ at his coming, we shall have this blessed experience, for Paul, in the same chapter, says: "As we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly.....this corruptible must put on incorruption, this mortal must put on immortality." Verse 49-53.

Although we have had no experience of this higher nature, which the children of God will assume at the resurrection, we are enabled to form some conception of it from what is testified concerning it. Incorruption, glory, power, are declared to be its attributes 1 Cor. xv. 42, 43. Of those attaining to it, Jesus declares, "They shall not die more." Luke xl. 36.

"Victory," is Isaiah's description of the state to which its possession in- [illegible] in which there will be deliverance from groaning, burdens, and tears. 2 Cor. v. 2-4; Rev. xxi. 4; Isa. xxv. 8.

These things are not affirmed of a ghost or shadow, or immaterial and invisible entity of any sort whatever, but of real bodily men. The simple terms of the testimonies referred to would show this, but it is conclusively proved in another way. John tells us that when Christ appears, we shall be like him. 1 John iii. 2. Here is an unmistakable clue to the simple and glorious truth of the matter. The righteous are to be made like to Jesus Christ.

Now, concerning Christ, we have the plainest information on this point. The body that was crucified on Calvary was the body that was put in Joseph's tomb, and that came out alive on the morning of the third day. When Jesus appeared alive to his disciples, it was an actual bodily man that so appeared. When at first the disciples doubted this, Jesus said to them, "Behold my hands and my feet, it is myself; handle me and see; for a spirit, a mere apparition, hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have." Luke xxiv. 39.

Here was Jesus, after his resurrection, possessing flesh and bones. In forty days, he visibly left the earth in the presence of his disciples; and it was said to them by two angels who were attendant upon the event: "This [illegible] who has been taken from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go." Consequently, Jesus at his return will be a real and bodily person, possessing flesh and bones, for he is so now, and has been ever since he went away.

Paul saw him several years after his departure to heaven, and the light of his person was above the brightness of the sun. Acts xxvi. 13-15. This was also the aspect Jesus exhibited in the transfiguration: "His face did shine as the sun, and his raiment was white as light." Mat. xvii. 2. He is a living illustration of what a spiritual body is—a body living, not by blood, in which life is indirectly generated and applied, but an organization charged in every atom with the primal life-power of God, incorruptible in substance, and glorious in aspect, powerful in faculty, perfect in its enjoyments, as tangible as the bodies we now possess, yea, more so, for our present bodies quickly decay, while the spiritual body endures forever.

Is it not a glorious gospel that can bring such a body within our reach? Ponder the matter. You will find the salvation offered in the Scriptures is exactly suited to our need in all respects. It is not the salvation of an immortal soul, but of a mortal body. We do not go to it when we die, but it comes to us at the resurrection. Christendom is astray in the matter. The Bible is right. Search and see.

It is not enough for one to be a Christian. He may be sincere in his piety and able to pray and talk on religion, and yet be so disagreeable that every one will avoid his company. Nothing disgusts the outside world with religion, more than for a pronounced Christian to be saying and doing little things that are unpleasant to others.

Good doing among men does not consist so much in great deeds, occasionally done and to most men impracticable, as it does in comparatively small deeds, often repeated and practicable to all men. It is the little things seasonably done that will tend to make up the bulk of an eminently useful life.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor,

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Office Editor.

Editorial Committee.
J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, Special Contributor.

Plymouth, Indiana, Dec. 18, 1901.

One, just one unforgiven sin, because not repented of—then what?

Is it now, as in Paul's day, that sin is the transgression of law? If not, what is it?

Reader, be careful that your views of sin do not increase unto more sinfulness.

The man that prays for wealth may have it, if he is able to bear the necessary discipline to prevent it from proving his ruin.

When renewing your subscription [illegible] near you who does not take the paper who will if you ask them to. Help us in this way to get a few more new names on our list.

"Integrity is the first moral virtue, benevolence the second, and prudence the third. Without the first, the two latter cannot exist, and without the third the two former would be often rendered useless."

Do you like to get The Restitution each week and read the articles and letters it contains? Did you ever think that your brother who sits near you would get a like benefit and enjoyment if he had it also? Get him to subscribe for 1902. It will cost you very little to ask him, and you may be the means of doing him good.

When a person thinks he can commit little sins with impunity he is travelling down grade with great velocity. He should apply the break vigorously, or else he may stop so suddenly that his journey will abruptly end. Don't be deceived by the idea of little sins. There is death in the pot.

"If good deeds were utterly barren, I would seek after them for the consciousness of their own goodness; how more shall I now be encouraged to perform them for that they are so profitable to myself and others, and to myself in others." Says Bishop Hall.

When a meeting is held in your neighborhood, and an audition is made to the Church, see that The Restitution goes to the home of the new convert. It will help to keep them in the right way, and aid in their growth in grace and a knowledge of the truth. See to it that they have the paper regularly.

"If we could induce people to listen to opposite ideas, to weigh the arguments of adverse parties, to partake for a time in the feelings which each may inspire, they would probably be in a much better condition to consider the problems put before them, and would doubtless often form sounder conclusions."

If you are anxious about the well-being of some friend and would like to have him see and embrace the truth, subscribe for this paper to be sent to him. It will talk at times and places that you cant. It may make opportunity for you to say a word that will make you friend a joint-heir with the Lord Jesus Christ. It has been done. Why not try it?

"Our Helping Fund" is still considerably overdrawn. Still there are calls, and to meet them taxes us very greatly, so that we often cannot see how they are to be supplied. A number of our friends have aided in this work, and we trust there are others who will do so. Just now we have three urgent calls. One sister who is very poor, even suffers often for life's necessities, wants the paper continued to her address, will miss it greatly, gets to no meetings. Another place—a wife, mother of a large family, the husband formerly opposed, but has now began reading and is interested. They are very poor. Another is a sister who may be able to get work and pay some, but is poor, and will have hard work to live the winter through. What say you, brother and sister. Shall we stop these papers? We don't want to surely. Who will pay for them? Some one who wants to do good to the children of God will do this—some one who is willing may be to sacrifice a little for the Master's poor. Who will have the credit of supplying these? If you cannot send for all, spare a dollar, or fifty cents, and some one else a little and together it is done as well as if sent by one person.

"The love of God! who can fathom it? We very soon cloy with honey; it is not hard to satisfy ourselves on sugar; and even of bread we may tire; but who ever tired of air? All day we breathe it; at morning, at noon, at night—all night—all our lives, and we are not weary; love is the vital air of the Christian. Every earthly pleasure wearies, but of spiritual pleasures we never tire. The more we are filled with them, the more hungry and thirsty after them we grow.

Those to whom we have sent letters telling about your accounts have not all made response as yet. Brother or Sister, we urge you to be sure and not neglect this matter longer. We want to pay our obligations—this is the reason why we ask you to give us what is due at once. If we could satisfy those we are under obligation to any other way we would not ask you, but as it is the only way we know of, we must hear from you to enable us to do so. We trust all will see the necessity of this matter at [illegible]

Education.

"As to education being a good work that depends upon what sort of education it is. Education is the act of leading out the intellect and moral sentiments. These are very naturally blind. If a blind man be appointed to lead them out, he will exercise them in darkness, and make them vicious. If we judge of the education of the day by the Word of God, it is decidedly bad. To teach a boy to read, write and cipher, is not education, but artistry, and leaves his veneration, conscientiousness, in short, all his moral faculties a desert of thorns and briers. The adults of this generation are incompetent to educate the rising race. As ordinarily conducted it is not a good work—and if Paul were living now, we are satisfied he would denounce it as evil. A tree is known by its fruits, and the fruit of the educational Upas that overshadows the country is seen in the rowdyism of Congress, the ignorance and fanaticism of the Church, and the general demoralization of the people in trade, commerce, and domestic life. This comes of flesh; the end thereof is walking in the flesh—to the denial and rejection of the word."

The Friends of Jesus, Who are They?

The answer and an infallible one is found in John xv. 14. They are the words of Jesus addressed to his disciples, and read as follows—"Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you." Less than a dozen words, but a sentence of tremendous import. Surely he did speak as never man spake. Do you know I am afraid brethren and sisters sometimes read too much Bible. I do not mean they spend too much time on the Father's Will; but that they go over too much ground;—act as if they thought, if the words pass under the eye, or their tongues lisp them every purpose will be, and is served. I feel that my words will be misunderstood without an explanation. Sometimes we have to ransack the whole Book to get all the testimony together so as to see what the mind of the Spirit is. But when spiritual growth seems more important than the intellectual—when we want to be in intimate communion with the Father and the Son so as to catch their spirit, then it is I think too much territory is sometimes run over. It is not so much what we eat, as what we digest and appropriate, that strengthens and builds up our physical systems; and the same principle holds in SPIRITUAL THINGS.

Some complain that it is difficult for them to analyze and extract the nourishment contained in a passage, and as a sort of compensation for that, multiply passages. This of itself is excellent, but it should not be made to take the place of close meditation upon particular passages, because the Spirit's Word is not like milk—its cream can be taken from the top, but the cream of the Word of truth goes all down through it, and the deeper you go the richer the cream,—and the beauty of it is you can never get to the bottom of it. When I commenced to write I had no idea of saying what I have said, but I hope it will do no harm. I will now mention two or three simple things that lie on the surface of this Scripture, for fear some may not see them. Remember he is speaking to his disciples—the little circle who were learners of him, and who would certainly be taken for friends of his by virtue of their being in that circle. But you observe this was not enough.

"YE ARE MY FRIENDS,

if—ye DO whatsoever I command you." There was the contingency. Their being there said nothing except for the present time, if that. 2ndly, it was not enough to believe the commandments of Jesus. They must no whatsoever be commanded. He intended to lay off their work for them. They would have to work under his directions. They would have to work to a plan, and in the execution of the plan would have to use certain material, and use certain tools. 3rdly, They would be his friends if they did WHATSOEVER he commanded. They could not [illegible] his commands and cull out to do what was least objectionable to them, or which required the least effort. Here our Lord recognizes the fact that obedience may be sincere as far as it goes, but there was danger of it not going far enough; and that obedience is apt to be partial; and that ever so much sincere will not make up for disobedience in others. You see man often SELECTS what they obey and what they *dis*obey. They [illegible] entirely his friends. They curtail his authority of their own. True obedience neither selects nor dictates—it says: "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" He who abstains from stealing, and drunkenness, and yet speaks evil of his brethren illustrates what I mean. David on the other hand, said, "I esteem ALL thy commandments concerning all things to be right, and I hate every false way." 4thly, it is "whatsoever I command you;" not the commands of any one else; we must allow no one to take his place or usurp his authority. 5thly, it is his COMMANDS, or hints, or suggestions but commands; they are imperative—they have no choice in the matter. When they come into his circle they no longer belong to themselves, for he has bought them, and they have delivered the goods; given themselves up to him. These conditions being complied with, they are his friends; attached to him by esteem, an affection; are intimate associates, promoters of his interests—indeed their interests become mutual—their destinies are linked with his—they are joint heirs with him; he has called them to his kingdom and glory. Those who have from the heart embraced the faith of Abraham will think with interest of his being called the Friend of God. Is it not most astounding when we think of it that the [illegible] and God's [illegible] made the earth for nigh 6000 years storing away such vast stores of everything he would need, and establishing laws by which it has become peopled with myriads of men, and we read of One of them being called when they all owed him their life, their breath—everything—so you see when we are Christ's friends we are the children of Abraham, and like him, friends and heirs of God. To obey the commands of Christ, is to do the will of God, and we are distinctly told that they shall abide forever. Those who get into the congregation of God and do not observe the commandments of Jesus, may be said to have religion in the head while sin rules in their hearts. Did you notice that the declaration is without respect to persons; he that doeth, no matter what his age, or rank, or position—may be.

OBEDIENCE IN SOMETHINGS

NOT HIS ADVICE

THE FRIEND OF GOD,

No one can understand Christ who takes but a superficial view of him. No one can live by faith in the atmosphere of or summon up fortitude enough to suffer for him and with him, if only intellectually acquainted with him. Such are ashamed of his words and do little for his cause. My earnest exhortation, is for one and all to keep the commandments of Jesus whatever they are, and then everything else will take care of itself, and at last we shall see him as he is and be made like him and appear with him in glory. May the glad day soon come and find us fit to be gathered home is my prayer. Amen.

THE AGE OF GLORY,

Communicated.

To the Faithful in Christ.

"Jesus answered them and said, my doctrine is not mine but his that sent me." John vii. 16.

There seems to be some confusion of thought in the minds of many believers in regard to the signification of the word doctrine. Some are terribly afraid of doctrine, doctrinal articles, or even to talk on doctrine, and strangely enough fancy that to be familiar with doctrine or to love to talk on doctrine is to be opposed to, or lacking in spirituality. This is a very decided and a very grave mistake which is constantly leading the unwary into snares and sins that lie in wait to deceive.

In the Old Testament we find three Hebrew words translated doctrine; but as they have no direct bearing on the present theme, we pass on to the New Testament and find here Greek words translated doctrine. Two of these words, and they are most frequently used in the gospels and epistles, are used to express the thought of teaching. The other, Heb. vi. 1, "Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ," etc.; the word "logos," translated doctrine, should have been rendered word.

When our beloved Master served in his ministry here as he went about from city to city and desert to mountain preaching the gospel of the kingdom—as that is what he claimed to have been sent to do—the people were astonished at his doctrine or teaching, which is the real meaning of the word. Why were they astonished at his doctrine or his teaching? The word tells us, "because he taught them as [illegible] and not as the Scribes." How did the Scribes teach? They taught the popular and cold formalities of the law.

By giving a little careful study to this subject (which in this brief article I cannot) it will readily be seen that to teach is to preach and to preach is to teach, and further that whatever you preach or teach is doctrine. When our Lord gave his last commission to his followers it was, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature, etc." This was the doctrine that he had been preaching, and this is the doctrine he gave his followers instructions to carry in his name to all nations; and upon their reception or rejection of this teaching depended their salvation or their condemnation. The facts are very clearly set forth in the written Word, and their importance cannot be too highly valued nor can we lay too great stress upon facts on which hang life or death.

No single instance can be quoted where the Master taught that it made little difference what you believed so long as you did the right thing by your neighbors and worshiped God as a God of love and mercy according to your peculiar understanding of those terms. His teaching and doctrine was, "Straight is the gate and narrow is the way that leadeth unto life and few there be that find it; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction and many there be which go in thereat." Too many at the present time are anxious to reverse this and they ignore the doctrine of Christ and set up a "broad platform of charity" and try to gather in all of every name and creed and doctrine to that kingdom and inheritance, which he the Christ has taught us has no entrance but faith in himself and obedience. "He that hath the Son (by faith) hath the life; he that hath not the Son hath not the life." There is no middle ground, there is no patching up Jehovah's divine plan of salvation. The disciples received their doctrine right from the Master's own lips and they fearlessly set forth the same before the vast multitudes with whom they came in contact, and we read in Acts ii. 42 of those who received the teachings of the gospel from them. "And they continued steadfastly in the apostle's doctrine and fellowship and in breaking of bread and in prayers." These four things combined fill up the Christian duty. If you leave any one out you break loose a link in the golden chain that binds the disciple to his Lord.

The doctrines or teachings of men are contrasted with those of the Master. In Heb. xiii. 9 we are exhorted not to be "carried about with divers and strange doctrines." And again in 2 John ix. 10, "Whosoever transgresseth and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ hath not God." He that abideth in the doctrine (or teaching) of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son. If there come any unto you and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house neither bid him God-speed; For he that biddeth him God-speed is partaker of his evil deeds." This, my brethren is very strong language, but it is the language of inspiration and it behooves each and every one to take heed to it. The way of life is the straight and narrow one. The sword of the spirit has two edges and they do this work effectually. The one protects the Word from all human amalgamation, the other lops off all human speculation and creeds. It is high time the church awoke to a sense of her high calling, that she arise and put on her beautiful garments of righteousness and be ready to go forth to meet the heavenly Bridegroom when he cometh.

Let us lay aside every weight and the sins which most easily beset us. The weight that seems to drag down the church to the level of the world, or nearly so, is the spirit of worldliness that is abroad in the world; the desire to be and to do like the world just as Israel of old wanted to be like other nations. They wanted visible display and Jehovah gave them their desire. But he did not change his eternal purpose to suit them, neither will he to suit those who today make gods of their own and worship them. Let us beware. Your sister abiding in the truth.

Mrs. Carrie Williams.

[The foregoing was written and published a number of years ago, but is so true today that we venture to reprint it for the benefit of our later readers.—Ed.]

"Blessed is he that Cometh in the Name of the Lord."

Though Israel had passed through a long period of training under this [illegible] and through their prophets, God did give them precept on precept and line upon line. After all these special benefits we hear the prophet cry, "All day long I have stretched forth my hands unto a disobedient and gainsaying people." So when the royal Heir of David made his advent into the world, though all men stood in expection of him, yet they were not prepared to recognize him as the Messiah of the Prophets. John, the forerunner of Christ, after baptizing him in Jordan and witnessing the descent of the Holy Spirit upon him, bore record to the truth, saying, "This is the Son of God; repent ye for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." Jesus immediately began his public mission, and went throughout Judea and Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of diseases among the people and raising the dead to life. Thus demonstrating his claim as the Son of God and legal Heir to the throne of his father David. The law and the Prophets were until John, after that the kingdom of God was the burden of the message to be proclaimed. Many of the Jews sought him, and were struck with wonder and astonishment at his mighty works, and were often stunned by the wisdom of his teaching, and the sound reproof he gave them, because of their boasted claim as children of Abraham. He knew their thoughts and when they seemed most anxious to learn of his whereabouts, he told them it was because they had eaten of the loaves and fishes he gave them. This Jesus of Nazareth is of humble birth, he is only the carpenter's Son, his brothers and sisters are they not with us? Nothing good can come out of Nazareth, and beside all this, "out of Galilee ariseth no prophet." Am I presuming too much to say, Had the nation of Israel been ready to receive their King at his first advent, would he not have taken the royal authority at once? But Jesus saw the gross darkness that covered them, and the inevitable punishment that must follow the utter rejection of their promised Deliverer, when they reach the climax of their sin and crucify their King, all because they knew not the time of their visitation. With these thoughts in the mind of our Lord on the crest of Olivet, where he beheld the rebellious city and wept over it, then gave vent to that memorable wail, "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets, and stonest them which are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not. Behold your house is left unto you desolate. For I say unto you, ye shall not see me henceforth until ye shall say, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord. The children of Israel must abide many days without a king, for blindness in part has happened unto them until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in." During which time our Lord's great prophecy in the 21st chapter of Luke, concerning their great tribulation, commencing with the destruction of their temple and city, will have received a complete fulfilment. And they shall fall by the edge of the sword, and shall be led away captive into all nations, and Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles until the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled. Their house is yet desolate, and will so remain until the Deliverer comes out of Zion and turns away ungodliness from Jacob. But we see signs of the budding fig tree in the Zionist movement, telling us the long dark night of Gentile supremacy is fast drawing to a close. Paul also made the blindness to terminate with the fulness of the Gentiles. Jerusalem will arise when the times of the Gentiles are over, and shake herself from the dust. She will sit down again as the queen city of the whole earth. Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God. Speak ye comfortably to Jerusalem, and cry unto her that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned; for she hath received of the Lord's hand double for all her sins. Isa. xl. 1 2. Will Jerusalem be no more trodden down? Answer, no more. The moon shall be confounded and the sun ashamed, when the Lord of Hosts shall reign in Mount Zion and in Jerusalem and before his ancients gloriously. God's faithful witnesses in the heavens will bear testimony to these facts. Our Lord's prophecy in the 24th chapter of Matt. is, "Immediately after the tribulation of those days shall the sun be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light." The house of the Lord no longer desolate, will be established in the top of the mountains, and it shall be exalted above the hills, and people shall flow into it. And the long despised sons of Jacob will be gathered back to Zion with songs, and everlasting joy upon their heads. They shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away. Then is one chant of joy that will make glad the city of God, will be fulfilled the words of our Lord, "Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord."

Now Zion build again,
Erect thy Temple's fane
In glory bright,
The mitred city raise,
Where men shall give thee praise,
And nations learn thy ways,
By truth's own light.

Sallie Black.

Luke xii. 32.

"Fear not, little flock, for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom." As the Editor has invited subscribers to send in short articles I will endeavor to suggest a few thoughts on the above passage. Fear causes disquietude, sometimes fright and in some cases death. But we are commanded to fear not. If we are like Abraham we will have no fear, he had faith in God's promises, he believed God and it was imputed unto him for righteousness. We must believe the promises and have no doubt about their fulfilment. "Fear not, little flock," it is the flock that he is speaking to, his chosen few, not the [illegible] at large, but the little flock that are looking and waiting for his return, when he will come again and set up his kingdom. Why should we not fear, because we are told that it is our Father's good pleasure to give us the kingdom. This is the kingdom that Abraham and all the faithful looked for, the one spoken of in Dan. vii. 27 And the kingdom and dominion and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heavens shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom and all dominions shall serve and obey him, that is Jesus when he comes the second time in power and great glory. We find in both of those passages it says that the kingdom shall be given to (and not purchased by) those who get it, that is those who are joint heirs with Christ and Abraham's seed according to the promise through faith.

May the kingdom soon come.

J. E. H.

The Retail Lumber Dealers Association of Indiana has arranged for another special excursion through the south, leaving Indianapolis on Jan. 22, 1902, and going by way of the Pennsylvania and the Louisville and Nashville Lines, to Louisville, Montgomery, Pensacola Thomasville, Tampa, to Port Tampa, where they take a specially chartered steamer of the Peninsular and Occidental Co., going down the west coast of Florida, to visit places of interest in Cuba. Returning they touch the Bahamas, and land at Miami on the east coast of Florida, and back home through Georgia and the Carolinas, stopping at Columbia, Asheville and Knoxville. The entire trip to occupy about seventeen days. The cost is $110, including railroad and steamship fares, all sleeping car and steamer berths, and all meals when with the steamer—in short, everything except meals in the United States. This cannot fail of being a most enjoyable winter trip, as a representative of the railroad lines will accompany the excursion. Write to J. H. Milliken, Dist. Pass. Agent Louisville, Ky, for information about this trip, and write at once, as the number is limited.

Subscribe for The Restitution for 1902.

Poetry.

The Tongue Instructed.

Guard well thy lips; none, none can know,
Prov. 13, 3.
What evils from the tongue may flow;
Jas. 3, 5-6.
What guilt, what grief may be incurred,
Judges 11, 35.
By ourunadvised, hasty word:
Mark 6, 22-27.
Be "slow to speak," look well again,
Jas. 1, 19.
To check what there may lead to sin;
Jas. 1, 26
And pray unceasingly for aid,
Col. 4, 3.
Lest, unaware, thou be betrayed.
Luke 21, 34.

"Condemn not—judge not," not to man
Is given his brother's faults to scan:
1 Cor. 4, 5.
The task is Thine, and Thine alone,
Matt. 7, 2.
To search out and subdue thine own.
John 8, 7.

Indulge no murmurings; oh, restrain
1 Cor. 10, 10.
Those lips so ready to complain; Lam. 3, 22.
And, if they can be numbered, count
Psa. 103, 2.
O one day's mercies, the amount.
Lam. 3, 23.

Shun vain discussions, trifling themes;
Titus 3, 9.
Dwell not on earthly hopes and schemes;
Deut. 6, 4-7.
Let words of wisdom, meekness, love,
Jas. 3, 13.
Thy heart's true renovation prove.
Luke 6, 45.

Set God before thee: ev'ry word Gen. 17, 1.
Thy lips pronounce by Him is heard;
Psa. 139, 4.
Oh, couldst thou realize this thought,
Matt. 12, 36.
What care, what caution would be taught.
Luke 12, 3.

"The time is short," this day may be
1 Cor. 7, 29.
The very last assigned to thee. Eph 5, 16.
So speak, that shouldst thou ne'er speak more,
Col. 4, 6.
Thou may'st not this day's words deplore.
Rom. 14, 12.

—Selected by Mrs. C. W. Russell.

Original.

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

Through the Dear Restitution to the Brethren and Sisters of the one faith everywhere:

As this will be the last first day of the week that I and my family will live in our dear old city of Winchester, where I have lived for 28 years, and I expect if it be the good Lord's will we will make our future home in Hagerstown, Md. As we have had the pleasure in the past to meet a good many of the dear brothers and sisters at our annual meetings in Winchester, I feel like giving expression of my feelings by praying for all the dear ones that they hold out faithful through this life that they may be the cause of many being brought into the knowledge of the truth as was taught by Jesus, and being baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, is my humble prayer. Dear brethren and sisters, pray for us all that we may so live in the way that will be acceptable to our Lord, and that we may all have a part in the first resurrection, on which the second death hath no power. Rev. xx. 6. See Rom. vi. "What shall we say then? Shall we continue in sin, that grace may abound? God forbid. How shall we, that are dead to sin, live any longer therein? Know ye not that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death, that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection; knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin. For he that is dead is freed from sin. Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him; knowing that Christ being raised from the dead dieth no more, death hath no more dominion over him; for in that he died, he died unto sin once; but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God. Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord. Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof. If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory. And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him. Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, long-suffering, forbearing one another, and forgiving one another. If any man have a quarrel against any, even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye, and above all these things put on the bond of perfectness, and let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body. Let the Word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to God. And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him. Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage."

Love to all the dear brethren and sisters everywhere. I remain your brother in the one faith.

A. J. Miller.

Dear Restitution:

You will find enclosed one dollar to help send the blessed paper to those who are not able to pay for it themselves. It is not very much, but it will help a little, and if we give only a drink of cold water in our dear Savior's name we will have our reward when our Savior comes. There is nothing that I enjoy more than to read the letters that the dear brothers and sisters write.

Your Sister in Christ.

M. Darnall.

Dear Restitution:

I could not do without the dear paper, being an isolated one it is a great help and source of strength to me. I can not see how any one who has put on Christ and is one who is watching and waiting for his appearing could take the paper and read the many heart-stirring pieces that appear in it and not pay for it. It grieves me very much to see how you have to plead for what is due you. My prayer is that they may realize their duty, and rally to your aid.

Yours of the Abrahamic faith.

Mrs. C. N. Howard.

Editor Restitution:

I would like a small space in your paper while I relate a small circumstance. A little over a year ago in Wilson Co., Kan. where I then lived, there was a man preaching in a large tent, a Mr. Hopkins of the so-called Christian Church, and among other things he told the congregation that he could prove that a person was conscious after death, that only the body died and the soul went immediately to the heavenly kingdom in the skies. I told him he could not prove it. He said he could prove it by Luke xvi. and other places in the Book which carried out the same idea, that the rich man was alive and in hades, the hell of orthodoxy, while the poor man was alive and gone to paradise, or Abraham's bosom, or in other words the soul of the poor man went there instead of dying, and he said that was the case with the whole human family. I told him that death was the penalty of sin and not a gate to carry any person straight off to heaven when a person died. I asked one of his elders in a conversation with two preachers, Mr. Chapman, where do you expect to go to when you die? He said he was going to heaven. Again, I asked, where is that place called heaven? Are you going to the heavens that now are? Certainly, was his answer, with rather a surprised look at me. I said, Peter tells me that the heavens and earth that now are, are reserved unto fire unto the day of judgment and the perdition of ungodly men, nevertheless we, (the true believers in the coming kingdom of Christ on the earth) look for a new heaven and a new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness. How are you going to get across from the heavens you go to into the new one? He saw that he was lost in argument and said he guessed they'd build a railroad across. I asked what he would lay his ties on. I again asked Mr. Chapman how long he was going to be traveling to get to that place he called heaven, will you travel faster than light, it travels 240,000 miles in one second of time and the polar star is a sun of another solar system, and is so far from this earth that it took light 400 years to get from that sun to this earth. Will you be more than 400 years getting to your place in that heaven? Then there is another sun much larger than our sun appearing like a small star so far off that it has taken light traveling 240,000 miles in one second of time 4000 years to get to this earth, are you going beyond that and be 4000 years getting there? Why dont you believe what Christ said, that the meek should inherit the earth. The righteous shall inherit the earth and delight themselves in the abundance of peace. Paul and Peter and Christ, all preached that the kingdom of God with Christ as King should be set up on this earth, which will evidently be at the end of this age, at the end of the time allotted for Gentile rule. When the throne that was cast down or overturned under Zedekiah 606 years before Christ shall be restored again. It was on the earth and never was taken from the earth, but God said it should be no more until he should come whose right it is and he would give it him. Who comes? Christ, the Seed of David. Where is he to come to? To earth where the throne was, and then he will sit on the throne of his Father David and be King of kings when the kingdoms of this world shall become the kingdom of our Lord and his Christ. That is just what Paul and Peter and John taught? Why not [illegible] taught and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ, [not in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost as the pope of Rome said] for the remission of your sins and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. Paul said there is none other name given under heaven or among men whereby ye can be saved. He did not say being baptized in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost would answer just as well and you would be saved any way just so you were honest. Friend Chapman and Mr. Hopkins saw the point, and after asking me to get Brother John Foore to debate against him in my place he said, I had a position on the Bible that he never had studied, and if Bro. Foore believed as I did he would not debate with him for he was not posted on our position, and there it ended. There are a great many others who believe in a sky kingdom instead of believing the same as Christ and the apostles did. They taught that the kingdom of God would be set up here on this earth, and be the dwelling-place of the righteous for the ages of ages.

Dr. O. C. Denslow.

Dear ones of the precious faith:

I am alone among ten thousand, who are strangers to the covenants of promise and the commonwealth of Israel, who worship the creature more than the Creator. But the Lord be praised for his goodness and mercy, in enabling me to stand alone in the faith once delivered to the saints, a witness for Jesus, blessed Jesus, my only hope and trust. He is coming to reign on his father David's throne in Jerusalem. He will rule in righteousness and judge with equity over all the earth triumphantly. He is coming to restore all things as they were in the beginning. Then there will be peace, and those of us who have taken upon us the all-saving name, by baptism, have become heirs by adoption, we may lift up our heads and rejoice, for our redemption draweth nigh. It is evening now, but the morning soon cometh, when the dead in Christ will be raised incorruptible, and the living changed. By the grace of God we will walk in the foot-steps of that faith of our father Abraham, that we may be found worthy to enter into that rest that remaineth for the people of God. The world has no charm for us. We seek a city with foundations whose Builder is God. The Lord is our stronghold and shield from the fiery darts of the world. O, let us rejoice in the blessed hope of a dwelling-place in the beautiful city of our soon-coming King. We who are isolated hail with joy the weekly visits of The Restitution. It comes laden with the good things of the coming kingdom that are up-lifting and soul-cheering, like bread to the hungry, and drink to the thirsty. May the Lord grant to bless the united efforts of the dear brothers and sisters, and continue its visits till Jesus comes and we all get home nevermore to be separated.

Your Sister in the hope of life eternal.

R. A. Neff.

Dear Brethren and Sisters:

As I was reading the dear old paper I thought I would like to send my Christmas greeting to all of those of like precious faith, as I love to read the letters of exhortations and encouragements from others. Perhaps there may be some that read The Restitution that will rejoice to see my name in the list of those that believe in the promises that were made to Abraham and his seed. I am anxiously longing for the time to come when they will be fulfilled, as we know they never have been, for Paul says in Heb. xi. 8, 9, 13, "Abraham when he was called to go out to a place that he should after receive for an inheritance obeyed, and he went out, not knowing whither he went. By faith he sojourned in the land of promise as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob the heirs with him of the promise. These all died in faith not having received the promise, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them and embraced them and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. How is it with us, dear ones? Are we rejoicing in the promises, or are we all taken up with the cares of this life, and how we can make more money to follow after the fashions of the world? or, are we trying to send the blessed gospel light to those who are in darkness? Oh, let us work while the day lasts, for the night cometh when no man can work. It is my greatest desire to so live that I may be a partaker of the divine nature. I would not give up the blessed hope for all the riches and pleasures of this world. May the Lord help us all to live such day of our lives may find us wearing the robe of righteousness, being ever ready to forsake all worldliness, and through faith look to God for help that we may be overcomers; for Christ says, "To him that overcometh will I grant to set with me on my throne, even as I overcame and am set down with my Father on his throne." Oh, blessed thought. "And God shall wipe all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow or crying, neither shall there be any more pain for the former things have passed away." May God help each one of us to be found ready when our Lord shall come.

There are only a few of the one faith here, and we are anxiously waiting for Brother Grant that we may hear a good gospel sermon.

With love and Christmas Greetings to all. Yours in the faith.

Mrs. M. A. Calder.

Salvation.

I noticed sometime since, an article from some one entitled, "Why I wish to be saved." In this article, the writer describes a beautiful place to dwell in throughout eternity; without sickness, disappointment nor death; as being the greatest motive for living a Christian life. But this article appears to have been written to a friend; therefore, the writer is somewhat excusable for making self-enjoyment so prominent.

But it would seem to me that a beautiful home in a city, the streets of which are paved with gold; where there shall be no sickness, pain nor death; is but a small part of the incentive for living a life of self-denial, and devotion in the cause of Christ. I shall differ materially from the writer as to why I want to be saved. The promise is plain, that the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea; and it will take workers, and work to accomplish such a state of things. The promise in Rev. ii. 26, 27 commits this work into the hands of the overcomers, to rule the nations with a rod of iron. I want to be saved so that I may have a share in the great work of the restitution. There are millions upon millions of human beings upon the earth, that are in the lowest depths of ignorance and superstition; and these all that survive the great tribulation must be enlightened; and taught the knowledge of God, before the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea.

My object in wanting to be saved is not that I may be happy and have nothing to do, but to enjoy myself. Such a desire is a result of selfishness, and will prove a bar to an admittance into the kingdom. My prayer to God daily is, that I may have a share in the great work of the restitution.

Submitted in love.

Daniel Howard.

Selections.

Sound Speech.

"Sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you." Titus ii. 8.

Dear ones of like precious faith, I want to ask a few questions through our dear Restitution. I feel that I am one of the humblest of our brethren. I would say in all good feeling, bear me patiently. What qualifications should a humble minister of Jesus Christ have in order to lead sinners to Christ? I will not give my opinion, but give what the Bible says. 1. Sound speech, that cannot be condemned. 2. And if there be any other that is contrary to sound doctrine. 1 Tim. i. 10. 3. Sound words; hold fast the form of sound words which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus. 4. Sound doctrine. Titus ii. 1. But speak thou things which become sound doctrine. That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, charity, in patience. Titus ii. 2. 5. Preach the Word. Paul to Timothy says, I charge thee therefore before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and dead at his appearing and his kingdom. Preach the Word; be instant in season and out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long-suffering and doctrine. Dear ones if we would take heed to Paul's sound doctrine we would not wound the feelings of our dear brethren, yes, a dear brother for whom Christ died. A few times in my life in attending our general gathering I have seen some dear brother, or more than one, go from our meetings with the feelings wounded because some one had treated some precious truth that he held dear with disrespect. In the words of James, now brethren these things ought; not so to be. We want all our words seasoned with grace. 6. No jesting, neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, which are not convenient, but rather giving of thanks. Dear ones I have been pained many times, when after a fervent prayer has been offered to our heavenly Father, asking that God would be in every prayer, and in every song and every sermon, and all our deliberations, and that everything may be for the glory of God and the upbuilding of his cause, and we all say amen; yes, I say, after all this some brother is appointed to preach, and his discourse is mainly made up of telling silly stories, and silly talk; and people have come out to hear the truth, and they have to go away disappointed. Is this as it should be, dear brethren? I for one am afraid we are not in the line of duty. We never read of Christ or any of the apostles resorting to anything of the kind. If we want to move sinners to obedience we want to show our reverence for God and his Word. Let us be watchful and prayerful, and as David said, I will take heed to my ways that I sin not with my tongue; I will keep my mouth with a bridle, while the wicked are before me. Psa. xxxix. 1. Set a watch O Lord before my mouth; keep the door of my lips. Psa. cxli. 3. Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my Redeemer. Psa. xix. 14.

7. Paul in 1 Cor. xiv. 33, For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as in all churches of the saints. Let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer every man. Sound doctrine; holding fast the faithful Word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort, and to convince the gainsayers. Wherefore rebuke them sharply that they may be sound in the faith. Titus i. 13. For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power and of love, and of a sound mind. 2 Tim. i. 7. Sound doctrine, sound mind; let the Word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord; and whatsoever ye do in word or in deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him. Here is a model given how we should conduct ourselves, or as Paul says, but if I tarry long that thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth. 1 Tim. iii. 15. Here, dear ones, is what the good Apostle Paul says; is this good advice? I am willing to take it. O let us all accept it; then our preaching will have a better effect on the world. We want to so present the truth of God that men and women will fall in love with it. Paul in Eph. iv. 15, But speaking the truth in love may grow up into him in all things which is the head even Christ: let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need. Heb. iv. 16. We are always needy and dependent on our dear Father in heaven. Jesus tells us we will have to give an account for every idle word, in the day of judgment. But I say unto you that for every idle word that men shall speak they shall give an account thereof in the day of judgment. Matt. xii. 36. 1 Pet. i. 15, 16. But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation, because it is written, be ye holy for I am holy. These quotations are but a few of the many that can be found in the Bible. Now dear brethren these few lines come from one who loves you all, and one who loves the Lord Jesus Christ, and one who loves God's Word dearly. O let us cultivate a Christian spirit.—J. S. Hatch.

Obituary.

At his home in Elgin, Ill., Dec. 10, 1901, of pernicious anemia, Joseph L. Kinder, aged 72 years.

Brother Kinder was born in Yorkshire, England, March 4, 1830. In 1842 he came to Chicago, Ill., within a few miles of which he continued to live until last fall when he moved to Elgin.

Nov. 12, 1865, he married Miss Rachel Appleyard, with whom he lived happily until the day of his death. There were born to them four children all of whom attended the funeral, excepting one that died in infancy.

In 1862 he put on the all-saving name of Jesus, and ever afterwards was a devoted, intelligent, active Christian, with pronounced ideas, and ever "ready to give a reason for the hope that was in him."

Although Brother Kinder had lived but a short time in Elgin, he had made many friends who mourn his death, and sympathize with his beloved wife and mourning children. Several Elgin friends accompanied the family to Glenview, the old home of the deceased, where they were met by a large company of grief-stricken relatives and friends who listened to a sermon by Elder B. Forester, pastor of the Advent Christian Church of Elgin, on John xii. 24, "I know he shall rise again in the resurrection at the last day," a text chosen by Sister Kinder. This text is an exact expression of her hope and confidence. In the death of Brother Kinder there has passed away an honorable citizen, a kind father, a devoted husband, and a noble Christian, who leaves to his children the heritage of a good name and the memory of a godly example. His memory will long be cherished.

Elder B. Forester.

The Editor has the remembrance of having met Brother Kinder on several occasions in years gone by, and can say "amen" to the above notice. He was all that the writer has said. We fully realize that no words of ours can avail to lessen the grief of the bereaved hearts at this time, and we can only point to that One who sticketh closer than a brother.—He alone can give true comfort.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending The Restitution to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the donors request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

Lizzie C Byrne	3 50

The United States Senate has ratified the Hay-Pauncefote treaty which places isthmus canal in the control of this country.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Excursion tickets will be sold Dec. 24, 25, and 31, 1901 and Jan. 1, 1902 on Pennsylvania Lines, on account of Christmas and New Years holidays. Rate for adults will not be less than 30 cents, nor less than 15 cents for children. Tickets will be good returning until Jan. 2, inclusive. For details about fares, time of trains, etc. call on or address J. E. Hanes, ticket agent.

For the Christmas and New Year's Holidays the Vandalia Railroad Line will sell on December 24th, 25th, and 31, 1901, and Jan. 1, 1902; return limit Jan. 2, excursion tickets at reduced fares. For full particulars call on nearest Vandalia Line Agent, or address E. A. Ford, Gen'l Pass'r Agt., St. Louis, Mo.

The Restitution

ON TRIAL.

Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

Communicated.

The Cleveland Bereans.

The young brothers and sisters of the "Church of the Blessed Hope" of Cleveland, O., realizing that the field of labor in the Master's cause was extensive, and believing that the results to be obtained from a hearty co-operation in the spreading of the gospel of the kingdom, would be to their mutual upbuilding and advancement, met at the home of Brother Neil, on Feb. 27th, 1900, and organized "The Young Peoples Society of the Church of the Blessed Hope of Cleveland, O." This name was afterwards changed to "The Cleveland Berean Society," upon request of the President of the Iowa Bereans, in order that the young people in the Truth throughout the country might become affiliated under one name.

The motto of our society is: "Individual and collective improvement in the gospel."

The charter members number thirteen. Up to date six more have been added to the roll, making a total of nineteen members in good standing.

By Laws were drawn up and adopted which are in brief as follows:

That there shall be a Chairman, Secretary, Treasurer, Corresponding Secretary, and two Critics. That meetings shall be held every three weeks at the homes of the members, for the transaction of business, the reading of correspondence, and the discussion of biblical topics every alternate meeting. That a small fee be levied upon each member at each meeting for the purpose of maintaining a relief fund, applicable in cases of sickness or distress.

Since our organization there has been an average attendance of thirteen members at each regular meeting, or about seventy per cent of the membership.

The treasurer's report is as follows: Receipts from organization to now $57.45, expenditures $48.84, balance $8.61.

There has been thirty-two cases of sickness and distress taken care of and one hundred visits paid, an average of about three to each case.

One of our principal objects is that of keeping in touch with isolated members of the One Faith, and we issue a hearty invitation to correspond with us, all communications to be addressed to Geo. Neill, 26 Griswold St. Cleveland, Ohio. We have distributed to date about one hundred religious papers.

The present officers are: Hattie M. Hudson, Chairman, Jennie S. Salisbury, Treasurer, B. W. Nutt, Secretary, Geo. Neill, Corresponding Secretary.

Reported by

J. C. THOMPSON.

Unity.

Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity. Psa. cxxxiii. 1. It is as the proverb says, United we stand, but divided we fall. Paul writing unto the saints at Ephesus says that by growth we all come into the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God unto the perfect man, and further says that we should endeavor to keep the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace.

Let brotherly love continue; be kindly affectioned one to another, with brotherly love, or in the love of the brethren, in honor preferring one another; not slothful in business, but fervent or earnest in spirit, serving the Lord.

Writing unto the church at Thessalonica he says: But as touching brotherly love, ye need not that I write unto you; for ye yourselves are taught of God to love one another; and I beseech you brethren, that ye increase in love more and more, and that the Lord make you to increase and to abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you.

Peter tells in the first chapter of his first epistle: Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently.

David says unity is like the precious ointment upon the head; that ran down upon the beard, even Aaron the high priest's beard, that ran down to the skirts of his garments, as the dew of Hermon which is Mount Zion, and as the dew that descendeth upon the mountains of Zion, for there the Lord commanded the blessing, even life for evermore.

Brothers and Sisters, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace, and the God of love and peace shall be with you. Set nothing be done through strife or vainglory, but in lowliness of mind, let each esteem the other better than himself, that we all walk worthy of the Lord, is our prayer. Amen.

CLEVELAND BEREAN SOCIETY.

We need a few hundred new subscribers. Now is a good time of year to get them, and we are asking our friends to make an effort in this line. We do not want you labor for nothing, and so make this offer as an inducement to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and what is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War [illegible] an extensive traveler in Africa, [illegible] written a book of over 500 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price is put at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1902, making $4.50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, giving them credit to the end of 1902, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help THE RESTITUTION by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Pike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamberg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clinkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stonfer, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb
A. C. Winchester, Riverside, [illegible]
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wisco, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Sciotaville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kean, 4507, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. R. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stoffa, Pomona, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Dwiggins, Ontario Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Hanseltner, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Cain, Jefferson, Ore.
T. F. Cardill, 508 S Main st, South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 188, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Micklis, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Crayford, Ind.
John Rush Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal

Any one who can use the services of Bro. L. H. Chesebrough in holding meetings, can address him at Galesburgh, Mich.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming of Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 35 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. [illegible]

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 150-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with misty hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 288 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much needed money.

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth, N. J.

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

EARLY LESSONS, suitable for young or old, 80 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy [illegible] you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 80 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,
General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,
General Immigration & Industrial Agent.
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

A FREE PATTERN
(your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.
McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50 YEAR
A LADIES' MAGAZINE.
A gem; beautiful colored plates; latest fashions; interesting sentiment; fancy work; household hints; notes, etc. Subscribe to-day, or send 4c. for latest copy. Lady agents wanted. Send for terms.
Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.
McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ 15¢
All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Notches will Service Lines.
Only 10 and 15 cents each. Ask for them at the nearest store; any size, any age, up to and over 40 inches bust measure.
THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 37th St., NEW YORK.

VANDALIA TIME CARD

In effect June 2, 1901.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend	8:25am
No. 14, " "	12:01noon
No. 8, " " "	10:08pm
No 12, Sunday only	9:46am

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute	6:45a m
No. 8, " " "	12:24noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport,	7:30pm
No 11, Sunday only	6:36pm

Trains 8 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections. Lake Maxinkuckee Sunday special train due Plymouth south bound at 9:14 a m. Returning leaves Maxinkuckee 5:45 p m.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. Foad,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo

Change in time of Trains on Pennsylvania Lines.

Under a new schedule in effect Nov. 24, 1901, passenger trains over the Pennsylvania Lines leave Plymouth station as follows:

For the East—2:58 a m daily, 10:23 a m daily except Sunday, 2:35 p m daily, 5:45 p m daily, 7:55 p m daily extra fare train, 8:30 daily except on Sunday, 0:55 p m daily.

For the West—5:15 a m daily, 6:30 a m daily extra fare train, 9:22 a m daily except Sunday, 12:07 p m daily, 2:15 p m daily except Sunday, 6:08 p m daily.

For particular information on the subject apply to J. E. Hanes, Ticket Agent, Plymouth.

California-Oregon Excursions every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest time on the road. Finest scenery. Inquire of nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggener, at 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill.—dec28

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, bound in cloth and containing 115 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Red Cloud Sitting Bull and other noted chiefs; Custer's battleground and ten colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1600. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valuable contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 50 cents a copy, mailed postage paid upon receipt of this amount by W. B. Kniskern, 22 Fifth ave, Chicago Ill—dec14

NICKEL PLATE

12—11-12-1901

All trains arrive at and depart from Van Buren Street Union Passenger Station, Chicago.

Uniformed Colored Porters attend passengers holding first or second class tickets in day coaches on all trains. Complete service of clean cars enroute.

Eastbound Trains. | All Nickel Plate Passenger Trains Daily. | Westbound Trains.

Local trains, eastbound between Stony Island and Kensington, Monday, Wednesday and Friday; westbound only on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Ticket Office 111 Adams St., Chicago, and 385 Broadway, Gary, Ind. Depot foot of Lake St., Chicago. Telephone Harrison 2057.

Drawing Room Sleeping Cars on Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 thru to Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston; on Nos. 1, 2 and 3 to Chicago. Meals are served at "up-to-date" Dining Stations and in Nickel Plate Dining Cars at proper thru meal hours. Baggage checked to destination. On inquiry you will find our rates are always lower than via other lines, service considered.

For rates and detailed information, address E. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O., C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind., or Local Ticket Agents.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Bothe and B. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 596 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Bennetsaar, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 A. M., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. M. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God at Bury Oak, Ind. have preaching every 2d and 4th Sundays at 10:30 a. m. and in the evening. Bible meeting every Thursday evening. Samuel Osborne and D. A. Mazey Elders. Sunday School every Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Georgia Osborne Sec. of the S. S. All are invited to any of the services.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:00, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through the city, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker's, 209 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 A. M. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1931½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsboro, Md. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by A. H. Zimer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Eshelman.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's Hall, Galena Ave., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Beach Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Knife, Kessler, or H. L. Lahmes, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Anthon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich., have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Ralein Center is presided over by Brother L. O. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Bible Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trundell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Grant of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Pike, Sec.

Church of God, at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder, Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter see almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. HAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents.
Three Months 40 Cents.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME L. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, DECEMBER 25, 1901. NUMBER 48.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

At the Gates.

Out through the gates 'twixt old years and the new,
Moves the gray moon on his snubbled feet;
Backward he turns with fond and last adieu,
Then forward Time's young century to greet.

His face aglow with love, and faith, and hope,
He takes the new-born child upon his breast;
And like a prophet on some Nebo's slope,
Gazing in vision on the Promised Rest.

He looks adown the future—hears the song
The angels sang above the Bethlehem hills,
Cries unto God "How long, O Lord how long?"
And earth through all her mighty being thrills;

For yet is heard the dreadful clang of war,
And yet doth brother shed his brother's blood;
Melts her sad soul with tenfold longings for
The peace that comes like a mighty flood.

For lo, it surely cometh! rolling in
Come the glad waves in long and shining swells;
Haply the century we welcome in
Shall ring it—advent with unmingled bells.

Amen. "The king is dead. God save the king!"
All hail new thoughts, great deeds, and kingly men!
All hail the Christ of love! Ye nations bring
Your frankincense and myrrh—He comes again!

MRS. M. F. A. CROZIER.

Communicated.

The Gospel Recovered. No. 38.

DRAWBACKS AND HINDRANCES.

"That they all may be one.....that the world may believe that thou hastsent me."

In the preceding article the question of mortal resurrection was introduced as being a cause of division. A discussion in the Messenger of the Churches, 1863 showed that in Eureka Vol. I., 1861, the subject had been touched on by the author, and several extracts were given.

The work in which Dr. Thomas most fully dealt with the subject is Anastasis, which extends to 44 pages. In the Preface, which bears date Dec. 8, 1866, the author says—"This treatise on resurrection and judgment owes its existence to the urgent request of friends in Detroit who heard the substance of it orally delivered there at a private meeting. The exposition on that occasion was deemed highly satisfactory, and they determined that I should not rest until they obtained it in its present form." [A second edition of Anastasis was published at Birmingham in 1873.]

Apropos of this at Detroit it is worthy of note, although happening some seven years later that the following is found in the "Church Messenger," Dundee, Scotland, March, 1873. "Fellowship with Christadelphians." We observe from a recent number of THE RESTITUTION published in Chicago, United States, that the editor of that journal—Brother Thomas Wilson—when lately in Detroit, visited the Christadelphian body there on the Sunday. He was kindly and warmly welcomed by them, and received a cordial invitation to address them, of which invitation he accepted on a subsequent Sunday; and at the close of his discourse he was further invited to remain and break bread with them, which he accordingly did. The editor has the following remarks upon the unusually cordial reception which he experienced:—

'We are glad to know that there is one congregation of Christadelphians in the land that has courage enough to break down the barriers that have been erected in the past, causing in many instances, unkindly feelings, if not actual hatred. There is no reason, if a Christian spirit be manifested, why the differences in our belief should prove to be a hindrance to union..... We have a common hope, a common faith, based on the same glorious promises.'"

In THE RESTITUTION, later in the same year (1873), in a long article on union with the Christadelphians in Scotland, the writer concludes, "If we can unite, burying the past, and work together in harmony—we conceding their right to hold mortal resurrection views, and they conceding our right to hold the opposite—then all is well. This we are willing to do. And a like spirit on the part of the rest will remove all difficulty, and union will result," Church Messenger. Sep. 1873.

As to this experience of the editor of THE RESTITUTION among the Detroit brethren, they seem to have acted on the principle of toleration laid down by the author in the Preface to Anastasis. This principle is expressed in the following extract:—

"But some may be prompted to inquire, Is it necessary to understand all the details of resurrection and judgment to possess the faith which justifies? In reply, I would say, if it were necessary, there would scarcely be found in this generation a corporal's guard of justified believers. I apprehend that if a person heartily believe in 'the resurrection of the just and unjust,' and that both these classes will appear in the presence of the Righteous Judge 'to give account of themselves to him,' their understanding is so far sound upon these first two principles. But if on the contrary he deny the resurrection of 'the unjust,' or saints of the Sardean type, and repudiates the citation of the righteous to judgment, saying that there is no other judgment for them than what they are subjected to in the present state, I can only say for myself that I had rather never have been born than to appear in the divine presence with such a tradition. It would not be difficult to make out against such a case of constructive treason to the truth. But this is neither my purpose nor desire. 'Judge nothing' says Paul, 'before the time, until the Lord come who will bring to light the things of darkness, and make manifest the counsels of the heart.' My purpose is to enlighten, not to condemn."

The author of Anastasis, while thus favoring in theory this wholesome principle of toleration, was by his action supporting and encouraging a section of the brotherhood who had shown the greatest bitolerance, and also, shortly afterwards, on this very subject. Nor did he show that sympathy which was due to the brotherhood where they could not see eye to eye with Birmingham.

Anastasis was criticised by certain brethren at considerable length. In 1867-8, four articles by W. Laing appeared in the "Messenger of the Churches." It was also the subject of a series of articles in THE RESTITUTION from the pen of a sister, I think. Two pamphlets will be mentioned further on with extracts. Meanwhile the reader might note the following:

A short paragraph written in 1875, but which unfortunately does not bear the date of the incident, is as follows:—"It is a remarkable circumstance illustrative of the tendency towards extremes, that the original church in New York with which our late brother Dr. John Thomas was connected, withdrew from those holding the original basis, because they were willing to regard mortal resurrection as an open question. On the other hand, however, it is gratifying to observe that the church in Jersey City with which Dr. Thomas was latterly in fellowship, called Christadelphians, have along with others from various places, been fraternizing with the brethren of the original basis at Brooklyn." It is not indicated whether the Doctor had any active part in the above.

Apropos of this, the late Benjamin Wilson, of Geneva, Illinois, in an address given at a social meeting of the church at Edinburgh, Oct. 25, 1868, made the following remarks. "As we came along on our way to this country we called at".....The church in Newark, N. J. has been divided by the same spirit of dissension seen in other places. I was also informed that some half dozen had lately withdrawn from Dr. Thomas' meeting in West Hoboken, N. J., in consequence of not seeing eye with him on the mortal resurrection, etc., and so that church was thereby broken up." Messenger of the Churches, Dec., 1868.

Brother James Forman, of Brooklyn, Long Island, writing on Sept. 27, 1880, to the writer of these papers—says, referring to Professor George Wilson, M. D., of Edinburgh school of Arts, "He was the first that I knew of holding the idea of the believers being resurrected in a mortal state and afterwards clothed with immortality. And I have frequently told Dr. John Thomas that he was not the first who entertained that erroneous dogma, which I am happy to say that out here is fast losing ground in our body, and even those who still hold to it, being more tolerant to those who differ from them on this point than in days gone by".....

Brother Forman was resident in Edinburgh and probably attended classes taught by Wilson, and so came to know the Professor's views on the subject alluded to. A sentence in the biography of Dr. Wilson is so far confirmatory. It is, "In some points regarding the resurrection of the body his views were different from any he met with."

A brief extract from W. Laing's fourth article may be given. "'How are the dead raised up, and with what body do they come?' Our author informs us that 'there is no word for with in the original,' neither is there any word for to and for.....The translators of the common version were good enough Greek scholars to know that the Greek dative expresses not only the idea of to and for, but also by, in and with. 'Very frequently with verbs coming, going, that whereby the person comes or is accompanied is in the dative'.....We quote these instances from the New Testament.....'Of his own will begat he us with the Word of truth.....Lest they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears. With these criteria before him the mere English reader is competent to determine whether the common translation of 1 Cor. xv. 35 is not preferable to the new one" &c.

J. CAMERON.

(To be continued.)

Genesis. Chap. 38.

1. And it came to pass in that period that Joudas went down from his brethren, and went to a certain man, an Odoumite, by the name of Hirma.

2. And Joudas saw there the daughter of a man, a Chananaite, her name Saua; and he took her and went in unto her.

3. And she conceived and brought forth a son and she called his name Er.

4. And she conceived again and brought forth a son, and she called his name Auman.

5. And she again brought forth a son and called his name Seeleon; and she was in Chasbi when she brought them forth.

6. And Joudas took a wife for Er, his first-born, her name Thamar.

7. And it came to pass that Er Jouda's first-born was wicked in the sight of the Lord, and God slew him.

8. And Joudas said unto Auman, Go in unto the wife of thy brother and marry her also, and raise up seed for thy brother.

9. And Auman knowing that it would not be his seed, it came to pass that when he went in unto the wife of his brother he poured out upon the ground so as not to give seed to his brother.

10. And it appeared a wicked thing in the sight of God that he had done this, and he put him to death also.

11. And Joudas said unto Thamar his daughter-in-law, Remain a widow in the house of thy father until Seeloom my son hath become an adult; for said he, It is lest perchance this one also may die even as his brothers did; and Thamar went and remained in the house of her father.

12. And the days were fulfilled and Saua the wife of Joudas died; and Joudas was comforted and at the shearing of his sheep he and Eiras his shepherd, the Odoumite, went up to Thama.

13. And it was told Thamar, his daughter-in-law, They say, lo thy father-in-law (pentheros" not "gambros") is going up to Thamna to shear his sheep.

14. And taking off the garments of her widowhood, she put on her summer-veil and beautified herself, and seated herself at the gates of Ainan, which is on the highway to Thamna; for she knew that Satoon had become an adult, and he had not given her to him for a wife.

15. And when Joudas saw her he thought she was a harlot; for she had her face covered and he did not recognize her.

16. And he inclined out unto her on the highway and said, Allow me to come in unto thee; for he did not know that she was his daughter-in-law. And she said, What wilt thou give, if thou mayest come in unto me?

17. And he said, I will send thee a kid of my goats from my flocks; and she said, If thou wilt give me a pledge ("Arraboon" translated "earnest" C. V. and R. V.) until thou dost send it.

18. And he said, What pledge shall I give thee? And she said, Thy fingering and necklace and the sceptre in thy hand; and he gave her, and went in unto her; and she conceived from him.

19. And she arose and went away and took off her summer veil, and put on the garments of her widowhood.

20. And Joudas sent the kid of the goats at the hand of his shepherd the Odollamite that he might realize (this is the word for the realization of our inheritance of eternal life) the pledge from the woman; and he did not find her.

21. And he asked men of the place, Where is the harlot that was in Ainou by the highway? And they said, There was no harlot there.

22. And returning to Joudas he said I did not find, and the men of the place say there was no harlot there.

23. And Joudas said, Let her have them; but let us not be laughed at; I sent this kid, but thou didst not find.

24. And it came to pass three months afterward it was told Joudas; they say Thamar, thy daughter-in-law hath committed harlotry, and lo, she hath in womb of harlotry. And Joudas said, Lead her out and let her be burned with fire.

25. And she as she was being led, sent unto her father-in-law, saying, Of the man whose things these are, have I in womb; and she said, Recognize whose this finger-ring and necklace and sceptre is.

26. And Joudas recognized and said, Thamar hath been justified rather than I, for the reason that I did not give her unto Seeloom my son; and he did not repent knowing her.

27. And it came to pass when she was bringing forth—and she had twins in her womb.

28. It came to pass when she was bringing forth that one brought forward his hand; and the midwife took and bound upon his hand a scarlet-thread saying, This one will come forth first.

29. But when he had withdrawn the hand, his brother straightway even came forth. And she said, What, a hedge hath been cut through for thee? And she called his name Phares ("a Plowman.")

30. And after that his brother came forth upon whose hand was the scarlet thread; and she called his name Zara (Life-Root).

COMMENT.

Eiras instead of Hirah R. V.
Saua instead of Shua R. V.
Er instead of Er R. V.
Auman instead of Onan R. V.
Seeloom instead of Shelah R. V.
Chasbi instead of Chezib R. V.
Thamar instead of Tamar R. V.

In the 12th verse the R. V. says "Shua's daughter died" should read "Saun Jouda's wife died." In same verse R. V. says "his friend Hirah the Adullamite." Should read, "Eiras his shepherd, the Odollomite."

Thamna instead of Timna R. V.
Alnau instead of Enaim R. V.
Phares instead of Peraz R. V.
Zara instead of Zerah R. V.
Sceptre instead of staff R. V.
Necklace instead of cord.

Aside from what this chapter teaches of the general morals of even "the chosen people" of that "animate-age" in the world's history, and the importance of the first law of generative life as herein illustrated and emphasized under the divine statute, we have a glimpse again behind the scenes on the great stage of the human drama, and are permitted to see how God works in the councils and counsels of men to accomplish his own everlasting purposes.

We see in this simple narrative another link forged in the great Messianic chain of primogeniture which has led us finally to "the Christ of God," for he came of Joudas did he not?

CHAS. GARDNER.

Self-Examination.

"Examine yourselves whether ye be in the faith." 2 Cor. xiii. 5.

Dear ones of like precious faith, how much better this world would be, if we would all adhere closely to this apostolic admonition, examine ourselves instead of our brother. Not only in regard to the soundness of our faith in the covenants of promise which is the basis or foundation of the one and only true hope and faith of those that walk in the steps of our father Abraham, which he had before he was circumcised; but also examine ourselves and see if our works correspond with our faith. Are we doers of the Word, can we say as a result of our own individual experience, that our faith has had that effect on our lives, that it has worked by love and purified our minds, so that our conversation is pure, such as becometh those that profess the gospel of Christ? Can we truly say Christ is in us, that Christ dwells in our minds by faith, so much so that we can say the life that we now live we live by faith in the Son of God. We walk by faith, not by sight, looking at the things that are not seen, for the things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal. If such is not our experience, are we not holding the truth in unrighteousness? Would it not be wise for us who have been blessed with more light than some others who seem to have no knowledge concerning God's promises, or his purpose in relation to man and earth, to excell in zeal, in good works, in bearing much fruit. Remember the Savior of men has said, herein is my Father glorified that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples, soon, very soon the battle will be over, our race will be run. Are we striving lawfully towards the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. O may we be among the called who with diligence make their election sure by adding to the precious faith, virtue, knowledge, patience, temperance, brotherly kindness, godliness and charity. This will cause us to bear much fruit, so shall we be Christ's disciples in faith, in works, and thus having acquired a character that our Father in heaven can bless and approve, be permitted in his own good time to possess the everlasting kingdom, that is soon to be established under the whole heavens.

J. T. PRIME.

The Bereans Column.

[Under this heading the society of "Bereans" of Illinois, will supply the copy, and endeavor to fill the space once a month.]

John the Baptist.

Just before Jesus began his ministry John the Baptist was preaching in Judea. All Jerusalem and Judea came to him and he baptized them in the river Jordan. He told them that he baptized them with water and repentance, but that one was coming after him whose shoes he was not worthy to bear. This one would baptize with the Holy Ghost and with fire. Jesus came from Galilee and John baptized him. Not long after this John was cast into prison and Jesus on hearing this departed into Galilee. John while in prison had heard of the works of Christ. So he sent two of his disciples to Christ, asking him if he was the one who should come, or were they to look for another. Christ told them to go and tell John what they had seen him do and what they had heard. John then knew that the Messiah had come as he understood prophecy.

Herod had married Herodius, who was his brother's wife. John had interfered, saying that it was not lawful that he should have her. So Herod cast him into prison, but he dared not kill him because the people knew he was a great prophet. On Herod's birthday, Herodius danced for him and he was so pleased that he promised her anything she wished. She asked for the head of John the Baptist and it was given her. His disciples took the body and buried it and went and told Jesus.

So ended the life of John the Baptist, the greatest of the prophets.

MAUDE BUTTON.

Dear Bereans.

"Ye will not come unto me, that ye might have life." John v. 40.

That those who come to Christ as a finale get life, and that those who do not come, do not get it is so plainly taught in this text that comment is unnecessary.

MARY & EVA KOONTZ.

Dear Bereans:

We have come to the time of the year when it is the custom to give. What started this giving? "And she shall bring forth a Son and thou shalt call his name Jesus; for He shall save his people from their sins." Matt. i. 21. "And the angel said unto them, Fear not, for behold I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people; for unto is born this day in the City of David, a Savior which is Christ the Lord." Luke ii. 10, 11. Think of God's great love to mankind to cause a Son to be born, and that "he will save his people from their sins." Again we find another time when God shows his great love for his people, when "he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him might have life." And if we accept of this [illegible] Gift, we shall receive [illegible] eternal life. Can we poor [illegible] ceive of the greatness of [illegible] these three gifts are the [illegible] ful ones that could be [illegible] find. It is because of [illegible] babe wrapped in swaddling [illegible], that we give gifts to each [illegible] at Christmas. Let us always think of this wonderful gift and of the brightness in thought and the joy it gives us. To know that those who accept of him will not always live on this earth where there is so much sin, but will be given immortality when Jesus comes. Then all will be new, and peace will prevail.

A Merry Christmas to all.

Your Sister in Christ.

JESSIE M. WILSON.

Dear Bereans:

My subject is "Intemperance."

"Awake ye drunkards; weep and howl all ye drinkers of wine." Joel i. 5. Can not the same be said of every other intoxicating drink, for it will not only make you weep and howl, but your families are compelled to also. If men could only see the great evil of it in this age, saying nothing of the age to come; for the Scriptures clearly teach that no drunkard can enter the kingdom of God. So few realize what that means or pay any heed to it; for "Sufficient for the day is the evil thereof." One thing is sure, the drunkard and the glutton shall come to poverty, and drowsiness shall clothe a man with rags. They all go hand in hand, while thousands fall in drunkards graves every year. That friendly treat is what brings many a man down to the depth of it. "Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor strong drink, that putteth thy bottle to him and maketh him drunken also." Habk. xxi. 15. Oh that our government would see the folly of it, and put a stop to it, instead of dealing it out to our young men as it did during the war. Many is the young man that left home and friends a temperate, prosperous young man that returned a shame and disgrace to all loved ones. Oh the heart-aches it causes, the homes that it ruins. Surely, the prophet was right when he said that wine was the poison of dragons. From one waiting for the kingdom.

VIOLA EATON.

Even the sluggard's garden brought forth fruit—but not for the sluggard's benefit. The diligent man reaped and carried off the only harvest that it bore—a warning.—W. Arnot.

Restitution.

A. B. UNDERWOOD, Office Editor.

Editorial Committee.

J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, Special Contributor.

Plymouth, Indiana, Dec. 25, 1901.

Time is on the Wing.

It seems but a short time since we were talking and singing about the birth of Jesus, the Son of the Highest, and his greatest Gift to children of a mortal race; although we do not know the exact time of it. Yes,—time flies rapidly, and the Sun has risen and set three hundred and sixty-five times since last Christmas;—the winter passed away,—springtime came, and with it came green grass, beautiful flowers, and vegetables and fruits soon followed, that told of summer,—then the fall, when leaves dropped from the trees and frost appeared and warned us to prepare for winter,—and it, too, has arrived; in one week from today the year nineteen hundred and one will expire; and we ought to be

POSTING OUR BOOKS

to see how we stand. None of us stand before God as we did a year ago. We have all risen higher in the divine life or sunk lower. We are more Christ-like or less so,—more prayerful or less so; more watchful or less so; the flesh is more subject to the spirit or less so; we have more zeal for God and truth, or less. There is no such thing as

STANDING STILL.

Ample provision has been made for our growth in God's favor,—and we have surely grown in it if we have availed ourselves of the privileges vouchsafed to God's children. We should all know how matters stand,—God knows all about us,—our doings, motives,—everything. O what does the record say? It is safe to say it shows much imperfection on our part, and much long-suffering and patient forbearance on the part of our

FATHER IN HEAVEN.

Happily our status today before God is not fixed necessarily by our waywardness and inadvertance, but depends upon whether or no we have availed ourselves of every means of favor provided for weak and erring mortals—[illegible] the name of our adorable [illegible] each day to [illegible] whether we have consta[illegible]d with the Father and th[illegible]der we have taken the word[illegible] the man of our counsel), ad[illegible]nned the very appearance of evil; whether we have when possible heeded the Divine injunction not to forsake the assembling of ourselves together, and to exhort one another, and so much the more as we see

THE DAY APPROACHING,

These are among the things that determine our standing before God today. And besides these things, it must not be forgotten that we are not our own,—that all we have and are belongs to God. And in view of the tremendous amount of business done, and the remunerative prices of the products of the soil compared with seasons not far distant,—it may be profitable to remember that we are

ONLY STEWARDS

and also that Jehovah once charged Israel with robbing him of his tithes and offerings, for which they were cursed; and it will be well to consider how we have divided with him; and what improvement has been made, seeing every talent will have to be accounted for. Are they out at usury, or are they wrapped up in a napkin? Have we laid up or on earth? Has it been our desire to glorify our Father in heaven? If so, have we been doing all in our power to bring others to a knowledge of the truth,—and while earnestly contending for the faith once delivered to the saints in order to keep it pure, have we been diligent in spreading the

TREASURES IN HEAVEN,

GLAD TIDINGS

to others, and enforcing our teachings by a consistant course of conduct? Has the record of the year anything against us in this respect? Have we misspent any of the Lord's property? If we have made any wills, has provision been made for

THE LORD'S PORTION?

Have we made inquiry from time to time as to where we could come to the help of the Lord against spiritual wickedness in the heavenlies of the apostacy? Have as many faithful laborers been set to work in the vineyard of the Lord as a faithful with him would permit, or have we been forgetting that we have undertaken to enlighten the world of mankind, and will have to render an account of our stewardship? Evidently the day of salvation will soon close—what we do must be done quickly. We must remember, too, that it is as sinful to leave undone what we should do, as to do what is positively forbidden. "Oh for a more self-sacrificing spirit—a spirit of faith and love, and holy zeal in the cause of the Master! Why should we allow worldly things to occupy so much attention, and the future eternal things be neglected, seeing that "the fashions of this world are passing away, and that he that doeth the will of God abideth forever?"

DIVISION OF OUR PROFITS

Let the incoming year be a witness of more devotedness and self-denial than the past, and the result will be for God's glory, and our eternal good. Then we shall meet the approving smile of our glorious Lord and Life-giver, be made like him and reign with him upon his throne,—this will more than make amends for what sacrifices we can make or sufferings endure. May it soon be ours to see the King in his beauty and be forever with him. Come Lord Jesus, quickly come,—amen.

When renewing your subscription see if there is not a brother or sister near you who does not take the paper who will if you ask them to. Help us in this way to get a few more new names on our list.

Do you like to get The Restitution each week and read the articles and letters it contains? Did you ever think that your brother who sits near you would get a like benefit and enjoyment if he had it also? Get him to subscribe for 1902. It will cost you very little to ask him, and you may be the means of doing him good.

When a meeting is held in your neighborhood, and an addition is made to the Church, see that The Restitution goes to the home of the new convert. It will help to keep them in the right way, and aid in their growth in grace and knowledge of the truth. See to it that they have the paper regularly.

If you are anxious about the well-being of some friend and would like to have him see and embrace the truth, subscribe for this paper to be sent to him. It will talk at times and places that you cant. It may make opportunity for you to say a word that will make you friend a joint-heir with the Lord Jesus Christ. It has been done. Why not try it?

Those to whom we have sent letters telling about your accounts have not all made response as yet. Brother or Sister, we urge you to be sure and not neglect this matter longer. We want to pay our obligations—this is the reason why we ask you to give us what is due at once. If we could satisfy those we are under obligation to any other way we would not ask you, but as it is the only way we know of, we must hear from you to enable us to do so. We trust all will see the necessity of this and act NOW.

Selections.

"The Lamb of God"

"Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." Jno. i. 29.

Such is the recorded declaration of John the Baptist on seeing Jesus the day after he was baptized by him. It brings before us two beings who stand related to each other so closely that the presence of the one always calls up the presence of the other. Ever since the promise of a seed of the woman that promise and the promiser are woven together. The repetition of the promise to after generations had simply the effect of confirming the original promise and of showing how and through what channel God was to make good his promise. There is no doubt that Jesus was the seed referred to in the promise. Of the seed it is said, that the seed of the serpent shall bruise him in the heel and that he will bruise the seed of the serpent in the head. It is clear therefore that these two stand related to each other as natural enemies, for each is to seek the destruction of the other. John simply affirms of him that he was God's Lamb and the one who taketh away the sin of the world Sin is disobedience to the will of the Creator and therefore to take away the disobedience of the world is not simply to suffer the death due to the world but also to take away the cause of disobedience. The cause of all disobedience is ignorance of God. He that loveth not knoweth not God, for God is love. Now just as the best way to remove darkness is to create light, so the only effective way to remove hatred is by manifestation of love. God's Lamb must therefore be the manifestation of his love to the world while it is lying in wickedness. This is divine love as distinguished from human. God loves his enemies and proves it by the gift of a Son or the gift of a lamb. There does not seem any other way possible to convince the disobedient of his disobedience than by suffering what it leads up to. The wages of sin is death. After the disobedient has got his wages, his redemption is impossible, as to reverse his state and give him life again would be the same as saying that the wages of sin is not death. The suffering of death by one who has not sinned cannot upon any principle of right be the vindication of law, as he had violated none and could not suffer the penalty of a transgressor.

Let us try then to behold this Lamb of God.

The first fact concerning him is that he was God's Lamb.

Second fact is, he was holy, harmless, and undefiled by sin.

Third fact that he suffered death upon a charge of blasphemy against God, which was proved untrue by God himself raising him from the dead.

Fourth fact that his death was for the taking away the sin of the world.

Fifth fact that his death was determined upon at the foundation of the world. Not before but after sin was in the world.

Sixth fact that his death in itself does not take away any sin, because sin is forgiven, and not atoned for. God justifies the ungodly not because Jesus died for him but because he believes that God raised him from the dead after he suffered death for sin.

Abraham's faith in God was reckoned to him for righteousness. This circumstance was written not for Abraham's sake alone but for us also, so declares Paul, that we of the Gentiles will also have our faith reckoned to us for a righteousness if we believe on him who raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead, who was delivered for our justification.

Faith in God necessarily embraces some manifestation which he has already given of himself. The fore-ordination of redemption from sin by the blood of a spotless lamb could not be understood before sin was in the world. The only reference to this fact that we have is the declaration of God to the serpent concerning his seed and the seed of the woman. There is no attempt to take away the sin of the world by the seed of the serpent as they follow the footsteps of their father. The only being who can make a sacrifice when the promise was made was Jehovah, for the seed of the woman was not yet an existence. God's Lamb was therefore fore-ordained by himself as the price which he was to give that sin might be taken away by himself, as he has still to forgive the sins of every one who comes to him through the death and resurrection of his Lamb. But John says, who heareth or taketh away the sin of the world. The fact is undisputed that Jesus suffered death. There is therefore only one true cause or reason why God his Father refused to save him from it. That reason is found in the declaration of Peter that God fore-ordained his death in the way it took place before the foundation of the world. The cause was in the world on the one hand for it was under the dominion of sin. On the other hand the cause was in God himself who determined to deliver the world from the dominion of sin

As the practice of sin is voluntary and not a matter of necessity, so the cure must be effected voluntarily and not as a matter of necessity. The existence of God's Lamb was the outcome of a promise of God made voluntarily. Every promise after the first relating to the fulfilment of that promise was also made freely. The Lamb was therefore the free gift of God given for the express purpose to take away the reign of darkness and establish the reign of light, to take away the reign of hatred and replace it by the reign of love, to take away the reign of disease and replace it with the reign of health, to take away the reign of death and replace it with the reign of life.

In this Lamb therefore are deeply embedded as the secret power of all his actions, righteousness, peace and joy. His mission was to manifest these to the world, that it might be turned from its darkness to light, and from being in enmity against God to be reconciled to him, and from perishing in their sins to become heirs of endless life. Every one who thus beholds the Lamb of God beholds in his voluntary submission to death the manifestation of righteousness. The unjust world putting to death the just one. The rulers of this world aiming at the power of the Creator and rightful owner of it. They had the most ample means of beholding God's Lamb by the works which he performed before their eyes, yet so thick was the darkness that disobedience had brought around them, that they failed to see anything in him beyond what they saw in a miserable madman who was unworthy to live.

His submission to be put to death by such men and for no real cause against him, for they failed to establish one. The power of darkness is thus exhibited at the same time in the presence of the power of light. The power of envy and the power of love. The power of long suffering and the power of impatience. The power of falsehood and the power of truth. The power of faithfulness to trust and of unfaithfulness to stewardship. The power of the good shepherd and the power of the hireling. The power of men and the power of God. The power that saves men from their sins in contrast with the power that destroys. In the words of John, the power that takes away the sin of the world in contrast with the power that produces and preserves it in sin, disease, misery and death. But it is here that the beholder of God's Lamb may fail to get his sins taken away by that look and so fail of any good to him. Very few of those who saw Jesus hang upon the cross perceived the meaning of that exhibition. Very few today perceive its meaning and hence the world is still lying in wickedness.

In the Lamb we behold the love of the Giver manifesting its power to beget love in us, for love begets love.

> Blind unbelief is sure to err
> And scan his work in vain,
> God is his own interpreter,
> And he will make it plain.

The rulers of Israel had eyes but they did not see the glory of God as it shone in the face of Jesus Christ. They had ears but they did not hear the Shepherd's voice, and therefore they failed to follow him into the fold of safety and life. They had hearts but failed to understand the manifestations of love in the works of love and mercy done to the blind, the halt, the lame and the unclean. Their experience will certainly be ours if we fail to obey the exhortation of John. "And behold God's Lamb who taketh away the sin of the world. He that hath an ear to hear, let him hear the voice of the Son of God and live.—W.

Original.

"Abrahamic Faith."

We often see it written and spoken by people, by way of distinction, as the "congregation of the Churches of God of the Abrahamic faith," or of "the faith of Abraham." An observer is led to wonder as to its significance. On inquiry he is usually informed that God made an everlasting covenant with Abraham, embracing certain great and precious promises to him and his seed (Christ and those that are Christ's, Gal. iii. 16) of everlasting inheritance of land therein described, and by means of which they should inherit the world, see Rom. iv. 13, and through whom all families and nations of the earth should be blessed. Gen. xii. 3; Gal. iii. 8. This inheritance being an everlasting possession, of necessity involves life everlasting in order to such possession. These promises being unfulfilled as yet, constitute the matters of hope to the believer.

Well, observer asks, does the belief of these things constitute "the faith of Abraham?" The response is, Certainly, for he believed just what God promised.

But this answer, which I fear indicates the idea of far too many, is at best only a half belief, if even that much. Why so? Because there are always two or more parties to any covenant or agreement. The foregoing is only the stipulations on one side of the covenant (God's side)—which promises are altogether contingent on the stipulated conditions to be first complied with by the other party, to-wit, Abraham and his seed. What are those conditions? God said to Abraham, "I am the almighty God. Walk before me, and be thou perfect, and I will make my covenant between me and thee." Gen. xvii. 1–8.

Abraham believed God and his faith "was counted to him for righteousness." But in what way was it so counted? Think you that he was less concerned about carrying out his part of the covenant than he was about God performing his part? He believed that what God had promised he was able to perform, and therefore began without hesitation to "perfect" his own walk, by doing just what God told him to do. Obediently leaving home, kindred and friends, going to a strange land—the land of promise—sojourning there as in a strange country, with Isaac and Jacob, heirs with him of the same promise; exhibiting his faith that God would fulfil his promise, though it require the resurrection of the dead, as demonstrated when he was tried by offering up his son Isaac—"accounting that God was able to raise him up even from the dead."

James ii. 20-23 says, "Seest thou how faith wrought with his works, and by works was faith made perfect, and the Scripture was thus fulfilled which saith Abraham believed God, and it was imputed to him for righteousness, and he was called the friend of God."

Thus was Abraham made perfect in his walk before God, by his obedience. The promised seed, Christ, also "was made perfect through suffering." Heb. ii. 10. He suffered, being tempted—tried. V. 18. "He humbled himself and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross: wherefore God hath highly exalted him." Phil. ii. 8, 9.

Dear reader, do you claim to be a member of His Body, and therefore of the seed of Abraham, and an heir according to the promise? If so, why so? Can you have even a shadow of such a right, without also passing through the fiery trial, more precious than that of gold, which is to try you, through temptation? Without suffering with him "that we may be also glorified together," Rom. viii. 17, and like him perfecting your walk before him, through obedience to his word? Of God's Son it is written, "Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered; and being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation (to whom) "unto all that obey him." Hebrews v. 8, 9.

Let us not deceive ourselves by saying, I did obey him when I believed his promises, and was immersed into his name for remission of my sins. It is true enough that in baptism we symbolize, or represent, our faith by thus coming into the covenant in the Christ, whereby we say we become dead to our former course of life according to the lusts of the flesh; and instead to put on Christ by arising from this death (symbolic) to walk in newness of life. Walking according to his mind now dwelling in us; and henceforth in all things to control us. If we do as we have thus represented, we henceforth walk in obedience to his word, and have represented truly. But if we do not so walk, then it is but a misrepresentation void of works to perfect the faith, even if we had any to commence with. Then what becomes of our part of the covenant? Worthless, having no right to the promise predicated on righteousness (right doing) according to God's requirements through Christ.

In view of all this, is it not clearly evident that it is not the essential or required view of the "Abrahamic Faith" that has so little to say, and manifestly cares so little for man's side of the covenant? Should it not be the all-important part to engage man's most dilligent and earnest effort? No need of uneasiness as to God's side of the agreement. But how vain, yea more than vain for man to set up a claim to such an inheritance when actually refusing to comply with the conditions thereof after being made known to him. Refusing to obey him who is the "way" thereto. And how equally vain for persons to associate themselves together by organizing under the name of "Abrahamic Faith," or any other, to claim the promises, while at the same time refusing to render obedience to his clearly revealed requirements, not only individually, but also collectively, as a body. All such bodies in the mind of God can only be considered as bodies of the world—man-made.

While the nations are being shaken, the love for God rising, and the love of carnal pleasure increasing, it is not impossible for congregations to be "spued out," or at least on the verge of being so, being "neither cold nor hot." Dying of heart disease, or perhaps of paralysis, at all events from insufficient circulation of the life giving blood of the everlasting covenant, to create heat enough to keep the body in motion.

But even then there might be individual members thereof, living branches of the true vine (Christ) drawing sufficient vital fluid therefrom not to wither, and thereby giving diligence to make their calling and election sure. Such are truly of God's church, and he is able to make them stand if they will only continue faithful in obedience to him who has called them, although they might feel that they are weak and erring, and by times feeling almost discouraged. But let such take courage; it is the "meek (humble) that shall inherit the earth." It is the "poor in spirit" that shall have the kingdom. It is the "humble that shall be exalted in due time." God knows our weakness, and has therefore made ample provision for the same, in providing for us a Mediator of the covenant, our High Priest, who having been tempted as we are is able to succor those that are tempted. "If we walk in the light (of truth and obedience) as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood (that sealed the covenant) of Jesus Christ, his Son, cleanseth us from all sin." "If we confess our sins he is faithful to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." 1 John i. 6-9.

Rich provision for our weakness; but none made for wilful disobedience, unrepented of. "But if we sin wilfully, after we have received the knowledge of the truth, there is no more sacrifice for sins." Heb. x. 26. "Cast not away therefore your confidence.....ye have need of patience that after you have done the will of God you might receive the promise, for yet a little while and he that shall come will come and will not tarry." Heb. x. 35, 36.

May he find us ready and watching.

D. T. Hallstead.

Dear Brethren and Sisters:

Although I would love to see you all or write to you personally, I know it is impossible, therefore, I take the pleasure of writing to all the brothers and sisters through The Restitution. I have not had the opportunity of meeting with the dear ones for nearly two years, as husband and myself are all there are of our faith in this part of the country. There are some that seem to believe our way until they have to give up the immortal soul part, but they can't give that up. It reminds me of my own experience. When I first attended a meeting held by Brother Hatch there was no attraction for me there except the singing; for I thought they sang the most beautiful songs I ever heard. But thanks be to God, through the dear old brother's efforts and the faithful band of believers at that place I was led to the truth. Being isolated I feel that I have not the opportunity of doing all that I ought to do, but I am still strong in the belief. I know the time is short to work, by the signs of the times we may know these things. May we all be prepared to meet the Lord at his coming and live, and reign with him a thousand years. Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as you know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord. Let the Word of Christ dwell in you richly, teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts unto God. I ask to be remembered in your prayers.

Lizzie Woods.

Married.

At Kinton, Ore., Dec. 15, 1901, Mr. W. C. Paul of Fresno, Cal., and Miss Myrtle, only daughter of Bro. W. W. and Sister Marie Truedell, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock, E. E. Groat officiating. About 30 friends were present. Amid the many congratulations and good wishes of those present, the young couple took the evening train enroute to their future home at Fresno, Cal.

Obituary.

Isaac L. Titus died Nov. 26, 1901, aged 17 years, 5 months, and 17 days. Services were held by the writer at the home of the young man's father, C. W. Titus, in Sac County, Ia.

The resurrection was held out as the only hope of release from death, and the coming of Jesus as the time when the work of restitution will begin. Many neighbors and friends showed their sympathy by their attendance.

A. J. Eychaner.

Charleston Exposition.

Low fares to Charleston, S. C. for the Interstate and West Indian Exposition are offered via Pennsylvania Lines. Two forms of excursion tickets, season and fifteen day, may be obtained at special rates. For information about fares and trains consult J. E. Hanes, Ticket Agent, Plymouth, Ind.

New Station at Chicago.

Commencing Dec. 20, 1901, all trains on the Nickel Plate Road, during the rebuilding of the Van Buren St. station, will arrive at and depart from the Grand Central station, cor. Fifth Ave. and Harrison St. Chicago.

Poetry.

The Dying Year.

Roll on, old year, thy scenes are almost ended;
Numbered thy days, thy moments well-nigh told:
Hope is deferred, and faith with anguish blended;
Yea, even love grows faint and waxes cold.

How long shall earth, with groans her needs confessing,
Travail in anguish, while deliverance waits?
Oh, when shall dawn that year of endless blessing,
When angels shall fling wide the heavenly gates?

O lingering time, with tardy pace unsealing
Sorrows and joys, and smiles that fade in tears;
Hasten on the hour that comes, all bliss revealing,
In full-fledged glory through eternal years.

Faint not, worn heart! nor count delay as sleepiness,
While God's long-suffering waits through ages dark;
Call to the world beneath the gathering blackness,
Speed to your Refuge! haste to the Ark!

—H. L. Hastings.

Christmas Time.

And suddenly there was with the angels a multitude of the heavenly host, praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men. Luke ii. 13, 14.

Saying, Blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord; peace in heaven, and glory in the highest. Luke xix. 38.

Oh happy hearts of love and light,
Sweet Christmas time has come again;
Awake and watch the stars of night,
And hear hope's anthems sweet refrain.

Perchance the golden song of old
Will sweep the harp-strings of the sky,
And some glad vision of hope be told,
To show the angels yet are nigh.

Soon Gabriel's mighty trump will sound,
And rend the silent vanquished tomb;
And Christ the Nobleman will come,
And death receive his final doom.

Then risen saints with angels join
To escort our welcome Monarch home;
And we with joy without alloy,
Will shout Amen, the Lord has come.

A. E. Bosanta.

Communicated.

Sealed with the Holy Spirit.

Eph. i. 13, 14.

Brethren and sisters, I am deeply impressed with the tremendous importance of being in Christ. Every promise,—every blessing, every privilege comes to us through Christ. How utterly undone were we without Christ! How far off without Christ; how hopeless without Christ. How naked before God without his sin-covering name. How frequently the Apostle found a place for the phrase IN CHRIST in this epistle, and no wonder, when we realize that he is the center of the Father's Eternal Purpose in both creation and redemption. I have been reflecting upon it during the week and my interest was heightened not a little as I thought of some things that follow as a matter of course when a person gets into Christ,—and one of these is the fact, that Christ gets into the person that gets into him. In ways quite numerous he often seeks entrance into people he would delight to save, but is refused. In one place he is represented as a humble suppliant knocking at the heart's entrance for admittance after he had been expelled. In another place he stands and cries,

"COME UNTO ME,

all ye that are weary and heavy laden and I will give you rest; take my yoke upon you and learn of me,—for I am meek and lowly in heart; and your lives will find a resting place; for my yoke is easy,—and my burden is light." We learn for what purpose he tries to gain admittance by knocking at the door of one's heart: he wants to direct, guide, rule that heart; in other words induce the person to receive his yoke. And we also learn why hearts do not let him in; they know what he would expect of them,—viz. obedience,—to wear his yoke. And then I thought of every day occurrences,—when people appear to open the door and let him in,—and then after a little dispute with him about who is to rule; and then I thought,—it is all accounted for;—we know at once what is the matter when we see a change for the worse take place,—no buoyancy of hope, nothing particular to rejoice over,—attendance at the house of prayer and praise and exhortation, less regular,—little or no reference to spiritual things in conversation and the Bible neglected; yes, we know what's the matter,—

THE LORD'S YOKE

did not set easily on their shoulders,—so they have to some extent undertaken to rule themselves;—the Master's voice is not often heard unless it is in reference to something the world calls flagrant sins. He is almost crowded out, if not quite; and it is of such he says,—they have a name that they live, but in reality they are dead, dead to him, and alive to the flesh and the world; and he will vomit them out if they repent not. The Spirit asks how two can walk together unless they be agreed? It means that they cannot; and all in that condition must be slumbering on the edge of a volcano that may engulph them at any moment. They will presently trample on the blood of the covenant and count it an unholy or common thing. At this point I thought of several in my religious history whose very presence was a benediction,—and called out the best that was in me. The outflow of their personality into mine imparted health and hope; the influence exerted upon me suggested the influence of intimate association with the blessed Jesus. In the very nature of things we are assimilated to the object of our affection and admiration. And when we walk close beside him, even this life, with all its vicissitudes, seems sublime and transfigured. Consciousness of his presence changes tears into smiles, sighs into songs, and

NIGHT INTO DAY.

Witness Paul and Silas praying and singing praises to God at midnight, while in their prison at Philippi, their feet fast in the stocks,—and that too after they had been severely flogged. O, there is sublimity and power in this testimony to the gospel of Christ. Their faith and hope were put to the test,—and they stood it. They knew that the faithful are kept by the power of God, through faith in the gospel: it being the only saving power employed by God. It not only begets within men and women the hope of life, but it sustains them in it, as long as faith maintains its hold upon the promises and accomplished facts of the gospel—yea: the keeping power of the gospel was grandly demonstrated at the prison at Philippi. I remember once reading of that noble defender of the doctrine of the "Thousand Years' reign" of Christ and his saints on earth, in order to subject it to God,—Samuel Rutherford,—who suffered not a little for the truth's sake,—he said, "I thought of Christ till every stone in my prison cell

SHONE LIKE A RUBY.

O, the bliss of living and enduring as seeing him who is invisible!" This bliss is a sweet foretaste of the joy awaiting the faithful. It is not a thing of special privilege, but of universal possibility. There is no reason why those now living should envy those who lived when the Lord would sojourn under the hospitable roofs of his friends. He still loves to come into our hearts and homes, and fill them with love and hope of glory. Every home may still be a Bethany, and every heart a guest-chamber of him Anointed to be King. It is he who says, "If a man love me, he will keep my words, and my Father will love him, and we—Father and Son, will come unto him, and make our abode with him." The love of God brings man into harmony with God, and loyalty to God. Insubordination to the Divine will is anarchy. There must be a complete

ABDICATION OF SELF

in favor of God and Christ, or there can be no re-adjustment of relationship with God. When unholy ambition is quenched, when the fever of self-seeking is subdued, when the clashing of rival interests has ceased, when the man gives up the hopeless task of putting his own life into shape, or of steering his own course, and his entire management is turned over to the All-wise One,—then God's will proves to be a pillow to rest upon instead of a load to carry. From that point on, there is more life, more carefulness, and less care. The fact that the takes away the worry and friction that wear life out. If there is no rest FROM the trouble there is rest IN trouble. If there is no rest FROM TOIL, there is rest in toil. And so, amid the noisy contentions of the world,—amid the fierce struggles of life the Lord ordains peace; but it is ordained that they shall come from the presence of Christ—the indwelling of Christ. We are not to depend upon our own rowing against wind and tide, we must take Christ into our hearts just as the storm tossed disciples received him into the ship and then we will speed on into the haven of rest. Think often of what it means to be IN CHRIST, and Christ in you, the hope of glory.

FATHER IS AT THE HELM

I now wish to devote the remainder of the time to the 13th and 14th ver. of Eph. i. where we are told that after the Ephesians had believed the gospel of their salvation, they were SEALED with the Spirit of promise—which is a pledge of our inheritance in a redemption of the purchase, to the praise of his glory." What is it to be sealed by the Holy Spirit of promise? As this is said to all other saints besides those at Corinth, it is important to understand it. If we do not understand it, so far as we are concerned, it may as well have never been written. But it was intended to be understood, because the means by which we can understand it, has been furnished us. You are aware that a seal is an instrument used to stamp or ratify any civil agreements and contracts,—and are engraved with various devices which were anciently the peculiar mark or sign of the owner of it, and when it was pressed upon some softened surface, the sign or mark was transferred to it. Now,

THE HOLY SPIRIT,

GOD HAS A DEVICE

which he has himself engraved upon his own seal, the counterpart or mark of which is transferred to the hearts of those who have been softened by his love, and they all become his sealed servants. In the 7th of the Revelations John tells us he saw four angels standing on the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth that the wind should not blow on the earth, nor on the sea nor on any tree. Then he saw another angel ascending from the East having the seal of

THE LIVING GOD;

and cried with a loud voice unto the four angels, to whom it was given to hurt the earth and the sea, saying, "Hurt not the earth, neither the sea, nor the trees, till we have sealed the servants of God in their foreheads." In Job xxxiii. 16 it says,—"The Deity openeth the eyes of men and sealeth their instruction." "From this we may know that sealing has to do with teaching; and, as God's seal is pressed home on a surface capable of thinking, it is his seal"—I mean he symbolically calls it his seal,—impresses his ideas, or thoughts and ways upon the brains of his creatures. You will see from this that all the true servants of God have to be sealed in their foreheads, which word is used symbolically for intellect and affections. "The chief of all these servants was Christ; and he, too, had to be sealed, although he knew no sin." We read in John vi. 27:—"Labor not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of Man shall give unto you,—for, "FOR him hath God the Father sealed." "As sealing has to do with instruction, we find Jesus was not only able to do in healing all that were oppressed of the devil, but he could speak words of life which only the sealed can do." "The words I speak unto you," said he, "are spirit and life." And, again, he said, "My doctrine [teaching] is not mine, but his that sent me." "I have not spoken of myself; but the Father who sent me,—he gave me a commandment what I should say and what I should speak." "I am in the Father and the Father in me. The words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself," Hence the discourses of Jesus must be received as the discourses of the Father-Spirit in him. What he gave utterance to was the Word or teaching of the Spirit—the things sealed or impressed upon his brain by God." Brethren and sisters:—it is clear from this that to be sealed is to be

WORKS OF POWER,

TAUGHT OF GOD;

and, in regard to them who in very deed come to Christ, it is written in the prophets, "They shall all be taught of God." "Every man, therefore, says Jesus, that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father cometh unto me." The

FATHER TEACHES MEN

by what he causes them to hear, that they may learn it. "I have told you the truth which I have heard of God." "I speak to the world those things I have heard of him." These are the words of Jesus. He was sealed by what he heard; and the things spoken to him were the seal of God the Father by which he was impressed." I think it very safe to say, then, that the seal of God is

DIVINE TEACHING.

This may be sealed or impressed upon the brains or foreheads of men directly or indirectly as it pleases him. Jesus—apart from the prophetic Word was directly sealed. He heard what no one heard but himself. "How knoweth this man letters not having been taught?" said the Jews. "He knew what was in man," says John. This was inspiration. Only select ones were thus sealed. "The Revelation of the mystery so long concealed, was sealed upon the foreheads of the Apostles in the same way. Said Jesus on one occasion, "I have yet many things to say unto you," "but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit,—when he the spirit of truth is come, he will guide you into all truth; for he will not speak from himself, but whatsoever he shall hear he shall speak, and will declare to you the things coming.

"HE SHALL GLORIFY ME."

And on another occasion he said to them: "When they deliver you up, take no thought how or what ye shall speak; for it shall be given to you in that very time what ye shall speak,—for it is not you who are speaking, but the spirit of your Father which is speaking by you." "This was divine sealing direct, without the intervention of any human agency. The Father could have taught all men in this way. There can be no question of his ability so to do, but it did not so please him. It would have saved mankind a great deal of trouble; and it would have been an

INFALLIBLE SYSTEM

of sealing which would have left them nothing to think out or search out;" and in that case for want of use their brains would shrivel up, and where would the basis of rewards be fixed then? Where would the discipline to fit them for kings and priests to God come in. "Thus extremes meet you see—imbecility from knowing ALL without mental effort,—and imbecility on the other hand from knowing nothing about it as in the case of our religious contemporaries who have sold themselves to the clerical soul-merchants of the world." Rev. xviii. 13. But, except the case of the inspired servants in apostolic times, there were no writings from which Jesus and the apostles could learn the hidden mystery from the ages and generations. They had to be directly sealed, the Father now requires men to use their foreheads upon what he presents to them for faith to take hold of. He requires them to listen and understand

WHAT THE SPIRIT SAYS."

He has told us faith comes by hearing what he has to say to them; and he gave them ears, and expects them to use them, saying, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear, what the Spirit saith unto the churches;" you of course understand that the hearing ear, here, is intended to include the inclination to know God's mind and will, in order to obey it. Unless the affection be interested a message from neither God nor man will benefit one. It would simply go in at one ear and out of the other and effect no lasting good. But having heard the word of truth, which is explained to be "the gospel of our salvation; in whom," Christ is the last antecedent, "In whom also after we believed,—we were sealed with that Holy Spirit of promise; viz.,

THE WORD OF TRUTH

the gospel of our salvation. The word of salvation is rendered life in the Peshito Syriac,—and I think the consensus of opinion among the ablest scholars is, that it was in the Peshito Syriac tongue that Jesus spoke. So that the word salvation, which as generally used by religionists today, means life; and the gospel of our salvation means the gospel of life; the good news of life from the dead and how to obtain it. Well, the renewed mind has been brought into harmony with the mind of the Spirit,—thinks and acts in harmony with the Spirit,—are at one with the Spirit; I mean by that, that the renewed mind possesses the spirit of the Word of truth believed; and I apprehend that it is this consciousness of at-one-ment with God and the joy and peace growing out of belief of the Spirit's promises, which our text tells us is the earnest,—the pledge of our inheritance, until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the

PRAISE OF HIS GLORY;

"which redemption, we are told in the 7th verse, is through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace."

When men are sealed they are sanctified; and all know that the Lord in prayer for his disciples said, "Sanctify them through thy truth,—thy Word is truth." Again we find Jesus saying, "The words that I speak unto you are spirit and they are life." "So to be sealed by the Spirit is to be sealed by the truth; and he who is ignorant of the teachings of Jesus and the apostles is not sealed at all,—however pious or religious he may feel. The feelings are blind, and excitable by any and almost every foolishness. But these pious and religious feelings grow out of faith in the dogmas of Confucius, and all classes of so-called "divines." Hence, pious feeling is no evidence of a person being one of the sealed servants of God. Mark it well, the new man the sealed ones put on is after the image of him who created him," for "they are God's workmanship created in Christ Jesus for good works." Col. iii. 10, and Ephesians ii. 10. Ignorance of the truth in its effects and consequences is the reverse of all this. Gentiles of mere pious feelings "we are told, walk in the vanity of their mind, having the understanding darkened (their foreheads or brains, in other words, unsealed), being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the insensibility of their heart,"—affection.

"MADE BY EXACT KNOWLEDGE,

Brothers and sisters, during the week I felt curious to know what use those of the popular doctrine could make of the sublime chapters we are considering,—so I examined several published sermons upon the beautiful and all embracing prayer of Paul in the first chapter of Ephesians; thinking it might make you more and more thankful for the clear rays of divine light that shine upon us. I will tell you what one of the great and learned preachers says respecting the clause of the 18th verse which says: "that ye may know what is the hope of his calling." The title will astonish you: it is, "God's hope in his children." It has five sub-heads or divisions. First, Foremost before all is the hope (i. e. of God) that the children will walk in fellowship with him, and reciprocate his love, etc. The second is, the hope that the child will grow in every grace and every power for good. He will not have us

CONTINUE TO BE BABES.

Third, it is the Father's hope that his child may be a brother to the rest, and in the world a man of usefulness. Fourth, God's hope in calling us is that we should be witnesses for the truth. Fifth, God hopes to have his children in his house with him for ever. We shall always try to fulfill the hope he has in us." I was sadly reminded of Is. xxix. 9-12 where the book was delivered to the learned, and he cannot read it because it is sealed,—it is then delivered to him that is not learned, and he cannot read it because he is unlearned; so there was no one to read it—and Jehovah said "the wisdom of the wise shall perish,"—and adds "Surely your turning things upside down shall be esteemed as the potter's clay;" smashed to pieces. Times have not improved—this great preacher makes God the hoper—and sees nothing for us to hope for, although Paul prays that we might know what God has in store for us, so that we might hope for it. Let us praise our God because he has hid these things from the wise and prudent and revealed them unto babes.

But I must not close without making a personal application of the subject. There is little doubt as to intellectual belief of the Word of salvation, but is it a heart-belief? It is "with the heart man believes unto righteousness,"—heart-belief is what justifies and imparts peace with God. It is heart-belief that gives us a good hope through God's favor. And those whose hope springs out of heart-belief of the gospel of our salvation,—purifies themselves in the view of the glory and majesty and holiness of the called according to God's purpose, to make them meet to partake with

THE SAINTS IN LIGHT.

It is only heart-belief of the Word of truth that ensures the sealing. The truth only sanctifies, sets us apart for God and separates us from sinners when we from the heart believe it. It gives me great joy to be able to think that we have begun to rise to a higher plane of religious life,—that there are signs of a spiritual quickening,—that we have keener appetites for spiritual food,—and may we not hope that each of us enjoy something of "the earnest or foretaste of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the

PRAISE OF HIS GLORY."

The idea is, if our hope does not cause us to rejoice in view of what God has stored up for us in Christ, it is of no account. Comparatively we have much light,—God help us to walk in it,—to live in it, and be in deed and in truth the children of light. We need to realize at all times that the Lord is our Shepherd, and we shall not want. "He leadeth me."

"In pastures green? Not always; sometimes he
Who knoweth best, in kindness leadeth me
In weary ways, where heavy shadows lie;
Out of the sunshine warm and soft and bright,
Out of the sunshine into darkest night,
I oft would faint with sorrow and affright,
Only for this—I know he holds my hand;
So, whether led in green or desert land,
I trust, although I may not understand.
And by 'still waters?' No, not always so;
Oftimes the heavy tempests round me blow,
And o'er my soul the waves and billows go.
But when the storm beats loudest, and I cry
Aloud for help, the Master standeth by,
And whispers to my soul: "Lo, it is I."
Above the tempest wild I hear him say,
Beyond this darkness lies the perfect day;
In every path of thine I lead the way."
So, whether on the hilltops high and fair
I dwell, or in the sunless valleys where
The shadows lie—what matter? He is there.
So where he leads me, I can safely go;
And in the blest hereafter I shall know,
Why in his wisdom he hath led me so."

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

Dear ones of like precious faith:

I wish to say to you through the columns of THE RESTITUTION that I am just as firm in the truth as I was the day that Brother S. T. Hook baptized me. Although we all have persecution, Jesus has said, "Blessed are ye when men shall say all manner of evil against you falsely for my name's sake." What must we do in this case? Listen to what he said, "Rejoice and be exceeding glad for great is your reward in heaven." I am determined to hold on to the truth in spite of all opposing powers. If the church here at Moriah, Ill. would be up and doing as they have in days that have past and gone by, oh how nice it would be. We are commanded to not forsake the assembling of ourselves together as the manner of some is, as it is contrary to the teachings of the entire Bible, but we should exhort one another, and so much the more as we see the day approaching. I am working for eternal life in the kingdom of God, but, oh, I fear some will be as our dear Savior has said, "If that evil servant will say in his heart, My Lord hath delayed his coming, and begin to eat and drink with the drunken, what will be the result? The Lord will come in an hour when he looketh [illegible] not to him, and cut him asunder, and appoint his portion with the hypocrite, then shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. On request of Brother Norris I went to his place and baptized his daughter Mrs. Stevens, and my prayer is she may always be found faithful, and that we may all meet in the kingdom of God where there will be no more good-bye. I hold myself ready for any work that I can do for the Master. I expect to go to Brother Claypool's this winter and have meeting and trust that we will have a good meeting and that God will give the increase [illegible] add to the church daily such [illegible] be saved.

Your [illegible] the one hope of eternal [illegible]

Z. E. BRANT.

Dear Bre[illegible] Sisters in Christ:

I would [illegible] add my testimony with the fa[illegible] ones. In Matt. x. 32 we read, "Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess before my Father which is in heaven." Of the temptations and trials I have no need to write, for we all have our share if we are truly children of our heavenly Father." Heb. xi. 5, 6. Paul says, "My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him for whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth, and Christ also was made perfect through suffering." Heb. xii. 11. "No chastisement at the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous, nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby. Let us therefore humble ourselves under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt us in due time, casting all our care upon him, for he careth for us." Rom. viii. 18. "The sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory that shall be revealed in us," "our light afflictions which are but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." When we read of those "exceeding great and precious promises" it gives us courage to "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus," knowing that he that overcometh will inherit all things." The trial of our faith is much more precious than of gold that perisheth though it be tried by fire, that we may be found unto praise and honor and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ. "Behold what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us that we should be called the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that when he shall appear we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is; every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself even as he is pure." "He which testifieth these things saith, Surely I come quickly. Amen, even so, come Lord Jesus," is my prayer.

MARY M. RENNER.

Subscribe for THE RESTITUTION for 1903.

Original.

A Reverie.

I have been over many of the streets in Baltimore this day and strange, but true as strange, only one or two persons appeared to know me. What can be the cause? I feel all right and try to look so, but I can not look young any more. It is more than 50 years ago since I came here and I thought I was pretty well known here and I was, until I began to show age. Yes, I have commenced to get old fast. Never thought I would get the cold shoulder for being old, but I am getting it all the same and not so very far from my home. "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, before the evil days," etc, referring to old age, for is not old age a time of cold shouldering and loss of everything valuable? Is it not? I am constantly looking for my eye glasses, my keys; yes, and my teeth, when I was young I never lost my glasses nor my teeth. I am constantly loosing something, or rather misplacing them. Memory, or rather the lack of it, is causing me much trouble. Bro. C—— used to be fond of preaching from these words "Son remember." Abraham's remarks to Dives. He said memory would go with us into the beyond—death state, and torture us, by showing us neglected opportunities Psalm cxlvi. declares that in death our thoughts perish; and old people like myself know that very little thought and memory remain till death. Most old people are thoughtless.

It is surprising that church people know so very little about themselves, their natures. And yet it is not so strange, because they have no one to teach them. The pulpit is as much in the dark as the pew. The blind cannot lead the blind. I used to sing with my Methodist friends,

"And shout when soaring through the air,
Farewell, farewell, sweet hour of prayer."

Reading THE RESTITUTION 20 years has made a great many of my songs appear very childish, very unscriptural. "Rock of Ages," however, "And my Faith looks up to Thee," are still songs that I love to sing, and of course many others. I [redacted] glad that my trust in God en[redacted] to sing; while so many other[redacted] that I know spend their [redacted] instead of singing. T[redacted]r too sing, and too hea[redacted]in a singing mood. Th[redacted]r believers, and say they [redacted]g to heaven when they die, b[redacted] prospect don't appear to give them any comfort. I am very thankful that I was ever asked to read THE RESTITUTION. It has made clear many things that I never understood before. I wish you would send it on trial to my sister.

ISAAC MCCURRY, Sr.

The fulfilment of the prophecy that Jesus should be born at Bethlehem seems the most accidental occurrence [as Joseph and Mary did not reside there, but at Nazareth, about eighty miles distant]. It seems as if it depended upon twenty different wills, twenty different possibilities, whether God's predicted Word should become performance or not: it appears that if one single contingency had dropped from its place, if one solitary link in the chain had fallen out, God's Word would not have proved true; and yet, heaven and earth may pass away before one jot or link can fall from that chain till all be fulfilled. Obstructions are melted into impulses, opposition into accession, and all things at the appointed time, impressed and inspired by a mysterious instinct, work together to translate into facts the prophecies of God.

A young Christian, who had lately accepted Christ as his Savior, was talking with J. Hudson Taylor, the missionary. The man seemed reluctant to make public profession, before he had learned more about his new Master.

"Well," said Mr. Taylor, "I have a question to ask you. When you light a candle, do you light it to make the candle more comfortable?"

"Certainly not," said the other, "but in order that it may give more light."

"When does it first become useful—when it is half burned down?"

"No; as soon as I light it."

"Very well," said the missionary, promptly; "go thou and do likewise; begin at once."

Any one who can use the services of Bro. L. H. Chesebrough in holding meetings, can address him at Unionburgh, Mich.

Subscribe for THE RESTITUTION for 1902.

We need a few hundred new subscribers. Now is a good time of year to get them, and we are asking our friends to make an effort in this line. We do not want you labor for nothing, and so make this offer as an inducement to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and what is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War, and an extensive traveler in Africa, has written a book of over 500 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price is put at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1902, making $4.50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, giving them credit to the end of 1902, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help THE RESTITUTION by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address in public and may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Pike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Campton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Cinkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. R. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, [illegible].
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxman Winne, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Scircleville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kean, 4507, S. N. St. Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. B. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. R. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Steffa, [illegible]mona, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Dwiggins, Ontario Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 21, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Guin, Jefferson, Ore.
T. F. Cordill, 508 S Main st, South Bend, Ind.
O. W. Smith, Box 188, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Ricklis, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Ruch Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal

Excursion tickets will be sold Dec. 24, 25, and 31, 1901 and Jan. 1, 1902 on Pennsylvania Lines, on account of Christmas and New Years holidays. Rate for adults will not be less than 30 cents, nor less than 15 cents for children. Tickets will be good returning until Jan. 2, inclusive. For details about fares, time of trains, etc. call on or address J. E. Hanes, ticket agent.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 150-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100, post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 283 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth N. J.

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

EARLY LESSONS, suitable for young or old, 80 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,
General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,
General Immigration & Industrial Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

A FREE PATTERN
(your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.
McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50 YEAR
A LADIES' MAGAZINE.
A most beautiful colored plate[illegible]
McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ 15¢
All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Stitching and Seeing Line.
Only 10 and 15 cents each—none higher. Ask for them. Sold in nearly every city and town, or by mail from
THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St., NEW YORK.

VANDALIA TIME CARD
In effect June 2, 1901.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bound	8:25am
No. 14, " "	12:01noon
No. 8, " " "	10:08pm
No 12, Sunday only	9:40am

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute	5:45a m
No. 5, " " " "	12:34noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport,	7:30pm
No 11, Sunday only	8:30pm

Trains 8 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections. Lake Maxinkuckee Sunday special train due Plymouth south bound at 9:14 a m. Returning leaves Maxinkuckee 5:45 p m.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo

Change in time of Trains on Pennsylvania Lines.

Under a new schedule in effect Nov. 24, 1901, passenger trains over the Pennsylvania Lines leave Plymouth station as follows:

For the East—2:58 a m daily, 10:23 a m daily except Sunday, 2:35 p m daily, 5:45 p m daily, 7:55 p m daily extra fare train, 8:39 daily except on Sunday, 9:55 p m daily.

For the West—5:15 a m daily, 6:30 a m daily extra fare train, 9:22 a m daily except Sunday, 12:07 p m daily, 2:15 p m daily except Sunday, 6:08 p m daily.

For particular information on the subject apply to J. E. Hanes, Ticket Agent, Plymouth.

California-Oregon Excursions every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and on Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest time on the road. Finest scenery. Inquire of nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggoner, at 22 Fifth Avenue, Chicago, Ill.—dec28

For the Christmas and New Year's Holidays the Vandalia Railroad Line will sell on December 24th, 25th, and 31, 1901, and Jan. 1, 1902, return limit Jan. 2, excursion tickets at reduced fares. For full particulars call on nearest Vandalia Line Agent, or address E. A. Ford, Gen'l Pass'r Agt., St. Louis, Mo.

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

NICKEL PLATE

12-11-12-1876

All trains arrive at and depart from Van Buren Street Union Passenger Station, Chicago.

Drawing Room Sleeping Cars on Nos. 2, 4 and 8 thru to Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston; on Nos. 2, 4 and 10 to Chicago. Meals are served at "Nickel Plate Dining Stations and in Nickel Plate Dining Cars at prices no[illegible] lower. Baggage checked to destination. Our[illegible] agents will find our rates are always lower than via other lines, service considered.

For rates and detailed information, address B. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O., C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind., or Local Ticket Agent.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and B. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor. Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Rensselaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 a. m., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall, H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God at Burr Oak, Ind. have preaching every 2d and 4th Sundays at 10:30 a. m. and in the evening. Bible meeting every Thursday evening. Samuel Osborne and G. A. Maxey Elders. Sunday School every Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Georgia Osborne Sec. of the S. S. All are invited to any of the services.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Solon, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:00, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through the city, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker's, 209 West Dry St., Solon, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:30 p. m. followed by services at 2:30. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, by J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:30 A. M. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1261½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsburg, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by A. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Ebelman.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's Hall, Galena Ave., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:30 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Kalb, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Anthou, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Travelling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Busse.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trundell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Loveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Grant of Scholls, Oregon. Announcements by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fiko, Sec.

Church of God at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Barker, Elder, Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertized in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME LI. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JANUARY 1, 1902. NUMBER 1.

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher

—FOR THE—

CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

W. P. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

Walter Tomlinson
Kinmont

Poetry.

New-Year Thoughts.

Let us walk softly, friend;
For strange paths lie before us, all untrod;
The New Year, spotless from the hand of God,
Is thine and mine, O friend!

Let us walk straightly, friend;
Forget the crooked path behind us now,
Press on with steadfast purpose on our brow,
To better deeds, O friend.

Let us walk gladly, friend;
Perchance some greater good than we have known
In coming hours, or some fair hope flown
Shall yet return, O friend.

Let us walk kindly, friend;
Speak not the hasty word unbecoming round our way;
The kind words come not half so sweet,
Or lightly gathered, friend.

Let us walk lowly, friend.
We cannot tell how long this life shall last,
How soon these precious years be overpast;
Let love walk with us, friend.

Let us walk quickly, friend;
Work with our might while lasts our little day,
And help some toiling comrade on the way;
And may God guide us, friend.

Original.

A Sign of the Times.

We have been told by the religious press, with so much confidence and persistency, that "the world is growing better," that one might almost be led to think that the millennium is here and in full operation, and that there is scarcely any need of sending to the throne of heaven the petition, "Thy kingdom come," and "abandon us not in temptation." For surely, if for nineteen centuries the tendencies in the world have been for the better, temptation to sin ought to be well nigh impossible. But pious men and women are still subject to trials and temptations, and the tendencies of the times are such that if we do not watch we fall into many hurtful and foolish lusts which sink men in perdition and destruction.

This condition seems to have been before the mind of the editor of a religious journal that comes to my table. Here is part of the mental picture he draws:

"These are serious times. There has been a gradual degeneration in the moral tone and vitality of a large part of the Church—a letting down the bars—a yielding to the spirit of compromise with the world.....The world rules the masses. The spirit that worketh in the children of disobedience seems to strongly predominate. The Church has largely lost her grip on the situation, and is drifting helplessly, almost, in the current of worldly tendencies.....The Zeit-Geist (spirit of the times) is the ruling genius."

What a picture! What a confession! But how true! But when this is the condition in the Church and the world, why should we flatter ourselves over our achievements and say that "things are getting better?" When thoughtful persons outside of the Church see such statements and witness the conditions here described they question as to the cause of all this. "What is the trouble with the Church; its machinery or its working? Why has it not only failed to convert the world, but, according to its own confession, 'is drifting helplessly in the current of worldly tendencies, content to accept the ethical and social standards prescribed by the world?'" Surely, there is something wrong somewhere; but where is it? Is not much of this perplexity due to a misunderstanding of God's purpose as relating to the present age? We are told in the Word of truth that God is "TAKING OUT OF THE GENTILES (Gr. ethnos-nations) a people for his name" (Acts xv. 14), and here, instead of co-operating with the Lord in making this selection, we have taken matters into our own hands by trying to "convert" the world in the present age. After this "taking out" the Lord will build up the tabernacle of David, "that the residue of men might seek the Lord," etc., 17. Notice:

1. The visit to the Gentiles to take out a people for the Lord's name, by means of the gospel. v. 7, 14.

2. "After this" the return to build up the tabernacle of David (16).

3. The object of this return is "that the residue of men might seek the Lord." (17).

This is not only the Bible view—because stated in Bible language,—but will also obviate a great amount of the perplexity arising from apparent failure of God's plan, because the world is not yet converted, and will remove much of the reproach cast upon God's wisdom in prosecuting his plan. It is true that he has been and still is taking out of the nations a people for his name: the selection is still going on by means of the same gospel announced by Jesus and his apostles. The Word of God does not return to him void, but accomplishes what he pleases, and prospers in the thing whereunto he sent it. When "the law shall go forth from Zion, and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem" (Isa. ii. 3) for the conversion of the world, it will bring about the very results he contemplates, to which the work of the past ages is introductory and preliminary. This thought is no "new thing under the sun," but was held by the apostles, their immediate successors, and others for many centuries; and the idea of "converting the world" before the Lord's coming, when he shall rule the world in righteousness, is comparatively modern, being the invention of an English clergyman—Daniel Whitby—who lived about 200 years ago. This error has not only crept into the Church and been accepted by the majority of professed Christians, but has done much harm to the truth of God by reflecting upon his wisdom to choose the right undertaking and the proper means, and upon his ability to carry out what he has purposed to do.

The means designed by God for taking out a people for his name is "the gospel." This is the "power" with which he moves men. Rom. i. 16. It is able to do this. Nothing of man's invention is required to give it force; it is able to stand on its own merits. Where human or artificial means are employed to either supplant or assist the gospel confusion is the result. It is the duty of the Church to be faithful in the proclamation of the glad tidings, knowing that God's power will not fail. Let us be "workers together with God," neither lagging behind nor running before him. Then when the Nobleman shall return from the far country, he will reward his faithful servants. Luke xix.

A. H. ZIRKLE.

The Covenants of Promise.

"In thee (Abraham) shall all nations be blessed." Gal. iii. 8. Paul declares the above to be the gospel preached before unto Abraham. We are often asked the question, Are not the nations blessed through Abraham's seed to day, and has not God been blessing them since Christ made his first advent? Permit me to give you the testimony of the Apostle James Acts xv. 14, 17, 'Simeon hath declared how God at the first did visit the Gentiles, to take out of them a people for his name. And to this agree the words of the prophets; as it is written, After this I will return, and will build again the tabernacle of David, which is fallen down; and I will build again the ruins thereof and will set it up: that the residue of men might seek after the Lord, and all the Gentiles, upon whom my name is called, saith the Lord, who doeth all these things." This Scripture declares that God is visiting the Gentiles to take out of them a people for his name. As it is written, after this I will return, and will build again the tabernacle of David which is fallen down," etc. After what? After taking out of the Gentiles a people for his name. What then? I (Christ, Abraham's seed) will return and build again the tabernacle of David, etc. No wherein the Bible does it say that in this Gentile age men and women are being prepared for heaven. Peter in Acts iii. 19-21, says, "Repent ye therefore and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord; and he shall send Jesus Christ, which before was preached unto you; whom the heaven must receive until the times of restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." The heaven must retain Christ until the time of the restitution of all things, etc. Let me quote one further from Matt. xix 27, 28, "Then answered Peter and said unto him, Behold we have forsaken all and followed thee; what shall we receive therefore? And Jesus said unto them, Verily I say unto you, that ye which have followed me, in the regeneration, or restitution, when the Son of Man shall sit in the throne of his glory, ye also shall sit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel." The reward for following Christ is (to the Apostles) to be received "in the regeneration when the Son of Man shall sit in the throne of his glory." Matt. xxv. 31 tells when he shall sit in his throne, "When the Son of Man shall come in his glory and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory. Then will the apostles sit upon thrones and the times of regeneration begin. Then will David's tabernacle be built again and his throne be restored. What a strange doctrine this is that Christ shall yet occupy David's throne and rule over the nations of the earth. It is indeed strange to many, yet the angel said to Mary, the mother of Jesus, Luke i. 32, "He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest; and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David." Where was David's throne? I answer not in heaven but on earth. Christ is now in his Father's throne. See Rev. iii. 21. "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne." Do not the above Scriptures prove that Christ will remain in heaven until the time of rebuilding, of the restitution of all things, of regeneration and the judging of the nations shall begin? Is not this in connection with the restoring of the kingdom to Israel? In Acts i. 3, we read, "To whom he showed himself after his passion by many infallible proofs, being seen of them forty days and speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God."

Now notice the request the Apostles made of him. 6th verse, "When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel?" His answer was, "It is not for you to know the times or the seasons which the Father hath put in his own power. Their request was that the kingdom be restored at that time. His answer was that it was not for them to know the times or the seasons of the restoration of the kingdom to Israel. Under the power of the Holy Ghost, Peter in Acts ii. 30, spoke of this same promise, "Therefore being a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him, (David) that of the fruit of his loins, according to the flesh, he would raise up Christ to sit on his (David's) throne." Peter here quotes from Psa. cxxxii. 11, and applies it to Christ so we see it could not have been Solomon. Further, let me quote from Paul in Acts xiii. 34, "And as concerning that he raised him (Christ) up from the dead, now no more to return to corruption, he said on this wise, I will give you (Christ) the sure mercies of David." Are the sure mercies of David here spoken of those things belonging to the former kingdom of Israel? See the marginal reference in the Bible, viz: "ton osia," holy, or just things, which word the LXX both in the place of Isa. lv. 3, and many others, use for that which is in the Hebrew "mercies." If you will begin reading with the 14th verse and finish this chapter you will get the full connection in which this is found. We have seen in Acts ii. 30, that God raised Christ up to sit on David's throne; and in Acts xiii we find that he was raised up to receive the sure mercies of David, the holy or just things. You must remember that David died without having received the promises. Heb. xi. 39, "And these all having obtained a good report through faith, received not the promise." David is among the number.

Thus far in this article I have quoted from the Old Testament, as many think these truths are found only in the New Testament and are not binding. I will now show you that the whole matter is found in two of the Old Prophecies. Please turn now to 2 Sam. vii. 12, 18. I will not quote them, but ask you to read them. God who in thy days he will fulfill, and then shall build unto thy seed after thee, which shall proceed out of thy bowels, and I will establish his kingdom (David's kingdom, the kingdom of Israel or the kingdom of God). He shall build an house for my name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever." Now what does this mean but "to build again the tabernacle of David which is fallen down, and I will build again the ruins thereof, and I will set it up." Acts xv. 11. When Christ shall have built it up, it will be an everlasting habitation. But my mercies shall not depart away from him, (David's Seed) as I took it from Saul, whom I put away before thee. "And thine house and thine kingdom shall be established forever before thee; thy throne shall be established forever." You may contend that this promise was to Solomon and therefore fulfilled. Please notice that this was after David's death. Also notice that Solomon reigned or sat upon the throne of Israel before David's death. 1 Kings ii. 1-4. When the prophet Nathan spoke unto David, 2 Sam. vii. 12, 17. Notice how David rejoined, "Who am I, O Lord God? And what is my house that thou hast brought me hitherto? But thou hast spoken also of thy servant's house for a great while to come." Read the remainder of this chapter and compare it with 1 Kings ii. Read the entire chapter.

In these two articles on the covenants of promise we have tried to show you that they are intimately connected with the gospel that Christ preached and commanded his followers to preach, viz: the gospel of the kingdom of God, and that the gospel related to the seed of Abram and of David. It comprehends not only the death, burial and the resurrection of Christ but his reigning on the throne of his father David and over the nations of the earth. Then peace shall be universal and all shall know the Lord and obey him because he rules justly. Then thank God the poor shall be judged by a righteous Judge. Isa. ix. 6, 7, speaks of his reign, "Unto us a child is born, unto us a Son is given and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever." So mote it be.

D. C. ROBISON.

Changed Ordinances.

"Keep the ordinances as I delivered them unto you." 1 Cor. xi. 2.

Why so? Because "I received of the Lord that which also I delivered unto you." Ver. 23.

One of the ordinances to be kept "as delivered," is baptism, and those who would presume to change the ordinances "as delivered," must do so at the peril of their eternal interest.

It is a notorious fact that the ordinance of baptism has been radically changed. Now, who is responsible for that change? I will let Mr. Calvin answer the question. He says, commenting on Acts viii, 38: "We see from this instance, what was the baptismal rite amongst the ancients; for they plunged the whole body in the water. Now 'tis the custom for the minister to sprinkle only the body or head. * * * Wherefore the church did grant liberty to herself since the beginning, to change the rite somewhat."

"The Church," says Calvin, is responsible for the above presumptious change. The same church has not only changed the ordinance of baptism, but has actually changed the gospel, (Gal. i. 6-10) as delivered unto us.

What church has done this foul thing? Surely not the pure Church of God, because she delights to follow her Lord wherever he may lead. She would never question his requirements, or substitute something else which would better suit fleshly convenience or taste. It was not a true Church, but a shameless, faithless church. What church is that? you ask. By their fruits you shall know them. They are easily recognized as to identity, wherever you find a church which practices sprinkling and calls the same baptism, you can know of an absolute surety, that that church is not the Church of God, her practices are a sure brand as to what she really is.

Ministers high up in the standing of the faithless church, are not only aware that a change has been made, but they also approve of the change, on account of fleshly convenience, which change, they like Mr. Calvin, frankly admit is contrary to Scripture teaching, and yet while being aware of the same, they approve of the change. A case of this kind is seen in Dean Stanley, who was formerly a minister to the late Queen Victoria, he says: "The change of immersion to sprinkling, has set aside the larger part of the apostolic language regarding baptism, and has altered the very meaning of the word. The reason for the change is obvious. The practice of immersion, apostolic and primitive as it was, was peculiarly suitable to the southern and eastern countries; for which it was designed, and peculiarly unsuitable to the tastes, the convenience, and the feelings of the countries of the north and west. There is no one who would now wish to go back to the old practice (of the apostles and their Master.) * * * Speaking generally, the Christian civilized world has decided against it. It is a striking example of the triumph of common sense over the bondage of form and custom."

If the altering of the meaning of the word baptize, and deciding against the command of the Master, is a "triumph of common sense," then is it not a fact that this faithless church in effect charges the Savior with commanding that which lacked "common sense."

The Dean says it is "the Christian civilized world (which) has decided against it," even that which he says "had the sanction of the apostles and their Master." It could not possibly be "the Christian civilized world," which thus insults the Savior by implying that he commanded that which lacked "common sense," because the word "Christian" means a person who follows the Savior, and is one who takes a special pleasure in rendering obedience to his commands, and who would manifest righteous indignation against any implication that any of his (Jesus) commands lacked "common sense."

The Dean says the change "has altered the very meaning of the word," that is the word baptize. As a scholar in the languages, he was aware of the fact that the word bapto signified to dip, and raino, to sprinkle, and for a person to say "I was baptized by sprinkling, was simply equivalent to saying, I was dipped by sprinkling. There is not one single instance between the two covers of the Bible, where the word raino is translated by the words dip or immerse, or bapto, by the word sprinkle; each word has its own special meaning, and is never interchanged. Another person says, "I was baptized by pouring." That is equivalent to saying, "I was immersed by pouring." The words immerse and pour, are also translated from different words. Bapto signifies to immerse, and cheo, to pour.

Speaking of the terminations ize, or ise, Oswald's Etym. Dict. says: ize or ise denotes to "make or give;" as, civil ize, to make civil; character-ize, to give a character; author-ize to give authority; apolog-ize, to give an apology; harmon-ize, to give harmony. Hence as bapt-ism means an immersion, or dipping, bapt-ize would mean to give an immersion or dipping." Now, by the same reasoning to rant-ize would mean to give a sprinkling, and as to give a dipping and to give

The Restitution.

...now advocate the final fulfillment of all things which God hath spoken ... of all his holy prophets since ... As a means to this end ... establishment of the kingdom of God on ... with the Christ as King of kings, ... mortal saints at his coming; the ... the literal resurrection ... the immortalization of the saints; ... and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life ... through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief in ... repentance and immersion in the ... Christ for the remission of sins, the requisite of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

...sprinkling is not the same action, ... could not possibly be baptism. No kind of reasoning, either grammatical or logical can make the words dipping and sprinkling synonymous words.

Turn to Lev. xiv. 16, and in that one passage you will find the words pour, dip and sprinkle used as the case may be in different actions, as follows: "The priest shall take some of the log of oil and pour, (cheo) it ... And the priest shall dip (bapto) his right finger in the oil that is in his right hand, and shall sprinkle (raino) of the oil with his finger seven times before the Lord."

Let any one take the above Scripture and attempt to force cheo and raino to answer the place of bapto, and they will at once see the folly of the faithless church in calling pouring and sprinkling baptism. In doing so, they are not only guilty of corrupting Scripture, but also the common logical and grammatical use of language, by which as students of language, independent of Scripture, they are sternly rebuked.

In the English language the word dip is never used to cover the act of sprinkling. Nor the word sprinkle to indicate the act of dipping. So in the Greek, bapto is never used when raino is meant, nor raino when bapto is the act that is to be conveyed. It is left to the theological quacks of the false church to thus corrupt language.

So strong is the evidence of language, that Mr. Campbell once said: "But, my friends, we would take any translation of the Scriptures, the worst that was ever made, and confine ourselves to it alone, in the proof of this point. I will take before an English congregation, either the present translation, Campbell's, Mac-Knight's, Doddridge's, Thompson's, Father Sirmon's or the modern Roman Catholic Version, and from any one, without foreign assistance, I will pledge myself to prove that immersion is the only baptism."

He further added: "I have proposed to be guided in ascertaining the import of the original words by the verdict of the translators of the Common Version, trammelled as they were by King James' authority. For although they were prohibited by the King from translating bapto and baptizo into English, when they had reference to this ordinance; yet in no one instance did they translate these words by to pour, to pour out, or to sprinkle; nor ever did they in one instance translate raino, or rantizo by to dip, immerse, or plunge."

With all this evidence to deal with, how comes it that ranized people boldly declare that they have been baptized. And how comes it that ministers when they rantize people, repeat the formula: "I baptize you," etc, when in point of fact, they do nothing of the kind?

Mr. Campbell clearly shows the source of the corruption of the ordinance of baptism. He says: "Had our translators been at liberty to have translated this word to immerse, where the ordinance was spoken of, we should have had no controversy about it. The command then would have read, "Go and disciple all nations, immersing them," etc. Had it not been for King James, this might have been the case, and so sensible were many of the Westminster creed-makers, of the necessity of immersion, that had it not been for Dr. Lightfoot, who gave the casting vote in favor of sprinkling, in that assembly, all the believers in the Westminster creed, would have been like all the Eastern professors of Christianity, (all those not under the Pope of Rome,) immersers, and not sprinklers. The pedo-baptist writers are constrained to admit the three facts last stated, viz: that King James forbad the translation of baptizo and baptismos; that Dr. Lightfoot gave the casting vote that gave currency to sprinkling. These considerations, together with the meaning of the word, the import of the prepositions, put it beyond reasonable doubt, that sprinkling is a human tradition, which is not only opposed to Scripture testimony, but also the common sense use of language.

W. H. WILSON.

Oregon Bible College

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Office Editor.

EDITORIAL COMMITTEE—
J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, Special Contributor.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JAN'Y 1, 1902.

It is Already the Hour.

"And do this, knowing the season, that it is already the hour for us to awake up from sleep; for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed." Rom. xiii. 11. Diglott.

When announcement was made for our last prayer meeting of 1901, and the leader desired a good attendance because it was to be the last meeting for the year, this came to my mind—"What chapter will be selected for the lesson?" and then the above text came to mind.

The subject of the Apostle Paul just previous to this was concerning "love to thy neighbor," and he goes on and tells that "the night is far advanced, and the day has approached." In consideration of this condition of things, he further says "we should lay aside the works of darkness, and should put on the armor of light."

The memory of the writer does not run back to the time when, as a people, we did not profess to understand and know the times we were living in, and be able to note the "signs" as they occur. For years, ever since the organization of our present Church association, this has been one of the vital studies to which our best minds have been devoted. If ever before the times were momentous, what are they now? In the light of prophecy these times in which we live are truly fraught with signs of great events soon to occur. To live and not take note of these conditions, and so not "know the season," and that "it is already the hour" is to be indeed blind.

"The night is far spent and the day is at hand," and as in our natural lives we begin at such an hour to bestir ourselves, and get about the affairs of the new day, so in a more marked degree as we see the evidences of the "day of God" approaching, we should make ourselves ready to hail the rising Sun that ushers in the glad morning.

There is no question about God fulfilling his promises to us. We need not worry about his side of the matter. Our part is what we should be concerned about. Knowing the times as we do, have we any obligation? Have we any duty? We most assuredly acknowledge that we have, and the next question is, Under what obligation are we resting? What is our duty? To wake up—be wakeful—watchful—strive earnestly.

Too many of our people have come to think that as the proclamation of the gospel in this dispensation is for the purpose of selecting out a people to be associated with Christ in the work of a future age, and as we are far down near—or actually in—the end of these times, and the day so long looked for is just dawning, that we have no more work to do but to quietly wait for the consummation. So far has this idea impressed many of our people who were formerly active in the work, that a sort of lukewarm condition has enveloped us. We seem to have given over the work to the Lord to finish, saying, in effect—"Lord if there are any more to be yet taken in we are willing to leave it in your hands to find them. Our work is about done." So interest is lost in the words of the preacher, attendance at his service is poor; the prayer meeting is left for a few, till it is a question as to the advisability of using fuel and lights for so small a number. Sunday School is a drag, in which the teachers have to be urged, in place of being anxious to do—scholars catch the disease quickly, and attendance and interest drops off. The result of this is that soon the young people are attracted by outside influences, those in the church see no use in keeping alive differences between our faith and of other denominations, and so "mix in" with them. Other young folks seeing no difference maintained, consider they are as well out as in, so remain out. Many older ones tire of the fight, or are lulled to sleep by the gentle song of that charmer whose name is "It makes no difference so you are sincere," and as the Morning dawns we are drowsy—or as the call is made that the Bridegroom is here, we have no oil in our lamps.

Is this picture overdrawn? Can you say it is not true in your locality? Brethren, sisters, then why is it that the isolated ones in so many instances become lost in the outside world, and how comes it that when churches are absorbed by others if left alone for a time?

Have we an obligation? Have we a duty? As we come near the dawn of day we are in the very darkest time. So in our Christian walk we may expect to find difficulties and hindrances heaped up for us at this time. Should that be cause for discouragement? Rather, as it is another proof that the Day is near, we should but redouble our energy. Be wider awake, more earnest in our efforts. We should consider it a privilege, a high honor, that we are here to still work and labor for the coming King. Our present far outranks all the past. The most stupendous work of the ages is that in hand now.

As we realize then, the time we are living in, let us "gird up our loins," "trim our lamps" and fill them with oil, "put on the armor of light," be fully "awake," and go forth to do the more valiant battle for our King. This is fulfilling our obligation—doing our duty. God will do as he has promised. Will we do ours, is the question. Our eternal life—our part with Christ in the next age is conditioned on the performance of our duty in this.

At the beginning of this new year of 1902, will you take a careful look at yourself; see if you are giving all the support you can to every means at hand—whether it be the preacher, the publisher, by the attendance at and participation in the services of prayer meeting, by attending the Sunday School and Bible Class and willingly teaching when a chance is offered. If you are not giving so much money that you feel the sacrifice, then it is no sacrifice at all. We are not asked to give a little of what we have left—we are called upon to make a sacrifice of something—yea, even of ALL for His cause, and his cause is the proclamation of the gospel, and caring for his poor. This is the sum and substance of our duty and obligation, and our life in the next age—our eternal life—depends on our actions now.

In this opening of 1902, THE RESTITUTION wishes all its patrons and friends, as is usual, "A Happy New Year," and at the same time utters this cry to you each—"It is already the hour for us to awake up from sleep, for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed."

THE Pope of Rome has decided to send a "pontifical mission" to be at the coronation of King Edward next June.

WE believe it is the duty of every member of the Church of God to support THE RESTITUTION by subscribing for it.

GERMAN warships are gathering at ports of Venezuela, and may blockade them in order to enforce the rights of German subjects. American and English ships are there too watching the outcome.

MANY people have supposed that in this country there were railroads in plenty, and no more building on a large scale would be necessary, but the Railway Age gives figures to show that in 1901 there were 5057 miles of new road built; a far greater amount than for several years past, the year of 1890 only exceeding it with 5070 miles.

HAMM ULLAH KHAN, the Ameer of Afghanistan, has pledged to maintain the policy of his father, in guarding his country against foreign aggression, and in preventing the introduction of railroads, telegraphs, European trade, and education by missionaries. He will have a hard time keeping out civilization as it is defined to day, but if he lets it in he will likely lose his country, which point he seems sharp enough to foresee.

CONCERNING the trouble in the regions round the Persian Gulf, dispatches from London have the following to say on the subject:

"The Koweyt question seems to grow no less formidable with time, and the frank admission of a prominent Russian journal that English occupation would be a serious impediment to the carrying out of the Russian plans in the Persian Gulf indicated, in view of the fact that there is no evidence that England intends to occupy, a somewhat dangerous mood. Russia now nearly monopolizes trade with Persia, and with the completion of her new railroad from Alexandropo to Erivan her possessions in the near East will enter a new stage of development. But her plans mean the control of the whole trade of the Persian Gulf, which must include the virtual mastery over all the adjoining provinces, either direct or through influences over Turkey, and England's settled determination to preserve the independence of Koweyt may yet lead to trouble."

THE war in South Africa is by no means ended. One day the British are victors over a small party, the next the Boers have the lead, and so it goes. A sort of running fight kept up all the time.

THE Zionist Congress is in session at Bazle, Switzerland. The reports for last week say that the greatest event was a speech by Dr. Max Nordau, in which he referred to the economic, political, and intellectual condition of the Jews, and delivered a bitter, passionate protest against their treatment on the continent of Europe. Dr. Herzl, the President, received a telegram from the grand master of ceremonies at the Yildiz Kiosk reporting that the message of homage from the Zionist congress had given the greatest satisfaction to the Sultan. There are 1000 delegates at the convention, and Dr. Herzl said to them in his opening speech that he had absolute confidence in the national colonization movement, and believed it would succeed where efforts towards charitable colonization had failed."

Zionism in America.

[The following is an editorial taken from the Chicago Tribune of Dec. 30, and is given to show how this movement is considered by those who help to make public opinion by way of the city daily papers. The writer is wrong when he says, "If it (the prophecy) is to be fulfilled it will fulfil itself." No prophecy is made in the Scriptures, and then left to itself or chance for fulfilment. God will see to that, and will employ such instrumentalities as he sees fit to accomplish the end, and if he has chosen Dr. Herzl and his coworkers to do certain things toward the fulfilment of the prophecies concerning the return of the Jews to Palestine, we may be certain they will be supported in their efforts.—ED.]

The Zionist conference now in progress at Basle, Switzerland, is a significant gathering. It is an evidence of national self consciousness, of the compelling force of kinship, of the persistence of historical recollections, and of the power of an ideal. The Zionist movement is permeated with sentiment and romance. Out of it, however, might arise practical consequences that would effect the world. If it should prove possible to restore the Jewish nation to the land of Canaan and to give it again a separate national existence the flight from Egypt would seem by comparison an event of minor importance.

Those persons who construe certain passages of Scripture in an exactly literal sense are of course obliged to believe that in the latter days the scattered tribes will be gathered together again, that the dispersion will come to an end, and that the reorganized Jewish state will continue to the end of time. There is nothing in prophecy, however, that requires one to assist in its fulfilling. If it is to be fulfilled it will fulfil itself. So, apparently, think a large proportion of the Jews dispersed through Europe and America. Dr. Herzl and Max Nordau think otherwise. They have thrown themselves into the Zionist agitation with the greatest possible energy and enthusiasm. They have coaxed, flattered, upbraided, and denounced. The result has been a general interest in the Zionist idea and the holding of various international meetings for conference and discussion. Beyond this little seems to have been accomplished. It may be, of course, that the near future will show the effect of the present propaganda, and will witness the rise of a general determination on the part of the Jews to return to their former home. At present, however, there are a preoccupation and a listlessness that make decisive action seem improbable.

Not that the average Jew is unaffected by the notion of a reunited Israel. The glamour of such a notion affects even the Gentile. That a nation should be gathered up from every corner of the world after a dispersion of centuries and brought back to the scene of its former glories is almost overwhelms the imagination. It is impossible that any one should remain entirely cold when a plan of this kind is on foot. If American Jews are less enthusiastic than Max Nordau would like to have them it is not because they have become rich, and therefore cold, but because they are so much at home in the United States. In this country the Jew is under no political or economic disadvantages. Therefore, while indignantly repudiating any suggestion that he has lost his loyalty to his race, he cannot see that anything is to be gained by a second exodus. He has become an American, and an American he will continue to be. This country has given no better proof of its ability to naturalize the stranger.

Selected.

The Great Dead of 1901.

The year now so nearly at its close has been quite as notable as any of its recent predecessors in the loss of those who have been conspicuous in their various departments of labor and have made their names widely known. The political world has lost William McKinley, murdered during his Presidency by the assassin Czolgosz at the Pan-American Exhibition; Benjamin Harrison, the eminent lawyer and ex-President; Wm. M. Evarts, also a great lawyer and ex-Secretary of State; Prince von Hohenlohe, the German ex-Chancellor; Francesco Crispi, the ex-Premier of Italy; and Li Hung Chang, the smartest and sanest man of his time in China. Among the rulers of the world Victoria, Queen of Great Britain, has passed away, likewise the Dowager Empress Frederick, Abdur Rahman Khan, the Ameer of Afghanistan; and Milan, the dissolute ex-King of Servia.

The world of literature and the arts has suffered severely. Among the prominent writers who have passed away are: John Fiske, the historian; Charlotte M. Yonge, and Sir Walter Besant, novelists; Robert W. Buchanan, the British poet; William Ellery Channing of the famous Concord group of writers; Maurice Thompson, the story writer and essayist; and Ignatius Donnelly, the romancer and Baconian cipher inventor. Music has lost Verdi, the last of the old school of Italian opera composers; Benoit, who was the chief representative of the Flemish school of composition; Sir John Stainer, the organist and author of the best dictionary of terms yet produced; Franz Rummel, the pianist; Alfred Patti, the 'cellist; and Audran, the French light opera composer. In art France loses Jean Cazin, one of its greatest painters; England, Kate Greenaway, the delightful illustrator; and the United States, James McD. Hart and Edward Moran, two of the best representatives of the old school of painting.—The Tribune.

"Humanism."

One of the outstanding features of today is the bankruptcy of Humanism. It had its rise in a reaction against the theological conception of life. Humanism, in so far as it rests on a comprehensive system of thought, has a clearly defined attitude to the great fundamental conceptions, God and Man. Theology rests on the idea of a personal God in close supernatural relation with man and fallen being. The watchword of theology is Redemption. Humanism rests on the idea of God as an unknown Force, which has no personal or supernatural relation to man. Man is not a fallen but a rising being. The watchword of humanism is culture. Give man freedom, says humanism, knock off theological and political fetters, encourage the wealth-creating instinct, and increase the opportunities of culture. The results, asserts Humanism, will be the individual and social elevation of humanity. Humanism for fifty years has been on its trial. The theological pressure has been lifted from the human mind; political despotism has been weakened; education has been popularized; wealth has been increased beyond the dreams of avarice. What is the result? A few choice spirits in academic circles may be found true to the culturistic gospel of Goethe and Matthew Arnold, but the rest of the world is all but submerged in a huge wave of materialism. As matters now stand, Humanism has its trinity as well as Theology. The trinity of Humanism is money, pleasure, militarism. Money is feverishingly sought for the pleasure, mostly of the brutalising sort, which it is supposed to bring. In the individual sphere the rush for money has given birth to the gambling table, the drinking club, and the stock exchange; in the industrial sphere to American Trusts; and in the national spheres to seizures of gold-fields and colossal armies. In presence of society as it exists today, what becomes of humanism with its fervent belief in the natural goodness of human nature, the socializing power of sympathy and the brotherhood of man? Germany, the home of Goethe, the high priest of culture, with its sweet reasonableness, has given birth to Bismarck, the high priest of force, with its blood and iron; and England the home of liberty and the friend of nationalities, has given birth in South Africa to a brutal despotism, and is engaged in following the worst examples of Russia and Spain. Meanwhile, socialism, anarchism, nihilism, the trinity of a decadent Humanism, bide their time to overwhelm civilization in ruin. Have those who have favored Humanism not underestimated the evil side of human nature. In their temple of culture they have shuddered at Bartholomew massacres and the atrocities of Alva. And now, in the midst of a Humanist civilization, we have atrocities in Cuba, Armenian horrors, and hell in South Africa. Are we not, after all, driven back to the philosophy of John Calvin, who built his stern and grim theology on the Scriptural declaration which history today is vividly illustrating before our eyes—the heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked.—Edinburgh Scotland News.

Babylon.

Babylon's pre-eminence as a city has been destroyed by Dr. Koldewey, the leader of the German exploration party making excavations on its site.

Herodotus, the father of history, said that Babylon was as large as Paris, London, and Berlin combined, but the investigations show that it is only about one-fifth the size of London, or one-half that of Chicago.

German archæologists have still further upset theories as to the great city whose name has become a synonym for wickedness. On the assertion of Herodotus people have believed the city's walls were of enormous size and thickness. This is not so.

The principal town was on the left bank of the Euphrates. It was built in the form of a triangle, the sides of which measured 4½, 3½ and 5½ kilometers. It was surrounded by walls which are still traceable. The diameter of the city was about eight miles.

The excavations have progressed considerably, and with good results. Several buildings have been unearthed which are easily located in the Bible. One of these is the kasr or palace of Nebuchadnezzar. This is identical with the Schuana of ancient Scriptures. The New Year's day procession for the Temple of Marduk started from this point and the King was obliged to accompany it on pain of the forfeiture of his throne.

The principal Babylonian temple, Amran, identical with the Egasila of the Scriptures, has also been discovered; also the road between Egasila and the citadel or palace of Schuana, called Ai-Bur-Shabou.

Imgur Bel and Nimiti Bel, the great Durnal of Babylon, are not walls, as had been thought, but bastions.

The Babylon of the Bible is distinctly not the city, but the fortified palace or citadel of Nebuchadnezzar.

The hill Babel is probably the ruins of the celebrated hanging gardens of Semiramus. The tower of Babylon probably stood near the Temple of Marduk, on the spot now known as the hill Sikkurat.

Many extremely interesting finds have been made, proving the extraordinary richness, elaboration, and plenitude of detail of the decoration of the palace.

The Old Year.

The year which has just closed in some respects has been a memorable one. In this country it has been unusually free from great calamities and epidemics and has also been one of extraordinary prosperity and business development. It has witnessed the birth of great industrial combinations and the expansion of the national commerce. There was but one serious strike and it did not long interfere with industry. Cuban affairs have been satisfactorily adjusted and that island this year will attempt the task of self-government. Porto Rico is progressing well. The Philippines are under temporary civil government, and hostilities, since the capture of Aguinaldo, have been confined to straggling bands. The work of development goes on steadily. The ratification of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty has ended an old and vexatious controversy and has opened the way for the construction of an isthmian canal.

The sorrowful event of the year was the assassination of President McKinley. This nation mourned him deeply and unusual expressions of sympathy came from all parts of the civilized world. The cruel deed of the Anarchist, however, was fruitless. The administration of the government was not interrupted for an hour, and Mr. Roosevelt assumed the duties and responsibilities of the Presidency with the good wishes of the whole country and the respect of the world. The central and southern portions of the American continent have been disturbed more or less all the year with revolutions and war, and the new year opens with unsettled conditions prevailing in Colombia, Venezuela, Argentina, and Chile.

In the old world also important events have taken place. Great Britain was plunged into grief by the death of its well-beloved Queen, and Edward VII., after his long years of waiting, has been proclaimed King and will be crowned this year. The calamity of the Boer war still continues. The new year opens with serious reverses to the British arms, and no one can foresee the end of the struggle waged by the persistent Boers.

The remaining important events of the year pertain to Asia. The death of the Ameer of Afghanistan may yet entail trouble for the great powers. Russia has virtually finished its great transsiberian road, which will give it at least commercial control of Manchuria, and may open up new questions of administration in China and possibilities of disagreements with Japan. The Chinese difficulty has been settled for the present at least, and that government will pay heavy indemnities for the outrages committed by the Boxers. The future of China, however, is still a sealed book. Peace may be disturbed at any time by that obstinately conservative people.—Chicago Tribune.

Subscribe for THE RESTITUTION for 1902.

Signs in the Heavens.

Astronomers have just discovered a wonderful phenomenon in the sky, which some believe to be the beginning of a new sun and a new set of worlds—the very beginning and birth of a new universe.

With telescopes they are watching and photographing the actual birth of a new system, which may eventually develop into a finished form resembling that of the solar system in which we live.

Nothing like this has ever been seen in the heavens before. In many respects it is the most marvelous discovery ever made.

This hitherto unmatched wonder has made its appearance in the constellation Perseus, which is now overhead about 10 o'clock in the evening. It is an outgrowth of the great new star which appeared in that constellation last February. But the whole story is so marvelous that if it were not avouched by the foremost observers in the greatest observatories of the world it would not be believed. It stands, however, on the authority of the Lick observatory, the Yerkes observatory, the Harvard observatory and several of the leading observatories of Europe.

This is the story:

Where the new star in Perseus spoken of above suddenly made its appearance last February nothing was visible before. The part of the sky, like all other parts, had frequently been photographed at the Harvard observatory, and while the photographs showed thousands of stars too faint to be visible to the naked eye scattered all about the place, nothing but blank darkness existed at the spot where the new star subsequently burst into view.

The last of these photographs was made on the 19th of February. On the night of the 21st of February an astronomer in Edinburgh was amazed to see a great, flaming new star in the constellation Perseus. Hundreds of other observers quickly caught sight of it, and in fact nobody could miss seeing it, for it was almost the brightest star in the whole heavens.

Immediately the Harvard observers consulted their photographs and found that in the place where this wonderful new star now blazed not the faintest speck of light had existed forty-eight hours earlier!

What had happened? How was it possible for one of the brightest stars ever seen to come into existence so suddenly where apparently, nothing whatever had been before? This seemed a miracle indeed!

That star was demonstrably far mightier than our sun. It was only its immeasurable distance that made it appear as a star instead of what it really was, a luminous body, that, placed beside the sun, would make the latter appear as a tallow dip in comparison with an incandescent lamp.

The thought that so tremendous a blaze had come into existence instantly, without the slightest warning, in a place where not a twinkle had been visible before, was stunning, and it almost paralyzes the imagination! —Selected by J. M. Tindell.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Poetry.

Undertones.

When the cloudless sun of summer
Pours a flood of liquid gold
On the blue and glassy ocean,
On the green and flowery wold;
When the bee hums round the blossom,
When no bird sings by its nest,
Underneath the joyous throbbing
Breathes a smothered tone of sobbing—
Weary sobbing after rest.

For these sunny skies shall darken,
And the sea's wild billows flow,
And the leaves shall fall and moulder
In a shroud of winter snow:
And the voice of song shall falter;
So there's sighing in the lowest
Of a world in blindness praying
For a beauty undecaying,
And a true, abiding rest.

And, however well we love them,
These dear faces young and hale,
In the breath of time must wither,
At the touch of death must pale;
Soon we leave them, or they leave us;
There, our beautiful and best!
For the doors of death has housed us;
There are tombstones all around us,
And this world is not our rest.

Hark! responsive to hearts burdened
Comes a tender voice from One:
"I can meet this world-wide longing,
Change life's bitter undertone,"—
It is Christ, the nations' Healer,
And the balm for souls distressed,
For the craving heart, perfection,
For our dead a resurrection,
For the weary spirit, rest.

And his witnesses are crying:
"Now, the blood of Christ can save,
And communion with his spirit
Is the bliss you blindly crave!
On his breast for sinners bleeding,
When your aching soul is pressed,
You remember Eden's portal,
And regain the tree immortal,
And the rapture and the rest."

Here our skies may change and darken,
But there's cloudless light before;
Here our friends and we must sever,
But we'll meet on yonder shore.
There foundations never totter,
And no partings wring the breast;
And the beauty fadeth never,
And the song is sung forever
In the home of endless rest.

—The London Christian.

Original.

The Return of the Master.

The return of the Master is the most important event in the history of the world, and especially to his brethren, who are looking, and praying for his return to establish the kingdom of God on the earth, with all the blessings that will come to the inhabitants of the earth by that much to be desired event. If he come not to speak peace to the nations, wars will continue as long as man is ambitious and selfish. If the Master does not return from the far country, the dead will never be raised, and consequently the righteous will get no reward, but are perished for ever. But this is impossible because we have the word of him that cannot lie, that he (Christ) "shall not fail nor be discouraged till he hath set justice and judgment in the earth." The better part of the human race sees the evils of the present conditions that exist in the political and ecclesiastical heavens of the present time, but seem powerless to apply the much needed reforms. On account of the lust for power, and the selfishness of man, the present conditions will continue to curse the earth until man, as now constituted, shall fully demonstrate his inability to govern himself, then help will come. The Master will return, "He shall come down like rain upon the mown grass, as showers that water the earth. In his days shall the righteous flourish; and abundance of peace so long as the moon endureth." Psa. lxxii. 6-7. But when will the Lord come? "The day nor the hour knoweth no man." But it is written that, "There is a set time to favor Zion," and by all the signs it is not very far in the future. When Paul wrote his second epistle to the church at Thessalonica he said, speaking of the day of Christ, "Let no man deceive you.....for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition; who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshiped; so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God, showing himself that he is God." This prohibition exists no longer, the apostasy has come; the man of sin has been revealed; and he has sat in the temple of God. The Apostle here could not have reference to any power that is in the future from our day, because he said, "The mystery of iniquity doth already work, only he (the pagan ruler) that now hinders will hinder until he be taken out of the way, and then shall that wicked one be revealed." The testimony that seems to me to come the nearest to revealing the time of the Lord's return is found in the last chapter of Daniel.

I will not say that Brother A. S. Clough is wrong in reference to the time, times, and a half, 1260 days, and the 1335 days of Dan. xii., but will give an exposition of the same as they appear to me, and if any one can show me where I am wrong, he will be doing me a favor. I hold that we should always be ready to exchange error for truth, and should treat the views of those that differ with us with respect.

In order to understand the writing of Daniel and John, we must keep in our mind the fact that events recorded in the same verse are in their fulfilment, sometimes many years apart; for instance the eleventh chapter of Daniel commences with events in the time of Darius, the Mede, and ends with the time when Daniel shall stand in his lot at the end of the days; commencing more than 500 years before Christ, and ending after the resurrection in the kingdom of God, containing 45 verses, which note the principal events of 25 hundred years.

Again in the Revelation v. 9, the four living creatures and the elders sing a song saying, "Thou art worthy to take the book and to open the seals thereof." Now we know that Christ when he ascended approached the Father and received from him the knowledge of the things contained in the Revelation. See i. v. That song is continued and speaks of events that will not come to pass until the kingdom of God comes, when "Every creature which is in heaven, and on the earth, and under the earth.....gives glory to him that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb for ever and ever." In Dan. xi. 31, we read, "And arms shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the sanctuary of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall place the abomination that maketh desolate." Arms stood on the part of the Romans. They were successful in war; they polluted the sanctuary of strength; they took away the daily sacrifice. This came to pass about A. D. 70. But when did they (the Romans) place the abomination that maketh desolate? This party, or power, which the Romans placed, or put in power, must be in some way, or phase, different from the Romans that placed them, or put them into power.

As said before the events of this verse in their fulfilment may be far distant, the one from the other; that is the placing of the abomination that maketh desolate, may be many years after the taking away of the daily sacrifice. This being the case the Papacy is the power called the abomination of desolation; and history bears testimony to the fact, that the bishop of Rome, and the civil power worked hand in hand together, and in the Justinian epoch, the emperor favored all the claims of the bishop of Rome. But it remained for the Emperor Phocas to complete the work of placing the bishop as the head of all the churches. And in Rev. xvii. 5, the harlot woman is referred to as the mother of harlots and abominations of the earth. And the fact that she has put to death millions of the saints, both Jews and Gentiles, proves her title to be a desolator. If this view be correct there will be no difficulty in understanding the three prophetic periods of Dan. xii. The first is, a time, times, and a half. This evidently is the same as the one in chapter 7, where the saints are given into his hand until "a time, times, and the dividing of time." This one into whose hands the saints are given, is the little horn of the fourth beast, almost universally understood to be the papacy by all Bible students. The time being in connection with nations or earth powers, is invariably symbolic time in prophecy, that is a day for a year; condensation in the symbol, and expansion in the thing symbolized. The seven times of Dan. iv. 32 is literal time, because it has reference to an individual man. Josephus informs us that the seven times was seven years. A time in symbolic prophecy being a year, times two years, half a time six months, making 1260 years, a day for a year. In relation to the application of the 1260 years to the Papacy, an important testimony is found in Rev. xiii. 5, where it reads, "And there was given unto him a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies; and power was given unto him to continue forty and two months." (Margin, to make war.) There is the same number of days in this (forty and two months) as there is in the time, times and a half of Dan. xii. 7. And also the same as the "time, times, and the dividing of time" in Dan. vii. 25, and it is reasonably certain that they all refer to the Papacy, and cover the period of its supremacy, during which it had power "to make war"; when that period came to an end in A. D. 1870. The French being hard pressed by the Germans, withdrew their garrison from Rome; and then the Italians took possession of the city of Rome, and the temporal power of the Pope came to an end. The ending of this prophetic period brings us to the time of the end, when the seal is removed from the book of Daniel, by the ending of this period. See xii. 4.

The papacy came up gradually, thus making it hard to locate the exact time when the 1260 years of its power did commence; but its end is plainly marked in A. D. 1870. And it is significant that going back 1260 years from 1870 brings us to the decree of Phocas, constituting the Roman bishop head of all the churches in A. D., 608-610. Therefore it is reasonable to conclude in the absence of any direct proof, that the three periods of Dan. xii. commence at the same time, that is at the setting up of the abomination of desolation in A. D. 610. The second period of 1290 years brought us to A. D. 1900, which was a period of preparation for war. The 1335 years or third period commenced in 1900, and marks the commencement of the time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation. Dan xii. 1. This period reaches beyond the resurrection to the time when Daniel will stand in his lot. See xii. 13. This period will end in 1945; but at what time in this period the Lord will come is not revealed. If Wm. Miller had taken the reading of the Septuagint, translated from the most ancient Greek manuscript, which reads "unto two thousand and four hundred, then shall the sanctuary be cleansed." He would not have proclaimed that the Lord was coming in A. D. 1844, but in 1944. The signs of the times proclaim that the coming of the Lord is near. This testimony comes to mind, "Be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not, the Son of Man cometh."

GEO. FRANCIS.

How Readest Thou?

"What is written in the law? how readest thou?" Luke x. 26.

"Understandest thou what thou readest?" Acts viii. 30.

"How can I except some man would guide me?" Acts viii. 31.

We can see in these questions that it is very important to understand what we read and what is written, and it is important to know who is the teacher, is he one of God's teachers? Jesus was one of those teachers, Philip was the other. We find that God sent his Son into this world as the greatest Teacher; "for he spake as one having authority." Matt. vii. 29. "Never man spake like this man." John vii. 46. "Rabbi, we know thou art a Teacher sent from God; for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him."

We can see Nicodemus had all confidence in his Teacher, and not only him, but he says: "We know." Then there were others that knew he was God's teacher. I believe he is a safe teacher. He is too great and too good to ever deceive any one of Adam's race. Now, let us hear him when one came to him and asked him a question. Here is the question and answer: "Then said one unto him, Lord, are there few that be saved? And he said unto them, Strive to enter in at the strait gate." Matt. vii. 13. Why strive if all will finally enter in?

Hear again, our great Teacher. "For many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in and shall not be able." Luke xiii. 24.

Again we hear him say: "Because strait is the gate and narrow is the way that leadeth unto life and few there be that find it." Luke xiii. 24.

Brother, Sister, who used this language?

Let us read. "Then came the officers to the chief priests and Pharisees, and they said unto them, Why have ye not brought him? (Christ.)" Those chief priests, officers and Pharisees were enemies of Christ and did not bring him when they were ordered to do so; for when they saw him and heard him speak their courage failed them, then when they returned to the authorities and were asked, "Why have ye not brought him?" their answer was, "Never man spake like this man." John xii. 46-49.

Christ is our model Teacher. Let us see well to it that we do not go beyond his teaching, and if Jesus says, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature, he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, and he that believeth not shall be dammed," (or judged) When the great Teacher stops, let us stop. When he speaks we can speak with safety. There is danger of climbing up some other way as our Teacher says. See John x. 1. Let us look well to what we teach.

Now let us hear from Paul. Remember, Dear Brother, Sister, he was chosen by Christ to the Gentiles. Paul says "Christ is the Captain of our salvation," then we who have enlisted should obey orders, and give no orders that our Captain has not given, dont let us tell a soldier he can disobey orders, if he pleases to do so it will be well with him, he can desert if he choses and when the war is over he will be pensioned with all the rest. I say, dont let us take any chance on this line. Let us hear Paul again in the language, "And being made perfect he became the Author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him." Heb. v. 9. "For as many of you have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ." Gal. iii. 26, 27. Now here, no less than this, sinners are not included, they are not in Christ. We will surely be pensioned if we obey orders, the pension, eternal life in the kingdom of God's dear Son.

Question: If I tell the sinner he will get eternal life in the kingdom of God, whether he obeys or not, will I be safe and will he be safe in believing it? Jer. xxiii. 14-40. "They strengthen the hands of evil doers, that none doth return from his wickedness." Ezek. xiii. 22; Jer. xvi. 19.

This is what John says in his 1st Epistle, 5th chapter: "And this is the record that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son, hath life (in his Son.) He that hath not the Son of God, hath not life." 1 John v. 11, 12.

Is there more than one hope? let us consult Paul, in Eph. iv. "One body and one spirit, one hope." We do not read of many hopes, larger or smaller, for the One hope is the only hope it comprises, the one gospel. The gospel of Christ is the power of God unto salvation to all that obey him. Rom. i. 15, 16.

Paul stops there. Let us who preach the Word stop where Paul does; that is safe ground to stand on. Christ tells us if the blind lead the blind all will fall into the ditch.

Now, dear ones of like precious faith what I have said in this letter for our dear paper, has been said in love of the truth. I do not want to stir up strife in the Church of the living God. Where there is strife it shows that we are yet carnal and walk as men.

My prayer is that we may all speak the same things, that we be perfectly joined together in the same mind and judgment, love as brethren, be pitiful; be courteous, in honor preferring one another, and let the love of Christ dwell in us richly. Grow up unto the Christ who is our living head, and as Paul says, Speak the truth in love. Notice that word Love; without it we are nothing. Paul in 1 Cor. xiii. says Though I speak with tongues of men and angels, and have not love, I am no more than sounding brass or tinkling cymbal. If I had faith so that we could remove mountains, or give our bodies to be burned, and yet be lacking in love, we can never enter the kingdom of God.

Submitted in love of the truth to all the dear ones of like precious faith.

J. S. HATCH.

Selections.

The Land of Goshen.

The Land of Goshen, once a place so beautiful that the Israelites thought it the site of the Garden of Eden, now so desolate it might well be a paradise lost, is yet of sufficient importance to become a field of biblical research for Professor George L. Robinson of Chicago, who gives the result of his personal investigation of its location and history in the current Biblical World, published at the University of Chicago press.

Professor Robinson has taken some interesting photographs of the deserted cities of cities which flourished 400 centuries before Christ, and he recalls the fact that the old capital of Goshen, Saft El-Henneh, was discovered forty miles northeast of Cairo, in 1885 by Naville, the French Egyptologist, who found old monuments on the site bearing the name of the last of the Pharaohs. Today there is only a village with tall palms and sandy suburbs, under which may lie hidden the streets of an ancient city.

For a long time Goshen was a country lost in the mists of historical obscurity, then the student of philology and Egyptology, together with the men interested in biblical fact, entered upon a quest, which Dr. Robinson thinks has made possible the fixing of the pretty definite boundaries for that long waiting place of the Jews. Three modern Egyptian towns, Zagazig, Belbeis, and Tell-el-Kebir, lie at the points of a triangle which inclose Goshen, called the "cradle of the Hebrew nation."

And it is on the northeast frontier of Egypt that the land of Goshen was. Interest to it and its people began when the exodus took place. When Pharaoh talked to Joseph about Jacob, he spoke of it as the best of land, though today long neglect has now reduced it to a barren desert of sand and limestone, powdered with a salt efflorescence from the soil; but the proof of its ancient richness is seen along the banks of the fresh water canal led by Lesseps from the Nile to the great Suez Canal. Wherever water reaches by irrigation from this, Goshen blossoms into wild beauty, showing that moisture alone is needed to make the whole landscape a succession of luxuriant meadows and golden corn fields.

Following the Biblical data as to Israel's movements, Professor Robinson traces the exodus. From the "Hill of the Jews," the probable starting point of those who wished to escape the tyranny of Egypt, there were two routes, one through the land of the Philistines and the easterly one which had been the way by which Jacob came down to the land of Egypt. Centuries after the Bedouins followed this route before the building of the Suez Canal.

"And the children of Israel journeyed from Rameses and pitched in Succoth." Thus runs the cart itinerary, which does not tell of the meaning of "Rameses" and "Succoth." Secular history, however, offers some interesting information concerning Rameses. The letter of an Egyptian scribe describes the place at the time when the Hebrews were there. "I arrived," he writes, "at the city of Rameses Miamun and found it a charming place, with which nothing in or around Thebes can compare. The seat of the court is here. It is pleasant to live in. Its fields are full of good things and life passes in constant plenty and abundance. It has a daily market. Its canals are rich in fish; its lakes swarm with birds; its meadows are green with vegetables; there is no end of the lentils and melons which taste like honey. Its barns are full of wheat and durra and reach as high as heaven. Onions and leeks grow in bunches in the inclosures. The vine, the almond tree, and the fig tree grow in the gardens. There is plenty of sweet wine, the produce of Egypt, which they mix with honey." The enthusiasm of the writer expresses itself volubly through the ideographic language, and he goes on to tell of the flowers and feasts, the processions and celebrations, on the day when they worshiped the god of the city, "They sat there with joyful heart, or walked about without ceasing." That was thirty-six centuries ago.

The beauty of the place did not compensate the Israelites for their slave labor and the making of bricks did not serve to whet their appreciation of the brisk trade and prosperity among their masters, the Egyptians. The Jews were made to dig the canals and fill them with water, to build the dykes about the cities, to quarry blocks of granite and limestone, and then to drag them long distances to palaces or pyramids. Perhaps the bricks made of Nile mud (with or without straw), which are still in the town wall about Rameses, were made by the slaves whom Moses lead over into the land of Canaan. After the ten plagues Moses finally gained Pharaoh's permission to lead the Hebrews out of slavery, and the great City of Rameses was the place of departure. At the close of the day the tents of Succoth were reached, and Professor Robinson believes this to have been a halting place for the caravans. That must have been a sad day, if Geikie's description of its possibilities are to be believed. He says: "Water had been within reach all the way, but many of the women must already have fallen behind, children must have been exhausted and ill, and the cattle must have been jaded."

It was here, across this boggy tongue of the Red Sea, that the Israelites passed in safety, and the heavier troops of the Egyptian pursuers were drowned by the high tide.

To follow this route at the present time is to acquire a vivid realization of the courage of Moses and his followers, and these recent investigations make the possibility of such a journey as Professor Robinson has taken almost alluring, in spite of the desolate pictures.—The Tribune.

WHEN renewing your subscription see if there is not a brother or sister near you who does not take the paper who will if you ask them to. Help us in this way to get a few more new names on our list.

We need a few hundred new subscribers. Now is a good time of year to get them, and we are asking our friends to make an effort in this line. We do not want you labor for nothing, and so make this offer as an inducement to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and what is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War, and an extensive traveler in Africa, has written a book of over 500 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price is put at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1902, making $4.50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, giving them credit to the end of 1902, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help THE RESTITUTION by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

Do you like to get THE RESTITUTION each week and read the articles and letters it contains? Did you ever think that your brother who sits near you would get a like benefit and enjoyment if he had it also? Get him to subscribe for 1902. It will cost you very little to ask him, and you may be the means of doing him good.

Are England, Scotland and Ireland destined, ultimately, to become a part of "The United States of America and Great Britain"? is the startling inquiry which William T. Stead makes in the January Cosmopolitan. He has been one of the prophets of Great Britain, and has, at all times, been able to see in advance of his contemporaries—as events have proven. He has been studying the new conditions brought about by the industrial combinations and reaches the conclusion that England and the United States are destined to be more closely united and that as soon as the English people wake up to the absurdity and generul uselessness, as has been shown in the Boer War, of a king and aristocracy, the trend will be immediate in the direction of a union with the people of the United States. However much one may differ from Mr. Stead, his speculations will be found vastly interesting. He is the first British subject who has had the courage to suggest such an outcome.

WHEN a meeting is held in your neighborhood, and an audition is made to the Church, see that THE RESTITUTION goes to the home of the new convert. It will help to keep them in the right way, and aid in their growth in grace and a knowledge of the truth. See to it that they have the paper regularly.

Any one who can use the services of Bro. L. H. Chesebrough in holding meetings, can address him at Galesburgh, Mich.

IF you are anxious about the well-being of some friend and would like to have him see and embrace the truth, subscribe for this paper to be sent to him. It will talk at times and places that you cant. It may make opportunity for you to say a word that will make you friend a joint-heir with the Lord Jesus Christ. It has been done. Why not try it?

Communicated.

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

Editor Restitution:

It is with a sad heart that I write to you to tell you that I will have to ask you to stop my paper. I cannot raise the means to send for it. I have been sick a good share of the summer, and times are so hard with me, and none of my children believe as I do, in fact they don't believe anything. I live in hopes that something may turn up that I may get the money to send for the paper. I would work out and get the money if I could, but I am not able to do so. I shall miss its welcome visits every week, and I hardly know how I shall do, but I will trust in the Lord and read my Bible all the more. I am a widow all alone, and do not get to hear any preaching. I love to read the letters in the dear old paper, it seems so like a letter to me. Love to all the dear brethren and sisters everywhere.

I remain your sister in the one faith, and may the Lord soon come and end our troubles.

MRS. M—— C——.

[Who wants to pay for this poor Sister's paper? Some one surely will be anxious to have the honor of doing so. It is a privilege—or should be so considered—to be able to aid one of God's poor children. Who will help this one?—ED.]

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

It has been a good while since I heard from many of you, and the time has come that we should speak in behalf of our dear Savior one with another. Dear ones, all of you who are of the one faith, just think what Jesus has done for you and for me; he was hung on the cross and died to save sinners. Dear brothers and sisters, why is it they can't see the truth in its purity, when Jesus tells it so plain?—one faith, one Lord, and one baptism. For my part I shall stand on the solid rock, though all around me is sinking sand.

I am one of the isolated ones, and hear no preaching. There is a church near us but I do not go, as I dislike to hear God's word used so, for they often preach funerals and say, Oh yes, they have gone up to yonder heaven, and are now singing songs with the angels. On the other hand some go to eternal torment. I do hate to hear God's word slandered in any such a way. My faith is so firm it cannot be shaken, as I expect to die in the faith, and expect to be raised at the resurrection morn, for Jesus says this mortal must put on immortality.

All the preaching I have is my Bible and THE RESTITUTION, but as I never had any schooling I cannot read very good, but two years ago I made up my mind to read the Bible through, and by the grace of God I was able to spell through it. I am now sixty years old, and let us never be discouraged or give up, for Jesus is our Friend. I shall have to bring my letter to a close, and wish all to remember me in your prayers. I would like to see you all, but cannot now, and hope to meet you in the kingdom of God.

MRS. R. C. ELLIOTT.

Editor Restitution:

Please allow me a few words in the way of testimony in our very excellent paper, THE RESTITUTION. I question whether there is another paper in the wide world in which there is found so many precious truths. What a pleasure it is to read after such able writers as Brothers Joblin, Wilson, Zilmer, and many others who write for our paper.

I am isolated from those of "like precious faith," but have the blessed privilege of "contending for the faith once delivered to the saints." I cannot converse with any one who is looking for the soon coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. I was reared and educated in the Methodist doctrine, and thought that I believed it, but was induced by a friend to help him on a debate on the question,—"Shall the saints inherit the earth in the future?" We gained the question, and I was astonished to find that my Methodist friends could give no reason for the few Scriptures that I know. From this time on I became a seeker for the truth, and thank God I never rested until I stood on the ice one cold February day and looked down into what seemed to me a real grave. I there renounced the old man and put on Christ in baptism.

I had been a great believer in sprinkling as baptism, and had said if I am ever baptised it will be when the weather is warm. But I was seeking for his footsteps and found them in the obedience of his word. Since then I have been walking as nearly as I can in his footsteps.

Rom. xii. 2 admonishes us, "Be not conformed (fashioned) to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God."

I esteem it a great pleasure to stand for Christ and his truth though surrounded by the doctrines of the day. I love to read the letters of those who are alone in the truth, and say to such I always lift up my voice in prayer for them, knowing what they have to withstand.

Yours for the Truth.

D. C. ROMSON.

To the brethren and sisters:

Although I am young in the Christian growth I will try to write a short letter, hoping it will be accepted. I have only been to two conferences, and have received much benefit from them. I with you believe in the soon-coming of the Son of man, in the resurrection of the dead in Christ, and in the ordinance of baptism, which is an emblem of the death and resurrection of Christ, of the kingdom of God to be placed here on the earth, and the final destruction of the wicked. It seems as if it would be impossible for any one to turn back, and when they have once tasted of the riches and grace of God. I would like to do all that lies in my power, with the help of God. It seems as though we could do more if we would only work together in the name of God.

Yours awaiting his coming.

ROB'T. H. BAIRD.

Editor Restitution:

I would say for the information and encouragement of the brethren, that I am still in the faith. I am almost alone but that does not discourage me. I frequently go out on Sundays and preach the Word. I don't know whether it will do any good or not. I think it our duty to "preach the Word" and do it with as good a will and rejoice in the opportunity knowing that we are working in harmony with God's desire to preach the gospel to all nations. October 18, I got a vacation and took a trip to Oklahoma, stopping at Attica over Sunday and speaking three times. I was well pleased with the meeting and the brethren I met there. From here I went to Augusta, Okla. and out into the country to my brothers where with Brother Oliver we held a ten days meeting. The attendance and interest was good. On the way back I stopped at Windom over night with Brother Barker. He and his daughter are alone but strong in the faith. Now brethren, let us rejoice in the hope of the coming One and give thanks to him who is the Author and Finisher of our faith; for all the blessings he has bestowed upon us and for all the grand things he has prepared for the faithful ones. If any of like faith in this part of the country, Ransom, Kan. would want a meeting and will write to me, possibly we could arrange for one sometime and all get together.

A. W. DARBY.

Editor Restitution:

I wish to announce through this paper that on Sunday Dec. 8, Bro. Brant of Mount Morlab, Ill., baptized Mrs. Carrie E. Stephens, wife of A. C. Stephens, on that day. It being a cold rainy day, five of us drove quietly to the little creek, the candidate, her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Norris, the writer and Bro. Brant, and there he buried her in the likeness of Christ's death. Thus another one has obeyed the great command.

A. C. STEPHENS.

THOSE to whom we have sent letters telling about your accounts have not all made response as yet. Brother or Sister, we urge you to be sure and not neglect this matter longer. We want to pay our obligations—this is the reason why we ask you to give us what is due at once. If we could satisfy those we are under obligation to any other way we would not ask you, but as it is the only way we know of, we must hear from you to enable us to do so. We trust all will see the necessity of this and act NOW.

I once saw a dark shadow resting on the bare side of a hill. Seeking its cause I saw a little cloud, bright as the light, floating in the clear blue above. Thus it is with our sorrow. It may be dark and cheerless here on earth, yet look above and you will see it to be but a shadow of His bright-robed whose name is Love.—Dean Alford.

New Station at Chicago.

Commencing Dec. 29, 1901 all trains on the Nickel Plate Road, during the rebuilding of the Van Buren St. station, will arrive at and depart from the Grand Central station, cor. Fifth Ave. and Harrison St. Chicago.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short and clear statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Latter to a Friend.—This tract is of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 160-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Lectures. A Volume of 288 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

Change in time of Trains on Pennsylvania Lines.

Under a new schedule in effect Nov. 24, 1901, passenger trains on the Pennsylvania Lines leave Plymouth station as follows:

For the East—2:58 a m daily, 2:23 a m daily except Sunday, 2:[illegible] m daily, 5:45 p m daily, 7:55 p m daily extra fare train, 8:30 daily except Sunday, 9:55 p m daily.

For the West—5:15 a m daily, 6:30 a m daily extra fare train, 9:22 a m daily except Sunday, 12:07 p m daily, 2:15 p m daily except Sunday, 6:08 p m daily.

For particular information on the subject apply to J. E. Hanes, Ticket Agent, Plymouth.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

EARLY LESSONS, suitable for young or old, 30 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNK LINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,

General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,

General Immigration & Industrial Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA.

VANDALIA TIME CARD

In effect June 2, 1901.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend	3:05am
No. 14, " "	12:01noon
No. 8, " " "	10:08pm
No 12, Sunday only	9:46am

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute	5:45a m
No. 8, " " "	12:34noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport	7:30pm
No 11, Sunday only	6:36pm

Trains 8 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections. Lake Maxinkuckee Sunday special train due Plymouth south bound at 9:14 a m. Returning leaves Maxinkuckee 5:45 p m.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. Ford,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address public in this list may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Fike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clakenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
D. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, Ill.
W.L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wince, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Schreiville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kean, 4507, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adkins, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Bullard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. R. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stella, Pomona, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Dwiggins, Ontario Cal.
O. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 14, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Guin, Jefferson, Ore.
J. F. Cordill, 508 S Main st, South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 138, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hicklin, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Rush Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth N. J.

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Union Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and D. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. B. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Rensselaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington meet each Sunday at 10 A. M., for Sunday school preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God at Burr Oak, Ind. have preaching every 2d and 4th Sundays at 10:30 a. m. and in the evening. Bible meeting every Thursday evening. Samuel Osborne and G. A. Maxey Elders. Sunday School every Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Georgie Osborne Sec. of the S. S. All are invited to any of the services.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:30, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through the city, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker's, 209 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:30 a. m. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1281½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsboro, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by A. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Eaholman,

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's Hall, Galena Aves., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Bruch Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 A. M. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Knife, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Anthon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Crego.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trundell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Groat of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder. Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or express order. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send so for sly.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. P. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

Poetry.

My Christmas Prayer.

I commit you to Him with tenderest care
That His eye may be upon you to guide every where,
This, this is the burden I bring to his feet,
I ask Him to make you in Jesus complete.

To give you a spirit all trustful and calm,
And cast your hearts in the fount of balm,
But things that will help you more rightly to live,
A refuge from trouble, "A chamber of peace,"
Where all of life's trouble and carping may cease.

Where, hushed in his presence his voice may be heard,
And true and right feelings within you be stirred,
Where naught that annoys an entrance may find,
And strength may be gained for the battle of mind.

Over self and its follies, resentment and hate,
The words that are bitter the leaving too late
Of deeds for your fellows that now should be done,
That the race for New Year may nobly be run.

S. H. WISER.

Original.

Does it Matter What We Believe?

It is understood that this question refers to salvation. It is a common objection that we hear almost every day, when the gospel and its claims are presented that "it matters little or nothing what we believe, as long as we are sincere." Judging from the frequency of this statement, and the persistency and confidence with which it is urged, one is almost led to ask, Is there really such a thing as faith? If so, what is it? The Scriptures make faith very prominent, and even go so far as to say that "Without faith it is impossible to please God." Heb. xi. 6.

Webster briefly defines faith thus: "Assent of the mind to the truth of what is declared by another.....In theology, the assent of the mind to the truth of what God has revealed." In the Bible faith is thus described: "Faith is the substance (margin "ground or confidence") of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen;" or, as Rotherham translates, "Faith is, of things hoped for, a confidence,—of FACTS a conviction, when they are not seen." Heb xi. 1. Thus it will appear:

1. That "faith" has to do with "things" and "facts."

2. These are "not yet seen."

3. But are "hoped for," because "another has declared" them.

4. "Faith comes by hearing." Rom. x. 17.

5. Hearing comes "by the Word of God."

All of which goes to show that God has made certain promises to mankind which they should believe. Does he speak the truth? The Word tells us that "God can not lie." Titus i. 2; Heb. vi. 18.

Having proceeded thus far it should be possible for the candid reader to perceive that it must make some difference as to whether we put faith in the promises of God or not. Since he has seen fit and has taken the time to make a revelation to us, he had an object in so doing; and this revelation coming from him must be of the utmost importance. Words are the vehicles of thoughts. The thoughts of God are not only "very deep" (Psa. xcii. 5), but also very "high." Isa. lv. 8, 9. But he has accommodated himself to our human understanding, and has endeavored in every way to bring his thoughts to us, and us to them. We may not treat lightly the announcement he has made to us of his will, his intention as relating to ourselves.

What, then, are the "things" and "facts" propounded by God, to which we are to give our "assent," in which we are to put "faith," and even "hope for?" We are, as we have seen in former papers, a race of mortals, "of few days and full of trouble." Job xiv. 1. We do not live forever (Gen. iii. 22, 23), as God says of himself that he does. Deut. xxxii. 40. Death is in the world because sin is here. And unless God had devised and provided a way for man to have "life, even length of days for ever and ever" (Psa. xxi. 4), the entire race would be doomed to everlasting death. "The wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Rom. vi. 23. This "life" is the subject of "promise," and is to be obtained [illegible] the fulfilment of certain conditions. "This is the promise that he hath promised us, even life eternal." 1 John ii. 25. Paul expressed himself to Titus as being "in hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before aionion times." i. 2. He could reasonably "hope" for the boon of "eternal life" because it had been "promised," and this, too, by "the God who cannot lie." This promise is not a recent one, but dates back to "aionion times;" and he has shown his intention to bestow this blessing by working (John v. 17) all through the ages (aions) until the appearing of Jesus Christ, who, through the gospel "brought life and immortality to light." 2 Tim. i. 10. He has also announced most clearly the time when, and the class of persons upon whom, he will bestow this life. Faith in Christ Jesus is one of the fundamental conditions to be observed to secure it. John xx. 31; Rom. vi. 23. "Patient continuance in well doing (as well as good intentions) and seeking for glory, honor and immortality," is essential. Rom. ii. 5-7. The present life in the flesh is to be one of faith in the Son of God. Gal. ii. 20. "Lay hold of eternal life." 1 Tim. vi. 12.

But why "believe in Jesus Christ?" Because God has given him power over all flesh that he should give eternal life to as many as the Father had given him. John xvii. 2. "Without faith it is impossible to please God," and hence impossible to obtain the blessings he has conditioned upon faith. The time when "eternal life" is to be "received" by those worthy of it has been stated by Jesus as "the world (aion, "age") to come." Mark x. 30; Luke xviii. 30. It is the "age" that will be introduced by the coming of Christ and "the resurrection from among the dead." Luke xx. 34-36; 1 Cor. xv. 51-54; 1 Thes. iv. 13-18.

Now, what would or will be the result if we do not believe this promise? What if we say, "We are now immortal, and live forever, without faith in Christ. Even the vilest sinner is deathless?" Are we not making God a liar by taking such a position? And can we "hope" to be saved according to his plan, if we put no faith in the latter?

He has also promised a kingdom to "those who love him." Jas. ii. 5. A kingdom which is to be "under the whole heaven" (Dan. vii. 27), "on the earth" (Rev. v. 10), an "everlasting kingdom" (2 Pet. i. 10), to be introduced by the "appearing" of Jesus Christ (2 Tim. iv. 1; Matt. xxv. 31), to be given to those who, during the present dispensation, suffer with Christ, that they may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God. 2 Tim. ii. 12; 2 Thes. i. 5.

What would be the effect of setting up our own views about this matter and refusing to believe "the gospel of the kingdom," as announced and authorized by Jesus, who spoke the words of God? Matt. xxiv. 14; Mark xvi. 10; John xii. 49, 50. "Condemnation" is the word employed by him with reference to such. "What shall be the end of them that obey not the gospel of God?" 1 Pet. iv. 14. This apostolic question is answered by another apostolic statement; that in flaming fire God will take "vengeance on them that ignore God (see Rom. i. 15-32), and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ; who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power." 2 Thes. i. 8, 9.

And yet we find many in our days, including ministers with high educational advantages, who not only hold but teach that "it matters nothing what we believe, just so we are sincere." Had God given no positive statement of his purpose, this contention would have some show of truth; but since he has told us in plain terms what, where, and for whom, the kingdom is to be, we may not flatter ourselves that we will have an entrance into its joys if we disbelieve God and substitute for his words those of our own invention.

He has pronounced a "blessing" on the meek, "for they shall [illegible] earth." Matt. v. 5. "The earth is the Lord's, but the earth hath he given to the children of men." Psa. cxv. 16. When God has given promises that are as plain as the foregoing, why should we not take them in their literal meaning? Or why should we say, "Earth means heaven?" In that case, what does "heaven" mean?

The Scriptures tell us that they that are Christ's are "Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise." Gal. iii. 29. What "promise?" The one referred to in verse 16, "Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made," etc. The same promises that are the subject of frequent mention not only in the Old Testament but in the New as well. "These all died in (Gr. kata: according to) faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers upon the land" (Gee: land). Heb xi. 13. It was the promise of everlasting possession of the land of Canaan by Abraham and his seed; a promise which he believed most implicitly (see Gen. xiii. 14, 15; xv. 7; Rom. iv. 20-25), and which is yet to be fulfilled. The apostle says those who are "strangers from the covenants of promise," have "no hope" and are "without God in the world." Eph. ii. 12. If this statement is true, what must be the condition of those in our days who do not seem to know that these are matters of mention in the Bible? The writer of this has heard preaching all his life from childhood, but cannot recall hearing a single discourse, during the first 30 years of his life, on "the covenants of promise," or even a reference to it in public deliverances. Why preachers should be ignorant of this matter, is not so easy to say. They ought to be thoroughly familiar with them, certainly.

I was once accosted by a young man who introduced himself as a minister. After a short interchange of thoughts he asked about my church relationship. Upon stating to him that "I am a member of the Church of God," he inquired further, "But what do you believe and teach?" Among other things I spoke at some length about "the covenants of promise" both to Abraham and David; and when I had finished he said, "I see your mistake. You take these matters in a literal sense. You must know that the Bible is a Book of symbols and parables, and these things do not mean what they say. Thus men play fast and loose with these verities of God, as if they were child's play. To one they mean this, to another that, but to no one anything definite, and when anxious enquirers seek for light, they are told, "Those are unrevealed matters, no matter where we will be. As long as we are sincere, it matters not what we believe." The young man was a student not yet through school. He seemed an honest youth and spoke his thoughts frankly, and to my mind very faithfully reflected the teaching of those under whose care he was "studying." I asked him to tell me, "Do you study the Bible in your institution?" "No," said he, "I have often thought of this, but the Bible is not made a text book in our course of study, but we read it in connection with our studies." He is not the only one to testify to these facts.

Do we not by disbelieving or disregarding God's promises make him a liar? 1 John v. 10. If we do not believe and hope for what he has actually promised in the plainest terms, how can we believe, as a matter of faith for salvation, what he has not promised? If we do not accept the promise that "the meek shall inherit the earth" (Matt. v. 5), how can we inherit heaven when there is [illegible] promise in the Bible that [illegible] an inheritance there? We [illegible] hope for what has been [illegible], and God in his wisdom has [illegible] fit to promise us heaven. [illegible]der, do not turn away and [illegible]eside; but let us be "sincere" [illegible]ives, with God, and those [illegible] endeavor to instruct. [illegible]ow what God has promised, believe his Word, we [illegible] right to the claim [illegible] which liveth and abideth forever." 1 Pet. i. 23-25.

But let us examine this statement that "it matters not what we believe as long as we are sincere." This claim can be regarded as true only in a very limited sense, even by those who make it. It is not and can not be, a general proposition; for, when put to the test, it will yield results that would not be accepted by those who put it forth. For instance: "Men may be saved no matter what they believe."

There are many idolaters and adherents of pagan religions in the world, who are perfectly sincere in what they believe; therefore they will all be saved. What is wrong with this logic? Nothing; the fault is with the premise, and therefore this unsatisfactory and undesirable conclusion. If the foregoing premise were true, it were very much better not to send missionaries to the "benighted heathen" to convert them to a different way of thinking, for just as certainly as the Bible is presented to them, some will disbelieve it, and unless infidels and skeptics too will be saved "as long as they are sincere," some of them will be lost on account of their unbelief. Men do not act as if they had much faith in this proposition, yet they persistently make it. If "it matters not" to them what they believe, why not just as well believe the plain statements of the Bible as to the nature of man? Why "infer" or "deduce," as they do, the "immortality of the soul" in the absence of a positive statement that man is immortal? Why not be content with God's promise to the meek and the righteous that "they shall inherit the earth?" Why set up all manner of deductions that men are to be transported to heaven, when the Bible does not say so? True "sincerity," it occurs to me, would dictate that we unhesitatingly and gratefully accept God's "exceeding great and precious promises." 2 Pet. i. 4. In matters of this life men are careful what they believe and do, but when the question of eternal life is presented, they would make it appear that any kind of faith with sincerity will answer. What a grave reflection upon the wisdom of God.

There is but "one faith," that is, one true faith (Eph. iv. 4); because there is but "one God," who set forth to us but "one Lord, Jesus the Christ" (1 Cor. viii. 6); the latter proclaimed to dying men but one gospel (Matt. xx. v. 14; Gal. i. 6-8) as the means of salvation. Hence there can be but one faith: "the faith of the gospel" (Phil. i. 27), and there being but one faith, there is also but one hope: "the hope of the gospel." Col. i. 23. This being true it should not be so difficult for the sincere and industrious seeker [illegible] to find the one faith as set forth in the Bible. But some one will say, "There are so many kinds of preaching that it is well nigh impossible for us to know which is the true gospel." But have you thought how kind God was in pointing out to us the way of salvation, and how specific lest we should fail to understand it? What have we to do when we hear "all kinds of preaching" but to "search the Scriptures," as did the noble Bereans, "Whether those things are so." Acts xvii. 11. Paul was an inspired man, a high apostle whose word carried great weight; and yet when he preached to those persons, they "searched whether those things were so." Bring the preaching you hear to this standard, "the Scriptures." Very frequently you will find some death bed scene depicted that may work upon the feelings, but it is in no way related to saving Bible truth.

Really you do not get out of the Bible any more than what you derive by your own effort and in this way appropriate to yourself. You may receive a new thought from the discourse, but that it may do you lasting good, it is necessary for you to assimilate it to your own mental and moral self. Then the result will be as it was with the Bereans of whom "many believed." Acts xvii. 12. The Word of God was presented to them in those Scriptures; they heard and searched this Word and—"faith cometh by hearing." The true source of faith, as touching sal-

Entered at the Postoffice at Plymouth, Ind., as Second Class Matter.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME LI. PLYMOUTH, IND., JANUARY 8, 1902. NUMBER 2.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

Dear Restitution:

We would like to say to the brethren scattered abroad that we are still striving for the mastery; for the signs of the times seem to point to the soon coming of the Prince of Peace, and as we have been admonished "Whatever we have to do, do quickly." This love feast is a grand institution, we can hear from many all over the land. Some of us do not write often. We ought each of us to write at least once a year. I do not see very often any names in THE RESTITUTION from this place, Scholls, Ore., still I know we have some good, working brethren here; those who are striving to do the Master's will; those who are working to keep up the Sunday School; those who help to keep up the social meetings and feel it a privilege to do so, but I am sorry to say, not all. But it is the same the world over. I was thinking, this morning, of the passage of Scripture which reads something like this, (I quote from memory) when our Savior saw so many of his followers leaving him, he turned to his disciples and said, "Will ye also go away?" How he must have felt to have so many leave him. But Peter's answer assured him that some were still true. We sometimes feel when we have worked and tried to help the church along, and still see such a falling away, that we have worked in vain, but the wise man hath said, "Cast thy bread upon the waters and thou shalt receive it after many days." How true it is, that all our trials and troubles are nothing, compared to the sufferings of our Savior, who died for us; or of Paul and the other apostles, all of whom were martyred except one. And so, dear ones, let us hold fast and strive for the mastery, be temperate in all things, that we may obtain an incorruptible crown.

E. E. & ALMIRA BROOKS.

Dear ones of the precious faith:

I inform you by these lines, that I am yet holding on to the hope of the gospel of the kingdom, that is given us in God's Word, and no other; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believe, and obey it; it is a blessed hope, nothing mysterious [illegible] it is [illegible] thing, our minds can grasp it by faith in God's Word, it is not beyond the bounds of time and space, which is just no place at all; for it is beyond everything; but our hope reads like this: "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth." Matt. v. 5. "And hast made us unto our God kings and priests, and we shall reign on the earth." Rev. v. 10. "But the meek shall inherit the earth and delight themselves in the abundance of peace." Psa. xxxvii. "And there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages, should serve him; his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed." Dan. vii. 14. "And the kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heavens shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey him." Dan. vii. 27. Thus, we might go on through the whole Bible, and read our hope, written by holy men of God, who wrote as they were moved by the Holy Spirit. Thus, we can see our hope is not built on the fables of these days of darkness that have covered the earth; and gross darkness the people. This darkness started in the garden of Eden, by the father of all liars; and was first taken up afterwards by the heathen philosophers; and then taken up by the papacy; and then by the other branches of the apostacy, and is now broadcast all over the world. "O yes;" they say: "We all have immortal souls that never die; but goes to heaven when the body dies." There is not a word in the Bible to sustain it. Thus, we see that the darkness has covered the earth and gross darkness the people. O, my brethren, and sisters; may we watch and pray that God may increase our faith and light on his Word that we may keep ourselves unspotted from the world and its false teaching, that will lead us to destruction, and to miss the glory that awaits us. The way is plainly marked out in God's Word; too plain to be misunderstood. Brethren and Sisters, I want to see you all in the kingdom, where we will never part again; where the inhabitants will never say, I am sick; but where sickness, death and sorrow will never be known. O brethren, can we not pray, Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven? I can and do from my inmost soul; or mind. O may we all be ready, is my prayer.

C. P. ALGIRE.

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ:

I am still clinging to the promises made to the faithful ones, and if I continue faithful unto the end I know I will receive the reward that shall be given to all the faithful ones. May the Lord bless you all in your work, is my prayer. I am hoping and waiting for the soon coming of our dear Redeemer.

Your Brother in the one hope of eternal life.

L. D. DECKER.

Dear Brethren and Sisters:

We still rejoice in "The promises made unto the fathers" and believe we are living in the last days, as foretold by the prophets. Surely these are stirring times. Let us keep our eyes well anointed with eye-salve that we may discern the signs of the times in which we live, and watch, and wait, and "hold that fast which we have that no man take our crown" "which the Lord, the righteous Judge will give us at that day," the day of his appearing and kingdom.

Yours, waiting for his appearing.

MRS. C. W. RUSSEL.

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, OFFICE EDITOR.

EDITORIAL COMMITTEE.

J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JAN'Y 8, 1902.

THE City of London is having an epidemic of small pox, hundreds of new cases being reported every week.

ITALY is after Tripoli and the Hinterland, but the Sultan of Turkey is not in the humor to permit a quiet seizure, and is placing troops in readiness for fight.

THE trouble in Venezuela is increasing rapidly, and a fair sized war may be the outcome before it is settled. The revolutionists are determined, and the government lacks money.

THE United States has in hand the Isthmus Canal question. The French projectors of the Panama Canal, on which a vast amount of work has already been done, offer it for the sum of $40,000,000.

WHEN renewing your subscription see if there is not a brother or sister near you who does not take the paper who will if you ask them to. Help us in this way to get a few more new names on our list.

THE Dowager Empress and the Imperial Court entered Pekin and the Sacred City on Tuesday, Jan. 7, and while en route made use of one of the railroads, thus incidentally taking their first ride in a railroad train. Quite a different entrance from their hasty flight before the allied troops of the civilized world.

THE Church in this city had the pleasure of hearing two discourses by Bro. A. R. Zilmer on last Sunday; one on the High Priesthood of Christ, the other on the Signs that our High Priest will soon return from the Holy of Holies to his waiting people. Both were of interest, and their presentation showed careful preparation and thought. We only wish that every brother and sister in the land could have listened to them. In this connection we would call attention to the article on our first page this week, by Brother Zilmer. It is a little longer than he likes to write, but will well repay for more than one careful reading. So don't miss it because of its length. It is worth reading.

Jews' Hope in Palestine.

Last week the "Knights of Zion" held their fourth annual meeting in Chicago. They are the Western arm of the "Zionists" of Europe and the East. They have simply utilized the fraternal organization idea as the best mode of carrying on their work. From 300 last year they now report over 1000. Many of the influential Jews of the City had opposed the movement, and when it was announced that Dr. Emil G. Hirsch and others of his class were to speak at the meeting an added interest was shown.

On Sunday evening, at the Medinah Temple Dr. Hirsch spoke to some two thousand Jews on the situation of the Hebrew race, and we give herewith a report from the Chicago Tribune of the meeting, that our readers may note just the sentiment that is spreading over the world at the present moment. Following is the report:—

"What has America been for all of the Russian Jews who have come to this country—a paradise? No. From the pale of Russian tyranny to the American sweat shop does not spell redemption."

With this statement Dr. Emil Hirsch last night raised 2,000 Jews from the seats in Medinah Temple and set them to cheering until he was forced to stop speaking.

Dr. Hirsch's address was delivered at the closing session of the fourth annual convention of the Knights of Zion, and every inch of space in the hall was occupied in anticipation of his appearance. The attitude of Dr. Hirsch toward the Zionist movement has long been a matter of speculation with those fostering the project to reinstate the Jews in Palestine, hence his remarks were awaited with apparent eagerness. In the audience were many members of his congregation, and their cheers were mingled with those from the orthodox churches.

"I agree with you," said he, "that the condition of 7,000,000 Jews in Russia and Roumania is a blot upon civilization and cries out to heaven for redress. The whole world is stirred by accounts of the treatment of women and children by the British in South Africa. The heart of man is touched by these stories, but the condition of Jews in Russia is much worse than has been told of the reconcentrado camps in South Africa, and while pleas have gone over to England to take its hands from the throats of women and children of the Boers, not a voice speaks for the Jews. This is a sad commentary upon our boasts of progress.

"I furthermore agree with you if these Jews feel they have no country they are justified in seeking a flag they can call their own. I can understand that the country of their fathers spells hope to them. In Palestine their hearts would be lighter, and I would not be a man if I could not understand why the Jews of Russia and Roumania dream of Jerusalem. I agree that if it is practicable to head the stream of emigration from Russia and Roumania to Palestine it would be foolish for me to protest just because I happen to differ with you in a mere theory.

"Is America the home of the immigrant Jew? What has America been for all of the Russian Jews who have come to this country? A paradise? No. From the pale of Russian tyranny to the American sweat shop does not spell redemption. If it is possible in Palestine to make the Jew strong by placing his foot on the soil of his fathers, to plant him where he was when Rome applied the torch to the temple, if it is possible to make him a tiller of the soil, I say take him to Palestine, and God help him. I shall be with you.

"I further agree that the Jews should be in position, if taken to Palestine, to arrange their own forms of government and home affairs; and further agree, if a government were established in accordance with the principles of Judaism, it would be a model modern state. Thus far we have agreed, and all you have to do to convince us of the practicability of the occupancy of Palestine, proceed from agitation to action, and prove what you present in theory.

"I am not altogether of one mind with you. I have a nation and a flag that I am not willing to exchange for a home in Palestine. If we will cease lamenting and begin striking when others strike us, they will soon leave us alone. They will see that the Jew is manly. But while I have a flag and a nation, and believe my nationality to be American, I will not quarrel with others, notwithstanding the fact that I will not be of that nation so long as I am an American.

"The Zionist movement has taught us one lesson, and that is that we cannot be straddlers. We must take one of the two courses open to us. It is not true that we Western Jews have no heart for the oppressed Jews in Russia. When you get to Palestine tell them that it is not true that we are afraid our jobs will be taken away from us, or that our hearts do not beat as warmly as yours. But above all, let us be brothers to illustrate to the world the power and spiritual beauty of Judaism.

"I, a non-Zionist, wish you godspeed in your endeavors to stifle injustice, and to try to bring liberty to the Jews held in a slavery compared to which that in Egypt was a mere bagatelle."

Whatever may be the outcome of this Zionist movement—whether it be in accordance with God's plan to use this means in working out his ends—no man can say definitely, but one thing is certain it is bringing the Hebrew race more prominently before the world of nations, and presents to them a possibility, and so a new question is before them—a new phase of the great "Eastern Question." The student of the prophetic Word can afford to await the development of this affair, knowing that all will be directed aright, because the Master hand is at the helm, and will guide the ship safely to her port.

THOSE to whom we have sent letters telling about your accounts have not all made response as yet. Brother or Sister, we urge you to be sure and not neglect this matter longer. We want to pay our obligations—this is the reason why we ask you to give us what is due at once. If we could satisfy those we are under obligation to any other way we would not ask you, but as it is the only way we know of, we must hear from you to enable us to do so. We trust all will see the necessity of this and act NOW.

WHEN a meeting is held in your neighborhood, and an audition is made to the Church, see that THE RESTITUTION goes to the home of the new convert. It will help to keep them in the right way, and aid in their growth in grace and a knowledge of the truth. See to it that they have the paper regularly.

Original.

When Did the Miraculous Gifts Cease?

Editor Restitution:

Will some brother, well posted in the Scriptures (would prefer Bro. W. H. Wilson), answer the following questions in the columns of THE RESTITUTION? Mark xvi. 15, 16, 17 and 18. The signs that were to follow them that believe. Was that gift taken away (as some say) from the church under the Laodicean state as recorded in Rev. iii. 14? If so, did not the preaching of the gospel cease at the same time? These questions are asked for the sake of truth.

Yours for truth and right,
F. T. GR[illegible].

ANSWER.

I am well aware of the fact that questions like the above have troubled many thousands of people, but I do not see why they should [illegible] as they are not difficult to so[illegible] if it needs is a little com[illegible] cation of Holy Scripture.

Let us look at them briefly under the following heads:

1. To whom given.
2. When and how.
3. For what purpose.

TO WHOM GIVEN.

It was first given to Jesus. The Spirit was given to him without measure; and the works that he performed were the express evidence of his divine mission, and that he was sent from God. See John v. 36; "But I have greater witness than that of John; for the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me." The works that Jesus performed were given to prove that his mission was of divine authority.

Next, it was given to his disciples for a like purpose, and before taking his departure, he said: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father." John xiv. 12.

Now these works that they should perform were given for a similar purpose to his own, namely, for the purpose of WITNESS-BEARING, and the works would be evidence that their witness was TRUE. See Acts i. 8: "But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you; and ye shall be witness unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost parts of the earth." Now, while they were all gathered together according to Jesus' instructions the power came upon them. "Now when this was noised abroad, the multitude came together, and were confounded, because that every man heard them speak in his own language. And they were all amazed and marvelled, saying one to another, Behold are not all these which speak Galileans? And how hear we every man in our own tongue, wherein we were born? Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the dwellers in Mesopotamia, and in Judea, and Cappadocia, in Pontus, and Asia, Phyrgia, and Pamphylia, in Egypt, and in the parts of Libya about Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, Jews and proselytes. Cretes and Arabians, we do hear them speak in our tongues the wonderful works of God. And they were all amazed, and were in doubt, saying one to another, What meaneth this? Acts ii. 6 12.

It means the fulfilment of that which is spoken of in Mark xvi. 17, 18: "And these signs shall follow them that believe; in my name shall they speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover." Now these signs did NOT follow ALL BELIEVERS but simply those who were WITNESS-BEARERS. Each witness had his own special gift for service he was to perform; all the gifts were not manifest in one person. See 1 Cor. xii. 8-11; "FOR to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom; to another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit; To another the gifts of healing by the same Spirit. To another the working of miracles; to another prophesy; to another discerning of spirits; to another divers kinds of tongues; to another the interpretation of tongues."

The church as a whole did not all have these gifts, but those who did have special gifts were instructed to use them in such a manner that the church as a whole may be edified and built up. See 1 Cor. xiv. 12-14; "Even so ye, for as much as ye are zealous of spiritual gifts, seek that ye may excel to the edifying of the church. Wherefore let him that speaketh in an unknown tongue pray that he may interpret. For if I pray in an unknown tongue, my spirit prayeth, but my understanding is unfruitful."

See also verses 3-5: "But he that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort. He that speaketh in an unknown tongue edifieth himself; but he that prophesieth edifieth the church. I would that ye all spake with tongues, but rather that ye prophesied; for greater is he that prophesieth than he that speaketh with tongues, except he interpret, that the church may receive edifying."

If the church as a whole had these gifts there would be no need of interpreters, etc. These miraculous gifts were only given to make more effective some service.

HOW GIVEN.

I have already given the account of the Spirit's reception on the day of Pentecost. The next baptism of the Holy Spirit was given to the Gentiles at the house of Cornelius. See Acts x. 44: "While Peter yet spake these words, the Holy Ghost fell on all them which heard the word. And they of the circumcision which believed were astonished, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was poured out the gift of the Holy Ghost. For they heard them speak with tongues, and magnify God. Then answered Peter, Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, which have received the Holy Ghost as well as we?" The Holy Spirit has never been received by baptism, except in the two cases above mentioned.

It was also given by the laying on of the Apostle's hands. See Acts viii. 13-19: "Then Simon himself believed also and when he was baptized, he continued with Philip, and wondered, beholding the miracles and signs which were done. Now when the apostles which were at Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the Word of God, they sent unto them Peter and John: Who, when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receive the Holy Ghost. For as yet he was fallen upon none of them; only they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. Then laid they their hands on them and they received the Holy Ghost. And when Simon saw that through laying on of the apostle's hands the Holy Ghost was given, he offered them money, saying, give me also this power that on whomsoever I lay hands, he may receive the Holy Ghost." We have no other evidence that miraculous gifts were given in any other way than by the TWO BAPTISMS referred to, and by the LAYING ON OF THE APOSTLES HANDS. We have NO EVIDENCE that others besides the apostles had the power to give these gifts to others by the laying on of hands, or by any other method whatever.

FOR WHAT PURPOSE?

I have already given some evidence that it was GIVEN FOR SERVICE, and only imparted to those who were selected to perform that service.

Mark xvi. 19, 20, tells exactly what the "SIGNS FOLLOWING" were given for. We don't need to guess at it, or indulge in any fanciful notions or theories, but accept the statement as there given. It reads as follows: "So then, after the Lord has spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God. And they went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them, and confirming the Word with signs following. Amen." Notice specially the phrase, "the LORD WORKING with them," CONFIRMING THE WORD with the signs following."

Is the Word confirmed? or is it not? After the "Word" was CONFIRMED, the "signs following," had accomplished their work, and having accomplished their purpose what need is there that they should be further continued?

The Scriptures indicate that the time would come when

"THEY SHALL CEASE."

See 1 Cor. xiii. 8: "Charity never faileth: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away." These gifts we clearly see are to "fail," "cease" and "vanish away," when the Word was confirmed, but the "faith," and the "hope" born of faith, crowned with "love" would "abide."

WHEN?

Our correspondent asks: "Was that gift taken away under the Laodicean state?" I should answer No. The apostles ALONE had the power to confer that gift by the laying on of hands, and those to whom it was given had no power to give it to others; so consequently the special miraculous gifts must naturally cease with the lives of those who received it from the hands of the apostles; and hence must cease before the Laodicean state of the church was reached.

Our correspondent further asks: "If so, did not the preaching of the gospel cease at the same time?"

I would answer, not by any means, it was the time then to commence the preaching of the gospel in good earnest when the special "signs" ceased, because the Word was then "fully confirmed," and the way was "fully prepared" to send out the grand old gospel, with the power of a confirmed Word to back the message.

We now have a gospel that is fully "confirmed" by "signs," "wonders," "miracles," and "gifts of the Holy Ghost." See Heb. ii 3, 4: "How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was 'confirmed' unto us by them that heard him; 'God' also 'bearing them witness,' both with 'signs' and 'wonders,' and with 'divers miracles,' and the 'gifts of the Holy Ghost,' according to his will."

The "signs" were "not" to continue co-temporaneous with the gospel, but to "cease" when the message was completed, "confirmed." The "signs following," confirmed that "which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord," (Mark i. 14, 15) and was also "confirmed unto us by them that heard him," (Mark xvi. 17, 20) with "signs," "wonders," "gifts," "miracles," etc.

It certainly could not be the time to cease preaching the gospel when the signs have confirmed the Word. The Word being so fully confirmed, and backed so completely by divine authority the question is seriously asked, "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" The gospel or "great salvation," being so completely authenticated no one can find a just excuse for its neglect, and there is no chance for "escape," for those who would dare to "neglect" that which God has so fully confirmed by the signs following. The SIGNS have CEASED, but the WORD ABIDES.

W. L. WILSON.

He said Nothing about Heaven.

The writer was in Washington, D.C. last Sunday, and went to church with my only Sister, who has recently commenced reading THE RESTITUTION.

The church we attended is noted for the number of old people that attend its services. They come in couples—Brother C. and wife, Brother W. and wife, etc. I thought if I was a preacher I would go a little out of the way to try and make my words suited to the conditions before me. It looked like the preacher had fixed up a little talk about Rome and Greece and some adjacent provinces. His text was about the beginning of the gospel of Jesus the Christ. He referred to John the Baptist's utterance "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world," etc. He did not attempt to explain what the "sin of the world" is, whether it refers to what is called original sin, handed down to us from our first parents; or whether it means the universal tendency of mankind to ignore the claims of Jesus—reject the Lamb of God—God's salvation symbolized in types and ceremony, all down the centuries. I incline to the opinion that it means original sin, because so many human beings have not yet heard of God's salvation yet—the story of Jesus must be told, heard, before it can be rejected.

How can the sin be taken from such as reject Jesus? Do you know? Will God's mercy reach them in some way? I cannot see in what way. Jesus is God's mercy, God's Lamb, God's plan. If we reject all of God's plans, what can we expect?

The preacher said John's utterance, "Behold the Lamb of God," etc., was all right, but he said nothing about heaven. He intimated that John had not learned yet how believers, all, are taken to heaven. I told Brother C to tell the preacher that if he would read his Bible close, he would find that none of the writers or preachers in the Old or New Testament Scriptures had any thing to say about how believers get to heaven at death or at any other time. So far as I have read our Lord has not once referred to it—not even once.

Our preachers have surely got away from John the Baptist's style of living and preaching too. He had nothing to say about heaven. Strange that Paul would not venture a little talk on it, but he don't. He does tell us however, much about the return of Jesus, and how he will raise the dead, and change the living then, but not a word does Paul say about any one taken to heaven.

ISAAC MCCURRY, SR.

P. S.—Is it strange that the spiritualists say they can bring back our dead, and have them tell us so many pleasant things about their own new environments? The churches are responsible for all the nonsense and fraud practiced by these ghost manipulators.

How is it possible for Isaac McCurry to shout soaring through the air, or any where else, when I am death's prisoner? I hope one day to sing a song of praise unto him who has redeemed me, but it will not be possible while "This poor lisping, stammering tongue, lies silent in the tomb." I must wait till the gospel hope is consummated—resurrection morn. When we sing in God's house we should use words of truth. I. McC.

Resurrection of the Body.

It is sometimes supposed that the ancient people of God knew little or nothing about the resurrection of the body, but this is a great mistake. Paul says the Jews of his time allowed that there should be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and the unjust. He declared before Agrippa that it was the great hope in all the incessant services of the twelve tribes of Israel to attain to the resurrection of the just. He also affirmed of some who suffered for the faith in former ages that they refused deliverance from torture, "that they might obtain a better resurrection." All through the Old Testament the references are numerous and plain touching the rising up again of those who have fallen under the power of death and the grave. And here the voice comes to us from Babylon, attested by the angel of God through Daniel the prophet, that in the same period in which the anti-christ shall be revealed, "many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake." It is not a figurative resurrection that is spoken of, for it is "to everlasting life." It is not a spiritual resurrection of bodies, for spirits are not sleepers in dust of the earth. It is not a general or universal resurrection, but eclectic and particular, for it is predicated only of "many"—many of, or many from among—leaving others of whom it is not predicated. Great and awful has been the reign of death! Who can tell the associations of grief and pain, of dismay and agony, of streaming tears and broken hearts, of blasted hopes and ruined plans, of speechless misery and shattered reason, of desolate homes and bleeding affections, of darkness, misery and gloom, which throng around that chilling word—death?

Everywhere and in everything is death—resistless, gloomy, all-levelling death. Its subjects mingle with the soil of every clime and crowd the hidden depths of every sea. Nearly two hundred generations, with all their power, have gone down under its dark dominion, without a single representative left. And every tick of the clock, through all the hours and days and nights and weeks and months and years, without cessation, is the death knell of scores of mortals, swept from friends and homes to the silent world of them that sleep in the dust of the earth.

But those sleeping myriads shall not sleep forever. There shall come a trumpet-voice before which even death shall cower and all his bands dissolve. Rocky vaults and sepulchres, though sealed for ages and to the living lost, and all the deep incisions in "God's Acre," and the hidden places whither the dead have been borne or laid away by loving hands, shall open to set their tenants free. All the dingy doors of the grave shall be lifted from their hinges, and all within be called to bid farewell forever to all the mould and dampness of that sombre realm. For thus saith the holy apostle: "I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him..... For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words." 1 Thes. iv. 13-18.—Voices from Babylon.

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

Poetry.

Joy that Satisfies.

The perfume of the garden flowers
That makes the air like balm,
The stillness of a summer day
With all its restful calm,
Glad news from home when far away
That fills the heart with song,
The whispered words of tender love
That linger there so long.

The thought that wakens in the soul
A dream of future bliss,
The idols wrought of earthly things
That promise happiness,
Are not the sweetest things below;
The blossoms quickly fall,
The blasts of winter sweep the earth
As with a funeral pall,

And changes come with fleeting years:
The love is not for aye,
The dreams but flash across the brain,
The idols are of clay.
But hark, O wanderer on life's seas,
Give ear and I know this truth,
There is a joy to satisfy
Old age and buoyant youth.

The joy of Christ when here on earth
Was in the souls set free,—
Those purchased once, his joy and crown
For evermore will be.—
And we may know that rapturous bliss
And revel in the thought
Of all the wondrous gloria in things
That humble prayer hath wrought.

Then let us pray, and as we pray
Believe our prayers are heard.
There's power today, as long ago,
Through faith in God's own Word.
And joy will come to satisfy,
To waken songs of praise,
And we shall see a glory shine
To brighten all our days.

—Elizah H. Morton.

Communicated.

Blessing the Nations.

Dear Restitution:

I see some of the brethren are making inquiry through your papers, concerning the nature of the blessings, what they are and how they are bestowed on the mortal nations. Will you please allow me space in your good paper to place a few thoughts among the good articles that I see from other brethren?

First, I see in Gen. xii. that God promised Abraham that he would bless all the families of the earth in him and his seed; also, he promised to make him a father of many nations and said his name should no more be called Abram, but Abraham; for a father of many nations have I made thee. Gen. xvii. 5.

Now, if we believe God as Abraham did, when his faith was counted to him for righteousness, we also must believe God will make the many nations just as he promised he would do: so it yet remains for Abraham to become a father of many nations, that he can be considered the father of the great nation, which is Israel, and which was organized as a nation with God himself King, to take its place among the other nations, and truly it was the greatest nation on the earth, having God as King over them.

Now among all the nations of the earth there has never been a nation so great, nor with such high honor as the nation of Israel. We see that promises have literally been fulfilled, and we believe that he will fulfil his promises in bringing Abraham out from the care of the grave to an inheritance of the land promised.

Now, what about the blessings to come to all nations in the seed of Abraham? And who is the seed? It will be impossible to bless all nations according to his promises until the seed is complete, and Christ is the seed. See Gal. iii. 16.

We also make the Body of the Christ through whom the blessings are to come to all nations. Now, I believe some one has asked, What is the blessing? or in what way are the nations to be blessed? I know that most of our brothers believe that the blessings consist in the offer of salvation through the preaching of the gospel age; but let us take another look at our Bible and we will see in Gal. iii. 8, and the Scriptures foreseeing that God would justify the heathen through faith preached unto Abraham before the gospel, saying in thee shall all nations be blessed.

Now we see that faith is the substance of things hoped for, (remember things mean more than one thing) the evidence of things not seen; by it the elders obtained a good report. Heb. xi. 1-2. Who are the elders save Abraham, Isaac and Jacob? They all believed the promise of God, and if we are the seed who are to bless the nations, we must be the seed of Abraham; therefore we must walk in the steps of that faith of our father Abraham. 1 Rom. iv. 12. Now, that we may see clear the foot prints of the steps in the faith of Abraham, see Rom. iv. 17-18, "As it is written, I have made thee a father of many nations, before him whom he believed, even God, who quickeneth the dead and calleth things which be not as though they were. Who against hope believed in hope, that he might become the father of many nations, according to that so shall thy seed be." See 20. He staggered not at the promise of God, through unbelief, but was strong in faith, giving glory to God. No. 21, And being fully persuaded that what he had promised, he was able to perform.

Now from the foregoing we can see that God had promised to bless all nations; also to make Abraham a father of many nations, which has never been done as yet; still God caused Abraham to believe it and that he, God, was able to make him a father of many nations, and bless in him and his seed all the nations of the earth. And as we are commanded to walk in the steps of that faith of our father Abraham in order to be the seed through whom the blessings are to be brought, I fear, and believe and look forward to the fulfilment of all the promises that God made to Abraham and his seed.

Then there is a glorious work for Abraham's seed in the future, when the kingdom of God shall come and the dead are raised up to be crowned kings and priests. See Gen. xi. 5 6. Neither shall thy name any more be called Abram, but thy name shall be called Abraham; for a father of many nations have I made thee, and I will make thee exceedingly fruitful, and I make nations of thee, and kings shall come out of them. And I will establish my covenant between me and thee; and thy seed after thee in their generations for an everlasting covenant, to be a God unto thee and thy seed after thee. I will give unto thee and thy seed after thee the lands wherein thou art a stranger, all the land of Canaan for an everlasting possession. And I will be their God also. See Ver. 15 16. And the Lord said unto Abraham, as for Sarai, thy wife, Thou shalt not call her name Sarai, but Sarah shall her name be, and I will bless her, and give thee a son also of her; yea, I will bless her, and she shall be a mother of nations. Kings of people shall be of her.

Now, we will look after the nations and kings of Abraham, and Sarah, his wife. First, we will look after the kings that were to come out of Abraham, which we will find to be the ones which walk in the steps of the faith of Abraham. Rom. iv. 12; Gal. iii. 16. Now to Abraham and his seeds were the promises made. He saith not, and to the seeds as of many, but as of one which is Christ. No. 17. And this I say that the covenant that was confirmed before of God in Christ, the law, which was four hundred and thirty years after, cannot disannul that it should make the promises of none effect.

Now, what were the promises? First of all the land of Canaan for an inheritance. All nations to be blessed. Kings to come out of him; to be a father of many nations. He believed God and hoped to receive all these things; hoped to see his seed bless all nations. Whom do we find to be his seed? In Gal. iii. 16 Paul tells us it is Christ. 26, 27, 28 and 29. For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus; for as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female; for ye are all one in Christ Jesus, and if you be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise. Now what would be according to the promise? Why to inherit the land promised to bless and bless the nations.

Now, the next thing is how will he bless the nations. See Rom. v. 9, 10. And they sing a new song, saying thou art worthy to take the book and open the seals thereof; for thou wast slain and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood. Out of every kindred and tongue and people and nation; and made us unto our God kings and priests. And we shall reign on the earth. Now this settles the matter as to the kings. They are the seed of Abraham; they who have walked in the steps of that faith of Abraham. They become kings and are the kings who shall rule the nations blessed, when all things are restored. See Acts iii. 19. Repent ye therefore and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord. So we see that the old sin-cursed world will be refreshed, renewed brought out from from under sin, taken from the hands of old Satan, and the nations placed under a government which will be in the care of new officers and the resting take place. The seed is now being taken out from among the Gentiles through this gospel age to bless all the nations of restitution, bring them back in reach of the tree of life. No. 23, And it shall come to pass that every soul which will not hear that prophet, shall be destroyed from among the people. (Second death) those that disobey the laws of the second Adam, yea, all the prophets from Samuel and those that follow after us many as have spoken have likewise foretold these days—these days of restitution. No. 25, Ye are the children of the prophets, and of the covenant, which God made with our faith, saying unto Abraham, And in thy seed shall all the kingdoms of the earth be blessed. How plain this is! All kingdoms have a blessing in store for them and it will take place when the refreshing comes from the presence of the Lord, and he shall send Jesus Christ which the heavens must receive until the times of the restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all the holy prophets since the world began. No. [illegible] Unto you first, God having raised his Son Jesus Christ, sent him to bless you in turning away every one of you from his iniquities. How plain it is here stated that the blessings will consist of turning them away from their sins and Israel is the first to be blessed, and that blessing is turning every one from sin and toward God, then all kindreds of the earth will be rescued to God. What a blessing it will be to all!

The nations of the earth will be placed in reach of the tree of life—everlasting life which Adam was guarded away from by the flaming sword. Now it will be brought back and all nations invited to come and take the fruit from the tree of life and eat and live forever. Rev. xxii. 1-2. And he showed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out from the throne of God and of the Lamb. Should any of those nations be permitted to drink of this river, they would get everlasting life in the midst of it, and on either side of the river was there the tree of life which bear twelve manner of fruits, and yields her fruit every month, and the leaves of the tree are for the healing of the nations. No. 3. And then there shall be no more curse; but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him. Ver. 4. And they shall see his face and his name shall be in their foreheads. The tree of life from which Adam was guarded lest he should return into the garden and take the fruit, eat it and live forever. Now in the returning age all nations shall be returned or brought back to the first state of man. Before sin entered the world, the leaves of the tree had healing virtues in them and the nations were healed by them. What a blessing to be bestowed on the nations in the seed of Abraham, being placed in reach of the tree of life, whose leaves will heal them of all the infirmities which have come to them through Adam's sin, and the same tree indened with fruit that will impart everlasting life as it would to Adam, had he not been guarded away from it. All these things remain to be brought about by the seed of Abraham, which is Christ, and they that are Christ's at his coming.

Now see Dan. vii. 13, I saw in the night, visions and behold, one like unto the Son of Man. Remember at this time he receives glory and a kingdom and dominion—a kingdom that all people, nations and languages should serve him. His dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall last forever and his kingdom shall not be destroyed.

In duration the dominion and kingdom are the same and shall not pass away, and the other shall not be destroyed. In the dominion will be the nations which are not worthy to to enter into the kingdom of the Lord and will be blessed by the seed of Abraham, who will rule over them.

Dan. vii. 27, And the kingdom and dominion and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heavens shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High, whose kingdom shall be everlasting, and all dominion shall serve him and obey him.

Psalm lxxii. 8, He shall have dominion also from sea to sea, and from the river to the ends of the earth. Ver. 11, Yea, all kings shall fall down before him. All nations shall serve him. No. 17, His name shall endure forever. Yea, his name shall be continued as long as the sun; and men shall be blessed in him. All nations shall call him blessed. Just as long as the sun shall continue, just that long will the seed of our father Abraham be blessing men.

One more from Isaiah, and I will say no more this time. Isa. ix. 6, 7, "For unto us a child is born, unto us a Son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulders, and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the mighty God, the everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace. And of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David and upon his kingdom to order it and establish it; hence we see that there is no end to the increase of his government, and no end to the blessing of the nations. God speed the time when the seed will commence to take the earth and bless the nations is my prayer.

GEO. KIDWELL.

Report of Labor.

I left home by the call of the Evangelical Board on Saturday, Nov. 30, arriving at Noblesville in the evening. Went at once to Brother M. M. Bennett's and found them all well, staying there over night. While there I was introduced to a neighbor, and such a Scriptural subject was under [illegible] not in a heated way, but [illegible] of the Master, in love and meekness. We talked first on spiritualism, and then on fore-ordination and predestination, in which the gentleman believed to some extent. He was willing, however, to listen to a "thus saith the Word."

We then went to the subject of baptism, which was continued till near midnight. In the morning we had the pleasure of another talk till nearly noon, when I had to go to the place of meeting.

Began our meetings Sunday evening and as the first week progressed the attendance was fair and good interest was manifested. The second week it was storming, and on Dec. 14, it was so cold we had no meeting. Sunday afternoon we held services at Brother Wiechel's house, for the benefit of his children.

On Monday night I held meeting in Brother Bennett's house at Noblesville, and several of his neighbors and friends gathered in to hear the Word of God. There were no accessions to the church, and we only hope the seed sown will find lodgement in good and honest hearts, and springing up bring forth fruits fit for the kingdom of the Master.

And it not been for the sudden cold coming which hindered from continuing the meetings, I think some might have obeyed. Eighteen discourses in all were given, and we returned home Dec. 17.

The following officers were chosen at this place for the year: Elder, Norton Wiechel, Deacon, M. M. Bennett, Sec. and Treas. J. T. Crickmore. The resolutions adopted at our last Conference was adopted by the Church at Ollo.

Your Brother in hope.
G. W. SMITH.

Dear ones of like precious faith:

May the God of Israel be ever our Guide, is my prayer. I was in attendances at the Waterloo, Iowa, Conference, enjoyed it well except one thing and that was, too much contention and division among the brethren, too many isms and ideas advanced. I think we should take Paul's admonition "to be of one mind, in love," and not so much contention and division among us. Don't you think there is too much of that kind of spirit found? Let us be more of one mind, serving the Lord.

Your Brother, in Christ.
GEO. W. HAYNES.

Selected.

The Righteous and Wicked.

Mark the perfect man and behold the upright for the end of that man is peace. But transgressors shall be destroyed, the end of the wicked shall be cut off."

We are hereby persuaded to patience and confidence in God by the different estate of the godly and the wicked. What glorious promises are held forth to the child of God. From Genesis to Revelation there is not one passage of Scripture found where God has not promised to uphold and keep those who trust in him.

We are commanded to fret not ourselves because of evil doers, neither be envious against the workers of iniquity. No matter what the position of a wicked man is, he may be rich and possessed with goods and have need of nothing. He may have great honors and, spreading himself "like a green bay tree," flourish awhile in his wickedness. But we are to remember the admonition and wait patiently in the Lord; for whatever the seeming prosperity of the wicked, they are sure to be cut down like the grass and wither like the green herb.

And all that a wicked man possesses in this world will be of small account when he shall have consumed away like the fat of lambs, and there is no place found for him. While, on the other hand, the perfect and upright man, however poor in this world's goods he may be, even like the Savior, having no place to lay his head, yet, if he is an heir to the inheritance, he is to possess the whole earth, inherit the land promised to Abraham and to his seed forever. Then do not let us get discouraged while "toiling here below." Every good thing promised in God's holy Word is for you and for me if we are found leaning on the "Everlasting Arms."

Our Coming Lord.

I don't want to teach anything dogmatically, on my own authority; but to my mind this precious doctrine—for such I must call it—of the return of the Lord to this earth is taught in the New Testament as clearly as any other doctrine in it; yet I was in the church fifteen or sixteen years before I ever heard a sermon on it. There is hardly any church that doesn't make a great deal of baptism, but in all Paul's epistles I believe baptism is only spoken of thirteen times, while it speaks about the return of our Lord fifty times; and yet the church has had very little to say about it. There are three great facts foretold in the Word of God: First, that Christ should come; that has been fulfilled. Second, that the Holy Ghost should come; that was fulfilled at Pentecost, and the church is able to testify to it by its experience of his saving grace. Third, the return of our Lord again from heaven: for this we are told to watch and wait "till he come." Look at that account of the last hours of Christ with his disciples. What does Christ say to them? If I go away I will send death after you to bring you to me? I will send an angel after you? Not at all. He says: "I will come again and receive you unto myself." If my wife were in a foreign country, and I had a beautiful mansion all ready for her, she would a great deal rather I should come and bring her to it than to have me send some one else to bring her.

It is perfectly safe to take the Word of God just as we find it. If he tells us to watch, then watch! if he tells us to pray, then pray! If he tells us he will come again, wait for him! Let the church bow to the Word of God, rather than try to find out how these things can be. "Behold, I come quickly," said Christ.

Some people say, I believe Christ will come on the other side of the millennium." Where do you get it? I can't find it. The Word of God nowhere tells me to watch and wait for the coming of the millennium, but for the coming of the Lord.

But how is he going to come? We are told how he is going to come. When those disciples stood looking up into heaven at the time of his ascension, there appeared two angels, who said unto them: "Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? This same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as you have seen him go into heaven." Acts i. 11. How did he go up? He took his flesh and bones up with him. "Look at me; handle me; a spirit has not flesh and bones as ye see me have." I am the identical one whom they crucified and laid in the grave. Now I am risen from the dead and am going up to heaven. He is gone, say the angels, but he will come again just as he went.

"Behold, I come quickly," said Christ to John; and the last prayer in the Bible is, "Even so, Lord Jesus, come quickly." Were the early Christians disappointed, then? No; no man is disappointed who obeys the voice of God. The world waited for the first coming of the Lord, waited 4,000 years, and then he came. He was here only thirty-three years, and then he went away. But he left us a promise that he would come again; and as the world watched and waited for his first coming, and did not watch in vain, so now, to them who wait for his appearance, shall he appear a second time unto salvation.—D. L. Moody.

"If Christ Should Come To-Morrow."

What would we wish to do if we were perfectly sure that Christ was coming to-morrow? That question asked honestly and answered frankly shows certain weak spots in our lives. The chances are that the time would seem all too short for righting little wrongs, for healing wounds of long standing, for speaking words that have risen to our lips countless times, for accomplishing the small kindnesses which we have kept postponing from one day to another.

Perhaps some day we receive word that a dear friend who had been long absent is coming home again. Every morning as we wake we say to ourselves, "Perhaps he will come today." And when night falls without his appearing, we comfort ourselves with the thought, "Perhaps he will come tomorrow.

With this hopeful anticipation we should look forward to the Master's coming. Anxious self-examination to see whether or not we are prepared, is what might be expected of a paid servant. Fear and shrinking are more fitting for a slave. But the one who is looking forward to greeting the friend he loves, seemingly sees the hours pass and waits with happy confidence for the morrow.

Christ sends no warning of his coming. His arrival will be a surprise, pleasant or unpleasant according to our preparation. If day after day we are doing our best, we shall be glad to welcome him at any hour. But if we are counting on setting our house in order just in time to be ready for him, the chances are a thousand to one that we shall be found in the midst of impurity and disorder, and shall stand shamed and humiliated before him, without a single excuse to offer for our lack of preparation.

We believe it is the duty of every member of the Church of God to support THE RESTITUTION by subscribing for it.

A Timely Petition.

Oh, my Savior, hasten the time of thy return! Delay not, lest the earth should grow like hell, and thy church by division be all crumbled to dust; delay not, lest thy enemies get advantage of thy flock, and lest pride and hypocrisy, sensuality, and unbelief prevail against thy little remnant, and share among them thy whole inheritance, and, when thou comest, thou find not faith on the earth; delay not, lest the grave should boast of victory, and, having learned rebellion of its guests, should refuse to deliver thee up thy due! Oh, hasten that great resurrection day, when thy command shall go forth, and none shall disobey; when all that sleep in the grave shall awake; and the dead in Christ shall rise first; when the seed which thou sowest corruptible shall come forth incorruptible; and graves that received rottenness and dust, shall return to thee glorious stars and suns! Therefore dare I lay down my carcass in the dust, intrusting it, not to a grave, but to thee; and, therefore, my flesh shall rest in hope, till thou shalt raise it to the possession of everlasting rest. Return, O Lord, how long? Thy desolate bride saith, "Come," for thy Spirit within her saith, "Come," and teacheth her thus to pray with groanings which cannot be uttered; yea, the whole creation saith, "Come," waiting to be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God. Thou thyself hast said, "Surely I come quickly." Amen. Even so, come, Lord Jesus.—Richard Baxter.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending THE RESTITUTION to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the donors request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

Mrs H E Paddock	5 00
J Gardiner	1 00
J F Pierson	50
Mrs J Willen	3 50
Almon Dwight	50
Dr J T Smith	3 50
Eugene Lent	1 50
Henry Smith	3 50

Do you like to get THE RESTITUTION each week and read the articles and letters it contains? Did you ever think that your brother who sits near you would get a like benefit and enjoyment if he had it also? Get him to subscribe for 1902. It will cost you very little to ask him, and you may be the means of doing him good.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Poetry.

The Voice in the Storm.

Not always under calm and sunny skies
The Lord doth meet us, though we seek him there,
Eager to hear him talk of lilies fair,
And utter parables that make men wise.

Nor do we find the One whose word we prize
Always at feasts, though he doth love to share
Our social joys; and when we feasts prepare,
'Tis he with better wine our want supplies.

But sometimes on the wing of storm he comes,
In the deep midnight of our black despair;
'Mid raging waves and winds that never cease,
When the helm fails us, and the cold benumbs
Our helpless hands,—then, as we lift our prayer,
He speaks, and lo! our hearts are filled with peace.

—Springfield Republican.

Communicated.

Genesis. Chap. 39.

1. And Joseph was led down into Aiguptos; and Petephrus, the eunuch chief cook of Pharaoo, an Aiguptios, acquired him from the hands of the Ismaeelites, who had led him down there.

2. And the Lord was with Joseph, and he was a man of mark and successful; and he came to be in the house with his lord, the Aiguption.

3. And his lord became aware that the Lord was with him, and that whatever he did, the Lord would prosper at his hands.

4. And Jooseeph found favor in the sight of his lord and he pleased him; and he established him over his house, and all that was his he gave by the hand of Jooseeph.

5. And it came to pass after he had established him over his house and all that was his, that the Lord also blessed the house of the Aiguption for Joseeph's sake; and the blessing of the Lord came to be upon all his possessions in his house and in his field.

6. And he turned over everything that was his into the hands of Jooseeph; and he did not know anything of his own affairs except the food which he ate; and Jooseeph was beautiful to the sight and very comely for his age in the face.

8. And it came to pass after these events that have been recounted, that the wife of his lord also cast her eyes upon Jooseeph; and said, Come lie with me.

8. And he would not, but said unto the wife of his lord, If my lord doth not know anything in his house for my sake, and hath given into my hands all that is his,

9. And holdeth nothing in his over me and withholdeth nothing from me except thee because thou art his wife, how shall I also do this wicked thing and sin in the sight of God?

10. And when she had been talking to Jooseeph day after day and he had not hearkened to her to sleep and have connection with her,

11. It came to pass on some such day that Jooseeph also entered into the house to do his business, and there was no one of the domestics in the house.

12. And she pulled him by his outer-garments and said, Come lie with me; and leaving his outer-garments in her hands he fled and went outside.

13. And it came to pass when she saw that he had left his outer-garments in her hands and fled and gone outside,

14. That she called the men in the house and said unto them, See he hath led in unto us a Hebraian house-servant to mock at us; he came in unto me saying, Come and lie with me; and I called for help with a great voice.

15. And when he heard that I had lifted up my voice and called for help, he left his outer-garments with me and fled and went outside.

16. And she keepeth the outer-garments by herself until her lord had came into his house.

17. And she told him these things as recounted, saying, The Hebraian house-servant whom thou didst lead in unto us came in to mock at me,

18. And when he heard that I had lifted up my voice and called for help, leaving his outer-garments behind with me he fled and went outside.

19. And it came to pass when his lord had heard the words of his wife, all that she had said unto him saying, In this wise did thy house-servant do unto me, he also became angry with wrath.

20. And Jooseph's lord taking him put him in the walled-place, in the place where the prisoners of the king were confined in the walled-place.

21. And the Lord was with Jooseeph and poured down his mercy, and gave him favor in the sight of the ruler of the prison.

22. And the chief prison-keeper gave the prison at the hand of Jooseeph, and all those who had been led away, as many as there were in the prison, and all that they were doing there he was doing.

23. And the chief-keeper of the prison did not know ought for his sake, for all things were at the hand of Jooseeph, because the Lord was with him, and all that he did the Lord prospered in his hands.

COMMENT.

Observe the fact that the officer called "Potiphar" in the C. V. and R. V. who bought Jooseeph, was "a eunuch" as here stated and also so recorded in the 37th chapter—an interesting and important fact omitted in the C. V. and R. V. and suggestive of various queries.

Observe also the relative use of the word "lord" in this chapter—"the Lord" and "her lord" instead of "master" as in the versions.

Observe also that this same "Potiphar" or "Petephreer" who was "Captain of the Guard" in the 37th chapter R. V. is here "chief-cook." "Archimageiros" is the word in both places of course. The "magi" or wise men of the court of that day were differentiated into classes and the "chiefs" were heads of departments like our "cabinet officers." Moreover those in the household of the king like the chief-cook here mentioned must become eunuchs if they sought such an office. We may safely infer that Petephreer or "Potiphar" was married before he sought this royal preferment and that his becoming a eunuch was therefore a post-graduate course of training.

CHAS. GARDNER.

WE need a few hundred new subscribers. Now is a good time of year to get them, and we are asking our friends to make an effort in this line. We do not want you labor for nothing, and so make this offer as an inducement to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and what is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War, and an extensive traveler in Africa, has written a book of over 500 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price is put at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1902, making $4.50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, giving them credit to the end of 1902, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help THE RESTITUTION by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

If you are anxious about the well-being of some friend and would like to have him see and embrace the truth, subscribe for this paper to be sent to him. It will talk at times and places that you cant. It may make opportunity for you to say a word that will make you friend a joint-heir with the Lord Jesus Christ. It has been done. Why not try it?

New Station at Chicago.

Commencing Dec. 29, 1901, all trains on the Nickel Plate Road, during the rebuilding of the Van Buren St. station, will arrive at and depart from the Grand Central station, cor. Fifth Ave. and Harrison St. Chicago.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts, suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1060. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that a fair thing any of the unrighteous [illegible] page pamphlet by Wm. [illegible] crieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 288 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented [illegible] and while getting the [illegible] price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

Change in time of Trains on Pennsylvania Lines.

Under a new schedule in effect Nov. 24, 1901, passenger trains over the Pennsylvania Lines leave Plymouth station as follows:

For the East—2:58 a m daily, 10:28 a m daily except Sunday, 2:35 p m daily, 5:45 p m daily, 7:55 p m daily extra fare train, 8:39 daily except on Sunday, 9:55 p m daily.

For the West—5:15 a m daily, 6:30 a m daily extra fare train, 9:22 a m daily except Sunday, 12:07 p m daily, 2:15 p m daily except Sunday, 6:08 p m daily.

For particular information on the subject apply to J. E. Hanes, Ticket Agent, Plymouth.

Any one who can use the services of Bro. L. H. Chesebrough in holding meetings, can address him at Galesburgh, Mich.

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

EARLY LESSONS, suitable for young or old, 30 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,

General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,

General Immigration & Industrial Agent.
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA.

A FREE PATTERN
(Your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.

McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50 A YEAR

A LADIES' MAGAZINE.

A gem: beautiful colored plates; latest fashions; dressmaking supplement; fancy work; household hints; fiction, etc. Subscribe to-day, or, send 4c. for latest copy. Lady agents wanted. Best terms.

Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.

McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ 15¢

All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Notches and Seaming Lines.

Only 10 cts. each, or 15 cts. each (according to size), at stores, or by mail from

THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St. NEW YORK.

VANDALIA TIME CARD
In effect Jan. 1, 1902.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend.....8:40am
No. 14, " " 12:01noon
No. 8, " " " 10 23pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute.....5:48a m
No. 5, " " " " 12:34noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport.....7:16pm

Trains 8 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo.

Subscribe for THE RESTITUTION for 1902.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Fike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clinkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, [illegible].
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wince, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Scircleville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Glndbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kern, 4507, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arvato, Cal.
J. R. Ogborn, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stella, [illegible]mons, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Driggins, Ontario Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Gale, Jefferson, Ore.
T. F. Cordill, 508 S Main st, South Bend, Ind.
O. W. Smith, Box 153, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hicklin, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Rush Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 U P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 10 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St, Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Catonsc, [illegible].
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kimwell St Paul Ark
C S Hatch Tustin Cal
A W Darby Ransom Kan

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. C. Woodruff, Elizabeth N. J.

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

---

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rathe and D. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St. and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 8:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Harro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Rensselaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 A. M., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God at Burr Oak, Ind. have preaching every 2d and 4th Sundays at 10:30 a. m. and in the evening. Bible meeting every Thursday evening. Samuel Osborn and O. A. Maxey Elders. Sunday School every Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Georgia Osborne Sec. of the S. S. All are invited to any of the services.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:00, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through thereby, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker's, 209 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 A. M. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1231½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsburg, Ind. meet in their new church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by I. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Eshelman.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's Hall, Galena Ave., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Kalfs, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Avadon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Travelling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trundell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Groat of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 8 P. M. Valentine Pike, Sec.

Church of God at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder, Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in this.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME LI. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JANUARY 15, 1902. NUMBER 3.

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

Rest.

Now rest, my heart!
Canst thou by fretting keep the day
From sleeping in the arms of night,
Or make the sunbeam longer stay,
Or bring one clouded star in sight?
Then canst not keep life's pain away
From that soul dearer than thine own,
But thou canst trust each sorrow may
Bring blossoms where thorns might have grown.
Now rest, my heart!

Now rest, my heart!
Two angels wait to give thee peace.
Remembrance, with pure blessings, brings
Assurance that good will not cease.
Forgetfulness hath healing wings.
These will thy true companions be
And hearts with burdens more than thine
May feel the love that shelters thee,
And seek the rest that is divine.
Then rest, my heart!

—Myra Goodwin Plautz.

Communicated.

Short Sermons. No 25.

A plea for the Bible. Text Psa. xi. 3. If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do? This is not intended for advanced scholars who have time to read, think and dig down to rock foundation and then build thereon, but for those in the primary class, who like Martha are otherwise cumbered with much serving the present age. And for the honest skeptic who is being spoiled through philosophy and vain deceit, and who is inclined to live in doubting air castles. The foundations in our text referred evidently to the Bible and its author God, and his well beloved Son. On these the good of all ages build, and cast the anchor of hope. Why a plea for the Bible? Because it is by far the best book in the world, and has done more good for humanity than all other books combined. All other good books are only so many side lights or helps, while the Bible is pre-eminently the great central sun of the moral universe—the Christian' Magna Charta. It gives light and offers life to those who sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death. If the Bible was properly appreciated and loved and studied more, it would make better men and women, and better society, and better neighbors, and cause many broils and bitter wrangles to cease. And many families and neighborhoods would have more sunshine and peace. And why? Simply because it is out of the question for any man or woman to read, love and appreciate the Bible and not catch the spirit of its author and be influenced and led and moulded after the pat'ern found in the life of Jesus, the Life-giver, and light of the world. If the Spirit of the Master ruled among men and nations there would be no bitter feelings, and wars would cease to the ends of the earth, "and man with man would be at peace." Hail happy day.

We make this plea for the Bible because "An enemy hath done this—sowed tares among the wheat and went his way." It is no credit to any man to sow tares and create doubts when he has nothing better to offer—no remedy. Wisdom and prudence would say keep thy mouth shut, and be still, and let well enough alone until thee finds something better than the Bible, then we will hear thee. Any honest skeptic will admit that the Bible teaches good doctrine, and that humanity at large would be much improved if the Bible was respected and loved more. But would they say as much for skeptical books? I think not. They do say however that if Jesus of Nazareth was here that he would be ashamed of his professed friends and followers. No doubt about that, as he was when here shamefully mistreated by those who claimed to be good, and better than others. But this is all in favor of the Bible claims, as all this and more too, was foreseen and foretold by Bible writers long years beforehand. And more, a humbug or counterfeit Christian or anything else always implies a genuine. Many false christs or prophets have arisen, and have deceived or misled many, just as the Master foresaw and foretold. Yet this is not against the Bible; but is in reality a strong twofold argument for the Bible. As a shrewd pretender would naturally deal shy in prophecy, while a counterfeit christ or prophet, or dollar or anything else naturally suggests and implies a genuine. And the plea that skeptics offer for their unbelief is real flimsy and misleading. "They can't believe in God nor in Jesus of Nazareth because they never saw them. They can't believe the Bible for they never saw the men that wrote it. "O ye of little faith." How can you believe that such a wonderful man as Jesus of Nazareth ever lived on earth, if you can't believe the Bible? And how do you manage to believe so readily in Tom Paine, Col. Ingersoll, Shakespear and many others you never saw? You can't believe the Bible nor its friends, but its enemies find a warm place in your heart. Men who rip and rant to tear down what that good man, that humble man, Jesus of Nazareth labored to build up. Can't you see that you are on the wrong side, and fighting against God and your own interest? That wonderful man called Jesus of Nazareth was long foretold by the prophets of old. His conception, his birth and the place of his birth, and in short most everything pertaining to and connected with his life, and his work, his sufferings and his death and burial which ended his cruel treatment at the hands of his enemies were foreseen and foretold by himself, and by those holy men of God who were moved upon by the Holy Spirit of inspiration. Read again and consider well Isa. liii. He not only foresaw and foretold his sufferings—his death and resurrection, but names the city where this awful tragedy would be enacted, and many of the incidents connected therewith. But early on the third day in spite of all the precautions his enemies could invent to prove him false, he burst the bars of death and arose a victor over death and the grave, and all his enemies. And was seen by many—yea, more than five hundred brethren saw him at one time. And yet you say you can't believe it, well I cannot do otherwise, and I am glad of it, as it is a light in a dark place, and a firm foundation to stand upon. It throws a halo of light and glory around the dark tomb, and bids the believer be of good cheer, as the enemy has been met and conquered by the great Captain of our salvation. And now let us rejoice and be glad in the God and rock of our salvation, and hold the beginning of our confidence firm unto the end.

T. E. ADAMS.

Letter from Jerusalem.

MR. W. H. WILSON.

Dear Friend:

It is now almost six years since we parted. Among the last injunctions exchanged was a request on your part to be informed of any changes taking place in city and land, owing to the great interest that so many have in matters pertaining thereunto. Owing to the oft-varying, but never-changing restrictions imposed by the government upon immigration, the changes though continuous have not been striking. Constantly there have been fresh arrivals, even though the total Jewish population may not have greatly increased, owing to the facilities offered by the Hirsch Colonization Association, which favors colonization elsewhere, for leaving Palestine; yet in spite of that and other local difficulties building have continued to go up on intimated lines, all the while—convincingly testifying to increase of population, of certainly none other class but Jews. The lines of the building of Jerusalem described by Jeremiah are being much more filled out, these new houses dotting the remaining areas, here and there. A striking feature in this connection is the disappearance of the once conspicuous "Ash heap," beyond the limits of ancient Jerusalem, which was 40 feet high and measured 600 feet in length where the ashes from the sacrifices were for ages deposited, and which Jeremiah mentions in his description of the rebuilding, and which has now entirely disappeared—they raising there last year a crop of barley, plowing over and obliterating the site to a passer-by.

The roads continue to improve and extend, slowly; the first section of the road planned 12 years ago to Nablous has been completed, so that by carriage people can go almost as far north as Bethel, and the contract for the other one-third has been given; so that Jerusalem can boast of [illegible] try roads superior to those around Chicago.

The colonies, though they have not greatly increased in numbers or inhabitants, have undergone a timely and beneficial change, establishing them on a sounder basis, by a large number of them being handed over by Baron Rothschild to the Jewish Colonization Association, much to the chagrin of many of the colonists, some of whom left, but certainly for the ultimate welfare and better settling of them on a business basis. The rainfall for the last three years has been diminishing, though in some respects the latter rains have been marked. The enhanced average, through the increase of the rainfall during the last twenty years rose 22½ to nearly 30 inches. These last three years the rainfall began with 25, while for last season we only had the apprehensively insufficient quantity of about 16 inches.

All kinds of fears were entertained for the harvest, these, God, at the last moment dispelled, by sending over an inch of latter rain in May, adding 25 per cent to what was expected from the harvest. But not only does the short rainfall affect the harvest here, people are also dependant thereon for water for drinking and household purposes as Jerusalem possesses no other supply,—on this score people in the city were even more solicitous, for on the previous year with 22 inches of rain the goat skin full of water (about 10 gallons) sold in the fall for 16 cents, and what could people look forward to this year! But God had a blessing in this disguise, for the people, which they could not imagine. Just at this time the Governor was succeeded by a kindly and well disposed man. The agitation made prominent a project to cost about $500 whereby the escape from the Virgin's Fount which for a decade had gone to waste, could be remedied—this was promptly undertaken and succeeded well. Then the railroad company was approached and arranged with to bring in specially constructed tanks water from the springs around Bether, the first railroad station from Jerusalem,—this water was to be sold at the Lower Pool of Gihon for 2½ cents the 10 gallon or delivered at the homes at double that amount. This also was eminently successful.

Last, though not least, was the idea conceived by the new Governor Djevad Pasha, that the scheme laid before him by Franghia Effendi, the distinguished architect, he should pray the Sultan, when telegraphing to him his congratulations on the occasion of Mahomed's birthday, that the occasion might be signalized by permission being granted him to use the $25,000 necessary to bring the water to the city from the pools Solomon built for that purpose, in 4 inch iron pipes!

The 4th of July was a day of great rejoicing in Jerusalem, as well as with you, for it speedily brought a favorable answer. Soon the pipes were ordered and promptly delivered, and the general course of Solomon's aqueduct in his similar beneficial enterprize was followed, gradually sloping as it skirted the hills past his orchards, past Bethlehem, Rachel's tomb, Mar Elias, the Plain of Rephaim across the Valley of Himom, around Zion into the temple area on Mount Moriah.

A very interesting piece of work was come across in a bold spur near the north end of the plain Rephaim before striking the valley of Himom, where to avoid a circle of two miles round that spur Solomon's engineers had resorted to the expedient of tunneling through 1200 feet of the mountain. Here, the present engineer thought, would be a good chance to create force, and had the small tunnel measuring 2½ x 1½ ft. deepened to 9, where in winter, and during the night, the waters could accumulate and that power force the water into the city.

In doing this a discovery was made that Solomon's architects were possessed of the knowledge and use of the arch, generally attributed to the Romans—here to form the roof of the tunnel sometimes the rock was found [illegible] to resist all the [illegible] confirmed more as by [illegible] [illegible] has [illegible] [illegible] other places where the rock had a tendency to crumble slabs were laid across the opening, elsewhere the interesting primitive arch seen in such old building as the Great Pyramid in the shape of an inverted V was used, two slabs standing on the parapets on either side and butting against one another resisted the greater pressure here encountered, and in two places where the soil above was found a regular arch of about 10 feet, with voussoir, etc., was used. Surely here one gazed upon perhaps the oldest arch in existence, possibly where that idea was evolved! The little niches cut out between the stones, at given distances for the lamps (such as those referred to in the parable of the ten virgins) were a striking feature, and in some of them the smoke left against the stones nearly 3,500 years ago, by Solomon's workmen was plainly to be seen!

Two weeks ago, for the celebration of the Sultan's birthday the water for the first time in many years came to the ancient metropolis,—and the living water which God has foretold Jerusalem would be supplied with and furnish, in significant type, God has permitted through these circumstances thus to be brought! Under separate cover, I am sending a picture we took of the event. Kindest regards from all you know to Mrs. Wilson, the two Slaters' families and yourself, and all friends.

Yours in truth,

JACOB ELIAHU.

The Gospel Recovered. No. 39.

DRAWBACKS AND HINDRANCES.

"That they all may be one.....that the world may believe that thou hast sent me."

In the two preceding articles the question of "mortal resurrection" was dealt with as a cause of division among the brotherhood.

The following is taken from "Scripture Studies" by David Brown, London, England. 'Of the doctrine.....of resurrection of the dead and of Aionian Judgment.' Heb. vi. 2.

This doctrine embodies, as an essential truth of the Word of Life, the mortal resurrection of the body for judgment and reward according to works done in the flesh, under the responsibility of knowledge; and the comprehension of this fact is as much a preliminary to a vital profession of godliness, as that 'Jesus is the Christ'; forming indeed an element of the things involved in that phrase," etc. Printed in "The Rock of Ages," for May 10, 1871.

In supplement to "Marturion" for Feb. 1867, David Brown says, "We make God a liar in upholding any tenet or dogma subversive of his truth; and he enunciates the doctrine of mortal resurrection to judgment as a part of the things of the Name, and of the glory of the Christ," etc.

Brother Allan B. Magruder of Baltimore, Maryland, published a pamphlet entitled "Certain Christadelphian Doctrines Compared with Scripture." It was devoted entirely to the mortal resurrection doctrine and related topics. A brief extract or two may be given to show how strongly the doctrine was combatted. Quoting the text Isaiah xxvi. 19, 'Awake and sing, ye that dwell in dust,' he remarks, "If the saints awake only to realize themselves as still in mortal bodies, and with the doubtful issues of the judgment ordeal before them, how can they sing? Seeing that singing is the expression of joy and pleasure, will they rejoice to find themselves yet encased in the sinful suffering flesh of mortality?"

Referring to proofs he had advanced, he says, "Such testimony as this should suffice to convince all of good and honest hearts who will duly weigh and consider it. It will have little weight indeed with.....the partizans of a foregone conclusion.....They are too wise to learn, etc.....A recent deplorable instance of such dogmatic infatuation is exhibited in the September number, 1874, of 'The Christadelphian.'" p. 408, where the editor actually pleads guilty to the charge of holding that 'the knowledge of Scripture in the writings of Dr. Thomas has reached a finality;' "adding with reckless daring that judgment is distinctly to the effect that the writings of Dr. Thomas [illegible] is developed as a finality, and that they are a depot of the Christian doctrine.' "Can Papal infallibility go any farther?" Mr. Magruder then quotes the Doctor himself as saying, "There may be some immaculates who, being wise in their own conceit, consider themselves as free from these (errors).....but it is not so with the editor of "The Herald of the Future Age," etc. Now which of these writings (of Dr. Thomas) forms the 'depot of the Christian doctrine'?"

This tract was printed at Nottingham, England, 1875, and was probably a reprint of an earlier one, having I presume originally appeared in THE RESTITUTION.

A large pamphlet of 30 pages was issued in 1867, by Francis Coghill, entitled "An Earnest Vindication of the Primitive Doctrine of the Resurrection against the Heresy of the 19th Century," etc. This was reprinted from the "Gospel Banner," an able serial advocating the gospel of the kingdom, etc. It was published at Geneva, Ill., and edited by the late Benjamin Wilson.

One or two brief extracts will show the strong opposition which the "mortal resurrection" doctrine called forth. The author says, "The writer of these articles was present on the occasion of the first announcement of the doctrine of the 'mortal resurrection of the saints,' and can testify to the unanimous indignation and repugnance with which it was received.....Frowned down and repudiated as it was at the beginning, it is lamentable to have it to confess, that it is the doctrine of no considerable part of the church. It is splitting it and reading it far and near. First it was repudiated—then treated as an open question. Now it is boldly maintained and tenaciously held—preached even as if it were the gospel itself."

Again he says—"Resurrection..... Paul enunciates among "the principles of the doctrine of Christ.' Heb. vi. 1, 2, and in chap. v. 12, 13, these 'first principles' are likened to 'milk,' the proper food for babes.....Turn over the pages of Anastasis, then read it carefully, ponder it well, and say do you understand it?.....What does Anastasis say himself in his preface of this 'babes' food? 'It is a subject very difficult to present in such a form that he who runs may read intelligibly.'

"But again, on page 25, the author speaks of his latest hobby as 'an enlargement of faith,' by an increased knowledge of the first principles of the divine oracles.' Verily the doctor has been a long time in his babyhood. He is even just leaving one of the simplest first principles," etc.

To show the unsatisfactory character of the inferential mode of determining such questions when the express terms of Paul, "the dead shall be raised incorruptible," require to be explained away, I mention a suggestion made in an article printed in the Investigator, Glasgow, 1894. The writer, John A. Paterson, Australia, is evidently one who formerly favored Dr. Thomas' doctrine of the mortal resurrection, but was dissatisfied therewith; for he says "I have passed through many phases of thought and study on the question, even to that of sowing the seed of the kingdom, in or into a natural body," etc. The theory of the article may be guessed from these brief extracts:—"We conclude that Paul clearly goes away back to Adam to show both the when and the how, the natural body is sown, and not forward to the time of the coming out of, or going into a graveat all..... We therefore are also natural bodies when we come into the world; and that that is the time when we are sown natural bodies; Adam of course was made so, but we are born so."

Bro. Paterson terms this theory "entirely restful;" and "generally considered Scriptural by brethren in Australia and New Zealand."

Among the various prints which appeared on this subject, one was issued at Nottingham, England, about 1875. This was a broadsheet of two columns reprinted from the "Nottingham [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Office Editor.

Editorial Committee.

J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, Special Contributor.

Plymouth, Indiana, Jan'y 15, 1902.

The Russian Ambassador has told the Grand Vizier that the state of affairs in Macedonia is disgraceful to the Turkish government.

"A man," says Pope, "should never be ashamed to own that he has been in the wrong, which is but saying, in other words, that he is wiser today than he was yesterday."

"There is a pleasure in contemplating good; there is greater pleasure in receiving good; but the greatest pleasure is doing good; have all our readers tried it? Are they all trying it? Doing good comprehends all the re[st]

The Zionist Congress now in session has resolved to establish a fund of £20,000 to be devoted to the purchasing of land in Syria and Palestine. Collections will be made for this fund in all the countries of the world.

Within ten days, seventy Turks have been denounced by spies as hostile to the present regime. All of them were arrested. They include Mahmud Bey, the son of Ismail Kemia Bey. The Sultan has banished all seventy men to Hodaida, Arabia.

In this issue of our paper will be found a very interesting letter from a resident of Jerusalem written to our Brother W. H. Wilson of Chicago, Ill. We are very glad to give this to our readers, as whatever is occurring in that land is of importance to the Bible student who believes in the restoration of the Land and People.

On Dec. 16 it was reported from Constantinople that M. Constant, the French minister there had again threatened to break off all diplomatic relations with the Porte. The suspicious movements of Turkish troops in Tripoli, near the frontier of Tunis, is said to be the cause of the complications.

On Dec. 26 an enthusiastic meeting was held in Cooper Union Hall, New York, in the interest of the Zionist Congress, which opened on the 26th at Basle, Switzerland. Much progress was reported reached by the various speakers in the movement to re-establish Hebrew people in Palestine under a government of their own.

There is always a remedy for a heavy heart. It may be in work, it oftenest is. It may be in thinking of the joys that have been given to you, and the sorrows from which you have been saved. It may be in helping others by sympathy, or in whatever help is most needed. But the heavy heart can always be made light if self is forgotten and the needs of others are remembered, and, as far as possible, relieved. Not one of us can learn to be light hearted in a week, month or year—it is the lesson of a life—this knowing how.

A correspondent at Sebastopol describes naval activity of every description at that port. He says that private quay spaces are gradually being absorbed for the purpose of navy extension. A Russian naval officer recently declared that if Sebastopol had to play an active role it would be in a position to give a better account of herself than 50 years ago. This sort of allusion is frequent in Russia, and coupled with the extraordinary efforts to increase the Black Sea fleet, it is not without significance, especially in view of the tenacity of Russian naval men in clinging to a dream of one day reaching Constantinople.

"Failures in life are oftener due to lack of determination than to lack of illumination. We have new light, but we do not walk by it. We have an idea, but we do not work at it, restlessly or tirelessly, till it is a fact. Our hearts are haunted with good intentions and bright ideas never carried out. Our diaries are wanting in periods,—full of unfinished sentences. Better one idea carried out, walking on the ground and working in the world, with real hands and feet, than a dozen beautiful fancies—than a hundred beautiful dreams. Challenge the next fine idea or inspiration that comes to you. Examine it, take it in hand, give it embodiment, or the strength of your will and the craft of your life will vanish into thin air."

When renewing your subscription see if there is not a brother or sister near you who does not take the paper who will if you ask them to. Help us in this way to get a few more new names on our list.

Mr. Israel Zangwell, addressing a London Zionist meeting on Dec. 16, held simultaneously with 5000 similar meetings throughout the world, said that Christians sympathized with the Zionist movement, the object of which is to further the plans of the establishment of a Hebrew state in Palestine. Once there, Mr. Zangwell said, they will develop the country.

The Zionist Congress has decided to establish a Branch Bank in Palestine with a capital not to exceed 400,000 franks, to be confined for the present to strictly banking business, and not to be directly connected with the work of colonization. It is also announced that up to the end of last Novem[ber] 352,112, one-pound shares h[ave] taken in [illegible] a contemporary maga[zine]

A warning word. When buying a Money Order at your post office, before putting it in your letter to send to us, examine it and see that it is drawn up properly. Three orders received lately were wrong because they were drawn to Plymouth, "Mass." or "N. Y." in place of Plymouth, "Ind." When this mistake is made the post master sends his "advice" to a wrong office, and the order cannot be paid to us until it can go back and be rectified. When sending please see to this matter.

"When you see a youth who will do any sort of work, no matter how menial it may be, rather than idle, you can make up your mind that he amounts to something. The youth that would starve, before he won'd do anything beneath what he conceives to be his dignity, is not made of the right kind of stuff to cut much of a figure in this life. All honest toil is honorable. There is nothing so morally degrading as that aversion to manual labor, which is usually a combination of laziness and conceit."

We believe it is the duty of every member of the Church of God to support The Restitution by subscribing for it.

The Sick Man.

Every time that, yonder in the East, the Sick Man makes some movement which agitates his bed coverings, Europe, as the watcher at the pillow, cries out: "The Turk is dying?" "The Turk is dead!" The great cry of the great Bossuett.

Half a century ago the Emperor Nicholas I. remarked to Lord Seymour, the British Ambassador, "The Sick Man is dying! We cannot allow such an event to take us by surprise." The Emperor Nicholas is dead, before the Sick Man. Twenty-five years ago, the chief secretary for Ireland, Mr. W. E. Foster, having visited the Levant, returned to England, and in speeches, conferences, and writings said to all, "It is finished!" "The Turk is breathing his last." Mr. Foster has departed this world (life) before the Turk. Twenty years since, the Austrian Military Attache at Constantinople, Col. Uxkall, in despatches sent every week to Count Andrassy, made serious representations, and predicted an early crisis. "The Sick Man has but few hours to live. Everything has to be feared." "The end is imminent." At length the Count replied: "I have read your dispatches with much interest, in that they recall, word for word, reports addressed by agents of the Hungarian government toward the close of the seventeenth century. They also announced that the Turk was at his last extremity, and that a general catastrophe was but the question of a few hours. From the fact that he has passed through these evil years without these expectations being realized, I fear that, in spite of your sinister forebodings, the Ottoman Empire will long continue its existence." Col. Uxkall is also dead before the Turk.

Is it that the Turk has the proverbial nine lives? Is it that if there are sicknesses which strike down and kill a patient, there are others which undermine the strength, and but slowly and almost insensibly drain the life drop by drop, indefinitely prolonging the existence?

A horrible malady, however, devours the empire in the Levant. Whilst the nations of Europe have marched together side by side, step by step on the way of progress and civilization, whilst all the countries of the old continent from the greatest to the smallest, the richest to the poorest, have been striving to by a [illegible] effort to a better ideal of intelligence and morality, the Turk remains stationary, as if frozen in his place, guarding fiercely his manners, his customs, his practices.....

In the midst of a refined people, intellectually and morally, he produces the same effect that an Indian with rings in his nostrils would produce in a crowded drawing room today. In this house of Europe, built according to the most modern principles of science and art, the Ottoman Empire is an open window, looking out on past ages, in which is embodied the barbarity of primitive times; it is a vestige of vanished epochs; it is a foul blemish—nothing binds it to Europe. There are traces of relationship between Montenegro and Russia, Greece and Denmark, Bulgaria and Germany; there are ties of race between France and Italy, Austria and Prussia; there are bonds of civilization or of interest between England and [illegible] diverse [illegible] religion between Spain, [illegible] and Italy. Every European nation by some means, in some manner is attached to another. Turkey is isolated, absolutely isolated, compulsively isolated. It is not made of the same spirit as we are; it is not fashioned of the same flesh. We drag it after us as a man might drag a mass of iron or stone.

Then, face to face with this "Sick Man," What has been, and what must be the position of Europe? At the Congress of Berlin assembled twenty of the greatest doctors of diplomatic Europe, under the presidency of the greatest Hippocrates of modern times. There they deliberated on the patient's condition, and decided to cut off first the right leg, then the left; the right arm and then the left arm. These four operations completed, they said to Turkey, "It is well! Now you are under more restraint, let us see how you will go." And as the Sick Man, crippled and maimed, remained immobile, the learned faculty threw the amputating knife after the scissors, and cried, "There is nothing more to be done!" Since then the Sick Man has been more than ever helpless on his bed, and his sores which no one will trouble to dress, give out more poison each day to the world. Yes; the Turk today is not only the bone that defaces the front of Europe it is also the corroding element which splits and rends it in pieces. It is not only the element of discord that causes dissensions among the various powers, it is also the corrupt element which puts every single nation in contradiction with its dearest principles, with its most sacred traditions. It attracts to itself but few of the learned and philanthropic and too many adventurers and filibusters. It infiltrates into the blood of Europe the most hideous of poisons,—the poison of avarice, of corruption, and of covetousness, and it refuses to allow the introduction even but a little of the civilization, the justice, and the humanity of Europe.

Wherefore, if draws upon Europe a debt, which, if she considers her preservation, she will not fail to pay. It is to cut out from her body this gangrene,—it is to send beyond the Bosphorus the last representatives of a barbarism that no longer belongs to our world, or to our time; it is to drive back to Asia the chiefs, dynastic or otherwise, who can take their place by the side of emirs and shahs of the neighboring continent, but who are unable to dwell by the side of the representatives of Christian and civilized nations; it is to throw down this rotten ruin which will one day involve the neighboring houses in its fall; to clear the ground which has served for its foundations, and to erect in its place a structure modern and healthy; it is to make of the empire which is today a shame in the sight of the world, —a country that will be to it an honor. Since they cannot cure it, and it will not die, it is the duty of the powers to banish it to an asylum so far away, that it will no longer constitute a danger to Europe."—Le Matin.

Those to whom we have sent letters telling about your accounts have not all made response as yet. Brother or Sister, we urge you to be sure and not neglect this matter longer. We want to pay our obligations—this is the reason why we ask you to give us what is due at once. If we could satisfy those we are under obligation to any other way we would not ask you, but as it is the only way we know of, we must hear from you to enable us to do so. We trust all will see the necessity of this and act NOW.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Original.

Christ's Gospel.

"I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." Rom. i. 16. Paul's object in writing this epistle was to show the Gentiles that they could not have salvation through the laws of nature nor the Jews through the law of Moses. Therefore he says that the "gospel of Christ" is the only source of salvation. Forms of religion would not save them, neither will they now. True and undefiled religion is the only one that has salvation in it. The oneness of Christ is everywhere taught as a vital doctrine.

There is a consoling thought in the following Scripture, St. John iii. 16, "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believed in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." It was through God's love that the gift was made to the world and it as truly through a belief in that Son that the gift becomes effectual. We can only believe on the true Christ by searching the Scriptures and believing from the heart what they teach. In Rom. i. 17, we have, Therein (that is in the gospel of Christ) is the righteousness of God revealed from faith to faith: as it is written the just shall live by faith, i. e. faith in the Son of God. Christ is spoken of in the beginning as the "seed of the woman" that would bruise the serpent's head. He is again spoken of as the seed of Abraham who should bless all nations. Paul says in Gal. iii. 16, "Not to thy seeds as of many, but to thy seed which is Christ." Not a numerous but a unit seed, one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all.

How important it is to remember that this Christ is the Son of God and not the very and eternal God who only hath immortality. In Matt. xvi. 13, Christ was anxious to know what the world thought of him and asked the Apostles, "Whom do men say that I the Son of Man am?" The answer came, "Some say that thou art John the Baptist; some Elias; others Jeremiah, or one of the prophets. In the world we find confusion. Not so among faithful ones. "Whom say ye that I am. Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ the Son of the living God." This confession brought forth a blessing as Christ said, Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona; for flesh and blood hath not revealed this to thee, but my Father who art in heaven." Words could hardly be made plainer than these that the Christ is the Son of the living God, not God himself, not just a very good man, but the Son of Mary, begotten by the power of the Holy Spirit. Oh, that all would believe the simple record as found in the first chapter of St Luke.

As we have proven that Christ is a definite person, the gospel of Christ must be a definite gospel. The definition of gospel is good news. The gospel of the kingdom of God is good news of the kingdom of God. In Luke ii., it is written, the angel of the Lord came to the shepherds who were keeping their flocks by night, and said, "Fear not; for behold, I bring you good tidings (the gospel) of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace, good will toward men." In this Scripture we find the gospel to consist of the birth of Christ, the Lord, and peace on earth and good will toward men. This is the promise to Abraham in another form. "In thee (through thy seed, who is Christ) shall all nations be blessed." Jesus went about all Galilee preaching the gospel of the kingdom. Christ called his twelve together and sent them to preach the gospel of the kingdom. Matt. iv. 23; Luke ix. 1-6.

Philip went to Samaria and preached Christ to them, and "when they believed him preaching the things concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women." Acts viii. The fact that those who believed were baptized is evidence that to preach Christ is to preach baptism. When Philip preached to the eunuch "from the same Scripture he preached Jesus." When the eunuch believed he demanded baptism at the hands of Philip. Those who preach a changed ordinance preach another gospel and another Christ.

The history of the true Christ is found in the Bible and no where else. The traditions of men have furnished us with a different Christ to that of the Scriptures. Their Christ did not die according to the Scripture. "He hath poured out his soul unto death." If we do not believe that Christ died, then we have believed in vain and are yet in our sins. Paul's gospel of Christ embraced the hope of Israel, the sure mercies of David. We have forsaken all and followed thee; what shall we receive? The answer is when the Son of Man shall sit in the throne of his glory, ye shall sit upon thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel. When will this event take place? In the regeneration when Christ shall come with all his holy angels with him. See Matt. xix. 28, 29; xxv. 31. Those who preach a gospel that does not embrace the restoring again the kingdom to Israel, preach another gospel and must in the end receive the curse as Paul writes it in Gal. i.

If this earth upon which we live is to be literally destroyed by fire how can these promises be fulfilled? The conclusion would be these promises can never be realized literally, only in a spiritual sense. They say the world is being converted to Christ, so when he comes there will be nothing for him to do but raise the righteous dead and take them to heaven, to live there in idleness forever, singing the songs of the redeemed.

The command to Adam was to multiply and replenish the earth, subdue it and have dominion. This means something more than idle singing and praising God and the Lamb. This sin-cursed earth and the people must be restored to their former position. The curse removed from the earth and sin from among the people. "For nothing shall harm in all my holy mountain. And the knowledge of the glory of the Lord shall fill the earth as the waters cover the sea. He (Christ) shall have dominion also from sea to sea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth. Those who spiritualize these promises must do so at their peril. As for me I prefer to believe them as a literal fulfillment of "In thy seed shall all families of the earth be blessed."

D. C. Robison.

Obituary.

Jacob Elton, aged 71 years, 2 mo., and 29 days, was born in England, Oct. 8, 1830, and died Jan. 7, 1902.

Brother Elton sailed for America on June 13, 1855, arrived in New York July 25, and settled near Cleveland, O. He was married to Ann Elizabeth Hodges Oct. 5, 1859, who died eight years ago.

He moved to Nebraska and settled four miles north-west of Omaha, residing there with his family till 1893, when he removed to his farm seven miles west of the city.

He leaves 6 sons and 3 daughters, all grown, to mourn his loss. Truly it can be said, a good man has fallen. He had been a believer in the things concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ for many years, and he lived what he professed. He contended, in a spirit of meekness, earnestly for the faith once delivered to the saints. The cause of truth has prospered many times by his generosity, and no one ever appealed to him in distress and was turned away empty handed.

The funeral discourse was preached by the writer at the residence, on Jan. 9. A large concourse of people were present, composed of children mourning the loss of a loving father, of the brethren in Christ mourning a devout Christian, of neighbors mourning him who was their neighbor indeed. The poor and needy who had received alms at his hands. All gave evidence of their true sorrow.

After the discourse we took him to Mount Hope Cemetery and laid him to rest, there to await the summons of the Master.

Truly Brother Elton sleeps in Jesus, and when many shall come from the north and south and east and west, and shall sit down with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob in the kingdom of God, we believe he will be one of the number, and enjoy the blessings of immortality.

Almus Adams.

Claud M. Cochran, son of J. M. and O. I. Cochran, was born in Starke Co. Ind., Oct 17, 1888, and died at Middleton, Okla., Dec. 28, 1901, at the age of 13 years, two months and 11 days. Claud was the only son of Bro. John and Olive Cochran. Sister Olive Cochran has gone to her long home when poor Claud was only two years and six months old.

Sister Olive, Claud's mother, is buried in Sumner Co. Kan., near Conway Springs, about 16 years ago. John and Olive, and her father Jacob Reed and her mother Harriett Reed, were all baptized into Christ in Starke Co, Ind., by old brother Carter, which no doubt many of the Indiana brethren will remember.

Well poor Claud was left without the care of his dear mother, but grandpa and grandma Reed took their dear little grandson and took care of him and raised him up, until his death. He was a young man of manly qualities, which made him so many friends, and inspired the confidence of all who knew him; always kind-hearted, true and loyal, a good friend, and in school, on the streets, and everywhere commanded the respect of all who knew him, and also of strangers.

Well on Saturday night about 8 or 9 o'clock I received a message from New Kirk, Okla., on a long distance phone line, to come and preach a funeral on Monday. My answer was to them, I will be there. Well I got there Sunday evening, the 29th. Monday at 10:30 a. m. we met, and our lesson was Job xiv. We also read Rom. v. 12 and especially the 18th verse. Therefore, as by the offence of one judgment came upon all men to condemnation, even so by the righteousness of one the free gift come upon all men unto justification of life. The 12 verse. Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin, and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned. And further I showed them that the creature was made subject to vanity, not willingly, but by reason of him who hath subjected the same in hope. Rom. viii. 20. Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God. The children of of God. Luke xx. 36. These are not the creature in the bondage of corruption, but the children of God, and the mission of Jesus Christ is to destroy him that had the power of death, that is the devil. Heb. ii. 14. And the works of the devil, I John iii. 8, and the last enemy that will be destroyed, 1 Cor. xv. 26.

The funeral was a sad affair, and yet they had reason to rejoice even in death. The respect that was shown to the family. The school teacher dismissed his school, and at 10:15 a. m. the teacher marched in and all his scholars single file, and took their seats around the casket, and there were people there for ten miles around, and there were many tears shed by the neighbors and friends. It spoke volumes to me, after exhorting them to prepare to live, as death was brought on us on the account of sin, and that it was appointed unto man once to die, but after this the judgment; and that the whole future of living again depended on Christ's second coming, and resurrection from the dead, and that if no resurrection, then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished.

My exhortation was principally to his schoolmates and the young. Oh, how sad it was to see one so young cut down in the bloom of life as a flower and withereth. First after a brief exhortation to the young, the necessity of preparing to live while we have the opportunity, as death, the enemy was after us, and that death was an enemy and no respecter of persons. That death would take the young as well as the old.

So the teacher started with his comrades schoolmates of Claudy's, and they took a long lingering look of all that there was of poor Claudy. Then the neighbors and friends took their last look at him; after that poor John took his last look at his only boy Claudy, almost more than what he could stand; his only enjoyment that he seemed to have was with his poor Claudy, as he has remained single ever since poor Claudy's mother died. And grandpa and grandma Reed, and the aunts and uncles, all seemed to feel the same loss.

Then we went seven and one-half miles, left Okla. seven and one half miles over into Kansas to the burying place. There were 87 vehicles, wagons, carriages, buggies, a large concourse of people, the second largest funeral procession that I saw in a many a long year.

Now may God bless poor Bro. John and grandpa and grandma and all the relatives, and all that have so nobly assisted in that sad and lonely hour, is my prayer.

John Foore.

[Some may think the above is given in fuller detail than usually, but we were requested to print it as written, and if it will add to the comfort of the bereaved ones, we cheerfully comply. —Ed.]

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

Poetry.

How Long?

"My God, it is not fretfulness
That makes me say 'how long?'
It is not heaviness of heart
That hinders me in song;
'Tis not despair of truth and right,
Nor coward dread of wrong.

But how can I, with such a hope
Of glory and of home;
With such a joy before my eyes,
Not wish the time had come,—
Of years the jubilee, of days
The Sabbath and the sun?

Let faith, not fear nor fretfulness,
Awake the cry, 'how long?'
Let the faint-heartedness of soul
Dump the aspiring song;
Right comes, the day dawns, the night departs
Of error and of wrong."

Communicated.

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

Dear Brethren and Sisters in Christ:

I feel that we should all cast in our testimony for our love of Christ. It does me so much good to hear a few words of encouragement from the dear ones scattered up and down the land. We have no preaching here—nothing except the Bible and THE RESTITUTION, which is our sermon once a week. May every believer of the truth make an effort to pay the last dollar they owe on the paper: for I for one fully realize how hard it would be to do without it, after taking for more than thirty years, and I think it is the best religious paper I have ever read. May we all walk in the narrow way is my prayer.

Your Sister in Christ.

MRS. C. E. PEREGO.

Editor Restitution:

I cannot do without the paper it is all the preaching I have. I went 18 miles to hear Brother Zilmer preach, it well paid me. I will join the Hillsborough church as I want to belong somewhere. I am full of the faith and doing what I can to scatter the Word, and have two or three interested. I love to read the love feast letters, they strengthen me. I have but little longer to stay here and I want to improve the time. I want my lamp to be burning and to be ready, and am hoping and praying for the coming of our King.

Your Sister in Christ.

ELLEN A. TRUEX.

Editor Restitution:

I am in my 88th year, in very good health and work every day at my trade, pattern making, and hope my life and health may be spared to witness the desire of my heart, the coming of the Deliverer and Rewarder of the faithful.

Wishing you a happy New Year with many of God's blessings.

ALMON DWIGHT.

Dear Restitution:

I would be very lonesome without the paper, so many good words from kind ones of like precious faith. May our kind Father watch over us all, and keep us unspotted from the world ready and waiting for our blessed Master, who is soon coming to bless the waiting ones with life and immortality and a place in his glorious kingdom. May you and I be there. Let us remember the time is so much nearer than when we first believed. The promises are just as near and dear to me as when I first believed and obeyed them, over thirty years ago; but my heart fills with sorrow when I think of those days, so many dear ones that we met with in meetings and at home, are now sleeping in death; but we sorrow in hope of meeting them in the glorious resurrection, where parting will be no more. Our love and respect to all of like precious faith, hoping you, dear brother, may live to publish the good news until our hope is realized.

Yours for truth.

J. F. PIERSON.

Dear Brethren and Sisters:

As there has been a request for all of like precious faith to testify of their love for the Master, I will say that my faith is as strong as ever and my hope is in the Lord. "Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord." How sweet to our ears to hear the welcome voice of our Savior say: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Your Sister in the hope of life eternal.

MRS. W. H. HART.

Dear ones of the precious faith:

It is time to renew for the good old paper and we are thankful that amid hard times we can send for it once more, and our sentiments would be just like Sister Benner's—so much like here that I will not take up the space to write it over, and only add—Praise and thanksgiving unto God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ our Great High Priest for all things both temporal and spiritual. We wish to say to all of like precious faith, that our faith in the promises made to old father Abraham are just as strong as ever, and we are looking forward to the time when they will be fulfilled, and he shall send Jesus Christ to take the throne and rule over all nations. Come, Lord Jesus, and come quickly, is our prayer.

JOHN & MARY ALLARD.

Editor Restitution:

As the New Year has dawned may it bring prosperity to THE RESTITUTION and not only to the grand paper but ere another New Year shall have dawned may "The restitution of all things spoken by the mouths of all the holy prophets" be ushered in is our prayer. Oh, now we can lift up our heads and rejoice when we see the fig tree (in the Holy Land) spoken of by our Lord, putting forth her buds for he said, "Then is the kingdom of God near at hand." Brethren, let us pray, Even so come, Lord Jesus, amen and amen.

Your Brother and Sister,

J. W. & M. E. GOOD.

To the brethren and sisters:

I will try and tell you of my hope, as I am in my 74th year and have lived longer than the allotted time for man. I feel very thankful that I am in possession of all my faculties, and that all my family are in good health. I can truly say, as I grow older and study more of God's Word I grow stronger in my anticipations of all my hopes that I have cherished for thirty-five years, although at present I am passing through a great trial, my faith fails not, and may God's blessing rest upon the dear old RESTITUTION, the editor and all the contributors, is my prayer.

Your Brother in hope.

G. W. SMITH.

Dear Restitution:

I love to read the many good letters from the dear ones of like precious faith. My wife and I are all the ones of the one faith in this neighborhood. Some might believe if they had a chance to hear the truth preached. We have to go twelve miles to hear it. We claim the Bible and will stand on that alone. We have some here who claim that Spiritualism is true, and that they converse with the dead. I tell them that it is because some claim that the dead are conscious and if that is the case they could converse. We do not believe it because the Bible says, "The living know that they must die but the dead know not anything." Yes, it says, "The living shall praise thee as I do this day." "The dead praise not the Lord, neither any that go down into silence." We would be glad if some preacher could come in the summer when we could meet in a grove. It would all a chance to hear the true gospel of the kingdom.

Yours, in hope of eternal life when Jesus comes.

DR. J. A. THURMAN.

Dear ones of like precious faith:

I hope you all have read Brother Hatch's article in a late issue of the paper. I read it and was much interested in its contents. Paul has made some very important statements. One is, "Whatsoever a man sows, that shall he also reap." Said Jesus, "Every idle word that men shall speak they shall give an account thereof in the day of judgment; for by thy words thou shalt be justified and by thy words thou shalt be condemned." In view of this important matter the Apostle Peter would exhort his brethren to be "holy in all manner of conversation." Again, said the same apostle, "Be sober and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ." Sobriety of mind is frequently, in the Scriptures, urged upon the followers of Jesus. It is important that they give all diligence to make their calling and election sure; that there may be an abundant entrance ministered unto them into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, when they will hear him say: "Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." These, we are told, will inherit the earth: but the cursed ones will be cut off. How important then, to strive to enter in at the straight gate; for "many will seek to enter in and will not be able." Again, said Jesus, "Straight is the gate and narrow is the way that leads to life, and few there be that find it, because wide is the gate and broad is the way that leads to destruction and many go in thereat." It will be for our benefit dear brothers and sisters to labor incessantly to enter into that rest promised to the people of God. The night is far spent, the day is at hand, let us therefore cast off the works of darkness and put on the armor of light, and we be like those who are waiting for God's Son from heaven, who will give them the crown of glory that will never fade away. May this be our happy lot.

Your Brother, in Christ.

P. H. ROUK.

Brother Underwood:

I saw an appeal for three dear sisters in Christ who were too poor to have the paper. I am poor myself, but I have no one depending upon me and the Lord has enabled me to earn enough to care for my own wants, and he has told us in his blessed Word to cast our bread upon the waters and after many days it should return to us again, and inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me. Many more passages could be quoted showing the Lord's care for those who love and obey his commandments. We who are in the Abrahamic faith must help one another, trusting in the Lord. I will pay for the paper to be sent to one of these deserving sisters.

Your Sister in hope of eternal life in the kingdom of God.

R. A. NEFF.

Dear brethren, one and all:

Another year has dawned upon us and we are still the spared monuments of Christ's mercy. As the years come and go my faith grows stronger in the soon coming of our blessed Lord and Master and the hope of eternal life through his death. My prayer is that we may all be found ready and have an abundant entrance in his glorious kingdom.

MRS. F. W. CHAPIN.

Dear Restitution:

We will not do without THE RESTITUTION as long as we can see to read it in our advanced age. We patiently wait and look for the appearing of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, the author and finisher of our faith. By all indications the time is near at hand when Jesus Christ will set up his kingdom which shall never be destroyed. We send love and respect to all the RESTITUTION family.

JOHN W. & SUSAN SISSLE.

Dear ones of like precious faith:

Another year has rolled on, does the end find us more Christ-like than the beginning did? Brother Wilson asked sometime ago that each one would give in their testimony, so I send my little testimony to the dear ones of like precious faith. I praise God for the power of his gospel that is able to transform a life that was once occupied with self and worldliness, but is now renewed by the power of his truth, and if there is such a sweetness in it today in our mortal condition, what will it be when the immortal life and the kingdom of God comes? Dear ones, permit me to write a few words to you. These words were impressed on my mind very much last fall when I entered the home of dear Sister Knodle, at Oregon, Ill. She told me of an experience that Dr. Thomas had in her home when he saw the tobacco habit there, he said, "No unclean can enter there." How I praise God that I was permitted to go into the homes where Dr. Thomas had spoken and where by the grace of God he conquered that filthy habit, when he threw his tobacco pipe away. In John viii. 36, you find these words, "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." Are you not a slave my dear brother, when that habit clings to you? And if you are how can you point others to the liberty wherewith Christ makes us free? Some may not have that habit but you may be a slave to other things that are just as detrimental to the cause of truth. You may love worldly gain at the sacrifice of a clear conscience. Your business may be such that it cannot stand the test of God's Word. We are told to shine as lights, and we are exhorted over and over again to live honestly, to provide things honestly and to live godly in this present evil world. Well, I see my letter is getting lengthy. I would exhort you to read again the article of Brother Joblin, "Paper for the Bible Class" in the early part of December.

Wishing you all a happy New Year, I am your brother in fellowship.

MARTIN T. ASLAKSEN.

Dear Brethren and Sisters:

It has pleased our Heavenly Father to spare my life until today, Jan. 2nd, 1902, I am 78 years old. I feel my [illegible] but for all that feel [illegible] to the Giver of every good [illegible] gift for his tender mercy; [illegible]re in that God, "who at [illegible] times, and in divers manners, [illegible] times past unto the fathers by [illegible] prophets, hath in these last [illegible] spoken by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things by whom also he made the worlds, who being the brightness of his glory and the express image of his person and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high." Under these circumstances we ought "to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard lest at any time we should let them slip. For if the Word spoken by angels was steadfast and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward, how shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation, which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him." Brethren, "be steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord." Amen.

LOTT CLOVER.

Brother Underwood:

I will try and write you a few lines in regard to the dear, old RESTITUTION. You have sent it to us free for a long while, and now if you are short of means to supply the poor and can not send it to us any longer, we will have to do without it; for I am not able to pay for it. I cannot earn enough to support us as we are getting old. I am almost 76 years and my companion 73 and she is sick all the time. We do love the paper, and have taken it for years, and it is all the preaching we have except the blessed old Bible. We are all alone here, and we hope and pray that the Lord will bless those dear brothers and sisters that pull for us so long, now and evermore. The Lord's will be done in all things. We hope and pray that the Lord will bless all those that put their trust in him, now and evermore. The signs of the times indicate that we are nearing the close of this age. It behooves us to have our lamps trimmed and ready to go out to meet the Bridegroom. May we be ready to enter in when he comes. Remember us in your prayers, for we are pilgrims and strangers in this world. The Lord bless you.

G. W. BENAGE.

Cleveland Berean Society.

ZION AND JERUSALEM. ISA. LXII. 1.

"For Zion's sake will I not hold my peace, and for Jerusalem's sake will I not rest, until the righteousness thereof go forth as brightness, and the salvation thereof as a lamp that burneth." That the scattered sons and daughters of Israel will be gathered and return to the land of their fathers, is very frequently asserted in the Bible. But there are some at the present day who assert that, "God has cast off his people Israel, whom he formerly acknowledged," although the apostle Paul plainly declares that he has not, (Rom. xi. 2) and also that "blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled: and so all Israel shall be saved as it is written, "There shall come out of Zion the deliverer, and shall turn ungodliness from Jacob, for this is my covenant unto them, when I shall take away their sins." Rom. xi. 25-27.

If there is to be no restoration of Israel, then there can be no kingdom, and if no kingdom, no gospel or glad tidings concerning it. But all is predicated on the fulfillment of God's promises to the fathers of Israel, and the accomplishment of all these glowing predictions relative to the redemption of Israel, by the Messiah, the re-establishment of the throne and kingdom of David, the re-settlement of the land by the twelve tribes, the re-building of the temple, the re-institution of sacrifices, in fact the restoration of all things spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began. Acts iii. 21.

Moses, the law-giver of Israel in Deut., the thirtieth chapter plainly states that after the blessing and the curse has come on the nation, when they shall turn to Jehovah and obey his voice, then he will have compassion and gather them out of all the nations into which they have been driven. Jehovah by Isaiah says, that Jerusalem shall then be called "The city of righteousness."

The Lord said, "My Word shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish the thing whereunto I sent it." We read in Isa. xi. that when the root of Jesse shall stand for an ensign of the people that the Lord for Zion's sake will not hold his peace, and for Jerusalem's sake will not rest, until he shall set his hand again the second time to recover the remnant of his people which shall be left, and he shall set up an ensign for the nations and shall assemble the outcasts of Israel and gather together the dispersed of Judah from the four corners of the earth. Let us then shout aside John, the joyous welcome, "Come Lord Jesus, come quickly."

STERLING GROVES.

ACCESS TO GOD. ROM. V. 2.

When God created man he created him after his own image. Man was then pure and undefiled and held perfect communion with his Master and Maker, but after he disobeyed God and sinned, this perfect communion ceased for God could not look upon sin: then it was that the blood of lambs was shed for the remission of sins; and it was only through the shedding of this blood that communion could be held with God; but this mode of remission did not always last, for God was working out his great plan of redemption, and when the time was ripe he sent Jesus to reach us and to be our sacrifice, his blood was shed for us, for he was pure and separate from sinners, the only perfect man, for during the time he lived upon the earth he was tempted in every possible way, but he sinned not, and so when he paid the penalty of mortality the grave could not hold him, and he arose and is now seated on the right hand of God to act as our mediator, so that through him we may have access to God.

If the thought that the almighty God himself is the author and executor of this great plan of salvation were fully realized, it would deliver many from the false conception of the relation of Father and Son. It would leave no room for the almost blasphemous view, that the heavenly Father stood in wrath seeking to slay the sinner, and that Jesus Christ our Lord full of mercy (which by the way God lacked) intervened and satisfied the heavenly Father's anger by receiving the blow of wrath in man's stead. When one is rid of this erroneous doctrine he has gone a good way toward learning the true God.

The proper view shows us the heavenly Father perfect in all the attributes of nobility of character; perfect in his justice, so that the just sentence of his righteous law cannot be infracted even by himself; perfect in his wisdom so that his plans and arrangement with respect to man's salvation were all so complete that no failure could arise, nor any necessity for changing the divine plan; as it is written "I am the same, I change not," Mal. iii. 6; and also known unto God are all his works from the foundation of the world, Acts xv. 18; perfect also in love than which there could be no greater love possible and yet that love in full balance with the other divine attributes, so that it could spare the sinner only in harmony with the just programme marked out by divine wisdom: perfect also in power so that all his good purposes, good intentions, and loving designs, fully co-ordinated shall be executed and bring the originally designed result; as it is written, "My Word that goeth forth out of my mouth shall not return unto me void, it shall accomplish that which I please; and it shall prosper in the things whereto I sent it." Isa. lv. 11.

When we thus see from a Scriptural standpoint that the great God himself is the author of the great salvation brought unto us by our Lord Jesus Christ it makes us love our great God more and more for we see the Son in the Father's image and recognize him as God's messenger, through whom all the covenanted blessings of God are brought to mankind, and without whom none of the divine blessings are obtainable.

To prove that it is through Christ and through him only that we have access to God and receive the innumerable blessings let us examine his Word. He says in Matt. xi. 27, "All things are delivered unto me of the Father; and no man knoweth the Son but the Father; neither knoweth any man the Father save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son revealeth him." Also Titus iii. 4-6, "He (God) saved us by the working of regeneration and renewing of the Holy Spirit, which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Savior." And again 1 Tim. ii. 3-5, "For there is one God and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus" So I might go on almost indefinitely, for God's Word is full of positive proof of the mediatorship of Christ.

Now, dear brothers and sisters, we who approach unto our glorious Father through our Lord Jesus Christ, are we thankful enough for this great privilege, do we recognize God's love in providing his Son as our Mediator and High Priest? My prayer is that we may often require his services and so live in closer communion with our God.

EDNA COWLE.

Wondrous Love.

If we really believed that God loved us with the whole heart, what a help it would be to us in our daily lives! We would then feel that we could go at any moment into the presence of a loving Father, who cared as much for us as if he had nothing else to care for. A child may come into the presence of its earthly father, except when the parent is occupied. Our heavenly Father is never so occupied. At all times he will bestow on us the same attention. A child likes to be in the presence of its earthly parents, even though they take no notice of it, and is happy simply because it is with them. How much more ought we to be joyous in our heavenly Father's presence! We need not be always [illegible]. There is too little of adoration—simple worship—at the present time.—Andrew A. Bonar.

WHEN a meeting is held in your neighborhood, and an audition is made to the Church, see that THE RESTITUTION goes to the home of the new convert. It will help to keep them in the right way, and aid in their growth in grace and a knowledge of the truth. See to it that they have the paper regularly.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending THE RESTITUTION to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the doners request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

J F & C B Carpenter	3.50
Jacob E Carpenter	.50
A F Carpenter	.25
Geo A Carpenter	.25
E F Gesin	1.50
A Sister in Christ	1.00
Mrs M A Prim	.50
Ida Marsh	.50
John Rush	.50
G W Haynes	3.50
A K Kimsey	1.50
B Lademan	.50

Change in time of Trains on Pennsylvania Lines.

Under a new schedule in effect Nov. 24, 1901, passenger trains over the Pennsylvania Lines leave Plymouth station as follows:

For the East—2:58 a m daily, 10:23 a m daily except Sunday, 2:35 p m daily, 5:45 p m daily, 7:55 p m daily extra fare train, 8:39 daily except on Sunday, 9:55 p m daily.

For the West—5:15 a m daily, 6:30 a m daily extra fare train, 9:22 a m daily except Sunday, 12:07 p m daily, 2:15 p m daily except Sunday, 6:08 p m daily.

For particular information on the subject apply to J. E. Haines, Ticket Agent, Plymouth.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O.

Subscribe for THE RESTITUTION for 1902.

Poetry.

"Lo! I am with You Alway."

I am with thee in the morning.
Through the happy, sunlit hours.
Filling thee with joy and gladness,
Quickening all thy ransomed powers.

I am with thee in the noontide,
When the sun is fierce and hot,
Leading thee beside still waters,
In the shadow of the Rock.

I am with thee, when the shadows
Steal across the evening sky;
With thee through the quiet valley
Where the sombre shadows lie.

In the hush and gloom of midnight
Wrapped in deep, unbroken sleep—
Still I'm with thee, never slumbering—
Faithful, loving watch I keep.

Communicated.

Report of Labor.

After our fall Conference at Watson t was thought advisable to hold a ew meetings, so we spoke every evening through the week and over the following Sunday. About 22 years ago this church numbered 75 members. At present it is [illegible]. Have they all deserted the ranks? No, we hope not—God knows; but very many have moved away, many more have fallen asleep, some have deserted, and the last destructive element was the doctrine of 'universal salvation," which when forced into every nook and corner, blacksmith shops, depots, hotels, private conversations, every where, always out of season, is bound to kill the church. It finished the devastating work, and only the little church building and a few faithful ones are left to wait the Lord's return to claim them because they were faithful until death.

From here we went home for one one day. Then I went to Grand Rapids and worked with Sister Chaffee in the mission work and over Sunday, speaking 7 times. The attendance was small and as is always the case in the city only a few came regularly, hardly the same congregation any two nights. It is impossible to interest such a class of people in the gospel. It did not seem right to spend time and money here with the few, not more than nineteen any evening, when we knew there were places waiting for us where the house would be crowded full. So I left the work for Sister Chaffee to continue, and the Elder and I went to Millbrook to build up and encourage the church there, speaking 11 times. Those who had recently come into the faith here needed instructing more thoroughly in the blessed truths, and they seem so glad to have gotten out of error, they cannot express their joy. Very few who started two years ago have deserted or are looking for an opportunity to do so. One sister said to me, "O Sister Woodward, if you only knew how much good THE RESTITUTION had done me you would never be sorry for having it sent," (the Tithing Society send it to her). The Lord has a tried and faithful band at this place, and may his grace ever be sufficient for them is our prayer.

From here we went 150 miles south, near Vicksburg, to meet with the two congregations, one at Tiffany school house, the other at Bro. Harper's 7 miles southeast. We spoke at Tiffany 11 times and at Bro. Harper's 9 times. This work this fall has been done to "strengthen the things that remain," which is as necessary as any other work. To each of these congregations we preach every 4 weeks, when we can reach them, also at our home church. We rejoice at the steady faithfulness of all these churches. The seed sown is taking root and we are hoping e'er long to see several others embrace the blessed gospel.

Yours still working for the truth.
B. W. & M. A. WOODWARD.

Is the World Growing Better?

In studying the 17th chapter of the gospel by Luke, I find our Lord and Savior has enumerated some of the things that are to come to pass just prior to his coming, commencing with the 26th verse, he says, "And as it was in the days of Noe, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of Man." Then he goes on and gives a description of how the world was being conducted at that time. They were living in a carefree way, regardless of any future reward, or punishment, until the flood came and destroyed the world with the exception of Noe and his family, or as Peter says, "God spared not the old world, but saved Noe, the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood upon the world of the ungodly." Jesus says, "Even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of Man is revealed."

Dear ones in the faith, look around you today, and see if the world is not in very much the same condition that it was in the days of Noe. Ah! dear ones, as I look around me and see how unthankful and unholy the world is today, I do not wonder that our Savior has said, "Nevertheless when the Son of Man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?"

It looks to me as though the true faith would be very scarce if he was to come at this time. Oh, how many of us will be ready when the selecting out time comes. Jesus says, "I tell you in that night there shall be two men in one bed, the one shall be taken, and the other left. Two women shall be grinding together, the one shall be taken and the other left. Two men shall be in the field, the one shall be taken, and the other left." We might say as did the disciples, "Where Lord?" His answer would be to us as it was to them, "Wheresoever the body is, thither will the eagles be gathered together." Ah, dear brother and sister in Christ, are we ready for the Bridegroom to come, have we washed our robes in the blood of the Lamb, and are we keeping them clean through faith and good works? Are we drawing near to God with a true heart in full assurance of faith? Has, "Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering, and let us consider one another to provoke unto love and good works." Paul says, "For yet a little while and he that shall come will come and will not tarry." Just as sure as we have the Bible for our guide, the Lord will come back to this earth again. We have the testimony of the angels to that effect on the day of his ascension, they said, "This same Jesus that ye saw go up into heaven, shall so come in like manner." Paul tells us, "The Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with a voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God." Jesus also says, "Behold I come quickly, and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be." Ah, do we realize what this coming means to us. It means that the selecting out time has come; it means that those who are selected out will receive life everlasting. They will gain a crown of righteousness that fadeth not away, they will be changed from mortality to immortality, from corruptibility to incorruptibility; they will be made equal to the angels and can die no more, and they shall live and reign with Christ on the earth. How thankful we ought to be to our heavenly Father, for those exceeding and precious promises, whereby he has offered us eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord, who died, and was raised again, through the glory of the Father. Paul tells us, "If this same Spirit that raised up Christ from the dead, dwells in us, it will also quicken our mortal bodies." Dear brothers and sisters in the one faith, let us examine ourselves and see if we have "the love of God shed abroad in our hearts" to that extent that we can cry out from the very depths of our hearts. "Come Lord Jesus, quickly come."

JOS. H. WILLIAMS.

If you are anxious about the well-being of some friend and would like to have him see and embrace the truth, subscribe for this paper to be sent to him. It will talk at times and places that you cant. It may make opportunity for you to say a word that will make you friend a joint-heir with the Lord Jesus Christ. It has been done. Why not try it?

New Station at Chicago.

Commencing Dec. 29, 1901, all trains on the Nickel Plate Road, during the rebuilding of the Van Buren St. station, will arrive at and depart from the Grand Central station, cor. Fifth Ave. and Harrison St. Chicago.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 283 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

Do you like to get THE RESTITUTION each week and read the articles and letters it contains? Did you ever think that your brother who sits near you would get a like benefit and enjoyment if he had it also? Get him to subscribe for 1902. It will cost you very little to ask him, and you may be the means of doing him good.

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

We need a few hundred new subscribers. Now is a good time of year to get them, and we are asking our friends to make an effort in this line. We do not want you labor for nothing, and so make this offer as an inducement to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and what is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War, and an extensive traveler in Africa, has written a book of over 500 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price is put at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1902, making $1.50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, giving them credit to the end of 1902, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help THE RESTITUTION by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death., A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts 100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 150-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 80 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 80 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

Any one who can use the services of Bro. L. H. Chesebrough in holding meetings, can address him at Galesburgh, Mich.

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

EARLY LESSONS, suitable for young or old, 80 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the worth of your money, and also aid a worthy Sister, who will thank you for it.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,

General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

H. J. WEMYSS,

General Immigration & Industrial Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

A FREE PATTERN
(your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.
McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50 A YEAR
A LADIES' MAGAZINE.
A new beautiful colored pattern (your fashion's Commanding economical theory work; household small; styles, etc. Subscribe today, or send 4c. for latest copy. Lady agents wanted. Send for terms.
Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.
McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ 15¢
All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Stitching and Sewing lines.
Only 10 and 15 cents each—none higher. Ask for them. Sold in nearly every city and town, or by mail from
THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St., N. Y. CITY.

VANDALIA TIME CARD
In effect Jan. 1, 1902.
Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend.....8:40am
No. 14, " " " 12:01noon
No. 8, " " " 10 23pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute.....5:48a m
No. 3, " " " " 12:34noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport.....7:15pm

Trains 3 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Tolleston with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or
E. A. FORD,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo.

Subscribe for THE RESTITUTION for 1902.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Fike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clinkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
D. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, Cal.
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wisco, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Scirdeville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prine Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kean, 4507, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Hoyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. R. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas
W. O. Steffa, Pomona, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Dwiggins, Ontario Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 14, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Goin, Jefferson, Ore.
T. F. Cordill, 308 S Main st, South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 133, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hicklin, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Roch Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Pilmmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hall, Ostoosa, T. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal
A W Darby Ransom Kan

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. C. Woodruff, Elizabeth N. J.

The Restitution
ON TRIAL.
Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.
WILL YOU TRY IT?

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and B. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 826 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Rensselaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 A. M., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God at Burr Oak, Ind. have preaching every 2d and 4th Sundays at 10:30 a. m. and in the evening. Bible meeting every Thursday evening. Samuel Orsborn and G.A. Maxey Elders. Sunday School every Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Georgia Osborne Sec. of the S. S. All are invited to any of the services.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:30, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through Hiram, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker's, 209 West Day St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1.00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 A. M. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1381½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsdown, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by A. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Eshelman.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's Hall, Galena Ave., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Beech Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Kalb, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Authon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trusdell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Grost of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder. Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertized in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the month of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME LI. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JANUARY 22, 1902. NUMBER 4.

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. P. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

If I Can Live.

If I can live
To make some joyful face brighter, and to give
A second pulse to some heart-dimmed eye,
Or e'en impart
One throb of comfort to an aching heart,
Or cheer some way-worn soul in passing by;

If I can lend
A strong hand to the fallen, or defend
The right against a single envious strain,
My life, though bare
Perhaps of much that seemeth dear and fair
To me on earth will not have been in vain.

The purest joy,
Most near to heaven, far from earth's alloy,
Is bidding clouds give way to sun and shine,
And 'twin be well
If on that day of days the angels tell
Of me: "She did her best for one of thine."

—Helen Hunt Jackson.

Communicated.

Restitution.

The plan of salvation is predicated upon restitution of earth, and man upon the earth must be restored back to the position that was occupied before the fall. God has suffered sin to rule the world for six thousand years, so that man will be able to see the effects of disobedience. Man must learn by painful experience, that God knows best how to run the earth. Restitution, then, is the foundation of the gospel. Paul says, Eph. ii. 19, 20, "Now, therefore, ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God; and are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ being the chief corner. This foundation then is brought to view by apostles and prophets. Peter in speaking of Christ said, Acts iii. 21, "Whom the heavens must receive (or retain) until the times of restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." Moses also speaks of a prophet that God would raise up unto you of your brethren. He also said that every soul, which will not hear that prophet shall be destroyed from among the people. This sentence was not executed upon those that would not hear Christ when he was on earth; but will be strictly executed in the restitution age. John the Baptist also testifies of Jesus, the Lamb of God, and said he taketh away the sin of the world. The sin of the world is the sin that Adam entailed upon all his posterity. Dying thou shalt die. This sin, Jesus the Lamb of God is appointed to take away and render it powerless. In restitution, mankind will be placed where Adam was when he came from the hand of his Creator, under law, the breaking of which will result in death.

Ezek. xviii. brings this thought plainly to view. He says, "What mean ye that ye use this proverb concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge? As I live, saith the Lord God, ye shall not have occasion any more to use this proverb in Israel. See also the remainder of the chapter. See also Jer. xxxi. 29, 30. Now we know that this law of life and death has never attained since Adam was driven from the garden of Eden; hence we may know that it will obtain in the restitution age. See also Isa. lxv. 20. But the sinner being an hundred years old shall be accursed. We notice that this will be in the new heavens, and the new earth state. It appears that probation will be lengthened out to an hundred years at least. And in Isa. ix. 7, it is plainly asserted that, Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end. This same thought is brought to view in Psa. cv. 8, 11. He hath remembered his covenant forever, the Word which he commanded to a thousand generations. Saying, Unto thee (Jacob and Israel) will I give the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance. We know that this law of inheritance has not yet been fulfilled, but it must be fulfilled in the return of Israel to their own land.

But is there any proof that Israel shall return to their ancient possessions? See Isa. xv. 1, For the Lord will have mercy on Jacob, and will yet choose Israel, and set them in their own land; and the stranger shall be joined with them, and they shall cleave to the house of Jacob. 2 ver., And the people shall take them, and bring them to their place; and the house of Israel shall possess them in the land of the Lord for servants and handmaids: and they shall take them captives, whose captives they were; and they shall rule over their oppressors. See also Isa. xliii. 1, "But now thus saith the Lord, that created thee, O Jacob, and he that formed thee, O Israel, Fear not for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine. 3 ver., For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Savior. 4 ver., Since thou wast precious in my sight, thou hast been honorable, and I have loved thee. 5 ver., Fear not, for I am with thee; I will bring thy seed from the east, and gather thee from the west; I will say to the north, Give up: and to the south keep not back; bring my sons from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth. See also Ezek. xxxvi. 6, For, behold, I am for you, (mountains of Israel) and I will turn unto you, and ye shall be tilled and sown. 10, And I will multiply men upon you, all the house of Israel, even all of it; and the cities shall be inhabited, and the wastes shall be builded. 24 ver., For I will take you from among the heathen, and will gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your own land. I might quote scores of promises in the same line of the above; but these must suffice for the return of Israel.

25 ver., Then I will sprinkle clean water upon you, and ye shall be clean; from all your idols will I cleanse you. 26 ver., A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you; and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you an heart of flesh. 28 ver., And ye shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

We will now notice a return of the fertility of the land. See Joel ii. 21, Fear not, O land; be glad and rejoice, for the Lord will do great things. 22 ver., Be not afraid, ye beasts of the field; for the pastures of the wilderness do spring, for the tree beareth her fruit, the fig tree, and the vine do yield their strength. 23 ver., Be glad, then, ye children of Zion, and rejoice in the Lord your God; for he hath given you the former rain moderately, and he will cause to come down for you the rain, the former rain and the latter rain in the first month. 24 ver., And the floors shall be full of wheat and the fats shall overflow with wine and oil.

We will now examine the vision of dry bones, Ezek. xxxvii. 4, Again he said unto me, Prophecy upon these bones, and say unto them, O ye dry bones, hear the Word of the Lord. 7 ver., So I prophesied as I was commanded; and as I prophesied, there was a noise, and behold a shaking, and the bones came together bone to his bone. Zionism is making a great noise in the world; even nations and kingdoms are feeling the effects of Zionism. 8 ver., And when I beheld, lo, the sinews and the flesh came upon them, and the skin covered them above, but there was no breath in them. 10 ver., So I prophesied as he commanded me, and the breath came into them, and they lived and stood up upon their feet an exceeding great army. The breath coming into them, represents their conversion to Christ. They then received Jesus as their Messiah. Zech. xii. 10. 11 ver., Then he said unto me, these bones are the whole house of Israel; behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is lost, we are cut off from our parts.

Many of the leaders of the Zionist movement are infidel at heart. They have looked so long for the promises of Moses and the prophets to materialize, to raise them up a Messiah to restore the kingdom to Israel; and hitherto they have looked in vain. They have therefore concluded to take the matter into their own hands and restore Israel with no thanks to Moses nor the prophets. But God knows how to make use of these infidels to do his work. But we rejoice that the work is being carried forward toward completion, which will not be perfected until Christ shall appear upon the stage, and complete the work by Israel's conversion. But we will let Zechariah tell about this. See Zech. xii. 10, And I will pour upon the house of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the spirit of grace and supplications; and they shall look upon me whom they have pierced; they shall mourn for him as one mourneth for his only son; and shall be in bitterness for him as one that is in bitterness for his first born. See also xiii. 1, In that day there shall be a fountain opened to the house of David, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem for sin and for uncleanness. Israel will be converted by sight and not by faith. There is a set time for Israel to be converted to Christ. Even Saul of Tarsus was converted by seeing Jesus, and he says 1 Cor. xv. 8, And last of all he was seen of me also, as of one born out of due time. When Israel shall be converted and receive Jesus as their Messiah, they will say, We cursed Moses and the prophets because, (as we thought) their promises did not materialize. But God did raise up a Messiah according to promise and we killed him, and then cursed those worthies because God did not raise another for us. See also 6 ver., And one shall say unto him, What are these wounds in thine hands? Then he shall answer, Those with which I was wounded in the house of my friends. Let Israel know assuredly, that this Jesus whom their fathers persecuted and killed is the only means whereby they can have life, and that they must believe on him and be baptized in his name for the remission of all past sins, and that this same Jesus is the only intercessor between God and man; and that a belief in him is the only means whereby any one may have eternal life, and a baptism in his name is the only means whereby any one may have an entrance into the kingdom of God. See John iii. 5.

We will now turn our attention to the gospel of the kingdom as preached by Christ and his disciples. Christ said Luke iv. 43, I must preach the kingdom of God to other cities also, for therefore am I sent. It would appear by this expression of Jesus, that he was sent into the world for the express purpose of making preparation for the kingdom of God, by taking out a people as a cabinet of rulers, to assist him in the government of the nations, as he says in Rev. ii. 26, 27; iii. 21, To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I overcame and am set down with my Father in his throne. But the kingdom that Christ came to herald, is not in existence yet, nor will it be in existence until Christ comes again to superintend the work of setting it up himself. The angel Gabriel said to Mary the mother of Jesus—call his name Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest, and the Lord God shall give him the throne of his father David, and he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end. See also Acts xv. 16. Here we see that when Christ comes, he will raise up the fallen throne of David and occupy it as in the days of old. Amos also testifies to the same thing, he says, ix. 11, that David's throne will be occupied as in the days of old. He says also, in Israel's return, they shall no more be pulled up out of their land which I have given to them, saith the Lord thy God.

We will now examine the Prophets and the Psalms in regard to the throne of David. See Psa. lxxxix. 3-4, I have made a covenant with my chosen; I have sworn unto David my servant, Thy seed will I establish forever, and build up thy throne to all generations. 27 ver., Also I will make him, my first born, higher than the kings of the earth. This undoubtedly has reference to Christ being the first born to immortality. See also 35, 36, 37 verses. Once have I sworn by my holiness that I will not lie unto David. His seed shall endure forever, and his throne as the sun before me. It shall be established for ever as the moon, and as a faithful witness in heaven. This covenant can have its fulfilment in no other but Jesus, the son of David. See also 39 ver., Thou hast made void the covenant; thou hast profaned his crown by casting it to the ground. See also Ezek. xxxiv. 23, And I will set up one shepherd over them, and he shall feed them; even my servant David; (the son of David) he shall feed them, and he shall be their [illegible] and my servant David a prince among them; I the Lord have spoken it. The above is something of a description of the re-erection of the throne of David.

We will now let the Prophet Daniel testify in regard to the kingdom and dominion of the Son of Man. See Dan. vii. 18, I saw in the night visions, and, behold, one like the Son of Man came with the clouds of heaven. This is quite in accord with Christ's prediction. Mark xiii. 26, And then shall they see the Son of Man coming in the clouds, with great power and glory. Also xiv. 62, And ye shall see the Son of Man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven. Daniel says, one like the Son of Man, came with the clouds of heaven. 14 ver., And there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom that all people, nations and languages should serve him; his dominion is an everlasting dominion which shall not pass away; and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed. Psa. lxxii. 8, The dominion of the Son of Man shall be from sea to sea and from the river unto the ends of the earth. The dominion of the Son of Man will extend as far as human foot has trod the soil. But the kingdom proper will be set up on Mount Zion in Jerusalem. See Psa. ii. 6, Yet have I set my king upon my holy hill of Zion. See also Rev. xiv. 1, And I looked and, lo, a Lamb stood on the Mount Sion, and with him an 144 thousand. These are the Bride of the Lamb, and will reign with him in his throne. See Rev. iii. 21. Dan. vii. 18, also says, But the saints of the Most High shall take the kingdom and possess the kingdom for ever, even for ever and ever. This also is in accord with Christ's promise, Fear not little flock, for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom. Daniel says, One like the Son of Man came with the clouds of heaven. 14 ver., And there was given him dominion and glory and a kingdom, that all people, nations and languages should serve him; his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed. 18 ver., But the saints of the Most High shall take the kingdom and possess the kingdom for ever, even for ever and ever. We want to notice that there is a difference between the kingdom and the condition. See Psa. ii. 6, Yet have I set my King upon my holy hill of Zion. The kingdom will be set up on Mount Zion but the dominion will extend to the utmost parts of the earth. See Psa. [illegible] will have dominion also from sea to sea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth. This dominion will take in all of Adam's posterity and they must be brought under the reign of Christ and his bride, before the earth shall be fully restored to its Eden state. God has permitted the rebellion that Adam inaugurated, to continue in order to develop a class of men and women into whose hands he may safely entrust the government of earth, as co-rulers with Christ to bring back sinful man from his alienation from his Creator. Even Jesus, God's well beloved Son had to be tempted and tried before his heavenly Father could entrust the government of earth in his hands. God's plan appears to be: The cross before the crown. On a certain occasion when John the Baptist saw Jesus coming to him, he said: Behold the Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world. The Baptist fully appreciated the mission of Jesus into the world. That he came to save the earth as well as man upon the earth: and this will be when earth is restored back to the position that was occupied when it came from the hand of its Creator. Then paradise will be restored, the thief will be remembered; and he with Jesus. The earth will also take its proper place in the great brotherhood of the heavens.

DANIEL HOWARD.

Dead to Sin, Alive to Christ.

"For if the dead rise not, then is not Christ raised, and if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins." 1 Cor. xv. 16, 17.

What is sin? Any thought, word, action, omission or desire, contrary to the law of God. So any one that does any thing contrary to God's law commits sin. What is the reward for sin? Sin when it is finished bringeth forth death. Rom. vi. 23; James i. 15. Then death is the reward (or wages) for sin. Is there no escape from death? No. Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men for that all have sinned. Rom. v. 12. As death was Adam's penalty for sinning, so all of Adam's race must die. As in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive. 1 Cor. xv. 22. Who is it that dies? All that are in Adam. Who are in Adam? All of the human race. Then all die? Yes. Now is that the end of them? Yes, the end of all that remain in Adam. But God has promised to give all eternal life that come to Christ. And as the all that are in Adam die, so all that are in Christ shall be made alive. But every man in his own order: Christ the first-fruits; afterwards they that are Christ's at his coming. 1 Cor. xv. 23. Then if we wish to ever be made alive again we must be in Christ. How can we be in Christ? By obedience. Christ said unto his disciples, "Go ye into the world and preach the gospel (not a gospel, but the gospel), he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be condemned." Mark xvi. 15, 16. "For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ." Gal. iii. 27. This is an act of obedience, and makes us of the all that will be made alive.

Paul says, "I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel; which is not another. But though we or an angel from heaven preach any other gospel, let him be accursed." Gal. i. 6 8. This dying in Adam, and being in Christ to be made alive again is what Paul taught. Also he says, "As many as have sinned without law shall also perish without law; and as many as have sinned in the law shall be judged by the law." Rom. ii. 12. Who is in the law but those that obey? None. We are under a new law, different from the Mosaic, for Christ was the end of that law, and that law did not promise eternal life, and no one under the Mosaic law could be alive to Christ. But under the present gospel law every obedient believer, when he does the act that entitles him to have his name written in the book of life, places himself on God's promise of eternal life through Christ, and if his name is never blotted out, he is surely alive in Christ at the first resurrection. But those that have their name blotted out may be made alive at the judgment, when the books are opened, and some may suffer the second death of which Peter says, 2 Pet. ii. 20, 21, "The latter end is worse with them than the beginning, for it had been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than, after they have known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered unto them." If they had remained in Adam they would have died in sin, with no hope of seeing life again. But having been in Christ they may answer for the deeds done in that body. The man that wandereth out of the way of understanding, shall remain in the congregation of the dead. Prov. xxi. 19. We have been telling you how one is alive to sin, and also to Christ. But no man can be alive to sin and to Christ at the same time. So we must be dead to sin, if we are to be alive in Christ. Yours hoping for life.

E. W. KNAPP.

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

Dear Restitution:

I am one of the unfortunate ones—only one or two of the one faith, one hope, one baptism, and that believe the soon coming of the Savior to set up his kingdom on earth and reign in righteousness. I cannot do well without the dear RESTITUTION. I gain so much pleasure and information in reading the articles written by your correspondents, such as Bros. Joblin, Wilcox, Ziller and others. Oh, if I could attend some of your good meetings, I would enjoy them so much, but it seems I will never have that pleasure as I will soon be 82 years old. The good Lord has been good to me. My health is pretty good considering my age. May the good Lord prosper you in all your labors is my prayer.

Your Brother, in the faith of the gospel.

JULIUS SAUNDERS.

To the Household of Faith, Greeting:

It is encouraging to read the good letters in our excellent paper THE RESTITUTION, from the old soldiers of the cause of truth—holding on faithfully awaiting the Master's coming, and hoping the time may soon come for his appearing that they may not taste death. I can add my testimony and say that I rejoice at this time exceedingly, that my salvation is nearer now than when I first believed. Having been baptized in Feb. 1850, now 43 years ago. I am now 60 years old and can truthfully and rejoicingly say during all these years, through many trying vicissitudes of life I have never had a desire to relinquish my hold of the truth and eternal life. I rejoice in the hope of a soon coming King, Jesus Anointed. I hope to be one who will have part in the first resurrection if I must needs sleep, and together with Jesus and his associate rulers, teach during the restitution age the everlasting gospel—and with this honor of all the saints, bring in the great multitude elect of that age, that will at the end of the reign, fill the whole earth with righteous people. The restitution or restoring of all things when after the Prince of Peace has come with all his saints, is a glorious theme to me. God's plan of redemption is so full of love and mercy. What a work of love and justice assigned the apostles and saints to do. O I feel when contemplating on these grand truths that I could shout in my longing for the glad day and time to come, and that it now seems so near. O my Father in heaven, help me like Sister Libbie prayed that in all her trials she might not let go "Thy helping hand, that she might not fall." So help me to keep close hold of thy hand that I may be found worthy to stand before the Son of Man. Though the New Year was ushered in with sorrow to me, yet not without hope do I mourn and weep. I wish for the household a Happy New Year.

Your Sister, in Christ.

MATILDA WOODBURY.

Dear Restitution:

Having located in Metropolis, Ill., and being almost alone in the faith, there being only one that we have found that seems any way concerned in regard to the truth. That one has studied the truth out for himself, although he never heard a sermon of our faith preached. He thinks there are others that would accept the gospel if they were enlightened on a few points, and is very desirous of having a minister to hold a series of meetings at this place. We would be very glad to hear from any one that is not too far away, that could or would come. We are not rich in this world's goods, but are working to obtain that incorruptible crown that fadeth not away. If any minister living nearer than Danville sees this please let us know at once, by addressing us at Metropolis, Ill.

WM. WOODS.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Oregon State College
Oregon [illegible]

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, OFFICE EDITOR.

EDITORIAL COMMITTEE.
J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JAN'Y 22, 1902.

FIVE Wednesdays this month—no paper next week.

BROTHER J. L. WIRE was unable to be at his Plymouth appointment last Sunday, having contracted a cold a month ago. He writes that he is improving.

ON Jan. 20 insurgent gunboats attacked the government vessels in Panama Bay, and before being driven off succeeded in sinking one ship, and killing General Carlos Alban, governor of Panama.

SEVERE earthquake shocks are reported in Mexico where [illegible] nearly wiped out, and many people killed. The volcano of Colima has become active again, supposedly in consequence.

A SHORT note tells us that Brother and Sister Woodward, of Michigan, start for Washington state Jan. 23, to preach the Word. Brother Woodward has not been well for some time, and we hope he will be benefited by the trip, as well as being a blessing to those who listen to him.

READER, are you pursuing that phantom of a shade—your own righteousness?—How can you be so unwise when you are so distinctly told that if you are ever saved it will be all of God's favor? If Jesus does not become to you wisdom, righteousness, sanctification and redemption you will be utterly lost; because the righteousness of God is obtained through faith in Jesus Anointed, Rom. iii. 22; this faith is absolutely necessary, because it is the very thing that was imputed to Abraham for righteousness, as it is written Rom. iv. 22, and the very next verse shows that the information concerning Abraham was given to show you that you must be reckoned righteous on the same principle. But to be reckoned righteous on account of faith as Abraham was, you must believe the same covenants of promise that Abraham did.

ANOTHER "leading" Methodist has caused a sensation. Professor Charles W. Pearson, head of the department of English Literature at the Northwestern University, Chicago, has published a paper in which he says "the dogma of the infallible Bible is the besetting sin and golden calf of the idolatrous worship of the churches." He denounces all miracles as myths. The three Hebrews in the fiery furnace, and Elijah's mantle, the widow's measure of meal and the cruse of oil, the multiplying of the loaves and fishes; all are swept aside as mere myths. He professes great respect for what he terms the "great spiritual truths of the Bible, that rest on absolute and eternal truth." But its "history and science" he classes as "erroneous and imperfect." He declares that "if the church of today is to control the business-men of today, it must meet them fairly upon the plane of their intelligence." If the Professor only would use the brain he has in studying his Bible, first ridding his mind of all the foolish notions he has about it, and honestly find out what and who God is, what man is, and his true relation to his Creator and the created universe—what God's plan was at the creation of the earth and man, then likely his mind would be in condition to judge of the value of the Originator of the whole scheme, and incidentally understand the design in giving all the "history" that he finds fault with. As it is he is so far astray in his ideas on "first principles" that his deductions, being based on false premises, are utterly worthless. He needs to go to school himself. However, this action on his part is only another evidence of the tendency of the age to discredit all of old-fashioned Divinity, and is in keeping with "advanced" ideas called "Spirit manifestation," Higher Criticism, Christian Science, Rationalism, and other sorts of "latter-day delusions." He might with benefit to himself study "history" a little, and he will find that Tom Paine, Voltaire, Bob. Ingersoll and others of that ilk were even a little in advance of him in this line. But by the side of him they were gentlemen—they did not profess to belong to the church, and take a living off it. They were out-spoken in denouncing the Bible, and held no fellowship with it or its adherents. With this Professor it is different—quite different.

TUNG FUH SIANG, the Chinese general who led the attack on the Legations at Pekin has been beheaded by order of the Empress Dowager.

"Our Father."

MATT. VI. 9.

"Our Father, thou in the heavens, Revered be thy name." Only children can use this language. Others may admire and stand in awe of him who created the heavens and the earth,—and, indeed, out of whom are all things, and who sustains all things by his almighty power. But think of men and women of a corruptible race becoming children of that God and being permitted to call him Father!! Away back near the beginning of the Book we find a distinct line drawn between the human race. In the 6th of Genesis we find that God had

A FAMILY OF CHILDREN

on earth. The fact that they were called the sons of God proves that he regarded himself as their Father, in a [illegible] that was not true of the whole race. Those not sons of God were called children—of men, only. A change had come over the former portion that had constituted them as well as sons of men. And this change had of necessity taken place under some divine formula, or directions. Men could not will themselves sons of God, against the will of God. We know from human experience that such a change of relationship involves too much, to suppose that men can force themselves into the family of God on their own motion, or upon their own conditions. In the nature of things, propositions looking to adoption into God's family must come from God, and be accepted by man. In all ages this has been the dividing line between the sons of God and the children of men. It has always been impossible without faith. The object of faith has always been God's offer,—God's proposition, God's promise. Men have never been permitted to select what they might conceive to be desirable, and believe God to be good enough, and kind enough to give it to them. The gospel of the kingdom of God as preached by Jesus, together with the things concerning the name of Jesus Christ as preached by his Apostles contain to man, and we have the Spirit's word for it in the first chapter of Romans that this will save all who believe it. We further learn from the 15th of Acts that the belief of this gospel takes men out from among the rest of mankind, and bestows upon them God's name. Jesus commanded the Apostles to baptize believers of the glad tidings into the name of Father, Son and Spirit. And as we find Peter on the day of Pentecost commanding believing men who wanted to be saved, to be baptized into

SONS OF GOD

TO PLEASE GOD

JEHOVAH'S PROPOSITIONS

THE NAME OF JESUS,

the Anointed, for the remission of sins, we have conclusive evidence that the word Jesus comprises the name of Father, Son and Spirit. And there is no other than this name JESUS under heaven, whereby men can be saved. When one puts on the Anointed Jesus legally, and constitutionally, he becomes one of his brethren, and God being HIS (Jesus) Father, God becomes the Father, also, of the obedient believer. And being

A CHILD OF GOD,

this constitutes him an heir of God, by the will of God,—that is, according to the promise of God. This gives him a seat at the Lord's table in the family circle, the household of faith,—the house of God,—a living stone of the vast Temple in course of erection for the indwelling of the eternal Spirit. O what a consummation to anticipate. It is yours, dear reader, to be a constituent element of

THE NEW JERUSALEM,

the Holy City coming down from God out heaven prepared as a bride adorned for her husband, when God tabernacles with men,—if you become a son or daughter of the Lord God Almighty now, upon the conditions briefly outlined, above, and henceforth live to his glory while life in flesh remains. This will give you a title clear to one of the many mansions in the Father's house Jesus is now preparing. You will also assuredly partake of

DIVINE NATURE OF EXISTENCE,

so that you can occupy it through endless ages,—to make you eligible to such an amazing destiny Jesus has died in your behalf, and the everlasting covenant has been ratified by his blood, and he has been raised again so that you may have an object for justifying faith to lay hold of,—and besides all that, he now sits at the right hand of the Father as

THE ALL-POWERFUL ADVOCATE

for all who believe his gospel,—obey its terms; purify their hearts by obeying the truth, and wait for his return from heaven. If these lines come under the eye of one who has hitherto neglected this great salvation, we plead with such by all the love of God and of Christ,—to listen to the gracious invitation

WHILE MERCY LINGERS.

Procrastination is the thief of time. Today, if ye will hear his voice, harden not your heart; or it may soon be yours to lament, "The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and I am not saved." Why will ye die, after such infinite pains have been taken to rescue you from the power of the enemy, and crown you abundantly with life?

Original

"What is the Blessing?"

I recently wrote a series of articles on the above topic, for the purpose of indicating what events would constitute the promised blessing.

The blessing involved in the covenant with Abraham, is not only very clear and comprehensive, but also wide in its scope, indicating a blessing to some extent to all nations, in the future, and justification personally by faith now.

A recent writer in a religious periodical, has sought to narrow that blessing down to simply "justification by faith" alone. Along this line he said: "What is the blessing? Is it not the same as our father Abraham received? 'Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness.' Gal. iii. 6. Abraham became righteous through the exercise of faith in God. He was justified through faith. Even so, we Gentiles 'are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus.' 'And if ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise.' Gal. iii. 26, 29. 'Know ye therefore, that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham.' Gal. iii. 7. We see then that the blessing in Abraham's case was justification by faith."

Reader, please examine the proof-texts above given, and tell me do you find a single hint given that "justification by faith" is the blessing in its "fullness," as promised to Abraham and his seed? The Scriptures do not say so; the writer has simply affirmed: "We see then that the blessing in Abraham's case was justification by faith." Know you not that justification by faith is simply the "first step" which places the person so justified, in line with God's purpose, so that the blessing in its fulness may eventually come upon believers, and that on account of being Abraham's seed they may become "heirs" to the promised blessings contained in the oath-confirmed promises made to Abraham.

Surely no one will assume that "heirs according to the promise," are inheritors, as long as they shall remain "heirs."

It is truly a blessing to be justified by faith. Abraham was indeed blessed in being justified, and those who are justified along with him, are also blessed as far as that goes; but that is only the first drop in the "showers of blessings" yet to follow. It is at the point of justification that they become "heirs according to the promise," so we see that the major blessing is yet to follow. A person must [illegible] in the "blessing to Abraham's seed" that cannot comprehend the blessing which follows "justification by faith," which act simply makes such an one an heir.

The blessing involved in the covenant with Abraham and his seed, has not yet been fulfilled; although our critic says: "So then they which be of faith are (not will be, but are now) blessed with faithful Abraham." To the contrary of the above, the Scriptures assert that they which be "of faith," are both blessed now and "will be" to a greater extent than now, when they receive that to which at present they are but "heirs." To this our critic says, "not will be, but are now."

Paul says Abraham and his fellow heirs have not as yet received these promises. See Heb. xi. 13, and we learn that these all "died, not having received the promises," or the promised blessings. Death overtook them "before" they had "received the promises," and they are all still dead; hence, they are still "heirs" and not inheritors of the promised blessings. It matters little how many religious teachers may say, "Not will be," because they will be blessed all the same, when the "heirs" become possessors.

Long after our father Abraham and his fellow-heirs had died, Micah (vii. 20) comes to the front, and bears this testimony: "Thou wilt perform the truth to Jacob, and the mercy to Abraham, which thou hast sworn unto our fathers from the days of old." The words, "Thou wilt perform," indicate that as yet he "has not" performed his "mercy to Abraham," which has "sworn unto our fathers from the days of old."

It would hardly harmonize with this text, to prefix it with the words, "Not will be, but are now" performed.

In Acts xv. 8, Paul speaks of Jesus as the "minister of the circumcision of the truth of God to confirm the promises made unto the fathers." Our critic asks: "What is the blessing? Is it not the same which our father Abraham received?" The word "received" [illegible] in the past tense, and indicates the [illegible] was completed. What would [illegible] the use of Jesus seeking to "confirm the promises made unto the fathers," if these fathers had already "received" the promised blessing? They had all been "justified by faith;" yet the blessing in the covenants were still future.

This writer further says: "Then it is not the nation of Israel, but Christ that was meant in the promise, as the channel through whom the blessing should come. The Israelitish people need the blessing as much as the heathen or Gentiles."

True, it must come through Christ, but nevertheless, the commonwealth of Israel does bear a relation to the covenant blessings that Gentiles cannot fill. Are not Gentiles as Gentiles destitute of hope? Must they not cease their Gentile relationship, before they can even be justified? See Eph. ii. 11, 12: "Wherefore remember, that ye being in times past Gentiles in the flesh, who are called uncircumcision by that which is called circumcision in the flesh made by hands; that at that time ye were without Christ, (not justified) being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel; (the civil polity of Israel which is now in suspension, until he comes whose right it is to reign) and strangers from the covenants of promise, (of which justified people only are heirs) having no hope and without God in the world." People who are "without Christ," "having no hope," and "without God in the world," possess not the blessing made to Abraham and his seed. They are not even "justified." This is the condition of all "aliens from the commonwealth of Israel." A faith which ignores Israel's commonwealth is void.

If you turn to Ezek. xxi., you will find the account of the suspension of the active operations of the commonwealth of Israel, until he comes whose right it is to reign. Refer next to Isa. ix., and you will find the prophecy of the birth of him whose right it will be to reign over the restored commonwealth of Israel. In Luke i., we have the account of the birth of this righteous heir, with the declaration by the angels that this is he who should reign on the throne of David over the house of Jacob forever. This looks to the revival of the commonwealth of Israel, with Jesus upon the throne of that commonwealth. When Jesus was about to leave his disciples, they asked him, "Lord, wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel?" This question also indicates that Jesus had previously instructed them about the restoration of that commonwealth, under his per[illegible]ership. These things which relate to the commonwealth of Israel, embrace exactly what Jesus preached as "the gospel of the kingdom of God." Which gospel is now being preached for the purpose of gathering out a people who will be associated with Jesus in administering the affairs of that restored commonwealth. The "covenants of promise" made to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob are specifically related to that commonwealth.

Gentiles as "Gentiles in the flesh," before they can even be "justified" as we have already seen from Eph. ii. 11, 12, must become citizens in Israel's commonwealth. Hence, we must not be too fast in ignoring Israel's position, as it relates to both the covenants, and the commonwealth. It is true, the rebels among Israel will be purged out, if they refuse to comply with God's requirements. But nevertheless the scheme of redemption is Israelitish from first to last and not of Gentile origin.

Our writer also says, "there are nine hundred million souls now on earth who have not heard the gospel." According to that statement this great international blessing of the nations is making very poor progress, if the acceptance of the gospel or the faith which justifies, is the blessing comprehended in God's covenant with Abraham and his seed.

To say that Abraham had faith in God is true, as far as it goes, but it stops short of expressing the faith of Abraham; the faith he had in God, was that he was able, and willing, and would perform his covenant promises. Paul says: "He staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God; and being fully persuaded, that what he had promised he was able to perform." God justified him because of his undoubting faith that he was able to perform his promises, (not that he had already fulfilled his promises,) but was able to do so. We can also be justified on the same ground. The promises are not yet fulfilled, and if we would obtain the justifying faith which Abraham had, we must have the Abrahamic faith which "staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief (of those promises, and God's power to fulfill them) but (he) strong in faith, giving glory to God; and being fully persuaded that what he had promised he was able to perform."

No one can get this justifying faith, if he is ignorant of these specific Abrahamic covenants of promise. Such an one cannot exercise faith in God's power to fulfill promises that he knows nothing about; neither can he either believe, or "stagger at the promise of God, when he is not aware of the existence of such promises. Common sense alone would indicate that a person could not believe in that which he does not know anything about. Can those who are not "of faith" be "blessed with faithful Abraham?" Never! "He must first be of faith," before he can even be "blessed with faithful Abraham, in the matter of justification. And before he can be justified, he must believe, and not "stagger at the promise of God through unbelief," and is it not impossible to believe in that which he has no knowledge of? Hence, we can clearly see why it is, that "strangers from the covenants of promise (Eph. ii. 12) have no hope, and are without God in the world," because the Abrahamic justifying faith requires that we "stagger not at the promise of God through unbelief" of those promises, or of God's power to bring them to pass.

"Wherein God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs (not possessors) of promise confirmed it by an oath, that by two immutable things in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us." Have you "fled for refuge" to the "hope" set before us in these oath-confirmed promises, or have you sought some other refuge? You can find no safe refuge except in the Abrahamic faith.

W. H. WILSON.

"Awake."

Brother Underwood has given us some timely advice in his New Year's Greeting. Every sentence so suggestive. My thoughts were deeply stirred as to our great needs.

I beg leave to add a few words on the same line.

It is too true, as you state, the picture is not overdrawn. How shall we awake? We do not awake from natural sleep without some effort. Surely we will not shake off this lethargy without persistent effort.

Dear parents, are you earnest with your children? Do you read and study the Bible with them at home? We are enjoined to "bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." Are you as anxious to do this as you are to instruct them in worldly wisdom? Do you, dear parents, realize the great responsibility resting upon you? O, may our earnest efforts lead the lambs to the fold before it is too late.

If the Bible is not the theme in the home, Sunday School will indeed be of little use. Let us have earnest worship, songs and prayers on our lips; an earnest desire for the Kingdom, so earnest that there will be reverence for the place of worship. The good wholesome reverence of bygone days, which is at present well nigh lost sight of, and instead a jolly good time, a social event.

The Church and Sabbath School a society ring! O, brethren, let not the Church of the living God be lost in such folly.

The apostle says we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip. This state of affairs described by our Brother, did not come in one short week. Little by little the heart grows cold—little by little cares, worldly pleasures, and all sorts of ungodly things, occupy our time, and the truth and its treasures have been slipping from us. This has been going on for years, so quietly we are lulled to sleep, and many do not realize there is any change.

No wonder we find the admonition Awake! Where are the good old-fashioned gospel preachers? What is the burden of the message you are bearing? Is it, my dear brother, the Gospel? What must we do to be saved? Or is the gospel a side-issue? Where are the good, earnest, honest preachers, by whom the gospel which is God's power unto salvation, is felt? Think of it, dear fellow workers, and consider how that precious gospel is trampled under foot by a minister creating merriment in the pulpit. Think of dismissing a meeting just after a roar of laughter at witty sayings! How unbecoming and utterly ineffectual such preaching.

How becoming, to always close by making prominent some of the grandeurs of the glorious future, and with an earnest appeal to those out of the ark of safety, to turn before it is too late.

O, let us "Awake."

Yours in the One Faith.

B—— N——.

Listen!

Will you, dear believers in the gospel, listen a moment. I wish to call your attention to a lamentable fact, viz:—So many who do not take a religious paper of the faith which we all hold sacred. This condition of things ought not to exist among us. I have always noticed in my travels that those who understand the gospel best—those who live it the most faithfully are those who take THE RESTITUTION, and read it, yes, read it; for sometimes we hear people say, "The paper does not satisfy me," and almost invariably these critics are losing interest in the blessed truth we have had to struggle so hard to maintain. Bro. Zilmer's article, 'Does it make any difference?' is worth, to a beginner, the subscription price of the paper for a year. Try it, dear brother and sister, and see how you have been built up in the faith in that time, and when the year has closed, watch the tag and subscribe at once, and not put our editor, who has already all the burdens he can bear, to any more trouble.

B. W. WOODWARD.

Please Stop My—What?

"Times are hard, money is scarce, business is dull, retrenchment is a duty—Please stop my—"Whiskey? "Oh, no; times are not hard enough for that yet. But there is something else that costs me a large amount of money every year, which I wish to save. Please stop my—" tobacco, cigars, and snuff? "No, no, not these; but I must retrench somewhere; please stop my—" ribbons, jewels, ornaments and trinkets? "Not at all; pride must be fostered, if times are ever so hard; but I believe I can see a way to effect quite a saving in another direction—please stop my—" tea, coffee, and needless and unhealthy luxuries? "No, no, no: not those; I cannot think of such a sacrifice; I must think of something else. Ah! I have it now. My paper, THE RESTITUTION, costs three cents a week; one dollar and a half a year; I must save that. Please stop my paper! That will carry me through easily. I believe in retrenchment, and economy."—The Christian (slightly changed).

Editor Restitution:

My heart is still longing for the master to come and put an end to the strife and turmoil of this world. We see that the Scriptures are fulfilling every day, and men's hearts are failing them for fear of the things that are coming on the earth, anarchy is increasing, even in high places, to a wonderful extent. Is it not time that something should turn up to put a stop to it? My heart says: Come Lord Jesus, and come quickly.

J. B. LENT.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

California-Oregon Excursions

Every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first-class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest times on the road. Finest scenery. Inquire of your nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar. 8

Poetry.

Other Worlds.

Other worlds,—
If other worlds there be in distant space,—
Were fashioned by his hands, as was as this;
And other worlds have seen him and adored,
But which of them contains a Bethlehem,
A Nazareth, a Calvary, a tomb
Hewn in the rock, adjacent to the Cross
That must forever make this home of men
The wonder of Creation? Which of them
Hath witnessed an apostasy red red,
By the Great Sovereign taking on himself
The nature of the fallen? Which of them
Hath seen its mighty Ruler subject-ed
To poverty, and cruelty, and death;
Whilst, with profoundest wisdom, moved by love,
He made those very crimes the scaffolding
To the sublimest structure ever built
By the great Master Builder? Which of them
Hath been the scene of moral discipline
To minds unnumbered, o'er the worthless wreck
Dashed by the storm of diabolic pride
Around the feet of Deity;—a pride
Which though it could not wound him on his throne,
Asked all in scorn if that abortion, man,
The vilest worthy of a God infallible?—

But wisdom infinite hath made that wreck
A monument of glory that shall stand
Bright as a host of seraphs, clothed upon
With the divinity that flows from Christ,
When Satan and his angels all are dead,—
Forever buried, crushed beneath the weight
Of their determined crimes!—hath made that wreck
The great occasion of a reign of grace,
Rising right up to glory, which hath made
The wisest angels wiser, and hath thrown
The texture of divinest harmony
Around Jehovah's attributes; and taught,
The grandest truth that ever kissed the ear,
And made the heart exult,—that God is love!

Selections.

Noah's Ark Described.

A remarkable discovery has been made in the British Museum during the slow course of deciphering the cuneiform inscriptions on earthern tablets found in the ruins of the library of Asurbanipal the Magnificent, King of Assyria from 668 to 626 before the day of Christ.

The new find is that of a tablet that tells in detail of Noah's ark, giving exact dimensions and enumerating the animals that were carried on it to save them from the deluge.

This ancient record, predating even the ancient Asurbanipal's reign by no one knows how many centuries, or even tens of centuries, treats the matter not as legend, but as history.

According to the dimensions given in the record the hull of the ark was almost exactly twice as long, and more than ten times as wide as the Oceanica or the Celtic, the two biggest ships in the world today. Either of the two big ships, when in dry dock, tower eighty feet from keel to lower deck. The deckhouse alone of the ark, according to the tablets, was more than three times as high as that.

So great was this deckhouse that neither the Oceanica or the Celtic could accommodate it on their hulls, for it alone was 400 feet longer than either of these ships are over all.

The description of the ark as given in the tablet depicts it as having been a huge houseboat in form. Thus the present and common conception of what its appearance was is made identical with that conveyed by the old record.

The dimensions are given in cubits in the tablet. It is assumed that the cubit used there is the old Egyptian cubit, which, as is shown by old measuring sticks found in Egyptian tombs, is 20.64 inches. The Hebrew cubit used later was slightly different. There has been no positive agreement as to its exact length. However, the difference, if any, is so slight that it will not affect the figures measurably.

The ark, says the tablet, was 788 cubits long and 410 cubits in its greatest width. It had on its top a deckhouse builded of great rafters of fine woods. This deckhouse was 600 cubits long, and 800 cubits wide, and 150 cubits high.

Thus, using the Egyptian cubit for a basis of measurement, the dimensions of the ark were: length over all, 1,355.36 feet; width or beam, 705.20 feet; deckhouse—length, 1,155.20 feet; width, 670.80 feet; height, 258 feet.

The Celtic and the Oceanica are 704 feet long, 75 or 68 feet beam, respectively, and 80 feet from keel to deck.

The ark, therefore, if it floated alongside of either of these two ships would hide them completely. The top of its deckhouse would be much higher than the tops of the masts of the big liners. While no record is given of its weight, there having been no system of estimating the sizes of vessels by tonnage or displacement in those days, it is evident that the ark must have displaced far more water than did any modern vessel.—Chicago Tribune.

Opening of East Africa.

The British have just given a contract to the American Bridge Company of Philadelphia for the construction of twenty steel bridges along the line of the Uganda Railroad in East Africa. The amount involved is about $1,000,000. English and Continental firms competed in the bidding, but their figures were higher and they could not guarantee to complete the work in so short a time as that agreed upon by the Philadelphia company.

The ordering of these bridges is a part of the plan adopted over a year ago by the British government to complete this great highway on a permanent basis. The first plans, on which original estimates of cost were based, provided for wooden bridges, a partly ballasted line, minimum equipment of rolling stock, and the smallest possible station accommodations.

It was found that such extreme economy would be very expensive in the long run. The nature of the country precludes the possibility of working a partly completed line except at a prohibitive cost, and at serious risk of accident. Accordingly the road, which will be completed in a few months to Victoria Nyanza, is being completely ballasted and made as perfect as possible in all respects; this is the reason why the best of steel bridges have been ordered to replace the wooden structures already built, and those which were soon to be constructed. All these improvements will make the line and its equipment cost about $24,750,000, which is more than twice the amount of the original estimate.

The building of this railroad is one of the most satisfactory enterprises yet undertaken in Africa. The British government was authorized by Parliament to undertake the work, at the cost of the nation, in 1896. About 360 miles of track laying from Mombasa, on the Indian Ocean, toward Victoria Nyanza, had been completed on March 31, 1900. Just a year later 481 miles had been finished; on August 5 last, the completed portion of the line was 517 miles long leaving only 64 miles to be built. Port Florence, the inland terminus of the road, is on the northeast coast of Lake Victoria. The line will be 581 miles long.

The British government has already transported one steamboat in sections to the lake. The cost of transportation, it was estimated, was about one-fifth of the cost of operating the whole railroad for a year. Two more steamboats, drawing ten feet, will be carried by rail to the lake early next year, as soon as the line is completed. These steamers, plying to various ports on all sides of the lake, will be feeders for the railroad. They will make the commerce of the regions all around Victoria Nyanza directly tributary to the railroad.

The great enterprise is already having a remarkable effect upon the people near the lake. The natives are moving to the railroad route. The town of Nairobi has now 8000 inhabitants, and numerous other centers of population are rapidly forming.

Mr. Henry M. Stanley said, some years ago, that over 50,000 porters were then employed along the English and German routes to Lake Victoria. The native demand for European goods was steadily increasing. The commodities at that time imported for the use of the natives and Europeans amounted to about 1800 tons annually, and the cost of carrying these articles from the sea to the lake was about $1,950,000 a year. He believed that a great increase in the traffic would occur when freight rates were reduced by the railroad.

We have scarcely any idea of the enormous price that is charged in Uganda, on the north shore of the lake, for American and other cotton cloths. A piece of cloth that is worth 35 cts on the coast is sold in Uganda for $2.50; in other words, a ton of cloth purchased at the coast for $570 is worth $3,000 in Uganda, the difference of $3,420 being required to cover profit and expense of carriage. It is reasonable to suppose that the demand for foreign commodities will greatly increase as soon as the enormous prices charged for them are reduced.

The natives of East Africa have had very little to do with building the railroad. In the past two years an average of 22,248 men, of whom 10,742 were natives of India, have been working on the roadbed. Early the next year, as soon as the grading operations and ballasting of the track are completed, thousands of the Indian laborers will be paid off and returned to their homes.—New York Sun.

"Count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations" not when you run into them.

The Anarchist Propaganda in Spain.

A writer in El Imparcial, calls attention in an article to the extensive growth of anarchism in Spain, and says that a look at any of the show windows of book stores demonstrates only too clearly the kind and class of books being read by the people.

"The Conquest of Bread," "Words of a Rebel," and "Memoirs of a Revolutionist," by Peter Kropotkin; "Evolution and Revolution," by Elisee Reclus; "The Universal Sorrow," by Sebastian Faure; "Money and Work," by Leo Tolstoy; "Gods and the State," by Michael Bakunin, etc., are among those mentioned as the most popular and widely read.

Back of the books, says the writer, comes the army of pamphlets, in which the Frenchman Estievant and the Italian Malatesta are most prolific. Then come the newspapers. In Madrid alone three weekly anarchist papers are published. In all [illegible] than a dozen [illegible] issued, some having a circulation of over 12,000. The press also publishes anarchist books as serials. "The Conquest of Bread," for instance, has had three distinct translations, and the number of copies issued was at least 20,000. No book in Spain has had of recent years such a large circulation with the exception of "Electra" and "Quo Vadis."

These books, pamphlets and periodicals are not read in the manner of other publications, which, after having been perused once, are put away in the library and forgotten. The readers of anarchist works have no library, nor do they buy for themselves alone. It is the custom of several workmen to gather at some house, where one reads, the others listening. The writer says he was present one evening when "The Conquest of Bread" was read in this way. This is merely an illustration of the tendency of the laboring class.

The spread of anarchism in Barcelona is fearful. The propaganda is today being extended among all the workmen of Catalina. In Andalusia the preaching has passed from the cities into the country. In Extremadura there are 15,000 men attached to societies contaminated with anarchistic ideas. There are anarchists in Galicia, in Linares, in Carthagena, centres of mining, and the workmen of Valencia, the Asturias, and Gijon are followers of anarchist theories.

There are 400,000 workmen, in round numbers, who are connected with associations whose official object is for the increase of salaries, but in whose constitutions have entered the principal characteristics of anarchism. The writer does not wish to say that there are 400,000 anarchists in Spain, pure and simple, but that the active propaganda in the way of literature embraces that many Spanish workmen. Now is the time, concludes the writer, to interfere and restore society and the country to right thinking before it is too late.—Public Opinion.

More Than One Way to Grow.

"How long have you been here?" asked a fresh looking young poplar that grew in a hedge row, of a sprending oak not far off.

"I don't exactly know," said the oak, "somewhere about a hundred years, I suppose."

"A hundred years! and no taller than that. Why, I was only planted last spring twelve month, and I am nearly as tall as you now."

"Yes, I think you are," said the oak.

"You must have wasted a lot of time," said the poplar.

"That depends on what our [illegible] given us for."

"Well I suppose there's no doubt it's given us for growing," said the poplar as she bent her head to the evening breeze, and scornfully fluttered her pale green leaves.

"True, friend; but you seem to forget that there is more than one way of growing, as you would soon find if you came to measure my trunk and compare it with yours. If a banner pole were wanted, they might take you, though I doubt it: for from the way you are bending now, I question if you could stand in a gale of wind; but if they were looking for timber for a man-of-war, I know pretty well which would be chosen."—Christian Commonwealth.

When a meeting is held in your neighborhood, and an addition is made to the Church, see that THE RESTITUTION goes to the home of the new convert. It will help to keep them in the right way, and aid in their growth in grace and a knowledge of the truth. See to it that they have the paper regularly.

The Bereans Column.

[Any one reading the society of "Bereans" [illegible], will supply the copy, and endeavor to fill the space once a month.]

Repent and Turn to God.

"Repent and turn to God, and do works meet for repentance," was Paul's message to those wherever he journeyed. Should it not be ours to the world today? What was to be the result if they obeyed? "To open their eyes, and to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them that are sanctified by faith in me."

Repent—change the mind or course of conduct. Before this point can be reached, there must be a realization of the condition of man. He is under condemnation. Freedom from sin and its consequences, has been offered [illegible] the mercy of God, in the gift [illegible]. "God commendeth his [illegible] died for us.

Realizing this, comes the resolve to change the course of conduct, and accept the offer of freedom from the bondage of sin, and we turn to God to learn his will and the way of righteousness. This he has revealed in his word. If we have fully repented it will be a delight to study his Word, and seek for light.

"To the law and to the testimony; if they speak not according to this word it is because there is no light in them." We find there are conditions to be complied with. Those who would have life everlasting must believe in Jesus Christ. To believe in him is not only to believe he exists, but to believe his teachings, and all things concerning himself.

When Jesus began his ministry on the earth, he went about preaching the Gospel (good news) of the kingdom of God, and sent his disciples to teach the same. Teaching them to seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness. Nearly all the parables of Jesus taught things of the kingdom.

To fully understand what is meant by the kingdom of God, we must go back to Moses and the prophets. In them we learn of the promises of a land inheritance as an everlasting possession, from them should descend a great nation, and of One in whom all nations of the earth should be blessed. Then began the growth of that great nation, the Israelites. God's special people. Their kingdom was called the kingdom of God. 1 Chron. xxviii. 5. They were ruled over by Moses, Joshua, the Judges, then Kings, of whom Saul, David, (to whom a covenant was made, Jer. xxiii. 14-17; 2 Samuel vii. 12-16,) and Solomon.

Through the transgression of Israel the kingdom was divided, finally, in the reign of Zedekiah, overturned, to be no more until the rightful heir shall come. This was to be Christ. Jer. xxiii. 5, 6; Isa. ix. 6, 7; xvi. 5; Mat. ii. 6; Luke i. 32, 33.

The disciples did not understand that Jesus must first come as the Lamb of God, the sacrifice for the sins of the world, but that he had come to restore the kingdom to Israel. Luke xxiv. 18-27; Acts i. 6. But after his resurrection and the receiving of the Holy Spirit, all things were brought to their remembrance, John xiv. 26, and we find them teaching of Jesus as "the High Priest, whom the heavens must receive until the times of restitution of all things spoken of by the prophets," when he will come in glory, establish his kingdom, judge the [illegible] righteousness, and he that [illegible] and worketh righteousness will be accepted of him. Believing these things we must do the works meet for repentance, or as John says, "Bring forth fruits answerable to amendment of life." Repenting and believing does not free us from sin. What will? "Arise, be baptized and wash away thy sins." Obeying from the heart this command, we arise to walk in newness of life. Rom. vi. 3-11. This brings us into Christ, makes us children of God, Abraham's seed and heirs, according to the promise. Gal. iii. 26-29.

"Beloved, now are we the sons of God and it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that when he shall appear we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is, and every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure." "Add to your faith, virtue, to virtue, knowledge, to knowledge, temperance, to temperance, patience, to patience, godliness, and to godliness, brotherly kindness, and to brotherly kindness, charity." "For if these things be in you and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. But he that lacketh these things is blind, and can not see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins. Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure; for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall; for so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ."

ANNA E. DREW.

Dear Bereans:

As I have had a call to write a little I feel it my duty to do what I can in the work of the Lord.

I am all alone in this beautiful Wisconsin city, and look around and see so very many people, I do feel some time I would like to say something to get them interested, so they could see and feel that our dear Lord is near at hand.

I get THE RESTITUTION every week, and am glad to see the young at work. I often think of the dear old song that [illegible] "Work for the night is coming," think we cannot work too much, as young people, as our older ones are becoming tired. I read so many good things that the brethren and sisters write, I feel that mine will not amount to much.

I received a call from Bro. Craton, who is on his way to Palestine to send us a little news in regard to that land. I hope he may be able to go on with his undertaking.

I have been a member of the Church for three years, and have only had the pleasure of hearing or meeting with our people once, but I am not discouraged. I read their letters, and get quite well acquainted with them. If we get acquainted with Jesus we can feel we are not alone, and have got a friend, if we read his word and believe his teachings.

Ever your Sister in Christ, waiting our coming King.

MRS. HENRY WINTER.

Obituary.

Died, in Watson, Allegan Co., Mich. Jan. 14th, 1902, Mrs. Chaney Nichols, wife of Brother Nichols, aged 69 years and 3 days. Harriett R. Hazelton was born Jan. 11th, 1833 in Ludlow, Vt., came to Mich. in 1840, and was married in Watson, May 9th 1852, to Chaney P. Nichols. The funeral sermon preached by Elder B. W. Woodward from Psa. lxi. 20. Mrs. Nichols leaves an invalid husband, two sons and two daughters to mourn for and miss her as only a faithful wife and mother can be mourned. We too, will miss the welcome we have always received from her. May God's promises be a comfort to the bereaved family.

M. A. WOODWARD.

Dear Restitution:

I have been requested by Brother John Cochran, to send a few lines relative to the last one of his family, in addition to what Brother Foore may have sent.

He was recently, Dec. 28th, called upon to part with the last one of his family, the only remaining comfort of his life, his anticipated joys are blasted like the withered rose. He had worked and planned for years to give this son a proper education and a chance in life that he himself had not had the opportunity to enjoy. Being all the one he had to work for, his mind was naturally centered on him. But all is now changed, and Claudie is at rest. Many in Indiana as well as Kansas will remember Brother Cochran and wife Ollie. It was near Eagle Creek, Ind., under the efficient labors of Brother Carter that they felt the necessity of obedience to the call of the Master, and put on Christ by baptism. Their devotion and love for the truth was always commendable.

In the fall of 1888 they came to Kansas, locating at Millerton. The following year, August 20th, Sister Cochran after a brief illness fell asleep in Jesus, and in less than a month after their infant son was laid to rest by her side, leaving a desolate home and aching hearts. Claudie, the remaining child, was taken in charge of by his grandparents, Brother Jacob Reed and wife, with whom he remained until death separated them, being as dear to them as their own son.

The writer of these lines has known Claudie ever since he was a babe in his mother's arms. He had just passed his 18th birthday, was a bright, intelligent boy, and by his kind disposition and winning ways, had hosts of friends, as the large concourse of old and young that followed him to his last resting place would testify.

While he was attentive to church and Sunday School, the favorable opportunity had not come when his life went out. But we sorrow not without hope. 1st Cor. vii. gives great consolation to the believing ones. One thing is sure, we know God will do all things well, he is acquainted with all our troubles and trials. We admonish his schoolmates and friends that now is the time, draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. May God bless the lonely father, and comfort him in his affliction. May his good work go on until the crown of life be won.

To Brother and Sister Reed, we would say, Be faithful until the coming of the Redeemer, who will do more for us than we are able to think or ask. Our reward is just ahead. Let us pray Thy kingdom come, when death, sorrow, disappointment and trial will end, and the inhabitants will not say, I am sick.

J. S. MILLER.

In the springtime of life he was taken,
The beloved of home, and of friends,
And tonight 'neath the clods of the valley,
He rests till the last trumpet sounds.

We will miss his dear [illegible]
We [illegible]st for his footsteps at evening;
But Claudie will not come again.

The springtime will come with its blossoms,
The birds will sing ever the same,
But the voice of our loved one is silent;
We never shall hear it again.

Not again until Jesus, blest Jesus,
Bursts asunder the bars of the tomb,
There together in Eden, sweet Eden,
We will meet, ne'er be parted at home.

God has promised, and he will fulfil it,
From the enemy's land they will come;
Our children who sleep there in bondage,
Shall arise from their lone silent home.

Blessed are the dead that die[illegible],
That dieth dear Lord in thee.
These words from the dear lips faltered,
As life slowly ebbed away.

But its only farewell for a moment;
Soon Jesus our Savior will come,
And this long night of sorrow and weeping
Give place to the glorious dawn.

LYDIA CHAPLIN.

To the Brethren and Sisters in the State of Iowa:

I wish to say a few words to you through the columns of THE RESTITUTION, in regard to obtaining funds for the support of our evangelist. Many, no doubt, have already given to this fund, and are willing to contribute more if they see the necessity of so doing.

The fact is, we never have a sufficient amount in the treasury, to fully compensate our Evangelist for his labor during the year, and on this account he has been compelled to discontinue his work part of the time and do manual labor in order to support himself and family. This should not be, and we think with an effort on the part of those who have already contributed, and especially from those who have not paid anything into the treasury to increase this fund, ample means could be raised to keep one Evangelist in the field during the year, and enough to compensate others who are able and willing to go out and proclaim the truth to any and all that favor them with a hearing, in all places in the State where proper arrangements can be made to hold meetings.

Offering to God, by giving liberally to the various means required for the spread of the gospel may cost us sacrifice and self-denial, but what are these compared to the good results that may follow.

Bros. Eychaner and Allard have left their comfortable homes and started out in the work, and will continue at least during the winter, if sufficient means are raised to support them while thus engaged. They are brethren capable of rightly dividing the Word of Truth, and presenting it in a pleasing and forcible manner to all who may have the opportunity, and are willing to give them a hearing. I believe it is a privilege as well as the duty of every Brother and Sister in Iowa, to contribute liberally toward their support. Remember it is more blessed to give than to receive, and the Lord loveth a cheerful giver. Send money to A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa, and he will receipt to you for same.

P. B. STOUFFER, Cor. Sec.

California Illustrated.

Copy of the illustrated monthly, The Chicago 400, a journal of travel and topics, reaches us by the courtesy of the Chicago & North-Western R'y. It is one of the finest illustrated publications that we have ever seen. The tinted half-tones rival those of the finest magazines, and the letter-press of the whole edition is as perfect as that of any publication ever issued, pictorially and descriptively mirroring California's wonderful scenery. Copy delivered free on application, or mailed to any address upon receipt of two cents postage, by A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar 8

Obituary.

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ:

It is with a sad heart that I take up my pen to announce the loss of a dear Sister by the arch enemy death. Sarah Elizabeth Cook, better known as Libbie, fell asleep in Jesus, New Year's evening, Jan. 1, 1902, at 17 minutes past 10 o'clock. She was born Jan. 31, 1850, being nearly 52 years old; the same age her father, Wm. Fish, was when he fell asleep. Libbie having inherited heart disease from her father, died with the same disease that took him from us; this same month, 1867, augmented however by pneumonia setting in, the result of a severe cold contracted just before the holidays. She was taken sick Christmas morning with a severe pain in her heart, gasping for breath. Medical aid was summoned and when the heart action was reduced, the family hopeful that her life might be prolonged yet a little while, her frail little body could not withstand pneumonia, and New Year's day was truly sad one to the bereaved family, brothers and sisters of kindred ties.

She had a premonition she would be her last Christmas in this life; and was putting forth all her strength and energy to make this one unusually enjoyable; her expressed wish for all her family to be together for dinner and to exchange gifts one to another. Her devoted sons were making every effort to make this Christmas a memorable one. And such will it be—three sad anniversary days henceforth, as the burial took place on her eldest son's birthday. Frail but uncomplaining little mamma was not equal to the excitement and undue exertion.

Sister Libbie was baptized into the all-saving name, Jesus Anointed, together with Homer A. Cook, in this city, Springfield, O., Feb., 1869. On the thirteenth of May, the same year, she was united in marriage to Mr. Cook. Dayton, O. being her home, they have always resided there. To this union six children came to adorn and bless their home. Together with the husband and father, five children and four interesting grand children mourn her loss. They are Mrs. Kittie Maltby, Mary E., Harry, Charles B. and Glenn L., Earl, Homer, Jessie and Clyde Maltby. Frank, a bright boy of 15 years, having died after an illness of 4 days, May 15, 1892.

The funeral service was held at the house, Jan. 4th, and conducted by the pastor of the Baptist church of that city. Sister having frequently conversed with him in her home on Bible truths—and he knowing her faith and hope, several of the children being members of the Baptist church, their request was acceded to—sister being one of the isolated ones of the household of faith. She attended our meetings here whenever her strength permitted. The children requested Rev. Corilby to just read I Cor. xv., saying that would cover mamma's belief. And he did so, in connection with 2 Cor. v. 1-7—read very impressively. His remarks were good; urging the bereaved ones "to turn to and love the God she loved, and the Savior she loved." "What more can I say, for from my talks with our friend I can freely say she was a Christian woman." Her last audible words were, "I am going to sleep." And so "Asleep in Jesus," and "Nearer my God to thee," she so loved, was softly sung by a quartette. She was then borne out from her home for the last time by her four sons, and the sad cortege wended its way to Woodland cemetery and there consigned to the tomb by the side of her son Frank.

All of her own brothers and sisters were present except Mrs. Mattie Kidder of Bloomfield, N. J. They are Mrs. Mary Kauffman, Mrs. Louisa J. Nellis, Miss Jessie Fish and the writer, all of Springfield. Luther S. and Almon B. Fish of Cleveland, O. Mrs. E. E. Cook, Mrs. Julia Warren, and Mrs. Flora Andrews of Ashtabula, O., brother and sisters of the bereaved husband were also present. Beside a host of relatives, friends and neighbors. Loved by all who knew her.

Suffering as she was all day, not a murmur of why it was so escaped her lips. The sweet, patient life went out easily, peacefully; with her last expiring breath she opened her eyes, her face lighted up with angelic radiance, then closed her eyes and mouth with a sweet smile and all was still. Robed in white with sweet flowers about her she so dearly loved, with her beautiful white hair, she truly looked like a beautiful, peaceful sleeping angel. Thus has gone another one of the household to await the resurrection morn.

I can only urge Bro. Homer to renew his love for the truth, fight a good fight for it, as did his companion, and that he with the children will all so revere the memory of their sweet mother, and to so live that they may all meet as an unbroken family in the kingdom of God.

MATILDA WOODBURY.

Change in time of Trains on Pennsylvania Lines.

Under a new schedule in effect Nov. 24, 1901, passenger trains over the Pennsylvania Lines leave Plymouth station as follows:

For the East—2:58 a m daily, 10:23 a m daily except Sunday, 2:35 p m daily, 5:45 p m daily, 7:55 p m daily extra fare train, 8:39 daily except on Sunday, 9:55 p m daily.

For the West—5:15 a m daily, 6:30 a m daily extra fare train, 9:22 a m daily except Sunday, 12:07 p m daily, 2:15 p m daily except Sunday, 6:08 p m daily.

For particular information on the subject apply to J. E. Hanes, Ticket Agent, Plymouth.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O.

If you are anxious about the well-being of some friend and would like to have him see and embrace the truth, subscribe for this paper to be sent to him. It will talk at times and places that you cant. It may make opportunity for you to say a word that will make you friend a joint-heir with the Lord Jesus Christ. It has been done. Why not try it?

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending THE RESTITUTION to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the donors request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

W D Townsend	1.50
Elizabeth Renner	.50
L F Gunn	.50
Mrs D Hogarth	3.00
Mr & Mrs Thos Pasco	3.50
Mrs Richard Mitchell	.50
Stephen Hogarth	3.00
Mrs R H Cobbs	5.00

Do you like to get THE RESTITUTION each week and read the articles and letters it contains? Did you ever think that your brother who sits near you would get a like benefit and enjoyment if he had it also? Get him to subscribe for 1902. It will cost you very little to ask him, and you may be the means of doing him good.

New Station at Chicago.

Commencing Dec. 29, 1901, all trains on the Nickel Plate Road, during the rebuilding of the Van Buren St. station, will arrive at and depart from the Grand Central station, cor. Fifth Ave. and Harrison St. Chicago.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 288 pages, cloth 25 cents, leather bound, embossed, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it. We have undertaken to dispose of these books for the Widow of our lamented Brother Jones, and while getting them at this low price, you at the same time will help Sister Jones to much-needed money.

Subscribe for THE RESTITUTION for 1902.

We need a few hundred new subscribers. Now is a good time of year to get them, and we are asking our friends to make an effort in this line. We do not want you labor for nothing, and so make this offer as an inducement to work a little.

The trouble between the British and the Boers in South Africa has drawn the attention of all classes to the "Dark Continent." It is an old country, but one of which little has been known till of late and the changes that have taken place there and what is now happening are making history. Mr. William Harding a noted writer, being connected with the Associated Press reports in the Boer War, and an extensive traveler in Africa, has written a book of over 500 pages giving accounts of the people and land, development, etc. Many illustrations of scenes and persons are contained in it also, making it a work of interest and value to all. The price [illegible] at $1.50.

Our offer is this—Pay your subscription to the end of 1902, send us two new subscribers for the year 1902, making $4.50 to be sent us, and we will send the book free of cost to you.

As an inducement to persons to start now with their subscriptions, we will enter their names as soon as sent in, giving them credit to the end of 1902, thus presenting them with the papers for the balance of 1901.

If you send in four new subscribers and your own for 1902, we will send you two of the books, and you can use it as a gift to a friend that cannot fail to be appreciated.

If you can use a few extra copies of our paper send a card and we will be glad to mail them to you. Try this, and besides getting free a work of this character, you will help THE RESTITUTION by increasing its list. The sooner you send in the more papers of 1901 will go to the subscribers. In every locality there are numbers of brethren who do not now take our paper, so that you have a good field to work in. Do your canvassing as soon as possible.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 150-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God—Twelve large size pages, [illegible] comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

A few Reasons why we should not believe man goes to heaven at death.

Good Reasons why we should not believe man has an immortal soul.

What must I do to be saved?

Where are the dead?

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

Any one who can use the services of Bro. L. H. Chesebrough in holding meetings, can address him at Unionburgh, Mich.

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

EARLY LESSONS, suitable for young or old, 30 pages, sold formerly for 10 cts a copy.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time. Bro. Jones had large editions of these tracts printed, and by dying suddenly, and his Widow being in feeble health, we have undertaken the task of selling them. Her income is quite limited, and all that can be gotten out of the sales goes to her after expenses are paid. When you buy these tracts you get several times the [illegible] of your money, and also aid a Sister, who will thank you

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,

General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,

General Immigration & Industrial Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

A FREE PATTERN
(your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.
McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50 CENTS A YEAR
A LADIES' MAGAZINE.
A most beautiful colored plate; latest fashions; fascinating serials; fully illustrated; daily fashion hints. Send for sample copy, or send 5c. for latest copy. Lady Agents wanted. Send for terms.
Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.
McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ 15¢
Only 10 and 15 cents each—none higher. Ask for them. Sold in nearly every city and town, or by mail from
THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St., NEW YORK.

VANDALIA TIME CARD
In effect Jan. 1, 1902.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10,	Ex. Sun. For	South Bend	8:40am
No. 14,	" "		12:01noon
No. 8,	" "		10:25pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21,	Ex. Sun. For	Terre Haute	6:48a m
No. 3,	" " "		12:34noon
No. 9,	" " "	Logansport,	7:15pm

Trains 3 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address C. W. Hartman, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo.

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Fike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clinkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
S. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, Cal.
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wince, Pierceton, Ind.
C. J. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Scircleville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prince Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Nevin, 4507 S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E. Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Buyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Onawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. B. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal
J. R. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas,
W. O. Stelle, Fremont, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Elnora Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Owiggins, Ontario Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Grahum, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Goin, Jefferson, Ore.
A. F. Cordill, 508 S Main st, South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 134, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hicklin, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Rich Remington Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hall, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal
A W Darby Ransom Kan

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth N. J.

The Restitution
ON TRIAL
Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.
WILL YOU TRY IT?

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and B. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Rensselaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 A. M., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrins. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God at Burr Oak, Ind. have preaching every 2d and 4th Sundays at 10:30 a. m. and in the evening. Bible meeting every Thursday evening. Samuel Osborn and C. A. Maxey Elders. Sunday School every Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Georgia Osborne Sec. of the S. S. All are invited to any of the services.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:00, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through the city, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker's, 209 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 A. M. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1281½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsboro, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by A. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Eshelman.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's Hall, Galena Ave., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Bruch Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Knife, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Anthon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Hainis Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Truedell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Groat of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder, Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take your time and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertized in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME LI. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, FEBRUARY 12, 1902. NUMBER 6.

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

Are We of the Many?

There are many to care for the ninety and nine,
Safe sheltered within the fold,
But who will seek for the one that is lost
On the mountain bleak and cold?

There are many to join the song of joy
When life to the dead is given;
But who will lead from the slums of earth
A soul to the gate of heaven?

There are many to crowd the seats of light
By the side of the crowned King;
But who, in the garden or wave, will drain
His chalice to suffering?

Lord, do we who per chance thy friends
Or love that is pure and true?
And say when the cribble and cross pass by,
"It is one whom I never knew?"

Communicated.

The Future Life.

A friend of mine, who is a licensed preacher, said to me, "I would not give much for all the Bible reveals concerning the future life." Paul says, 1 Tim. iv. 8, "Bodily exercise profiteth little but godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come." The Apostle in this Scripture teaches very plainly that there is a future life, but leaves it to other Scriptures to teach the nature of this life. As long as men and women believe that God is "without body or parts" the future life is an unreal existence. When we are taught to believe in a personal God, with body and parts, we then believe in a real personal existence in the future. Our future existence will be as real and corporeal as our present one.

Now that the dead are raised, even Moses showed at the bush, when he called the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living; for all live unto him (on the resurrection). If we could remove that doctrine that is universally taught that we have a conscious existence apart from bodily organization, the primitive doctrine of a future resurrection and life would be a consoling doctrine. Paul says, 1 Thes. iv. 18, "Wherefore comfort one another with these words." With what words, viz., "The Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first; then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air, and so we shall ever be with the Lord." verses 16 and 17. We submit this Scripture to teach those who are asleep will be raised when the Lord shall come. Also (in preceding verses) the apostle teaches that those who are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall be changed. Those who are alive shall not precede or outstrip those who are asleep, but both shall be caught up together. One class shall be raised and the other changed. Let Paul speak further, 1 Cor. xv. 51, 52, "Behold I show you a mystery; we shall not all sleep (or die), but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump; for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed."

How little we hear in these days of a physical resurrection from the dead. The doctrine of the soul's immortality is taught, which does away with the need of a resurrection. There is not a false doctrine taught that does not have for its foundation the devil's lie, "Ye shall not surely die." To us it is taught in the form of the immortality of the soul. If the eloquence used to uphold this dogma were expended to teach that Christ arose from the dead and showed himself alive after his passion by many infallible proofs, being seen of them forty days and speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God, many of the false ideas prevailing would disappear and we all would be able to rightly divide the Word of truth. How few who study the Bible seek for the truth on this one point, viz: the resurrection of Christ from the dead. Why did he remain so long teaching his followers that he had arisen? That they might believe and go forth and teach sound doctrine.

We might here inquire as to the character of his resurrection. First he appeared unto the women who had visited the sepulchre with spices, and found it empty. They receive the welcome news from the angel. He is not here; for he is risen, as he said, "Go tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead, and behold he goeth forth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him. When the women went to tell his disciples he met them and they held him by the feet and worshiped him. They recognized him as their crucified Lord having body and parts. Two of his disciples on their way to Emmaus walk and talk with him, and in the breaking of bread he is known to them. Did he appear as a spirit or a real person? They saw him as they had known him before his death. And as these disciples were telling the news Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and said unto them, "Peace be unto you." They were affrighted and supposed that they had seen a spirit (phantom). Note the language that follows, "Why are ye troubled and why do thoughts arise in your hearts? Behold my hands and my feet, that it is I myself; handle me and see; for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have. And then he asked, Have ye any meat?" They gave him a piece of broiled fish, and of an honey comb and he took it, and did eat before them. They handled him and he did eat before them that their unbelief might be removed and the truth of his personal existence established. Thomas refused to believe except he should see in his hands the print of the nails and see the spear wound in his side. After eight days he was with the disciples and Jesus appeared in their midst, the door being shut. And he said to Thomas, Reach hither thy finger and behold my hands; and reach hither thy hand and thrust it into my side; and be not faithless but believing. We see that some did not believe until they were forced to believe by handling their Lord, and Thomas went so far as to say I will not believe except I see the nail prints in his hands and the spear wound in his side. This testimony was all given to prove that Jesus was as real after his resurrection as before it. Was not this just what these doubting ones demanded? Certainly it was. Jesus was no phantom or disembodied spirit but a person with body and parts. Does not Paul in 1 Cor. xv. prove this doctrine? What a sermon we find here. He was seen first by Cephas, then of the twelve. After that he was seen of above five hundred brethren at once. And last of all he was seen of me also, as of one born out of due time. He walked, talked and ate with them. They handled him and Thomas thrust his finger into the nail prints in his hands and his hand into the spear wound in his side. It would be a very skeptical person who would not believe placed as they were. But blessed are they who have not seen, and yet have believed. Believe what? The personal appearance of Jesus after he arose from the dead. In Paul's letter to the Corinthian church he first proved that Christ died according to the Scripture and that he was buried and that he rose again the third day according to the Scripture. Then we are told that our resurrection is based on his resurrection. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that sleep. But every man in his own order; Christ the first fruits; afterward they that are Christ's at his coming, Christ our first fruits, afterward we who are looking for him will be like him. If we have proven, which we have, that Christ could be handled after he arose does it not prove that we shall be like him for we shall see him as he is, and as the disciples saw him having a body and parts. But if the spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken their mortal bodies by the spirit that dwelleth in you. Rom. iii. 11. Our conversation is in heaven from whence also we look for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body. Phil. iii. 20, 21.

In this article we have been able to give but a small part of the testimony regarding the future life. That we shall have a spiritual body is plainly proven by the Apostle in [illegible] Cor. xv. 42 to 54. To give all proofs on this subject would necessitate the proofs on the kingdom of God and restitution of all things, which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began. For did he not promise his Apostles, Matt. xix 28, "That ye which have followed me, in the regeneration when the Son of Man shall sit in the throne of his glory, ye also shall sit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel. We are taught that Christ did not mean real thrones but spiritual ones. In fact their traditions make the Word of God of no effect. In Rev. iii. 21. "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame and am set down with my Father in his throne." Rev. v. 10, "And hast made us unto our God kings and priests; and we shall reign on the earth." Matt. v. 5, "Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth." Christ shall sit upon David's throne which then will be his throne and he shall sit on it. "I have made a covenant with my chosen, I have sworn unto David my servant. Thy seed (Christ) will I establish forever, and build up thy throne to all generations. His seed shall endure forever, and his throne as the sun before me." Psa. lxxxix. 3, 4, 36, "He shall judge thy people with righteousness and thy poor with judgment. He shall have dominion also from sea to sea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth." Psa. lxxii. 4, 8. In Daniel vii. 27, we find this dominion and the greatness of the kingdom is under the whole heaven. The Scripture is full of the doctrine of a future kingdom in which Christ is King of kings and we who believe will be associate kings and priests on the earth, and with Christ, we shall help in the glorious work of the restitution of all things. The work of removing the curse from the earth, and sin from among the people so that the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord as the waters cover the sea.

This faith in a real existence in the future and a real kingdom over which we shall help to rule, creates a hope which we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and steadfast, and which entereth into that within the veil; whither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an high priest forever after the order of Melchisedec. We submit the above in Christian love hoping that those who do not believe these truths will examine to see if they be Scripture or not and thereby seek for glory, honor and life.

D. C. ROBISON.

"Revivals."

To revive is "to bring again to life, to re-animate," and hence a "revival" is a restoration to life of what was really or apparently dead. A person who is apparently dead and comes to life is said to revive, that is, he resumes the life he formerly enjoyed. It is said of Christ that he "both died and rose, and revived." Rom. xiv. 9. He had been really dead, as he himself said, "I am he that liveth, and was (became) dead." Rev. i. 18. When he lived again he "revived."

The term "revival" is applied to a series of religious meetings which are characterized by the vehemence of the preacher's exhortations, the enthusiasm or fear thus created, and the number of persons who during such efforts, in revival parlance, "get religion." The more excitement there is, the wilder the enthusiasm, the greater the number of converts, the better the "revival." It is commonly understood that though there may be a great deal of preaching of the Word of God, if there is not a large number of "converts," the revival is not much of a success. But a revival of the modern type would scarcely deserve the name revival, either from the lexical or Scriptural point of view. If those sinners were really converted, they were not revived, that is, made to live again, but quickened, made alive the first time; unless they "got religion" the winter before, and "backslid" [illegible] harvest time, and had to [illegible] Many have escaped the observing and thinking reader that a great many of the revivals of our day do not partake of the same degree of excitement as did those of former days. We hear of hundreds of persons being converted through some "special revival services," but this is done mainly by "raising the hand," or "being prayed for," or "sign your name," or some such arrangement. Formerly men were "shaken over the pit," their fears were appealed to, their feelings were harrowed by horrible death-bed scenes of those who had died in sin; they went to "the altar," sometimes "wrestling with God" in agonizing prayer for weeks before the desired evidences of their acceptance were obtained. Excitement ran high, and often the meetings were prolonged until after the midnight hour. The confusion was indescribable. Some were calling loudly and excitedly for pardon, others engaged in singing, while still others leaped in ecstatic joy. But the modern revival is very tame when compared with that of the good old bygone days.

Seriously, what about the "revival"? Are any of the things here alluded to, to be found in the records of the apostolic church? If they are, we ought to understand them and should employ them today; if not, they must have been superfluous then, and are not called for now. Of this there can be no doubt, that the first great awakening after the establishment of the church had in it a great deal of the Word of God, "as the spirit gave utterance" to those who spoke. Acts ii. Those men by the spirit were reminded of the words of Christ (John xiv. 26;) these words, through which men were to believe (John xvii. 20). they presented to the people with such directness and force that men "were pricked in their heart," and anxiously inquired, "What must we do?" Acts ii. 37. What was the answer? Were they told to "Raise the hand," or "Come up to the altar and pray," or "Sign a card?" Nothing of the kind. But having evidences of faith on the part of those persons, the Apostles commanded them to "Repent and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins." They were not assured as we hear men today, "It does not matter whether you are baptized; those of you who wish may, but if not, it is just as well." "The spirit gave utterance" to Peter to say, "Every one of you." When Saul of Tarsus had been for days in a most pitiful state of contrition, and Ananias found him thus, did the latter say to him, "That is right, keep right on. No, but he did say, "Why tarriest thou? arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord." Acts xxii. 16. The command expressed the universal practice in the early church. Answers similar in import were given to all who inquired about the way of salvation. Why is not this plan followed at the present time? Not long ago the writer was in a place where a great "revival" was in progress, and it was said that the preacher, who was known as a "revivalist," stated, "We will not have much preaching, but simply have a revival." One might ask, A revival of what?—without preaching! What is to be done according to the Lord's commandment to cause men to obey his will? "Preach." Preach what? "The gospel." Mark xvi. 10; Matt. xxiv. 15. "Preach the Word." 2 Tim. iv. 1, 2. "Faith," we are told, "cometh by hearing (preaching), and hearing by the Word of God." Rom. x. 17. And God has seen fit to "manifest his Word through preaching." Titus i. 3. How can that "Word" be manifested if there is no preaching, and very little reading and study of it? To me it looks as if the men who employ modern revival methods have lost (if they ever had) faith in the Word of God to accomplish what it was designed to do. The apostles' highest ambition was to get that Word before the people intelligently. And so we read, "The Word of God increased, and the number of disciples multiplied in Jerusalem greatly." Acts vi. 7. Paul requested that the Ephesian Christians might be "praying always with all prayer and supplication IN (note the preposition in, not for) the spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication—(for whom? "All the sinners?" Not at all, but)—for all saints, and for me." Why? "That utterance may be given me." Utterance of what? "That I may open my mouth boldly, to make known the mystery of the gospel, for which I am an ambassador in bonds; that therein I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak." Eph. vi. 18-20. That "Word of the truth of the gospel" (Col. i. 5) when faithfully presented and intelligently apprehended, does not fail to accomplish its mission, and requires no man-made artifices or human assistance to make it "work effectually in them that believe." 1 Thes. ii. 13.

Why is it about July and August each year the country is full of so-called "back-sliders?" Is it because the grace of God is not sufficient to sustain men and women amid trials and temptations? Not so, but because they have no root in themselves (Matt. xiii. 5, 6, 20, 21), not being rooted and grounded in the truth. In this way the cause of God, and God himself, is needlessly reproached, because men are persuaded to believe they are Christians, when they have not read, much less studied their Bibles, when they have not begun to learn the first letter of the first principles of Christ. Heb. vi. Jesus pronounces him "a wise man who heareth and doeth these sayings" of his. Matt. vii. 24. He is able to resist the force of the "floods" of worldliness that beat against him, and the "winds" (of doctrine. Eph. iv. 14) he has to encounter, as well as the "storms" of adversity that come. It will require some "digging" through the rubbish heap of human tradition to get down to the "rock;" some time will be required to accomplish this, but mark you: We have started out to build a character that is to endure the test of time and meet the scrutiny of Christ when he comes to bring to light the hidden things of darkness. Therefore let us get down to a solid foundation for the "house" we build. "The Word" is to be presented faithfully. It is able to save (Jas. i. 21), to make wise unto salvation (2 Tim. iii. 15), to build up (Acts xx. 30) to cause to grow (1 Pet. ii. 2), and to fully furnish the man of God for every good work. 2 Tim. iii. 16, 17. Then let us "hold forth the Word of life" (Phil. ii. 16) to dying men and women, and trust God for the results. He said, "It shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it." Isa. lv. 11.

A. H. ZILMER.

Life Everlasting.

What do we understand this phrase (life everlasting) to mean? Is it to live a short number of years and then die? Is it a mere existence, or is it something that is to last for ever? Where is this life everlasting to be given and when? Who giveth that kind of life, and are there any conditions in which to gain that kind of life? It is a life which will never end, one that lasts for ever. Then, why do we not live here for ever? Why? Because we have all sinned, and come short of the glory of God. Rom. iii. 23. So it is evident that sin or disobedience of the law of God, the punishment is death, hence we cannot live for ever in this world, but listen. God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have have everlasting life. Jno. iii. 16. Then if we believe in God, we should not perish, or die, but have everlasting life. To believe is to have faith. So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God. Rom. x. 17. So if we study, or hear the Word of God, and believe, we have faith. Then these are the conditions that we first hear, or study the Word and believe, or have that faith which is in Christ Jesus, and be baptized, which is necessary for us to gain an inheritance, of that everlasting life. Christ tells us in Mark xvi. 16, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved. How? Just for a little while and then be cast out? No, but saved unto eternal or everlasting life. So if we believe in God, we have that promise of eternal or everlasting life.

When is this kind of life to be given us? As soon as we have believed, repented and been baptized, or as soon as we die, or some other time, when is it? It is to be given at the second appearing of the Lord Jesus, according to Jno. v. 29. And shall come forth, they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.

Then brethren, let us strive to live this mortal life, so that we may be worthy of that life immortal. Immortal, well then if that life which is to be everlasting, is immortal, then this life must be something altogether different; but where will we find the difference, let us go to 1 Cor. xv. 42-45, "So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption. It is sown in dishonor; it is raised in glory; it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power. It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body. And so it is written, the first man Adam was made a living soul; the last Adam was made a quickening spirit." So we see that a mortal being is one that is full of dishonor, one that is full corruption, one that is weak, a natural being or body. An immortal is one that is full of glory, incorruption, power and a spiritual being or body.

We have thus found the meaning of the phrase life everlasting, when it is to be given, to whom, and what the conditions are to gain such a life. And would ask of the brethren and sisters to correct me if they find where I have made any mistakes and ask an interest in the prayers of you all. May God bless us according to the deeds done in the body, is my prayer.

From your brother in Christ.
ROBERT H. BAIRD.

Those to whom we have sent letters telling about your accounts have not all made response as yet. Brother or Sister, we urge you to be sure and not neglect this matter longer. We want to pay our obligations—this is the reason why we ask you to give us what is due at once. If we could satisfy those we are under obligation to any other way we would not ask you, but as it is the only way we know of, we must hear from you to enable us to do so. We trust all will see the necessity of this and act NOW.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending THE RESTITUTION to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the doners request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

Ellen White	.50
Matilda Woodbury	.50
Helen Fyle	1.50
Mrs L W Cummins	.50
A E Bradshaw	1.00
Mrs R G Riggs	8.50
Mrs M J Woodworth	2.00
David Elton	1.00

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Office Editor.

Editorial Committee.
J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, Special Contributor.

Plymouth, Indiana, Feb'y 12, 1902.

Faber says every hour comes with some little faggot of God's will fastened upon its back.

Roland Hill said I would give nothing for that man's religion whose very dog and cat are not the better for it.

Only when we are on the right side are we on God's side. Until then we are defying God, and we cannot succeed.

Christ's brethren love the zealous and disinterested advocates of the truth; and are careful do nothing to embarrass them.

The Psalmist says, "There be many that say, who will show us any good? Lord, lift up the light of thy countenance upon us." Psa. iv. 6.

"All virtue lies in strength of character or of moral purpose. Gentle, winning qualities arise into virtues when pervaded and sustained by moral energy."

An attempt to put an end to troubles by a skillful or adroit settlement of affairs in other ways than the right way is sure to be a failure. "Nothing is settled until it is settled right."

Tersteegen says, "How God rejoices over a soul, which, surrounded on all sides by suffering and misery, does that upon earth which angels do in heaven,—namely, loves, adores, and praises God!"

On last Sunday the fire losses in the United States reached the neighborhood of fifteen million dollars. Patterson, N. J., St. Louis, Mo., and New York, were the large sufferers. A number of lives were lost also.

The Record-Herald says that Cleveland capitalists incorporated as the Cleveland Construction Company, have obtained concessions for electric lines from Cairo, Egypt to Mount Sinai, and thence along the coast of the Red Sea through Syria to Mecca,—a branch is to connect Damascus with the Mount Sinai system. It also says trolly cars are already running from Jerusalem to Galilee. And the progress of Zionism with Jerusalem as its centre promises a net-work of trolly lines centering there.

It not unfrequently happens that writers gives voice to statements that have a most important significance when viewed in prophetical light, and yet without the least thought or idea of what they are really doing. Recently a writer in the New York Independent gave us one of these occurrences in these words: "Prosperity during these later years has made us mad. We talk of money. We dream of money. We clutch wildly—as individuals and as a people—at show, at position and power. Divorce is a common factor in our daily life; the domestic woman, we think, belongs to a forgotten date back near the flood. The youngest college boy or girl jeers at the Bible, and "has doubts" about Christianity. We are Theosophists, Buddhists, Christian Scientists, Agnostics—anything rather than followers of the Nazarene."

The Saturday Globe of Utica, New York, recently published a speech delivered at Pittsburgh, Pa., by Rabbi J. Leonard, in which he speaks well of Christ as a man and a Jew,—and indeed goes so far as to say that he was "one of the brightest spiritual gems in the jeweled coronet of Jewish worthies," and "worthy to be coupled with his greatest brother." To this a contemporary journal replied "That Jesus was what he claimed to be or he was a deceiver,—no half way about it. There can be no Jewish bargaining upon this question. Of course the Rabbi's "blindness" is as Paul says, "in part"—concerning Christ's first coming. He says, "If the Jews do not accept him as their Messiah it is because he does not fulfil the conditions promised concerning the Messiah. With Messiah's advent war is to end, ignorance is to disappear, brute force is to go, idolatry is to vanish, justice is to be universally established, peace is to be the possession of all men. Until these conditions are fulfilled the Messiah promised in the Old Testament—and there is and there can be none other—will not have come."

The End of the Age.

For forty-four years we have believed that the evangelizing of the world through the agency of the church to be a great delusion, having no authority whatever in the Word of God; on the contrary, it is therein plainly revealed that the close of this dispensation will be characterized by unprecedented wickedness culminating in unparalled judgments. Speaking of that day which shall come as a snare on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth, the Lord says, "Watch ye therefore and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass and to stand before the Son of Man" Luke xxi. 36. Here we have an intimation that his watchful disciples will escape the terrors of the closing scene, when the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled,—and this is something the Spirit frequently brings to the minds of the Apostles. In 1 Thes. i. 9, 10 we find these words:—"Ye turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God, and to wait for his Son from heaven, even Jesus, who delivered us from the wrath to come." Here the present is put for the future, denoting the certainty that Jesus will deliver those who wait for him from the wrath to come upon the world of the ungodly. And in chapter v. 2, 4. 8, 10 we read, "For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night. For when they shall say, Peace and safety, then sudden destruction cometh upon them as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape. But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief..... But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet the hope of salvation. For God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ." The contrast here between those who shall not escape and those who shall be saved from the day of wrath is very striking. The salvation which the latter are to obtain is, of course salvation from the tremendous terrors of that day. It is the righteous taken away from the evil to come. Then shall two be in the field; the one shall be taken graciously.—as in John xiv. 3, "I will come again, and receive you unto myself,—and the other left. "Two women shall be grinding at the mill; the one shall be taken and the other left." Matt. xxiv. 40, 41. Those who are left shall be exposed to the tempest, before the bursting of which on the earth the others are taken. Referring to the case of Noah and Lot, Peter says, "The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished." 2 Peter ii. 9. The flood did not come till Noah was safe in the ark; the fire did not fall upon the cities of the plain until Lot was removed from danger; the vials of wrath will not be poured upon the earth until those who wait for the Lord are taken to a place of glorious safety. "Because thou hast kept the Word of my patience, I will also keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth." Rev. iii. 10. What a remarkable Scripture!—"The Word of my patience;" what a revelation there is here of the dispensation of God's grace, and of the certainty that, in consequence of rejecting God's favor it will end in judgment. And what a proof that to look and wait for the patient, long-suffering Savior is the duty and privilege of the believer! An attitude which is to be rewarded by removal from the terrible scene of trial before the judgments descend. Let us heed the note of warning, and escape.

The End of Gentile Times.

Concerning the end of Gentile times a recent writer says: "Austria is the sun of the European heavens. Like the natural sun it has its rise, its progress across the firmament, and its setting. Of course it is a long time since it shone in noon day power and splendor. Its warming power and light have been feebly felt in Europe for many years. But it still shines. It will continue to shine until "the tribulation of those days" be ended. "The tribulation of those days" must be coeval with Israel's displeasure and Jerusalem's down-treading,—which in turn must be co-terminus with "the times of the Gentiles." Now, the times of the Gentiles are quite an ascertainable period. They will terminate in about ten or twelve years. You will remember that Emperor William, as a result of his conference with the Czar, announced that the peace of Europe was assured for ten years. The Emperor of Austria, though over seventy years, is a hale man, and not unlikely to live for another decade. His death may coincide with the expiry of the Gentile times, which would mean the darkening of the sun of the political system of old Europe. There is no direct heir to the Austrian throne, and the most far-seeing statesmen are preparing for a great change on Francis Joseph's death.

It will require about ten years to achieve the immediate object of Zionism, which would then be ready to go right on with the settlement of the land when the great upheaval or change takes place. The Gentile nations are likely to be very prosperous for the remaining years of their times. Then Israel's star will very rapidly be in the ascendant. Their prosperity will advance wonderfully until 1927, or 1290 years from the Mahommedan conquest of Palestine in 637, with a corresponding stringency of Gentile commerce and industry. The accumulated treasures of Palestine would be very great and Russia, the [illegible] of the nations, would [illegible] situation then present the favorable movement for the completion of her destiny. I think the situation thus outlined could be prepared in thirty years, certainly not in less. Therefore there are many years before Christ comes. As I have said before, it is doubtful whether you or I "or any of the elders who over-lived Joshua" will be alive at Christ's coming. There is therefore a work to do, to guard and defend the truth and help to keep alive the love of it as much as we can in the hearts of the brethren. I believe every great revival truth from Pentecost till today has travelled from the Ephesian state to the Laodicean. The revival of the Truth passed away some time ago; and.....part of our wisdom consists in recognizing the times we live in, in more senses than one." J. L. in A.

Christian Science Again.

It is well to be on our guard against the wiles of the Adversary. His manifestations in these days are well calculated to deceive. In times past the lines were plainly drawn, antagonism was open and above board. There was little attempt to play the counterfeit by men and women of Ingersoll's school. Now Satan comes to us as an Angel of Light. "Christian"(?) Science, and other like names are given to the theories he is advancing, till numbers have been and are being deceived and led away from the truth. It is an old but true saying "Forewarned is fore-armed," and it sometimes is well to give a sample of the sort of work these people are doing, that all may be informed.

A prayer for a dyspeptic was drawn up by a Mr. Hazzard, President of the New York School of Primitive and Practical Christian Science. This is printed in one of their publications called "Faith Healing and Christian Science," and should be enough to settle any one who has the least idea of the Truth as it is in Jesus. We give the prayer in full:

"Holy Reality! We BELIEVE in Thee that Thou art EVERYWHERE present. We really believe it. Blessed Reality, we do not pretend to believe, think we believe, believe that we believe. We BELIEVE. Believing that thou art everywhere present, we believe that Thou art in the patient's stomach, in every fiber, in every cell, in every atom, that Thou art the sole, only Reality of that stomach. Heavenly, Holy Reality, we will try not to be such hypocrites and infidels every day of our lives as to affirm our faith in Thee and then immediately begin to tell how sick we are, forgetting that Thou art everything and that [illegible] art not sick, and therefore that [illegible] ing in this universe was ever sick, is now sick, or can be sick. Forgive us our sins that we have this day talked about our backaches, that we have told our neighbors that our food hurts us, that we mentioned to a visitor that there was a lump in our stomach, that we have wasted our valuable time, which should have been spent in Thy service, in worrying for fear that our stomach would grow worse, in that we have disobeyed Thy blessed law in thinking that some kind of medicine would help us. We know, Father and Mother of us all, that there is no such thing as a really diseased stomach; that the disease is the Carnal Mortal Mind given over to the World, the Flesh, and the Devil; that the mortal mind is a twist, a distortion, a false attitude, the HARMATIA of Thought. Shining and Glorious Verity, we recognize the great and splendid Fact that the moment we really believe the Truth, Disease ceases to trouble us; that the Truth is that there is no Disease in either real Body or Mind; that in the Mind what seems to be disease is a False Belief, a Parasite, a hateful Excrescence, and that what happens in the Body is the shadow of the Life in the Soul. Lord, help us to believe that ALL Evil is Utterly Unreal; that it is silly to be sick, absurd to be ailing, wicked to be wailing, atheism and denial of God to say, I am sick. Help us to stoutly affirm with our eyes fixed on Thee, that we have no Dyspepsia, that there is no such thing, that there never was any such thing, and that there never will be any such thing. Amen.

Human Credulity.

Last week we gave the decision of Judge Tuley against Dr. Dowie, in which he referred to the "assets" of the concern, naming that of "the credulity of human nature" as the first, and as inexhaustible. The Chicago Tribune in commenting on the subject has the following:

In a recent decision Judge Tuley spoke of "the credulity of human nature which appears to be an inexhaustible asset." The Judge is correct when he characterized it as "inexhaustible." It is the one attribute of human nature which does not change with the light of time nor the growth of intelligence. The people of the twentieth century are as ready to take up with every new doctrine that is set forth, however absurd it may be, as were the men of Athens in Paul's day, and they are as apt to let credulity lead them into hysteria as were the men and women of Salem village in Mather's day.

The extent to which human credulity can go is strikingly illustrated by the occurrences reported from Cedarville, N. J., where a considerable portion of the population, after listening to revivalists, has been seized with a sudden religious frenzy. Some attend the meetings and become so ecstatic that they fall to the floor and their bodies become rigid. Some are at home waiting for the world to come to an end. Some roam the town declaring that they have been anointed as divine healers, while others pretend to be members of the divine Trinity. The man who started all the excitement is in the insane asylum, two or three of his followers also have gone there, and to save the rest of the hysterical crowd from the same fate the few people left in the town who have retained their senses are taking decisive action to put an end to the crazy business.

It is not at all surprising that whatever has any connection with the mysterious, the supernatural, or the occult should strongly appeal to many persons, especially those of an emotional nature who are not grounded in any strong belief. The breaking up of the old theological foundations and the conflict between science and theology has left many persons without any settled belief, and they eagerly turn to every doctrinal fad that makes its appearance. Apart from the natural credulity of human nature it is a propitious time for bogus Messiahs, false prophets, and divine healers.

The day after the decision of Judge Tuley against Dowie, as stated last week, the attorneys went to the Judge and asked that the case be dismissed, as Dowie had paid overa satisfactory amount to the complainant, and all was settled. The exact amount is not known, but with the costs of the suit it will not fall short of $178,000.00. This sum must be gotten back, and will have to come from the pockets of the "faithful." No wonder the Judge said that "human credulity" was the most valuable asset the concern had, for the reason that the supply is inexhaustible.

Communicated.

Report of Labor.

On Jan. 2, Bro. Eychaner and myself repaired to Ames, Ia., to hold a series of meetings at Bloomington in Bro. Hipsher's neighborhood.

We were met at the train by Brother Hipsher who is 86 years old, strong in the faith and soon coming of the Master. He took us out to his home where we were very hospitably entertained, and in the evening we went to a little Union church at Bloomington where we met a goodly number of people, strangers to us and also to the covenants of promise.

We began telling them of the things concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus the Christ, continuing until Jan. 12, the audience increasing in numbers and attention. It seems to me if our brethren in Iowa could have seen how eager these people were to know of these things, and hear so many say, Why have we not heard these things before? there would be plenty of means to keep several men in the field all of the time. As it is now, we have only one man in Iowa making a business of preaching the gospel, and he is employed only half of the time.

I some times wonder if we are doing our duty as a church body, and giving of our means freely. Paul says, How shall he preach except he be sent, and how shall they hear without a preacher.

Brethren, it is high time to awake out of sleep, for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed. We ought to have the means to keep several men at work all the time. Our meeting at Bloomington was a source of much joy to others as well as ourselves, and several expressed themselves in sympathy with us, but desired to hear further before taking a decisive step. We feel confident that ere long we shall reap a bountiful harvest at this place.

Brethren pray for us, and may God bless and keep you from the evil that is in the world.

Yours in hope.

O. J. Allaud.

Dear brethren in Michigan:

We cannot write each one a personal letter and thought to use our dear paper as a source of communication. We are now at Waterville holding meetings, 25 miles from Wenatchee where we first landed at 3:30 Sunday afternoon. We left Dutton Thursday morning, at 5:20, leaving Grand Rapids at noon for Chicago, leaving there at 6:30 p. m. for St. Paul. From here we took the tourists car for Wenatchee, not changing cars again. Friday at midnight the thermometer ran down to 62½ degrees below zero, that was about as cold as we cared to see it. Cars lost four hours in running through Minnesota and Montana, on account of the cold weather, but no accidents occurred and we reached our first destination all right. We stayed there until Tuesday and at 7:30 a. m. got on the steamer "Echo" bound for Orondo. But we do not always know what we are going to do, even when every things seems fair. The little boat started out so bold and fast that the captain assured us that we would reach the stage route in about 2½ hours. We moved on nicely for about a mile and a half, when an account of so much slush ice the steamer got caught in the swift current, and stood still for a half hour, the fireman adding more coal and engineer forcing on steam until the pipes could stand no more and exploded. We had been obliged to go below as there was no fire in the upper cabin. When the explosion occurred we were in the same room, but at the farther end. I called to the Elder "The boiler has exploded, hurry out." I ran for the hatch way, pushing up the door, and holding it up for him and another passenger to escape, she came behind me, but the steam rushed in so fast the Elder could not find the stairs for a minute or so, breathing the hot steam and scalding one hand so that now, the fourth day it still smarts. We reached the dock at last and watched the little vessel float down stream. They tried to throw us a line from the ferry boat but failed, down we went past our early landing. The captain calling for help, several men started on the run over the rocky path, to reach the little skiff that had been lowered with two men who were trying to force the ice back and gain a distance where the rope could be caught by the land men. Every effort failed until we had floated back about 2½ miles. At last the captain tied a rope around the cook stove and lowered it for an anchor. Anxiously we watched every effort to land the disabled vessel. Six men from shore found a dead and fallen tree, dragged it to the ice, threw it over. Thus making a bridge to crawl out on and catch the life line. The men in the little skiff had forced the ice back and reached a place where they could hold the skiff and wait until the line could be caught. Two men crawled out on their rude bridge, the first nearly reaching the end, when he fell off in the river. The man behind grabbed one foot and pulled him back and over he went himself. The water here was not very deep, if it was cold, and he easily gained a foothold and then both caught the life line and we began to breath easier. They soon had us drawn to a safe distance from shore. It did not take us long to land, and then we climbed the almost perpendicular bank, two men carrying our satchels, and started down the railroad track for Wenatchee, tired but very thankful to be safely housed on dry land again. We stayed all night with Bro. Patterson's people, and at eight o'clock Wednesday morning Bro. Lake had us warmly tucked in a covered hack with hot bricks and lighted lanterns brought out by the dear thoughtful sister Patterson to add to our comfort, and we started on the 25 mile ride to Waterville, preferring the overland route to trying the steamer again. We reached the ferry at about 8:30 a. m. Bro. Lake gave the signal to the boatmen to come for us, but they seemed deaf to all our calls, for we stood there on the bank of the river, thermometer 10 below zero, wind blowing quite stiff, for one hour. At last we are on the ferry boat and slowly starting over, pushed out perhaps three rods from shore, when both keys to the wire lines broke, and back we drifted to land, with spikes and nails they finally had the rope wound up again, and we went across the river flying, had almost reached the opposite shore, when away went the windlass again and back we drifted to our landing. Then the blacksmith had to be interviewed; we sat in the hack and waited for repairs. Bro. Herbert Barnhart was waiting on shore to cross over. He with another lad made a fire, got part of the bricks out and warmed them for us, and at 11 o'clock, after 3 hours waiting we drove off the ferry, and was really on our way to Orondo, where we stopped for lunch. Bro. Oscar Tethero was there waiting for us and in less than two hours he had taken us through the beautiful Corbaley canyon, and a warm fire and a hearty welcome awaited us at his home. We both got considerable addition to our colds, but began meeting the same evening, and hope with God's help to be the means of doing much good in building up the cause of Christ and pointing sinners to the gospel. May we have the prayers of the household of faith, earnest, effectual prayer. Will write again soon.

Yours in the Master's cause.

M. A. Woodward.

What Constitutes a Christian?

From the heathen standpoint the word signifies all who are born in a Christian land, or of Christian parents. In the eyes of some it means all who profess a belief in the religion of Jesus Christ. Webster tells us that a Christian is "a real disciple of Christ; one who believes in the truth of the Christian religion and studies to follow the example, and obey the precepts, of Christ. A believer in Christ who is characterized by real piety." But from a Bible standpoint, and from God's point of view, What is a Christian?

1. In faith. He is a believer in Jesus Christ. To be a Christian we must believe that he is the Son of God, the Savior of mankind; that he died for our sins, and that he will fulfil his word.

2. In relationship. He is a child of of God. "He came unto his own, and his own received him not; but as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God." Jno. xi. 11-12. If we have become sons of God, it implies that we have submitted ourselves to the laws that govern the household of faith, even as a child must be in subjection to the household rules of its earthly parent. It means also that we are entitled to enjoy all the blessings of the household of God.

3. In character he is a saint. To be a saint signifies a sanctified person.

5. In conflict. He is a soldier. "Thou therefore endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." As a soldier is intended to be a fighting power, there is a battle implied in the above Scripture, something to be conquered if we are to be Christians. The foes implied are three in number: (a) The world, (b) the flesh, (c) the devil. But with the whole armor of God on, and the sword of the Spirit in hand, we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.

5. In the world. He is a stranger and a pilgrim. Our citizenship is in heaven from whence we look for the Savior; for "here we have no continuing city," but we seek one to come. We are not of this world, even as he is not of this world.

6. In expectation. A Christian is an heir. "If children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ." "Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son then an heir of God through the Spirit;" for "If ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise." Our inheritance is to be life everlasting (Matt. xix. 29); a home in the kingdom on the new earth (Matt. v. 5, and xxv. 34), and in the city of the New Jerusalem. 1 Pet. iii. 5, and Rev. xxi. 2, 7, margin.—B. J. Glazier, in Titus.

Poetry.

Sitting at the Savior's Feet.

Sitting at the Savior's feet,
Resting in his love complete,
If I ever there may stay
I shall never go astray.

Sitting at the Savior's feet—
Oh, what glory! oh how sweet!
Knowing he will ever guide,
For in my heart he doth abide.

Sitting at the Savior's feet—
Help me, Jesus, I entreat,
To let my light shine day by day;
Keep me in the narrow way.

Communicated.

The Will of God.

The will of God is set forth in his Word. Those who are ignorant of this Word have no knowledge of his will. No greater boon can come to man in his sinful and mortal condition than the heaven inspired book, styled the Bible. It contains a message of love addressed to the ear and heart of man in his hopeless and helpless condition. The great question for us to settle is, what is the will of the Lord? Says Paul, "Be not unwise but understanding what the will of the Lord is." Eph. v. 17. The gospel is God's will clearly expressed in words that a child can understand. It is God's power unto salvation to every one that believeth, to the Jew first and also to the Greek. Rom. i. 16. This name "Greek" as used by Paul is equivalent to Gentiles or nations. Others than Jews were to be taught the will of the Lord that they might render obedience. This extension of knowledge and obedience "kept secret since the world began" or according to the Diaglott "kept concealed in the times of the ages," Rom. xvi. 26, was, under the apostolic ministry, "made known to all the nations in order to the obedience of faith," ver. 26. The mystery ceased to be a mystery. With a view to disclosing the secret the apostles appealed to the prophetic writings. So Paul affirmed. This extension of gospel privilege and blessing is embodied in the great commission. Having stated his authority, Jesus said to his ambassadors, "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in (into) the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit." Matt. xxviii. 19. In Mark the field of labor is all the world and the subject matter of proclamation is the gospel. This is what they were to teach the nations.

In Luke in further supplementing the record, repentance or reformation was to be preached in his (the Son's) name. These primitive preachers knew what they were to preach. Many a man goes out now in obedience to what he supposes to be a divine call, to preach without knowing to what, in the main, the gospel relates nor what repentance means; nor that baptism is immersion in water. His creed written out in full is a perversion of the gospel as anciently preached. He is ignorant of God's will. Ananias in announcing to Paul the fact that God had chosen him says, "that thou shouldest know his will." If the preacher does not know the will of the Lord how can his converts know it? The sinner must know himself, in the light of God's law, which expresses his will. Says Paul, "I had not known sin but by the law; for I had not known lust except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet." Rom. vii. 7. Sin is the transgression of the law. 1 John iii. 4. To transgress is to go beyond, pass over, step over, rebel, revolt. Sin cannot in the light of these definitions, be in harmony with God's will, though there be unreasonable men to so affirm. Sin is intolerably sinful before the holiness of God, as borne witness to under the old dispensation of law, by so many purgations of uncleanness by blood and water; by such vigorous defences of holy things, by such a complex system of sacrifices for transgression whether committed willfully, or in ignorance, by the carefully guarded approaches to Jehovah to obtain his favor, by the awful sanctions attending the giving of the law, and by the terrible penalties for violations of the divine commands. "Fools make a mock at sin." Prov. xiv. 9. Today men jest about sin and crime, using light and flippant language to set before the public the many violations of law, of order and decency.

THE WAY TO GOD'S MERCY.

If by disobedience man became alienated from God it must be through obedience that he is to be brought into a condition of reconciliation to the good Being he has offended, who alone has the right to dictate the terms of pardon. These terms express God's will as to what he would have man believe and do in order to remission of sins, and the obtaining of eternal life. To change these terms by substituting others only aggravates the case of the sinner, showing that he is impenitent and still in revolt to his Maker. The human side to this question is one of implicit faith and cheerful obedience. He who comes thus cannot fail to obtain mercy and favor. He who pauses to discuss the reasonableness or fitness of the terms has his own way to favor and has no ground for indulging a hope of future blessing; and, has no evidence of remission of sins that are past. His feelings as witness are ruled out of court here. Before he can know that his sins are pardoned he must know that he has complied with the conditions. God is faithful and will pardon the sinner at the point he as Sovereign authority, has specified. Man has sought in various ways to rid himself of his burden of guilt. He has made long pilgrimages to tombs and shrines, and sacred places to find ease to his conscience; he has endured self inflicted torture and done penance under difficulties in order to feel that an angry God is propitiated; has agonized in prayer at "anxious seat" or at some spot his bewildered fancy has pointed out as the place to find mercy; and has placed himself under the power of noise and hypnotic influences almost equal to that of raving dervishes in order to find the peace his heart so anxiously craves. Men without the Bible might be excused and pitied in their blindness in thus feeling after God: but what can be said by way of excuse of men with Bible in hand and numerous examples of apostolic preaching and conversions under it, right before them in the Acts of the Apostles, and to which their attention has been often called? Can there be any excuse for groping and blundering at noonday as in the night? I must insist that God has revealed in plain terms, the way of approach to him. He has not done what a Roman tyrant did, posted his laws so high that the people could not read them and punished them for infractions of these same laws. He has not beset the conditions with the puzzling intricacies of the language of human laws over which theologians as lawyers might split hairs. Don't object, my sincere friend, by saying "preachers disagree; then how can I know who is right?" Yes, preachers disagree among themselves, and disagree with the Lord. This is nothing here nor there to you. What saith the Word?

J. L. WICE.

Genesis. Chap. 40.

1. And it came to pass after these things that have been recounted, that the chief wine-pourer of the king of Aiguptos, and the chief food-provider for their lord, the king of Aiguptos sinned.

2. And Pharnoo became wrathful with his two eunuchs, the chief-wine-pourer and the chief-food-provider, namely:

3. And he placed them under guard in the prison, in the place where Jooseph had gone.

4. And the chief-warden committed them to Jooseph, and he atood by them; and they were days in the prison.

5. And they both saw a dream-vision in one night; and the seeing of the dream vision of the chief-wine-pourer and the chief-food-provider, who belonged to the king of Aiguptos, who were in the prison was this.

6 Jooseph came in unto them at dawn, and saw them and they were disturbed.

7. And he asked the eunuchs of Pharnoo, who were with him under guard, committed to his lord, saying, Why is it that your faces are cast down?

8. And they said unto him, We have seen a dream-vision, and there is no one to interpret it; and Jooseph said unto them, no? Is not the solution of them through God? Discourse them to me.

9. And the chief-wine-pourer discoursed his dream-vision to Jooseph, and said, In my sleep there was a vine before me.

10. And on the vine were three main branches, and it was flourishing and bore buds; the grape-clusters were ripened.

11. And the cup of Pharnoo was in my hand; and I took the grapes and crushed them into the cup, and gave the cup into the hand of Pharnoo.

12. This is the comparison thereof. The three main branches are three days.

13. Yet three days and Pharnoo will have remembered thy authority (archer) and will restore thee to thy office as wine-pourer, and thou wilt give the cup of Pharnoo into his hand according to thy former authority, as thou wast wine-pourer.

14. Moreover remember me thyself when it shall become well with thee, and show thy mercy to me, and make mention about me to Pharnoo, and deliver me out of this wall-place.

15. Because I was stolen out of a land of Hebraioi; and here I have done nothing, but they have cast me into this pit.

16. And the chief-food provider perceived that he had compared correctly, and he said to Jooseph, I also saw a dream-vision, and I thought I was carrying three baskets of groat-cakes upon my head.

17. And in the basket above was the work of a food-provider from all the kinds that Pharnoo was accustomed to eat; and the flying things of the heavens were eating them from the basket above my head.

18. And Jooseph answered and said unto him, This the comparison thereof. The three baskets are three days.

19. Yet three days and Pharnoo will take off thy head and will hang thee upon a tree, and the birds of the heavens will eat thy flesh from off thee.

20. And it came to pass on the third day that it was Pharnoo's birthday, and he made a drinking-feast for all his house servants; and he remembered the authority of the wine-pourer, and the authority of the food-provider in the midst of his house-servants.

21. And he restored the chief-wine-pourer to his authority, and he gave the drinking-cup into the hand of Pharnoo.

22. And he hung the chief-food provider even as Jooseph had given to them the comparative interpretation.

23. And the chief-wine-pourer did not remember Jooseph, but ignored him.

COMMENT.

Last verse "ignored" that is tried to forget him instead of "forget" R. V.

Observe that these two chiefs here called "officers" in the R. V. were also "eunuchs" like "Potiphar" in previous chapter.

"Groat-cakes" instead of "white-bread" R. V.

No distinction between "flying things" and "birds" in R. V.

Observe the word translated R. V. "interpretation" is literally "comparison" which gives the reader the clue to Jooseph's way of interpreting the dream-visions. There is another word in the Greek commonly used for our word "interpret." "Drinking-feast" instead of "feast," R. V. is at least suggestive in various ways.

These "chiefs" were higher officials than mere "butlers" and "bakers." They were members of the king's cabinet. The "three branches" were what the vine-dresser knows as "fruit-branches" not "creepers." The "three baskets" were being carried the one above the other, and the upper one was a sample basket for inspection.

CHAS. GARDNER.

The Seven Last Plagues.—No 2.

We are now to consider the three unclean spirits and their mission, the last plague and its effect.

These spirits must be numerical bodies. Three persons would hardly have sufficient power over the kings of the earth to marshal them to the great conflict. Those parties who appear in the great conflict are as follows: The beast, the false prophets, the kings of the earth and their armies.

These kings are the ten that agree and give their kingdom to the beast; for these will make war with the Lamb. see Rev. xvii. 14; xix. 19.

These spirits proceed from the mouth of the dragon, the mouth of the beast, the mouth of the false prophets. Their mission is to gather the kings of the earth to the battle of the great day of the omnipotent God.

This battle will take place in the great day of the Lord that hastens greatly. While these armies are gathering, the Lord comes as a thief upon the world, and his saints are gathered unto him, hence, they are with him when the battle takes place.

The spirits are demons, working miracles. Babylon the Great becomes a hold of every foul or unclean spirit, a hold of demons, etc. We need not get outside the great city to find the three spirits that are unclean as frogs. The dragon is that old serpent called the devil and satan. When the dragon gives to the beast his throne, his power and great authority, we see embodied in the beast the elements of the four kingdoms of the visions. He is like a leopard,—Grecia; he has the feet of a bear,—Medo-Persia; the mouth of a lion,—Babylonia, see Dan. vii. Being the dragons successor in power, the elements are combined in him. The first one of the four is called the kingdom of man, Dan. iv. The elements of man's rule were in it. These elements in turn were in each one as it arose; but the man of earth as a ruler has lost his grip and fails to hold his kingdom together. The elements of strength was in the fourth kingdom; but the element of strife and contention arose and division was the result. When first divided the woman of the vision obtained a strip of territory, and her prince became a prince among princes. Then she had a kingdom. The beast is a kingdom, this kingdom restored is the beast that arises out of the abyss. The ten kingdoms will be her dominion when she reigns over these ten kings. The beast is scarlet in color, she is clothed in purple and scarlet, scarlet cardinal red, purple the office color of the old empire. Now the false prophet is the [redacted] arises out of the earth and [redacted] ple to worship the beast [redacted] out of the sea, and to make an image to said beast, and to worship this image. Thus we discern the intimate relationship that exists between the dragon, beast and the false prophet, and as these three spirits proceed from these three entities we must expect to find an intimate relationship existing between the three spirits, all unclean and all workers of miracles. This relationship we find in Paganism, Catholicism and Protestantism, all build on the old serpent's doctrine, all aim to go to one place. Each one of these has a system of it's own, but not according to the Word, each is a worker of miracles, all are hero-worshippers.

Now, of all the creatures the Lord God has made, none, perhaps, are more unclean than the frog. It lives, moves and multiplies in dead, fetid, stagnant waters. What is the doctrine of the old serpent but a pool of stagnant waters, wherein deception, lust, idolatry, murder, superstition, tradition, witchcraft, fornication and abominations of earth are gendered. Now we have an inkling of what these spirits may yet do in marshaling the kings of the earth in the squall raised in China. What is that to the storm that is brewing. The nations will become angry; for God's wrath will come. The plagues will be poured out, and in their drunken fury they will rush like the rage of many waters as Jesus said. The gospel of the kingdom will be proclaimed for a witness to the nations, and will be confirmed by the signs of these plagues. This proclamation is due in the closing up of this age, and when it has been made, then will the end come. These plagues are a great sign and they are the last signs given. The last one will be poured out in the air, and the effect will fall on the nations assembled at Jerusalem, and the utter destruction of these kingdoms follow. No place will be found for them, and as a millstone sinks in the sea, so Babylon will go down and be found no more. David being the witness, the saints will execute the judgment written. These judgments are written. All of the saints will be present when the last one is poured out. Then it is that they possess the kingdom. But all will not be present during the pouring out of the sixth, but all will have the honor for in a unit body if one is honored all rejoice with it.

Moses and Aaron were the messengers of the plagues of Egypt, and under God they executed these judgments. The seven are the messengers of the seven last plagues, and under God they execute these judgments. [redacted] pointed these things [redacted] am [redacted] fellow-servant with thee, and unto thy brethren, the prophets, and with those who keep the words of this book, all of God's servants are fellow-servants, for all serve the same Master." All serve in one common cause, each faithful servant serves in his day and generation according to the will of God. But as Paul said, there are diversities of services, but the same Lord.

The services demanded in the closing up of this age and the ushering in of the kingdom of God, is peculiar; for the conditions and the demands of the hour are peculiar. Of these things we will write later on.

We wish to extend greetings of love to all who love the Lord Jesus, and his appearing. Brethren and Sisters, this book written by John is for us, will we accept it as it is, or try to make something else out of it?

J. C. KINSEY.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Report of Meeting.

By the call of the Secretary of the Evangelical Board, I commenced a meeting at Inwood, Ind. on Saturday Jan. 4. We began with a fair audience which increased as we progressed till some evenings the house would not hold them, and the interest manifest was good. With few exceptions all were impressed by the words of truth. The second week we baptised a young man who is an orphan, who has been living with his grandmother and an uncle. I understand when they heard what he had done they drove him from home. Our young brother preferred to go rather than give up the faith. Who will send him THE RESTITUTION? This is one way to "feed the lambs," and the pasture is safe, and makes a good hearty growth. Cast thy bread upon the water, ye who have abundant store. It will yet return to you.

Our meeting continued till the 23d, and there were in all five came forward.

I was then called home where I found a very sick child. I promised to visit them again Feb. 1st, and baptise the ones who had come out on the Lord's side, which I did, and had a meeting Saturday night, after which I went home with Brother and Sister Orin Hoover, four miles north, near where we were to baptise Sunday forenoon. But it snowed and drifted so that no one could get there on Sunday, and we had to postpone that service. But Brother Hoover had such a desire to put on Christ that he went with a Mr. Stone and cut a hole in the ice on the river, after which Mr. Stone took us to the place, and though frost and snow filled the air our hearts were warm with love for the truth, and we helped Bro. Hoover to put on the Lord Jesus.

We had no meeting on Sunday night but stayed with Brother and Sister Hoover, where they live with Sister Hoover's parents. We read and explained the Bible to them till nearly midnight, and all enjoyed it as much as if we had had meeting. I love these fireside gatherings, where you can take your Bible and explain to them what they are anxious to know all about.

I went to Inwood three years ago this month, the first that our faith had been preached there. We held our first meeting in a hall, and held nearly three weeks, with four additions, and promised to come back in a month. Meanwhile other parties got the hall, and the Methodists had a supper in it on Saturday night. But the following Sunday we managed to rent it. When driven from there we went to an old dwelling house, and organized a Sunday School, and the few we had went to work, and soon several more united with us. Then they bought a house, which was remodled into a comfortable little church building, and they are nearly out of debt.

My advice is this: When you can get but a few together organize in a class, and put each one to work. Have them take THE RESTITUTION. If they have a Sunday School have it a "Church of God" Sunday School—not a "Union," for if you do chances is the Union will soon have all there is.

I will go back soon and baptise the others at this place. I hope and pray all will hold out faithful. I preached 23 discourses in all.

Your brother in hope.

G. W. SMITH.

Illustrated and Descriptive Booklets Free.

The following excellent publications prepared by the Chicago & North-Western Ry will be sent free to any address upon receipt of postage named.

The information contained therein is of great value to those who expect to travel, either for pleasure or profit. All of the publications are handsomely illustrated with half tone views.

California Illustrated.....	Postage	.02
Hunting and Fishing.....	"	.02
Colorado Illustrated.....	"	.02
Through Picturesque Wisconsin.....	"	.02
Beautiful Country near Chicago.....	"	.04
Picturesque Milwaukee.....	"	.02
Opportunities for Business	"	.02
Copper and Iron and where they are found.....	"	.02
Across Picturesque Illinois and Iowa.....	"	.02
Population of cities on the North-Western Line.....	"	.01

The Indian—The Northwest. A history of the Indian tribes. 50 cts.

New, Mounted U. S. Wall Map, 40x54, in colors. 15 cts.

Address W. B. Kniskern, G. P. & T. A. Chicago & North-Western Ry, 22 Fifth Ave., Chicago.—mar 29

Obituary.

Henry L. Lehman was born in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, Oct. 1, 1829. Died at his residence, near Nashville, Miami County, Ohio, Jan. 21, 1902; aged 72 years, 3 months and 20 days. Brother Lehman in his early manhood came to Ohio, and was on Oct. 5th, 1854, united in marriage to Miss Catharine Keller. To this union was born eight children, consisting of three girls and five boys, two of which preceded the father to the quiet tomb. The surviving widow and six children are all members of the Church of God. Previous to the year 1870, Bro. Lehman heard our beloved Bro. Wagoner (now of Rochester, Ind.) deliver a series of discourses or lectures on the "gospel of the kingdom." He joyfully accepted the same, and was baptized by Bro. Wagoner, Dec. 5, 1869. From that important event in his history, to the day of his death his faith never wavered in "the things concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ." Acts viii. 12, 28; xxii. 23. As Bro. Lehman was opposed to public funerals, the relatives of the deceased respected his wishes in the matter, and after singing, prayer, and the reading of some "words of comfort," from the first Thessalonian letter, we laid our brother to rest in "the quiet city of the dead" to await the coming of the Life-Giver, when God's "dead men shall live," when they shall "awake and sing." Isa. xxvi. 19. How we long for the time to come, when "there shall be no more death." Rev. xxi. 4. "He that is our God is the God of our salvation; and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death." Psa. lxviii. 20. "He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord God will wipe away tears from off all faces, and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth; for the Lord hath spoken it." Isa. xxv. 8; 1 Cor. xv. 51-54; Num. xxiii. 10.

AUSTIN CURTIS.

Our beloved and only son Daniel Lauterman was born March 4, 1861, and died Jan. 6, 1902, at the Provident Hospital in Chicago, from an operation for "stricture of bowel." He lived two weeks after in much pain and suffering, but in hope, and then fell asleep. A good boy and a manly man, always solicitous for our welfare and comfort, and sacrificing his own to gain that end. Parents, five daughters and sisters, also an intended bride survive him. May she, as well as us, obtain that peace, that the world giveth not. And finally, may we all so endure, that we may inherit that land where wrangling, strife, deceit, pride, selfishness, and all that goes to make a lie, are unknown. O Lord in thy good time I pray thee to haste that blessed day.

FATHER.

William Francis Marion Frazier was born near Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 2, 1828, and died at his home near Roll, Ind., Feb. 3, 1902, his age being 73 years, 5 months and 1 day. At the age of 21 he was married to Catharine Ullom, of New Madison, Ohio, Feb 5, 1851, being 51 years the day of his burial. To this union there were born 6 boys, 4 of whom are still living and have homes of their own.

Bro. Frazier and family came to Indiana in the fall of 1855, when they moved to the farm on which he died. He lived on the same ground, in the same yard, and tilled the same land, for nearly 47 years. In the fall of 1864 he enlisted in the Union service, in Co. C., 53rd Indiana. He saw much service, and was in several battles for the Union, being in Sherman's famous march from Atlanta to the Sea, participating in the last battles of the rebellion, marching to Washington, being one of the tramping thousands of the Grand Review.

In 1878, when "the Church of God at Dundee, Ind.," (now Roll) was organized, he was one of the charter members, having been baptized Nov. 8th of the same year. He was an ardent lover and an earnest defender of the truth. During our recent meeting at Roll, I called at his house frequently. He expressed his sorrow at not being able to attend the meetings, but had the hope that with the coming of warmer weather he might be permitted to be present at those gatherings. Though he had been sick for some time, his death at this time was hardly expected. But his end was peace, and he died in the faith in which he lived. A large concourse of people at the funeral services witnessed the high esteem in which he was held in the community in which he lived so long. The writer spoke words of comfort from Job, "If a man die, shall he live again?" May it be granted to the widowed wife and the sorrowing sons of the deceased to live in the consolation of the hope of "a part in the first resurrection."

A. R. ZILMER.

Communicated.

The Story of Israel. No. 104.

DEUT. XXVIII. 48-68.

In our last lesson we saw what would happen to Israel, if disobedient to the Lord their God, "to serve him with joyfulness and with gladness of heart for the abundance of all things, wherewith he would bless them." We will go on now and connect our lesson with the fulfilment of the prophecy in history. You may read the remainder of the chapter Herbert, beginning at the 48th verse, noting first, that at some future time, this people were to be brought (together with their king) "unto a nation which neither they nor their fathers had known," (v. 36) that the stranger was to get up above them very high and that they were to come down very low; that he was to lend to them; but they were not to lend to him; that he was to be the head and they were to be the tail." Note also the similarity of the 26th chapter of Leviticus to the chapter we are studying. Are you ready to begin reading?

Yes, if all are ready to listen.

We are; go on.

"Therefore shalt thou serve thine enemies which the Lord thy God shall send against thee in hunger and in thirst, and in nakedness, and in want of all things; and he shall put a yoke of iron upon thy neck, until he have destroyed thee. The Lord shall bring a nation against thee from afar, from the end of the earth, as swift as the eagle flyeth; a nation whose tongue thou shalt not understand. A nation of fierce countenance, which shall not regard the person of the old, nor show favor to the young. And he shall eat the fruit of thy cattle, and the fruit of thy land, until thou be destroyed, which also shall not leave thee either corn, wine or oil, or the increase of thy kine, or flocks of thy sheep, until he have destroyed thee. And he shall besiege thee in all thy gates, until the high and fenced walls come down, wherein thou trustedst, throughout all thy land; and he shall besiege thee in all thy gates throughout all thy land, which the Lord thy God hath given thee. And thou shalt eat the fruit of thine own body, the flesh of thy sons and of thy daughters, which the Lord thy God hath given thee, in the siege and in the straitness, wherewith thine enemies shall distress thee. * * * If thou wilt not observe to do all the words of this law that are written in this book, that thou mayest fear this glorious and fearful name, the LORD THY GOD. Then the Lord will make thy plagues wonderful, and the plagues of thy seed, even great plagues and of long continuance, and sore sickness and of long continuance. And the Lord shall scatter thee among all people, from one end of the earth even unto the other; and there shalt thou serve other gods which neither thou nor thy fathers have known, even wood and stone. And among these nations thou shalt find no ease, neither shall the sole of thy foot have rest, but the Lord shall give thee a trembling heart and failing of eyes and sorrow of mind. In the morning thou shalt say, Would God it were even! and in the even, would God it were morning! for the fear of thine heart wherewith thou shalt fear and for the sight of thine eyes which thou shalt see. And the Lord shall bring thee into Egypt again with ships, by the way whereof I spake unto thee, thou shalt see it no more again; and there ye shall be sold unto your enemies for bondmen and bondwomen, and no man shall buy you."

What fearful threatenings; were they literally fulfilled?

Not to all the tribes, Clarence; you have read the Bible enough to know that after the death of Solomon, the people of Israel were divided into two kingdoms, Judah with Benjamin lent to her for a light, remaining under Rehoboam, Solomon's son, and the ten tribes falling away to Jeroboam; the one division being called the kingdom of Judah, and the other the kingdom of Israel. Both divisions were to apostatize from God and both were to be punished, but the threatenings that we have been reading about, were to fall in all their horrible weight of woe upon the people of Judah.

For 2520 years she was to endure her punishment, or for seven times, as the period is given in the 26th chapter of Leviticus. In prophecy time is measured on a miniature scale, just as miles are measured by inches on our geographical maps. A day stands for a year, as you will see by reading Numbers xiv. 34 and Ezekiel iv. 6. The spies were forty days searching the land of Canaan, and when the unbelieving host refused to go up and take possession of it in obedience to the Lord's command, he said unto them, "And your children shall wander in the wilderness forty years, * * * after the number of the days in which ye searched the land even forty days, each day for a year, shall ye bear your iniquity." And in Ezekiel, "I have appointed thee each day for a year."

But how do you make out that seven times are 2520 years?

From the book of Revelations xii. 14 and xiii. 5. Where "time, times and half a time" is shown to be forty-two months, of 30 days to a month. Edna. One time would be twelve of these months, or 360 days; two times twice 360 days, or 720 days, and half a time 180 days. And 360 plus 720 plus 180 would equal 1260 days, or prophetic years; so multiplying 7 times by 360 we have 2520 years. I think I have told you about this before, but it is a good plan to repeat these things so we will not forget.

But why was Judah to be punished more than Israel?

Because she was to be the more sinful of the two nations, my dear Elsie. You will find from Jer. iii. 25, how it turned out. Have you found the place? Then read it aloud.

"The Lord said also unto me in the days of Josiah, the king, hath thou seen that which backsliding Israel hath done? She is gone upon every high mountain, and under every green tree and hath played the harlot (worshiped idols). And I said, after she had done all these things, Turn thou unto me, but she returned not, and her treacherous sister Judah saw it. And I saw when by all the causes whereby backsliding Israel had committed adultery (in taking false gods for her husband instead of the Lord) I had put her away and given her a bill of divorce, yet her treacherous sister Judah feared not but went and played the harlot also, * * * "And the Lord said unto me, the backsliding Israel hath justified herself more than treacherous Judah. Go and proclaim these words toward the north and say, Return thou backsliding Israel unto the Lord, and I will not cause mine anger to fall upon you, for I am merciful saith the Lord and I will not keep anger forever."

Do you see how it was, Elsie?

Yes, and I know of a passage in Ezekiel xvi. 51, that says of Judah, "Neither hath Samaria committed half of thy sins, but thou hast multiplied thine abominations more than they * * * Thou also which hath judged thy sisters, bear thine own shame for thy sins, that thou hast committed more abominable than they," etc., was not Samaria, Israel?

Certainly, they were named Samaria from the city of that name, built by their king Omri, to be the capital of his kingdom. We have now settled the matter as to which of the kingdom was to be the more severely punished and why they were to be thus punished and I think that is enough for this time.

AUNTIE WINE.

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, containing 115 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Sitting Bull, Red Cloud and other noted chiefs; Gen. Custer's battle ground, and ten colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1600. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valued contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 25 cents a copy. Mailed postage paid on receipt of the amount by W P Kuiskern, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar 29.

Do you like to get THE RESTITUTION each week and read the articles and letters it contains? Did you ever think that your brother who sits near you would get a like benefit and enjoyment if he had it also? Get him to subscribe for 1902. It will cost you very little to ask him, and you may be the means of doing him good.

California-Oregon Excursions

Every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first-class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest times on the road. Finest scenery. Inquire of your nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar. 8

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Elder C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is there [illegible] ing any of the unrighteous? A 100 page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 80 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O.

Change in time of Trains on Pennsylvania Lines.

Under a new schedule in effect Nov. 24, 1901, passenger trains over the Pennsylvania Lines leave Plymouth station as follows:

For the East—2:58 a m daily, 10:23 a m daily except Sunday, 2:35 p m daily, 5:45 p m daily, 7:55 p m daily extra fare train, 8:39 daily except on Sunday, 9:55 p m daily.

For the West—5:15 a m daily, 6:30 a m daily extra fare train, 9:22 a m daily except Sunday, 12:07 p m daily, 2:15 p m daily except Sunday, 6:08 p m daily.

For particular information on the subject apply to J. E. Haines, Ticket Agent, Plymouth.

Copy of the illustrated [illegible] The Chicago 400, a journal of travel and topics, reaches us by the courtesy of the Chicago & North-Western R'y. It is one of the finest illustrated publications that we have ever seen. The tinted half-tones rival those of the finest magazines, and the letter-press of the whole edition is as perfect as that of any publication ever issued, pictorially and descriptively mirroring California's wonderful scenery. Copy delivered free on application, or mailed to any address upon receipt of two cents postage, by A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar 8

If you are anxious about the well-being of some friend and would like to have him see and embrace the truth, subscribe for this paper to be sent to him. It will talk at times and places that you cant. It may make opportunity for you to say a word that will make you friend a joint-heir with the Lord Jesus Christ. It has been done. Why not try it?

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 283 pages, cents, leather bound, embossed cover, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Brother Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNK LINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,

General Passenger Agent.
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,

General Immigration & Industrial Agent.
LOUISVILLE, KY.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

A FREE PATTERN
(your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.
McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50¢ A YEAR
A LADIES' MAGAZINE.
A gem; beautiful colored plates; latest fashions; dressmaking economies; fancy work; household hints; fiction, etc. Tells how to dress, and to buy latest copyrighted styles at small cost. Send for terms.
Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.
McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ and 15¢
All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Stitching and Sewing Lines.
Only 10 and 15 cents each—none higher. Ask for them. Sold in nearly every city and town, or by mail from
THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St., NEW YORK.

VANDALIA TIME CARD

In effect Jan. 1, 1902.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend		8:40am
No. 14, " "		12:01noon
No. 8, " " "		10:28pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute		6:48a m
No. 3, " " "		12:34noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport		7:10pm

Trains 8 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address W. E. Smith Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo.

New Station at Chicago.

Commencing Dec. 29, 1901, all trains on the Nickel Plate Road, during the rebuilding of the Van Buren St. station, will arrive at and depart from the Grand Central station, cor. Fifth Ave. and Harrison St. Chicago.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address public ed may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Fike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clukenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
R. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, Cal.
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wince, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Schrdeville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
O. L. Kean, 4807, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. R. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stella, Fresno, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Fourr, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. C. Dwiggins, Long Beach Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Goin, Jefferson, Ore.
T. F. Cordill, 508 S Main st. South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 153, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hickin, Luther, Okla.
M. L. Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Rush Inwood Ind
J H Willey, No 1205 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Cotteau, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal
A W Darby Bassett Kan

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth N. J.

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty Five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and B. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 p. m., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Rensselaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 a. m., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. R. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God at Burr Oak, Ind. have preaching every 2d and 4th Sundays at 10:30 a. m. and in the evening. Bible meeting every Thursday evening. Samuel Goshorn and I. A. Maxey Elders. Sunday School every Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Georgia Osborne Sec. of the S. S. All are invited to any of the services.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by P. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:00, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through the city, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker's, 209 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 a. m. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1221½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsboro, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by S. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Echelmire.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 a. m., in Miller's Hall, Galena Aves., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Beach Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Knife, Kessler, or John Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Anthon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trundell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Grant of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder. Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preachings by Elder [illegible] Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME LI. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, FEBRUARY 19, 1902. NUMBER 7.

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLBY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RALLSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

Be Still.

Lord, keep me still,
Though storms' wild blow,
And waves my little bark may overflow,
Or even if in darkness I must go,
Yet keep me still.

Lord, keep me still;
The waves are in thy hand,
The roughest winds abide at thy command,
Hush thou thy look in safety to the land,
And keep me still.

Lord, keep me still,
And may I ever hear
Thy still, small voice the count'nance and teacher:
So shall I know and feel thee ever near,
When I am still.

—Faithful Witness.

Communicated.

The Authority to Baptize.

Editor Restitution:

Will some brother (W. H. Wilson preferred) please answer the following question. Did the authority to baptize cease when the Church apostatized? Please answer through THE RESTITUTION. A lover of truth.

OTTO WILSON.

ANSWER.

All such questions as the above must be settled by an appeal to the Word of the Lord. For many years past I have searched diligently the sacred Book, and so far I have not discovered the least evidence that authority to preach the gospel, and administer baptism in obedience thereto, would be taken away by reason of the rise of a great apostasy. But I do find that the apostates themselves will be held responsible for their apostasy, and not honest minded people who desire to walk in harmony with God's will and purpose, which would be the case, if authority to baptize was taken away, because of the existence of an apostasy. To take away the authority to baptize is equivalent to taking away the authority to preach the gospel. The two stand or fall together; the belief of the gospel never becomes efficacious until obeyed in the ordinance of baptism.

Note carefully the following language as to the doom of apostates: "They received not the love of the truth that they might be saved, for this cause God shall send them a strong delusion, that they should believe a lie: that they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness." 2 Thes. ii. 10, 11, 12. The same doom awaits those who will not acknowledge God, and who refuse to obey the gospel according to the commission: "He that believeth, and is baptized shall be saved: but he that believeth not shall be damned."

Jesus was sent to be the Savior of the world, and therefore it is not possible to have a better authority than the declaration of Jesus, that the way to be saved is to believe the gospel and be baptized. No one but an apostate would dare to amend Jesus' rule of salvation by ignoring baptism. "He that believeth not shall be damned," says Jesus, and therefore it must be so, simply because Jesus says so; as he is competent authority on such questions. "He that believeth not," never will be baptized, and in fact it would do him no good if he was, because he is damned already because of unbelief.

As to the doom of those who obey not the gospel, see 2 Thes. i. 8, 9: "The Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not (acknowledge not) God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ." I beseech you to turn a deaf ear to all teachers who would lead you to believe the authority to baptize is withdrawn from the church. If you give heed to them, they may prove to be the cause of your damnation.

If a person should thoroughly understand the Biblical significance of baptism, its design, and what it accomplishes and does for a believer, he will see at once that the authority to baptism could not possibly be taken away, without invalidating the plan of salvation.

Let me give a hint or two. Now,

TWO LAWS EXIST.

1. "The law of sin and death."
2. "The law of the Spirit of life." Rom. vii. 2.

The whole human family have passed under "the law of sin and death," "Wherefore as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and SO DEATH passed upon ALL MEN, for that all have sinned." Rom. v. 12.

"[illegible] came upon all men unto CONDEMNATION." They are in the position of a condemned criminal, and the law must take its course unless he is pardoned by the governor.

"Death passed upon all men," and that judgment to condemnation will be final, unless it is set aside by the law of the spirit of life." Neglect to apply THAT LAW and the judgment will take its course. Death is the wages of sin, and every sinner must die, the penalty must be met. There is no life or hope for any one while abiding under the judgment of condemnation. We must draw a distinction between natural and penal death. Both those under "the law of the Spirit of life," and those under "the law of sin and death," experience natural death alike. But the difference is this. It is affirmed of those who experience natural death, while the judgment of condemnation still rests upon them:

"Nevertheless man being in honor abideth not: he is like the beasts that perish. He shall go to the generation of his fathers; they shall never see light. Man that is in honor, and understandeth not, is like the beasts that perish." Psa. xlix. 12, 19, 20.

"Thus saith the Lord, which maketh a way in the sea, and a path in the mighty waters; which bringeth forth the chariot and horse, the army and the power; they shall lie down together, they shall not rise: they are extinct, they are quenched as tow." Isa. xliii. 16, 17.

"They are dead, they shall not live; they are deceased, they shall not rise: therefore hast thou visited and destroyed them, and made all their memory to perish." Isa. xxvi. 14.

The death of this class of people we are assured by Holy Scripture "is like the beasts that perish." Well, how is that? Men and beasts, condemned and uncondemned, all die the natural death alike. The difference is this, with "the beasts that perish," natural death is final with them, and so also with those who die under condemnation, never having come under the "law of the Spirit of life," their natural death "is like the beasts that perish," that is, "abideth not," "quenched as tow," "they shall not live," "they shall not rise."

"He that hath not the Son of God hath not life." 1 John v. 12: "He that believeth not the Son shall not see life." John iii. 36.

But those who are not under condemnation, having come under "the law of the Spirit of life," it is said, although they experience natural death, "Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life; he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live." John xi. 25.

Contrast this with those who "shall not see life."

"I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you. Yet a little while, and the world seeth me no more; but ye see me; because I live, ye shall live also." John xiv. 18, 19.

These are not "like the beasts that perish."

"Thy dead men (who have experienced natural death) shall live, together with my dead body shall they arise. Awake and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy dew is as the dew of herbs, and the earth shall cast out the dead." This is the contrast with regard to those who are "like the beasts that perish," "they shall not rise."

Now, the most important question is, how can we come under

"THE LAW OF THE SPIRIT OF LIFE?"

I would answer, that we must all die (to sin) be buried, and rise again. Being under condemnation, the law demands death as satisfaction. Death to sin is accepted as full satisfaction.

"For he that is dead is freed from sin. Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him. Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead dieth no more; death hath no dominion over him." Rom. vi. 7, 8, 9.

"For he that is dead (to sin) is freed from sin." Being "free from sin," he is like Christ, (penal) death hath no more dominion over them."

"For sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the law, but under [illegible] and death."

"There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death." Rom. viii. 1, 2.

"There is therefore now no condemnation" to whom?

"TO THEM WHICH ARE IN CHRIST JESUS."

Then all men are under condemnation, with the exception of those who are "in Christ Jesus." The next point to ascertain is, who are in Christ Jesus? It is quite evident that those who are "without Christ," (Eph. ii. 11, 12) cannot be "in Christ," because all "in Christ" have Christ. Eph. ii. 11, 12, states that "Gentiles in the flesh," who are "aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and without God in the world." Therefore, before any one can be "in Christ, such an one must cease to be an alien from the commonwealth of Israel," and also must cease to be "strangers from the covenants of promise."

THE NEXT STEP

requisite to introduce a sinner under condemnation into Christ is given in Gal. iii. 26-27: "For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus. And if ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise." We here learn that if we desire to be "in Christ," which is a condition in which "there is therefore now no condemnation," we must be "baptized into Christ," for only such "have put on Christ," and without being Christ's, we cannot be "Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise." It is in connection with being "buried with Christ in baptism," that we have the forgiveness of all past sins;" hence it is at this time, we cease to be under "condemnation," "being dead in your sins," and when "dead to sin," the law is satisfied, and we are "free from the law of sin and death." For proof see Col. ii. 12, 13: "Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead. And you, being dead in your sins and the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, having forgiven you all trespasses."

Having died to sin, we must next be buried and rise again to new life. See Rom. vi. 3-5: "Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ [illegible] into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death; that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection." The question is asked: "Did the authority to baptize cease when the church apostatized?" If it did, then none have been saved since the apostasy arose. "Condemnation" having passed upon the entire race of man, and it is only "in Christ," where there is "no condemnation," and none are "in Christ" unless they "have been baptized into Christ," and if the authority to baptize, ceased with the rise of the apostasy, then there has none been saved since that time, and we all die "like the beasts that perish," and "shall not rise." This is our condition if the authority to baptize has ceased. There is not a particle of Scripture authority to indicate that the work of salvation would be completely blocked by a great apostasy. It has nothing to look to, save the vain imaginations of men. Jesus makes baptism or the birth of water, an essential prerequisite to salvation. I quote from John iii. (Diaglott).

"Indeed I assure thee, if any one be not born from above, he cannot see the kingdom of God." The word "any one" in place of "a man" indicates a [illegible] none are left out. Again:

[illegible] cannot enter the kingdom of God." The word "a man" or "any one" in this text, is from the Greek word anthropos, and signifies a human being without regard to sex. Now, if this human being does not experience the birth of water and finally of the Spirit, Jesus says, "He cannot enter the kingdom of God." Why? Because the sentence of condemnation still abides with such an one.

See Titus iii. 2: "He saved us through a bath of a new birth, and a renovation of Spirit holy." Eph. v. 26: "The Anointed One loved the congregation and delivered himself up on her behalf; so that having purified her in the bath of water, he might sanctify her by the Word."

The Scriptures emphatically make baptism an important saving element in the plan of salvation. It is the point where the one who dies to sin, buries the "old man," and rises to a new life, and passes from under the "law of sin and death," a condition in which there is "no condemnation." This is an individual matter, which cannot be affected by any apostasy, either great or small.

W. H. WILSON.

Destiny of the Wicked.

"And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?" 1 Peter iv. 18. I want to write on this all important subject and I will let the Bible answer in all cases. Then listen to David in Psa. i. 1, "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful, but his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night, and he shall be like a tree planted by the river of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper. The ungodly are not so: but are the chaff which the wind driveth away. Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous. For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous; but the way of the ungodly shall perish." In Psa. xxxvii. 9, David tells us that evil doers shall be cut off: but those that wait upon the Lord, they shall inherit the earth. Yet, the evil doer shall be cut off; thou shalt diligently consider his place and it shall not be. Ver. 10.  And they that be cursed of him shall be cut off. Ver. 22. Wait on the Lord, and keep his way, and he shall exhalt thee to inherit the land; when the wicked are cut off, thou shalt see it. Ver. 34. [illegible] the wicked shall perish; and the enemies of the Lord shall be as the fat of lambs: they shall consume; into smoke shall they consume away. Ver. 20.

Now let us quote Job xxi. 30, "That the wicked are reserved to the day of destruction? They shall be brought forth to the day of wrath. Yet shall he be brought to the grave, and shall remain in the tomb. ver. 32. Read also Prov. ii. 21, 22, For the upright shall dwell in the land, and the perfect shall remain in it. But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it. The righteous shall never be removed; but the wicked shall not inhabit the earth. Prov. x. 30. Behold the righteous shall be recompensed in the earth; much more the wicked and the sinner. Prov. xi. 31. Yes, the righteous will inherit the earth, but the wicked are cut off from the earth. Let the sinners be consumed out of the earth, and let the wicked be no more. Bless thou the Lord, O my soul, praise ye the Lord. Psa. civ. 35.

Some think it is wrong for us to rejoice at the destruction of the wicked, but David rejoiced, for he knew they were not prepared for the society of the righteous, for in their distress they will call for the rocks and the mountains to fall on them and the hills to cover them; it is mercy on the part of God to put them out of existence. And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chief captains, and the mighty men, hid themselves in the dens and in the rocks of the mountains; and said to the mountains and rocks, fall on us, and hide us from the face of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb; for the great day of his wrath is come; and who shall be able to stand. Rev. vi. 15, 16, 17. This proves that the sinner cannot stand in the day of judgment. He wants to die, and the God of love will execute him, he has done him no injustice: for the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Hear David again in Psa. vii. 9, 0 let the wickedness of the wicked come to an end; but establish the just: for the righteous God tri th the hearts and reins. Seeing it is a righteous thing with God to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you; when he comes in flaming fire * * * who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power. 2 Thes. i. 6-8. Upon the wicked he shall rain snares, fire and brimstone, and an horrible tempest; this shall be the portion of their cup. Psa. xi. 6.

When Lot and family left Sodom this was their portion. See Jude ver. 7. And turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes condemned them with an overthrow, making them an example unto those that after should live ungodly. 2 Pet. ii. 6; Mal. iv. 1-4; Acts iii. 19-26; Acts iii. 23. And it shall come to pass that every soul, which will not hear that prophet, shall be destroyed from among the people, this during the time of the restoration of all things spoken of by all the holy prophets since the world began.

In conclusion, before God I must write and speak as the oracles of God spake. I must preach the Word. If we wish to stand up boldly in the day of judgment we must take heed to what we teach. A few years ago I met a man who was sound in faith. I immersed him and his wife into the all-saving name of Christ, and for a while all went well, but when last I met him I was grieved at the change, for he said, if Christ did not save all of Adam's race his mission on earth would be a failure. He believed, he said, that the Devil would be reformed and would be in the kingdom; but he and Paul differ very much. Hear Paul in Heb. ii. 14, "For as much then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil. He that committeth sin is of the Devil, for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil. 1 John iii. 8. We learn from these two witnesses that the devil and his works will be destroyed. I feel safe, dear ones of like precious faith in company with these witnesses. I will stand with them and take my chance. May the dear Lord soon come is my prayer.

J. S. HATCH.

John xv. 8.

"Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit."

When surveying the boundless ocean of covenant mercy—every wave chiming "God is love," does the thought never present itself "What can I do for this great Being who hath done so much for me?" Recompense, I cannot! No more can my purest services add one iota to his underived glory, than the tiny taper can add to the blaze of the sun at noon-day, or a drop of water to the boundless ocean. Yet, wondrous thought! from this worthless soul of mine there may roll in a revenue of glory which he who loves the broken and contrite spirit will not despise, "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit."

Reader! are you a fruit-bearer in your Lord's vineyard? Are you seeking to make life one grand act of consecration to his service—one thank-offering for his unmerited love? You may be unable to exhibit much fruit [illegible] bid you to point to any splendid services or laborious and imposing efforts in the cause of God. It matters not. It is often those fruits that are unseen and unknown to man, ripening in seclusion that he values most; the quiet, lowly walk—patience and submission—gentleness and humility putting yourself unreservedly in his hands—willing to be led by him, even in darkness—saying, "Not my will, but thy will,"—the unselfish spirit, the meek bearing of an injury, the unostentatious kindness,—these are the fruits which your Heavenly Father loves, and by which he is glorified.

Perchance it may be with you a season of trial, the chamber of protracted sickness, the time of desolating bereavement, some furnace seven times heated. Herein, too, you may sweetly glorify your God. Never is your Heavenly Father more glorified by his children on earth, than when, in the midst of these furnace-fires, he listens to nothing but the gentle breathings of confiding faith and love—"Let him do what seemeth good unto him."

Yes, you can there glorify him in a way which angels cannot do in a world where no trial is. They can glorify God only with the crown; you can glorify him with the cross and the prospect of the crown together! Ah! if he be dealing severely with you—if he as the Great Husbandman, be pruning his vines, lopping their boughs stripping off their luxuriant branches and beautiful rods, remember the end! "He purgeth it that it may bring forth more fruit," and "Herein is my Father glorified."

Be it yours to lie passive in his hands, saying in unmurmuring resignation, "Father, glorify thy name!" Glorify thyself, whether by giving or taking, filling my cup or emptying me from vessel to vessel! Let me know no will but thine. Angels possess no higher honor and privilege than glorifying the God before whom they cast their crowns. How blessed to be able thus to claim brotherhood with the angels in the upper sanctuary, nay more, to be associated with the Savior himself in the theme of his own exalted joy, when he said, "I have glorified thee on the earth."

J. R. MACDUFF.

THOSE to whom we have sent letters telling about your accounts have not all made response as yet. Brother or Sister, we urge you to be sure and not neglect this matter longer. We want to pay our obligations—this is the reason why we ask you to give us what is due at once. If we could satisfy those we are under obligation to any other way we would not ask you, but as it is the only way we know of, we must hear from you to enable us to do so. We trust all will see the necessity of this and act NOW.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending THE RESTITUTION to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the donors request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

Alice J Kerr	.50
Mrs L Wilhelm	.50
A H Shinholtz	.50
G T Wilsie	10.00
Mrs Emma L Cronk	1.50
"Friends of the Truth," through
Mrs B Coleman	1.50
Mrs D Hays	.75

The Restitution.

A. B. UNDERWOOD, Office Editor.

Editorial Committee.
J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, Special Contributor.

Plymouth, Indiana, Feb'y 19, 1902.

"Anger is often more hurtful than the injury that caused it."

It was Huxley who said that "thoughtfulness for others, generosity, modesty, and self-respect are the qualities which make a gentleman or lady, as distinguished from the veneered article which commonly goes by that name."

The Spirit predicted that in later times some would apostatize from the faith, forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from meats which God has created to be received with thanksgiving of them who know and believe the truth.

An earthquake in the Transcaucasia region has destroyed the city of Shamaka, 4000 houses are in ruins, and 2000 people killed. A volcano has burst out with flames and streams of lava, and the river Geouchaika has changed its course.

In the great fire last week at Patterson, N. J., many of the churches were burned, and places to hold services were few. Rabbi Isaacs cast aside all traditions and prejudices, and opened the Jewish Synagogue for the use of the Presbyterians.

At an audience given a man from New York, the Pope of Rome manifested a knowledge of and interest in American affairs, and expressed pleasure at the growth of his church in the United States, claiming to have 20,000,000 members, making this the fourth Catholic country in the world.

"The reason why people are soon offended," says Jones of Nayland, "is only this, that they set too high a value upon themselves; a slight reflection can never be a great offence, but when it is offered to a great person; and if a man is such in his own opinion, he will measure an offence, as he measures himself—far above its value."

Davidic Promises.

In 2 Samuel vii. 1-16 is an account of a message Jehovah sent to David by Nathan the prophet. David had informed the prophet of his purpose to build a temple in which the ark of God might dwell, and the prophet told him to do all that was in his heart. But during the night the Lord told Nathan to inform the king that his plans interfered with Jehovah's purpose in the matter of a house for him to dwell in,—saying, "Thus saith the Lord of Hosts, I took thee from the sheepcote, from following the sheep, to be ruler over my people over Israel,—and I was with thee whithersoever thou wentest, and have cut off all thine enemies out of thy sight, and have made thee a great name like unto the name of the great men that are in the earth.....Also that the Lord telleth thee, that he will make thee an house; (that is, a royal family or dynasty,) and when thy days be fulfilled and thou shalt sleep with thy fathers, I will set up thy Seed after thee, which shall proceed out of thy bowels, and I will establish his kingdom; he shall build an house for my name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom for ever.....And thine house and thy kingdom shall be established for ever BEFORE THEE, thy throne shall be established for ever."

It is interesting to see what King David thought of the message from God, or how he understood it. It is evident that he was almost over-powered by the greatness and goodness conferred upon him,—for he retired, and sat before the Lord, and said, "who am I, O Lord God? And what is my house, that thou hast brought me hitherto? And this was yet a small thing in thy sight, O Lord God [compared with what he has just now promised] but thou hast spoken also of thy servant's house for a great while to come. And is this the manner of men, O Lord God? And what can David say more unto thee? for thou, Lord God, knowest thy servant. For thy Word's sake [to Abraham Isaac and Jacob] and according to thine own heart, hast thou done all these great things, to make thy servant know them.....And what nation in the earth is like thy people, even like Israel..... for thou hast confirmed to thyself thy people Israel to be a people unto thee forever; and thou, Lord, art become their God, the Word that thou hast spoken concerning thy servant, and concerning his house, establish it for ever, and do as thou hast said; and let thy name be magnified for ever, saying the Lord of Hosts is the God over Israel; and let the house of thy servant be established before thee..... And now O Lord God, thou art that God, and THY WORDS BE TRUE, and thou hast PROMISED THIS GOODNESS unto thy servant. Therefore now let it please thee to bless the house of thy servant that it may continue for ever before thee, for thou, O Lord God hast spoken it, and with thy blessings let the house of thy servant be blessed for ever."

"Now these be the last words of David,—David the Son of Jesse said, and the man who was raised up on high [from the sheepcote to rule Israel] the Anointed of the God of Jacob, and the sweet Psalmist of Israel, said:—"The Spirit of the Lord spake by me, and his Word was in my tongue. The God of Israel said, the Rock of Israel spake to me, [Here follows what the Rock of Israel said to him] "He that ruleth over men must be just, ruling in the fear of God. And he [the Just One who shall rule over men] shall be as the light of the morning, when the sun riseth, even a morning without clouds; as the tender grass springing out of the earth by clear shining after a rain. Although my house be not so with God [at present] yet he hath made with me an everlasting covenant, ordered in all things and sure; ["arranged in all things and kept;"—Young's trans.] for this is all my salvation and all my desire, although he make it not to grow;" or as Young's, "For he hath not caused it to spring up, (yet) therefore it was his desire, and expectation—indeed, it was his salvation."

What a delightful vision of that good time to come when HIS SON—the JUST ONE, shall rule over men with righteousness throughout the earth, —and himself, David, one of the admiring ancients before he shall reign gloriously. 2 Sam. vii. 16, and Is. xxiv. 23. There must be men to be ruled. We have given only the divine testimony to certain ones who persistently reject the reign over mortal men in the age about to dawn, and leave the consequences with him, because it is not possible to help them by any thing we can say.

We however ask those referred to, to carefully read the 72nd Psalm and find a place in that pen picture for the utter destruction and desolation to take place, in their estimation, when the Lord returns according to Promise. And from thence go to the 89th Psalm and read where the Holy One of Israel says, "My covenant will I not break, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips. Once have I sworn by my holiness that I will not lie unto David. His seed shall endure for ever, and his throne as the sun before me. It shall be established for ever as the moon, and as a faithful witness in heaven;" and while reading remember that to disbelieve, or neglect the Word of God is to despise it,—and that despisers of the Word are to be destroyed. Prov. xiii 13.

Truly this is a sinful and perverse generation. Anything and almost everything except the truth of God is caught at eagerly. Leaves of Healing has been sent to us, showing that Dowie, upon whose lips thousands hang, in a recent sermon said on the subject of the above Scriptures,—

"I do not take much stock in David, and I take less in Solomon. Everybody knows that." Should not everybody also know there is no Davidian stock on the market?

Again he says of David:—

"I do not know how ever he got into heaven. I hope he did not get there, but I am quite sure he had to get a new heart before he got there. I fancy the Lord Jesus Christ found David in hell, and I think you will find that by the Bible. "Thou wilt not leave my soul in hell".....I do not care a snap what you say. You can send it over the world, but that is my opinion about David, and I will stand by it."

This is from the man who has the effrontry to say:—"As Elijah, the prophet, God has sent me to you, and to all the world, with authority to deliver a Message of Purity, (Mal. iii.) a Message of Peace, (Mal. iv. 2-6) and a Message of Power," quoted from the words of JESUS, Matt. xvii. 11, who, he declares in the same sermon as the above, came down the muddy stream of harlots. What a recommendation for Jesus!! At least Elijah the Prophet should know that when God pardons, he remembers one's sins no more; at least he should know that God's estimate of David is different from his. At least he should know that the words "thou wilt not leave my soul in hell," was prophetic of Christ; Acts ii. 30, 31; at least he should know that David was still in his grave 1000 years after his death, Acts ii. 34; and not in heaven. At least this man should know he is a blasphemer, and a pious fraud, but he appears not to.

Skepticism and Credulity.

"From the drift religious it appears that controversy is fast settling down to a conflict between two extreme parties—those who believe every thing, and those who believe nothing; the disciples of credulity, and the disciples of skepticism. The first rely on authority,—foremost among these, and the only self-consistent ones, are the Roman Catholics and into the Roman Catholic Church all other popular churches should merge, by logical consistency,—we mean all who receive their opinions because their sect, their church, or their creeds assert them, not because they have been found to be in conformity true."

The second class have been reared on a cultivated understanding. This was the root of rationalism. Enlighten, they said, and sin shall disappear. Enlighten, and we shall know all that can be known of God. Sin is an error of the understanding. Show man that sin is folly and sin will disappear. Political economy will teach public virtue. Knowledge of anatomy will arrest the indulgence of the passions. Show the drunkard the inflamed tissues of the brain, and he will be sobered by fear and reason.

In reply to this doubly distilled nonsense we point to the fact that those who but a short time ago preached the above gospel are now bowing in abject reverence before Egyptian mysteries of three thousand years ago. They distrusted everything till they at last distrust their own conclusions, and are more credulous than those they sneer at."

The great Physician shows the nature of the disease that causes all the ills referred to, in Matt. xv. 19. It is heart disease—"For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies." Neither fear nor reason will stop these troubles. A man with this disease of the heart is not worth mending. Nothing short of a new heart will help him.

"Tares."

Says Horatio B. Hacket, by way of illustrating the parable of the tares: —"In passing through the fertile country of the ancient Philistines, on the South of Palestine, I asked the guide, one day, a native Syrian, if he knew of a plant which was apt to make its appearance among the wheat, and which resembled it so much, that it could hardly be distinguished from it. He replied that it was very common, and that he would soon show me a specimen of it. Soon after this he pointed out to me some of this grass, growing near our path; and afterwards, having once seen it, I found it in almost every field where I searched for it. Except that the stalk was not so high, it appeared otherwise precisely like wheat, just as the ears begin to show themselves, and the kernels are swelling out into shape. "This is the plant to which the Savior referred in the parable as the tares which sprang up among the wheat, and which the owner, because it was so much like the genuine wheat, directed his servants to suffer to remain until the harvest, "lest, while they gathered up the tares, they should root up also the wheat with them." Matt. xiii. 24. I collected some specimens of this dreadful weed, and have found, on showing them to friends, that they have invariably taken them quite invariably for some species of grain, such as wheat or barley."

"Husks."

The same author says respecting the husks in the parable of the prodigal: "The word 'husks' is an unfortunate translation of the Greek term for which it is employed. The word so rendered signifies "little horns," with reference to the curved shape of the pods of the fruit of Carob-tree, that fruit being the article of food which the prodigal is represented as having eaten. It is a large tree with a thick foliage and wide-spreading branches. I saw it growing on the Mount of Olives and elsewhere around Jerusalem. The fruit is a leguminous product, resembling the pod of our locust tree, but much larger. It has a sweetish pulp when tender, but soon becomes dry and hard, with small seeds which rattle in the pod when shaken. It emits a slight odor when first gathered, offensive to those who are not accustomed to it. The poor use it as food. I was told at Smyrna that it is in great request in some of the Greek islands, as a nutricious article for fattening swine. It constituted, I think, a part of the provender with which our camels were fed in travelling through the desert. Great quantities of it were exposed for sale in the market at Smyrna. Some specimens which I brought away with me averaged six and eight inches in length, though they are said to be often eight or ten inches long. It is not meant in the parable that the prodigal resorted to food absolutely fit only for swine but that he who had been brought up in wealth and luxury was reduced to such want as to be obliged to subsist on the meanest fare.

Stumbling Blocks.

The following paragraphs on stumbling blocks are worth preserving no matter who wrote them:—

"Strive [illegible] from the habit of [illegible] to you, whether pleasant or unpleasant, fortunate or unfortunate, to your advantage. Do not allow an unpleasant letter, a disagreeable criticism, an uncharitable remark, or other trial of any kind to darken your whole day and cast a shadow over your life.

Make up your mind resolutely that nothing shall stand in the way of your genuine success. You cannot allow your life to be darkened by the clouds cast over your path way by those who wish to injure you.

Misfortunes and difficulties make strong those who have the courage to surmount them and use them as stepping stones instead of stumbling blocks."

The Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

Last week an announcement was made that startled the whole world. It came in the shape of an alliance between England and Japan, to continue for five years, the object being to keep intact the Chinese Empire and Corea. The Chicago Tribune gives the matter as good a write-up as we have seen, and we herewith give our readers some extracts taken from that paper.

It will be noticed that this country having any part in the negotiations at Pekin in conjunction with England and Japan "lacks confirmation." It is always well to join parts that fit together, and right here we should not forget a remark made by the late President McKinley when defining the position of the United States in the question of a partitioning of China. It was to the effect that this nation favored maintaining the Chinese Empire, but that we should stand aloof until "our interests were interfered with." Inasmuch as "our interests" are identical with England in this case, it comes quite natural to think that the United States will not be opposed to this action, but rather endorse it, if not openly favoring the plan.

We give considerable space to this because it is quite likely to have an important bearing on affairs in the far East. Following are the extracts cited:—

With the announcement of a five-year alliance, offensive and defensive, between Great Britain and Japan, events in the far East have taken a new and unexpected trend. The pact is short but so clear in its terms that no other power will have any difficulty in understanding it, or find any way to misconstrue it. Stated in the fewest possible words, the two nations agree to maintain and defend the integrity and independence of China and Corea for the time stipulated in the agreement, [illegible] them jointly in time of peace and assisting each other in time of war. This is an announcement that any power menacing or seeking to disturb the independence of China or Corea must settle with Great Britain and Japan.

The combination is a powerful one from the naval point of view. It is also strong from a political and diplomatic point of view. Neither the United States nor Germany will be likely to protest against it. Germany is satisfied with its naval base at Kiao-Chou, and so long as China is not invaded or menaced probably will remain content. As to Manchuria, it has made no protests against Russia's operations in that province. The new agreement will be grateful to the United States, for it is in the interests of the "open door" policy. It is also a compensation to Great Britain for the naval station at Wei-Hai-Wei, which it has abandoned as of no use in protecting its interests, which lie chiefly within the basin of the Yang-tse. It is of the highest importance to Japan, whose interests are mainly in Corea, and have been menaced of late by Russia.

That the agreement is a direct warning to Russia and an indirect warning to France is most likely. It serves notice on those powers that the status quo in China and Corea is to be maintained, and indirectly that any further advances of Russia will be checked by Great Britain and Japan together. How far it applies to the Russian occupation of Manchuria remains to be seen. The Russians are already there, and, if all reports be true, by the consent of China. No steps have been taken to annex it to Russia, but the Russian influence is paramount in a large part of the province. The Japanese Minister in London says that the treaty was not directed specially against Russia, but that Manchuria is undoubtedly within its scope. If this be so, there is possibility of trouble. Time will tell.

It is premature now to discuss the outcome of this new and unexpected treaty. There is much below the surface that is unknown. There are many moves yet to be made on the Oriental chessboard. Other treaties may yet be negotiated. The United States can not be a party to any of these foreign alliances, but its opinion will be none the less highly respected. At present, as an interested looker-on, it is satisfied with the pact made by Great Britain and Japan, for its commercial interests are the same as those of these two nations. Their purpose is neither aggression nor self seeking, but simply "to maintain the independence and territorial integrity of China and Corea, and secure equal opportunities in those countries for commerce and industry of all nations." The United States, of necessity, sympathizes with these purposes.

Britain's offensive and defensive alliance with Japan places an entirely new aspect on the far Eastern question. The alliance is clearly directed at Russia, and it will be construed in every capital in Europe as a direct warning to the Czar that further aggression in China must cease—in fact, England and Japan have told the Czar in so many diplomatic words that the treaty by which Russia seeks to acquire complete control of the Province of Manchuria must not be signed, and that Japan's interest in Corea must not be endangered by Muscovite encroachments.

Russia has been pressing for a firm foothold in Manchuria and Corea since the close of the Chino-Japanese war. It was Russia primarily who compelled Japan to give up the Manchurian peninsula, after having wrested it from China by the sword. It was Russian intrigue that undermined British and Japanese influence in Corea. It was the Russian diplomacy that took advantage of the Boxer uprising two years ago to seize the entire Province of Manchuria and to dictate the terms of a treaty with China while the latter was helpless at the feet of the powers.

The death of Li Hung Chang prevented the signing of the Manchurian treaty. That China, under the masterful will of Earl Li, would have signed is regarded as a foregone conclusion in diplomatic circles. So anxious was Russia to secure the Chinese signatures to the treaty that the Czar's envoy approached Earl Li on his deathbed and vainly sought the assistance of the aged statesman, even then in the semi-unconsciousness of approaching dissolution.

Two weeks ago it was announced that Great Britain, Japan, and the United States had filed a formal protest at Pekin against the conclusion of the Manchurian treaty. The statement lacks verification as far as the United States is concerned, although American interests are unquestionably deeply involved. But it is not to be doubted that England and Japan, either jointly or individually, filed a protest with the Chinese authorities.

Inasmuch as Russia has paid no heed to the protest, but is still using every effort to secure China's signature to the treaty, which practically adds Manchuria to the Czar's domains, the treaty between England and Japan, announced during the week, brings the far Eastern situation to a crisis.

British commercial interests in northern China are only exceeded by those of the United States. Russia has steadily encroached upon these British interests, and the friction between the two powers became acute in 1899, only to be ended by a treaty known as the Anglo-Russian agreement, in which Great Britain agreed not to seek any railway concessions to the north of the Great Wall, and Russia bound herself not to interfere with British railway concessions in the Yang-tse Kiang Valley.

Russia has broken her agreement with Great Britain. Taking advantage of the Boxer troubles, Russia seized the British railroad north of Pekin and attempted to take by force British railway property at Tien-Tsin. It was only by the most urgent demands that Russia relinquished control over the British railroad of Pekin. Even then Russia exacted the condition that no other power should have the right to send troops to protect it and that no extension or branch lines would be permitted. Russia showed further inclination to ignore the Anglo-Russian agreement of 1900 with reference to her promise made not to interfere with British interests in the Yang-tse Valley. A Belgian syndicate had for years a concession for the construction of a railway from Hankow, on the Yang-tse River, to Pao-ting-fu, ninety miles south of Pekin. At the outbreak of the Boxer war 107 miles of this road had been completed. During the last year the Belgian syndicate disposed of its rights to French capitalists put forward by Russia.

Japan has protested without ceasing against Russian encroachments in Manchuria, for a glance at the map will show that when Russia is firmly seated in Manchuria Corea will only be a handful more to grasp. Already Russia has attempted to get an actual foothold in Corea by the efforts to seize the Corean harbor at Masampho as a naval base. Nothing but the mobilization of the Japanese fleet last year prevented Russia from seizing the port openly.

Japan has always claimed Corea. It was to free Corea from Chinese control that Japan engaged in war with China six years ago, only to have the fruits of victory snatched from her hands by Russia.

Selections.

Never lower your principles to this world's standard. Never let sin, however popular it may be, have any sanction or countenance from you even by a smile. The manly confession of Christ, when his cause is unpopular, is made by himself the condition of his confessing us before God. If people find out that we are earnestly religious, as they soon will if the light is shining, let us make them heartily welcome to the intelligence. And then, again, in order that the lights may shine without obstruction, we must be simple and study simplicity. This is by no means an easy as it at first sight appears: for in this artificial and high pretentious age, all society is overlaid with numerous affectation as the contrary of truth and as hypocrisy on a small scale, and allow yourselves to be seen freely by those around you in true colors.....As Christians we must eschew untruth in every form, we must labor to seem just what we are, neither better nor worse. To be true to God and the thought of his presence all day long, and to let self occupy as little as possible of our thoughts; to care much for his approval, and comparatively for the impression we are making upon others; to feed the inward light with oil, and then freely let it shine—this is the great secret or edification. May he indoctrinate us into it, and dispose and enable us to illustrate it in our practice.—Dr. Goulburn.

Why will you keep caring for what the world says? Try, oh, try, to be no longer a slave to it! You can have little idea of the comfort of the freedom from it—it is bliss. All the carping for what people say is pride. Hoist your flag and abide by it. In an infinitely short space of time all secret things will be divulged. Therefore, if you are misjudged, why trouble yourself to put yourself aright? You have no idea what a great deal of trouble it saves you. Roll your burden on God, and he will make straight your mistakes. He will set you right with those with whom you have set yourself wrong. Here I am, a lump of clay; thou art the potter. Mould me as thou in thy wisdom wilt, never mind my cries. Cut my life off—so be it; prolong it—so be it. Just as thou wilt, but I rely on thy unchanging guidance during the trial. Oh the comfort which comes from this!—General Gordon.

Truths are usually twins; each is the special complement of some other. It is often preached that Christians should bear witness for Christ. The twin truth, not so often preached, is that they should bear witness against Christ's enemies.

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

Poetry.

Faith, Hope and Love.

1 Cor. xm. 13.

Let faith in God, who made all things,
Our powers employ with all good means,
To do on earth his holy will,
And love for Christ each soul to fill,
And teach mankind their Maker's ways,
So they may praise him all their days.

Let hope inspire our every thought,
And aid us in our daily walk,
And be an anchor to the soul,
Which holds to life within the veil,
Where Christ, our interceding Lord,
Is the High Priest enthroned with God.

Let perfect love to God above,
Unto our neighbor also move;
And thus perform God's holy will,
And all his righteous laws fulfil;
As peace and joy will then abide,
Give praise to Christ, the crucified.

While faith lays hold of power with God,
And with our works is perfect made;
So hope inspires to noble deeds,
And lifts our prayers to him who heeds;
But love, the greatest of the three,
Abides through all eternity.

By repeating the last line, this hymn will go in the tune to which we set the words commencing thus:—

"My hope is built on nothing less," etc.

D. D. Latimer.

Communicated.

Rev. xiii. 11.

A request for light on Rev. xiii. 11, was made in THE RESTITUTION some months in the past; and I have waited long for a reply by some of the brethren, but none having appeared, I will offer a few thoughts. "And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon." This first point to be established is the chronology of this power, the symbol of it being "another beast."

In the revealing of the rise and fall of nations by the divine Spirit, there has been observed a likeness between Daniel and John. In Dan. vii. we have the account of four different powers, represented by four different beasts; that came up from the sea. And in the fulfilment of the symbols we have: Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece and Rome; which made their appearance in the order, chronological, as indicated in the vision. And after the fourth kingdom was divided into ten kingdoms, symbolized by the ten horns. "There came up among them another little horn." The fact that the little horn came up on the head of the fourth beast, indicates that it receives its power from the fourth kingdom, and that it directs the actions of the beast in its last phase.

The symbol in Rev. xiii. is said to be "another beast," so is Medo-Persia, another than Babylon, so is Grecia another than Medo-Persia; so is the little horn another than the ten; and by the law of analogy the symbol of Rev. xiii. 11, is another than the dragon ch. xii. and than the leopard beast of ch. xiii. The dragon of ch. xii. being a symbol of pagan Rome, makes war against the woman; but when there came a change in the religion of the empire it necessitated a change in the symbol. So in ch. 13 we have a beast like a leopard, inhering in his composition the elements of which the former beasts were composed of (like a leopard) Grecia; "feet like a bear;" Medo Persia; "mouth as the mouth of a lion" Babylon. This leopard like power after receiving a mouth that spoke "great things and blasphemies" was to "continue forty and two months." Margin "or to make war." This time being in connection with a symbol, is symbolic time, and covers the time from the decree of Emperor Phocas, A. D. 610 to A. D. 1870, when the Papacy lost its power to make war, or ceased to be a civil power, and now confesses himself to be a prisoner in the Vatican; thus fulfilling the statement in verse 10, "He that leadeth into captivity shall go into captivity. He that killeth with the sword must be killed with the sword." Then comes the statement, "Here is the patience and faith of the saints," having reference to the long Papal persecutions. This brings us to the introduction of the symbol under consideration, "another beast." If we put away the symbol, and give the literal it would read, "another nation coming up out of the earth." Mark the contrast; the other powers came up out of the sea; but this one "out of the earth," is significant; the earth being a symbol of the common people as contrasted with royalty or those in the political heavens. Our ability to read the symbols aright measures our knowledge of the prophecy. A few texts from the Bible will convey to the mind what is symbolized by "coming up out of the earth."

In Isa. i. 2, we read, "Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth, for the Lord hath spoken;" and again in Deut. xxxii. 1, "Give ear, O ye heavens, and I will speak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth." And in Rev. xii. 9, we read that the dragon that appeared in the heaven, "was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him." And again in ver. 16, "The earth helped the woman." The passages from Deuteronomy and Isaiah, convey the same idea; that the heavens are those in authority, and that the earth is another class, but in the 12th chapter of Revelations it was plain. The dragon appears in the heaven, and after that he is cast out into the earth; and is said to come down to the inhabitants of the earth; so that "coming up out of the earth" symbolizes a nation that has its origin in the common people, or is composed of democracy, as the source from which it draws the material for its growth. "And he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon." Horns being the symbols of power; and in these being like a lamb would indicate that the exercise of power in this case would be lamb like, "But he spake as a dragon." The dragon was a symbol of Imperial Rome when ruled by the Cæsars, and at that time when Rome had a contest with Utica, one of her senators spake thus, "No pent up Utica confines our powers; the boundless universe is ours." Imperialism is the growing idea in our country today. "The United States is sovereign on this Continent, and its fiat is law," Monroe doctrine condensed in the luminous phase of Secretary Olney of the Cleveland administration.

There seems to be inconsistency in a lamb like power speaking like a dragon, but we find it in the symbol, and in our actions in the Philippines. The fulfilment of this symbol has progressed far enough, so that the watcher need no longer to be at a loss to find its counterpart. During the Spanish war and especially after the destruction of the Spanish fleets, our papers in giving extracts from European papers, expressed the very language of the prophecy, "another" nation has entered the arena; "another" nation has appeared, another nation has to be considered, another nation threatens to upset the balance of power.

What a serious omission it would be on the part of the Deity, in giving an history of the world by symbols, to have passed over in silence the greatest nation of them all. The one that came up as it were in a day, has transformed a wilderness into thousands of miles of fruitful fields; whose commerce outstrips "if we take into account its internal trade" that of any other nation, and has about as many miles of railroads as all of the rest of the worlds combined; that leads all nations in scientific inventions and in wealth. The United States is today the wonder of the world. No wonder that it is written, "And he doeth great wonders, so that he maketh fire to come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men." Rev. xiii. 13. By a reference to Job i. 16, we learn what the fire of heaven is, a messenger that informs Job that "The fire of God is fallen from heaven, and hath burned up the sheep, and the servants, and consumed them." The fire of God from heaven is nothing more nor less than the lightning which Franklin drew from the clouds; Morse taught it our language; Edison and a host of others have harnessed it, so that it lights up our cities and towns, sends messages the world over, and bids fair to become the greatest motive power in the world. These wonders, great as they are called, are no priestcraft but real scientific wonders of the last days; and are performed in the time when knowledge was to be increased Dan. xii. preparatory to the establishment of God's everlasting kingdom on the earth, when the earth will be governed from one center, therefore the necessity of immediate communication from Jerusalem to the remotest parts of the earth. In the days of the coming King, "The mountains shall bring peace to the people, and the little hills by righteousness. He shall judge the poor of the people, he shall save the children of the needy, and shall break in pieces the oppressor.....He shall have dominion also from sea to sea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth.....The kings of Tarshish and of the isles shall bring presents.....Yea, all kings shall fall down before him; all nations shall serve." Psa. lxxii. 8-11.

GEO. FRANCIS.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Trusting the Lord.

People often talk about trusting the Lord, when the kind of trust they are meaning is entirely unscriptural. I do not believe it would amount to any thing for any one to sit down and "trust God" to teach him to read, when ample facilities were within his reach to accomplish this purpose, and he persistently refuses to avail himself of the helps proffered him. I do not believe that the strength, vitality, and the replenishing of the waste of the system that can only be obtained by eating wholesome food, will be given us while we refuse to take that food, or knowingly persist in taking unwholesome food into the stomach, no matter how much we may suppose that we trust God.

I do not believe that our trust in God for the means to issue THE RESTITUTION will pass current in heaven while we either neglect or refuse to do what we can to assist in the work.

There is another point which is sometimes remembered when "the Lord wants THE RESTITUTION published he will furnish the means." I do not question his ability to do so in the least. The silver and the gold are his, and the cattle on a thousand hills are his. Yea, his resources are infinite. There is, however, a principle involved in the above statement, that needs looking into. If THE RESTITUTION was to stop for the want of means, would the fact that it was necessary to stop it for that reason prove that the Lord wanted it to stop? If a special providence is manifested in stoping a periodical, there must be special reasons for such intervention. If the Lord stops a paper he must have good reasons for so doing, and I know of but one reason that would cause Divine interference, and that must be that teachings of that periodical are pernicously erroneous. The Infinite Father is not governed by fancies. If I were to believe in a providential discontinuance of THE RESTITUTION I should base my belief on the contingency named above, for I could not believe it possible for the Lord to interfere in stoping it for any other reason.

I am, however, fully aware of the truth taught in all the Scriptures, that in all his dealings with the children of men he treats them as being entirely free in the exercise of their wills, and treats them thus because they are free, absolutely free in the exercise of their volition.

Now for the application of these principles. There is not a single patron of THE RESTITUTION who believes that God will move on any one to withhold funds from the support of THE RESTITUTION because its teachings are pernicious. It advocates great principles of truth that are not believed nor published by other papers. If therefore, God interferes at all, we must believe it will be in favor, for he will not oppose his own truth. For all of the brethren are builders, even if some of us may use hay, wood and stubble, for perfection has not come yet. So much for the first principle.

There is no necessity for THE RESTITUTION to be discontinued I am fully aware is an established fact. If those who read the paper would practice one half the economy that some are compelled to practice, means would be abundant. If some would lessen their certificates of deposit a mere trifle comparatively, there would be no lack. If however, we are disposed to gratify our pride, our appetites, our covetousness, or our selves in anything that is needless, such as the use of tabacco, cigars, and too much coffee and tea, and ourselves and sisters try to keep up with the world in the fashions of the day [illegible] RESTITUTION go down for lack of funds, I do not believe that God will work a miracle to furnish us with religious reading, that is needful for our comfort, instruction and edification.

In my travels I stay with many of the brethren. Well, I begin to look around for THE RESTITUTION, but see neither it or any other religious paper in the house. I ask if they take any religious paper at all, and get reply "Oh no, we are too hard run for that. I gaze at the center table and count—St. Louis Globe-Democrat, St. Louis Republican, Kansas City Star, Sunday Sun, Missouri World—no religious paper. When you read one of this sort of papers you have got about all five of them read. Too hard run to take THE RESTITUTION. The Editor of the religious paper may starve to death or beg for the brethren to pay their tithe to the Lord, or to get them to help bear one another's burdens. My brethren, I fear we have a name of Christian, and ought to be alive to God, and dead to the world, but fear we are dead to God, and alive to the world.

We have some more knowledge than the professed churches have, but they have the zeal without the knowledge. New brethren, for God's sake, and for shame's sake, let us never let Brother Underwood have to put another article in the paper asking us to pay him what we justly owe him. How would you like to have to dun a man every week for a day's work that you had done for him. Oh, that is my ox that was gored. Oh yes, that is the difference. Well, let us play the other way. Say it is Brother U's ox that is gored, or in our dealings with Uncle Sam, we refuse to pay our tax, then what? Oh you say, let us quit. All right, I say, all pay for your paper, and all work to spread the gospel instead of loaning out money, or hoarding it in the bank. Let us owe no man anything but to love him.

It is possible that THE RESTITUTION in which we are so much interested, may suspend, but its suspension cannot be attributed to a lack of earnest and untiring zeal, and effort and sacrifice on the part of its Editor. It will not be suspended because there is not abundant means in the hands or in reach of its readers. It will not stop because God wants it to stop, and we better not lay it to the Lord if we let it stop. It will be because you do not furnish the means to keep it going.

Will we send in the means and relieve the Editor from a portion of the cares and anxieties that burden him in his work, or will we let him bear the burden alone, and we only share in the blessing that is bourne to us each week in its columns? Shall we share the fullness of the life of the eternal ages if we refuse to obey Christ here? Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ. Refuse to obey them, and break the law of Christ.

Yours in hope.

JOHN FOORE.

Editor Restitution:

As a student of the prophets I was particularly interested in the short but suggestive article by A. S. Clough entitled "the Vile Person." I have read multitudinous writers on the subject of the antichrist, but have never been entirely satisfied by any of their conclusions, that the pope or any one else so far has even began to fulfil the requirements that the prophetic record demands. Hence the conclusion that the great antagonist is yet to put in his appearance; and it seems to me in this connection that the first editorial article in the same number of THE RESTITUTION, Feb. 5, throws light on this subject when it speaks of "the alarming peril of the day is Naturalism, Rationalism, the denial of any Divine agency."

This is, in my opinion, the key to the whole situation. There has never been in the whole history of the world so far as I am aware, any ruler who has "exalted himself above all that is called God, and that is worshipped." Such a one in fact could not and would not be tolerated, because of the fact that up till now the world has been "altogether too superstitious," and it would have been altogether impolitic for any ruler to unduly trample on the religious convictions of those who were depended on for support. Hence it is safe to say that up to date it never has been done, at least openly.

Now, however, it is different. The denial of any Creative Intelligence is quite au fait doctrine with the modern so-called Scientist, who does not tolerate the idea that there is any possibility of any greater intelligence than himself.

This is the contention, brethren, that we have to contend now. No use of [illegible]ining our guns [illegible] each other about any minor matters in gospel doctrine. The enemy is digging out the whole foundation. The question to be settled in the world today is—God or no God. The evolutionists are filling all the highest seats in the universities of Europe and America, and the best paid pulpits. They have no need in their cosmogony for a designing mind. The whole thing runs itself automatically. They smile superciliously at the credulity that supposes any thing else. In its cruder and more bestial "scientific" forms, evolution denies any hope of future life, but the more conservative pulpit editions retain of course the platonic "immortal soul," and that does not need any extraneous assistance to get along eternally. How they come by their immortality does not indeed appear, whether they inherited it from the anthropoid apes, or evoluted it in the "Pithecanthropuserectus," might form excellent subjects for high priced discourses to fashionable audiences—at any rate we have here the ground-work for the real genuine, only and original man of sin. Everything so far has been a crude imitation, a faint approach. The bold darling of the modern scientist is something sublime in its ungodly "cheek," and in the Anglo-Saxon countries this science does not seem to have taken nearly so much root either as it has in Europe. France, Germany and Russia are honeycomed with it, and it is likened to brute force and anarchy. The "selection of the fittest" the fittest is the "beatenest" for "alls' fair in war."

In my opinion the prophets have given us a fine description of the scientist king of the latter day. The evolution of the evolutionist, probably, for policy sake, he will patronize the leading religions and unify them somewhat as an adjunct to his power but himself in the height of his pride will have none of the "obsolete superstitions."

There seemes to be only one king left now. The Almighty must show his hand, "make bare his holy arm." This he cannot do until the time is ripe and the transgressors have come to the full so what we can do is to watch for the coming of the Son of Man, in the preparing and developing of his adversary. The lightning will gleam out when the dark cloud has reached the zenith and obscured the face of kind heaven.

J. F. GELLETLY.

"I Will Consider Thy Testimonies."

It was after midnight. A lonely watcher had thrown herself on her couch to rest. Her feverish patient, cooled off by a refreshing bath and soothing compresses, had ceased to cough, and dropped off into quiet slumber. More easy in mind, she allowed her weary nerves to relax and sent grateful thought on the wings of prayer to God. It was so good to feel that she and her loved one were in his care; and that he had helped her and would continue to help.

His testimonies came into mind; it was pleasant to "consider" them, she thought, when no one else was near; it brought such a sweet sense of his presence and ever abiding love, to remember his name in the night; at midnight, to rise and give thanks unto him, because of his righteous judgments. His merciful kindness had been for her comfort according to his Word; he had accepted the free-will offerings of her mouth, and she felt that all his commandments were faithful, that he was her portion and that she would keep his words. She was happy; it was like "a song in the night." It had been a blessing to her to "Consider his testimonies"—the very word "consider" had been to her a lesson. It had withdrawn her from the cares and worries of the world, and had taken all the fever, the unrest, the terror away. She closed her eyes and slept till the morning dawned, and rose, to take up her burdens with a cheerful heart, thanking God for the experience of the night.

S. ROXANA WINCE.

Obituary.

Brother Underwood:

I have been requested to send to THE RESTITUTION an account of the death of Sister V. A. Russell of Nashville, Ark. Sister Russell was born in Va. Sept. 17, 1830, died Jan. 1, 1902. She was married to G. M. Russell, May 17, 1855, and was the mother of eight children, only two of whom survive her. She has been a member of the Church of God over fifty years.

From the short acquaintance that I had with her I can freely say, She was truly devoted to the cause of truth, ever ready to fill her place wherever and whatever it might be. She undoubtedly sleeps in Jesus, to be awakened at the trump of God, and arise to walk in a new life.

I certainly can sympathize with the two sons that are left; knowing as I do what a kind and affectionate mother she was; always ready to sacrifice self for the comfort and happiness of her husband and children. I would say to the two survivors: Strive to emulate the example that your mother set for you to follow.

In memory dear, I subscribe myself.

DANIEL HOWARD.

Died, in the Lord, Feb. 2, 1902, at the home of her parents in the city of Adrian, Mich., aged eighteen years, Mabel Smith, daughter of Brother and Sister Frank W. and Clara Smith. The deceased was, with her brother, baptized into the all-saving name of Jesus one year ago last October, since which time she has ever led a devoted Christian life. She was the organist for the church at Raisin and unless the weather was very bad she was always found in her place. Her disease was of a rheumatic nature and character, but she was always patient under her sufferings. She was a granddaughter of Mrs. Phoebe Mudge, a sister of the writer, who was buried one year ago last September, and whose funeral services were conducted by Sister M. A. Woodward. Sister Mabel expressed a wish that if she should die and Brother or Sister Woodward could not be obtained for the occasion, then the writer should perform that service. In accordance with her request, on Tuesday P. M. following her death, we with a large circle of friends assembled at her late home and there the writer endeavored to point the sorrowing friends to that blessed hope which had enabled Sister Mabel to yield up this life in the triumphs of a "living faith." To introduce the remarks on the life, character and hope of the deceased, the words of the "Wise Man" were used as a text appropriate to the occasion. "Strength and honor are her clothing; and she shall rejoice in time to come." Prov. xxxi. 25. We then with loving hand and sorrowing heart laid her in Oakwood Cemetery to await "His own good time" when "mortality shall be swallowed up of life." May God in his love by this hope lighten the sorrow of the bereaved ones left behind.

L. C. CHASE.

Sister Eugenia Pounds, wife of Sherman Pounds, fell asleep at Morse's Mill, Mo., Jan. 30, 1902, and was buried at the little Church on the hill on Feb. 1.

She was the daughter of Arthur and Harriett Boyrie, three brothers have preceded her to the grave, and one sister, Mrs. John Gifford survive her. She was born June 15, 1862, and was married to Sherman Pounds June 10, 1887. Seven children were born to them, the oldest girl dying in infancy.

I received a dispatch asking me to attend the funeral, but as I was sick at the time I could not go, and their uncle John Morse, talked to them, after which she was laid to rest.

Sister Pounds was baptized in Nov. 1881, and ever lived a consistent life, her faith never weakening, and she died believing she would wait in the grave for the coming of her Savior. She leaves besides husband and children, many other relatives and friends to mourn for her; but they need not mourn without hope. 1 Thes. iv. 13 to the end.

It is sad to see mother taken away from the children so young. They so much need her care and counsel.

We would exhort our dear Brother Pounds to live a righteous life, and endeavor to bring the children up to lead godly lives so you all will meet dear mother in the kingdom of God.

Who of our number will be the next to go? I remember when last I saw our sister—so cheerful. I did not then think it would be the last time in this life. Now I know our next meeting will be on the resurrection morning.

Death's not the gate of Paradise,
Nor opening key to heaven;
Nor a bright angel from the skies,
Or a boon in mercy given.

Death, to the saint is not the hour
When Christ his Lord hath come,
In all the glory of his power,
To waft him to his home.

Nature will mourn departing friends,
And shake at death's alarms;
'Tis not the voice that Jesus sends
To call them to his arms.

No, 'tis a dark and cruel foe,
Which has invaded earth;
And to distress, and fear, and woe
Intense hath given birth.

'Tis Satan's ally, sent abroad
To execute his will;
I' rmitted by a righteous God,
His purpose to fulfil.

But death, and who hath its power,
Shall be at last destroyed,
And saints no more—O joyful hour!
Will be by them annoyed.

JOHN FOORE.

If you are anxious about the well-being of some friend and would like to have him see and embrace the truth, subscribe for this paper to be sent to him. It will talk at times and places that you cant. It may make opportunity for you to say a word that will make you friend a joint-heir with the Lord Jesus Christ. It has been done. Why not try it?

Very Low Rates

During the months of March and April via Chicago & North-Western R'y; $30.00 from Chicago to Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Ogden and Salt Lake City; $30.50 Spokane, $33.00 Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Victoria and a large number of other points. Tourist Sleeping Cars every day from Chicago to the Pacific Coast. For maps and particulars apply to nearest ticket agent or address A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—apr 26

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

To the Dear Readers of The Restitution:

I wish to write a few lines as to how I became a believer of the one faith. It may aid some one who reads the dear paper, yet is not a follower of the dear Savior, or some one who is not satisfied with the form of religion they are striving to follow as I did at one time.

My father was raised in the Baptist faith, my mother in the Methodist form of doctrine. I had, from a little child, attended Church and Sunday School. I had been taught to believe that I had an immortal soul which must go to heaven or hell, when I died, according to the way I had lived. When I was about fourteen, my friends wished me to make a choice of religion. I attended a Methodist revival, there saw seekers at the mourner's bench night after night seeming to be in agony of spirit on account of their sins, and to be sincere. By and by, when the meetings closed they were not baptized and taken into full fellowship, as I believed the Bible taught. But were to wait six months and then if they were all right to be sprinkled with water and be a full member of the Church. I could not see much Bible in that way of doing, so I passed on to the Presbyterians. I saw infants sprinkled and heard the preacher say that the little ones would go to hell if not thus baptized. I had read in my Bible where it said, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of heaven." I could not join that Church. Then I thought of my father's Church; but one was required to give a Christian experience and to accept a little book of faith to go along with the Bible. I was not a Christian yet, so could not give any experience, and I did not want any book but the Bible, so I dropped all desire to join a church.

After a time a man came, named Knowles Shaw, who began a revival and organized a congregation known as The Disciples. As these people baptized by immersion and used only the Bible as their guide, I thought I could do no better than to join them. For 20 years I belonged with this people, but was not really satisfied. About this time I moved with my little family to Sheridan Co. Neb. There I got acquainted with a family by name of Watkins. The mother told me I was not on the right road, that I had no immortal soul, that all there was of me would go to the grave when I died and there remain till the resurrection of all things, unless I believed in Christ in the way laid down. I was very indignant at first, yet, I kept thinking that there were some passages in the Bible that I could not get clear. Well those good people for the good of their neighbors made arrangement with one Almus Adams, to hold a series of meetings in their school-house. I went first out of curiosity. Adams made the statement that there was no promise in the Bible that any one should go to heaven at death, also that there was one spoken of in the Bible as having immortality except God. I searched the Bible and found it true, believed, and felt that I was right. I did not at this time be baptized again, as I thought I had been baptized by immersion and that would do, still, I was not free from doubts.

Brother Adams came to preach again in that part of the country and while listening to a discourse on baptism, the scales fell from my eyes and I rose up and asked to be baptized into the all saving name of Christ, not into a church as I had been years ago.

Dear readers, I could not have set still till the close of that sermon to save my life, there seemed to be an unseen hand impelling me to rise then and there. I was baptised, and I thank God from that day to this, I have never had a doubt. When I read my Bible the true meaning became clear to me and all parts are in harmony.

I will close by asking an interest in the prayers of those of like precious faith, and wish all an abundant entrance into the kingdom.

Your Sister in Christ.
MRS. H. E. PADDOCK.

Editor Restitution:

Through the kindness of our heavenly Father, I am still on the land and among the living, and as the year 1901 is gone how thankful we ought to be for the blessings we have received from the hand of our heavenly Father.

Oh, how I like to read the letters from the loved ones of the one faith. I am still clinging to the one faith and one hope.

I was pleased to read the letter from Jerusalem. It shows that God is favoring the land. Oh brothers and sisters how thankful we should be for the good old paper, THE RESTITUTION, for it comes to us every week with words of light and instruction. Oh, where would we find a better paper or one that would give us the light on the coming of our King, and the restitution and signs of the times? I do not think you could find one. It is the best religious paper I ever read. It and my Bible are all the soul cheering things I can read. But, there is one thing in the paper that should not be, and would not be if all would do their duty, and that is, "We need what is due us on subscription." I know Bro. Underwood does not like to put it there. We are told to "owe no man," and I think if a man is able to pay for THE RESTITUTION that comes to him full of cheering words, and shows us by passing events and prophecy, the near approach of the blessed King should do so and delight in it. I am watching and waiting for him that was born King of the Jews, he that will come again and build the tabernacle of David, and reign in Mount Zion, and in Jerusalem. Then they will know that he is the Lord their God, dwelling in Zion his holy mountain. Then shall Jerusalem be holy. Oh there is the least attention paid to the signs of the times. But very few are paying any attention to them. People talk very freely about cattle, hogs and land, but name the signs of the soon coming of Christ and they will shut their mouths or turn the subject.

We have no preaching of the one faith here. But there is a preacher here that knows the truth, and he will talk as straight as a string on the covenants of promise in private, but not so from the pulpit. I think he is a man fearer instead of a God fearing man. When I talk with him on these great questions, and then go to hear him preach it grieves me to think that a man that knows as much as he does and yet is afraid to proclaim the gospel. I heard him say if a person believed that Christ was the Son of God that it made no difference what they believed otherwise. His idea was that belief made them fit subject for baptism. It seems as if it does no good to talk to them, but I intend to speak a word for my Lord and King wherever I can.

Yours in hope of eternal life.
JESSE HARROLD.

Illustrated and Descriptive Booklets Free.

The following excellent publications prepared by the Chicago & North-Western R'y will be sent free to any address upon receipt of postage named.

The information contained therein is of great value to those who expect to travel, either for pleasure or profit. All of the publications are handsomely illustrated with half tone views.

California Illustrated.....	Postage	.02
Hunting and Fishing.....	"	.02
Colorado Illustrated.....	"	.02
Through Picturesque Wisconsin.....	"	.02
Beautiful Country near Chicago.....	"	.04
Picturesque Milwaukee....	"	.02
Opportunities for Business	"	.02
Copper and Iron and where they are found.....	"	.02
Across Picturesque Illinois and Iowa.....	"	.02
Population of cities on the North-Western Line.....	"	.02

The Indian—The Northwest. A history of the Indian tribes. 50 cts.

New, Mounted U. S. Wall Map, 40x54, in colors. 15 cts.

Address W. B. Kniskern, G. P. & T. A. Chicago & North-Western R'y, 22 Fifth Ave., Chicago.—mar 29

Do you like to get THE RESTITUTION each week and read the articles and letters it contains? Did you ever think that your brother who sits near you would get a like benefit and enjoyment if he had it also? Get him to subscribe for 1902. It will cost you very little to ask him, and you may be the means of doing him good.

BOOKS AND TRACTS

BIBLE PEARLS—3 page tracts. Spittable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that [illegible] ing any of the unrighteous? A [illegible] page pamphlet by Wm. Gleaves [illegible] cries. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God. —Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O.

California-Oregon Excursions

Every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first-class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest time on the road. Finest scenery. Inquire of your nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar 8

Change in Time of Trains on Pennsylvania Lines.

Under a new schedule in effect Nov. 24, 1901, passenger trains over the Pennsylvania Lines leave Plymouth station as follows:

For the East—2:58 a m daily, 10:23 a m daily except Sunday, 2:35 p m daily, 5:45 p m daily, 7:55 p m daily extra fare train, 8:39 daily except Sunday, 9:55 p m daily.

For the West—5:15 a m daily, 6:10 a m daily extra fare train, 9:22 a m daily except Sunday, 12:07 p m daily, 2:15 p m daily except Sunday, 5:08 p m daily.

For particular information on the subject apply to J. E. Haines, Ticket Agent, Plymouth.

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, containing 115 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Sitting Bull, Red Cloud and other noted chiefs; Gen. Custer's battle ground, and ten colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1600. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valued contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 25 cents a copy. Mailed postage prepaid on receipt of the amount by W P Kniskern, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar 29.

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

TWELVE WORDS, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 283 pages, cents, leather bound, embossed cover, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Brother Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce [illegible] to insure a market for [illegible]

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNKLINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,
General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,
General Immigration & Industrial Agent.
Louisville, Ky.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

A FREE PATTERN

(your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.

McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50¢ A YEAR

A LADIES' MAGAZINE.

A new, beautiful colored plate; latest Fashions; Entertaining reading; Fancy work; household hints; fiction, etc. Only 50 cts. a year, or send 4c. for latest copy. Lady agents wanted. Send for terms.

Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.

McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ AND 15¢

All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Seeding and Stems Mark.

Only 10 and 15 cents each.—One higher. Ask for them. Sold in nearly every city. Catalogue, or by mail from

THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St., NEW YORK.

VAN [illegible] TIME CARD

In effect Jan. 1, 1902.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.
No. 10, Ex. Su.	For South Bend.....		8:40am
No. 14, "	"	.....	12:01noon
No. 8, " "	"	.....	10:23pm

GOING SOUTH.
No. 21, Ex. Sun.	For Terre Haute.....		5:43a m
No. 3, " "	"	.....	12:34noon
No. 9, " "	"	Logansport.....	7:10pm

Trains 3 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address W. E. Smith Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. Foss,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo.

New Station at Chicago.

Commencing Dec. 29, 1901, all trains on the Nickel Plate Road, during the rebuilding of the Van Buren St. station, will arrive at and depart from the Grand Central station, cor. Fifth Ave. and Harrison St. Chicago.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address public not may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Pike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Bisle, Neb.
S. R. Clinkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & F. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Oshsburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, N b
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, I.
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wince, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hutch, Scircleville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kwan, 4507, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E. Fairfield st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Bidwell, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Bonk, R D 4. Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
I. R. Oglesby, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stella, [illegible]omas, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave, Pasons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," (Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Dwiggins, Long Beach Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Goin, Jefferson, Ore.
S. F. Cordill, 305 S. Main st, South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 153, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hicklin, Luther, Okla.
M. L. Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Graytord, Ind.
John Ru b Inwood Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St, Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St, Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Tahlequah, I. T.
J G Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal
A W Burby Ransom Kan
J W Deffenbaugh Elton Okla
Almira Brooks Scholls Oregon

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post-paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. G. Woodruff, Elizabeth N. J.

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and B. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 p. m., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Remsselaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 a. m., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God at Burr Oak, Ind., have preaching every 2d and 4th Sundays at 10:30 a. m. and in the evening. Bible meeting every Thursday evening. Samuel Osebora and A. Maxey Elders. Sunday School every Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Georgia Osborne Sec. of the S. S. All are invited to any of the services.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:30, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through the city, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker 209 West Ivy St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:30 A. M. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1251½ Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsboro, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by A. H. Zitzer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. B. Fahrbach.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 a. m., in Miller's Hall, Galena Ave., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Knife, Kessler, or John Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Anthon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trundell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Grant of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren, A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Becker, Elder, Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertized in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME LI. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, FEBRUARY 26, 1902. NUMBER 8.

Walter Tomlinson
McKinnon Sts

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

"He Leadeth Me"

In "pastures green"? Not always: sometimes He
Who knoweth best, in kindness leadeth me
In weary ways, where heavy shadows be;

Out of the sunshine, warm and soft and bright,
Out of the sunshine into darkest night;
I oft would faint with sorrow and affright—

Only for this—I know he holds my hand;
So whether in green or desert land
I trust, although I may not understand.

And by "still waters"? No, not always so;
Oft times the heavy tempests round me blow,
And o'er my soul the waves and billows go.

But when the storms beat loudest, and I cry
Afraid for help, the Master cometh by,
And whispers to my soul, "Lo, it is I."

Above the tempest wild I hear him say,
"Beyond this darkness lies the perfect day,
In every path of thine I lead the way."

So whether in the hill-tops high and fair
I dwell, or in the shadow valleys where
The shadows lie—what matter? He is there.

And more than this, wherever pathways lead,
He gives to me no helpless, broken reed,
But his own hand, sufficient for my need.

So where he leads me I can safely go;
And in the blest hereafter I shall know
Why in his wisdom he hath led me so.

—E. G. Browning.

Communicated.

Conversion.

It is sometimes charged against the Church of God that it has "no religion," and the like things, because it does not engage in the practice of "alter services" as employed by many religious bodies in their revival meetings. It is urged that because of the absence of this feature the persons who obey the gospel in baptism and thus become identified with the Church of God, are not truly and genuinely converted. There is no denying of the fact that the methods we as a body employ in bringing persons into the Church differ widely from those of others; but, does it follow that we are wrong because of this difference from the practice of the many? Is it not possible for even the "many" to be wrong? Numbers or majorities can not determine this matter. It must be decided on other grounds.

What is conversion? In a general sense it is said to be "a turning from one state to another." In its religious aspect the word is said to mean "a change of heart or disposition, in which the enmity of the heart to God and his law, and the obstinacy of the will, are subdued and are succeeded by a supreme love to God and his moral government, and a reformation of life."—Webster. The first thing to consider is "a change of heart." What is this "heart," and how is this "change" effected? A right understanding of these terms will contribute much toward a proper solution of the question of conversion.

In the above definition the "change" is said to take place in the "heart or dispositions." This "heart" is "the seat of the affections, of the understanding, of the will." It is God who operates upon these faculties of the persons in whom this change is produced. By what means does he do this? Let the Scriptures answer: "The law (margin, "doctrine") of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul. The testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple." Psa. xix. 7. By this "doctrine" God makes known his purpose concerning man, thus reaching the understanding; in this way he instils into the mind the principle of "love" above mentioned, and the result is "a reformation of life."

Paul considered himself as being sent to the nations: "To open their eyes, and to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins and inheritance among them that are sanctified by faith" in Christ. Acts xxvi. 18. Here we have:

1. The opening of the eyes. What eyes? Those of the understanding. Eph. i. 18. This "understanding" relates to "what the will of the Lord is." Eph. v. 17. By what means does he bring about this understanding? "The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding to the simple." Psa. cxix. 130. "For God who commanded the light to shine out of darkness hath shined in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ." 2 Cor. iv. 1-6. This "knowledge" is the result of either hearing or reading the Word of God. Rom. x. 17; Eph. iii. 1-3. It must be communicated to the mind through the common channels of receiving intelligence.

2. Turning (or converting) the persons from darkness (ignorance, want of knowledge) to light (knowledge), and from the power of Satan unto God. This process of "turning" is an important one. It is necessary for the person so enlightened to acknowledge, love, and obey the truth, and be set for its defense. A great many make the mistake that, while they in a general way assent to the truths taught in the Word of God, they do not seem to realize that it is saving truth with which they have to do. The person who is truly "taught of God," understands the exceeding sinfulness of sin, appreciates the kindness and condescension of God in making terms of peace and pardon, and even offering to him, upon condition of obedience, joint heirship with Jesus Christ in his everlasting kingdom. He turns away from sin with delight, counts it a joy to be buried with Christ in baptism and to reckon himself to be dead indeed to sin but alive to God, and is willing to go outside the camp to suffer the reproach of Christ. His life, like that of the former Saul of Tarsus, is one of faith in the Son of God. Gal. ii. 20. Whether he lives, he lives unto the Lord, or whether he dies, he dies unto the Lord; he is at all times the Lord's. He has in short been turned from iniquity to God to serve him and to wait for his Son from heaven. 1 Thess. i. 9, 10. His affection has been transferred from things beneath to those above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Col. iii. 4. Is he a truly converted man? No doubt of it. Where did he obtain the motive that thus propels him in the path of godliness? He has learned it from the Word of God which is able to save and by the gospel was preached unto him. 1 Pet. i. 23-25. This Word he loves because it was the means of his enlightenment, and he meditates thereon day and night; but above all he loves the God of all grace, who is revealed therein, because of his love for the sinner.

If these results are produced by the hearing of the Word and obedience of the faith, why censure those who do not deem it necessary to supplement the Word with unauthorized human contrivances for which there can be found neither precept nor example in the Scriptures?

The "altar service," as it is in vogue, has no place in the writings of the apostles or the primitive Christians. Were they to witness some of the scenes enacted in modern "revivals," they would register their unqualified protest.

Let me here say that prayer properly belongs to those who have in Jesus Christ an Advocate; and he is the Advocate only of those who through faith and obedience have engaged his services. The sinner is a rebel, and must first cease his opposition against God, lay down his weapons, accept the services of the Mediator, agree to the terms of pardon, and thus bent peace with God through Jesus Christ, before he has the right to make any demands upon God. "We know that God heareth not sinners; but if any man be a worshiper of God, and doeth his will, him he heareth." John ix. 31. The uniform and unvarying command of God toward the sinner is, Belief of the gospel, repentance for sin, and baptism into Jesus Christ for the remission of sins. This is nothing short of an unqualified assent to and acceptance of the promises made in the gospel, a hearty turning away from sinful thoughts and ways to God and righteousness; and burial with Christ in baptism, as enjoined in the gospel, followed by a righteous and holy life.

Persons with whom conversion has thus been a work of the understanding, have a solid foundation beneath their feet. We know of not a few such who are isolated, who have no preaching but the Bible and THE RESTITUTION, but when you meet with them and begin to converse with them about God's plan of human redemption, their eyes begin to brighten, and they display an interest in and acquaintance with the Bible that would be a credit to some who enjoy the distinction of being "reverend." There are no doubt many such on the subscription lists of our paper, as appears from the frequent testimonies.

There are many whose names are upon church records of present day "denominations," who, though they have been told and believe they are converted, know almost nothing about the coming of the Son of God from heaven; whose hope and anticipation is not wrapt up in the coming of Christ, and to whom it would make no difference if they were told, as they often are, that Christ will never set his feet on this earth again. Instead of being advised as they should be, that one of the objects of their conversion (or turning) is to look for the Son of God FROM heaven (1 Thes. i. 9, 10), they have been admonished to "get ready to die," so that they may go TO Christ IN heaven, when there is not in all the Bible a single plain and unmistakable statement that death is the agent chosen by God to transport them into his presence. Can persons be said to be truly converted who do not understand and therefore cannot have any interest in the second coming of Christ? Reader, do you know what foundation you are standing upon? Look well to your position. Do not flatter yourself that because you occupy the ground held by others—even good people—therefore you are safe. The question is, "Lord, what will thou have me to do?" That do!

A. R. ZELMER.

"Faith in the Gospel."

The above caption is a phrase which I have quoted from an article recently printed in a religious periodical. The writer's conception of what the gospel consists of, in which he conceives it is so necessary to place faith, may be gathered from the following quotation:

"The blessing contained in the covenant to Abraham which should reach all nations through the promised Seed (Christ) was the blessing that Abraham RECEIVED—(he 'died in faith not having received the promises.' Heb. xi. 13), the blessing of reconciliation with God, through the blotting out of our iniquities.  Faith is an essential pre-requisite to salvation—faith in the gospel."

There is quite a marked difference existing between "faith in the gospel" and the "faith of the gospel," which faith now spans the gulf of death, with the bridge of eternal life; and in the outgrowth of which faith, we have "the hope of the gospel," (Col. i. 23) which hope inspires the aspirant to joyfully cross the bridge, in quest of the blessings to be reached on the other side of the gulf. "The blessing of reconciliation," is an effect which follows the placing of confidence in "the faith of the gospel," as a cause. Before a person can have "faith in the gospel," he must have a clear conception as to what constitutes the gospel, and not possessing this, he can have no basis upon which to place his faith or confidence.

The writer says: "The blessing contained in the covenant with Abraham which should reach all nations through the promised Seed (Christ) was the blessing Abraham received—the blessing of reconciliation, etc."

The writer should be careful and not seek to reverse matters, by making an effect the cause. The cause which produces the effect of reconciliation, is an unwavering faith that God will bring to pass his oath-confirmed promises. A person who is ignorant of these oath-confirmed promises, could not exercise such a faith, nor could he be enthused by the exultant hope usually anticipated in their realization. All thoughtful people will admit this to be true. It is written of Abraham: "He staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God; being FULLY PERSUADED, that what he HAD PROMISED he was ABLE also to PERFORM. And therefore (for this reason) it was IMPUTED TO HIM FOR RIGHTEOUSNESS." Now, if we want a faith which can be imputed to us for RIGHTEOUSNESS," we must "also walk in the steps of that faith of our father Abraham," then "reconciliation," "justification," and "imputed righteousness," will come to us as an effect of such a faith being the cause. Do not reverse God's order.

The simple statement of a fact that a way of reconciliation with God has been provided, could not of itself be the WAY. The good news concerning any blessing cannot be the blessing. The announcement and the fact itself concerning which the announcement relates, must be different.

Large numbers of people confess a belief that God has promised great blessings to those who may walk in harmony with his divine will. Yet these people do not harmonize either as to what the blessings consist of, or the way to obtain those blessings, although both the nature of the blessings, and the way to secure them, is specifically revealed in the Scriptures of Truth. Why is it that such a variance exists? The answer is, because they have made void the Word of God by their traditions. They have heaped unto themselves teachers having "itching ears" and these teachers have turned them unto "fables," in place of the solid truth of God. The consequence is, such people are "ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth." 2 Tim. iii. 7.

In the days of our Savior, the Roman centurion Cornelius sought earnestly to know the true way. The knowledge that God's love had provided great blessings, was not of itself sufficient; he must learn what is expected of him personally, that he may be a recipient of those blessings. God heard his prayers, and directed his course, that he may secure the specific knowledge as to the way. Hence, to this end, he was instructed to "send to Joppa, and call for Simon whose surname is Peter, who shall tell thee words (show the way) whereby thou and all thy house shall BE SAVED." Acts xi. 13, 14.

He accordingly sent for Peter, as instructed, and when Peter had arrived, Cornelius said to him: "Now therefore we are all here present before God, to hear all things that are commanded thee of God." They had knowledge that a way of reconciliation existed, but that knowledge did not bring the desired reconciliation. They needed to hear the "words whereby thou and all thy house shall be saved," or in other words, the way to secure the blessing.

LISTEN TO THESE WORDS,

because they are divine and life-giving words, they are not the words of men, but are heaven-authorized words of life. Peter said: "That Word I say ye know, which was published throughout all Judea, and began from Galilee, after the baptism which John preached." Here we have three statements of fact by which the exact message may be traced.

1. It was "published throughout all Judea."

2. It "began from Galilee to be published throughout all Judea."

3. The time when this preaching started was "after the baptism which John preached."

Now, I submit the proper and reasonable thing to do, would be to investigate as to what message or "Word," began to be preached from Galilee, directly after "the baptism which John preached," and if we can accurately ascertain that fact we can know of a surety what the words were, "Whereby thou and all thy house shall be saved." This being ascertained it will not be at all necessary for us to guess that the gospel consisted of the "good news of this blessing" of reconciliation, or any other human notion, as to what the gospel consisted of.

The desired evidence is found in Mark i. 14, 15: "After John was put in prison (the time) Jesus came into Galilee (the place) preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God, (the words of life) and saying, the time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand, repent ye and believe the gospel" of the kingdom of God.

The "good news of this blessing" of reconciliation is only to be found in the gospel Jesus preached, and that gospel was "the gospel of the kingdom of God."

This invite Christ said to his disciples, 'preach the gospel (good news of this blessing) to every creature.'" Now compare this with what Jesus commissioned his disciples to preach, and notice the difference between the two statements as to what they were sent to preach.

See Luke ix. 1, 2, 6: "Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases. And he SENT them to preach the KINGDOM OF GOD, and to heal diseases.  And they departed and went through the towns preaching the gospel." This evidence clearly shows that to preach "the kingdom of God," and to "preach the gospel" is exactly the same thing.

This is the difference.

1. "Christ said preach the gospel (good news of this blessing) (of reconciliation) to every creature." Contrast this with No. 2.

2. "And he sent them to preach the KINGDOM OF GOD."

When Jesus said "Preach the kingdom of God," as the gospel we can easily understand what is meant. Now if we seek to doctor this message up a little, and say: "Christ said, 'preach the gospel (good news of this blessing) to every creature,'" by reading in the writer's parenthetical definition of the gospel, we could not perceive the least similarity between that gospel and the gospel of the "kingdom of God," which Jesus began to preach at Galilee, together with the "kingdom of God," he sent his disciples to preach.

The difference never ceases to be marked and distinct, when people forsake the old Bible standards, for human notions, and traditions.

Thus far from the above evidence we have seen that Cornelius and his household was aware of the existence of a plan of reconciliation, but they did not know how to personally appropriate it. They were therefore, instructed to send for Peter, who

1. "Shall tell thee words whereby thou and thy house shall be saved."

2. Peter says the words were "published throughout Judea, (the country) and began from Galilee, (the starting point) after the baptism which John preached," (the time). Acts x. 37.

3. Mark i. 14, 15, confirms the above message and states what the message was: "Now after John was put in prison (time) Jesus came into Galilee (starting point) preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God." (The words of life).

4. He sent his disciples to preach the same message: "He sent them to preach the kingdom of God  And they departed and went through the towns preaching the gospel."

Now, after discovering from the Scriptures that the way of reconciliation is involved in the "gospel of the kingdom," in place of an undefined idea called "the good news of this blessing," of reconciliation, etc., it would be well to entertain and consider carefully a very serious question relating to the gospel of the kingdom, which the Lord began to preach at Galilee, and afterward was confirmed in a remarkable manner by his disciples whom he sent them to "preach the kingdom of God," and they obeyed their instructions by preaching the gospel.

Indeed, I would doubt the final salvation of any person who would set aside the momentous question referred to. It is found in Heb. ii. 3, 4: "How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; (what salvation? why that) which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, (at Galilee) and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him: (his disciples whom he sent to preach the kingdom of God) God also bearing them witness, both with signs and wonders, and divers miracles, and gifts of the Holy Ghost, according to his own will?" There can be no possible mistake but what the phrase, "so great salvation," means the "gospel of the kingdom of God," because it directs attention to that "which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord," which Mark says, was the "gospel of the kingdom of God." And Peter also directs Cornelius and household to that which "began from Galilee, after the baptism which John preached," as, "words whereby thou and all thy house shall be saved." This being the case, is it not proven as clearly as words can prove any thing, that "the gospel of the kingdom of God," are saving words—the "great salvation?" "How shall we escape if we (even) neglect so great salvation?" then pray tell me, how can those religious teachers escape, who have set themselves in battle array to fight the gospel of the kingdom of God, as a saving message of life, and substitute in its place some undefined gospel of reconciliation, etc.?

A similar message is found in the last chapter of the Acts. After the Jews were found to be "dull of hearing." Paul says: "Be it known therefore unto you that the "SALVATION OF GOD is sent unto the Gentiles, and that they will hear it."

In what did the "salvation of God" consist? Why, it could be nothing else except that which was found to be the subject matter of his preaching while at Rome. As to that, we read: "And Paul dwelt two whole years in his own hired house, and received all that came in unto him, preaching the KINGDOM OF GOD, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all confidence, no man forbidding him."

No person can be in a saved condition, or in other words, "justified by faith," unless they are first "obedient to the faith,"—have faith in the true gospel. "Faith in Christ," when understood to be simply confidence in Christ, will not be sufficient for salvation, unless they shall first become obedient to the faith, or in other words obey the gospel he authorized to be preached, and not some man-made perversion. Rom. xvi. 26, says: "According to the commandment of the everlasting God (the gospel was to be) made known to all nations for the obedience of faith."

Again Rom. i. 5: "By whom we received grace and apostleship, for obedience to the faith (the one faith) among all nations."

Also Acts vi. 7: "And the Word of God increased; and the number of disciples multiplied in Jerusalem greatly; and a great company of the priests were obedient to the faith." The words, "the faith," relate principally to promises, called "the faith once delivered unto the saints," which differs materially from a faith of three facts alone, such as is preached by Campbellites. Any and every effort made to set aside and ignore the old "gospel of the kingdom of God," as being the "great salvation," means nothing less than fighting against God, and they will doubtless be held responsible for the mischief they do in turning sinners away from the ONLY saving message of life. Hence Paul was perfectly justified in saying: "Though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed."

W. H. WILSON.

Those to whom we have sent letters telling about your accounts have not all made response as yet. Brother or Sister, we urge you to be sure and not neglect this matter longer. We want to pay our obligations—this is the reason why we ask you to give us what is due at once. If we could satisfy those we are under obligation to any other way we would not ask you, but as it is the only way we know of, we must hear from you to enable us to do so. We trust all will see the necessity of this and act NOW.

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, OFFICE EDITOR.

EDITORIAL COMMITTEE.

J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, FEB'Y 26, 1902.

THE great Sanitarium of the Seventh Day Adventists at Battle Creek, Mich. was destroyed by fire last week.

"SOCRATES was of the opinion that if we laid all of our adversities and misfortunes in one common heap, with this condition that each one should carry out an equal portion, most men would be glad to take up their own again."

WE have articles on hand from Brothers Moyer, Gardner, Foore Halstead, Simonds, Wines, Adams, Robison, Sutton, McCurry, Knapp and others, all of which will have attention as fast as we can arrange to look them over. We thank one and all for your kind efforts and ask your patience.

"WHAT does laying down of life mean to us? Are we willing to lay down our prejudices for the good of some brother, or some self indulgence, that we may save time and money to help a struggler out of the mire, to put hope and brightness into a darkened life? How about the doubtful things we can do without peril, but which the weaker brother, emboldened by our example, attempts to his utter demoralization and destruction? Let us specialize under the great appeal to lay down our lives for the brethren, and lay down some things much smaller, for the hope of being worth something."

"PROMPTNESS and improvement are every man's duty. It is not right to remain as we were, or as we are. We ought to be all the time gaining and growing in experience and attainment and grace. It may be to our shame that we are just where God put us, and that we have just what God gave us. If God put us at the bottom of a hill, or at the beginning of a road, it may be for us to mount or to proceed, and not to stop where we are. It was the man who retained just what his lord gave him, and who was ready to give back that at the day of reckoning, who not only lost his possessions, but was cast into outer darkness as an unprofitable servant. Remaining just as God made us may be the cause of our condemnation."

Troublous Times.

Many nations are in trouble at this time. England has the South African war still dragging on, and now fresh Irish troubles are up before her. Then the Liberal and Conservative parties are both so split up and demoralized that the government hardly knows itself. The Coronation is coming on, and with the unsettled state of affairs generally the prospect is not so very bright.

Spain is to crown her young king in a few weeks, and unless there is a decided change he will take the throne facing civil war. Already hundreds of people have been shot down in Barcelona, and the disturbance is spreading rapidly.

France scarcely knows which way to turn. For some years there has been a dread of coming disaster in the minds of leading Frenchmen, and now it is apparent to them that the nation is on the down grade, as is Spain. The Matin, a somewhat sober and staid French journal has published an account of internal conditions with regard to native population, showing that fewer marriages, and frequent divorces, large excess of deaths over births, increase of crimes and alarming effects of alcoholism on the people in every part of the nation, is tending downward at a rapid rate—at such a rate that the bravest can see no way to avert the disaster.

Italy has had to administer heroic remedies. Serious strikes among the railroad employees threatened to tie up every thing. Officials were powerless. The government stepped in and called every railroad man belonging to the several departments of the army into active service, and then assigned them to their respective duties under military command. How long this can last is a question.

The South and Central American states are mostly all in a tangle, and the ever-to-be-depended-on Balkan region threatens again.

Then whether the new alliance between England and Japan, and which is now evidently backed by the United States, will be strong enough to stop Russia in her designs is yet to be seen. A concession by Corea to Russia, of an important island on her coast, and an agreement never to let any other nation take or use the adjacent mainland, virtually giving Russia the very hold she wants.

The grave danger of a clash over the well nigh frantic attempts of Russia to gain her way through Persia to the waters leading to the Indian Ocean before England can wall her out, and this all coupled with probable trouble with Germany over Asiatic railroads, makes a survey of the earth present a dark picture indeed.

The eye can see no peaceful spot in all the world of nations, and the need for an Adjuster and Equalizer for all is sorely felt. Truly men's hearts are failing them for fear of impending trouble. Watch and be sober.

Looking for that Blessed Hope.

"For our polity begins in the heavens, from whence also we are expecting a Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ." Phil. iii, 20.

In the religious world generally, of today, we see no anxiety about the second coming of Christ. There is a universal indifference to it. One is reminded of the statement in the parable, "Whilst the bridegroom tarried they all slumbered and slept." Very few care about the approach of the bridegroom; very few believe it. When spoken to about it, their language is practically that of the scoffers of whom Peter wrote, "Where is the promise of his coming? For since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation." Ah, but the day comes when this apathy will be rudely dispelled. "As it was so shall it come upon all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth," said Jesus. How is it that men are so blinded to the most obvious doctrine of the New Testament? Because under the guidance of a false theory, they look upon death as the eternal settlement of every man for weal and woe,—whereas death settles nothing. It consigns us to darkness and silence to wait for Christ. That is the great settling time, when God shall judge the secrets by Jesus Christ. Blessed are they who are prepared for his arrival. Happy are they who "look for his appearing." Thrice happy they who love it. It is only to such that he is to appear the second time unto salvation. Reader, repent thee of thy worldly follies! Give heed to the good message that speaks to thee out of the Bible. Learn the truth out of its neglected pages,—cast thy errors and thoughtlessness behind thee, give obedience to the heavenly requirements, and wait for the coming of the Son of Man."

Another King,—One Jesus.

At Thessalonica Paul was accused of preaching "another king, one Jesus,"—it is easy to see from this that that noble bearer of the name, and defender of the faith was doing at Thessalonica exactly what he did in his own hired house at Rome for two whole years, viz: "Preaching the kingdom of God and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all confidence." And how could any reasonable and honest person expect him to do anything else after the declaration of the Lord, Matt. xxiv. 14, "This gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness," and the addition to the commission after his resurrection, that "repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem?" Lu. xxiv. 47. And is it not plain from this that Paul proclaimed this gospel of the kingdom as a bona fide terrestrial kingdom like other kingdoms, not a spiritual myth? If Paul had taught the kingdom Jesus was to be king of was in heaven above the skies, or composed of little religious ecclesias scattered over the earth that expected to be transported to other regions at death,—or that the love of God in the heart was the kingdom of God; if Paul had taught thus, it is not likely there would have been any alarm about Cesar's safety; Paul called things by their proper names,—and his hearers evidently believed he meant what he said.

Passing Events in the Light of Prophecy.

We compile the following items for Zion's Watchman from Glad Tidings, English.

The financial difficulties of the Porte still continue and are becoming increasingly embarrassing. It is stated in well informed circles that the recent advance of £600,000 by the Ottoman bank was arranged under the express condition that the sum should be applied to the payment of the three month's salaries of state officials on dates of their falling due.

There is great depression of trade throughout Germany, and the number of unemployed is steadily increasing. Berlin alone contributes 35,000 to 40,000. Some attribute the cause to Chinese difficulties and the war in South Africa. May not one cause, probably the chief one, be the excessive militarism that lies like a huge nightmare on the country?

In the Reichstag, Herr Bebel said that a feeling of discontentment such as had never before been experienced in Germany was gaining ground among the people.

In Spain the great unrest which has existed for a lengthened period still exists.

Consular reports show that there is a recrudescence of assassination and outrage in several districts of Macedonia. Russia has called the attention of the Porte to this [illegible] affairs.

A demonstration was made lately at Sofia, and the demonstrators were dispersed amid shouts for "Revolution in Macedonia."

Scribner's magazine had recently an article bearing this title, "The World's Industrial Struggle," from the pen of Mr. Frank A. Vanderlip, who writes that M. de Witte, the Russian minister of Finance has said, "Militarism is the nightmare and the ruin of every European minister. The industrial crisis which you find here in Russia is not confined to this country. You will find it more or less pronounced all over Europe."

The Novae Vremya, St. Petersburg, has been dealing with the idea of a rapprochement between Great Britain and Russia. It says their interests meet in China, Turkey and Persia. In China they cannot lead to any serious conflict. In Turkey the predominating influence has passed from Britain to Germany, and it is with that country Russia has to deal. The crucial point is Persia. The acquisition of an outlet to the Indian Ocean is of such vast importance to Russia that she cannot make any concession in Persia."

So says the Russian Journal, and the Scriptures say that Persia is to be at the steps of the King of the North when he invades the Holy Land in the latter days. See Ezek. xxxviii. 5-7. Events are steadily veering round in that direction.

The Novae Vremyn then proceeds to predict the outbreak of war in the not distant future. It considers war to be inevitable between Russia and Germany, and suggests that Britain would find it to her interest to take the side of the Franco-Russian Alliance, or remain neutral.

The St. James Gazette had a recent article on the Persian Gulf, and in the course of it said: "Somebody seems to find an interest in cooking a kettle of fish on the Persian Gulf. In whose interest the Sultan has acted we are not prepared to say: All we know is that Germany has ear-marked Koweypt as the terminus of her railway, which is to start from Angora and run down the Euphrates valley, while Russia is frantically jealous of the proposal, which would throw an ugly barrier between her and Palestine, the GREAT GOAL of her AMBITIONS," (caps ours.)

Since the opening of the British Parliament there has been a discussion in the House of Commons on British influence in Persia. In the course of the discussion the Under-Secretary for foreign affairs said the government was anxious for the integrity of Persia, but far more anxious for the balance of Power, and it would be impossible for them to abandon their rightful position in Persia, especially in the Persian Gulf, and in the Southern provinces which bordered on the Indian Empire.

In the course of an address at a Zionist meeting in London, lately, Mr. Israel Zangwill said: "I will give them another advertisement—'On the 30th of August, 1897, at Basle, Israel a people, born again.' Until that date they were not a people, only disconnected atoms."

That date is exactly 1260 years (time, times, and a half) from the taking of Jerusalem by the Saracens, when there was accomplished the scattering of the power of the holy people. Dan. xii. 7. How significant to those who are watching the dawn of Israel's day of deliverance!

Jerusalem's new waterworks,—the first ever built in Jerusalem since those of Solomon were destroyed by the Moslem conquerors, took place recently. For about twelve hundred years the city has been dependent on rain water gathered in open cisterns, and this supply in addition to its inefficiency, involving an annual water famine in the dry season, engendered fevers and epidemics caused by the filthy condition of the cisterns. Thanks to the new works, says the Pall Mall Gazette, about 600,000 pints of pure spring water are carried to the upper city. The lower parts are not yet so favorably circumstanced. There was a brilliant inaugural ceremony.

Communicated.

Conversions Under Apostolic Preaching. No. 1.

In the 2nd chapter of Acts we have a history of the first preaching done under the great commission given to the apostles by their risen Lord just prior to his ascension. It was on the Pentecost next following the Passover at which the Christ was crucified—a feast made memorable in the history of the church by the marvelous outpouring of the Holy Spirit on the apostles, in fulfilment of the promise given a short time before. This endowment with power, this baptism of the Spirit, enabled the apostles to address the vast assemblage of Jews out of every nation under heaven in as many different tongues as there were nationalities from whence they came. These astonished Jews heard the Word in the language wherein they were born. This was truly marvelous. Men are still quoting and applying the language here touching this baptism of Holy Spirit to scenes enacted by purely human agencies—scenes bearing no analogy to this one. Modern revival experiences, abounding in noise and excitement, being regarded as duplicates of that Pentecostal experience. In these latter day scenes the sinners under conviction, especially if they vociferate and cry for mercy, and get beside themselves, are supposed to be baptized in Holy Spirit. It is said the Spirit comes upon them mightily. It was the apostles, in this case under consideration, who were baptized with or in Holy Spirit; and who spake in tongues they had never learned in human schools, and by an effort of their own. The assembled Jews were not baptized in Holy Spirit. It is not so affirmed. Neither did they witness the outpouring of the Spirit on the Apostles. But they could bear testimony to the fact that these Galileans of one tongue could speak in many tongues, and through these communicate the truth to them so clearly that "they were pricked in their heart" and constrained to say unto Peter and to the rest of the apostles, "Men and brethren, what shall we do?" The Holy Spirit was not sent into the hearts of these Jews to work them up to the point of asking this question: and yet it had very much to do with their state of mind. It was a leading factor in the case. Had it not been present in the apostles, and manifested itself in the miraculous way here described, no conversions would have followed among these Jews of foreign tongues; for the truth could not have reached them. It served a manifold purpose here: 1, It inspired the apostles, giving them the exact words to speak on this occasion. 2nd, It gave them the ability to speak in the various languages spoken by their Jewish auditors. This is a necessity. 3rd, It confirmed the "Word of salvation which at first began to be spoken by the Lord and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him." Heb. ii. 3.

The next verse tells how God bore witness with signs and wonders, and with diverse miracles, and gifts of the Holy Spirit, according to his will. 4th, It demonstrated the fact that Jesus was alive, and not dead as reported and believed by the Jews. Peter is careful to state what many of his hearers had witnessed in God's approval of his Son by miracles and wonders and signs performed in their midst during his brief ministry, and that what they were that day seeing and hearing was shed forth by his risen and exalted Son in fulfilment of "that which was spoken by the prophet Joel." Joel ii. 28. By careful reading of this 2nd chapter of the Acts in connection with Joel's prophecy an intelligent student of God's Word can hardly fail to learn what the Spirit was given for—the object of its agency.

THE SCRIPTURES APPEALED TO.

In this chapter, as throughout New Testament writings, there are frequent references to, and quotations from Old Testament Scriptures. Old dispensation predictions were meeting their fulfilment in the New. Subject matter of preaching. This report of Luke is necessarily brief, a synopsis of what was said and done. A clear cut outline of truth is before us, and this is sufficient. Peter charges his countrymen with the crime of having killed the Prince of Peace by nailing him to the cross, but that God had raised him from the dead, and exalted him to his own right hand. The Scriptures are quoted in proof. In connection with the citation from Ps. xvi., the oath to David is quoted in substance and applied to Christ. David being a prophet and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him, that of the fruit of his loins according to the flesh, he would raise up Christ to sit on his throne." Acts ii. 30. First recorded in 2 Sam. vii. 12, 13. It was in the light of this oath that David as a prophet foretold, in Psa. xvi., the resurrection of Christ in these words, "Thou wilt not leave my soul in hell; neither wilt thou suffer thine holy One to see corruption." The resurrection of Christ must be, or the oath would be void, and God's faithfulness fail. Jesus was pre-eminently the seed in the royal line, and the only one that could fulfil all the conditions of the oath and covenant. Because the raising of Christ from the dead stands closely connected with the promise of seating him on David's throne many have concluded that he has been on David's throne ever since his ascension to the right hand of the Father; and that the oath must be understood spiritually. But this notion is groundless, for Christ himself in his Revelation to John said, "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me, in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne;" (Rev. iii. 21) thus making a distinction between his and his Father's throne. Christ's throne is the one to which the oath pledges the right and heirship and involves the rulership of the twelve tribes, or house of Jacob forever (Lu. i. 32) and ultimately of all nations by virtue of his Father's promise (Psa. ii. 7-9)—this wider dominion obtained by conquest. Christ never laid claim to the Father's throne as his and no inspired writer has explained the "oath" in this light. His is the throne of David, the throne of glory on which he sits when "all nations are gathered before him." Matt. xxv. 31, 32.

In the course usually pursued with a view to bringing about "conversions" the oath to David is utterly ignored, together with other things found in apostolic preaching as recorded in this book of the Acts. The fact that the oath is embodied in Peter's sermon shows a faithful adherence to the words of the commission which enjoined on the apostles the preaching of the gospel in all the world beginning at Jerusalem; which gospel must embrace the doctrine of the kingdom, in harmony with what Christ said in his great prophecy on the Mount of Olives at the very close of his ministerial labors: "This gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come." Matt. xxiv. 14. So this first sermon makes reference to the kingdom in the language of the oath. In this light every Jew would understand it. He would not understand that heaven is embraced in the oath, and covenants of promise. No, no. So those who profess to be preaching the gospel while substituting heaven for the kingdom and encouraging in their hearers the hope of going there at death, are preaching another gospel. It was not without design, and merely incidental that Peter here affirmed: "David is not ascended into the heavens; but he saith himself, The Lord said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand until I make thy foes thy footstool." Acts ii. 34, 35. Christ had ascended into the heavens but David who had been dead a thousand years had not. He was dead and buried and his sepulchre was there among his people at the date of Peter's preaching. How out of harmony with funeral sermons of today are these affirmations of the inspired apostle whose words accord with what the great Teacher said: "No man hath ascended up to heaven." John iii. 13.

J. L. WINGE.

Salvation.

"Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" Acts xvi. 30. This is the question that the keeper of the prison at Thyatira, asked Paul and Silas while they were in jail at that place, and it is a question of vital importance to every one who has any desire to obtain future life. The answer they made to the question was this, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house." How often we hear the remark, that "if we believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God that is all that is necessary to save them. Let us see what the Apostles say about it, "And they spake unto him the Word of the Lord, and to all that were in his house." That is to say, they told them the things concerning the kingdom of God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the blessings that were to grow out of the promises that were made unto the fathers, then the record says, "And he (that is the jailor) took them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized, he and all his, straightway." By turning back to the second chapter of the Acts, we find almost the same question was asked of Peter on the day of Pentecost. He had been speaking of the death and resurrection of our Lord, and how he was to sit at the right hand of the Father, until his enemies were to be his footstool, and then he says, "Therefore, let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye crucified, both Lord and Christ. Now, when they heard this, they were pricked in their heart, and said unto Peter and to the rest of the Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we do? Then Peter said unto them, Repent and be baptized, every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. For the promise is unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call."

In the 41st verse it tells us how we are called by God, it says, "Then they that gladly received his Word were baptized." We can see how Peter in this second chapter of the Acts, went back to the Prophets to show the state of the dead. He tells how Christ was crucified, and buried, and resurrected to sit on the right hand of God, and how he would reign on David's throne, and how that David is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre is with us unto this day, and that he had not ascended into the heavens, showing by this, that the only hope of a future life is through the resurrection of the dead. He taught all this, and much more concerning the kingdom of God.

Let us turn to Mark xvi. 15-16, and see what Jesus told his Apostles to teach. "He said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature, he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." In the first place, one has to hear the gospel in order to know something to believe. The word gospel signifies good news and glad tidings. When God told Adam in the garden of Eden, "That the seed of the woman should bruise the serpent's head," there was good news in the promise. When God made the covenant to Abraham, saying, "In thee and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed." There was good news and glad tidings to the human family. And also when he declared that Christ shall return, and sit on David's throne, and "rule the world in righteousness, and of his kingdom there shall be no end." There is good news in those promises to the one that believes them. Let us turn to Luke ii. 10, 11, and see what the angels said to the shepherds the night of the Savior's birth. They said, "Fear not, for behold I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto us is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord." Also we read how Simeon took the child Jesus in his arms and cried, "Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace according to thy Word. For mine eyes have seen thy salvation, which thou hast prepared before the face of all people, a light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel." When once we become convinced that these things are so, and that God will do what he has promised to do, then we are ready to enter into covenant relationship with our heavenly Father, by being buried in baptism in the name of the Lord. Paul says, "As many of you as have been baptized into Christ, have put on Christ, and if ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise." Gal. iii. 27-29. Jesus says, "I am the door; by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out and find pasture." John x. 9. In order to get in the door, we must first believe the things God has promised, be baptized in the name of the Lord for the remission of sins, and arise to walk in newness of life. Then we have taken the first step in the strait and narrow way that leadeth unto life eternal. And then we are to grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior.

JOS. H. WILLIAMS.

Poetry.

What He is to Me.

"They that know thy name will put their trust in thee." Psa. ix. 10.

"How excellent is thy name." Psa. viii. 1.

Oh what is Jehovah, Messiah, to me?
My Lord and my God; my Immanuel, he;
My Prophet, my Priest, and my Sacrifice, too;
My Advocate, Holy One, Faithful and True.
And he is my Life, and my Truth, and my Way;
My Leader and Teacher, for him I obey.
My Ransom, Redeemer, my Kinsman, my Friend;
All sweetly in Jesus, the Nazarene, blend.

And he is my Peace, and my Altar beside;
Physician and Shepherd, and Keeper and Guide;
My Wonderful, Counselor, Wisdom and Light;
My Shadow by day, and my Beacon by night;
My Horn of Salvation, and my Captain in war;
My Day-spring, my Sun, and my bright Morning Star;
My Raiment, Crown, Diadem, Treasure untold;
My Pearl and my Glory in him I behold.

My Savior is he, and my Mediator;
My Bread and my Water, my Dwelling, my Door;
My Branch and my Vine, and my Lily, my Rose;
My Rock and my Refuge, whatever oppose;
My King in his beauty, my Bridegroom, Beloved;
My All in this Son of the Blessed to me.
Now tell me, my brother, what is he to thee?

Communicated.

The Cleveland Bereans.

THE BENEVOLENT PART OF WORSHIP OF GOD AND HIS TRUTH.

Benevolence means loving others and actively disposing of their well being and moral improvement. I have found several expressions in the book of God which according to my understanding seem to bear directly on benevolence in the worship of our God and his Word.

1st, Praying for the preservation of those that preach the gospel that they may continue to set before others the hope of salvation; and praying for the welfare of all the Church. Jas. v. 16, says, "Pray one for another." Jesus speaking to God about his disciples in John xvii. 9 says, "I pray for them; I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given me." And in the 20th verse, "Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their (the disciples') word." And Paul in 1 Tim. ii. 1, says, "I exhort therefore, that first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions and giving of thanks be made for all men." And again in Phil. iv. 1, "I thank my God making mention of thee always in my prayers." And in Rom. x. 1, he gives another remarkable instance of benevolence in prayer saying, "Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer for Israel is, That they might be saved."

2nd, Praying for the conversion of sinners to God so that they also may become co-heirs of the kingdom with Abraham. This is well illustrated by the letters of Paul and Timothy to the Corinthians, 2 Cor. v. 20, "Now, then we are embassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us, we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God."

3rd, Praying for our enemies. Jesus says in Matt. v. 44, "Pray for them which despitefully use you and persecute you." Col. iii. 13, "Forbearing one another and forgiving one another. If any man have a quarrel against any, even as Christ forgave you, so also do you." This spirit is beautifully shown by Stephen when being stoned to death, Acts vii. 60, "And he kneeled down and cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay not this sin to their charge." Also Jesus when on the cross, "Father, forgive them for they know what they do." Luke xxiii. 34.

4th, Giving unto the Lord the honor due his name. Job after losing all his possessions, says in the 1st chapter and 21st verse, "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord."

David says in Psa. xviii. 3, "I will call upon the Lord who is worthy to be praised, so shall I be saved from mine enemies." And in Psa. xviii. 46, "Let the God of my salvation be exalted," and again in Psa. xxxiv. 12, "I will bless the Lord at all times, his praise shall continually be in my mouth, Oh, magnify the Lord with me and let us exalt his name together."

5th, Presenting ourselves living sacrifices to God. Jesus says in Luke ix. 23, "If any man will come after me let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me." Paul says in Gal. vi. 14, "God forbid that I should glory save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me and I unto the world. I beseech you therefore brethren, by the mercies of God that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. Purge out therefore the old leaven that ye may be a new lump as ye are unleavened.' Rom. xii. 1; 1 Cor. v. 7.

6th, Praying for the quick return of Jesus to earth with his kingdom under which all men will live righteously and the people shall go and say, "Come ye and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob, and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths; for out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem; and he shall judge among the nations and shall rebuke many people, and they shall beat their swords into plow shares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." Isa. ii. 3, 4.

GEORGE NEILL.

JOHN IV. 5.

"Except a man be born of water and of spirit he cannot enter the kingdom of God." These words compose an answer given to a certain ruler of the Jews by the name of Nicodemus, who came by night to consult with Jesus. But before receiving this reply he was told, "Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God. John iii. 3. And in order that he might understand more fully, Jesus then quotes the words of our text, i. e., except a man be born of water and of the spirit he cannot enter the kingdom of God.

"Except a man be born of water," to be born of water means to be baptized. It certainly could not mean that man be made of water, or formed of water: this would be entirely out of reasoning, it would not harmonize with God's definition of man found in Gen. ii. 7, "And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground." Knowing then that man was formed of the dust of the ground and not of water, we are satisfied that Christ refers to baptism, but before we leave this question let us turn to another place in which he (Christ) practically has the very same object in view, but announces it in a little different language found in Matt. xxviii. 19, "Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit." Take notice of the last clause "baptizing them in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit." Here we see that Christ appoints baptism. He announces it. He commands it to be done, therefore in view of this we will readily see Christ's idea.

In Mark xvi. 16, we have these words, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be condemned." From this verse we learn that baptism is a saving power, for it distinctly says, "he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." But saved from what? We see that one before he is baptized is in danger, as the word saved forces one to think that there is danger of some nature somewhere, no matter when it is used. And there is danger in this case and great danger at that. He is in danger of losing his life; he is subject to death, eternal death, and this is what he must be saved from. He is subject to death because he is a victim of sin, a sinner. In Rom. v. 12, the apostle says, "Wherefore as by one man sin entered into the world and death by sin; and so death past upon all men, for that all have sinned." And again in the same chapter, 19th verse, "For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners."

Having learned from what one is saved by being baptized, the next and final answer on this point is found by referring to Acts ii. 38, "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins." It is for the remission of past sins and only such sins that the repenter is baptized; hence Christ's reason when he said, "Except a man be born of water and of the spirit he cannot enter the kingdom of God."

Concerning the expression "born of the spirit," I would say that he (Christ) had reference to the resurrection or in other words, when a man is resurrected from the grave, he is then born of the spirit and not until then. When one is born, literally speaking, he is born of the flesh. See John iii. 6, "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the spirit is spirit." Also 1 Cor. xv. 45, "The first man Adam was made a living soul; the last Adam was made a quickening spirit. Therefore when those are raised by God's eternal power they will be made like him, having been born of the spirit.

But brothers and sisters, as I know it is our earnest desire to secure a place in God's kingdom, we must not get tired of waiting and sit down, for it is only those who by a continuance in well doing are saved. We must ever be on the alert and keep close guard on ourselves when we are inclined to think this way, for we are told to occupy the time until our dear Lord comes. We all made a promise when we took on Christ, that we would follow him faithfully to the end and we must live accordingly. We knew that we would have to suffer, but we have the assurance that if we suffer with him we shall also reign with him. Then why not look on the bright side, when we have such a blessed assurance as this. One thing we are thankful to know is, that our suffering and labor (providing that we do so until the end) is not in vain, for he says in Rev. iii. 21, "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit down with me in my throne, even as I overcame and am set down with my Father in his throne." So in view of the fact that we are not working in vain, let us try to continue to live up to our covenant and fulfil our duty by fearing the Lord and keeping his commandments and all will be well.

HARRY POTTS.

Wayside Notes.

LAKE MILLS, IA. FEB. 17, '02.

To the brethren and sisters:

After closing our meeting at East Marion, on Feb. 2, Bro. Sealine took us to Webster City where we took the train for Eagle Grove where we commenced a ten days meeting on Monday evening Feb. 3, but on account of a severe snow storm very few came. On Tuesday evening we had a business meeting of the church, and measures were taken to reduce the small debt against the church property.

While here we met much opposition from the Christian people, one minister even going so far as to tell their members to keep away from our meetings. One lady said she would like so much to attend our services, but was afraid it would cause disturbance among their people if she should come so she stayed away. No one became obedient, but we sowed the word of the kingdom faithfully, and trust God to give the increase.

Our object in this meeting was not so much to evangelize as to get our brethren solidly united for more efficient work. We succeeded in strengthening and building them up very much.

We have a large Sunday School and a Berean Society doing very good work here. We closed on Feb. 12th, having had a very good attendance all through.

From Eagle Grove we came to this place for another ten days meeting, and will give you a report of our work here next time.

Yours in hope.

O. J. ALLARD.

Editor Restitution:

I would like to say through the columns of THE RESTITUTION that at our last Conference when our Association met, that a motion was made that I as Secretary of the Association should write to the different churches, and name some one in each church to solicit aid to carry on the work in the Northwest.

I have not done so as yet. I was speaking to Bro. W. L. Skeels about it, and we came to the conclusion that it would be well to make known by means of THE RESTITUTION that any one from the different churches of the Northwest Conference who wish to aid in keeping an evangelist in the field can do so by sending their donation to me at Scholls, Oregon, and as I have received a donation from other quarters now and then, and some say they do not know who to send to, I ask that my name and address be given as Sec'y of the Association of Believers of the Church of God.

ALMIRA BROOKS.

Obituary.

"Armanda Corinne Gillespie, daughter of James F. and Rebecca J. Wagoner, was born Feb. 12, 1860, in Fulton Co., Ind.; died Feb. 7, 1902. During a residence in Florida in 1888 she was immersed into the Abrahamic faith, being fully persuaded that the exceeding great and precious promises of a future life through a resurrection from the dead and an eternal inheritance in the earth redeemed would be literally fulfilled. Hence the bright star of hope in her faith was the personal coming of the blessed Christ to raise the dead and establish his glorious kingdom. Having been a sufferer by [illegible] the hand that can lift us out of [illegible] into immortal life. Yes, sleep on [illegible] child, that dreamless sleep that [illegible] only be broken when Jesus comes to raise his loved and sleeping one. Her father, mother and brother [illegible] hearts full of grief that the sunshine of our household has been darkened by the cruel, cruel foe. That kind heart is stilled by the palsied touch of death. That voice that so often cheered us in life's struggles, is hushed. But we sorrow not hopelessly. The Master is coming, the sleeping dead will at his command come forth, the gloom of death will vanish at the touch of him who said, 'Because I live ye shall live also.'

Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep,
From which none ever wake to weep.

O blessed Jesus, come and break death's fetters, come and give us back our loved one."

The above, written by our beloved [illegible] Wagoner, for reading at funeral [illegible] expresses fully the hope of her [illegible] also the consolation of [illegible] their remaining son. It was the Christian's hope which enabled them to give a so feelingly gentle farewell to their loving and much loved Cora. She sleeps, but shall not she be heard in the exultations of the conquerers as they return from the enemy's land shouting, "Death is swallowed up in victory."

F. L. AUSTIN.

Death is still abroad in the world. Our dearly beloved Brother, John Steffa, fell asleep in Jesus at his home in Pomona, Cal., on the morning of Feb. 11th, 1902, in his eighty-third year. He died without a struggle and apparently without a pain. He simply fell asleep in the arms of his Master. There was not a shadow of a doubt in his mind as to what the future holds in store for him. The writer visited him twice only a few weeks before his death, and talked with him, of the hope of the righteous. Notwithstanding his great age, his mind was clear and he understood the plan of salvation most thoroughly. It was very interesting to listen to him talk. He understood full well the signs of the times and knew that Jesus would soon come and wake him out of his sleep. The writer spoke words of comfort and consolation from the text "If a man die shall he live again," and then we laid him away in a beautiful green cemetry to await the coming of the resurrection angel.

John Steffa was born in the State of Maryland, Aug. 9, 1819 and died Feb. 11, 1902. He moved from Maryland to Illinois in 1844, from there he removed to Iowa in 1871 and from there to Pomona, Cal. in 1890 where he lived until his death. He was married in 1847 and had twelve children, seven of whom are still living, viz:—S. E. Steffa, the eldest son resides at Darwin, Iowa; W. O. & G. A. Steffa reside at Pomona, Cal., Mrs. Eva C. Collins and Miss Emma L. Steffa reside at Belle Plaine, Iowa, and Mrs. Ada M. Moran, and Mrs. Della B. Moran reside at Clinton, Iowa. His wife died in 1873.

Like Paul he maintained the good contest, he has finished his race, he has guarded the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for him a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge will give him at that day. Let us strive to emulate his example, and be ready to meet him when Jesus comes.

R. S. DUNGENS.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending THE RESTITUTION to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the donors request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

Mrs Sella Anderson	1.50
W D Root	1.50
W G Rothe	2.00
John E McIrvin	.50
Brother B——	5.00
S S Catherow	.75
Mrs H H Bowman	2.50

If you are anxious about the well-being of some friend and would like to have him see and embrace the truth, subscribe for this paper to be sent to him. It will talk at times and places that you cant. It may make opportunity for you to say a word that will make you friend a joint-heir with the Lord Jesus Christ. It has been done. Why not try it?

Strange Bible Facts.

The learned Prince of Granada, heir to the Spanish throne, imprisoned by order of the throne, was kept in solitary confinement in the old prison at the Place of Skulls, Madrid. After thirty-three years in this living tomb death came to his release, and the following remarkable researches, taken from the Bible and marked with an old nail on the rough walls of his cell, told how the brain sought employment through the weary years:

In the Bible the word "Lord" is found 1,853 times.

The word "Jehovah," 6,855 times.

The word "reverend" but once, and that in the ninth verse of Psalm cxi.

The eighth verse of the ninety-seventh Psalm is the middle verse of the Bible.

The ninth verse of the eighth chapter of Esther is the longest.

The thirty-ninth verse of the eleventh chapter of St. John is the shortest.

In the one hundred and seventh Psalm four verses are alike—the eighth fifteenth, twenty-first and thirty-first.

Ezra vii. 21, contains all the letters of the alphabet, except j.

The seventh verse of the one hundred and thirty-sixth Psalm ends alike.

No names or words with more than six syllables are found in the Bible.

The thirty seventh chapter of Isa. and nineteenth chapter of 2 Kings are alike.

The word "girl" occurs but once in the Bible, and that in the third verse of the third chapter of Joel.

There are found in both books of the Bible 3,566,480 letters, 773,693 words, 31,373 verses, 1,189 chapters and 66 books.

The twenty-sixth chapter of the Acts of the Apostles is the finest chapter to read.

The most beautiful chapter is the twenty-third Psalm.

The four most inspiring promises are John xiv. 2; vi. 37; Matt. xi. 28; Psa. xxxvii. 4.

The first verse of the fiftieth chapter of Isaiah is the one for the new convert.

All who flatter themselves with vain boasting should read the sixth chapter of Matthew.

All humanity should learn the sixth chapter of St. Luke from the twentieth verse to its ending.—Selected by G. W. Smith.

What is a Spiritual Body?
Faith and Hope.

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Christ is with us as truly as when, in the days of his humiliation, he moved visibly upon the earth. The lapse of time has wrought no change in his parting promise to his apostles as he was taken up from them into heaven: "Lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world."

Very Low Rates

During the months of March and April via Chicago & North-Western R'y; $30.00 from Chicago to Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Ogden and Salt Lake City; $30 50 Spokane, $33.00 Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Victoria and a large number of other points. Tourist Sleeping Cars every day from Chicago to the Pacific Coast. For maps and particulars apply to nearest ticket agent or address A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—apr 26

Reduced Rates.

One way second-class colonist tickets to the West and Northwest, will be sold at special fares via Pennsylvania Lines, during March and April, 1902. Particular information about fares, through time and other details will be furnished upon application to Passenger and Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania Lines.—April 30

California Illustrated.

Copy of the illustrated monthly, The Chicago 400, a journal of travel and topics, reaches us by the courtesy of the Chicago & North-Western Ry. It is one of the finest illustrated publications that we have ever seen. The tinted half-tones rival those of the finest magazines, and the latter press of the whole edition is as perfect as that of any publication ever issued, pictorially and descriptively mirroring California's wonderful scenery. Copy will be mailed to your address upon receipt of 2 cents postage by W. B. Kniskern, G. P. & T. A., C. & N. W. R'y, Chicago, Ill.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Report of Work.

I left my home (Scholls, Oregon,) Feb. 11th under call from brethren at Tacoma. Began work Sunday 16th.

The following notice and brief review of my Sunday's work published through one of the Tacoma Dailies, will tell the brethren my whereabouts and my method of work:

EVANGELIST W. L. SKEELS,
Will deliver a series of addresses setting forth the Biblical teaching on
THE PLAN OF THE AGES.
Including such topics as
"The Second Coming of Christ."
"The Resurrection of the Dead."
"The Establishment of the Kingdom of God."
"The Nature of the Soul—Mortal or Immortal?"
"The Punishment of the Wicked—Destruction or Eternal Torment?"
"Everlasting Life."
Time—Sunday morning, Feb. 16, 10:45 o'clock; Sunday evening, Feb. 16, 7:45 o'clock, and each evening in the week (except Saturday,) 8 o'clock.

"That the judgment day is near at hand and the millennial age will soon be ushered in, is the belief of Evangelist W. L. Skeels, of Scholls, Oregon, who preached the introductory sermon yesterday of a series of revivals to be held this week at the Gospel Association hall, corner of Tenth street and Yakima avenue. The entire series will be devoted to the subject, "The Bible Plan of the Ages."

His sermon yesterday outlined the general topic, showing how the Bible divided the history of the earth into ages or periods of time, each ending with a divine judgment. First came the ante-diluvian age, ending with the judgment of the flood; next came the patriarchal age, ending with the judgmen upon Egypt and the delivering of the Israelites, then the Mosaic law held sway until the coming of Christ, ending with the judgment upon Jerusalem and its destruction. Now the world is in the Christian age, but nearing its close, he said, and another judgment is soon to come.

Arguing from the past and taking the Scriptures to mean what they say, Mr. Skeels said that there was a certainty of other ages to come. Next in order will be the millennial age ushered in by the return of Christ to reign on the earth for a thousand years. A judgment follows then, after which is a little season, the duration of which is not specially stated, when, in the words of the text, "the new heavens and the new earth will be established wherein there will be no more death, neither sorrow, nor sickness, nor pain, for the former things are passed away."

The brethren had formed the acquaintance of a number of persons that had combined together as the "Gospel Association" and learned that the leaders hold "Conditional Immortality," "The destruction of the wicked" and the "literal reign of Christ," in common with us. Their hall is situated in the heart of the city. The attendance and interest is quite good. We have spoken three times and may remain from one to three weeks. The hall is donated free of charge and gladly by these Bible people. I hope for good work.

W. L. SKEELS.

Editor Restitution:

On February 6, I went to Hamilton County, Ind., where I had held meetings a short time before, when some had been so impressed with the truth that they were ready to obey the gospel. I began meeting on Friday evening. On Sunday we went to the water where we baptized two into the sin-covering name of our adorable Redeemer. We should approach with a true heart, in full conviction of faith our hearts having been separated from the conscience of evil. The body also having been bathed in pure water we should firmly hold the confession of the hope, without deviating from the true principles as set forth in the divine words of inspiration. Let us retain the faith with a good conscience and not thrust it away as some have done, and will make shipwrecks of themselves. Let us hold forth the words of life with soberness, and hope unto the end, for the grace that is to be given unto us at the appearing of our Lord Jesus. We closed our meeting the 18th.

Yours in hope of eternal life.

G. W. SMITH.

Home-Seekers' Excursion.

Low rate Home-Seekers' excursion tickets to the West and South will be sold via Pennsylvania Lines, March 4th, 18th, April 1st, 15th, May 6th and 20th. For fares, through time and other details, apply to Passenger and Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania Lines.—May 20.

Poetry.

We Thank Thee, Lord.

"Giving thanks always for all things to God." Eph. v. 20.

Lord, for the erring thought
Not into evil wrought:
Lord, for the wicked will,
Betrayed and baffled still,
For the heart from itself kept,
Our thanksgiving accept.

Nor ignorant hopes that were Broken to our blind prayer:
For pain, death, sorrow, sent
Into our chastisement:
For loss of seeming good,
Quicken our gratitude.

—W. D. Howells.

The Bereans Column.

[Under this heading the society of "Bereans" of Illinois, will supply the copy, and endeavor to fill the space once a month.]

Dear Bereans:

I have been reading the letters of the "Berean Column" and I enjoy them very much, knowing that we are getting stronger and are being built more firm on the solid Rock by studying God's Word. In it we find, "Search the Scriptures for in them ye think ye have eternal life and they are they that testify of me." Now, dear Bereans, repeat this verse daily is the request of your Sister in Christ.

E. Lindsay.

Dear Bereans:

The call of Moses, Ex. iii. 1-12, Moses was apparently saved from his childhood for some calling, for when he was a babe he was hidden by his mother in an ark of bulrushes and cast in the flags by the river and was found and brought up by Pharaoh's daughter. In Ex. iii. we find as he was keeping his father-in-law's flocks, an angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush, and Moses said he would turn aside and see why the bush was not burnt. Then God called unto him, "Moses, Moses," and he said, "Here am I." This was the time God called upon Moses to lead the children of Israel out of bondage into the land that God promised to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

Yours in hope of life eternal.

Chas. Gesin.

Dear Bereans:

Our way of studying the Bible is by referring from verse to verse. My attention has been called to the promise of God to Abraham. God promised to give to Abraham the land of Canaan for an everlasting inheritance. Gen. xiii. 17. Did he ever possess it? In Acts vii. 5, we find, "He gave him none inheritance in it, no, not so much as to set his foot upon." In Heb. xi. 13, we find that he died in faith not having received the promises, but seen them afar off. Under the circumstances how can Abraham possess the land except by a resurrection from the dead? If the promises made to Abraham were to be received at death, how could Micah say some time after his death, "Thou will perform the truth to Jacob and his mercy to Abraham, which thou hast sworn unto our fathers from the days of old."

Your Sisters in the one faith.

Mary & Eva Koontz.

Dear Bereans:

The first place we read about Jesus appearing to the Apostles after the crucifixion, was in a room of which the doors were kept shut because they were afraid of the Jews. There Jesus appeared to them and said, "Peace be unto you." Then he showed them his hands that they might see the prints of the nails in his hands. They rejoiced in seeing the Lord. The first time that Jesus appeared, Thomas, one his disciples, was not there. When other disciples told Thomas that they saw the Lord, he said I will not believe unless I can see the prints of the nails in his hands, and thrust my hand in his side. Eight days after this the disciples, including Thomas were in the room and Jesus appeared to them again. This time he said to Thomas. "Reach hither thy finger, and behold my hands; and reach hither thy hand, and thrust it into my side; and be not faithless but believing." Oh, how many there are today that do not believe, they only mock, and make light of the Word of God. But the day will come when they will see their mistake, after it is too late.

Yours in the one faith.

Geo. W. Lindsay.

Dear Bereans:

Please go back with me to the Garden of Eden and see where sin commenced. Of course we understand that sin is disobeying the law, for when there is no law there is no sin. In 1 Cor. xv. 34, we must awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God; I speak this to your shame. We must try to teach those who do not have the knowledge of God and keep them out of sin. Again we must always keep watch that we do not get into sinful ways ourselves. For we must set an example before we can teach. Let us all try to keep out of the way of sin that we may gain a crown of righteousness.

Chas. T. Lindsay.

Dear Bereans:

Three cheers for the Adeline Bereans. They have re-organized this winter and are doing good work. This is the second column they have filled. I would like to call it the Adeline column, a column full to running over, more articles than we have room for. Come Bereans, let us have a column from each society. A friendly rivalry is a very good incentive to work. Do not be bashful in asking for space. Try it once and see, and at the Conference we can award the palm, one to each society, if earned.

Lelia E. Whitehead.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O.

Illustrated and Descriptive Booklets Free.

The following excellent publications prepared by the Chicago & North-Western R'y will be sent free to any address upon receipt of postage named.

The information contained therein is of great value to those who expect to travel, either for pleasure or profit. All of the publications are handsomely illustrated with half tone views.

California Illustrated.....	Postage	.02
Hunting and Fishing.....	"	.02
Colorado Illustrated.....	"	.02
Through Picturesque Wisconsin.....	"	.02
Beautiful Country near Chicago.....	"	.04
Picturesque Milwaukee....	"	.02
Opportunities for Business	"	.02
Copper and Iron and where they are found.....	"	.02
Across Picturesque Illinois and Iowa.....	"	.02
Population of cities on the North-Western Line.....	"	.02

The Indian—The Northwest. A history of the Indian tribes. 50 cts.

New, Mounted U. S. Wall Map, 40x54, in colors. 15 cts.

Address W. B. Kniskern, G. P. & T. A. Chicago & North-Western R'y, 22 Fifth Ave., Chicago.—mar 29

Do you like to get The Restitution each week and read the articles and letters it contains? Did you ever think that your brother who sits near you would get a like benefit and enjoyment if he had it also? Get him to subscribe for 1902. It will cost you very little to ask him, and you may be the means of doing him good.

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, containing 116 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Sitting Bull, Red Cloud and other noted chiefs; Gen. Custer's battle ground, and ten colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1000. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valued contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 25 cents a copy. Mailed postage prepaid on receipt of the amount by W P Kniskern, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar 29.

Subscribe for The Restitution for 1902.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

Bible Pearls—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1000. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

Four-Page Tracts.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Retribution.—Is there anything any of the unrighteous? A 150-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Moncrieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

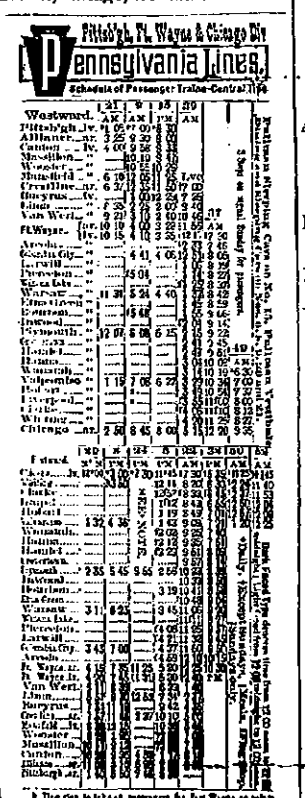
Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. Y. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

Address, The Restitution, Plymouth, Ind.

California-Oregon Excursions

Every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first-class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest time on the road. Finest scenery. Inquire of your nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggoner, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar. 6



A Big day to take on passengers for Fort Wayne or points east to-day.

NOTE—Train No. 24 has no connection east of Richmond. Baggage checked to eastern points will not be loaded on this train.

O. L. PECK, General Manager.

E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agent.

24-02-F. Pittsburgh, Penn'a.

For time cards, rates of fare, through tickets, baggage checks and further information regarding the running of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

California Illustrated.

Copy of the illustrated monthly, The Chicago 400, a journal of travel and topics, reaches us by the courtesy of the Chicago & North-Western R'y. It is one of the finest illustrated publications that we have ever seen. The tinted half-tones rival those of the finest magazines, and the letter-press of the whole edition is as perfect as that of any publication ever issued, pictorially and descriptively mirroring California's wonderful scenery. Copy delivered free on application, or mailed to any address upon receipt of two cents postage, by A. H. Waggoner, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar 8

Works of Bro. Wiley Jones.

Twelve Words, or the true meaning of Hell, Soul, Spirit, Ghost, Paradise, Incorruption, Incorruptible, Immortal, Immortality, Forever, Everlasting, Eternal, and their originals as learned by their uses in the Bible. A tract of 40 pages, sold formerly at 10 cents a copy.

The Gospel of the Kingdom, an 8 page, double column tract, sold formerly at 10 cents a dozen.

These works are excellent for use by those who wish to do missionary labor, and we offer them at such a low price that they should be out in a short time.

Assorted package 30 cents per pound. Gospel of the Kingdom, alone at 25 cents per pound.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses. A Volume of 283 pages, cents, leather bound, embossed cover, and gilt edges, $1.00. By Brother Wiley Jones. This book is so well known that it is only necessary to announce that it is for sale, to insure a market for it.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

The GREAT CENTRAL SOUTHERN TRUNK LINE.

WINTER TOURIST TICKETS

Now on sale to

FLORIDA and the GULF COAST.

Write for folders, descriptive matter, Etc., to

C. L. STONE,
General Passenger Agent,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Send your address to

R. J. WEMYSS,
General Immigration & Industrial Agent,
Louisville, Ky.

And he will mail you free, Maps, Illustrated Pamphlets and Price Lists of Lands and Farms in

KENTUCKY, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI, FLORIDA,

A FREE PATTERN
(your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.
McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50 CENTS A YEAR
A LADIES' MAGAZINE.
A great beautiful colored pattern latest fashions; dressmaking economies; fancy work; household hints; fiction, etc. Subscribe to-day, or send 5c. for latest copy. Lady agents wanted. Send for terms.
Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.
McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ 15¢
All Seams Allowed and Perforations show the Seeing and Sewing Lines.
Only 10 and 15 cents each—none higher. Ask for them. Sold in nearly every city and town, or by mail from
THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St., NEW YORK.

VANDALIA TIME CARD

In effect Jan. 1, 1902.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For	South Bend	6:40am
No. 14, " "		12:01noon
No. 8, " "		10:23pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Ex. Sun. For	Terre Haute	5:43a m
No. 3, " "		12:04noon
No. 9, " "	Logansport	7:10pm

Trains 3 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address W. E. Smith Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. Ford,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo.

New Station at Chicago.

Commencing Dec. 20, 1901, all trains on the Nickel Plate Road, during the rebuilding of the Van Buren St. station, will arrive at and depart from the Grand Central station, cor. Fifth Ave. and Harrison St. Chicago.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address public may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Fike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clinkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
B. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Harrison st, Omaha, Neb
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, Cal.
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wince, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Sctrelville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prime Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kent, 4507, N. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E Fairchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
I. R. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stella, Fresno, Cal.
E. W. Kuapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foure, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
R. S. Dwiggins, Long Beach Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Rensselaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 11, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Goin, Jefferson, Ore.
M. F. Cordill, 508 S Main st. South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 183, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hicklin, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Graysford, Ind.
John Rush Inwood Ind
J H Willey, No 1206 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 52 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hall, Catoosa, I. T.
J G Haupe, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal
A W Burby Ransom Kan
J W Bellenbaugh Elliz Okla
Almira Brooks Scholls, Oregon

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth N. J.

The Restitution
ON TRIAL.
Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.
WILL YOU TRY IT?

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10:30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rathe and B. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Rensselaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 A. M., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God at Burr Oak, Ind. have preaching every 2d and 4th Sundays at 10:30 a. m. and in the evening. Bible meeting every Thursday evening. Samuel Osborn and A. Maxey Elders. Sunday School every Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Georgia Osborne Sec. of the S. S. All are invited to any of the services.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:00, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through the city, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker 209 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 a. m. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 12315 Euclid Ave. near Wilson Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like previous faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsburg, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by A. H. Zilliker of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Eshelman.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's Hall, Galena Ave., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Beech Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Knife, Kessler, or John Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Authon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fisher and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. O. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trundell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Grant of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother or Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder, Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "The Restitution, Plymouth, Marshal', Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is well to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "The Restitution."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME LI. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, MARCH 5, 1902. NUMBER 9.

Walter Tomlinson
85 Kinsman St

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

Our Near Horizons.

I thank thee, Lord, that thou dost lay
These near horizons on my way.
If I could all my journey see,
There were no charm of mystery,
No restful grief, no changes sweet,
No restful sense of tasks complete.
I thank thee for the hills, the night
For every barrier to my sight;
For every turn that blinds my eyes
To worldly pain or glad surprise;
For every bound thou settest nigh,
To make me look more near, more high;
For mysteries too great to know:
For everything thou dost not show.
Upon thy finite rests my heart;
Its safe horizon, Lord, thou art.

Communicated.

Conversions Under Apostolic Preaching. No. 2.

AN EARNEST QUESTION ANSWERED.

Not all the Jews who were present at the feast were so wrought upon by the truth as to propound the question: "Men and brethren, what shall we do?" Peter's words, and what they saw and heard touched the hearts of about three thousand. Here is an earnest and honest question which demands a direct answer from these Pentecostal preachers. Peter is chief spokesman and he answers: "Repent and be baptized every one of you in (upon) the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit." That these persons had faith in the things preached is shown by the question they asked. They were ready and anxious to do what was commanded. Theirs was a living faith wrought up to the point of cheerful obedience by a deep felt need of pardon. They did not stop to discuss matters, nor did Paul tell them that there were three modes (?) of baptism, immersion, sprinkling and pouring, and he would leave it with each person to make a choice. Nothing of the kind in this introductory service. It may be noticed that there is no mention made of expedients and devices. There is no anxious seat nor mourners' bench to which these contrite souls were invited to come and be prayed for with the expectation of pardon being granted then and there; this to be attested to by the consciousness of a mighty change wrought by the Spirit of God. These did not agonize in prayer day by day and night too as I have known persons to do in modern religious experiences as though God is unwilling to hear and answer the piteous pleadings of earnest souls, conscious of guilt, and burdened with its weight. The modern way may appear to have more the air of piety and religion, more of sacredness than the apostolic way. But it must be borne in mind that it is a question as between truth and error. The apostolic way of making converts to the Christian religion is direct, clear and certain. Faith in a Scripturally defined gospel, repentance or reformation, and baptism upon the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins is the divinely prescribed way. It cannot be improved in any way by human additions, or substractions, or substitutions. Whoever does this does so at his own peril. "Faith comes by hearing (the gospel) and hearing by the Word of God." Rom. x. 17. To believe is an obligation on the part of the creature. Where the evidence is adequate to sustain the proposition, to be honest and fair he must believe. Responsibility comes in here.

Repentance here in this 2nd chapter of Acts means, "To have another mind," so Young defines it. The person is commanded to have another mind, and of course it follows a change of conduct also. The original word is "metanoi" which Green in his Greek lexicon defines as follows: "A change of mode of thought and feeling; practical reformation; reversal of the past." As used by Peter it conveys a command to these believing Jews to change their mode of thought and feeling, to practically reform, to reverse the past, to do God's will instead of their own. So we find them at this point ready and anxious to do the next thing as Peter commanded, be baptized. There is no haggling over modes, no hesitancy on the part of these convicted thousands. The command is authoritative. There is but the one thought in the word used. It was immersion in Peter's mind, and the same in the mind of these three thousand.

Before me is a card issued by a noted evangelist. Under the figure of The King's Life Insurance Company, the conditions of the policy are given as, "Repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ." Acts xx. 21. I will not call in question the literal truth of the text. I heartily subscribe to all it says, but object to the use made of it as setting forth all the conditions of pardon, a thing it does not do, nor was intended to do by the inspiring Spirit, for baptism is equally with faith and repentance, a condition. Such handling of the Word is unfair and leads to a perversion of the truth. Take the theory of salvation by faith only as an example. Those who hold this view do not care what the Bible says concerning works in their relation to pardon and salvation. Salvation by or through faith is true, but salvation by faith only is false. James raises the question, "What doth it profit, my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and hath not works? Can faith save him?" As much as to say, faith only cannot save him. There is no profit in it. James affirms and repeats it, that "faith without works is dead," (Jas. ii. 20, 26) dead as the body without the breath or spirit. See the 26th ver. Again he raises the question "Was not Abraham, our father, justified by works when he had offered Isaac, his son, upon the altar?" Then says, "Seest thou how faith wrought with his works, and by works was faith made perfect?" Faith and works work together as associate conditions. To complete the argument the truth is fairly and squarely set against the theory so prevalent, that man is justified and saved by faith only. Hear it. "Ye see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only." He is justified by works but not works only; by faith, not faith only, both go together. I might go on at length showing how the popular theory contradicts the plain teaching of God's Word; but I forbear. "Be baptized for the remission of sins." This command is imperative upon the repentant believer. He must submit to it. This is Christian baptism. It is not an accidental immersion or immersion of one ignorant as a Feejee of the first principles of the gospel. It is not of one filled with doubts, or of one who submits with a kind of protest, but of one who has "received the Word gladly." ver. 41. Along with faith and reformation it has in view pardon. It is for, or in order to remission of sins. The one to be immersed should understand this. Such knowledge is easily acquired. Peter's answer tells it plainly. Men without authority have changed this language to read "because of remission of sins;" thus making remission of sins precede baptism and on this false notion is founded the erroneous practice of the greater part of the professed Christian church. Prayer by the minister and other pious souls is resorted to as a means to this end. The anxious seat, places and postures are regarded as favorable to the attainment of the coveted blessing, forgiveness. Prayer is all right when offered in harmony with the will of God, but if it sets aside a plain command, changing its design, or underrating its importance it is wrong; and those who thus practice are at variance with God. They need to repent as well as those they mislead. Reductios ad absurdum. If pardon takes place before baptism, it must in view of the fact that repentance and baptism are coupled together by the conjection "and," take place before repentance, for both are commanded to be done for the same reason if we render the words in the original by "because of;" thus, "Repent and be baptized because of the remission sins." If this rendering does not put remission before repentance as truly and logically as it does before baptism, there is no sense in language. It is not unreasonable nor unscriptural that God should reserve the sovereign favor of pardoning alien sins to the point where the alien had yielded obedience in overt act, namely baptism, an act of faith as truly as any other thing commanded in the great system of faith; and I will be in the bounds of truth if I say, this act or action along with all obedience is included in the obedience of faith, for which purpose the apostle affirms the gospel was made known to all nations. Rom. xvi. 26. This action on the part of one who is humbly and sincerely approaching the pardoning power, is no more human than is faith, the hearty assent of the mind, by force of evidence, to the proposition of the gospel. That the merciful Father has connected the pardon of sins with the baptism of a repentant believer of the gospel can not be successfully controverted. Paul was commanded to arise and be baptized, and wash away his sins. At this point men begin to file objections. One says, It is figurative language; and another, Water cannot touch moral pollution; and another, He was already pardoned, for the Lord informed Ananias that he was a praying man; and still another, This puts pardon too much in human hands, it is too perilous. If objections were real arguments, then here is quite an array of them. Dignify them by the name of arguments if you please, they amount to nothing as against the plain teaching of the Bible. "Figurative language" or better a figure of speech and means, if it means any thing, that Paul was not pardoned before he was baptized. "Water can not touch moral pollution or sin." True for God removes or remits the penalty against sin, but he demands obedience up to the point where he has agreed to do so.

"Behold he prayeth!" But no pardon connected with this fact. That comes later, and the Spirit saw fit, in this case, to put the thought under figure of speech. "This puts pardon too much in human hands." How do you know? Reflect a little. The process of reaching the sinner is conducted largely by human instrumentalities and agencies, and this by God's appointment. From the days of slow traveling apostles down to the present when heralds of the gospel speed to their appointments by steam, human hands and tongues, skill and scholarship, zeal and love have been employed to put before those who need it, the blessed Word of life.

Think of the labors of bringing together manuscripts, of collating and comparing these of textual criticism, of transcribing and translating, of printing and binding, and of transporting the Word in its available and practical form.

J. L. WINGE.

Miracles.

Professor Pearson's denial of miracles creates quite a sensation among the Methodists. It is however more than possible that twenty per cent of the Methodist clergy are in full sympathy with his views, but secretly for the sake of peace and fellowship. Nearly all the universities and theological schools are more or less honeycombed with skepticism, both in the faculty and among students. Doubtless a few years hence, if Gentile times continue, all the pulpits of the Evangelical churches will be filled with religio-philosophical skeptics. It is very nearly so now in the large cities. The popular taste is creating more and more a demand for what we may term the scientific preacher, one who can talk glibly on the operation of natural law—the evolution of things pertaining to government, morals, literature, mental and physical culture, etc.

It is somewhat amusing to read the comments of the various pulpits concerning the no-miracle announcement of this Methodist educator—some denounce him bitterly, others commend his views. One says, if he entertained these views why did he not hold them in abeyance, that is believe as you like, but keep still about it.

Religious people do not like to be disturbed, especially if there is any danger of weakening the church by creating contention. The clergy of all shades of doctrinal color abhor contention from within, and yet all we have in the way of light and liberty is the result of contention, the friction of mind with mind. "Contend earnestly for the faith once delivered to the saints" is the apostolic injunction, and there is always a necessity for such contention, whether we like it or not.

The Jewish Rabbi hastens to praise the professor, evidently showing that on one point both occupy common ground. If all the miracles were taken away, they would not save one, says the Jew, but would weaken Judaism. We cannot believe for he ought to know. Modern Judaism, however, is nothing more than racial pride and vanity individualizing itself with a hollow formality of religion, and may be quoted at par value with others. The Jew of course believes in one God, and likewise the Mahometan. Aside from this there is nothing in modern Judaism to quench thirst or satisfy spiritual hunger.

Take away miracles from Moses, the reputed author of Judaism, and what would there be left? Not so much as the shade of a memory. Grant that all miracles attributed to Moses are mere legends,—superstitious lies, and then think of how any divine thought, or moral precept of purity could possibly come down to us through such an unclean filter. Indeed, I could believe in miracle, easier than to believe that a clean thing can come out of an unclean. Jesus endorsed Moses, Daniel and Jonah, and must therefore have believed in all the superstitution of the old Scriptures, in fact his mind must have been full of lies and the worst kind of lies, perverting his reason and judgment, and yet all these skeptical clergyman esteem him as the high priest and oracle of truth and virtue. Is it possible for truth, goodness and mercy to emanate from a man who believes and enforces all the lies that had accumulated from Adam to John the Baptist? Surely these skeptical teachers, "Strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel;" they flee from a bear and rush into the mouth of a lion. When you take away miracles from Moses and Jesus, you reduce them to the level of pagan ideals, the former for the Jew and the latter for the Gentile. These men prate about a man-God, and in doing so create the idol they profess to abhor. "I believe," says Professor Pearson, "in God, in the divinity of Jesus, in the Holy Spirit, and in prayer." The divinity of Jesus he says is like that of "John Wesley and others, for all God-fearing men are divine." In what sense he believes in the Holy Spirit and prayer I know not, as he did not define. His belief in God and in Jesus is just about equivalent to no belief. To believe in Jesus as a historical character and simply admire him as a great moral hero, who suffered death as a martyr is but a feeble approach to, or the merest pretense to faith. He denies that Jesus was raised from the dead, and therefore leaves us helpless. He offers nothing to relieve his fellow men from the ghastly presence of death, or to dispel the oppressive gloom of hades. True, he may say the continuity of man's existence is not broken by death,—that the soul or spirit continues to live,—to know and be known because it is essentially divine in nature, and therefore immortal. But this is all speculation, merely assuming what has never been demonstrated.

Let us look at the definition of death as given by another college professor, "Death is just as fundamental as life, it simply means the overwhelming of the constructive forces by the destructive." Where then does continuity of existence come in when the constructive forces of life are overwhelmed by the destructive? Practically speaking this definition of death is not objectionable, as it does not take into account the theory of innate immortality. But suppose we reverse the proposition using the same words, "life is just as fundamental as death, it simply means the overwhelming of the destructive forces by the constructive," therefore resurrection from the death state is possible, a conclusion that in all probability neither of these professors of learning would be willing to admit. But this is just what occurred in the case of Jesus, the destructive forces were arrested, overwhelmed by the power of God, and hence he arose from the dead according to the Scriptures. There cannot be death before there is life,—technically speaking life is more fundamental than death, and when we consider the inexhaustible source from whence man's limited vitality is derived, we do not stagger at the miracle of resurrection. If there was any thing in the miracles of the Bible that conflicted or antagonized our highest conception of what is right, good and true we might plead some excuse in hesitating to believe all that is written. But on the contrary all the miracles recorded are in line, and consistent with what the Bible teaches to be just and good.

When we come to understand that the Creator has a purpose concerning mankind, which has been and is yet in process of development, there is every reason to conclude that God would interpose in just such ways as are recorded in the Scriptures. There is not one single instance where a miracle occurred that did not have a special purpose in view. Water was turned into wine, ostensibly for the pleasure of those at a wedding banquet, but the real purpose was to confirm the faith of his chosen disciples, who as yet had witnessed no miracle wrought by Jesus. It was God bearing witness to the testimony of his Son, and therefore it is written, "and his disciples believed on him."

If the miracles of the Bible did not exclude in their scope and purpose the glorification of the natural,—even humiliating and condemning the thoughts and purposes of human vanity, then we might be reasonably certain of their mythical character. But the reverse of all this is true, and stands out in such bold relief, that it seems hardly possible to read the record, and not discern the fact that not the natural, but the spiritual, not man but God alone is exalted. Jesus was not at all solicitous about supplying wine at the wedding of Cana, but the circumstance of insufficient supply created the opportunity of doing a work that would reveal the glory of God. He healed the sick and cleansed the lepers, a good work truly, but not for the afflicted only did he heal them. He had a message from the Father, and the Father bore witness with the Son. The Son preached the gospel, while the miracles he wrought made manifest the Father's approval, "My Father worketh hitherto, and I work." Nicodemus apprehended this matter and expressed it thus, "We know that thou art a teacher come from God, for no man can do these miracles except God be with him." The Jews did not deny that he did miraculous works, but refused to credit them to the power of God. They could not close their eyes to the marvelous good, but perversely tried to show that a corrupt tree could yield good fruit. They insisted that the tree was corrupt, but not barren, while the modern naturalist praises the tree as good, but absolutely barren of fruit. They say he was a man of God, but deny the evidence that proved him to be such.

The religious would is like a man tottering with the infirmities of old age; it is smitten with nervous prostration, and so hopelessly debilitated, that it cannot believe in anything divine, not visible to the natural eye. Faith cometh by hearing, that is understanding. The pleasure of hearing is in understanding what you hear. But when the Word of God is not understood, spiritual famine speedily ensues, and naturalism only remains. The idols of material prosperity captivates both head and heart, and religious forms and ceremonies entertain but do not enlighten a faithless generation, wise in worldly wisdom but unfruitful in the knowledge and favor of God. "Man was not made to live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth from God." Bread is not more essential to the well being of the physical man, than is the Word of God to that mental and spiritual vigor requisite to the exercise of faith and godliness. The burden of faith does not consist in believing in the supernatural, but in the self denial and discomforts incident to being in the world, and yet not of it. Patiently waiting for the invisible things promised is not congenial only to those who understand the divine purpose and cherish undying love for the recompense of reward.

GEO. MOYER.

The Resurrection—Deliverance from Adamic Death.

Editor Restitution:

Will you please publish the following in order to show the harmony of the Bible as to the resurrection of the dead, without need of comment.

Therefore, indeed, as through one offence sentence came upon all men to condemnation; so also through one righteousness sentence came on all men to justification of life. Rom v. 18, Diaglott.

For since through a man there is death, through a man also there is a resurrection of the dead; for as by Adam all die, so by the Anointed also will all be restored to life. But each one in his own rank. I Cor. xv. 21-23, Diaglott.

Wonder not at this; because an hour comes in which all those in the tombs will hear his voice, and will come forth. Those having done good things to a resurrection of life; and those having done evil things to a resurrection of judgment. Dia. Jno. v. 28, 29.

The Lord knows how.....to keep the unrighteous for a day of judgment to be cut off. Dia. 2 Peter ii. 9.

That the wicked are reserved to the day of destruction; they shall be brought forth to the day of wrath..... yet shall he be brought to the grave, and shall remain in the tomb. Job xxi. 30-32.

And it shall come to pass in that day, that the Lord shall punish the host of the high ones that are on high and the kings of the earth upon the earth, and they shall be gathered together as prisoners are gathered in the pit, and shall be shut up in prison, and after many days shall they be visited. Isa. xxiv. 21, 22.....O Lord our God, other lords beside thee have had dominion over us.....They are dead, they shall not live, they are deceased, they shall not rise; therefore hast thou visited them and destroyed them, and made all their memory to perish. Isa. xxvi. 13, 14.

The Lord knoweth how to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished.....But these as natural brute beasts made to be taken and destroyed.....and shall receive the reward of unrighteousness. 2 Pet. ii. 9-13.

Man that is in honor and understandeth not, is like the beasts that perish. Psa. xlix. 20.

Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection, on such the second death hath no power. Rev. xx. 6.

By the Anointed also will all be restored to life. But each one in his own rank (or order C. V.).....They that are Christ's at his coming. 1 Cor. xv. 22, 23.

But the rest of the dead lived not again until the thousand years were finished. Rev. xx. 5.

And I saw the dead small and great stand before God, and the books were opened and another book was opened which is the book of life, and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books.....the sea gave up the dead which were in it; and death and hell (margin grave) delivered up the dead which were in them. Rev. xx. 12, 13.

Then Herod.....sent forth and slew all the children that were in Bethlehem and in all the coasts thereof from two years old and under.....Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, saying, In Rama was there a voice heard, lamentation, and weeping, and great mourning, Rachel weeping for her children and would not be comforted because they are not. Matt. ii. 16-18. Thus saith the Lord: refrain thy voice from weeping, and thine eyes from tears; for thy works shall be rewarded, saith the Lord; and they shall come again from the land of the enemy. Jer. xxxi. 16.

D. T. HALSTEAD.

Oregon [illegible]
Oregon [illegible]

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Office Editor.

Editorial Committee.

J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, Special Contributor.

Plymouth, Indiana, March 5, 1902.

The immortal brethren of the Lord Jesus Christ who will be associated with him during the Millennial Age, as kings and priests in ruling and teaching the nations, will be those who during the present and preceding generations, have been chosen by him as having manifested that child like disposition so necessary a qualification for future rulership; who have accepted the Truth as it is in Jesus in its simplicity, and through all opposition have faithfully kept it, and throughit manifested the obedience required. Future rulership implies present obedience—obedience implicitly yielded to [illegible] the earth, and those who cannot yield that obedience to him cannot expect to rule with him in his kingdom.

Israel.

That nation,—once the most favored nation upon earth,—have been for ages outcasts from the land God gave to them; they have been wanderers among the nations, a by-word and hissing, given over to reproach, persecution, slavery, and death. But "he that scattered Israel will gather him and keep him, as a shepherd doth his flock." "In that time shall the present be brought unto the Lord of Hosts of a people scattered and peeled, and from a people terrible from their beginning hitherto; a nation meted out and trodden under-foot, whose land, the rivers (nations) have spoiled, to the place of the name of the Lord of Hosts, the Mount Zion," Isa. xviii. 7. "Return, we beseech thee O God of Hosts; look down from heaven, and behold, and visit this vine, and the vineyard which thy right hand hath planted, and the branch that thou madst strong for thyself. It is burned with fire; it is cut down; they perish at the rebuke of thy countenance. Let thy hand be upon the man of thy right hand, upon the Son of Man whom thou madest strong, for thyself. So will not we go back from thee; quicken us, and we will call upon thy name. Turn us again, O Lord God of Hosts; cause thy face to shine and we shall be saved." Psa. lxxx. 14-19.

"Childhood!"

Rabbi Joseph Kranskoff, of the Reformed congregation, Keneseth Israel, Philadelphia spoke to an audience that filled the vast Wilson Avenue Temple recently, the subject being "childhood." He dealt with the tremendous responsibilities of parenthood and drew a sad picture of the neglect of these responsibilities by many parents. He traced the causes of life's failures to infancy, and past it, to parents who failed to realize or live up to their sacred duties. Among many other good things relating to the neglect of children in general, he spoke of it respecting the wealthy in particular. In part he said:—"Oh, the parental wrongs that fill the nursery gaps of by and by. Oh, the sins of early neglects that have never been condoned in later life! Procrastination—always dangerous, IS CRIMINAL in the nursery. What is not implanted in childhood is seldom garnered in maturer years. Seeds of thorns and thistles never ripen in the snow white lily,—nor the fragrant rose."

We believe these are truths of universal application; but we also believe they apply with TENFOLD FORCE to parents of the household of faith. What would be thought of a parent who knew that a druggist was enticing his children into his store and giving them a deadly poison in small quantities, scarcely discernable, through the careful sugar-coating it has received, although still strong enough to create a liking for more. Yes, what would be thought of parents who took no steps to stop the going on—allowed them to gratify the morbid appetite growing upon them? —would they not be execrated for permitting the health of the children to be undermined, and their lives blasted? Every reader will say, yes; emphatically yes; it would be shameful to let their mortal lives be blighted in that way. But during our forty-eight years' connection with the Truth as it is in Jesus, we have known of those believing the gospel professedly, who in our judgment do far worse than those in the supposed case above. They profess to have come out of all the traditions of men at the

DESTRUCTIVE WORK

CALL TO GOD'S KINGDOM

and glory because they had discovered that there was power to save in nothing else. But in the face of all this, because the conditions are such that the children cannot attend a Sunday school where the truth of God is instilled into the minds of the children, they are allowed to go where their minds are so poisoned with that the taste for it can never be eradicated; and so, not only for time, but for eternity they shall be as though "they had not been." Is not the virus administered thus, a hundred-fold more deadly than the drug? To some such parents say, "What shall we do, then?" In all tenderness we say to you,

SUGAR COATED FALSEHOOD

DO WHAT GOD TELLS YOU to do, and then you can claim the promise attached to the injunction, viz. "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old, he will not depart from it." This is not addressed to Sunday school teachers, primarily. It is addressed to you. It is you, parents, who are responsible, and held to account; and all the Sunday schools in the country could not relieve you of your responsibilities. A Sunday school where the Truth is taught, is a most excellent aid to parental instruction; but the children of

GODLY PARENTS

should be under instruction at home long before they attend Sunday school. It is a day school they should attend, and a seven-day-in-the week-school at that. We said, should attend, we should have said they attend —DO attend school every day, beginning before the first anniversary of their birth. Before

THEY KNEW A LETTER,

or the meaning of a single word,—they are taking notes that form the base of their after actions. They watch the countenances, and tones, and actions long before they have any use for words. And with age and development they very soon observe the treatment of one another by the parents, and hardly are the impressions then made

EVER EFFACED.

And we have no doubt that they mentally take sides, and develop preferences for one or the other parent at a very early age, that stay with them, and manifest themselves later in life. Domestic animals, even, soon distinguish between an angry countenance and a smiling one. It should be borne in mind that it is the child that is to be trained, to ensure the promise. If the childhood is wasted, a great deal is lost. To begin to train the youth is to build on a very

POOR FOUNDATION;

to begin to train in young manhood is worse; and in full manhood almost hopeless. In Deut. xii. 26 when the passover feast was instituted as a memorial of the Lord's passover when the Egyptians were slain, they were enjoined to explain the meaning of it to their children when they enquired respecting it,—and, since our Passover has been slain for us, should not parents begin there, and so interest their children in and his love as that it might stay with them, and be indelibly fixed in their affections and prepare the way for other truth. Parents who have taken upon them the name and yoke of Christ have to observe WHATSOEVER Jesus has commanded; and one of his commands by Paul is to bring up your children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord," or as Diaglott, "In the discipline and instruction of the Lord." Eph. vi. 4. So do not try to shift your responsibilities off upon circumstances or other people.

THE STORY OF JESUS

TAKE IT HOME

to you; if you have wayward children, it is between you and the God of heaven, one or the other must be wrong; either his Word has failed for the first time or you have not trained them as directed; and as he cannot lie, you are mistaken,—you have not trained them as directed, although you may think you can conscientiously use the stereotyped expression, "I have done everything I could think of for them." Evidently it would have been better to have let God think for you. Submitted in much love by yours for Jesus sake.

"Equal Unto the Angels."

Jesus said those who were accounted worthy of that age were to be equal unto the angels, what a destiny for the frail sons of Adam who overcome. Our aching hearts and our trembling breath, our stormy passions, are all to be Anointed, for God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain, for the former things shall have passed away. What power on earth shall then stand before this Christ-like and angelic race? With Christ at their head they shall sweep away the refuge of lives, and rule the nations with a rod of iron, and dash them to pieces like a potter's vessel. In the words of Isaiah, "When the judgments of the Lord are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness." And the 149th Psa. gives us a glimpse of the process, as follows:—"Let the saints be joyful in glory,—let them sing aloud upon their beds,—let the high praises of God be in their mouth, and a two-edged sword in their hand, to execute vengeance upon the nations and punishments upon the people; to bind their kings with chains, and their nobles with fetters of iron; to execute the judgment written; this honor have all his saints. Praise ye the Lord."

Born of Water.

As our Lord and Master in Luke xv. 6, 7, in the parable of the lost sheep informs us that as the owner has a time of rejoicing when he has found one that was lost, so there is rejoicing in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons which need no repentance. How, then, can we help rejoicing when one whom we have instructed, and trembled for, and hoped and prayed for, comes squarely out, severs all hitherto fond associations, and throws in his lot with the people of God? We can and do rejoice, and all the more, because the same is cause of rejoicing in heaven. We do not wonder at this. Is it not a triumph for God's grace? And when we know that angelic hosts sang, "Glory to God in the Highest" when the Word was made flesh and dwelt amongst us, and proleptically celebrated the day when peace and good will toward men shall obtain, how can we wonder they rejoice when one sinner repents? Could the Lord that bought him with his blood and constrained him by his love help rejoicing? Blessed Jesus; we unite with the heavenly hosts and rejoice with thee, and pledge to labor for more to add lustre to thy crown.

We may be sure from the words of our Lord that the ninety and nine justified ones are a constant source of joy in heaven, but it is the addition to the number of those being saved, that causes a fresh out-burst of joy. At this point we seemed to get the eyes of our understanding enlightened so that we could know more clearly the extent of the hope of God's calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints." Eph. i. 17, 18. O what a tremendous estimate does the God of love place upon "his inheritance in the saints,"—the riches of the glory of it, is the way it is expressed. Can we wonder now, that there is joy in heaven over one sinner that repenteth? Clearly all heaven rejoices.

It was our privilege on Sunday Feb. 23 to bury with Christ, Bro. R. Smith, a devout member of the Baptist Church for some years; through mercy he some seven months ago for the first time heard the gospel of the kingdom of God and resurrection life through Jesus Christ, with the result stated. Being filled with joy and peace through faith and obedience he is anxious to do what he can to win others to share God's great salvation. May his ardor not diminish, so that he may hear the plaudit "well done," and have an abundant entrance into the kingdom of God.

A good number of aliens for the first time listened to God's conditions of adoption; and some appeared quite interested, but whether there was any good soil remains to be seen.

"What is Truth?"

Such was the question of Pilate to Christ, and it is a question which may be put to-day, but can only be satisfactorily answered by the Word of God. Christ, when before Pilate, said "My kingdom is not of this world," and many understand by this that he meant that his kingdom was not to belong to this earth on which we live, but to heaven above. The word rendered world in this place means an order or arrangement of things, and referred to the constitution existing among the Jews at that time; and so he says, "If my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews, but now is not from hence." To Pilate Jesus said, "Thou sayest that I am King. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, (or Jewish constitution,) that I should bear witness unto the truth. Every one who is of the truth, heareth my voice." The truth, then, relates to a kingdom, and to Jesus as a King. The words of the angel to Mary regarding that child, were, "Thou shalt call his name Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called the

MY KINGDOM

SON OF THE HIGHEST;

and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his Father David; and he shall reign over the house of Jacob forever, and of his kingdom there shall be no end." Luke i. 32, 33. From this we see that the Truth not only relates to a kingdom, but to the kingdom of Israel. In Luke xiii. 35, we find Jesus, bidding adieu, as it were, to the nation among whom he had been preaching the kingdom of God, as he says, "Ye shall not see me, until the time come when ye shall say, [illegible] in the name of the Lord." And to his own Little Flock, he said. "Ye who have followed me, in the regeneration, (the new order,) when the Son of Man shall sit in

THE THRONE OF HIS GLORY,

ye also shall sit upon twelve thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel." Hence we see that Christ and his brethren are to be united in the ruling of the kingdom of God. The gospel is shown by Jesus to be "the good news concerning the kingdom of God:" and Paul in his second epistle to the Thessalonians, says to them, "He called you by our gospel to the obtaining of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ." The gospel, therefore, is an invitation

TO THE KINGDOM OF GOD

with all its glory. If we turn back to the book of Daniel ii. 44, we shall find that the God of heaven is to set up a kingdom on the earth, which shall destroy all other kingdoms, but that IT shall stand for ever; and from the seventh chapter, 13, 14 and 27, we see that Christ and the saints are to be rulers of that kingdom; and so in the book of Revelations xi. 15, at the sounding of the seventh or last angel, we have the proclamation, "The kingdoms of this world are become

THE KINGDOMS OF OUR LORD

and of his Christ." In chapter ii. 26 Christ promises power over the nations to his saints who overcome; and we see from chap. v. 9, 10 that their song after resurrection is, that he has redeemed them by his blood, and that they shall reign on the earth. From what has been adduced, the following passages from the Psalms will be readily understood:—

Psa. ii. 7-9, "Thou my Son, this day have I begotten thee,—ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession."

Psa. xxii. 27, "All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the Lord; and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee,—for the kingdom is the Lord's and he is governor among the nations."

Psa. lxxii 8, says, "He shall have dominion from sea to sea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth." Ver. 11, "Yea, all kings shall fall down before him; all nations shall serve him."

See also Psa. ex., "The Lord send the rod of thy strength out of Zion; rule thou in the midst of thine enemies."

It may be seen from this that the truth and the gospel are different terms for the same thing. They both relate to the glorious reign of Christ, which has to take place on earth, for the scene of his suffering must be the scene of his glory, when he shall be admired of all those that believe, in that day.

Reader, may you find him who is the WAY into that kingdom, and be accounted worthy to be associated with him in his glory, is our prayer."

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending The Restitution to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the donors request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

Gertrude Carpenter	2.50
G & A Dowle	.50
S D Fahrney	10.00
Mrs Lizzie Watkins	.50
Sarah Bowman	.35

Zeal.

What is zeal? Great ardor in pursuit or support of anything, enthusiasm, fervor. It is a mixed passion, composed on the one hand of grief and anger; and on the other of fervent love and desire; for what a person loves earnestly, he is careful to see honored, and is grieved when it is dishonored. Phinehas was commended for having expressed much zeal against those wicked persons that violated the law of God, and was rewarded with the covenant of an everlasting priesthood, he was zealous for his God, and made an atonement for the children of Israel. Num. xxv. 11-13, and in Psa. lxix. 9. The Psalmist says the zeal of thine house hath eaten me up. It is, that some one had displayed so much zeal and earnestness that the people were following the one that was so earnest, and were neglecting the one that was lukewarm, that did not get out and rustle. We frequently see that in preachers, some will start out with so much zeal and vim and earnest enthusiasm that act as a magnet to the people and draw them to him; whereas others, just as well learned, having just as good language, but lacking the zeal and earnestness in their presentation of the truth do not have as good success as the one all life or vim. It is so in all pursuits of life. The teacher, the merchant, the farmer and the true Christian, none of them can succeed without a great deal of zeal, and the more zeal and vim one uses in his calling the greater his success. Even when one does wickedly, the more zeal in that line, the more wicked they become. Zeal is taken either in good or ill part. There may be an eagerness in pursuing good things when neither the end nor manner of doing it is good, such was the zeal of Jehu. 2 Kings x. 16. He was eager in executing the commands of God; but he did it to be seen of men, and is self praise, said, Come, see my zeal for the Lord. Such also was the zeal of those Jews whom Paul speaks of in Rom. x. 2. They have a zeal of God but not according to knowledge. They have an earnest desire to maintain the law and worship of God instituted by Moses, and work and strive for the righteousness of the law and fail to understand that Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth, and that since Christ ended that law, righteousness is by faith. Paul displayed as much zeal in persecuting the Church of God, as he afterwards did in preaching the Word. If a person has a great zeal for the devil, you will find him in the grog shop, the gambling den, the house of ill fame, the state prison, and, if his zeal is for God, you will find him visiting the sick and afflicted, and not mingling with worldly institutions, but trying to serve God and not man.

Yours in hope.

E. W. Knapp.

A reaping machine bears its maker's name, and thus acknowledges him, not only in the harvest field, but on the way thither; yes, and when laid up for the winter. Whoever looks at it, whether it is in rest or motion, and whether wheat is near it or not, knows the name of the maker that was its owner's choice. And so, whoever wears, definitely and frankly, the name of Christ, preaches a sermon in his daily walk, and sings through every conversation an anthem of praise. He can not pray but it will glorify God. Of course, if thus we walk with God, we can not go astray, for God is not going astray.—Musings.

$33.00 to the Pacific Coast.

Chicago & North-Western R'y; during the months of March and April $30.00 from Chicago to Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Ogden and Salt Lake City; $30.50 Spokane; $33.00 Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Victoria and a large number of other points. Tourist Sleeping Cars daily to the Pacific Coast. For maps and particulars apply to the nearest ticket agent or address A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth ave., Chicago, Ill.—Apr 26

California Illustrated.

Copy of the illustrated monthly, The Chicago 400, a journal of travel and topics, reaches us by the courtesy of the Chicago & North-Western Ry. It is one of the finest illustrated publications that we have ever seen. The tinted half-tones rival those of the finest magazines, and the letter press of the whole edition is as perfect as that of any publication ever issued, pictorially and descriptively mirroring California's wonderful scenery. Copy will be mailed to your address upon receipt of 2 cents postage by W. B. Kniskern, G. P. & T. A., C. & N. W. R'y, Chicago, Ill.

Popular Lectures by M. Joblin.

Brethren and Sisters, Have you loved ones who think sincerity will save them? Have you friends who think they worship acceptably while ignorant of God's promises? Have you acquaintances with false hopes of heaven, or who believe themselves immortal by nature, or who think their sins are forgiven, although they are ignorant of the Law of Pardon, or who have no use for a God who consigns sinners to Eternal Torment, and are ignorant of Jehovah's beneficent purpose to fill the earth with his glory and bestow Eternal Life upon believers of the Gospel, so they can enjoy it for ever? If so, send for Popular Lectures by Bro. Joblin, entitled:—"The Kingdom of God;" "Old Mother Earth to Be Born Again;" "Strangers from the Covenants of Promise;" "Vain Worship;" "No Immortality Out of Christ;" "Hope Begotten by the Resurrection of Christ;" "God's Love and Solicitude for Mankind;" and "What Shall We Do to be Saved?"

Each Lecture of 16 pages $1 per 100 post free; or an assortment of the whole, same price. Address M. Joblin, 624 Woodland Av., Cleveland, O.

Those to whom we have sent letters telling about your accounts have not all made response as yet. Brother or Sister, we urge you to be sure and not neglect this matter longer. We want to pay our obligations—this is the reason why we ask you to give us what is due at once. If we could satisfy those we are under obligation to any other way we would not ask you, but as it is the only way we know of, we must hear from you to enable us to do so. We trust all will see the necessity of this and act NOW.

$33.00 to California, Oregon and Washington.

Chicago & North-Western Ry. from Chicago daily, March and April, only $30.00 for berth in tourist car. Personally conducted excursions Tuesdays and Thursdays from Chicago and Wednesdays from New England. Illustrated pamphlet sent on receipt of two cent stamp by S. A. Hutchinson, Manager, 212 Clark street, Chicago. —Apr 26

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

No attempt has ever been made to get together any congress representing the highest intelligence of the various nations of the world. The nearest approach of this was the Peace Conference at The Hague. The failure of that body was caused by the fact that it was selected to represent political and personal interests. It will be interesting to note the results which must come from the first World's Congress in which all nations shall be represented by men of highest integrity and intellectual caliber. The difficulties in effecting such a gathering are almost insurmountable, but The Cosmopolitan Magazine is making the effort with a full recognition of the endless obstacles to be overcome. In the March number, The Cosmopolitan's plan is briefly outlined. Its agents in Europe and elsewhere are carefully maturing lists of the ablest men of each country considered with reference—First. To their sincerity. Second. Their earnestness. Third. Clear thinking, that is, ability to see truth. Fourth. Broad experience in affairs.

These names are five times as great in number as the candidates to be eventually selected. Upon these the opinions of leading men in other countries will be secured, so that the final selection will represent a consensus of opinion by the leading men of the world of thought. The Cosmopolitan is also endeavoring to secure by contribution a fund of a quarter of a million dollars to provide for the expenses of the first World's Congress.

If you are anxious about the well-being of some friend and would like to have him see and embrace the truth, subscribe for this paper to be sent to him. It will talk at times and places that you cant. It may make opportunity for you to say a word that will make you friend a joint-heir with the Lord Jesus Christ. It has been done. Why not try it?

Reduced Rates.

One way second-class colonist tickets to the West and Northwest, will be sold at special fares via Pennsylvania Lines, during March and April, 1902. Particular information about fares, through time and other details will be furnished upon application to Passenger and Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania Lines.—April 30

Poetry.

[Published by request]

A Poem.

From the north's cold icy region,
Sweeps a "norther" o'er our land;
But within the cosy parlor
Sits the remnant of our band.
'Tis long years since our dear family—
Father, mother, children all,
At our home in Indiana
Numbered nine at our roll-call.

In the midst of youth and beauty,
Comes the turn of human life;
One by one, by death or marriage
We have parted for the strife.
Some have gone beyond the river,
Some are in a far off land,
Until today I find—I only
With my father and mother stand.

Father's head is sure like a snow drift,
Mother's hair is silvered, too;
May I then in years to coming
Be to them a helper true.
Though in past years we've been parted,
Nature asks that we must shift,
But in the life God's now before us
May I from them never drift.

CLARENCE CURTIS REED.

Original.

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

Dear Restitution:

We cannot do without the dear old paper. It is to us like the counsel of a good father to his small children. It brings to our sight things that we might not see that are of much importance. It keeps us posted on the signs of the times, which are of interest in the late evening of the Gentile times, while the earth is groaning to be delivered from this great corruption. We also read so many good letters from Brothers and Sisters scattered abroad, and from our strong brethren, W. H. Wilson and others, who give us meat in due season. We also read some very sad letters of the destitute condition of some, and our heart goes out in sympathy to them, and we always pray to our Heavenly Father to bring about deliverance for them. The funeral notices are always bringing to our minds that our old enemy is among us tearing out our very heart chords, but we must patiently bear our cross. Thank God the next is the crown if we prove ourselves worthy.

Your Sister in Christ.

MARTHA W. HUFFMAN.

Dear ones of like precious faith:

I see so many kind requests for all of us to try to get at least one new subscriber for our good old RESTITUTION, I will say that I have succeeded in getting two for the year 1902, and hope to be able to get several more. All of us who cannot preach ought to do all that we can to help send out so faithful a witness. It can go quietly into so many homes; with its message of love and words of comfort, to cheer and aid the many isolated ones, as the days are going by. Yes, it shows them that they have company all along the line, whose hopes and desires are the same. We are all praying the same prayer, "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done, in earth, as it is done in heaven," and through the medium of our paper we can all get so much better acquainted with each other, than we could otherwise. When we read the many good articles from those able brethren who take so much pains to instruct us, and the many good letters written by the faithful ones, it brings us nearer to each other, and we learn to love those whom we have never seen, and thus long for the time when we shall see each other face to face. Let us all double our diligence to let our light shine.

Your Sister in Christ.

S. F. MORGAN.

Editor Restitution:

I would like to say to the brothers and sisters scattered abroad over the land, that I am still striving for the kingdom; for the signs of the times seem to indicate the coming of the Life Giver, and as we have been admonished to watch that we may be ready to go in to the great supper with our wedding garment on. I am striving through my weakness, to have a home in the redeemed earth.

Ever your Sister in Christ, waiting our coming King.

SARAH BOWMAN.

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ:

We seldom join in this household feast, yet it is a pleasure nevertheless. The years come and go, but far be it from me to say, "All things continue as they were from the beginning of the world." Who is it that has lived for the last half century that has not witnessed the wonderful transformation that has taken place, and man would ever dare to attempt to answer the question that the Lord put to Job—Job xxxviii. 35, "Can'st thou send lightnings, that they may go and say unto thee—Here we are"—and answer him in the affirmative. Surely the signs say to us—The Lord is at the door—are we ready? Paul says—Tim. iv. 1, "Now the spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith," and when we see some of the most faithful and zealous of God's workers in his vineyard, almost completely paralyzed, because of the seductive doctrine of Universalism and the unity of the church destroyed, how can we conclude otherwise than that the time is at hand, and the devil is come down with great wrath, realizing that his time is short. O for that angel with the great chain in his hand—preparatory to the binding of the strong man, in order that his goods might be spoiled. Death holds the great mass of the human family, but the angel has the key, and thanks be to God, he will unlock the pit, and the dead in Christ shall come forth, and satan will be bound and cast into the same pit. Jesus is coming soon. O that God would keep us faithful until he appears. We are looking for Brother and Sister Woodward to come to confirm the Brethren and Sisters, to preach Glad Tidings to the meek, to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the vengeance of our God. Christ's gospel is God's power to save all that believe it, and not a word about saving the unbeliever. May the Lord deliver us from doubting God's Word, but being planted squarely upon it, go forth unto victory.

From your brother in Christ.

WALKER PERRINE.

To the Dear Readers of The Restitution:

I feel glad to address you this morning, as I have not had the privilege of reading THE RESTITUTION regularly this winter, as Brother and Sister Butcher and myself have spent the winter in the eastern states, having arrived home a few days ago, to enjoy a little of the sunshine, which this climate affords during the winter months. We visited in Cleveland, Ohio, and met with the people of the "Blessed Hope" congregation, and found a busy hive of workers, and we enjoyed meeting with them in their church home, and also their kind hospitality. We still hope that the day is not far distant when we can enjoy meeting with the people of God in our own new city of forty-five hundred inhabitants, namely, Blackwell, Okla. How much we desire the brethren at large to come in here and make it a home. We are but few in number at this place, but still try to let our lights shine, which always brings happiness, to one who is trying to defend the truth of God, yet how much pleasure there is in meeting together and encouraging one another, as Paul says, And so much the more as the day approaches. Dear Brethren, we are anxiously waiting for the day of the Lord when he will come and claim his own.

Yours of the Abrahamic faith.

ELIZA A. RAHE.

Dear Brethren and Sisters:

I now write with emotions such as I never experienced before, believing that I am addressing you in this way maybe for the last time. This does not however, produce sadness or regret, but thanksgiving and praise that the Infinite Father in his wisdom and love has provided such a glorious future for the believing, trusting heart, and now after many years of conflict and victory, is presenting to our view the clear evidence that the haven is near, that we can lift up our heads and rejoice, for redemption is drawing nigh. How rich the thought that the Master has in this time of trial and conflict strengthened us to stand so that we have not deserted our colors or betrayed our trust—have made his Word the foundation of faith and hope, by his grace and love! Can it be that riches so great and glory so infinite are to be ours, who have no righteousness of our own? Yes, we shall see Jesus as he is, and be permitted to wear his image. What glory fills the mind in this contemplation! We need have no fear that our expectations will be overdrawn for it has not entered into the heart of man the things God has prepared for them that love him. Such shall be mine, saith the Lord of Hosts, when I make up my jewels. Now, dear brethren and sisters, I bid you an affectionate farewell, expecting when I address you again it will be in the company of those who have turned many to righteousness—not among the popular divines who have electrified their hearers with their eloquence and display, but among those whose hearts beat in unison with that of the Lord Jesus, enduring the cross, despising the shame, counting all things as loss for Christ's sake. Such, says the prophet, Shall shine as the brightness of the firmament, and as the stars forever and ever. That that may be yours and my lot, I have for many years offered in my feeble request, and will continue to do so until faith is lost in sight.

Yours in hope of life eternal.

JOHN FOORE.,

Editor Restitution:

I feel it my duty to cast in my testimony for the love of God and the truth. I feel rejoiced when I read so many good letters from the dear ones of the blessed hope, although I have never seen many of them. I love them as brothers and sisters and hope to meet them in the kingdom which I hope will soon come. I am all alone this evening, yet I am not lonely, for my mind is occupied with the thoughts of passing events and the future abode of the righteous. My family have all gone to a revival meeting at our school-house. They come home and tell what is preached, that some are in heaven beckoning to them to come and some are in hell, to be tormented forever with just a partition or gulf between, as generally preached. Oh I pity them so, most of them good folks but it is the blind leaders. What will be their reward? If they could but learn the truth as it is written. My faith grows stronger in the soon coming of our Lord and Master. How we can lift up our heads and rejoice when we see the budding fig tree in the Holy Land, spoken of by our Lord and Master. Then is the kingdom of God near at hand. I close with love to the brothers and sisters and hope we may hold out faithful till the Master comes.

Yours in hope of eternal life.

MR. & MRS. S. A. GUILD.

A Letter to Mr. Dye.

Mr. Dye:

You will recollect that we met in the post office not long since, and you asked me in regard to my not attending the prayer meeting at Mrs Fishers. I told you I did not like to attend worship with those who believe in the doctrine of the immortality of the soul. I suppose you consider me a crank for discarding that popular doctrine. But let me tell you, my friend, that the Bible is my standard for doctrine, and not popular churches. I tell you distinctly, that there is only one promise between the lids of the Bible that teaches that abominable doctrine. Gen. iii. 4, "And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die." This is the first sermon that has ever been preached to sustain that abominable doctrine. But orthodoxy has taken up the refrain and has dilated upon it, until they really think the serpent told the truth after all. What was a lie when the serpent said it, is truth when it comes from Rome. But let us look at another line of proof. See Rev. xiv. 144,000 are seen on Mt. Sion with the Lamb, 3 v. And they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and no man could learn that song, but the 144,000 which were redeemed from the earth. Here is positive proof that the 144,000 are the fruits of the first resurrection for they are the first fruits unto God and the Lamb. 4 v. These are they which were not defiled with women, for they are virgins. Here is positive proof that the bride of Christ is not defiled with that abominable doctrine of the Mother of Harlots, for the Lord Jesus Christ will have none but virgins for his Bride.

A little history endorsed by Mr. Gladstone, the historian, may not be out of place in this connection. He says—From the sixth century onwards, the doctrine of the immortality of the soul spread rapidly and marvelously; culminating in the year 1518 by a bull of Pope Leo X., condemning and reprobating all who should declare the soul to be mortal.

After Origen's time, and particularly from the sixth century, there was a change in the teaching of the Church, a wholesale change."—Gladstone.

By this it is plain that the doctrine of the immortality of the soul is a harlot doctrine; and Protestants in protesting against the many doctrines and practices of Popery overlooked this great error, and adopted it in their creed; but it certainly is no less false, because it comes from the Catholic Church, than when it came from the serpent in the garden of Eden.

Yours for truth however unpopular.

DANIEL HOWARD.

Do you like to get THE RESTITUTION each week and read the articles and letters it contains? Did you ever think that your brother who sits near you would get a like benefit and enjoyment if he had it also? Get him to subscribe for 1902. It will cost you very little to ask him, and you may be the means of doing him good.

Report of Labor.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

Our work at Waterville, Wash., is again ended, as far as our preaching and visiting among them. We hope the effect of the preached word will never end, but will live and bring forth fruit for the kingdom. We spoke here 26 times, had seven afternoon meetings at the church, with prayer and testimony meeting before each evening service.

Only four came out from the world and desired adoption into the family of God. Two who had strayed from the right path asked to be taken into church fellowship again, and were very gladly welcomed back. May they be kept by the power of God, which is the only saving power, and without which we must all fail.

Several who had never heard the blessed truth before, were surprised that their pastors had not taught these beautiful facts, and were about persuaded to make the "Church of God" their home, where they could have the Bible taught. The brethren were greatly rejoiced at the work done, some expressing the thought that although not nearly so many made the good confession as last year during the meeting, still they believed more real good had been done the church and community.

We had many profitable visits with dear Brother and Sister Richard Corbaley, and were so glad to find them both so well, and still rejoicing in the hope of the promise made to the fathers. Bro. Corbaley will be 82 years of age if he lives until next August, and it is wonderful how he has retained all his faculties. He had his second eye sight, and read without glasses for a time, but after his severe sickness last spring his eyes began to fail. He cannot get any glasses to fit him, and cannot see to read a word; but trusting to his wonderful memory, he can preach many sermons, quoting text after text, giving chapter and verse. How blessed to spend a long life in such a glorious cause. Many have been guided to the truth by his wise counsels, and ability to plainly teach the Word. May God bless him and all his with all needed blessings. Brother Corbaley attended every meeting while we were there.

We had fine winter weather and good sleighing until the last Sunday, when a "Chinook wind" struck the town, melting the snow so rapidly as to spoil the roads; water in some places running like a river.

We visited in the country two days, after the thaw, and had to go through water several rods, and one place it came splashing through the sleigh but neither horses nor driver seemed to think any thing of it.

Our meetings closed Thursday evening, and Friday morning Bro. Oscar Tetherow started in double hack with five for Wenatchee 25 miles away. We went down Corbaley canyon to Orando, reaching there just in time to see the "Echo" steam up the river. We had a feeling of satisfaction in being on land instead of in her lower cabin trying to escape a steam bath.

Our ride to Wenatchee was traveled with no further excitement than a broken spring, which was quickly repaired with a strap. We found the ferry all right, with no broken keys or ice to delay us. Brethren all ready for meeting to begin, and may the dear Father be with the work here to give the increase.

The Elder has been able to attend every service yet. His general health is better than when he left home. Pray for us brethren, that the cause of the Master may be built up, and his name shall have the praise.

Yours in hope.

MARY A. WOODWARD.

Obituary.

Died Jan. 12, 1902, at her home in Los Angeles, Cal., Margaret Andrews McGoldrick, aged 56 years.

She was born in Richland Co. Ohio, and moved with her parents to Whitley Co. Ind., when quite young. Was baptized in the hope of the Abrahamic promises at the age of 17, by Brother S. G. Clark deceased, of Liberty Mills, Ind.

She was first married to Ellis Hamton, and afterward married Samuel McGoldrick. She leaves no children, and only two sisters out of a family of ten, besides a husband to mourn her loss, but we sorrow not as others that have no hope; for as many of us as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ, and if ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with the voice of the archangel and with the trump of God, and the dead in Christ shall rise first. Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them to meet the Lord in the air, and so shall we ever be with the Lord.

Then come, Lord Jesus, hasten the day:
Bring forth thy saints from their beds of clay,
Clothe them in life and immortality,
Changing our vile bodies like unto them:
Then let us meet at Jesus feet,
And Christ our Lord we all shall greet.

JENNETTA TILLMAN.

Died near Hillsboro, Oregon, Feb'y 11, 1902, the youngest child of Bro. and Sister Fisk, aged six months.

Words of comfort were spoken by the writer, from the language of Jesus "I am the resurrection and the life." Blessed, hopeful words.

W. A. PROSSER.

IN MEMORIAM.

Sweetly sleeps our little cherub,
Once our joy from day to day;
Here we now are sadly weeping,
O'er her cold and lifeless clay.

Oh, how sad will be our home nest;
When our daily work is done,
And we gather round our fireside,
Thinking of the child that's gone.

Is it best for death to rob us?
Of our little darling child;
She who was our joy and comfort,
And always had for us a smile?

Cheer up mother, Jesus said it;
Let the children come to me
In his arms he'll take and bless them,
When on earth the people see—

How he loved those little children,
Set them up before the throng;
And of such shall be God's kingdom,
For they are innocent of wrong.

Now the duty task's before you,
As you walk life's journey through,
Is to live so near to Jesus
That he will accept of you.

Come to Jesus, Oh what comfort,
In that pleading, cheerful call;
He is willing, he is ready,
For to save us one and all.

E. W. KNAPP.

Alfred Clover died Feb. 17, 1902, at his home in Grant Co., Okla., aged 75 years. He was born in Vermont Co., Ind., Jan 25, 1827, and on March 9, 1849 he was married to Martha Gibson, shortly after which he moved to Illinois, where he resided for five years; when he moved to Iowa where he lived some 12 years. Leaving that State he next moved to Nebraska, but remained only three years, when he went to Kansas where he resided 31 years. To this union was born ten children, five of whom survive him. His wife died in 1875, and in 1876 he married Elizabeth Cox, who died in 1877, leaving one child. In 1879 he was again married to Emily Pugh, by whom he had one child, and she died in 1882. He married Rebecca Petry in 1885, and they had two children, one of whom died.

In 1901 he moved to Okla., where he lived till his death. He was a good father and a consistent Christian, always ready to help the needy and aid the spread of the gospel.

Words of comfort were spoken by the writer from 1 Thes. iv. Brother Clover was a brother of Lott Clover, one of our hard working preachers who has spent most of his life for the cause we love.

We can say that Brother Clover fell asleep in Jesus to wait till the resurrection morning.

T. H. OWENS.

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, containing 116 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Sitting Bull, Red Cloud and other noted chiefs; Gen. Custer's battle ground, and ten colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1600. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valued contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 25 cents a copy. Mailed postage prepaid on receipt of the amount by W P Kniskern, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar 29.

Very Low Rates

During the months of March and April via Chicago & North-Western R'y; $30.00 from Chicago to Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Ogden and Salt Lake City; $30.50 Spokane, $33.00 Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Victoria and a large number of other points. Tourist Sleeping Cars every day from Chicago to the Pacific Coast. For maps and particulars apply to nearest ticket agent or address A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—apr 26

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

BIBLE PEARLS—2 page tracts. Suitable for wide distribution. 1 The Gospel. 2 Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists in 1660. 3 Immateriality. 4 Kingdom of God. 5 Nature of Man, and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6 Two Advents. 7 What is Religion? 8 Restitution Age. 9 Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. 10 copies for 5 cts, or assorted packages of 100 for 20 cts.

FOUR-PAGE TRACTS.

Can You Believe? a series of questions setting forth the fundamental points of our faith.

State of Man in Death. A collection of proof texts on this subject.

Life and Death. A short concise statement of the facts in the case.

10 for 10 cts, 50 for 25 cts—100 for 40 cts.

A Letter to a Friend.—This treats of the Covenants of Promise, and their connection with the one hope, one faith, one baptism, by the late Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. 10 cents.

Future Probation.—Is that awaiting any of the unrighteous? A 160-page pamphlet by Wm. Glenn Mourieff. Post paid, 10 cents.

Glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God.—Twelve large size pages, clear and comprehensive. 5 cts or 30 for $1.00.

Modern events in the Light of Prophecy.—By H. V. Reed, 5 cents each, or 30 for $1.00.

What must I do to be saved? This is an important question, and is well answered by J. F. Wagoner, in a four page tract, 10 for 10 cents, 50 for 30 cents, 100 for 50 cents.

What is a Spiritual Body?
Faith and Hope.

The above are titles to some small 4-page tracts suitable to place in an envelope. Short and to the point. Price 8 copies for 5 cents—or 100 for 25 cents.

Address, THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Ind.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Illustrated and Descriptive Booklets Free.

The following excellent publications prepared by the Chicago & North-Western R'y will be sent free to any address upon receipt of postage named.

The information contained therein is of great value to those who expect to travel, either for pleasure or profit. All of the publications are handsomely illustrated with half tone views.

California Illustrated.....	Postage	.02
Hunting and Fishing.....	"	.02
Colorado Illustrated.....	"	.02
Through Picturesque Wisconsin.....	"	.02
Beautiful Country near Chicago.....	"	.04
Picturesque Milwaukee....	"	.02
Opportunities for Business	"	.02
Copper and Iron and where they are found.....	"	.02
Across Picturesque Illinois and Iowa.....	"	.02
Population of cities on the North-Western Line....	"	.02

The Indian—The Northwest. A history of the Indian tribes. 50 cts.

New, Mounted U. S. Wall Map, 40x54, in colors. 15 cts.

Address W. B. Kniskern, G. P. & T. A. Chicago & North-Western R'y, 22 Fifth Ave., Chicago.—mar 29

Subscribe for THE RESTITUTION for 1902.

California Illustrated.

Copy of the illustrated monthly, The Chicago 400, a journal of travel and topics, reaches us by the courtesy of the Chicago & North-Western R'y. It is one of the finest illustrated publications that we have ever seen. The tinted half-tones rival those of the finest magazines, and the letter-press of the whole edition is as perfect as that of any publication ever issued, pictorially and descriptively mirroring California's wonderful scenery. Copy delivered free on application, or mailed to any address upon receipt of two cents postage, by A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar 8

California-Oregon Excursions

Every day in the year. The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line runs through first-class Pullman and Tourist Sleeping Cars to points in California and Oregon daily. Personally conducted excursions from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Lowest rates. Shortest time en route. Finest scenery. Inquire of your nearest ticket agent, or write A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue Chicago, Ill.—mar. 8

Communicated.

Faith and Works.

"Then came the disciples to Jesus apart, and said, Why could we not cast him out? and Jesus said unto them, Because of your unbelief; for verily I say unto you, If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say to this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place, and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you." Mat. xvii. 19, 20.

"Unto them that are without (to the multitude) all things are done in parable; but unto you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God." Jesus spoke plainly to his disciples in private, but not to the multitude. Witness the following. Of his death and resurrection he said to the Jews, "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will rear it up." To his disciples he said, "The Son of Man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and they shall crucify him and the third day he shall rise again." "The works that I do shall ye do also, and greater works than these shall ye do, because I go to the Father."

He went to the Father, to bring about the atonement; hence the clearly implied teaching is that it is in consequence of the atonement, that we are to do these works. The atonement for us, his house, begins when the life lost in Adam, is restored; that is, when he that raised Christ from the dead shall also quicken our mortal bodies. Christ comes to his temple, his body, the church, and we shall be "made alive at his coming." It follows therefore, that the works spoken of are not due until we are thus made alive.

Christ had such conditional life, even as did the unfallen Adam; and atonement brings its restitution; and hence, on coming to the full grown man, unto the stature of Christ, we shall have unforfeited LIFE, such he had; a knowledge of divine things, such as he had; all things that he had heard from his Father, weakness of the flesh, etc., as he was. Why then should we not do such works as he did?

If, in that condition, we have faith, we shall do the works; because "faith without works is dead;" and power is given for use, and not to lay idle; no man lighteth a candle and putteth it under a bushel. We have now no faith of our own; we do not even live—I live yet not I, but Christ liveth in me, and the life I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God. Gal. ii. 20. I repeat, we have no faith of our own. If we had faith as a grain of mustard seed, the least of all seeds, nothing would be impossible to us. We have delegated faith, the faith of another, just sufficient for the life and growth of our inward man. We can live by Christ's faith, but to remove mountains, it must be our own faith. No Christian dare affirm that the inward man life he now lives, is by his own faith; and yet, "the just shall live by his faith," and when we overcome "this is the victory that overcometh the world, even your faith."

"Unto 2300 days, then shall the sanctuary be justified." The just shall live by his faith. Them that he justified them he also glorified. Know ye not that ye are the sanctuary of God? The justified of the sanctuary will begin early in this movement—those days will end and be finished when the Christ suddenly comes to his sanctuary, or temple, and purifies it. The cleansing, or justifying, is done by our building with "gold, silver," etc.; in consequence of which the Father will quicken our mortal bodies. From which moment we stand justified.

Who shall stand when he appears? Only the justified ones. Separating the "hay, wood, and stubble," and those who have thus built, from the justified one is the work of Christ who will be as a refiner. Then shall ye return and discern between him that serveth God, and him that serveth him not.

It is not the outward man that is cleansed at this time. We shall not be free from the weakness of the flesh, until we have overcome the world even as he overcame. Christ's body was marred, and he endured the weakness of sin—was made sin for us; and yet he was "My Just One." Our outward man will be cleansed according to the law, at the end of three years, and we go out free, when the seventh thousand begins. May he soon for what I know.

When thus justified—and no one can come to the stature of the Just One until justified—and quickened by the Father, we shall then live by our faith, overcome the world by our faith, and obey the law ordinance unto life; after which Christ will give us to eat of the tree of life.

No one has yet attained to a grain of faith, not even to the least of all grains, and although inspired apostles were permitted to a few signs by faith in his name; like those done by the prophets, it was by special inspiration, and continued in the church during their lives, and no longer. Miracles wrought by relics of saints have the same foundation as do those claimed by fanatical sects. They are lying wonders, not because they do not occur, since many cures do actually occur, both by so-called relics of saints, and by prayer. They are based in falsehood, because the wonders are attributed to the wrong source. The cures, when genuine, are to just that degree that the mind of the patient can be made to control the functions of his body; and this can be done to a marvelous extent. It matters little what inspires the mind to act in the direction—faith in a "bone," faith in prayer to God, or faith in your physician—a cure of certain diseases will often follow. It is the power of the mind over our bodies.

The hypnotist uses it, if skillful, by controlling the mind of the person in its proper action on his body. But this power of mind over the living organism, is very limited, and does not exist at all over unorganized matter. What the perfect man will do, when all the natural laws are subjected to his will, is beyond our present comprehension—nothing will be impossible to him.

The faith as a grain of mustard seed to which Jesus refers, that will enable us to control the laws of nature, inanimate as well as animate bodies, a kind or degree of faith never yet possessed by sinful man, but thus far only by Christ himself. We may designate the one as human faith, the other as divine. The one given to a child of the evil, man in the bondage of corruption, the other to children of God. And we have this latter God-given faith now, just as we have restitution, or salvation; not in fact, but only by hope.

"He that liveth and believeth in me." This living faith is for the living, and not the dead. Hence, it is now for us only by hope. "For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God." And not until the Father quickens our mortal bodies, will faith as a grain of mustard seed be imparted to us.

DOES NOT GOD HEAR AND ANSWER PRAYER?

Yes, most assuredly he does. Then do we not sometimes have a living faith? Yes, but not of our own. No prayer you or I ever offered was answered unless the Spirit made intercession for us. Prayer is appointed to convey the blessings God designs to give, is a truism. No other prayers are ever answered.

Did not the church at Pentecost have a living faith when Peter was in prison, and prayer was made without ceasing of the church unto God for him? Acts xii. 5. His chains fell off, the iron door opened of its own accord, and accompanied by an angel, Peter walked out of prison and hastened home where the church were praying for his deliverance. Surely there was faith that would remove mountains. No one now claims a more direct answer to prayer than was realized in that grand deliverance. What faith! We claim they had no real faith at all, no more than had poor Bartimeus. Lord I believe, help thou mine unbelief.

This is the kind of faith they had, and ours is no better; a faith grounded in unbelief. If that Pentecostal church had BELIEVED that God would answer prayer they would have looked with confidence for Peter. Instead of which, when the damsel answered the call, as Peter stood knocking at the gate, and hearkening, knew Peter's voice, she opened not the door, but ran in and told how Peter was before the gate. Instead of rising joyfully from their knees, and saying We knew God would hear prayer, and looking for Peter; let him come in—they said unto her, Thou art mad. But she constantly affirmed that it was even so. Then they said, It is his angel. But Peter continued his knocking; and when they had opened the door and saw him, they were astonished. What faith they must have had! And yet God heard and answered their prayer. The Spirit was making intercession for them.

When we pray for what God designs to give, prayers are answered. When we pray for what he does not design to give, our prayers are not answered. "We know not what to pray for as we ought; but the Spirit maketh intercession for us." Rom. viii. 26.

Prayer does not influence God to change his purpose—such is not its design; it is to keep our minds stayed on him, in order that we may learn to walk with God as he leads, not for us to lead him.

We must learn to view the church as one body, starting each of us as babes in Christ; but eventually to come to the full grown man. Not individually before dying, but each member acquiring all truth due in his day. Failing of that he fails to make his calling and election sure. These will be counted as overcomers, and of the house of sons, "by him who quickeneth the dead, and calleth those things that are not as though they were." Rom. iv. 17.

When the foreordained number that fills the house he fully complete out of all generations, is attained, the one body, always represented by its living members, is to be perfected; come to the full grown man, to the stature of Christ, overcome the world, be obedient unto the spirit of the law ordained unto life, and come to the perfect man condition. Thus the command. "be ye perfect, even as your Father in heaven is perfect," each is his own sphere, will be fulfilled.

A babe in Christ is carnal, 1 Cor. iii. 1. Such an one cannot be perfect, nor is a partly developed thing perfect. Full grown is attained only at the end of development, and helps are set in the church until we all come of full stature.

The promises to the developing are always before us; as begotten sons, we get but an earnest, and live by the faith of another. When of full growth we shall live by our faith. Until then, I believe, help thou mine unbelief, expresses the real heart felt condition of a Christian. Fanaticism may claim much, and faith, such faith as fallen man can exercise in many things: medicine, physicians, relics of saints, and all kinds of so-called healers, does many wonderful things. And the name of Christ is used by many of those late mushroom developments. They cannot control the elements, wind and waves, feed the multitudes, raise the dead, or heal any greater per cent of cases they undertake than do hypnotists, and others who make no claim of divine power.

I venture to say the Weltmer "School of Healing" by hypnotism, of Nevada Mo., can match the Dowie "Zion" of Chicago, or any other class of these so-called "divine" healers any day, with a good prospect of winning. All effect some cures, and make many failures.

Christ foretold these things, and so they are one of the plainest signs of the times.

JOHN FOORE.

Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Ry

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedule of Passenger Trains Central Time.

Westward. | Ar | Ar | Ar | Ar | Ar

Pittsburgh, lv. | 1 05 | 7 07 | 9 30 | 3 15 | 8 30 AM
Allanate, ar. | 3 25 | 9 30 | 11 55 | 5 40 | 10 55
Crafton, " | 4 00 | 9 58 | 12 30 | 6 15 | 11 30
Manchester, " | | 10 05 | 12 35 | 6 20 | 11 35
Wheeler, " | | 10 25 | 12 55 | 6 40 | 11 55
Mansfield, " | 6 10 | 12 15 | 2 40 | 8 05 | Lve
Crestline, ar. | 6 27 | 12 30 | 2 55 | 8 20 | 7 07 PM
Bucyrus, " | | 12 53 | 3 23 | 8 53 | 7 40
Lima, " | 8 35 | 2 00 | 4 30 | 10 00 | 8 50
Van Wert, " | 9 21 | 2 50 | 5 20 | 10 50 | 9 40
Ft. Wayne, " | 10 35 | 4 15 | 6 35 | 12 15 | 10 55 AM
Arcola, " | | | | | 7 05
Atlantic City, " | | 6 41 | 4 06 | | 7 30
Leavitt, " | | | | | 7 45
Pierceton, " | | | 4 54 | | 8 00
Etna Park, " | | | 5 05 | | 8 10
Warsaw, " | | | 5 20 | | 8 25
Mud Creek, " | | | 5 30 | | 8 35
Burr Oak, " | | | 5 40 | | 8 45
Hartford, " | | 6 48 | 5 45 | | 8 50
Decatur, " | 11 20 | 7 15 | 6 05 | 1 40 | 9 10
Monroe, " | | | 6 20 | | 9 25
Berne, " | | | 6 30 | | 9 35
Bluffton, " | | | 6 40 | | 9 45
Mt. Zion, " | | | 6 50 | | 9 55
Portland, " | | | 7 00 | | 10 05
Dunkirk, " | | | 7 15 | | 10 20
Muncie, " | | | 7 30 | | 10 35
Gaston, " | | | 7 40 | | 10 45
Albany, " | | | 7 50 | | 10 55
New Castle, " | | | 8 05 | | 11 10
Knightstown, " | | | 8 20 | | 11 25
Carthage, " | | | 8 30 | | 11 35
Rushville, " | | | 8 40 | | 11 45
Milroy, " | | | 8 55 | | 12 00
Greensburg, " | | | 9 05 | | 12 10 PM
Hyndman, " | | | 9 20 | | 12 25
Connellsville, " | | | 9 40 | | 12 45
Mt. Pleasant, " | | | 9 55 | | 1 00
Scottdale, " | | | 10 05 | | 1 10
Jeannette, " | | | 10 20 | | 1 25
Penn Station, " | | | 10 30 | | 1 35
Pittsburgh, ar. | 12 40 | 8 35 | 10 45 | 4 30 | 1 50

Eastward. | Ar | Ar | Ar | Ar | Ar | Ar | Ar

Chicago, lv. | 2 50 | 8 45 | 8 00 | 5 10 | 12 20 PM | 10 45 PM | 12 01 AM
Valparaiso, " | | | | | | | 1 30
Kouts, " | | | | | | | 1 45
Hobart, " | | | | | | | 2 00
Liverpool, " | | | | | | | 2 15
Clarke, " | | | | | | | 2 30
Whiting, " | | | | | | | 2 40
Chicago, ar. | | | | | | | 3 00
Valparaiso, lv. | | | | | | | 3 30
Kouts, " | | | | | | | 3 45
Hobart, " | | | | | | | 4 00
Liverpool, " | | | | | | | 4 15
Clarke, " | | | | | | | 4 30
Whiting, " | | | | | | | 4 40
Chicago, ar. | | | | | | | 5 00
Ft. Wayne, lv. | 2 30 | 6 45 | 9 55 | 2 50 | 7 30 | 5 30 | 7 30 AM
Arcola, " | | | | | | | 8 05
Waterloo, " | | | | | | | 8 20
Auburn, " | | | | | | | 8 35
Garrett, " | | | | | | | 8 45
Butler, " | | | | | | | 9 00
Waterloo, " | | | | | | | 9 15
Wauseon, " | | | | | | | 9 30
Pioneer, " | | | | | | | 9 40
Stryker, " | | | | | | | 9 50
Edgerton, " | | | | | | | 10 00
Archbold, " | | | | | | | 10 10
Sherwood, " | | | | | | | 10 20
Montpelier, " | | | | | | | 10 30
Bryan, " | | | | | | | 10 45
Edon Junction, " | | | | | | | 10 55
Pioneer, " | | | | | | | 11 05
Alvordton, " | | | | | | | 11 15
Ft. Wayne, ar. | 3 15 | 7 30 | 10 45 | 3 35 | 8 15 | 6 15 | 8 15 AM
Ft. Wayne, lv. | 3 30 | 7 45 | 10 55 | 3 45 | 8 30 | 6 30 | 8 30 AM
Van Wert, " | 4 55 | 9 05 | 12 20 | 5 10 | 9 55 | 7 55 | 9 55
Lima, " | 5 43 | 9 53 | 1 08 | 5 58 | 10 43 | 8 43 | 10 43
Bucyrus, " | 7 00 | 11 08 | 2 23 | 7 13 | 11 58 | 9 58 | 11 58
Crestline, ar. | 7 36 | 11 45 | 2 58 | 7 48 | 12 35 | 10 35 | 12 35 PM
Crestline, lv. | 7 50 | 11 55 | 3 10 | 8 00 | 12 45 | 10 45 | 12 45 PM
Galion, " | 8 13 | 12 18 | 3 33 | 8 23 | 1 08 | 11 08 | 1 08
Mansfield, " | 8 27 | 12 32 | 3 47 | 8 37 | 1 22 | 11 22 | 1 22
Shelby Junction, " | 8 45 | 12 50 | 4 05 | 8 55 | 1 40 | 11 40 | 1 40
Crestline, " | 9 00 | 1 05 | 4 20 | 9 10 | 1 55 | 11 55 | 1 55
Whitney, " | | | | | | | 2 05
Rice Creek, " | | | | | | | 2 15
Mansfield, " | | | | | | | 2 25
Plymouth, " | 12 07 | 6 05 | 5 15 | 12 15 | 5 00 | 2 00 | 5 00 AM
Shiloh, " | | | | | | | 5 10
Hanford, " | | | | | | | 5 20
Haines, " | | | | | | | 5 30
Wauseon, " | | | | | | | 5 40
Tuscarawas, " | 1 15 | 7 08 | 6 22 | | | | 6 40
Leland, " | | | | | | | 6 50
Liverpool, " | | | | | | | 7 00
Clarke, " | | | | | | | 7 10
Whiting, " | | | | | | | 7 20
Chicago, ar. | 2 50 | 8 45 | 8 00 | 5 10 | 12 20 PM | 10 45 PM | 12 01 AM

Eastward. | Ar | Ar | Ar | Ar | Ar | Ar | Ar

Chicago, lv. | 2 50 | 8 45 | 8 00 | 5 10 | 12 20 PM | 10 45 PM | 12 01 AM
Valparaiso, " | | | | | | | 1 30
Kouts, " | | | | | | | 1 45
Hobart, " | | | | | | | 2 00
Liverpool, " | | | | | | | 2 15
Clarke, " | | | | | | | 2 30
Whiting, " | | | | | | | 2 40
Chicago, ar. | | | | | | | 3 00
Valparaiso, lv. | | | | | | | 3 30
Kouts, " | | | | | | | 3 45
Hobart, " | | | | | | | 4 00
Liverpool, " | | | | | | | 4 15
Clarke, " | | | | | | | 4 30
Whiting, " | | | | | | | 4 40
Chicago, ar. | | | | | | | 5 00

Daily. Daily except Sunday. Daily except Saturday. Sunday only. Stops on signal for passengers. Stops on signal for passengers to get off. Stops on signal for passengers to get on. Stops on signal for passengers to get off or on. Stops on signal for passengers to get off or on, or to receive or discharge through freight.

Fort Wayne and Chicago Time. Pittsburgh Time. Central Time. Eastern Time. Dash Points Trains do not stop.

Through Sleeping Cars on No. 24, Pittsburgh to Chicago. Through Sleeping Cars on No. 23, Pittsburgh to Valparaiso. Through Sleeping Cars on No. 24, Pittsburgh to Valparaiso. Through Sleeping Cars on No. 23, Pittsburgh to Chicago.

Dash Points Trains do not stop.

Dining Cars on No. 24 between Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Dining Cars on No. 23 between Chicago and Pittsburgh.

Dining Cars on No. 24 between Pittsburgh and Valparaiso.

Dining Cars on No. 23 between Valparaiso and Pittsburgh.

Dash Points Trains do not stop.

Dash Points Trains do not stop.

Dash Points Trains do not stop

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME LI. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, MARCH 12, 1902. NUMBER 10.

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher

—FOR THE—

CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

Walter Trullinger
$5 Kinsman

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

[Selected by Mrs. C. W. Russell]

Within Thy Holy Place.

Within thy holy place we stand,
A living sacrifice to be;
For thy best service doth demand
That all our strength be given to thee.
Accept, O Lord, our work and praise;
Our will be thine through all our days.
1 Peter iv. 2.

Within thy holy place we stand,
To trim each DAY thy golden lamp
With oil provided by thy hand
For light to saintly Israel's camp.
O, rend the veil which hides from sight
Shechinah's rays of living light.
Exodus xxviii. 23.

Within thy holy place we stand
Our consciences sprinkled with the blood
Of him whose death we understand;
Our hope—to share his kingdom's good.
Lord, haste the day when we with him
Behold thy shining cherubim.
Psalms lxxx. 1.

Original.

The Coming Kingdom.

"Lord wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel?" That the disciples had no other kingdom in mind when they asked this question of the Lord than that over which David, Solomon and others had ruled, there is not the least doubt, and if Jesus had at the time, any other in mind than the re-establishing of the literal kingdom of David, then in his reply, he left them in the deceived condition, under which they must have been laboring; for his answer is an entire concession of the sense in which the disciples enquired, for he said, "It is not for you to know the times or the seasons which the Father has put in his own power." This alone covers the whole claim of the re establishment of the literal kingdom of Israel. A claim which is clearly certified to in all the prophets, to quote from which would lengthen into pages. We love to look up the testimonies of Jesus. When Jesus was condemned, for what in the eyes of the Jews constituted blasphemy, he furnished evidence as to the time of the setting up of that kingdom. Let us see what the nature of the "blaspheming" accusations were. The question put to him by the high priest was, "Art thou a king?" His answer covered so much more than what they expected that they went into a rage over it. He said, "Thou sayest it, nevertheless I say unto you, hereafter shall ye see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of Power, and coming in the clouds of heaven." This was the climax of the trial, and the sweeping claim of his coming kingship and unlimited power, for the high priest and Jews assembled, saw at a moment the extent of his claim; for they were familiar with every part of the prophets, and saw that he claimed to be the identical personage of whom the prophet Daniel spoke thus, "And I saw one like the Son of Man come in the clouds of heaven; and there was given unto him a kingdom, and dominion, that all nations should serve and obey him." What! reasoned the high priest and Jews, he not only lays claim to being the King of the Jews, but to the dominion of the whole earth, and that all people and nations would serve and obey him. What an astounding claim! What unheard of blasphemy! What need we any further testimony or witnesses, ye have heard his blasphemy, what think ye? He is worthy of death, they say in one voice. We ask what was Jesus condemned to death for? For uttering that which we should all plainly understand and be looking for, his coming in the clouds of heaven, sitting at the right hand of power (the power of God), that the literal kingdom of David be given him, and that all nations should serve and obey him, for "his kingdom will be an everlasting kingdom and his dominion that which shall not pass away." There is then a time coming when it will be shouted, "The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdom of God and of his Christ, and he shall reign forever." Then will be fulfilled that which Paul clearly says in Romans—that Jesus was promised, to be "the heir of the world." There is not the least reason to believe that the followers of Jesus, including the apostles, believed in, or looked for any other than an entirely literal kingdom of Christ on earth. Jesus in all his teachings down to the end of his ministry left them in that hope. Even at the last Supper he said, "Verily I say unto you, I will not any more eat thereof, until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God." And after taking the cup and giving thanks [illegible] not drink of the fruit of the vine, until the kingdom of God shall come." Does his language convey a figurative or spiritual meaning, or was it literal? In what sense does the reader think the disciples understood him? And when Jesus said to the Jews my kingdom is not of this world or age, he qualified the sense in which he was to be understood....."but now is my kingdom not from hence, or of this world or age." If the promulgation of the gospel, was the setting up of his kingdom, or if it was "set up" at Pentecost, or if the gospel dispensation, is his kingdom "set up," then the kingdom is such a one, as some of his honest followers cannot from his teachings discern. The writer himself cannot find it. We can discern the heirs with Christ, or people. We have found the King and love him. We know the law of that kingdom, for the gospel teachings embody the constitutional law of it, and we know the territorial limits of it, but until these constituent elements of a kingdom are combined and in working condition you have not a kingdom "set up," or "established," these things are required to establish a kingdom. At present there are no kingdoms existing, except the kingdoms of this earth, ruled over by natural earthy men, but it is written that there is a time coming when the divisions of the fourth empire of prophecy "shall be broken up and disappear as the chaff of the summer threshing floor." And how and why will they be broken and disappear? "For in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall stand for ever and shall not be given to other people, but the saints of the Most High, shall take it and possess it for ever." This now conveys to our mind a simplicity of language which a child can understand. The plain sense of it all is that we should understand this kingdom and Christ its King in the same sense in which we now see and understand the kingdoms of men. And which is made still more comprehensible in the history of the kingdom of the anti-christ. There is a kingdom on the earth, which has during the gospel age been set up in Christ's name, and practically claimed as his kingdom, delegated to One as his representative on earth. It has during the absence of Christ a head to it in his place. And as priest and king laying claim as sovereign head of the church, and as supreme head over civil governments of the earth, as the head and ruler in Christ and God's place. This is the anti-christ and his high priesthood and kingship, furnishes the correct idea of what Christ's kingdom and priesthood will be, for this is such a complete imitation or forgery of what is vested in Jesus and his kingdom, that the elect might be deceived if righteousness was the order of its rule. While some claim that the priestly office of Jesus will cease when the time of intercession in heaven with the Father is fulfilled, and he returns as King, but Paul teaches different. He says Christ is a "priest for ever," after the order of Melchisedec, etc. According to the Scripture we conclude that as the Babylonian kingdom and apostasy goes down as a mill-stone cast into the sea, up rises the kingdom of Israel to which throne Christ is the heir as its king. The rising up of this kingdom is as a stone cut out without hands, and which is to smite only the divisions of the fourth great empire, but in due time it is to become as a mountain and fill the whole earth. The cutting out of this kingdom is even now going on in the "Zionism" movement, for the new dispensation movement overlaps the Gentile kingdoms. We read that in "the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom." It does not read after these kingdoms. The "Zionist" movement is an independent movement of the house of Israel towards nationalism in their own city and country, and as stated by Jesus, "Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled." And what is to become of Jerusalem and the house of Israel then? Listen to Paul, who [illegible] the Gentiles. He says, "Be not ignorant of this mystery." What is the mystery Paul? That blindness in part has happened to Israel until the fulness of the Gentiles is come in; and so all Israel shall be saved, for it is written, "There shall come up out of Zion the deliverer and shall turn away ungodliness from Jacob." How is it to be turned away from them? Is it by the gospel of grace? No, but by "election," for "concerning the gospel they are enemies for your sake, but as touching the election they are beloved for the fathers' sakes, for the gifts and calling (of them by God) are without repentance (in their part) for God has concluded them all in unbelief." What for, to condemn them? No, but "that he might have mercy in them all." No wonder Paul said, and we say with him, "O the depth both of the wisdom and knowledge of God. How unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out." We ask, when is the blessing and salvation to come to all Israel? Paul says when the fulness of the Gentiles has come in. Jesus said they should be scattered among all nations, and their city Jerusalem be trodden down by the Gentiles until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled. Paul says, "If the fall of the Jews be the riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles, how much more their (the Jews) fulness." Thus showing that their fulness comes in after their fall and diminishing, and that consequently their fulness will be incomparably richer to the Gentiles and the world than what their fall had been. And in what will the greater riches consist? Why, for the simple reason that Jesus will be their King, and the apostles shall sit with him. Peter said, "Lo, we have left all and followed thee, what therefore will be our reward?" Jesus answered, "Verily I say unto you, that ye which have followed me, in the regeneration when the Son of Man shall sit upon the throne of his glory, ye also shall sit on thrones ruling the twelve tribes of Israel." Again he said, "As my Father has appointed unto me a kingdom, so I appoint unto you a kingdom," etc. Surely then "a king will reign in righteousness and princes decree justice." The writer of this being a materialist can only understand actual, literal, material things, and in this sense, Jesus himself, his followers—the apostles, prophets and fathers understood and taught, pertaining to the kingdom of Jesus and his righteous rule in earth, and his personal, individual, bodily coming in the clouds of heaven to enter on that reign. Here he was born in the flesh. Here he proclaimed the good news concerning the kingdom. Here he suffered at the hands of man. Here he was sentenced to death on the cross because he said he would come in the clouds of heaven, sitting at the right hand of Power, and the prophet Daniel said that "when the Son of Man would come in the clouds of heaven there would be given unto him a kingdom and dominion and power that all nations should serve and obey him." Oh, how clear this all is and how much we should all long for, hope and love the soon coming of Jesus with the power of God, to occupy the throne of Israel and extend his dominion over all the earth and regenerate it from its present fallen condition. He will sit on the throne of David to rule, direct and order it from thence forth even forever. David, Solomon and the prophets foreseeing this, spake of their own reign—as "ruling on the throne of the Lord." They did not consider it their own throne, they humbled themselves in view of the coming One who was to sit on it, and acknowledged it as his throne. When Jesus came that throne and kingdom was absorbed and ruled over by the Roman Empire. Hence Jesus said, "The kingdom of heaven suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force. It should be clear to the reader, that Jesus applied the term kingdom of heaven to the territory of that kingdom, and which has continued to suffer violence, and the violent, or wicked nation [illegible] it and occupying it by [illegible] which is to come when King Jesus comes he has expressed in words himself, "When the Son of Man shall come into his kingdom, then will he gather out of his kingdom all things which offend and them which do iniquity," etc. How few who claim to be followers of Jesus, are willing to believe, that the kingdom of heaven is suffering violence and the violent take it by force, or that there are things in the kingdom of heaven which offend, and people in it who do iniquity. But then the language of Jesus stands very plain and comprehensive in its meaning, and Christians who have no belief of their own, but only seek the truth as it is in the words of Jesus need not seek to explain it away in order to meet their belief. That this condition of violence in the kingdom extends over the whole Gentile dispensation, is evident from these two passages spoken by Jesus, for the former refers to the then existing things while the latter passage refers to the conditions existing at his second coming. And the 35th, 36th and 37th chapters of Ezekiel give an extensive account of the restoration of the kingdom to Israel. Let us all rejoice, and hope for, and believe with Peter that there will be a time of "refreshing from the presence of the Lord.....when he will send Jesus Christ from the heavens, and that then as Peter says, will be the times of "restitution of all things spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." And in closing Peter reiterates the words of promise unto Abraham, "And in thy seed shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed." To believe that the event of the near future, viz., the translation of the saints, and the resurrection of the dead in Christ, constitutes the winding up of the redemption of this earth by him, reminds one of the Jewish converts' attitude towards the Gentiles saying, "Except ye be circumcised ye cannot be saved." The scenes on this earth which will be inaugurated by the translation and resurrection surpass the imagination, but it is written, and described as a state of weeping and wailing, as it were cast out into darkness, bitterness of soul, as by gnashing of teeth, tribulation and anguish on the Gentiles, even as it came on the Jews, as it is written, "On the Jew first, and also on the Gentiles." It will be followed by an era of great peace, for "the nations shall beat their swords into plough shares and their spears into pruning hooks and learn war no more, for the knowledge of the Lord shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea." If this signifies any thing but a vast volume of humanity covering the face of the earth who are capable of receiving "the knowledge of the Lord," which they never had before—we would like to know what it does mean.

JOS. LACHAR.

Pure Religion and Undefiled.

"Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world." Jas. i. 27. The term religion is from a Latin root ligio to bind and a prefix re, again. Religion means literally bind again, to unite. We read of different kinds as Jewish and vain religions. Pure religion is that divine science which teaches how man may be brought into the favor of and union with God. They were alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart. His divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue. Thus we are taught that through ignorance we are alienated and through knowledge we are made partakers of his divine nature. The apostle says at that time (when ye were Gentiles) ye were strangers to the covenants of promise (ignorant of them) without hope and God in the world. But now in Christ Jesus, ye who sometimes were far off, are made nigh by the blood of Christ. Ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God. Do not these Scriptures teach plainly that we are strangers and foreigners to or fellow citizens of the household of God? Some writer has said that, "We pass from universal ignorance to doubtful disputation and thence to universal knowledge." Therefore every one must be diligent in acquiring the knowledge necessary to bring him into covenant relation to God. As God is the giver of the precious gift of eternal life, must we not submit willingly to his plan. By referring to Gen. iii. We find that this great gift was lost through unbelief and disobedience, so if we become recipients of it we must reverse the order and accept through faith and obedience God's plan. Could we do less? It is so natural and so well adapted to our needs that the great wonder is how any person who reasons can do otherwise. "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." Matt. vii. 21.

Religion as defined means to rebind or bind again. Pure religion is binding again to God. Man is the object to be rebound. So to man comes the gospel, demanding that he believe the gospel, repent of his sins or turn from his wickedness and claim a refuge in the promises of God. The rebinding process is completed when he has been baptized (immersed) into his (Christ's) death. When we have been planted together in the likeness of his death that we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection. In this act we crucify the old man (Adam) and like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. Seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds, and have put on the new man (Christ) which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him. In Rom. viii. Paul says, "There is therefore now no condemnation to them who are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh but after the spirit."

Again, our Savior says, St. John vi. 63, "The words that I speak unto you, they are spirit and they are life." To walk after the spirit is to walk after the Word as Christ and his apostles gave it. To walk otherwise is to walk after the flesh. Can those who have no relation with Christ expect salvation when it is written that the gospel of Christ is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth. Also he that believeth the gospel and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be condemned. No human invention can put man in possession of this spiritual life. No man made creeds will ever bring men or women into covenant relation to Christ. They may have a system of morals that seem perfect, yet they are among those who say, Lord, Lord, but have never done the will of our Father who art in heaven; no rites, ceremonies, fastings, or prayers will assure them eternal life in the kingdom of God. Are they expecting the return of our reward Giver? No, but they are going to heaven at death. Do they expect to be raised from the dead when he comes? No, their doctrine is that the soul is immortal and always conscious, therefore they have no need of a physical resurrection from the death state. The gospel of the kingdom of God is never taught by them, for they do not believe that Christ and his saints shall ever reign on the earth. They hope to convert the world to Christ before his return.

On the day of Pentecost when the Jews believed Peter they said, "What shall we do?" The apostle's answer was, Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." Acts ii. 38. They believed and were commanded to repent and be baptized into the all-saving name of Christ. The three steps, faith, repentance and baptism brings us into Christ, where there is no condemnation. Here we may do good works for which we will receive the gift of eternal life. In the second epistle of Peter we have this admonition, viz: Add to your faith virtue, and to virtue knowledge, and to knowledge temperance, and to temperance patience, and to patience godliness, and to godliness brotherly kindness and to brotherly kindness charity. For if these be in you and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Many of the latter day churches teach that they are in possession of spiritual gifts as were the churches in the days of the apostles and go so far as to teach that through prayer and fasting they cure all manner of diseases. If they would but read the testimony as found in 1 Cor. xiii. they would learn that these gifts would in time fail and the apostle says, "And now abideth faith, hope and charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity."

In conclusion let me suggest that we begin where the apostle directed the Jews to begin. Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, repent and be immersed and then do the work set before us. I charge thee therefore before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and kingdom; preach the Word; be instant in season, and out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long-suffering and doctrine. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears. 2 Tim. iv. 1, 2, 3. A patient continuance in well doing will secure eternal life.

D. C. ROBISON.

God Loved Me.

"Herein is love, not that we loved God but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins." 1 John iv. 10.

Some years ago two gentlemen were riding together, and as they were about to separate, one addressed the other thus:

"Do you ever read your Bible?"

"Yes, but I get no benefit from it, because, to tell the truth, I feel I do not love God."

"Neither did I," replied the other, "but God loved me."

This answer produced such an effect upon his friend, that, to use his own words, it was as if one had lifted him off the saddle into the skies. It opened up to his soul at once the great truth that it is not how much I love God, but how much God loves me.

Build on the Rock.

We have our days of self-confidence, like Peter on the sea. Wait till God hides himself in the pavilion of cloud; wait till every prop is struck from under; wait till desert and Alpine range confront; wait till noon turns to night, and see if faith and hope still abide. Only buildings rock-founded stand the storm. Virtue is no stronger than the test it will stand. Christian character is what we are with God in the dark.—Bishop Cuttle.

Every one should be polite, and on all occasions; fidelity to the religion of Jesus calls for that. But there are claims higher than the claims of courtesy. It is more necessary to be true and honorable and pure and courageous than it is to be polite. If, for the maintenance of any high standards, it becomes necessary to disturb or displease another, then to the winds with any craven fear of being discourteous. It is better far to wound another's feelings than to wound our own integrity.

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, OFFICE EDITOR.

EDITORIAL COMMITTEE
J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, MARCH 12, 1902.

A SINFUL habit estranges from God. A single act of inward disobedience in thought or will is enough to let fall a cloud between him and us, and leave us cheerless and dark.

WE have received a letter from some brother in Clarksville, Ia., making a request that we would gladly comply with were it not that there is no name signed. Kindly supply this and it will be attended to.

DEVOTION is a general inclination and readiness to do that which we know to be acceptable to God. It is what David expresses when he says I will run the way of thy commandments, when thou hast set my heart at liberty.

"READER, do the duty that is nearest thee—that first, and that well,—all the rest will disclose themselves with increasing clearness, and make their successive demand. Were your duties never so small, set yourself with double and treble energy and punctuality to do them, hour after hour."

"BEHOLD, we count them happy which endure." Jas. v. 11. This shows that there is a sweet and quiet life for all of God's children, could they but fully trust him. A firm and calm conviction that it is with the wind and storm of tribulation that the chaff is separated from the wheat will do a great deal for one. Says the Psalmist, "Before I was afflicted I went astray; but now have I kept thy Word."

THE vexation, restlessness and impatience which small trials cause, arise from our ignorance, forgetfulness, and want of self control; but why the ignorance, when all the instruction we need is at hand? it is because we cannot say as David did, "O how love I thy law." Why the forgetfulness? Because we do not keep in memory the things we have learned,—exercised our memories in the line of divine truth. Why the want of self control? Because we allow self to control us.

Turned Unto Fables.

"They shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables." 2 Tim. iv. 4. This is the inevitable effect of all mere text-taking handling of the Scriptures to the exclusion of topics. The foundation principles of the gospel cannot be discovered in that way. Many practical lessons may be given from an isolated statement of the Scriptures, but it takes gospel to save, and people have to know what the gospel of God's grace offers before they can accept it. The purpose of God in creation and redemption is needed or it would not have been revealed. A connected and historical outline of the nature and of the divine purpose from first to last is given, and therefore necessary. It comes over us with mighty force when we reflect that people everywhere, almost are ignorant of these things. They literally have no connected view of the matter,—no general scheme is before their minds which furnishes an ESSENTIAL PLACE for every book, and establishes a vital connection between all these historical departments of a gradually unfolding and enlarging purpose. Instead of this their first principles begin and end with which they erroneously believe to be one of the most important actualities in the universe, and a matter of the most profound solicitude and design on the part of God, and a thing of the supremest concern on the part of man. Their theories about the soul's divine nature, its capacities, its vast importance, and the immense disproportion of all other things to the soul's greatness which they describe as "ETERNAL AS ITS SIRE," with an immortal destiny before it, in which it will survive the wreck and

WORKING OUT

THE SOUL OF MAN,

CRASH OF WORLDS.

Hence when a speaker or writer begins to describe such a soul he feels that he has a boundless prospect before him, and this lends wings to his imagination, and he soars aloft beyond the bounds of time and space with increasing fervor at every step, carrying all before him by an eloquent and impassioned flattery of its divine powers and divine future in the saved state, and of its final and interminable realizations. We are obliged to say it—this is but a refuge of lies, which is blown away like chaff before the wholesome breezes of the spirit. Take a few robust utterances from it:—"Cease ye from man whose breath is in his nostrils, for wherein is he to be accounted of?" Is. ii. 22. "What is man that thou art mindful of him, or the son of man that thou visitest him." Psa. viii. 4. "Man giveth up the ghost, and where is he?" Job xiv. 10.

UNUTTERABLE AWFULNESS

"WHAT IS YOUR LIFE?

It is even a vapor which appeareth for a little while, and then vanishes away." Jas. iv. 14. "Take no thought for your life, what you shall eat, or what you shall drink." Matt. vi. 25. And this last quotation from the very lips of Christ has more force in it than is ever conceived of by orthodox teachers, for it is in a single breath the completest confutation of all the soul sermons that ever bewitched the pious multitudes since Christ was here."

Creation.

"Most noteworthy in the book of Genesis is the creation of the things which do now appear, which, take notice, were not made out of nothing, as little children are mostly taught in catechisms and Sunday schools. The brooding presence of the spirit, Gen. i. 2, at the very beginning of the six days' work, sufficiently indicates the source of both the power, wisdom and material, out of which and by which every thing was formed; even as it is elsewhere said, "by his spirit he garnished the heavens," and again, as it is said of the Creator—"Father out of whom are all things;" a fact quite as true scientifically as doctrinally. For the spirit is the substratum of all existence, and the ocean of divine energy out of which they have been evolved by the fiat of divine will, and unto which they could all be as easily resolved again, if the Creator so willed. Happily for our prospects it is not his will, for he informs us that it has not been "created in vain," and again, "the earth abideth for ever." These quotations which are only a specimen of many others, utterly annihilate at one stroke the final world burning conflagration of orthodoxy, especially when set side by side with a larger class of testimonies which assigns the earth to the redeemed sons of God, as their everlasting inheritance; as it is written, "the meek shall inherit the earth," and "the righteous shall inherit the land and dwell therein forever."

"What Doth Hinder?"

Among that vast multitude who are without hope and without God in the world, are those who are acquainted with the gospel of the kingdom of God and name of Jesus Christ, who for some reason, have not become heirs to the promises, inasmuch as they have neglected to be baptized into Christ. Whatever may be their opinion of themselves, we are certain that they are "without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel and strangers from the covenants of promise, and without God in the world." Eph. ii. 12. In that condition death must inevitably be their portion,—for ever dead. While upon the earth will be living, throughout eternity, those who have been obedient to the commands of Christ, and have remained faithful to the end. Those who know the truth and neglect to associate themselves with the

HAVING NO HOPE,

CHILDREN OF GOD,

neither love the truth nor love Christ. This may seem a hard saying, but we have the warrant of the Scriptures for saying so. The apostle John saith, "He that saith, I know him (Jesus) and keep not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him." 1 John ii. 4. Jesus himself said, "If ye love me, keep my commandments." John xiv. 15. "If a man love me, he will keep my words." John xiv. 23. "He that loveth me not, keepeth not my sayings." John xiv. 24. Those therefore who do love Christ and do love the truth, will obey his commands, and the first command which they can obey, after coming to a knowledge of the truth, is the one

COMMANDING BAPTISM.

This command was almost the last one given by Christ before his ascension to heaven. "Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit." Matt. xxviii. 19. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be condemned." Mark xvi. 16. The belief must precede baptism, but the

BAPTISM IS INDISPENSABLE

to salvation. Peter on the day of Pentecost said, "Repent and be baptized, every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit." Acts ii. 38. Those whose sins are forgiven can approach God through the mediation of Christ, but those whose sins are not forgiven cannot approach God at all. The remission of sins can only come by faith in the efficacy of

CHRIST'S BLOOD,

and a baptism into Christ's death. It is therefore very important that those who do wish to love the Lord Jesus, and to do his will, and who do wish to be clothed upon with immortality at his return, should be immersed in water in obedience to the command, and thus become "in Christ." We are buried with him by baptism into death, that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so, we also should walk in

NEWNESS OF LIFE.

For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection." Rom. vi. 4, 5 Believing this, the question asked 1900 years ago, nearly, by one who had learned the truth and realized his position, "See, here is water, what doth hinder me to be baptized?" Acts viii. 36, is one of great moment. In this case nothing hindered, and he was baptized straightway. But the question can be answered in many ways. The hindrance to some consists of, perhaps, a pleasure, a sin, or a lust. That is all that prevents them from striving to OBTAIN ETERNAL LIFE.

They cannot give it up, and so they cling to the pleasures of this world, and this takes them to the grave, and keeps them there. "The end of those things is death." Rom. vi. 21. Others are hindered by the riches and the cares of this world, but they also end in death. "Wise men die, likewise the fool and the brutish person perish and leave their wealth to others." Psa. xlix. 10. Those who would indeed follow Christ, must take the advice he gave to the rich young man, "One thing thou lackest, go thy way, sell whatsoever thou hast and give it to the poor, and thou shalt have

TREASURE IN HEAVEN, and come, take up the cross, and follow me." Mark x. 21. Others are blinded by a companion, a mother, a father, a child, a husband, or a wife. Eternal life is not so valuable in their estimation as the favor of their friends. Do they realize what they are losing by thus giving heed to the friends of the flesh? Can it be that they think the smile of a companion is worth more than

GOD'S APPROVAL?

it may be, but if so, such persons are not worthy to be called Christ's. If a man or woman confess Christ they will make themselves enemies. Christ said, "I am come to set a man at variance against his father, and the daughter against her mother, and the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law, and a man's foes shall be those of his own household. He that loveth father or mother more than me, is

NOT WORTHY OF ME,

and he that loveth son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me, and he that taketh not his cross and followeth me is not worthy of me." Matt. x. 35, 36. Those who do give up the friends of this world will reap an abundant reward. Christ has promised it and he will perform it. "Every one that has forsaken houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my name's sake, shall receive a hundredfold, and shall

INHERIT EVERLASTING LIFE."

Matt. xix. 29. It is worth a little consideration,—worth a little thought and calculation, as to what is most to be desired, this life or that which is eternal? When the decision has been arrived at, and the cost counted, let the question, "What doth hinder?" be asked and answered by the casting aside of every weight, and the sin that so easily besets me, including worldly friendship, and let the race for eternal life begin at once. Once more we ask the question, "WHAT DOTH HINDER YOU TO BE BAPTIZED?" And leave you to answer; it is a momentous question.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Jewish Colonization.

Some extracts taken from a Chicago Tribune correspondent is of interest to our readers, as showing the present workings of the Zionist movement, and also where the hindrances to success come from. We do not wish to be understood as wedded to the idea that this Zionist Movement is a measure that God has brought about by which he will cause the "return of the Jews" to Palestine, but inasmuch as we believe the Hebrew race will be led back, and as indications are that the time is due for this to be done, we are bound to follow closely any measure favoring its accomplishment. Following are the extracts mentioned.

Lord Rothschild is President of the Council of the United Synagogue in Great Britain, the Orthodox synagogue, in whose doctrine the restoration of the Jews to Palestine is a cardinal dogma. And members of the Rothschild family figure in the same way as the lay chiefs of the Orthodox Jewish faith in France, in Austria, in Germany, and in Belgium. This being the case, the question is now being put to them, but more particularly to Lord Rothschild in London and to old Baron Alphonse Rothschild in Paris, by their co-religionists, why it is that they so persistently decline to give any countenance whatsoever to the Zionist movement, which, if it had their approval, might now attain its goal.

The Sultan lately has withdrawn the strict prohibition of Jewish immigration into Palestine. Indeed, Dr. Herzl, the leader of the Zionist movement, is now at Stamboul in conference with the Sultan, who specially summoned him to Constantinople. The Sultan has at length realized that Jewish immigration into the Holy Land will not prove inimical to his government or harmful to the integrity of his empire.

Dr. Herzl is already in possession of a couple of million dollars subscribed by poor Jews for the purchase of land in Palestine for settlement by Jewish colonists. It is said that the trustees of Baron Hirsch, in view of the altered attitude of the Sultan, are thinking of devoting the funds at their disposal to directing Jewish emigration from Europe to Palestine instead of making fruitless efforts to find a home for Jewish emigrants in South America, particular in the Argentine Republic.

But as long as the Rothschilds, who by means of their colossal wealth and their co-operation with a network of other friendly financial houses, exercise a unique power in the old world, influencing the destinies of Europe, hold aloof from the Zionist movement and discountenance it, it can never succeed.

As Zangwill says, "the Rothschilds could by a mere nod, by simply expressing their approval of Zionism, solve the problem of the 'Wandering Jew.'" And the question now remains, why is it that Lord Rothschild, in spite of his obligations as lay head of the Orthodox Jewish rite in Great Britain, refrains from giving that nod, and thereby putting into execution the cardinal dogma of the creed of which he is so eminent a member?

At his magnificent house, or rather palace, in Piccadilly, as at his country seat at Tring, and in all the other Rothschild residences in England and on the continent, there is always in a conspicuous place, generally among the cornices, a piece of stone or marble left undressed, uncarved, and in a rough and unfinished state, which by reason of the beauty and splendor of its immediate surroundings, at once catches the eye. This is in compliance, with the rule among all Orthodox Jews, that they should have no permanent abiding place until they are restored to the Holy Land, and this unfinished bit of stone is to mark that the abode is merely temporary and incomplete.

If the Rothschilds are then so Orthodox in these matters, why do not they take steps to give practical expression to that Orthodoxy in the way indicated above. It is all a question of money and of influence. The Sultan, or rather the Sublime Porte, is in the last stage of financial extremity. It has pledged every tangible asset it ever possessed, and has hypothecated pretty well everything excepting the atmosphere. It is the lack of ready cash that is precipitating the revolution now imminent in Turkey and which will involve the partition of the Ottoman Empire and result in a European war.

The acquisition of the greater portion of Palestine through purchase for Jewish immigration would avert this war, preserve the integrity of the Ottoman Empire, and in no wise affect the sovereignty of the Sultan over the Holy Land.

There is no anti-Semitism in Turkey. One never hears of Jews being persecuted there, although more than half a million of them are subject to the Sultan's rule, and while the rich Jews might continue to make their homes in the countries of which they have become honored and useful citizens, the poor Jews from Russia, Roumania, eastern Germany, France, Austria, and from England might find a country in Palestine which their creed has taught them to look upon as the Chosen Land of their race, and which by means of their industry might be converted into one of the most prosperous provinces of the Ottoman Empire—a land flowing with milk and honey.

Original.

Report of Labor.

I closed a two weeks meeting in Tacoma, yesterday, March 2nd. A good interest was shown during these meetings. They resulted in adding about a score to our number, although the exact result is not yet known. Three public workers are included in the accession to our ranks. They are brethren Griswold, Leuttnerr and George. These people with others, having dissented from the churches were combined together in an organization known as "The Gospel Association." While they will still keep up the Association, they will to the number of about twenty, become members of the Church of God. Their disposition to use both the mental talent and their means to advance the gospel is likely to soon put this church in the lead in the Northwest. Church Officers were elected yesterday, as follows:

Nelson C. Griswold, Pastor.

Sylvester Wilkins was re-elected Elder, and Brethren Jaeger and Leuttnerr, Deacons. Meetings will be continued on Sundays at 10:45 and Saturday 7:45, at their Association Hall, Corner of Yakima and 10th St. No better central place can be found in the city. I go today, to try to get a chance to proclaim the gospel in Olympia. Hopefully.

W. L. SKEELS.

Brother Underwood:

I will endeavor to write at least a short account of meetings recently held in Waterville, Wash., by Brother and Sister Woodward, of Dutton, Mich. They began meeting on Wednesday night, January 29, 1902, and closed on Thursday night, Feb. 20th, preaching in all 26 discourses. The meetings were well attended throughout, and the very best attention given. The meetings continued with increasing interest to the close, and many expressed sorrow that they closed so soon. There were four additions to the church and several who had become cold, came back and made confession and expressed a determination to continue faithful to the end of the race, asking the brethren and sisters to aid them in every way they can.

The audiences represented a variety of religious sentiment, and some infidels, while others had given the subject of Christianity or the Bible but little or no attention. All classes considered themselves as individually addressed. The proofs given in the Bible and from authentic historians were convincing evidences of the authenticity of the Bible to those who were willing to accept unimpeachable testimony. One subject was; "What must I do to be lost?" The answer, "Neglecting to obey God, or do nothing would bring that result." Then again the question, "What must I do to be saved?" was so clearly presented that no one need be at a loss to know their duties.

Man's Origin and Nature; Immortality through Christ to be obtained at the first resurrection which will be at the second coming of Christ, when the crown of life will be given to those who are entitled to receive it; The restitution, or one thousand years reign of Christ and the Immortalized saints over Israel and the remnants of the Gentiles, and the final judgment were among the subjects which were ably presented. The meetings have greatly benefitted the church here. The public understand better what we believe and teach, so that much of the prejudice against us has disappeared, and many of the members are better settled in the gospel of the kingdom of God. The truth that we are living in perilous times, is very manifest, and it stands each one in hand to carefully investigate in the light of the Scriptures whether we are in line with the Word of God or not. I would write more about the meetings were it not that my sight is so poor. I trust Brother Underwood will be able to read this. Brother and Sister Woodward are holding meetings now at Wenatchee 25 miles from here, and I hear the meetings are well attended. A large delegation is there from Waterville. Brother and Sister Woodward expect to visit some other places before returning home. Some of their friends in the Pacific Northwest will never forget them while life lasts, as they are capable of doing so much good in the Master's cause. May the blessings of God attend them is the prayer of the Waterville Church of God.

Submitted in hope.

RICHARD CORBALEY.

Service.

Many professing Christians spend too much time looking at other people. They can tell more about the faults of others than they can of their own. They appear to know just what others ought to do but they seem somewhat in doubt about their own duties; in fact they are so taken up with the affairs of their neighbors that no time is left them to attend their own.

Such a course is far from being the proper one for a Christian to pursue. In the face of mere profession, let us remember the words of our Savior, "by their fruits ye shall know them." It is not the business of the Christian to find fault and criticize; he has a higher and more important calling. The gospel of "mind your own business" needs to be enforced and that business is to do the Master's will constantly, and then there will be no time for fault-finding.

Time is too short to waste in useless gossip. Life is too precious to be spent in going from one to another just to tell of some one else's faults. It is time that all such acts should cease by those who profess to be Christ's followers, and their efforts be spent for him rather than against him. If you truly love a person you will never try to injure him, but talking about people's short comings to others does injure them.

The badge of Christianity is love, not for self but for others. The more you love Christ the more you will love those for whom he died. If we love people we shall be interested in them and do all that we can to help them; then our lives will be useful and we shall do something worth doing.

May Christ our Lord help all who profess his name "to work while it is day, for the night cometh when no man can work."—C. F. Ladd in Our Hope.

Plainly Spoken.

I am pained for you who are rich in this world. Do you give all you can? "Nay; may I not do what I will with my own?" you reply. Here lies your mistake. It is not your own. It can not be, unless you are lord of heaven and earth. Who gave this addition to your fortune? Do you not know that God intrusted you with that money for his work? "But I must provide for my children." Certainly. But how? By making them rich? Then you will probably ruin them. "What shall I do, then?" Lord, speak to their hearts, else I speak in vain. Leave them enough to live on, not in idleness, but honest industry. And if you have no children, upon what principle can you leave a groat behind more than enough to bury you? What does it signify whether you leave ten thousand pounds or ten thousand boots and shoes?—John Wesley.

The Religion of Jesus.

The religion of Jesus is a present blessing. It benefits men even now. It does them good in this life. It helps and consoles and enlightens in this present evil world. It gives peace, real soul rest, to the troubled ones. But it takes hold of the future as well as being a blessing in the present. It is a religion of hope as well as of faith. We are saved by hope.

We are looking for the "blessed hope" in the fulness of the great fruition. As another says: "Christianity is essentially a life of hope. It is founded on living hope. The eye of faith looks out for the glorious revelation of Jesus Christ from heaven, ...for the heavenly city of peace, for the precious inheritance, for the new heaven and the new earth."

Notice.

The Conference Board of Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin, will meet in Quarterly Meeting at Lanark, Ill., March 15th and 16th. Cordial invitation is extended to be present Sunday, for a good meeting.

I. M. GLOTFELTY, Pres.

Poetry.

The Restitution.

"The rest, far greater part
Will deem in outward rites and specious forms,
Religion satisfied; truth shall retire
Bestuck with slanderous darts; and works of faith
Rarely be found; so shall the world go on,
To good malignant, to bad benign,
Under her own weight groaning, till the day
Appear of respiration to the just
And vengeance to the wicked, at return
Of him so lately promised to thy aid,
The Woman's seed, obscurely then foretold,
Now amplier known thy Savior and thy Lord;
Last, in the clouds, from heaven to be revealed
In glory of the Father, to dissolve
Satan with his perverted world, then raise
From the conflagrant mass, purged and refined,
New heavens, new earth, ages of endless date
Founded in righteousness and peace and love
To bring forth fruits, joy and eternal bliss.
—Milton.

Communicated.

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

Dear Restitution:

As my time is up to renew I will say we love the paper more all the time. How we look forward to its weekly visit. There are always so many things to inspire us and lift us up to the Divine life, while there are so many things around us which tend to draw us earthward, and how hard it is to get the people interested in these precious truths, how we are repulsed even by professing Christians when we approach them on these things, but when we remember that he who trod the path before us has said, "I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee," his is no fitful companionship, present in prosperity, gone in adversity, he never changes, he is always the same, in sickness and solitude as joy and in sorrow, in life and in death. How blessed to know that if [illegible] indeed his child that there is not an instant that I am without his guardianship and loving care; "Lo, I am with you always even unto the end of the world." My desire is that I may be more faithful and bear more fruit for my Master this year than ever before, as I realize the time is short.

Yours, waiting for the soon coming King.

N. P. & J. B. NELSON.

To the brethren and sisters:

I wish to let those who are interested in the work in this part of the country know that our father, W. L. Skeels, has been here at Troutdale, Oregon, engaged in preaching the gospel of the kingdom. Although none were baptized we still feel that a great deal of good has been done; for the Word has been sown and we have the Bible statement, which never fails, that it will not return to him void. The plan of the ages was mapped out and laid so plain before the people and there was such marked attention and interest shown throughout the two weeks that we cannot feel that it was in vain. We look forward to another meeting in the near future and hope for more direct results.

Ever your Sister in Christ, waiting our coming King.

GRACE LAWRENCE.

Editor Restitution:

The name "Love Feast," is familiar to me as I have been traveling with the Methodists for 50 years. In addition to relating to each other how we felt, we used to drink water and eat a few bread crumbs, with the same solemnity that we commemorated the Last Supper. After the feast we told how we had gotten into the kingdom, and the great conflicts we had experienced with the world, the flesh and the devil, since we became real citizens of the kingdom of heaven, (will there be anything to disturb us in the kingdom?) Yes, we were taught to believe that entering the church and entering the kingdom were one and the same thing. I think all the orthodox churches, so called, teach the same thing now. I do not know why they do it. My Bible is clear on the nature of the kingdom. It says that flesh and blood can not inherit it. The church is only a camp of instruction for such as are counted worthy of entrance into the everlasting kingdom. The apostle in addressing or writing to believers, assures them, that if they do certain things, an abundant entrance will be given them. A kingdom includes a king. Believers may prepare for the righteous reign, but they have no right to begin ruling and reigning in the absence of the King. The Phillipine priests and friars, think it is hard that they are not allowed to rule now. They have been taught that the church is the kingdom, and that the princes in the church need not wait the inauguration of the Anointed One, called the Son of David. They forget that one of the prerogatives of a ruler is to pick out his cabinet and other rulers himself. It might transpire that many who thought themselves first might be last. The great trouble with my church friends is their failure to apprehend the real return of our Savior, Jesus, in great glory, to the scene of his rejection, suffering and crucifixion. They say he has already returned to the hearts of true believers. Well that is surely true. The Holy Spirit does bring him very near to us at times, but this manifestation does not stand for his return, as described in the 25th of Matthew. A few weeks ago a protestant minister, here in Baltimore, objected to the Roman Catholic Church being the whole of the kingdom of heaven, claiming that the Protestant church was a part of it. Now, from my stand-point, neither of them are it, or any part of it. The best of us are only training for it. But, notwithstanding our foolish notion of thinking that drinking water from the same cup, and eating bread-crumbs from the same plate would cause us to grow in brotherly love, I still like to think of the roof-lifting shouts and choruses of 60 years ago. I must say that your Love-Feast in THE RESTITUTION, a great improvement on the old kind. Talking about Jesus and what he has promised to do for us, —raise us up at the last day to die no more. Sober-thinking men and women surely enjoy a theme of this kind far better than shouting about going right into Jerusalem and the grave at the same time.

ISAAC MCCURRY, SR.

Dear ones of like precious faith:

I have been encouraged and made stronger by your kind letters and I feel as if I must add my testimony to the list. I am still pressing toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus, and am looking and hoping for the return of him whose right it is to reign, and he will reign in righteousness. I want to take the Bible as the man of my counsel and live according to its precepts and to grow in grace and knowledge. I want to be more like the blessed Master.

Your Sister in Christ.

S. J. LANDBEAR.

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ:

I wish to say that I am still clinging to the promises made to the faithful ones, and if I continue faithful unto the end I know that I will receive the reward that shall be given to all the faithful ones. May the dear Lord bless you in all your works, is our prayer. Brethren and Sisters, can we not pray, Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth, as it is done in heaven? I am looking for the soon-coming of our dear Lord and Redeemer.

Yours in hope of life eternal.

MR. & MRS. R. WORTHINGTON.

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ:

To all the friends that remember me I would say that I still remember the excellent meetings I enjoyed when I was there. Now I have no opportunity to attend such meetings, or hear from my brothers and sisters, except through THE RESTITUTION. I would love to have a letter from any one of the loved ones especially Auntie Wince. My health is very poor and has been for a long time, am able to set up only a part of the time. There are none of our faith in this city and much of the time I am not able read but little of THE RESTITUTION, but I have kept them carefully and if I knew of any one that would like to read them I would send them. I am still strong in the faith. Should any write to me they can address me at 118 North 2nd St. Arkansas City, Kan.

Your Sister in Christ,

MRS. H. L. VICKERY.

Dear Restitution:

You have been my friend and teacher for many long years, and through all my many trials you have been my guide and companion. Without you I might have drifted away, but you always pointed me aright, thanks to God's chosen ones. I have been in the Shiawassee County House, Mich., for the last five years, but the good, old RESTITUTION came right along and it found from 80 to 60 readers. Every number is worn out by the many readers I think it would be missed more than any number sent out. I am 82 years old, and my life has been prolonged for what purpose I know not.

Yours in hope of eternal life.

CHAS. ANGLE.

Editor Restitution:

As we have been requested, all of like precious faith to testify of our love for the Master, I will say that my faith is growing stronger day by day. I love to read the letters in THE RESTITUTION from different parts of the world, it makes my heart rejoice. I hope and pray that every one of us will be more determined to do all we can for the truth. Hoping to meet you all in the kingdom, we remain yours in hope of eternal life when Jesus comes.

MR. & MRS. ELIJAH TAYLOR.

Brother Underwood:

Please find money to continue THE RESTITUTION for another year. It is my guide, with God's Word, into that straight and narrow way that leads to life. When I look around me it makes me sad to see so many in the broad way, but do not know where they are drifting. I sometimes try to talk with them, as I did but a few days ago. The lady said to me, I will tell you what I believe, so she goes and gets a piece of poetry and reads it, which showed her that she would go to heaven when she died. And so it is the Hymn Book before God's Word.

From your brother in Christ.

IRA R. HALL.

The Two Laws.

"The law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death." Rom. viii. 2.

Scripture study reveals the solemn fact, that the entire race of mankind are subject to either one or the other of these two laws.

In the first place all did pass under "the law of sin and death," and "judgment came upon ALL MEN to CONDEMNATION." Rom. v. 16, 18. The court has rendered judgment and all are condemned under the "law of sin and death." There can be no escape from the condemnation except by a compliance with the terms of "the law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus."

It will be seen that under "the law of sin and death," that "sin" and "death" sustain the relation to each other of cause and effect. This will be observed in Rom. v. 12: "Wherefore by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned."

See also James i. 15: "Sin when it is FINISHED (and not before) bringeth forth death," ("the second death") which is not the natural death common to all.

Rom. vi. 23: "The wages of sin is death."

When "the law of the spirit of life" is complied with, we read that "SIN shall NOT have dominion over you; for ye are not under the law, but under grace." Rom. vi. 14.

When the Scriptures speak of death as resulting from sin, it signifies some thing more than natural death, because we all experience that death just the same, without any regard as to which law we are under.

Jesus says: "If ye believe not ye shall die in your sins." Believers and unbelievers both experience natural death alike. Hence the words "die in your sins;" means something beyond that. With regard to believers Jesus said: "He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live." The phrase "yet shall he live," is not affirmed of those who die in their sins; their death is said to be "like the beasts that perish," which is permanent in its effect.

Thanatos (death) is the antithesis of zoen aionion life eternal. The condition of those under "the law of sin and death," is expressed by the words aionion thanatos, but those under the "law of the spirit of life," by zoen aionion. Herein is the difference.

When the New Testament refers to the future life of the blessed, that life is never described as the psuche—soul or animal life, but is always zoen aionion. Jesus said, "I am the (zoe) life." He is certainly not the psuche —soul or animal life, because that has its origin with Adam, and cannot abide, because it is merely animal life. If a person expires, having only the psuche life, he expires "like the beast," which is not the case with those having the zoen aionion in Christ Jesus.

Jesus says: "If a man keep my sayings, he shall never see death." Is that true? Yes, strictly true. He will see natural death equally with all those who keep not his "sayings." Those who keep his sayings, has the zoen aionion life as well as the psuche life, but those who keep not his sayings has only the psuche life, and when that life goes out, it is all he possesses, and consequently his death must of necessity be "like the beast that perisheth."

Psa. xlix. speaks of the death of such people as being "like the beast that perisheth." But those having the zoen aionion in Christ Jesus, is secured from the death which is "like the beast that perisheth." Hence in that case, he shall never see death," that is, the death which is "like the beast that perisheth."

Again, see Prov. xii. 28: "In the way of righteousness is life, and in the pathway thereof, there is no death."

Is that a fact? Are not the righteous of all ages unto this day, in the grip of death? The text says, "the way of righteousness is life," yes, even a life which knows no end, consequently in that life "there is no death." Apart from "the way of righteousness," the "law of sin and death" is in force; and it is also a truth that in it there is no life.

James says: "Let him know that he which converteth a sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death.' From natural death? No, the converted and unconverted both die alike, so far as the psuche life is concerned, no one are saved from that, be they converted or unconverted. But the Bible does speak of the unconverted as going "to the generation of their fathers," "they shall never see light," "shall remain in the congregation of the dead" "shall perish though they had not been." This is the death which a sinner who has been converted from the error of his way shall be delivered from. He is saved from this, because when he is soundly converted, he has the zoen aionion in Christ Jesus, and death can never hold dominion over such an one.

See John xii. 25: "He that loveth his life (psuche) looseth it, and he that hateth his life (psuche) shall keep it unto (zoen aionion) eternal life."

Similar to the above is Mark viii. 35, 36: "For whosoever will save his life (psuche) shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life (psuche) for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it." Such an one may sacrifice his (psuche) life for Christ's sake, and the gospel, but he will find the (zoe) life, which he can never lose. This is just the same as that quoted from John xii. 25, "He that hateth his life (psuche) shall keep it unto (zoen aionion) life eternal."

Now, it is only those people who have the zoe life hid in Christ, that are assured of a resurrection at the last day. See John vi. 53, 54: "He that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood hath eternal life (zoen aionion), and I will raise him at the last day." The opposite of this must be the case if he has NOT zoen aionion, and that is he will not be raised up at the last day, but as the Bible says they shall be "laid in the grave" "like sheep," and death shall feed upon them, the same as it does upon all animals.

The contrast is forcible, when one who is under "the law of the spirit of life," shall surrender his psuche life, he shall not be laid away "like sheep," because "the spirit of life" is his life policy, it is an assurance, which guarantees a revival from the dead. See Rom. viii. 11: "But if the spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies BY HIS SPIRIT which dwelleth in you." "His spirit" is the vital life-giving force, which "sheep" and those under "the law of sin and death" have not.

Christ is the great magnet, and the magnet will attract to itself only that to which it has an affinity. "The SPIRIT IS LIFE because of righteousness." When a person comes under "the law of the spirit of life," a great affinity exists between such an one, and the one who is "the (zoe) life," and if we continue to "walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit," that affinity grows stronger, and stronger, and in the event of the surrender of the psuche or soul life, he will "quicken your mortal bodies by his spirit which dwelleth in you."

Where a person who has not this life-giving spirit within, when he shall cease to be, there can be no affinity or power of attraction existing between such an one, and the one who is "the resurrection and the life," consequently the death of such an one must of necessity be "like the beasts that perish."

Natural life is the effect of natural law as a cause, and death results from "the law of sin and death," and the new or spirit life, from "the law of the spirit of life," and the quickening power of that law is the "spirit." Will "quicken your mortal bodies by his spirit, that dwelleth in you." The result of this quickening by the spirit, is the birth of the Spirit. If the quickening power of our mortal bodies is the spirit dwelling within, I will ask by what other power can our mortal bodies be quickened if that quickening life-giving spirit does not dwell within? This quickening spirit can never dwell within unless we unreservedly comply with "the law of the spirit of life." We must cease to be in the flesh. Says Paul (Rom. viii 8): "So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God."

We must all recognize the fact that in order to receive the promised future blessedness it is necessary to "please God," and as those who "are in the flesh cannot please God," it will be necessary to cease to be "in the flesh." How can this be accomplished? See Rom. viii. 9: "But ye are NOT in the flesh, but in the spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his," consequently he cannot be the resurrection and the life to such.

The word "spirit" in the Scripture under consideration, relates primarily to a spiritual condition of the mind. See Rom. vii. 25: "I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then with the MIND I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh the law of sin." See Rom. viii. 6: "For to be CARNALLY MINDED is death; but to be SPIRITUALLY MINDED is life and peace."

In order to cease to be "in the flesh," we must be governed by the "law of the Spirit of life," and this requires two things mentioned in Rom. viii. 1: "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are IN Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit."

1. "In Christ Jesus."
2. Walk after the Spirit.

When these are accomplished we cease to be "in the flesh," but are "in the spirit," and have the "spirit," which will "quicken your mortal bodies."

Those two points involve much more than that which appears upon the surface. Space will not permit to enter upon those points in detail at present. I will give a point which will show who are NOT in Christ. There can be no avoiding the conclusion that all who are "without Christ" (Eph. ii. 11, 12) cannot be "in Christ," (Rom. viii. 1) but are "in the flesh," (Rom. viii. 8) even "Gentiles in the flesh," (Eph. ii. 11) "having no hope and without God in the world." "Truly indeed, I say unto thee, if any one be not born of water and spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God." John iii. 5.

The new life is all conditioned on having the Son, those who have not the Son are destitute of the life. See 1 John v. 10-12: "He that believeth not God hath made him a liar; because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son. And this is the record that God hath given to us (aionion zoen) eternal life, and this (zoe) life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath (zoe) life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not (zoe) life." All have psuche life, whether they have the Son or not.

We could hardly expect those who make God "a liar," to be in harmony with God, or to merit the bestowal of the (zoe) life. In what respect did they make God "a liar?" Why because they did not believe the record about the gift of (aionoin zoen) eternal life. God says that this (zoe) life is yet is "in his Son," but they contradict God, and say it is IN OURSELVES personally. And in another respect they make God "a liar," they say all men have eternal life without regard to whether they have the Son or not. God's Word says, "he that hath NOT the Son of God hath NOT (zoe) life." And furthermore, (John iii. 36) "he that believeth not the Son shall NOT SEE LIFE; but the wrath of God abideth on him."

When those people die who "hath not life," and "shall not see life," in what respect does their death differ from the beast, seeing that they possess only the psuche life, like the beast? If people expect the life apart from "the law of the Spirit of life," they deceive themselves, because they are still under "the law of sin and death," and must experience the penalty of that law, as long as they remain subject to it.

W. H. WILSON.

Report of Labor.

On Feb. 11, went to Lake Mills, Iowa, where I began a series of meetings. The first night we had a small attendance. The next day we billed the town and succeeded in getting a good attendance which continued right along until the 20th, when there came a combination of 5 darkies and 5 dogs to town and attracted part of the people away. The next night one of the prominent churches had an attraction at the opera house, and outdid the combination of the night before in putting up a better show. This also took away a goodly number of people, but on Sunday we had a splendid attendance to both services. We met here several of the old brethren and sisters who have been contending for the faith once delivered to the saints for thirty-five or forty years, it seemed good to talk with them of the blessed hope and soon coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus the Christ. Bro. Eychaner came from Eagle Grove on the 18th, and we sowed the Word of the kingdom as faithful as we knew how until Feb. 24, when we closed the meeting and prepared to return home and arrange for meetings elsewhere. On arriving home we found that the evangelist fund had been very kindly remembered by several brethren and sisters, one sister, a widow, to the extent of $30.00. While at Lake Mills we were very hospitably entertained by all, especially Bro. Porter's and Sister Balch's family. We were also remembered liberally in a financial way, and pray God to enable us to use the means wisely in spreading the truth to others. I have heard brethren say so many times, if we could only get people out, and others say there is no use to try to get people out. I would like to say to such, we have had no trouble in getting good crowds to listen to the gospel, and to all such let me say, if you do not think you can get a hearing at your place send in all you feel able to for the Lord's work. Talk about the heathen world being without the gospel, there is almost one million people in the State of Iowa that have never had the gospel preached to them. Are we going to let our light go out in Iowa or make an extra effort to replenish our oil. Brethren and sisters, we need your help, we must go forward or our light will go out. If there is no prospect of getting the gospel before people where you are, there are plenty that will come to hear if there is any one to send. Paul says, "How can he preach except he be sent, and how can they hear without a preacher?" May God's richest blessings rest upon all that we may be more thoroughly united in the faith. Brethren, I feel more convinced every day that we as a people must stand alone in order to keep ourselves unspotted from the world. I believe that every organization in existence must go down when Christ comes. Let us do our best to sow the Word of the kingdom and not become entangled with the affairs of this life that we may be found blameless unto the coming of the Lord.

Yours in hope.

O. J. ALLARD.

Obituary.

Brother Alexander Thomson fell asleep in the Anointed One, and was laid to rest on Feb. 22, 1902. He was born in Scotland in the year 1839; moved to Cleveland, Ohio, in the year 1867. Has resided in the County of Cuyahoga ever since, living on the lot where he died 24 years. He was employed by the Cleveland Rolling Mill Co. nearly all the time since coming to Cleveland, as engineer, until within a short time, when his health failed him. He left a comfortable home, which he and his companion, Sister Thomson, had accumulated, she having been laid away a little over a year ago. They both died in the same month. She dying Feb. 5, 1901, and he Feb. 21, 1902. He had been a faithful and consistent member of the Church of God in Cleveland, Ohio, for about 20 years. His companion having preceded him in the faith. He leaves a family of three children, one son and two daughters, and many friends and neighbors to mourn his loss. His children are all in the faith. The writer spoke words of comfort to the weeping children and friends, basing his remarks on the following Scriptures: Job xiv. 1-15; xvii. 13-16; xix. 23-27; Psa. xvii. 15. He was laid to rest in Lake View cemetery beside his companion to await the trump of God.

J. N. SHOUDS.

THOSE to whom we have sent letters telling about your accounts have not all made response as yet. Brother or Sister, we urge you to be sure and not neglect this matter longer. We want to pay our obligations—this is the reason why we ask you to give us what is due at once. If we could satisfy those we are under obligation to any other way we would not ask you, but as it is the only way we know of, we must hear from you to enable us to do so. We trust all will see the necessity of this and act NOW.

A man who has passed triumphantly through many score experiences, said one day: "I am learning that my peace may be beyond the power of any man to disturb. It is God's gift, and I refuse to allow it to be subject to the will of any mortal. Shall I annul the King's gift because some scullion in his kitchen chooses to be displeased with me? I covet an inner-life, calm and serene, and I know it may be mine, no matter how great its outward tumult may be."

Communicated.

"Church of this World."

In a late issue of the daily Kansas City World, we find this as a news item, Kansas City is to be made the center of agnosticism in the United States, if plans now maturing are perfected. The church of this world will be the nucleus, around which the agnostic church of the country will gather, and its pastor, Dr. J. E. Roberts, will become the head of the agnostic congregations the country over. He will become in name, as he has been in fact, the successor of Robert G. Ingersoll. Unlike Ingersoll, however, Dr. Roberts is to have an organization behind him. The liberalists in religion are to organize the same as orthodox believers. The Kansas city church will be the parent body and Dr. Roberts will go all over the country organizing local churches. Two wealthy men from the east are said to be in Kansas City now ready to back the organization of the agnostic church with ample funds." Then follows about thirty names as directors, a strong team. Assistant pastor to be appointed. When Dr. Roberts leaves to begin his propaganda an assistant pastor will be placed in charge of the local church here. There are several candidates for the place and a young minister of the Christian denomination, in charge of a large church near here, will probably be selected. He will renounce his present faith and declare his adherence to agnostic principles, if given the place. The church of this world has been in existence for five years and Dr. Roberts has been its pastor continuously. He reigned the pastorate of a Unitarian church to take charge of it. This church is the only one in America, so far as known, where no form of prayer whatever is used. The God of this world. Now the old Apostle Paul happened to tell us in an old Book called the Bible, 2 Cor. iv. 3, 4, something about the God of this world. Hear him ye agnostics. But if our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost, in whom the God of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them. And in 2 Thes. ii., the same apostle in correcting the church as both touching the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, warns them against deceivers, and hits them hard. He is no agnostic, he knows what he is talking about. Hear him again, even him whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders, and with all deceivableness of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved. And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie. That they all might be damned who believe not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness. The God of this world and the church of this world must be closely allied. One throws dust and blinds the minds of the others, and causes them to reject and disbelieve the Bible, and the saving truth of the gospel, God's motive power unto salvation to every one who loves, believes and obeys it with a pure heart. The church of this world—the big church has a much larger membership than the Church of God, but it will not always be so. The time hastens when those who reject God and his Word, will cry for the rocks to fall on and hide them.

T. E. ADAMS.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending THE RESTITUTION to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the doners request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

Cynthia Thompson	1.50
Wm Railsback	10.00
Eliza Rahe	5.00
Mrs F H Prentice	.50
Mrs Mary C Smith	.50
E K Barnhill	.50

IF you are anxious about the well-being of some friend and would like to have him see and embrace the truth, subscribe for this paper to be sent to him. It will talk at times and places that you cant. It may make opportunity for you to say a word that will make you friend a joint-heir with the Lord Jesus Christ. It has been done. Why not try it?

Do you like to get THE RESTITUTION each week and read the articles and letters it contains? Did you ever think that your brother who sits near you would get a like benefit and enjoyment if he had it also? Get him to subscribe for 1902. It will cost you very little to ask him, and you may be the means of doing him good.

$30.00 to the Pacific Coast.

Chicago & North-Western R'y; during the months of March and April $30.00 from Chicago to Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Ogden and Salt Lake City; $30.50 Spokane; $33.00 Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Victoria and a large number of other points. Tourist Sleeping Cars daily to the Pacific Coast. For maps and particulars apply to the nearest ticket agent or address A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth ave., Chicago, Ill.—Apr 26

Reduced Rates.

One way second-class colonist tickets to the West and Northwest, will be sold at special fares via Pennsylvania Lines, during March and April, 1902. Particular information about fares, through time and other details will be furnished upon application to Passenger and Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania Lines.—April 30

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, containing 115 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Sitting Bull, Red Cloud and other noted chiefs; Gen. Custer's battle ground, and ten colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1600. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valued contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 25 cents a copy. Mailed postage prepaid on receipt of the amount by W P Kniskern, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar 20.

New Station at Chicago.

Commencing Dec. 29, 1901, all trains on the Nickel Plate Road, during the rebuilding of the Van Buren St. station, will arrive at and depart from the Grand Central station, cor. Fifth Ave. and Harrison St. Chicago.

$33.00 to California, Oregon and Washington.

Chicago & North-Western Ry. from Chicago daily, March and April, only $33.00 for berth in tourist car. Personally conducted excursions Tuesdays and Thursdays from Chicago and Wednesdays from New England. Illustrated pamphlet sent on receipt of two cent stamp by S. A. Hutchinson, Manager, 212 Clark street, Chicago. —Apr 26

Home-Seekers' Excursion.

Low rate Home-Seekers' excursion tickets to the West and South will be sold via Pennsylvania Lines, March 4th, 18th, April 1st, 15th, May 6th and 20th. For fares, through time and other details, apply to Passenger and Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania Lines.—May 20.

Illustrated and Descriptive Booklets Free.

The following excellent publications prepared by the Chicago & North-Western R'y will be sent free to any address upon receipt of postage named.

The information contained therein is of great value to those who expect to travel, either for pleasure or profit. All of the publications are handsomely illustrated with half tone views.

California Illustrated.....	Postage .02
Hunting and Fishing.....	" .02
Colorado Illustrated.....	" 02
Through Picturesque Wisconsin.....	" .02
Beautiful Country near Chicago.....	" .04
Picturesque Milwaukee....	" .02
Opportunities for Business	" .02
Copper and Iron and where they are found.....	" .02
Across Picturesque Illinois and Iowa.....	" .02
Population of cities on the North-Western Line....	" .02
The Indian—The Northwest. A history of the Indian tribes. 50 cts.
New, Mounted U. S. Wall Map, 40x54, in colors. 15 cts.

Address W. B. Kniskern, G. P. & T. A. Chicago & North-Western R'y, 22 Fifth Ave., Chicago.—mar 29

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty-five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rathe and B. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 2:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God at Remsenaer, Ind., meet in their house of worship for the following services: Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Preaching at 10:45 every Sunday in the month except the second. Mattie Benjamin, Sec.

The "Church of God" at Wenatchee, Washington, meet each Sunday at 10 a. m., for Sunday school, preaching at 11 o'clock by Walker Perrine. Prayer and social meet Wednesday evening. Everybody invited to attend and bring your Bible. Meeting at the Hall. H. W. Patterson Elder, Anna Phillips, Secretary.

The Church of God at Burr Oak, Ind. have preaching every 2d and 4th Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and in the evening. Bible meeting every Thursday evening. Samuel Osborne and G. A. Maxey Elders. Sunday School every Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Georgia Osborne Sec. of the S. S. All are invited to any of the services.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by F. L. Austin four Sundays in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

The Church of God Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:00, for devotional services, and would be pleased to have any brethren of the one faith passing through thecity, to meet with us, and they will be cared for by addressing, or calling at Ella V. Baker 209 West Dry St., Salem, Ohio.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

The Church of God meet for preaching every third Sunday, in the Flint School House, in Grant Co., Oklahoma, in J. R. Fisk's neighborhood five miles south and four miles east Caldwell, Kansas. Meeting Saturday night, and 10:00 a. m. Sunday, and also Sunday evening. All are welcome. J. R. Fisk, Elder, S. C. Oliver, Evangelist.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in hall on 3rd. Floor, No. 1281½ Euclid Ave. near E. 13th Ave. Cleveland, Ohio; where all of like precious faith are welcome.

The Church of God near Hillsburg, Ind. meet in their new Church as follows:—1st and 3rd Sundays for Social meeting and communion. The 4th Sunday preaching by A. H. Zilmer of Plymouth, Ind.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock.—Address A. D. Eshelman.

The Church of God at Dixon, Ill., meet every Sunday at 10:30 A. M., in Miller's Hall, Galena Ave., for Sunday School and Bible Study.

The brethren of the Church of God at Bruch Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Kells, Kessler, or John Leban, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Authon, Elder.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eychaner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

The churches at Fishet and Dutton, Mich., have preaching as often as Bro. and Sister Woodward can be present. The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich. have preaching every four weeks. Sunday School at Prairie Grove every Sunday. The Church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. G. Chase.

The congregation at Scholls, Oregon, meet every Sunday for Bible study by means of Sunday School, or preaching, or both, and would be pleased to have all lovers of truth, and brethren from a distance meet with us. The Elder is W. W. Trasdell.

The Church of God, at Niagara Falls, N. Y. meet every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for worship at the Church, on the corner of Cleveland Avenue and 10th St. Welcome all.

The Church of God near Vancouver, Washington, meet every fourth Sunday either at Felida or Lake Shore. The gospel of the kingdom is proclaimed at this place by Elder Edwin E. Groat of Scholls, Oregon. Also occasionally by Elders W. L. Skeels and Wm. Prosser both of Scholls, Oregon. Services at 11 A. M. Social meetings at 3 P. M. Valentine Fike, Sec.

Church of God at Waterloo, Iowa, meet for service every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bible readings and practical talks by the brethren. A. D. Allen in charge.

The Church at Millbrook, Mich. have preaching every four weeks by Brother & Sister Woodward. Sunday School every Sunday. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening. Lorenzo Decker, Elder. Ransom Lake, Sec'y. All lovers of truth are cordially invited to any and all of these gatherings.

The Church of God at Attica, Kansas, meet in their house in the city of Attica for preaching on the 2nd and 4th Sundays o each month at 11 o'clock a. m. All are welcome. S. C. Oliver.

The Church of God of Waterville, Douglas County, Washington, meets every Sunday at 11:00 o'clock A. M. for worship in their new church house on Central Avenue in Waterville, Wash. Brethren and sisters from other places will always be welcome with us. Sunday School at 10:00 A. M., preaching by Elder Richard Corbaley Pastor, or his son A. L. Corbaley, who has been selected by the Church as an Evangelist.

POST OFFICE ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address public ed may have their names inserted here.

J. M. Fike, Phoenix, Arizona.
J. B. Adams, Hamburg, Iowa.
John Compton, Blair, Neb.
S. R. Clinkenbeard, Bonham, Texas.
P. B. Stouffer, Bayard, Iowa.
S. W. & M. A. Woodward, Dutton, Mich.
L. H. Chesebrough, Galesburgh, Mich.
Norton Gould, 4810 Saratoga st, Omaha, Neb
A. G. Winchester, Riverside, Ill.
W. L. Skeels, Scholls, Ore.
S. Roxana Wiese, Pierceton, Ind.
C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
J. S. Hatch, Schrieville Ind.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
J. T. Prine Sr, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Ia.
D. L. Kean, 4507, S. N. St Tacoma Wash.
L. E. Conner, 7 E Fulchild st, Danville, Ill.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. S. Adams, Cherokee, Kan.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, R D 4, Lebanon, Ind.
Daniel Howard Beaver Dam Wis.
A. T. Morris, Arcata, Cal.
J. R. Oglevie, North Branch, Kansas.
W. O. Stella, Fresno, Cal.
E. W. Knapp, Scholls, Ore.
John Foore, 2012 West Corning Ave. Parsons, Kansas.
Miss Emma Jackman, Treasurer "Tithing Society," Rural Delivery, No. 1, Burton Ave. Grand Rapids, Mich.
B. S. Dwiggins, Long Beach Cal.
D. T. Halstead, Remsenaer, Ind.
Elder Richard Corbaley, Waterville, Wash.
C. P. Graham, Box 14, Waynesville, Ill.
Wm. Goin, Jefferson, Ore.
T. F. Cordill, 608 S Main st. South Bend, Ind.
G. W. Smith, Box 153, Hartford, Kan.
Mrs. Dr. Hicklin, Luther, Okla.
M L Adams Corvallis Oregon
Walker Perrine Wenatchee Wash
C. E. Vincent, Grayford, Ind.
John Rock Inwood Ind
J H Willey, No 1205 G P O, Sydney, N S W Australia
John Gregory, 19 Foundry St. Newark, N. J.
Dr. Wallace Mason, 42 Gloucester St. Toronto, Ont.
J. J. Cady, Corvallis, Ore.
J. M. Prinmer, Jessup, Iowa.
John W. Hull, Catoosa, I. T.
J O Haupt, Crowley La
Geo Kidwell St Paul Ark
C E Hatch Tustin Cal
A W Darby Ransom Kan
J W Deffenbaugh Elton Okla
Almira Brooks Scholls Oregon

Scriptures Opened.

A third edition of the above named work is just out, and ready for delivery. This book has been before our readers so long now that its worth is well known. The author is Robert Ashcroft. The price for this edition is put low so that the brethren and sisters can get it to lend to honest enquirers after truth. We hope there are a few who have not turned their ears from the truth to fables. The book will speak for itself in its unfoldings of the purposes and plans of Jehovah, regarding the near future of the earth and its inhabitants. All should be interested in these truths, and those who have never read this book will have a feast. Price 65 cents post paid. Send to this office for them, or orders can be sent to J. O. Woodruff, Elizabeth N. J.

A FREE PATTERN
(Your own selection) to every subscriber. Only 50 cents a year.
McCALL'S MAGAZINE 50 YEAR
A LADIES' MAGAZINE.
A gem; beautiful colored plates; latest fashions; entertaining symposium; fancy work; household hints; fiction, etc. Subscription or, send for latest copy. Lady agents wanted. Liberal terms.
Stylish, Reliable, Simple, Up-to-date, Economical and Absolutely Perfect-Fitting Paper Patterns.
McCALL BAZAR PATTERNS 10¢ 15¢
All Copies Altered and Perfections then the Sewing and Sewing Lines.
Only to and it quote such—some higher. Ask for them. Sold in nearly every city and town, or by mail from
THE McCALL CO.,
113-115-117 West 31st St., NEW YORK.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION, Plymouth, Marshall, Co., Ind."

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money orders, or express orders. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money sent loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended

VANDALIA TIME CARD
In effect Jan. 1, 1902.

Trains leave Plymouth, Ind.,

GOING NORTH.

No. 10, Ex. Sun. For South Bend.....8:40am
No. 14, " " " 12:01noon
No. 8, " " " 10:23pm

GOING SOUTH.

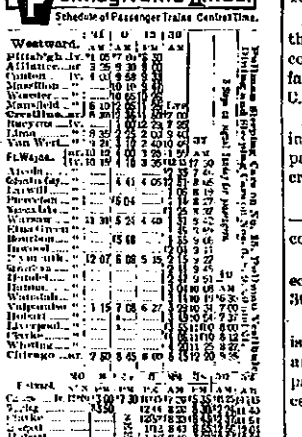
No. 21, Ex. Sun. For Terre Haute.....8:43a m
No. 5, " " " " 12:34noon
No. 9, " " " Logansport.....7:16pm

Trains 3 and 21 run to Terre Haute and connect at Colfax with the Big Four for Indianapolis. Trains 14 and 8 also make similar connections.

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address W. E. Smith Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD,
Gen. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo

Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Dir
Pennsylvania Lines.
Schedule of Passenger Trains Central Time.



Pullman Sleeping Cars to Toledo, Fort Wayne, Chicago, Louisville, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Buffalo, Erie, Rochester, Niagara Falls, Toronto, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Bay City, Mackinac, Petoskey

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

Poetry.

Help, Mighty God.

"Help, mighty God!
The strong man bows himself,
The good and wise are few.
The standard bearer faint,
The enemy prevails.
Help, God of might.
In this thy Church's night"

Help, mighty God!
The world is waxing grey,
And charity grows chill,
And faith's at its ebb,
And hope is withering.
Help, God of might,
Appear in glory bright!"

Communicated.

"Not of this World."

"My kingdom is not of this world." John xviii. 36.

The above declaration of Jesus is accurately true in several aspects.

1. The POLITICAL arrangement of things which govern the make-up of the kingdoms of this (kosmos) world, are decidedly antagonistic to the Divine plan, and while they so remain, the two elements could not amalgamate.

2. The SOCIAL order of this kosmos, could not enter into, or harmonize in any way, shape or manner, with the social order upon which the kingdom of Jesus will be founded.

Jesus did not say, (as many infer that he did) "My kingdom is not of this (ge) earth," but "my kingdom is not of this (kosmos) world." See Rev. v. 9, 10: "Hast made us unto our God kings and priests; and we shall reign on the (ge) earth," but not in the present kosmos, because it is "not of this kosmos."

Those people who base their convictions upon tradition affirm that his kingdom will neither be of this kosmos, nor upon this (ge) earth, and hence sing:

With thee we'll rise, with thee we'll reign,
And kingdoms gain beyond the skies.

A Bible student suggests the following change, that it may better harmonize with emphatic declarations of Holy Scripture:

We ne'er will rise, we ne'er will reign,
Nor kingdoms gain beyond the skies;
But on the earth we'll live and reign,
For this our Savior did proclaim.

Those who shall live and reign with the Savior, cannot reign in heaven, because we read, "the Lord shall be King over ALL the earth." The word "earth," in Zech. xiv. 9, is from the Hebrew eretz, and means land.

"Thy kingdom COME, thy will be done on the (ge) earth, as in heaven." Matt. vi. 10.

"Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the (ge) earth." Matt. v. 5.

While it is very clear that Jesus' kingdom will be on this (ge) earth, it is also equally as clear, that it could NOT be of this kosmos. It could not be formed out of, or exist under the present order of things.

The kosmos of the coming age will abide forever, but this kosmos shall pass away.

See John ii. 17: "The world (kosmos) passeth away and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth forere."

Consult Eccl. i. 4, and you will find a declaration that the (Hebrew eretz) "earth abideth for ever."

The characteristic of the kingdoms of men is found to be a lack of righteousness; misrule obtains in every direction, and a lack of righteous judgments is seen everywhere.

But with regard to the coming reign of Jesus, it is said: "Behold a king shall reign in righteousness, and princes shall rule in judgment," which will contrast strongly with the kingdoms of this kosmos.

It is not only true that the kingdom of Jesus is not of this (kosmos) world, but also that his people who are now in training for the (kosmos) world to come, are not of this (kosmos) world; if they were, they could not possibly be of any service in "the (kosmos) world to come." See John xvii. 14: "I have given them thy Word; and the (kosmos) world hath hated them, (why?) because they are not of this (kosmos) world, even as I (personally) am not of the (kosmos) world."

Jesus not only said, my kingdom is not of this kosmos, but he said also, "I (myself) am not of this kosmos." It is even emphatically so, with regard to the followers of Jesus; not a single one of them can be recognized as an accepted follower of Jesus, while they themselves personally form a part of THIS kosmos. See verse 16: "They are not of the (kosmos) world, even as I am not of the (kosmos) world."

I sometimes feel fearful that there are so many who profess to be followers of Jesus, who are making a serious and fatal error, right at this point. I cannot conceive how any person can lay any claim to not being of this kosmos, while at the same time they are engaged with the children of this kosmos, in both the social and political practices of this kosmos. So closely do some of the professors follow the practices of the kosmos, that the children of the present kosmos do not discern that they do not belong to the same kosmos, with themselves.

Take for example the political systems of this kosmos. Every person who is properly instructed in the principles of the kosmos which is to come, know how utterly antagonistic the one is to the other.

Jesus said, "If my kingdom were of this (kosmos) world, then would my servants fight," etc. But seeing that it was not of this kosmos, they are not going to "fight;" the children of this kosmos must be left to do their own fighting, both on the battlefield, and in the political arena; while as to the social matters pertaining to this kosmos, the line of separation must be clearly drawn.

Jesus, speaking of those who have separated themselves from this kosmos, says: "The kosmos hath hated them, because they are not of this kosmos, even as I am not of this kosmos." They were hated because they were not hail fellows well met in the same kosmos. What was the difference? How did the children of the kosmos know that fact that they should hate them on that account?

To illustrate, personally, I claim not to be of this kosmos; now I ask, how is that fact to be known? As before said, this kosmos is primarily made up of its political and social order or arrangement of things. Now, suppose I should enter the caucus of some political party with all the enthusiasm of a politician of this kosmos, to boom the interests of my favorite candidate, and should engage in all the dishonorable practices of this kosmos to gain my point; and afterwards enter the canvas, and discuss some party issue, like free trade, free silver, etc., and try to show that if these issues are carried, a condition of affairs will result which will right the wrongs of the world. Now, I would ask, how could the children of this kosmos know that I do not belong to their kosmos, and "hate" me, because I do not, if I am a fellow well met with them.

Now, suppose I should also enter the social arrangement of this kosmos, and join in their various clubs, play cards, and go with them to the theatre, etc., how are they to know that I do not belong to their social kosmos, and "hate" me, because I do not? Now, suppose I should also gratify my fleshly desires, like the children of this kosmos do, by drinking liquor, and smoking and chewing tobacco, etc., how are the children of this kosmos to know that I am not of their kosmos, and hence vent their "hate" upon me, because I do not follow their fleshly practices.

Is not the use of tobacco a fleshly lust, as opposed to that of the Spirit? When you take a chew of tobacco, can you ask God's blessing upon it? If you decide that you cannot consistently do so, then your conscience tells you that you are doing wrong, and you know it. When you light a pipe or a cigar, can you ask God to bless the smoke you are going to take? If you cannot smoke a pipe to the glory of God, you must know it is altogether wrong, and that it belongs to the children of this kosmos, and not to those who are not of this kosmos, even as Jesus was not. We must not forget that, "He that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin: that he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh, to the lusts (desires) of men, but to the will of God. For the time past of our life may suffice to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revelings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries; wherein they (the children of this kosmos) think it strange that ye run not with them to the same excess of riot, speaking evil of you, (hate you) who shall give account to him who is ready to judge the quick and the dead." What kind of an "account" can those who serve the flesh give?

It is very inconsistent to make profession of not being of this kosmos, and at the same time act like the children of this kosmos do. 1 John xi. 15-17, shows clearly that there must be a clear-cut distinction, no compromise is admissible. Things which relate to the flesh and Spirit will not blend.

John says: "Love not the (kosmos) world, neither the things that are in the (kosmos) world. (Why not?) If any man love the (kosmos) world, the love of the Father is not in him." Then, if we do love this present kosmos, and the things that are in the kosmos (which are primarily the social and political order of things) we must forever part company with the love of the Father.

Consult 1 John ii. 16, and you will learn that the things of this kosmos are summed up under three divisions.

1. "The lust of the flesh."
2. "The lust of the eyes."
3. "The pride of life."

The above are leading features of this kosmos, as far as they pertain to the children of this kosmos.

The political kosmos of this age is no better than the social features of the kosmos. Hence Jesus said: "My kingdom is not of this kosmos," and never can be, but it will eventually give way to, and be absorbed by the kingdom of Jesus, and "the kosmos to come." See Rev. xi. 15: "And the seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, the kingdoms of this kosmos are become the kingdom of our Lord, and of Christ; and he shall reign forever and ever." The kingdom of Jesus will then be on this (ge) earth, but will not be of this kosmos. Jesus says: "To him that overcometh (this present kosmos) will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne."

It is not possible for any one to indulge in the social and political pollution of this kosmos, and also reign with Jesus in "the kosmos to come."

Take for instance "the lust of the flesh," when a person who claims to be dead to this kosmos, and aspires to the glories of the age to come, and is known to indulge in "the lust of the flesh," in the matter of the use of tobacco, the evil is not confined to himself, because he becomes a stumbling-block to others, especially to young men, who have not as yet formed fixed habits.

They see this professing Christian smoking tobacco, and he says to himself, I saw Mr. ——— smoking; he professes to be a Christian, and is a church member, and yet he smokes (defiles the temple); and he reasons if it is right for him to do so, it is for me also. Such a professor is not only responsible for his own personal pollution of the flesh, but also the evil he does as an example. If a professor of Christianity thinks he can indulge in the evils of this kosmos, and expect an approval in the kosmos to come, he is only deceiving himself. "Unspotted from the world," is the brand of a true believer. None other is the genuine article.

Above all other people, it seems to me, that those of the "faith of Abraham," should maintain a much higher, and a more correct standard of life in this present kosmos, than any other class of people that I know of. The more exact light they possess with regard to the future, and the final destiny of this kosmos, should certainly have that effect. The rich inheritance involved in the promises made to Abraham and his Seed, and to all who are Christ's, is so glorious, that no one can afford to jeopardize them by the fleshly indulgences of this kosmos. We have also the promises of divine aid in overcoming the fleshly temptations of this kosmos. "Having therefore, these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God."

Peter realizing the necessity of putting away all fleshly lusts, so lovingly entreats believers to put them all away. He says: "Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts which war against the soul," (life—life to come).

No believer can indulge in the practices of this kosmos, and inherit the blessings of the kosmos to come. Let no one presume upon compromise, the two cannot be amalgamated.

W. H. WILSON.

Faith and Works. No. 2.

Christ foretold these things, and they are one of the plainest signs of the times. In that day, when Christ comes "many will say unto me, Have we not done many wonderful works in thy name? then will I profess unto them, I know you not, depart from me, ye workers of iniquity."

Done in his name, without knowing him—these healers have absolutely no true knowledge of him whom the Father sent, or of his work; they, perhaps without exception, believing in the immortality of man, independent of the work of Christ, the Life Giver; in that God-dishonoring doctrine of substitution, and that the last enemy is the door to heaven. They know nothing of restitution, spoken of by all the holy prophets, and do not understand or believe the true gospel of the kingdom. Hence they do not, and cannot have faith that comes by hearing and understanding the Word, the saving faith that is the gift of God, but only human faith.

Compare the fruit of the various kinds. The Romanist, with his assumed relics of saints, do marvelous works; hundreds are cured. Yet for each one there are many more failures. The hypnotist, and smaller scale, does equally well. These so-called Christian scientists, and divine healers, and the numerous other workers of miracles, do wonderful works "in his name," and make many failures. Faith is the necessary element in all cases. It matters not how great the humbug is, like the doctor's bread pills, if only faith is inspired, marvelous results will often follow.

I do not claim that these works are necessarily wicked, only when false claims are made. We are certain that such faith is purely human, and not that which springs from a knowledge of God; and that all who thus deceive themselves and others by such false claims, are "workers of iniquity," as referred to in Mat. vii. 22, and that these things, cropping out as they do now, really are signs of the times.

The distinction between what I call human faith, such faith as the natural man, or a babe in Christ can exercise; and the faith which Jesus compares to the mustard seed, which his disciples did not have, but only Christ himself, and which no man has yet had or can have, until they come to his stature, marks the distinction between our condition while we "live by the faith of the Son of God," and that of our condition when we shall live by our own faith.

Human faith can be inspired by almost any one, in almost any thing, without regard to its truth or falsehood; is, with us, a necessary factor in working cures; and even with Jesus it was an important, though not a necessary factor. He could work independent of their faith, because he could control inanimate nature. But for some reason, he preferred to work in harmony with their faith. At his own home where he was taken for the carpenter's son, "he did not many mighty works," because of their unbelief.

Their faith, what little they had, was purely human; and yet, then as now, it would work cures. The woman that touched the hem of his garment, is an example, for she said within herself, If I may touch his garment I shall be whole. Mat. ix. 21. It was not Christ, but her faith, that cured her. There was virtue in Jesus, but not in his garment, any more than in an uninspired prayer, or a supposed bone of a dead saint. It matters not what inspires the faith, in this class of cures; an unwavering belief in the power inherent in the object, or in the formula, gives control to the mind over the body, to a wonderful extent. Jesus said "Daughter, be of good comfort, thy faith hath made thee whole."

When shall we do the works that Jesus did?

When we come to his stature, I answer. When we have life and that faith by which we can live, or maintain life, while yet in the condition of corruptible man, even as was Christ. It is during this period of conditional life, that we live by our faith, and overcome; that is, live sinless, and obey the law ordained unto life.

"This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith." At the end of this probationary period, Christ gives us to eat of the tree of life, after which we shall have life in ourselves, even as he has life in himself; then we can die no more.

During this period, having come to his stature, we shall do works such as he did; and he will be glorified in his saints, and marveled at, in all them that believe in that day.

The question will present itself: Shall we remain in our present surroundings, during the three years, or shall we be excluded from the world? I do not know at the present time, of any scriptural answer. Christ mingled with the multitude; but John did not. I cannot believe we shall remain in family relations with unbelievers, but a complete control of both mind and matter, and power to discern the thoughts, such as Christ had, will surround each one with a charmed circle, so to speak, unto which no outsider will venture to intrude. This alone would separate them from the world, even if they remained scattered as they now are. But I am more inclined to the belief that we shall desire to congregate, if not all together, at least into companies where "they can speak often one to another," as referred to in Mal. iii. 16–18.

The body at that time are not fully accepted by the Lord of hosts; they must first pass their probation; a book of remembrance is kept, and "I will spare them as a man spareth his own son that serveth him." Spare them in the evil day when a thousand shall fall at their side, etc. Then shall ye return and discern between righteous and wicked.

When quickened by the Father, and thus coming to the stature of Christ, there will certainly be a great gulf between them and the rest of mankind, so that they can no longer mingle on terms of equality.

Now we have only human faith such as can be inspired in many ways in the natural man, and live spiritual life, such as it is, by faith of the Son of God. If we have no faith of our own, by which to live the divine life, we certainly have none by which to do mighty works on that plane. Hence, no one has yet had what, to distinguish it from human faith, I call divine faith, even as a grain of mustard seed. And as we live by his faith, so all our prayers, if answered, are answered because of the Spirit's intercession.

When quickened and justified we are to live by our own faith, as a new born child lives by its own breath. That is the beginning, the mustard seed condition which, when grown, is the largest among herbs.

But even as a seed, "ye shall say to this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place, and it shall remove." Mat. xvii. 20. I think we shall then do such works as he did, for faith without any works is dead.

These are my convictions on this subject, drawn from God's word, and are submitted in love.

As ever yours in hope of life when Jesus comes.

JOHN FOORE.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the Kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

"The Restitution of all things Which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME LI. Read X PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, MARCH 19, 1902. NUMBER 11.

OUR LETTER DRAWER.

Dear Restitution:

We feel that we could not do without the dear old paper. We so much enjoy reading the letters of all those of like precious faith, who are still waiting for our soon coming King. We add our testimony to the household of faith. It has been almost a year since we had the pleasure of being with the brothers and sisters at Cleveland, but we are hoping for an opportunity to be with them some time in the near future. The kindness of our Heavenly Father has brought us through all the difficulties of the past year. We can only trust and pray that the kind Father will guide and protect his children from the trials and temptations of this life. May we all so live that when our dear Father gathers his little flock unto him that we may all be found ready. We ask an interest in all your prayers.

Your Sisters in Christ,
MRS. MARY SMITH.
MRS. LIZZIE WATKINS.

Dear Brethren and Sisters:

In thinking over our little letters which we love to read in our good old paper, THE RESTITUTION, we find that most of the writers of them seem very anxious for the coming of the Lord. This is as it should be, for we are admonished to pray for the kingdom to come and when it does come we feel and know that the Lord will be here with us judging the world in righteousness. But while we are awaiting that time let us find the golden side of this present time. There is many a rest on the road of life, if we would only feel that we had time to stop and take the rest needed. One need not hurry along with no time for innocent enjoyment. There are many flowers that might be picked and enjoyed if our cares and fancied troubles would let us gather them, flowers too, that bloom for us by the will of the Father's hand. To the sunny soul that is full of hope, and whose trust has never failed, the grass is ever green and the flowers ever bright, as it were, though wintry storms prevail. It is much better to hope on though the clouds should hang low. Be sure to keep the eyes lifted because of the sweet blue sky which will soon peep through, when the clouds which often look so ominous are rifted. Surely there never was a night without a day, never an evening without a morning. The proverb says, "The darkest hour is just before day." How true it is. I at least have often found it so. We often pass many a gem in our path of life as we go on in our idle pleasure, and never know what might have been and still sigh for things that to us would be far richer than a jeweled crown, or the hoarded treasure of the miser. To the mother it may be the love of a little child. To the child it may be a mother's prayer, and sometimes when we feel that our opportunity is passed for doing the good that we intended to do, we feel to mourn because of our neglect and procrastination. So, dear brothers and sisters, scattered though we be, let us in the future try to see the golden side of life. Do not murmur and complain and feel that the Lord delayeth his coming. Let us wait for the Son from heaven and in the waiting time do the work that he has left us to do, that the world may be better because of our labor of love. Some of us may say, What can I do? Other people have more talent than I. That may be so, yet a kind word—for "a word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in a picture of silver," a cup of cold water, a bright smile even, often can make a heart glad. You know it takes many little things to make up the whole.

Yours waiting for the kingdom of God.

MRS ALMIRA BROOKS.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

The Restitution.

A. R. UNDERWOOD, Office Editor.

Editorial Committee.
J. H. WILLEY,
W. D. THOMPSON,
WM. RAILSBACK.

M. JOBLIN, Special Contributor.

Plymouth, Indiana, March 19, 1902.

As there is but one hope, Eph. iv. 4, and that the hope of eternal life at the second coming of Christ, Titus i. 2; ii. 13; iii. 7, what right has any one to teach that men have eternal life now?

As Paul says, "Jesus Christ shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom," 2 Tim. iv. 1, how can any one be rewarded or punished before Jesus "appears in his kingdom?"

As the Thessalonians when converted to God from idols, to serve the living and true God, and to wait for his Son from heaven, 1 Thes. i. 9, 10, how is it that Protestants and Catholics are to be taken to God's Son in heaven?

Solomon says, "Knowledge causes a man's face to shine." There is a great difference between mere imitators, and those who speak from the heart,—between such as aim to please men and those who seek to please God; between professional garnishers of accepted principles, and those who draw the living water from the primeval rocks. This was the difference between Jesus of Nazareth and the scribes and Pharisees, and which astounded the multitude, not only by what he said, but also his manner of saying it. "He taught as one having authority, not as the scribes."

Good Works.

"Is not this the fast that I have chosen? to loose the bonds of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye break every yoke? Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house? When thou seest the naked, that thou cover him; and that thou hide not thyself from thine own flesh? Then shall thy light break forth as the morning, and thine health shall spring forth speedily; and thy righteousness shall go forth before thee; the glory of the Lord shall be thy reward. Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answer; thou shalt call, and the Lord shall say, Here am I. If thou take away from the midst of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the finger, and speaking vanity." Isa. lviii. 6-9.

Stand by the Truth.

What is it to stand by the truth? It is more than to have learned it, and allied one's self with those who have done the same thing, and to be ready at all times to argue in defence of it, and produce Scriptural warrant for every item of his belief. Many an intellectual scamp has done that to the detriment of the truth. That is not standing by the truth. We will let him who is the very embodiment of the truth tell us what it is to stand by the truth,—that is, what it is to stand by him,—be his friend, and truly witness for him under all circumstances; he says,—"Ye are my friends, if you do whatsoever I command you." If words mean what they say here, those who know the truth but do not obey it are his enemies. See John xv. 14. Again he says, "If ye know these things, happy are ye, if ye do them." John xiii. 17. It is essential to know them, but if they are only known that will not bless any one; they only are blessed who both know and do them. Again, "He ye doers of the Word, not hearers only, deceiving your own selves." Jas. i. 22. What experience we have had in connection with the truth, proves to us that self deceived people are the hardest of all to move; utterly useless to labor with them, generally. Once more, "He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar." 1 John ii. 4

"Human Associations."

Ruskin says:—"Put the fine dresses and jewelled girdles into the best group you can; paint them with all Veronese's skill; will they satisfy you?"

"Not so. As long as they are in their due services and subjection—while their folds are formed by the motion of men, and their lustre adorns the nobleness of men—so long the lustre and the folds are lovely. But cast them from the human limbs—gold circlet and silken tissue are withered,—the dead leaves of autumn are more precious than they.

"This is just as true, but in a far deeper sense, of the weaving of the natural robe of man's mind. Fragrant tissue of flowers, golden circlets of clouds, are only fair when they meet the fondness of human thoughts, and glorify visions of heaven.

"So far as in it lay, this century has caused every one of its great men, whose hearts were kindest, and whose spirits most perceptive of the work of God to die without hope:—Scott, Keats, Byron, Shelly, Turner. Great England, of the iron-heart now, —not of the lion-heart. For these her children an account may perhaps be one day required of her. She has not read often enough that old story of the Samaritan's mercy. He whom he saved was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, the accursed city. He should not have left Jerusalem. It was his own fault that he went out into the desert and fell among thieves, and was left for dead. Every one of these English children, in their day, took the desert by-path as he did, and fell among fiends—took to making bread out of stones at their bidding, and then died, torn and famished. Careful England, in her pure, priestly dress, passing by on the other side. So far as they are concerned, that is the account we have to give of them.

"It is strange that the last words Turner ever attached to a picture should have been these:—

"The priest held the poisoned cup."

Compare the words of 1798 with those of 1850."

The Soul of Man.

A correspondent sends us the following clipped from the Buffalo Review:

Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst has said many good things in his recent deliverance upon the subject of the soul's possible mortality. He said among other things:

It appears to be imagined that if one can get past physical death without his soul ceasing to exist, the everlasting duration of his soul's existence is thereby insured. That is taking a good deal for granted.

The very expression "a live soul" is rather immediately suggestive of a dead soul; and there is a great deal in the Bible even about dead souls, souls that have been alive, but have died. "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." "Sin when it is finished bringeth forth death"—not the death of the body, but the soul's death. "The wages of sin is death." I assume that these expressions mean what they say. A live thing will live just so long as the conditions are kept up that its life depends upon.

There is nothing in Scripture or in things that encourages us to feel that a soul can be kept from dying any more than a body unless it is taken care of.

There is no warrant from Bible or from nature for supposing that a soul carries within itself a policy of insurance against its own eventual obliteration.

We may be immortal, but if we prove to be such it will be because we have succeeded in being such. It may be that eternity is the normal period of a soul's life. So threescore and ten or fourscore years is the normal period of the life of the body, but a great many bodies die before that time. A body that does not have excellent care taken of it is almost certain to die a good while before. A soul that does not have good care taken of it is similarly likely to die a good while before eternity ends.

In this I am not extemporizing anything, but simply reasoning from the analogy of nature and from the intimations of God's word. If it is the intention of nature that a soul should reach that spiritual longevity expressed by the word "eternal," the soul will have to pay for the superb prerogative by fulfilling the conditions and taking good care of its spiritual health. Once you begin to respect the intimations of nature and to regard the suggestions of God's word you discover that while the mere doctrine of immortality may be settled by philosophical or theological argumentation the question whether you personally will be immortal is going to be settled by you.

The only certain security against the soul's death is in its possession of ingredients that are of such sort that death has no relevancy to them. Merely stopping once in awhile in the midst of our hurry and pathetically wondering whether everything does not leave off at the graveyard is a mode of procedure that we should call silly if it were not so common.

We ought certainly to spend as much thought and effort in getting ready to be immortal as we spend in getting our bodies ready to survive to threescore and ten.

Our souls will doubtless live as long as there is in them enough of what we may call spirit life to overcome the menacing influences to which, whether this side of the grave or another, the soul is liable.

We give place to the above because it has been brought to our attention several times, and numbers of our exchanges have made favorable mention of this action of Mr. Parkhurst, seeming to carry the impression that he has made a long step in the right direction. It has never seemed to us to be a very great advance that he has made. This gentleman has evidently made no change in his conception of what "the soul of man" is. He still holds to the "dual" nature of man—that man is possessed of a "soul" that lives independently of, and presumably after, the death of the "man." He is just as far as ever in the dark and among the bats and moles on "the nature of man." He has only grasped the theory of the possible "sickness unto death" of this "other" man—this immaterial, invisible, untangible being that is in the body—yet not a part of it, but separate and distinct from it. He has just simply conceived the idea that "it" can get sick and die if not taken care of, just as the "man"—the body—can. He is yet in the class of "blind leaders of the blind" and the result of following him will be the same as before he evolved this theory—"both fall into the ditch."

No, no, brethren, the Rev. Chas. H. Parkhurst does not yet understand the A B C of what the Word of God teaches concerning the nature of mankind, so do not become lifted up with any false hope on his score, and do not be led into accepting any part of his new theory. It is just as far wrong as his old position—both are contrary to God's Word.

"The Mormon Waterloo,—being a condensed and classified array of testimony and arguments against the false prophet, Joseph Smith, his works and his church system and doctrines, based upon standard history, science, and the Bible, and Smith against himself." This is the title of a book of 160 pages, bound in cloth, written by W. L. Crowe. It seems that Brother Crowe has studied the Mormon question and held debates with some of their men, and has now condensed the whole matter as much as possible, and this little book is the result. It occurs to us that it would have been wise to have had some bound in a cheap paper cover, at a lower price, so that more could have the work. This edition is limited and should all be sold very soon. The price is 75cts. a copy or four for $2.00, and can be ordered from C. E. Crowe, at St. Paul, Neb.

Original.

To the loved ones greeting:

Our deep affliction in the death of our beloved daughter Cora has called forth so many kind letters of sympathy from those who act in obedience to that divine injunction to "rejoice with them that rejoice, and to weep with them that weep," to all of which we hereby extend our thanks for the kind tender words of consolation that touch the hearts of those in deep affliction. Yes, loved ones, with tear-blinded eyes and hearts full of choking sobs we read your sweet messages of love, and while they cannot pluck from the heart its deep grief they help us to bear this bitter trial, for you all point us to the only consolation that can sustain and comfort us when the heavy hand of death holds in his icy grip a loved child. Cold and cheerless infidelity has said, "It is hard to guild a grief with words," but the triumphant declaration of the inspired Paul is, "Comfort one another with these words." O precious and never have they seemed so full of comfort as when we looked for the last time, this side of the coming of our blessed Lord, upon the pallid face cold in death's chilling embrace, and said with hearts bursting with grief, "Good by Cora, until Jesus comes." Our words we know fell upon ears that heard us not, the responsive voice came not from those cold lips that had so often filled our hearts with the sunshine of that loving heart now stilled in death. After having read to her one of her favorite chapters (Psalm xxxvii.) a feeble arm was put lovingly around my neck and whispered in weak accents, "Dear kind Pa, you have been a loving father to me, and I am unworthy of your love." "No," said I, "my love has been only that of a human father. I have often erred in judgment, have in many instances failed to do my duty, but the dear Father in heaven never erred in judgment, in all his dealings with his children, pure and unselfish love prompts every act. If imperfect human love can call forth such gratitude, what words could express our love for him whose love is a boundless ocean, fathomless and shoreless.

The divine principle must operate as leaven in the human heart to bring it into harmony with him of whom it is said, "God is love." This sweet principle like the sun's rays radiates in every direction, it includes not only the human race but the lower order of God's creation. We remember the strength of Cora's warm, loving heart that seemed to attach her to all the creatures about her, they were her pets to whom she gave names and upon them lavished her kindness. To her mother she once said, "Why do so many people come to me to unburden their sorrow?" To which her mother replied, "Because your sympathies are easily called forth, and this is what troubled hearts desire."

O loved ones, will you kindly bear with us, if in the fulness of our affection for a loved and only daughter we seem to be too lavish in our praise, it is the out-gushing of the human heart toward her of whom, from a human standpoint, we truthfully say she was the "sun shine of our household, the joy of our human lives." And now what is left to us? A season of grief, a thousand things to recall the happy social ties that have been so rudely broken by the relentless enemy, the memory of the tender loving words that so often lightened life's burdens. Yes, these are left, but with them we must place the kind sympathetic hearts of those of like precious faith, their tender, thoughtful acts of kindness, an only son that we earnestly hope and pray may be spared as the staff of the closing days of life and who may yet accept the blessed truth, and secure the blessed hope of life through our blessed Lord. And above and beyond all these towers like the mountain above the plain, the exceeding great and precious promises, now doubly precious to us in this hour of affliction. While these precious promises have been the foundation of our hope for almost half a century, and while the writer has on many occasions pointed the sorrowing ones to them for consolation, now they come to us and we fully realize their value, and to us they are indeed precious.

To those not personally acquainted with the case, I will say that our daughter has been for years afflicted with a deranged condition of the heart that we knew rendered her tenure of life very uncertain, this condition resulted in a paralytic stroke January 25, involving the entire left side. For fourteen days and nights we fought with all the aid that medical skill and careful attention of kind friends could do to prolong the brittle thread of life, but alas, the enemy gained the victory. But thanks be to God there is a victory awaiting all who sleep in Jesus. The conqueror is to be conquered. O then let us patiently submit, let us bow in humble submission to the decree that "Death passed upon all." Yes, in one vast sepulchre lie in mingled confusion all ages, all conditions, but there is to be a resurrection "out from among the dead ones."

As the disease progressed her physical strength was not sufficient to throw off the mucus and we momentarily look to see life end by the horrors of strangulation, but we were spared this terrible ordeal, as a second stroke on the morning of Feb. 7, came as sudden as the lightning's flash and without even a struggle or convulsive movement of a muscle our darling fell into that quiet, dreamless sleep that can only be broken by the Life-giver. Constant attendance at the bedside of the loved one added to an already enfeebled condition completely prostrated my dear wife, too feeble to attend funeral services, is now after almost a month able to be up part of the time. O for that land where the inhabitant will not say I am sick. Now they are going down into the valley, the deep, dark valley, but with David let us say, "I shall be satisfied when I awake with thy likeness." Yes, as the fiercest storms of winter do not prevent the budding spring, the growing summer nor fruitful autumn, death cannot defeat God's purposes, as the intense cold of winter has arrested all vegetable life, so the grave seems to have swallowed up all hope of a future life, but see how quickly the genial rays of the sun warm into vigorous life the tender bud, so will the warm rays of love radiating from the "Sun of righteousness" cause the righteous dead to spring into immortal life. O then let a universal prayer ascend from all who love his appearing, "Come Lord Jesus, come quickly."

In conclusion, dear ones of like precious faith, whose tender messages of love have come to us from the great Pacific coast and almost from the Atlantic, will you each consider this as a personal letter, will you each accept the thanks hereby extended to each who has so kindly remembered us in this hour of deep affliction and may we profit by your kind advice, lean more heavily upon that arm that alone can sustain and guide us along life's devious pathway, and may the kind Father enable us to say, "Not our will but thine, righteous Father, be done." Amen.

J. P. Wagoner, Wife & Son.

Dear Restitution:

As we are so well acquainted with our beloved Brother Wagoner, he having labored so faithfully among us, and thereby endeared himself to each and every one of us, we, as one body, desire to extend our heart-felt sympathy to him and his dear companion, in their sad bereavement. Having passed through some very sad trials, we know how hard it is, and are willing to help bear one another's burdens by weeping with those that weep, and mourning with those that mourn, and rejoicing with those that rejoice. Oh, may we all meet in the morning of the resurrection, clothed upon with immortality and made like our Elder Brother.

Done by order of the Church at Browntown, Va.

S. F. Morgan.

"I Verily Thought with Myself."

"I verily thought with myself, that I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus of Nazareth. Which things I also did in Jerusalem; and many of the saints did I shut up in prison; having received authority from the chief priests; and when they were put to death, I gave my voice against them. And I punished them oft in every synagogue, and compelled them to blaspheme, and being exceedingly mad against them, I persecuted them even unto strange cities." Acts xxvi. 9, 10, 11. Here we have a case of the thinkings of the flesh when Paul was an unconverted man, but what a change came over him when he was converted to God, after Jesus appeared to him on his way to Damascus; he then left the fleshly line of thought, took up God's line of thought, then he was ready to preach the faith he once tried to destroy.

Let us see what he said when he commenced to work for his Master. "Save that the Holy Ghost witnesseth in every city, saying that bonds and afflictions abide me. But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry, which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God. Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men. For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock. Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them. Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears." Acts xxiii. 23, 24, 26, 29, 30, 31.

If the dear old apostle was here now he would have cause to shed many tears. God helps us to stand firm in these days of departures from the old Bible faith. There are so many thinking on the fleshly line and not on a line with God's thoughts. Let us hear from the prophet Isa. lv. 6, 7, 8, 9, "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call upon him while he is near; let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. For my thoughts are not your thoughts. Neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth; so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts." The wicked man has his bad ways, the unrighteous man his wrong thoughts, but they must both change and be like Paul. If we have been thinking with ourselves we must leave self out and get on God's line of thought.

If we take pains to read our Bibles we can see that men have made mistakes as far back as the garden of Eden. Men often say, "I think if I am a moral man, deal justly with my neighbors, and use no bad language, God will save me." What does God say? My thoughts are not your thoughts, the man must turn unto the Lord, become a disciple of Christ, must be adopted into the family of God's dear children, become an heir of God and joint heir of Jesus Christ, cease to do evil, learn to do well, and let all of think sos go. Make the kind of a change Paul made. He was ready to die for Christ, if it was necessary. If you can not find a "thus saith the Lord" for what we claim to believe, for the Lord's sake and our own sake, let us drop it. Don't you think that many of the Koraites thought it would be right to follow the teachings of Kora, Dathan and Abiram? Their thoughts were not on a line with God's thoughts and the Lord opened the earth and swallowed them up. Did their think sos save them? Read Num. xvi. 30-33. Read also of the fifty thousand men who looked into the ark; they were not on the line of God's thoughts. See 1 Sam. vi. 19-20. In Acts v. 1-11, we find recorded the actions of another victim of the fleshly thoughts. Ananias had reserved a portion of the proceeds he received for his possessions thinking to lay it by for a rainy day, thinking no doubt the brethren would never know it, but Peter found it out, (no question but that the Holy Spirit revealed it to him) and he told Ananias he had lied to God, so he and his wife lost their lives. We should take the advice of the prophet Jeremiah vi. 16 17. They would not stand in the way and ask for the old paths, they had a way of their own. Let us keep before our mind the fact that God's ways are not man's ways God has given us a detector and if we keep ourselves well posted with this detector we can never go astray. So if men come to us with a new doctrine, and we are not able to find it in the detector, it is spurious, and we can inform them that it will not pass at our office, and if men tell you it is God's desire to save all men in the kingdom, we should ask them for book, chapter and verse to prove their assertion. Then is when they begin to grumble and tell us it is inferred. I for one do not want any inference, I want the straight record. We are living in the perils of the last days, the church is growing cold, many are neglecting the assembling of themselves together, and our good paper The Restitution is neglected. Every member that is able to take the paper should do so, but they do not although they are able to take other papers. This ought not so to be. The drifting off into these wild notions is one of the prime causes of the above described condition of affairs, for if (as they claim) men can get immortality and eternal life without seeking for it, they do not need a paper nor a preacher to preach to them, it is giving the church chills and if we do not fight it with our tongue and pen, it will wax worse and worse, and the young men and women whom we would love to see unite with us in the cause we so dearly love, will drift away beyond our reach. I tell you, dear ones, as long as I have the use of my voice and pen, I expect to fight this fight to the best of my ability and I thank God that some of the brethren have given me encouragement. One brother in Canada and another in Oregon have written to me words of encouragement. I say God bless them. I will say to the few remaining preaching brethren, sound out the pure gospel wherever you go God and will bless you abundantly.

J. S. Hatch.

Our Helping Fund.

We whose names are given herewith, believing that it is our duty to provide a fund to be used in sending The Restitution to those too poor to pay for it themselves, do cheerfully give the amount set opposite our names for the purpose of aiding the managers of the paper to supply the needy ones. This fund to be applied as the donors request, (or when left to the publisher to decide) only for those who themselves state their circumstances and need, or whose case is presented by some one known to be trustworthy.

Mabel Fike	1.50
Mrs N Brewer	1.00
Abby A Stanley	.50
W A Roose	1.00
P Jeffrey	1.50
Mrs G W Compton	1.50

If you are anxious about the well-being of some friend and would like to have him see and embrace the truth, subscribe for this paper to be sent to him. It will talk at times and places that you cant. It may make opportunity for you to say a word that will make you friend a joint-heir with the Lord Jesus Christ. It has been done. Why not try it?

Poetry.

We Shall Know.

We shall know by intuition,
By the love light on their face,
(All unchanged by the transition)
By the tender soul embrace—
Know the lovely ones we cherished,
Early fallen in the strife;
Know why hopes that with them perished
Formed the greater part of life.

All the chords we thought werebroken,
All the heart-aches of the years,
All the love we left unspoken,
All the longing and the tears—
Cease to grieve when we behold them,
When we clasp our own once more,
When our loving arms enfold them,
As we folded them of yore.

We shall know whose song has cheered us,
While the singer was unknown.
We shall know who loved or feared us,
While we walked apart—alone.
We shall know who stooped to raise us,
By the thorn prints on his brow.
We shall know, and 'twill amaze us,
When with seraphim we bow.

We shall know how mercy found us,
How the Father loved his own.
We shall know the love that crowned us,
"We shall know as we are known."
We shall know why tears were flowing—
Know with joy that passes speech.
All the wonders of that knowing
All eternity shall teach.

—Mrs. Mary B. Wingate.

Communicated.

Passing Events.

The Zionist movement among the Jews is apparently a harbinger of that condition in the Holy Land for which we have been looking for many years. The condition of things in the promised land has not been, and is not now such as the prophets foretold must obtain before Jesus, as the Nobleman returns from the far country. But it now looks as if the required condition would speedily ripen. Not perhaps before the present generation has passed away, but in all probability before the rising one has become old.

It is not impossible that some of the leaders in the movement dimly apprehend the signs of the times from a prophetic point of view. This feature however for prudent reasons would be kept in the back ground, in a national enterprise such as is contemplated. There will hardly be anything said to provoke the charge of religious fanaticism. Some of the leaders have however cautiously referred to the writings of the prophets, but at the same time made the betterment of present conditions the paramount motive of their movements. The success so far attained in enlisting the interest of their own people in a common purpose, has induced one to refer to Ezekiel's vision of the valley of dry bones, and that already they could hear a noise and a shaking in the valley of bone coming to bone, indicating a forth coming resurrection to national life. I am rather inclined to think they are right, to the extent that a beginning has been made, that will ultimate in the establishment of a Jewish state or province in the land. It seems hardly probable that they will obtain a foothold in Jerusalem, the Holy City, inasmuch as the Greek and Latin "unclean spirit" cannot be expelled, and it certainly will not relinquish peaceably its influence and power so long tolerated and endured by the Turkish Sultan. It will require the presence of the Lord Jesus himself to cause, as it is written, the "unclean spirit" to pass out of the land. In due time he will cleanse the land, and drive out the Mahometan, Greek and Roman alike, and make an end of their superstitious mockery. Jewish colonization however will go on, divine favor will open the door, and clear the way. Great prosperity apparently follows Israel's settlement in the "midst of the land," so that not only safety and plenty abounds, but even the accumulation of wealth in the way of cattle and goods, silver and gold. So much so as to excite the cupidity of Gog, the chief prince of Meshek and Tubal, identified as the latter day king of the north, the autocrat of Russia, who invades the land for the purpose of taking a spoil, to take a prey—to turn his hand upon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and upon the people that are gathered out of the nations, which have gotten cattle and goods dwelling in the midst of the land, "dwelling safely in unwalled villages, that is in unfortified towns." The time will then have arrived for the king of the north to "think an evil thought," his covetous eyes are turned toward this new but promising field of conquest and loot, and therefore it is written, he comes forth from the north "like a cloud to cover the land—like a whirlwind with chariots and horsemen, and with many ships."

At this juncture in human affairs it will be seen that the situation is fully ripe, for the inauguration of the reign of Christ over Israel and the world of nations. If we only knew how long before Gog's invasion, the resurrection of the saints and judgment occurs, or if we had some means of determining at what particular stage of the divine programme, this all important, and most wonderful event become an actual fact in human affairs, then we might approximately count the days, months and years yet remaining before us. Multitudes of sleepers in dust awakening to life. What a stupendous miracle! It is hard to realize its far reaching results not only upon the resurrected ones themselves, but also in shaping the future history and destiny of the world. But we know that the resurrection of the dead in Christ will certainly transpire. It may be some years before Gog, the autocrat of the north, is smitten upon the mountains of Israel, and knowing this, there is no excuse for not setting one's house in order.

In the later period of Dan. xi. we have a brief account of events occurring at the time of the end, the same as given more in detail in Ezek. xxxiii. Nevertheless Daniel makes mention of one thing that Ezekiel is silent upon, viz., the resurrection of many that sleep in the dust, some for the life of the age, and others for the shame and contempt of the age. There is however nothing chronologically definite as to time, further than its occurring in connection with other events that transpire in the epoch of the end. For all practical purposes it is definite enough. When Daniel and Ezekiel are compared with Zech. xiv. it is not difficult to determine where we are as related to passing events.

In writing of the effort of the Jews to recover in the near future the possession of Palestine, I am reminded of Jacob's experience in the service of his father-in-law Laban. So long as he was treated with favor, and prosperity he was contented to remain—not a word about returning to the house of his father, but in the course of time circumstances became adverse to his longer stay, and finally became so acute as to hasten his departure. He said to his wives, "your fathers' countenance is changed toward me," and he immediately set out on his journey for the land and home of his father Isaac. He had not however proceeded far until another danger was in some way or other to be overcome. His brother Esau had sworn vengeance against him, and his wrath of long standing must be placated and his anger appeased. It had been 21 years since he had seen Esau, whose birth right and his father's blessing he had deceitfully obtained, and he apparently did not know whether time had assuaged and softened his anger or not. By the favor of God he however successfully accomplished his purpose of meeting Esau in peace, and with gifts he not only made Esau a friend, but put him under obligations to treat his brother Jacob well. Even so it is now, history is repeating itself. The countenance of the Gentile has turned against the Jews in all parts of the world and like his father Jacob he is turning his face toward the land of his fathers, but Esau is again in his way. The Sultan of Turkey is the latter day head of the house of Edom, all Mahometan, and unfriendly toward the people whose land they have taken and made desolate. The Sultan like Esau is not insensible to the influence of a gift, and Jewish gold in all probability can and will purchase such concessions as are necessary to the success of Jewish colonization in Palestine.

Some of the leaders in the movement are now so enthusiastic over what has been already accomplished, that little if any doubt is entertained as to future possibilities. They are succeeding in creating an active interest and organization with a distinct purpose among their own people, to that extent that one of their chief promoters has referred to it as a partial fulfillment of Ezekiel's vision of the valley of dry bones. The vision represents the nation first as politically dead, that is in a scattered condition, without organization or government. And secondly there is a noise heard of these scattered bones coming together bone to bone. A united nation of skeletons is what the movement has so far partially accomplished. The third stage is clothing the bones with ligaments and muscle to give strength and support to the frame work, so that it will be able to stand upon its feet, and finally the imparting of the breath of national life, resulting in the revival or resurrection to political identity. That is a people in a state of national dis-organization, are raised up and made to recover national existence and to be recognized as such by the nations of the world.

The movement now is in the stage of clothing the united bones, with the material resources essential to the inauguration and support of a national polity. But last of all the "four winds" are commanded to breathe upon these slain, and give them the spirit of political life. If we are justified in seeking an interpretation of the "four winds" in the light of Dan. vii. 2 compared with Rev. vii. 2-3, being the national winds of political power in the four quarters of the earth, then we may look for a diplomatic agreement among the great world powers to recognize resurrected Israel as having a national existence, and acting in concert promising protection the same as to other autonomous states within the Sultan's dominions. This would be equivalent to breathing upon the lifeless nation the spirit of political life, making it a self governing body. Whether there is anything of this kind foreshadowed in the prophecy or not, the course of events will in all probability proceed as I have indicated.

The great powers of Europe are so jealous of each other, that they are compelled to act in concert concerning every movement that may in any way disturb the balance of power. Combinations are at times so strong one way or another, as to force the minority to reluctantly consent to certain political developments that otherwise could not occur. Moreover it is hardly possible for any new state to spring up, and assume self government without the consent and support of the great powers. When the time has arrived for the revival of a Jewish national existence in Palestine there is every reason to believe that there will be such an alignment of the great world governments as will hasten instead of obstructing its progress.

The Greek and Latin nations which are more or less the patrons and supporters of the papacy are not likely to give the Jew more than a passing consent in the effort to re-establish his political identity in the land of his fathers, but England, Germany and America both for political and commercial reasons will no doubt at the proper time give the Zionists all the sympathy and support necessary to make the movement a success. Nations like individuals are governed by circumstances, and often times they unconsciously develop circumstances both unexpected and undesired.

The God of Abraham is very God, and he has a work and a purpose concerning Israel, his first born, and also the Gentile world with its multitudes of people and tongues, the work and purpose he has revealed unto his servants the prophets, and to all who through their written testimony have set their hearts to understand, to all such passing events are not looked upon in the spirit of trade and commerce, but rather in the light of Jehovah's revealed purpose to establish a kingdom and dominion of nations under the righteous rule of his anointed Son.

GEO. MOYER.

Short Sermons. No. 26.

Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom; and with all thy getting get understanding. This is the advice of King Solomon, one of earth's wisest kings. Although he was but a mortal, subject to temptation and ruin as all others are, yet he had set his heart to find out wisdom, and understand the cause of things on earth. And after a long and diligent search after the things that are too high for the slothful and worldly minded, he as a father and teacher was fully prepared to give good advice to all others, and especially to the young and inexperienced. Advice which parents in this day and age of the world shamefully neglect, to the ruination of their sons and daughters. And in some respects this Solomon was a fit type or representative of our Lord and Master, who was greater and wiser than Solomon. The Lord appeared to Solomon when he was very young, and bade him ask what he should give him. Solomon unlike most all mortals, did not ask for riches and honor, nor for a long life, but he did ask for wisdom and knowledge that he might be able to judge his people, and go in and out before them. The Lord was well pleased with Solomon's wish and gave him both wisdom and knowledge, riches and honor, making him the wisest and richest king on earth. Solomon well knew, what few know, that riches like the natural human heart were deceitful, and would choke out the Word of life, and bring many to ruin and shame at last. Hence he says, "Labor not to be rich; cease from thine own wisdom. Wilt thou set thine eyes upon that which is not? for riches certainly make themselves wings; they fly away as an eagle toward heaven. But not so of wisdom, which is the principal thing to get. There are two kinds of wisdom however, divine wisdom comes from above, which is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy. This kind of wisdom is a great help in this life, and far more as touching the life to come. In fact where this divine wisdom is neglected or ignored there is nothing good for us here after. It relates and binds us to the divine life Giver. Hence this wise man has asked with emphasis, "How much better is it to get wisdom than gold? And to get understanding rather, to be chosen than silver. But oh, how few will agree with Solomon. Or with Paul either, when he says, "For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, He taketh the wise in their own craftiness." Solomon says, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom; and the knowledge of the Holy is understanding." Paul says, "We brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we carry nothing out. And having food and raiment let us therewith be content. Seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added." How many make the same mistake and try to reverse this order, and add the kingdom of God to the perishable things of this world. James says, "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God that giveth liberally and upbraideth not." I want to say in conclusion, that if we neglect his Word—the Holy Scriptures, which God has given to make us wise unto salvation through faith in Christ Jesus, that our asking and crying for wisdom will all be in vain.

T. E. ADAMS.

To Our Eastern Brethren and Sisters.

I have been working for two months for the Illinois Conference, during which time I have proclaimed the gospel and the soon coming of the King, and exhorted the brethren to love and good works. I have for many years felt a longing to go to the place of my birth, Paisley, Ontario, to preach the gospel, which, as we see it, has never been preached there. If any of our eastern brethren would like to have a meeting as I go east, please write me at Atkinson, Henry County, Ill.

As I shall have to hire halls at my own expense, in Ontario, if any of the brethren who read this feel like assisting me in bringing the gospel to Canada, send offerings to my wife, whose address is Mrs. Minnie Crowe, Care of Geo. Chambers, Paisley, Ontario. What a small portion of the United States has heard the gospel! How little missionary work we are enabled to do through lack of means.

Sometimes the small fruitage of our labors is made an excuse by avaricious brethren for not giving to evangelistic work, or missionary work.

Brethren, it is our duty to "preach the gospel to every creature,"—"in all the world,"—whether one obeys it or not. Noah, a preacher of righteousness, did not stop preaching because of small fruitage. And "as in the days of Noah, so shall the coming of the Son of Man be." "Paul soweth Apollas watereth; but God giveth the increase." "God added to the church —called-out ones—such as should be saved." "If God peradventure will grant them repentance to the acknowledgment of the truth." "No man cometh unto me except the Father draw him."

Oh when will men learn that they cannot build up God's Church or Ecclesia! Till we can make men believe, grant men repentance to the acknowledgement of the truth, remit man's sins, cleanse their hearts and give them the Holy Spirit, we cannot add one member to God's church. All we are commanded to do, and all we can do, is to preach the gospel to the world, sow the seed in the hearts of men, and if the hearts are honest and good they will receive it and obey it, and bear fruit. We can no more make the gospel seed grow than we can make wheat grow without the rain and sunlight of God. Man's converts are poor converts. This is the great error of Babylon, and the temptation that comes to us to persuade people to be baptized before they are ready, or persuade them to join the invisible church before they are begotten from above, or drawn of God to true faith and repentance. Brethren, let us adhere to the work of this age more closely, the preaching of the gospel as a witness to all nations—in all the world—holding up the "narrow way that few find," and the importance of joining the "little flock," all of whom must be chastised, must sacrifice, must not be conformed to the world, must suffer with him (Christ) if they would be glorified with him, and must suffer persecution. The gospel of Christ began from Galilee, after John's baptism, and ends when the Bride is completed, at the coming of the Groom. Therefore let us spend less time on "endless genealogies" that antedate the gospel, and less time on heathen and wicked, whose judgment must follow the gospel age, if they rise at all, and confine ourselves more to the work of this age. The King's business requires haste. A short work will the Lord make on the earth. "Ye shall not have gone over all the cities of Israel until the Son of Man be come." If the Bridegroom has tarried, if his coming has been delayed, it is because we have failed to carry the witness to all nations, and the Bride has not made herself ready.

Yours, watching.

W. L. CROWE.

Immortality.

Varied Opinions.—It may be said that the question of Immortality is a matter of opinion, but matters of opinion should be brought to the test by all those who believe the Scriptures to be the inspired Word of God. "To the law and to the testimony." Isa. viii. 20.

Matters of opinion without some solid basis are worthless. Most people's opinions are second hand, very second hand, and not the result of independent thought and research.

Opinions of this character lightly come and lightly go; and, indeed, most people's religious opinions today are of a very shifty and doubtful character. How can we hold with a firm grip that which costs us little thought and investigation?

It is the men with conviction burnt into their souls that hold with a firm hand that which has cost them mental and moral effort. The want of today is individual application—a determined effort to know for ourselves the truth or falsehood of things. The men who have struck deep in other things are the men who have concentrated their efforts, with a firm determination that would allow no obstacle to stand in their way, and who have thought no toil too severe in order to accomplish the object upon which their heart has been set. Too much deference is paid to genius, when the fact is that indefatigable labor has accomplished that which genius in idleness never could have accomplished. We are amazed at the marvellous inventions of an Edison or a Kelvin, but behind their genius is indomitable energy. Many a long hour when the rest of the world are slumbering such men are at work plodding on and on to solve some problem they have set their mind upon. When we read of Edison working at a stretch for fifty or sixty hours, and Lord Kelvin struggling with some problem for days and weeks together unmindful of rest or recreation, we see illustrations of concentrated effort that put to blush professing Christians, who profess to be guided and governed by the highest and worthiest of all pursuits. If we profess "the faith once delivered to the saints," we ought at least to test our profession by comparing ourselves with that faith as it is alone revealed in the Scripture.

The Psalmist says: "I love thy testimonies." It was not love for this or that sectarian opinion; but love for the word and testimonies of truth.

However fluctuating the opinions of men, the solid rock of truth remains unshaken and immovable.

The Armenianism of Wesley, or the Calvinism of Calvin may be blown to the winds, but there is no alteration of Bible facts. There may be fresh light upon those facts, but the facts remain.

From your brother in Christ.

D. ALGUIRE.

Married.

At the home of the bride, two and one-half miles north of Hillisburg, Ind., Oscar Moore and Ivey, youngest daughter of Brother Calvin Plummer. They intend remaining near Hillisburg until fall, then they expect to move near Bluffton, Ind.

Ivey is a member of our band of believers here at Hillisburg, and we trust her husband will after awhile become a member too. Our best wishes are for them.

A SISTER.

We need what is due us on subscriptions, and trust all who know themselves to be in arrears will remember us. We appreciate the favor.

Editor Restitution:

And all the good brothers, and sisters, and friends. It has been a long time since you heard from me through the paper. I am not idle, and am doing all I can to get others to see the truth. I talk to them and give them the paper to read, and then I read the Bible to them. Some will read the paper and some will not. My wife and I are the only ones in this part of the country, that believe in the restitution. Some say that we have nothing to do with the Old Testament now, that there is enough in the New and that is our guide. True that is our guide in many things, but where do we have to go to find out about the kingdom of God that Christ preached about and what it will do for the world in the future, then I take the Book and read Isa. ii. 1-4; ix. 6-7; xi. 12; xxix. 18-24, 45; lx. 61; Jer. iii. 14-18; xxiii. 1-8, and many others, then compare with Acts iii. 19-21 and others, then I often ask them to locate Christ's throne when he comes in his kingdom. Why, they say, it is in heaven. Then I take them to Isa. ix. 7; Luke i. 32 and others and compare and harmonize, and by so doing I am getting a few somewhat interested. I believe that if we could have a few good gospel sermons here there might be some to accept the truth; but we are all poor here and cannot promise any one any money if they should come to preach, but I can promise a few good listeners. Before closing, I will say that it is my aim to grow in grace and in the knowledge of the truth, and to do what I can to spread the truth and THE RESTITUTION. I could not get along without it, it is so good. I often find one piece in it that is worth the price of it if I am poor.

Yours waiting for the kingdom of God.

HIRAM CORRELL.

Editor Restitution:

I wish to inform those who are interested in the blessed work, that Bro. F. L. Austin has closed a series of meetings at Burr Oak, Ind., beginning Feb. 5 and closing Mar. 11, preaching 33 discourses in all, and much good has been accomplished. The meetings were well attended and much interest was shown. Four were baptised into the all-saving name, and three others were added to our Church. May they ever grow in grace, looking to God for strength and help, whereby they may be overcomers in all things, and finally receive an inheritance with the faithful in Christ Jesus, is our prayer. The meetings have greatly benefitted the Church; each member being encouraged to press onward more faithfully and earnestly seek to do the will of the Father, regardless of what our surroundings may be. Our hearts were pained to see those who know and understand God's plan of salvation, chose to follow after the ways of man rather than obey God's commands, and partake of those precious promises. May the seed sown sink deep into their hearts, that it may yet bring forth fruit.

It was with sorrow that we closed our meetings, as we miss those faces that we have learned to love, but we earnestly hope for that meeting where the faithful part no more.

Yours in Christ.

L. WILHELM.

Report.

Began special meetings at Argos, Dec. 27, continuing between four and five weeks. At the close two were baptized.

Commenced at Burr Oak, Feb. 4, and continued five weeks (meetings were interrupted about a week on the account of scarlet fever). During the meetings five professing faith in the gospel of the kingdom and the name of Jesus, requested to be baptized in the likeness of his death. We rejoice with all these who now have new hopes. May we also suffer with them and lend strength and assistance in time of trial and temptation. Finally, In God's own good time, may we all rejoice in immortality.

F. L. AUSTIN.

"What is the greatest temptation of a busy purposeful Christian? Is it not the temptation to take his life into his own hands, and carve out a career of service for himself, instead of being willing to search out God's plan for him and follow that? Especially when the work we want to do is good work do we find it hard to realize that our plans may not coincide with God's purposes. But the only success for a Christian is to learn what God would have him do, and to do that up to the limit of his powers."

WHEN YOUR TIME IS OUT PLEASE RENEW.

Communicated.

The Old Book.

Antiquarians like things that are very old, things that tell in a way the dim history of the past, old books, old pottery, old tools, old seals, old monuments and sarcophagi. There is a charm about articles that are hoary with age; we take pride in their possession; touch them with reverent fingers and preserve them with scrupulous care. Have we learned to think so of the Bible? Its records antedate anything that the antiquarian can show, Dr. Sayce, and his reasoning on the "finds" at Nippur, notwithstanding. It goes back farther than the old papyrus rolls, taken from the ancient tombs of Egypt, farther back than the slab inscriptions, the sculptures, and the clay-tablets of Nineveh and Babylon, though these tell in their own crude fashion the story of the creation and the flood. It is the only book that gives the true origin of this lovely home of man, of the moon, the stars, the planets and the sun, and tells who created human beings and placed them here. The records, the traditions, of heathen books and peoples are but the faint transcribings of the stories so simply and graphically told in Genesis. Without the Bible we would know nothing of our origin, have no universal history, no national records linking us with the beginning, no authoritative laws fixing the standard of right and wrong, no acquaintance with God and his dear Son, no ground upon which to base hope for future life beyond the tomb. No tongue or pen can picture what the world would have been without a revelation from God. For men and nations who profess not to believe it, are yet unconsciously walking in the light of its beams, are governed unconsciously by its laws, and are sharing in the blessings of civilization, enlightenment and liberty that have come to the world because of the Bible.

Adam probably began the writing of this Book, made up of sixty books. More than 3000 years ago its compilation began, and 1800 years ago it was finished. But we prize the Bible not so much because of its antiquity, as from the fact that it came from God. He is its author. He would not leave the creatures he had made without knowledge of himself and without guidance;—not even when they had fallen, but would lead them on through battles and many a rough overcoming to fuller and enduring life in a rescued world. How reverently we ought to turn its pages; how believingly accept its statements, how obediently bow to its ordinances, how adoringly praise the Giver. We need not stop now to inquire as to what grounds we have for believing in its inspiration; we have tested it, it has changed us; others have done the same and have been changed and clothed. It is enough.

Its miracles? We have a short answer. Nature has laws unknown to us that are known to him who made them. What he has had his disciples do out of the common are wonders to us, but not to him. Watts, Morse, Edison and Marconi would be miracle workers to the uncultured savage. They understand laws and control forces that are beyound the ken of a Patagonian or Fejee; why should not God? Men start cars running, and stop them; why cannot God do the same with the mighty cars of the universe?

Accurate in historic narrative, truthful in biography; above criticism as to its laws for the state; inculcating absolute purity of morals; standing for human liberty and human rights; condemning oppression and tyranny; enjoining the breaking of all chains and the release of captives; the friend of the stranger, the widow and the orphan; tracing the future as accurately as the past; proffering salvation to all who will accept the terms; uplifting and changing in marvelous manner all nations to which it comes. "Higher Criticism" cannot destroy its influence; infidelity cannot overthrow it, nor the flames burn up this wonderful old book; nor can he "who holds its doctrines without giving effect to them in his life" injure it for long. It is bound to conquer. Rome will sink like a stone into the sea before it; Mahomed's millions will melt away at the blast of the trumpet, and sin and sorrow and death will be forgotten as the dreams of a night.

Dear Old Book! We accept it wholly, spiritualize nothing, take literal language literally, read its picture language as we would other picture stories; joying in its promises, and hoping soon to realize them in all their glad fruition in the kingdom of God.

S. ROXANA WINCE.

Do you like to get THE RESTITUTION each week and read the articles and letters it contains? Did you ever think that your brother who sits near you would get a like benefit and enjoyment if he had it also? Get him to subscribe for 1902. It will cost you very little to ask him, and you may be the means of doing him good.

$38.00 to the Pacific Coast.

Chicago & North-Western R'y; during the months of March and April $30.00 from Chicago to Helena, Butte, Anaconda, Ogden and Salt Lake City; $30.50 Spokane; $33.00 Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Victoria and a large number of other points. Tourist Sleeping Cars daily to the Pacific Coast. For maps and particulars apply to the nearest ticket agent or address A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth ave., Chicago, Ill.—Apr 26

Reduced Rates.

One way second-class colonist tickets to the West and Northwest, will be sold at special fares via Pennsylvania Lines, during March and April, 1902. Particular information about fares, through time and other details will be furnished upon application to Passenger and Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania Lines.—April 30

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, containing 116 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Sitting Bull, Red Cloud and other noted chiefs; Gen. Custer's battle ground, and ten colored map plates showing location of the various tribes dating back to 1600. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valued contribution to the history of these early pioneers, and a copy should be in every library. Price 25 cents a copy. Mailed postage prepaid on receipt of the amount by W P Kniskern, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.—mar 29.

New Station at Chicago.

Commencing Dec. 29, 1901, all trains on the Nickel Plate Road, during the rebuilding of the Van Buren St. station, will arrive at and depart from the Grand Central station, cor. Fifth Ave. and Harrison St. Chicago.

$38.00 to California, Oregon and Washington.

Chicago & North-Western Ry. from Chicago daily, March and April, only $6.00 for berth in tourist car. Personally conducted excursions Tuesdays and Thursdays from Chicago and Wednesdays from New England. Illustrated pamphlet sent on receipt of two cent stamp by S. A. Hutchinson, Manager, 212 Clark street, Chicago.—Apr 26

Home-Seekers' Excursion.

Low rate Home-Seekers' excursion tickets to the West and South will be sold via Pennsylvania Lines, March 4th, 18th, April 1st, 15th, May 6th and 20th. For fares, through time and other details, apply to Passenger and Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania Lines.—May 20.

Illustrated and Descriptive Booklets Free.

The following excellent publications prepared by the Chicago & North-Western R'y will be sent free to any address upon receipt of postage named.

The information contained therein is of great value to those who expect to travel, either for pleasure or profit. All of the publications are handsomely illustrated with half tone views.

California Illustrated.....	Postage	.02
Hunting and Fishing.....	"	.02
Colorado Illustrated.....	"	.02
Through Picturesque Wisconsin.....	"	.02
Beautiful Country near Chicago.....	"	.04
Picturesque Milwaukee.....	"	.02
Opportunities for Business	"	.02
Copper and Iron and where they are found.....	"	.02
Across Picturesque Illinois and Iowa.....	"	.02
Population of cities on the North-Western Line.....	"	.02

The Indian—The Northwest. A history of the Indian tribes. 50 cts.

New, Mounted U. S. Wall Map, 40x54, in colors. 15 cts.

Address W. B. Kniskern, G. P. & T. A. Chicago & North-Western R'y, 22 Fifth Ave., Chicago.—mar 29

The Restitution

ON TRIAL

Three Months for Twenty-Five Cents.

WILL YOU TRY IT?

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., now meets in the Hart Building No. 1028 Gates Avenue, near Broadway. Sunday morning services at 10.30—all are welcome. Elders, W. G. Rothe and H. T. MacDonald.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

You, your family and friends are cordially invited to attend Bible Reading, every Sunday at 3:00 P. M., 1245 Logan Ave, San Diego, Cal.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in their Church Cor., Garro and Water Streets, every Sunday at 10:30, a. m. Sunday School 12:00 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

